Premier.

Hon. E. David Burt: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

CONDOLENCES

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, before I begin my speech, on behalf of the whole House I would like to express our condolences to you and to the Honourable Member for Warwick West and to your entire family on the passing of your beloved wife, Ms. Miranda Lister.

The Speaker: Thank you.

Hon. E. David Burt: She was a woman of Christ, a lovely individual, always kind to all persons. And I know that she will be missed.

DOUBLE MURDER IN BERMUDA

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, further before I start into the scheduled business today, I am compelled to address the tragic and senseless events of last night in Somerset. The gunshots that rang out shattered not only the quiet of the evening, but took the lives of two people. Two families this morning are confronted with unimaginable loss. At a time of such tragedy, our community responsibilities support them and surround them with love and comfort.

As I have indicated to the Minister of National Security, the Bermuda Police Service has the Government's full support. And I likewise urge those who have knowledge of this incident to provide that information to police as part of the ongoing investigation.

It is understandable that emotions may be raw at this time, but there is no place for retaliation. The police have a job to do, and I am confident that, with the support of the community, they will work to apprehend those responsible. This is a time for unity, a time to speak peace over a troubled situation and a time to lift up two families whose lives are changed forever.

Mr. Speaker, if you will now allow me, I would like to deliver the annual Budget Statement.

The Speaker: Go ahead.

BUDGET STATEMENT IN SUPPORT OF THE ESTIMATES OF REVENUE AND EXPENDITURE 2025/26

FAIRNESS IN ACTION—BUILDING A BERMUDA WHERE EVERYONE BENEFITS

Introduction

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, in a time when the world is uncertain, divided and fractured, we meet again in this Honourable House to carry out one of the oldest and most important duties of parliamentary governance: the presentation of the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure.

This, Mr. Speaker, is the first budget of this new parliamentary term, delivered after the Progressive Labour Party earned a fresh mandate from the people of Bermuda on the 18th of February 2025. But today is more than a routine exercise. And in my remarks I plan to share with Honourable Members and every person living in Bermuda the good fiscal news that impacts all of us who call Bermuda home.

Mr. Speaker, we deliver this budget reflecting on where we were just five years ago and how far we have come. On the 2nd of May 2020, the COVID-19 shelter-in-place order was lifted. Our country was emerging from lockdown, shaken by a global pandemic that threatened every institution, every household and every person who calls Bermuda home. In that fragile moment, this Government made a promise: to rebuild Bermuda with Bermudians at heart, to chart an ambitious recovery and to do so not with austerity, but with investment in our people.

We committed to an Economic Recovery Plan informed by the best minds in Bermuda. We stuck to that plan. And today we stand here with the results:

- four consecutive years of strong GDP growth;
- record numbers of persons and Bermudians employed in international business;
- the lowest unemployment in 50 years;
- record investments in affordable housing;
- the renovation of our largest hotel, Fairmont Southampton, now underway; and, yes, Mr. Speaker,
- a balanced budget!

[Desk thumping]

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, these are not political talking points. These are facts. They are the results of hard choices, clear leadership and a focus on rebuilding Bermuda with Bermudians at heart. Gone are the days of persistent deficits. Yes, we still carry debt. But now, for the first time in a generation, we are positioned to repay that debt, build up our reserves and make investments for the future amidst a time of global uncertainty.

Mr. Speaker, this is the eighth budget of this Progressive Labour Party Government since returning to office in 2017, and through hurricanes, economic headwinds and a once-in-a-century pandemic, this Government has stayed true to its mission: fairness, opportunity and dignity for all Bermudians.

This mission is why we cut payroll taxes for 86 per cent of Bermudians. It is why we froze fuel prices and slashed energy taxes to protect household budgets. It is why we invested in our children through education reform and in our seniors through stronger expansion of FutureCare. These are not slogans. They are the hallmarks of a Government that governs with fairness as our core value.

Mr. Speaker, Bermuda has been tested repeatedly, and we have prevailed. We stood firm in the face of new economic substance requirements that threatened our international business sector. We remained resilient in the face of 40-year-high global inflation that increased prices everywhere. Each time, this Government responded not with fear, but with action. And each time, Bermuda came out stronger and Bermudians were protected.

Now, Mr. Speaker, we face new global tests.

