BERMUDA IMMIGRATION AND PROTECTION
AMENDMENT BILL 2015

EXPLANATORY MEMORANDUM

This Bill seeks to amend Part VI of the Bermuda Immigration and Protection Act 1956 (“the principal Act”) and certain Regulations made under that Act.

Clause 1 is self-explanatory.

Clause 2 amends section 72(1) of the principal Act (definitions for Part VI). Paragraph (a) adds words at the end of paragraph (c) of the definition of “financial assistance”, restricting that paragraph to cases where the provider of value to or for the benefit of another person to acquire land obtains an equitable interest in the property in question. Paragraph (b) inserts a definition of “permanent resident” (which follows that in section 23 of the principal Act).

Clause 3 amends the definitions of “hotel residence” and “tourist accommodation” in section 72(1) of the principal Act to remove the requirement that eligible units be designated by regulations. (Clause 14 makes provision in consequence of these amendments).

Clause 4 repeals and replaces section 76 of the principal Act, which prohibits a restricted person from holding land without a licence, to remove the words relating to the intention of the restricted person to occupy the land or use or develop it for profit (whether for his own benefit or for the benefit of another person).

Clause 5 amends section 77 of the principal Act, which prevents a trustee from holding or acquiring land in trust for a restricted person, to exclude from the reference to a restricted person the spouse of a Bermudian.

Clause 6 amends section 82 of the principal Act to correct an outdated reference to the title of the Economic Development Act 1968 which was changed in 2007.

Clause 7 amends sections 85 and 86 of the principal Act. Subsections (1) and (2) move the provisions which were in section 85(2)(a) to become section 85(1)(aa), so that estate representatives falling within that paragraph (a restricted person or where the beneficiary of the estate is a restricted person) benefit from the standard three year deferral period in section 85(1). Existing section 85(3) already permits a further three year deferral period on application, and subsection (3) of clause 7 inserts a new section 85(4) which will permit third and subsequent extensions by the Minister of the deferral period in the section 85(1) (aa) case in exceptional circumstances only, on application made under section 86(2A) inserted by subsection (4). Subsections (5) and (6) are drafting clarifications. Subsection (7) provides for these amendments to have effect from 22 June 2007 (commencement of the Bermuda Immigration and Protection Amendment Act 2007 which replaced Part VI of the principal Act with the new Part VI entitled “Protecting Land in Bermuda for Bermudians”), and permits the Minister to extend retrospectively deferral periods in the case now falling within section 85(1)(aa) (estate representatives) in accordance with amended sections 85 and 86.

BERMUDA IMMIGRATION AND PROTECTION AMENDMENT BILL 2015

Clause 8 subsection (1) repeals section 89(1)(b) of the principal Act so as to remove the territorial restriction of land available to restricted persons by parish (currently 450 acres for the parishes of Southampton and St George's, and 400 acres for the other parishes). The overall limit of 2,500 acres in Bermuda remains.

Clause 9 subsection (1) repeals and replaces section 92 of the principal Act to relax the restrictions on acquiring condominium units. The Minister will be able to approve a licence for a restricted person with a residential certificate to hold or acquire an interest in a condominium unit (other than tourist accommodation or a hotel residence) if the annual rental value exceeds the prescribed minimum (currently set at $32,400 in the Bermuda Immigration and Protection (Minimum Annual Rental Values) Regulations 2007) and the development was developed privately without government sponsorship. This amendment, read with the amendment to section 98 made by clause 11, permits a restricted person with a residential certificate to hold or acquire an interest in two such condominium units. Subsection (2) makes consequential amendments. (Clause 14 makes further provision in consequence of these amendments).

Clause 10 amends section 97(1) of the principal Act (time limit for acquiring land) to provide that the licence will not lapse after six months in a case which does not require a transfer of title.

Clause 11 subsection (1) amends section 98 of the principal Act so that the standard licence conditions for all restricted persons will permit an interest in one other property (whether as owner or beneficiary under a trust) so that all restricted persons will be able to own an interest in a maximum of two properties in Bermuda. Subsection (2) disappplies condition (c) in section 98(1) for restricted persons who are permanent residents, since the Bermuda Immigration and Protection (Rental and Use) Regulations 2007 will no longer apply to them (see clause 13).

Clause 12 amends section 102C(1)(ba)(v) of the principal Act to remove a reference to relief under private Acts and substitute a reference to "other enactments" - this is to include Acts such as the Morgan's Point Resort Act 2014, which is not a private Act. Private Acts cannot validly grant relief from tax or customs duty (this point has been recently addressed in section 14 of the Customs Tariff Amendment Act 2015).

Clause 13 subsection (1) narrows the regulation-making power in section 102C(1)(c) of the principal Act, so that the Bermuda Immigration and Protection (Rental and Use) Regulations 2007 will not apply to restricted persons who are permanent residents. Subsection (2) inserts a new regulation 2A into those Regulations to provide that they do not apply to restricted persons who are permanent residents - this means that permanent residents will no longer need a permit nor have to pay any fee to rent out property. Subsection (3) provides transitional clarification.

Clause 14 repeals section 102D(1)(ba) of the principal Act and revokes the Bermuda Immigration and Protection (Designation of Eligible Condominium Units, Tourist Accommodation and Hotel Residences) Regulations 2011, in consequence of the amendments made by clauses 3 and 9 (removal of designation requirements). As a result, all the restrictions on the number of eligible units in the various developments which are listed in the Schedule to those Regulations, and the prescribed number of fractionals within those units, fall away.

BERMUDA IMMIGRATION AND PROTECTION AMENDMENT BILL 2015

Clause 15 amends the Bermuda Immigration and Protection (Minimum Annual Rental Values Regulations 2007. Paragraph (a) reduces to nil the minimum annual rental value for a residential valuation unit (other than a condominium unit) available to permanent residents. (The minimum annual rental value for a condominium unit available to permanent residents is already nil). Paragraph (b) reduces from $177,000 to $153,000 the minimum annual rental value for a residential valuation unit (other than a condominium unit) available to restricted persons, which is a return to the maximum before it was increased in June 2012.

Clause 16 amends the Bermuda Immigration and Protection (Tourist Accommodation and Hotel Residences) Regulations 2010 to remove restrictions on occupancy of tourist accommodation. Paragraph (b) removes the 90 day limit on occupation of tourist accommodation in regulation 3(3), and the 120 day limit on occupation of more than one such unit of accommodation by an owner, his family and guests in regulation 3(4) currently subject to an overall maximum occupancy period of six months in any twelve month period. Paragraph (c) removes the prohibition in regulation 6(2) of ownership by a person of more than two fractionals in tourist accommodation, which currently restricts ownership by a person to a maximum period of six months in a year, since the requirement under regulation 6(1) is for a vendor to divide ownership of a fractional unit into a minimum of four equal fractions (ie three months each). Paragraph (a) makes a consequential amendment as a result of the revocation of regulation 6(2).