The postwar global order that has underpinned our economy for the last 80 years is shifting. Historic alliances are being strained; trust in democratic institutions is under attack; even the ideals of free trade and liberal democracy are being questioned in global capitals once thought unshakable. And through it all, misinformation spreads faster than facts, leaving citizens around the world fearful, divided and distrustful.

These are serious times, Mr. Speaker, and serious times demand leadership that is focused on ensuring that Bermudians are at the centre of all that we do. As we debate this budget in the weeks ahead, we must keep the broader global backdrop in view.

Bermuda, though small, is not insignificant. The last five years—and the 400 that preceded them—have also shown that Bermuda has always been resilient. Global headlines may have many worried, but the work of governance is to ensure that we are prepared for whatever may come our way.

Mr. Speaker, this budget sets the course for the next stage of our Island's journey. It supports growth; it protects the vulnerable; and it invests in education, health care and infrastructure. And it does all of this while building a budget surplus to repay our debts and prepare for whatever may lie ahead.

Today, Mr. Speaker, it is my hope that in this Statement I can offer comfort and confidence to our people—comfort that they have not been forgotten and will benefit from Bermuda's success, and confidence in this Government's ability to continue leading this Island through turbulent global waters.

Economic Review

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, the last year has been shaped by growing uncertainty from shifting geopolitical alliances and economic realignments, to trade tensions that threaten to upend long-standing global supply chains. At home, our people continue to feel the weight of higher costs of living even as our economy shows signs of sustained growth and resilience.

Mr. Speaker, before I get to the details of this year's budget, I will provide an overview of the National Economic Report for 2024 tabled in this Honourable House earlier today, which looks at the evolving global [economic] environment and its implications for Bermuda. The report also reviews our local economy, which—though not immune to external pressures—continues to outperform regional peers. This performance has been underpinned by strong job growth, low inflation, record levels of employment in international business and a rebounding tourism sector.

GLOBAL ECONOMIC REVIEW

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, even prior to the recent upheaval in global markets due to international trade tensions, the year 2024 presented a range of global challenges. Geopolitical tensions, persistent inflationary pressures, volatility in food and energy markets, and the ongoing effects of past shocks such as the COVID-19 pandemic and the Russia-Ukraine war have continued to impact global economic growth.

The International Monetary Fund estimates that global growth is projected to slow from 3.3 per cent in 2024 to 2.8 per cent in 2025, before picking up slightly to 3.0 per cent in 2026. In advanced economies, growth is expected to fall from 1.8 per cent in 2024 to 1.4 per cent in 2025 and 1.5 per cent in 2026. Emerging market and developing economies are also forecasted to decelerate from 4.3 per cent in 2024 to 3.7 per cent in 2025 before rising modestly to 3.9 per cent in 2026.

Mr. Speaker, global inflation has fallen faster than anticipated with recent monthly readings from 2025 nearing pre-pandemic levels. Global inflation is projected to ease from 5.7 per cent in 2024 to 4.3 per cent in 2025 and 3.6 per cent in 2026. This decline has been supported by easing energy prices and a softening of labour market pressures. Faster disinflation may contribute to looser financial conditions, which could support global growth.

However, Mr. Speaker, the downside risks are significant. The escalation of global trade tensions through higher tariffs may have a profound effect on the global economy.

Since February this year, the United States has announced multiple waves of tariffs on key trading partners, some of which have responded with countermeasures. As a result, major economies including the US, China and Canada are now increasingly engaged in tariff-based [trade] disputes that are reshaping global commerce. These protectionist measures, if maintained, risk driving up the costs of goods and materials, inflating consumer prices and distorting well-established supply chains. As tariffs climb, businesses are faced with greater uncertainty and are responding with caution. This directly slows trade activity, curtails capital expenditure and drives up costs that are inevitably passed on to consumers, raising prices, eroding purchasing power and discouraging investment—risking a broader global slowdown.

Global forecasts reflect the expected economic slowdown across major economies. While the United States has demonstrated resilience in recent years, growth is projected to slow from 2.8 per cent in 2024 to 1.8 per cent in 2025, and further to 1.7 per cent by 2026. And of course, Mr. Speaker, first-quarter GDP for the US was just recorded as contracting. In China, growth is expected to soften from 5.0 per cent in 2024 to 4.0 per cent in 2025 and 2026. Canada is also expected to experience a moderate decline [with GDP growth] easing from 1.5 per cent in 2024 to 1.4 per cent in 2025 before rising slightly to 1.6 per cent in 2026.

Mr. Speaker, as the global economy continues to absorb the effects of past monetary tightening which led to increasing interest rates, many countries face mounting debt burdens and increased refinancing pressures. These financial vulnerabilities are further exacerbated by persistent geopolitical tensions and the rise in protectionist measures.

Together, these forces risk disrupting supply chains, fuelling price volatility, particularly in energy and food, and slowing the pace of global recovery. Navigating the year ahead will require a careful balance: managing global inflationary pressures; strengthening financial resilience; and advancing investments to boost productivity and support inclusive, long-term economic growth.

BERMUDA'S ECONOMY

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, I will now turn my focus to our local economy.

Bermuda's gross domestic product [GDP], the main measure of economic growth, is estimated to have expanded in real terms between 4.5 [per cent] and 5.0 per cent in 2024. This positive momentum reflects the strength of our international business sector and the continued recovery in tourism supported by robust job growth, rising employment income, increased visitor arrivals and spending, and strong foreign currency earnings.

Mr. Speaker, the international business sector remains the main driver of economic growth. In 2024, there were 766 new international companies and partnerships registered. The sector supported 5,047 jobs, an increase of 120 posts, or 2.4 per cent, compared to the prior year. Total employment income in the sector further rose by 12.3 per cent, or $195.9 million, contributing significantly to the broader rise in national income.

In 2020, for the third consecutive year, there is a record number of Bermudians employed in the international business sector, clear evidence that the policies of this Government continue to create inclusive opportunities and ensure that Bermudians benefit directly from the growth in international business.

Mr. Speaker, Bermuda's tourism sector also continued to recover. Air visitor arrivals increased by 9.6 per cent and cruise arrivals by 1.9 per cent. Air visitor spending surged by 22.0 per cent to $416.5 million, exceeding pre-pandemic levels. Though cruise visitor spending declined by 7.0 per cent, the overall impact of tourism remains positive. This rebound has also had a positive effect on the job market, particularly in the accommodation and food services sector, which recorded a net increase of 81 jobs, or 2.2 per cent, compared to 2023, bringing total jobs in the sector to 3,780.

Employment across the country improved in 2024. The total number of jobs filled increased by 471 posts, or 1.4 per cent, marking the third consecutive year of job growth. Gains were primarily observed in the international business, administrative and support services, and accommodation and food services sectors. These three areas alone accounted for half of all new jobs created. In contrast, declines were noted in public administration, education, and the utilities sectors. Unemployment continues its downward trend and was recorded at 1.6 per cent in May 2024, which is lower than the rate of 2.5 per cent from a year prior and, Mr. Speaker, is the lowest since 1970. Though this is a positive development, a tight labour market can contribute to wage pressures across the economy. It is therefore essential that Government policy ensures a sufficient labour supply to sustain continued economic growth.

Employment income, one of the primary drivers of household consumption, grew by 8.0 per cent, or $326 million, totalling $4.39 billion in 2024. This growth contributed to a rise in personal consumption, which stood at $4.1 billion, reflecting a 2.9 per cent increase. Total gross turnover in the retail sector was estimated at $1.27 billion, an increase of 2.7 per cent compared to 2023.

Mr. Speaker, turning to the construction sector, the value of new projects started fell by 18.2 per cent to [$164.7] million. However, residential construction remained a bright spot, with a 50.7 per cent increase in completed dwelling units, particularly two-bedroom and studio apartments. The total estimated value of work put in place remained relatively stable at $108.6 million. It is vital that the Government streamline planning processes to ensure that more projects can commence to support growth in the construction sector in the years to come.

Mr. Speaker, inflation eased in 2024, averaging 1.9 per cent compared to 3.3 per cent in 2023. Declines in transport and foreign travel costs helped keep overall inflation lower, despite sectoral increases in fuel, food and rent.

While inflation has fallen, Bermuda's external position remains strong. The current account surplus rose to $1.69 billion in 2024 from $1.36 billion in 2023, representing 18.8 per cent of GDP. This was driven by increased employee compensation, higher business services exports and stronger investment income. The international business sector alone generated $2.87 billion in foreign currency receipts, up 9.4 per cent from 2023. The tourism sector contributed an additional $522 million in foreign currency receipts, up 3.3 per cent compared to 2023.

Mr. Speaker, Bermuda's economic performance over the past two years highlights its relative strength and effective macroeconomic management compared to both advanced economies and regional peers. In 2023, Bermuda recorded real GDP growth of 4.9 per cent, outperforming the United States at 2.9 per cent; Canada at 1.5 per cent; the United Kingdom at 0.4 per cent; and developing economies around the world, which were measured at 4.7 per cent.

In terms of inflation, Bermuda posted the lowest inflation rate among the group in 2024 at 1.9 per cent, compared to 3.0 per cent in the United States, 2.4 per cent in Canada, 2.5 per cent in the United Kingdom and 7.7 per cent in developing economies. The lower inflation in Bermuda compared to our peers can be attributed to the measures that this Government has implemented to reduce taxes as a response to 40-year-high global inflation. These indicators underscore Bermuda's macroeconomic stability, sound economic policy and strong growth momentum heading into 2025.

Mr. Speaker, while the domestic outlook remains positive, we are not immune to external risks that continue to shape the global economic environment. The recent imposition of higher tariffs between major economies, including the United States and its trading partners, may lead to increased costs in Bermuda. If realised, these added costs will place upward pressure on prices and strain business margins, constraining long-term growth.

Elevated [global] trade costs, combined with high interest rates, are weighing on economic activity in key partner countries, particularly the United States. Slower growth in these markets can have spillover effects on Bermuda, including reduced tourism arrivals, lower levels of foreign investment and potential disruptions to vital supply chains—all of which may hinder our economic performance. Geopolitical instability, particularly in Europe and the Middle East, could further impact global energy prices, while ongoing trade disputes may dampen investment and reduce consumer spending worldwide. These risks reinforce the need for continued prudent fiscal management to protect Bermuda's economic stability.

Mr. Speaker, recent economic performance leaves the jurisdiction well placed to meet these global headwinds. Through sound and prudent fiscal policy, investments in infrastructure and the implementation of our Economic Development Strategy, we will continue to protect Bermuda's economic interests and ensure that inflationary pressures and external shocks do not erode the gains that we have worked so hard to achieve.

BERMUDA'S ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT STRATEGY

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, Bermuda's Economic Development Strategy 2023–2027 provides a strategic framework to guide Bermuda toward sustainable economic growth and development. Since its launch, the Ministry of Economy and Labour has been focused on advancing key initiatives aligned with the strategy's five strategic priorities:

- Retaining and expanding existing and future international businesses within Bermuda.
- Attracting new businesses and promoting investment opportunities.
- Fostering entrepreneurship and the development of small businesses.
- Ensuring the continued execution of the Economic Recovery Plan.
- Investing in our people and our workforce.

Mr. Speaker, I will cover some of the key highlights, but during the debate in this House in the weeks to come, the Honourable Minister of Economy and Labour will share more details on the implementation of Bermuda's Economic Development Strategy.

Mr. Speaker, under the priority of local and international business retention and expansion, important progress has been made. The Economic Development Department has completed the draft Action Plan for the establishment of a one-stop permitting system for maritime tourism businesses, which was published under Goal 4 of the Bermuda Ocean Prosperity Plan.

The Bermuda Economic Development Corporation has been progressing development opportunities across Bermuda's economic empowerment zones [EEZs]. The Urban Development Authority [UDA], as the leading body driving development and investment interest in the EEZs, received formal applications for two active development projects being considered under the Approved Residential Scheme—one for a 65 residential unit development and the second for a 28 residential unit development. This interest can be partly attributed to the Bermuda Government's announcement of an aggregate $50 million government guarantee to jump-start residential development in the Island's economic empowerment zones.

In tourism, the calendar of events for 2024 was filled with a diverse offering of events and experiences that contributed to a 15 per cent increase in leisure air visits and a 34 per cent increase in visitors attending sporting events. Since the beginning of 2024, five tourism investment orders for hotel projects have been approved, representing investor confidence in Bermuda's tourism future.

Meanwhile, Bermuda continues to enhance its reputation as a global leader in FinTech, supported by our robust regulatory framework for digital assets and continued international exposure at major FinTech events. Technology education initiatives are continuing, supporting workforce development through grants, training programmes and annual events that highlight FinTech opportunities for Bermudians. One such one is happening next week, Mr. Speaker, right here in town.

Mr. Speaker, attracting new business and promoting investment continues to be a key focus. The Bermuda Business Development Agency has transitioned into an investment promotion agency with continuing outreach to attract investment. The Registrar of Companies has amended its policy to allow unrestricted mixed-use development on corporate landholdings. And in addition, revised Family Office legislation is being finalised and will be tabled in this session, further supporting Bermuda's efforts to attract individuals of high net worth and related business opportunities.

Mr. Speaker, fostering entrepreneurship and supporting the growth of small businesses are critical parts of the strategy. The Bermuda Economic Development Corporation [BEDC] continues to deliver results. In 2024, a total of 22 entrepreneurs completed its Enterprise Bermuda Incubator and Accelerator programmes, while over 1,200 students have been engaged through youth outreach initiatives, inspiring the next generation of entrepreneurs. Educational programmes trained 96 participants through multi-week courses and a further 560 through seminars and webinars. In addition, the BEDC has conducted more than 650 client advisory meetings, maintaining a 94 per cent satisfaction rating. Through its ByBermuda e-commerce platform, 29 businesses have received direct support, helping to strengthen the digital sales capacity of local entrepreneurs.

Investing in our people is at the heart of the Economic Development Strategy. The Department of Workforce Development has made significant improvements to its services, ensuring that all clients receive career guidance through the creation of Personal Employment Plans. A newly redesigned website has been launched to connect jobseekers, [students] and employers with training and employment opportunities in an efficient and user-friendly manner. Reforms to the work permit policy that improve the processes and ensure that there is adequate labour supply to support Bermuda's growing economy have been drafted and will soon be released for industry consultation.

To strengthen the development of a skilled workforce, the National Certification and Apprenticeship Board has been established to further improve training and certification programmes for Bermudians in trades and other high-demand sectors, ensuring that Bermudians are well prepared to take advantage of employment opportunities now and in the future.

Mr. Speaker, the Government is committed to the ongoing implementation of Bermuda's Economic Development Strategy which will continue the strong economic growth that resulted from the execution of Bermuda's Economic Recovery Plan. This Government will continue to collaborate with stakeholders and provide regular updates on the progress of this strategy to this Honourable House.

2023/24 Fiscal Year Performance

Hon. E. David Burt: Now, Mr. Speaker, to the numbers. Mr. Speaker, it has been almost eight years since the Progressive Labour Party was returned to Government in July of 2017. We have seen many changes and challenges since then, especially during the recent COVID-19 pandemic. But throughout it all, we have stayed focused on improving Bermuda's economy to make life better for everyone.

Mr. Speaker, the audited statements for fiscal year 2023/24 have been presented to this Honourable House. These statements demonstrate the Government's continued commitment to responsible financial management.

Mr. Speaker, for the fiscal year that ended in March 2024, total revenue was $1.176 billion, $21 million, or 1.8 per cent, more than the original estimate of $1.155 billion and $49 million more than the prior year's revenue of $1.1 billion. This increase was mainly due to higher-than-expected payroll tax receipts.

Payroll tax collections amounted to $537 million, $24.5 million, or 4.8 per cent, above the original estimate of $512.5 million. Interest earned from deposits was $11.1 million, which was $10.3 million more than the original estimate of $750,000.

Mr. Speaker, the total current account expenditure for fiscal year 2023/24 was $977.5 million, which is just $4.9 million, or 0.5 per cent, more than the original estimate of $972.6 million. Despite significant unbudgeted expenditure that arose throughout the year—such as a $16.3 million funding boost for the hospital, $19 million in negotiated pay increases with public sector unions—total expenditure exceeded budget by only $4.9 million, demonstrating firm budget control by the Ministry of Finance.

Salaries and wages were $401.8 million, which is $8.9 million, or 2.2 per cent, less than the original estimate of $410.7 million. Government employer contributions totalled $76.6 million, which is $706,000 [0.9 per cent] more than the original estimate of $75.9 million. This slight increase was due to negotiated pay awards for public officers, which required higher employer contributions to the Public Service Superannuation Fund [PSSF].

Capital expenditure for 2023/24 was $97.1 million, $1.1 million, or 1.2 per cent, more than the original estimate of $96 million.

All other expenditures amounted to $499.2 million, $13.1 million, or 2.7 per cent, more than the original estimate of $486.1 million. This increase was directly related to the aforementioned additional expenditure for the Bermuda Hospitals Board and was offset by savings in other areas.

Interest and guarantee management costs were $131.5 million, $1.1 million more than the original estimate of $130.4 million. Interest expense was $3 million less than forecast, while guarantee management was $4.1 million more than forecast due to expenses related to Morgan's Point and the negotiation of the Fairmont Southampton redevelopment.

Mr. Speaker, when the aforementioned factors are taken into account, the Consolidated Fund deficit for fiscal year 2023/24 was $29.5 million, which was $14 million less than the original estimate of $43.5 million. This, Mr. Speaker, is the fourth consecutive fiscal year where the [fiscal] deficit has been lower than originally forecast.

2024/25 Fiscal Year Performance

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, before I share the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for this fiscal year, I would like to provide an update on the Government's financial performance for fiscal year 2024/25, which ended on the 31st of March 2025.

REVENUE

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, the latest revised forecasts, which can be found on page A-1 of the Budget Book, project total revenue for fiscal year 2024/25 of $1.248 billion, $16.1 million, or 1.3 per cent, higher than the original estimate of $1.232 billion.

Payroll tax collections are [projected] to be $606.5 million, $26 million, or 4.5 per cent, above the original estimate of $580.5 million. The $69.5 million increase in payroll tax collections from $537 million in the prior year is due to continued job growth in the local economy and higher salaries in the international business sector, combined with last year's reform of the new hire relief, which was introduced in 2018.

Customs duty revenue is projected to be $225 million, $8 million, or 3.4 per cent, below the original estimate of $233.9 million. This lower-than-budget result is due to the 60.0 per cent reduction in taxes on BELCO fuel, which was implemented in July of last year.

All other receipts are projected to be $417 million, which is $2 million, or 0.5 per cent, below the original estimate of $419 million.

EXPENDITURE PERFORMANCE

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, current account expenditure is projected at $992.1 million, which is just $128,000 higher than the initial estimate of $992 million.

This on-target expenditure has been achieved despite the mid-year review allocating $17.6 million primarily to social spending, and also includes increased salaries for public sector employees due to the multi-year compensation agreement reached with public sector unions.

Capital expenditure is projected to be $107.9 million. This is $4.4 million, or 4.1 per cent, below the 2024/25 original estimate of $112.3 million. However, Mr. Speaker, this level of investment is $10.7 million more than the prior year and represents the highest capital spending since the 2010/11 fiscal year.

DEBT SERVICE

Hon. E. David Burt: Debt service and guarantee management costs are estimated at $128.8 million, which is $1 million, or 0.8 per cent, above the original estimate of $127.8 million. This amount is $2.7 million less than the prior year, a result of the $50 million in debt that was repaid in December of 2023.

CONSOLIDATED FUND BUDGET SURPLUS

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, during last year's Budget Statement, I announced that the Government was expecting its first balanced budget in 21 years.

At that time, there were many who said that it could not be done. Some called it electioneering, others labelled it as a fantasy!

Some Hon. Members: Yes, yes.

Hon. E. David Burt: Nonetheless, this Government, supported by our hard-working public officers, has achieved what many countries in the world find challenging.

Despite delivering significant tax reductions to help our residents [and businesses] cope with 40-year-high global inflation, including last year's 60 per cent reduction in electricity taxes, and despite additional appropriations during the mid-year review to provide support for the vulnerable and invest in tackling social challenges, we have grown our revenue and tightly managed spending.

Mr. Speaker, last February, the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure projected a $210,000 surplus for fiscal year 2024/25. It is with a combination of humility and pride that I can share with this Honourable House and members of the public that the projected Consolidated Fund surplus for the fiscal year just concluded will be $19.7 million.

Hon. E. David Burt: This surplus is $19.5 million more than originally estimated and represents the first Consolidated Fund surplus to have been achieved in 21 years.

Such a milestone is not just a testament to this Government's commitment to fiscal responsibility, but it is also a culmination of many years of fiscal discipline. The people of Bermuda have experienced the effects of this discipline—whether in the conditions of our roads or the state of our national infrastructure. But, Mr. Speaker, just as I declared three years ago that the era of austerity had come to an end, today I declare that the era of budget deficits has now come to an end.

[Desk thumping]

Fairness in Action—Sharing the Gains of Economic Growth

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, the 2025/26 budget . . . Let me pause, Mr. Speaker, because this section is entitled "Fairness in Action—Sharing the Gains of Economic Growth." Because I know during the election campaign people were asking, What is "fairness"? So, I want to make sure that we spell it out, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Speaker, the 2025/26 budget marks a turning point for Bermuda. For the first time in over two decades, our fiscal planning is no longer consumed by managing deficit after deficit. Instead, we stand today with a budget surplus and a strong economy. And later this year, we expect to receive the first revenue inflows from Bermuda's new corporate income tax. This is not just a new budget year, but it is the beginning of a new era of budgeting. And with that opportunity comes the obligation to ensure that the benefits of our economic growth are shared fairly across our society.

Mr. Speaker, in the Pre-Budget Report tabled in this Honourable House in December, I outlined a number of tax reductions that were under consideration to ease the tax burdens faced by residents and businesses. This Government has a history of ensuring that better fiscal performance results in meaningful relief for taxpayers, and today I will share the tax reductions that will form part of this year's revenue estimates.

REDUCTION OF CUSTOMS DUTY ON BUILDING MATERIALS AND SUPPLIES TO 10 PER CENT

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, home ownership, construction and renovation are central to our economy and our way of life. As there is a national imperative to build and upgrade our existing housing stock, it is vital that we do all we can to reduce the cost of construction. Though the Government cannot regulate the rates charged for construction labour, we can reduce the amount of taxes paid on goods that are imported into Bermuda. Therefore, to support new homeowners, builders and those improving their properties, the Government will reduce the customs duty rate on all building materials and supplies currently charged above 10 per cent, such as air conditioners, paint, tile, steel, rebar, drywall, doors, windows and bathroom fixtures to a flat rate of 10 per cent. This reduction will reduce import costs for a wide range of construction materials, making construction and renovation more affordable for families and developers alike.

Hon. E. David Burt: Someone likes that.

Importantly, the few categories of building materials that are currently subject to a duty rate below 10 per cent will remain unchanged. This means that no duty rates will increase—only reductions will occur. The goal is simple: to reduce the cost of building and renovating homes to help stimulate economic activity in the construction sector.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to give a practical example of what this reduction means for consumers. Prior to these reductions, if you were looking to replace the air conditioning units in your home or business, and those units cost $4,000 to import into Bermuda, you would have paid $1,400 in custom duty charges, as the [duty] rate for air conditioners was set at 35 per cent. With these reductions, the duty payable for these imports would be only $400, a saving of $1,000, or 71 per cent.

These duty changes will take effect from July 1 and are estimated to reduce customs duty revenue by $4.6 million.

FURTHER REDUCTION IN ELECTRICITY TAXES

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, electricity costs remain a significant burden for households and businesses, and we understand the frustration many feel when they open their BELCO bill. While the Government cannot control the cost of fuel on global markets, we are doing everything within our power to lower the underlying costs that contribute to those rates.

Two years ago, the fuel duty on fuel used to generate electricity stood at 20 cents per litre (after being doubled, of course, Mr. Speaker, by the party opposite). In July 2024 we reduced that tax by 60 per cent to 8 cents per litre. With this budget we will reduce that tax to just 4 cents per litre. The combined effect of these changes will result in an 80 per cent reduction in electricity taxes over the last year.

To date, Government fuel duty relief has reduced the average monthly electricity rates by approximately 6 per cent. The additional reduction [announced] today will bring the total relief to 8 per cent, saving the average customer $300 per year. This estimate is based on average residential usage, and actual savings will vary depending on consumption.

This measure demonstrates the Government's commitment to delivering sustained relief on energy costs. While there is more work to be done across the energy sector, this initiative ensures that our tax policy supports lower electricity costs for every household and business in Bermuda.

This further reduction in the duty paid on fuel will take effect from 1 July 2025 and is expected to reduce customs duty revenue by a further $4.2 million.

ELIMINATION OF CUSTOMS DUTY ON ALL MOTOR VEHICLE PARTS

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, recognising the strain that vehicle repair costs can place on families and businesses, customs duty will be eliminated on all motor vehicle parts imported into Bermuda. Yes, all. Whether it is keeping a family car on the road or a company's fleet operating, this measure is aimed at lowering maintenance and repair costs while the Government works to repave Bermuda's roads.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to give another practical example of what this reduction will mean for consumers. Prior to these reductions, if you were looking to replace the tyres on your vehicle and those tyres cost $500 to import into Bermuda, the importer would have paid $175 in customs duty charges, as the duty rate for tyres was set at 35 per cent. With the elimination of customs duty, there would be no duty payable for these imports, saving the importer $175.

The duty elimination for motor vehicle parts will take effect from the 1st of July and is estimated to reduce customs duty revenue by $2.9 million.

INCREASE OF DUTY EXEMPTION FOR RETURNING RESIDENTS

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, the Government will increase the duty exemption for returning residents by 50 per cent from $200 to $300. This means that after any overseas travel, residents will be able to bring back up to $300 worth of goods duty free. This adjustment will make it easier for families to manage travel-related expenses and provide immediate savings for residents who may shop overseas for necessities, clothing and other goods. This rate allowance was last changed in 2012, or 13 years ago.

50 PER CENT REDUCTION IN MOBILE PHONE TAXES

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, access to communication is essential—for work, for education or for staying connected with loved ones. To ease the financial burden of mobile services, the Government will reduce the monthly tax on mobile phones by 50 per cent from $12 to $6. This measure will result in immediate savings for every mobile customer and is a part of our commitment to lowering the cost of essential services.

This tax reduction will take effect from the 1st of July 2025 and is expected to reduce revenue by $2 million.

REDUCTION OF THE BASE RATE OF LAND TAX BY 50 PER CENT

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, land tax is a significant revenue earner for the Government, but it can also represent a burden for homeowners and renters alike. In 2019, a new base [rate] for land tax was introduced and set at $300 a year. Given the Island's fiscal progress, the time is right to reduce this tax and provide more tax relief. The Government will reduce the base rate of land tax from $300 per year to $150 a year. This reduction will apply to all homeowners and renters who pay land tax.

This land tax reduction will take effect from the 1st of January 2026 and is expected to reduce land tax revenue by $2.5 million.

10 PER CENT REDUCTION IN LICENSING FEES FOR PRIVATE CARS

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, as we work to reduce the overall costs associated with vehicle ownership, the Government will implement a further 10 per cent reduction in licensing fees for private cars. When combined with the elimination of customs duty on all motor vehicle parts, this measure will provide further relief to families by lowering both the upfront and ongoing expenses of keeping a vehicle on the road.

Though this tax reduction is being announced today, it will be set to take effect from the 1st of April 2026 and will reduce revenue by $2.6 million for fiscal year 2026/27.

TAX PROPOSALS NOT BEING ADVANCED

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, though we have committed to significant relief, this Government is also firmly committed to fiscal responsibility. Two proposals previewed in the Pre-Budget Report have been postponed, as the Ministry of Finance is determined to ensure that every measure is well-targeted, well-designed and responsibly implemented. These deferred items include

- the elimination of payroll taxes for employers who retain Bermudian employees over the age of 65; and
- an increase in the tax-free threshold for local dividend income from $10,000 to $15,000.

These measures will now undergo further policy review, with the intention to implement them in the 2026/27 budget.

A CONSISTENT RECORD OF TAX REDUCTIONS

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, this Government has consistently reduced taxes as economic conditions have improved. We make these changes not for the headlines they produce but for the Bermudians who voted for a government that focuses on fairness. For that single parent juggling bills, for the seniors who stretch every dollar, for the entrepreneur trying to make payroll, and for every Bermudian who has made sacrifices during difficult times and deserves to now receive some relief.

Mr. Speaker, let us not forget how far we have come. In the last three years alone, this Government has

- reduced payroll taxes for 86 per cent of Bermuda's workforce;
- expanded the child daycare allowance;
- eliminated customs duties on essential goods;
- cut energy taxes by 60 per cent;
- reduced private car licensing fees;
- abolished land tax for charities and nursing homes; and
- frozen local fuel prices during global price surges.

This year, Mr. Speaker, we have gone further with these changes that will save the average family of four about $1,000 a year. We are proud of our record and grateful for the success of our economic vision that is rooted in fairness. But we are not satisfied. Because fairness is not a destination; it is our continuing mission. Together these initiatives represent a comprehensive package of further relief that will help to ease financial pressures while supporting vital economic activity.

2025/26 Budget Estimates

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, now to the numbers for this year.

Mr. Speaker, having just outlined the tax reductions that this Government will deliver to live up to our promise to make Bermuda more affordable, I will now turn my attention to the overall budget for the Consolidated Fund, for fiscal year 2025/26.

REVENUE

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, revenue for fiscal year 2025/26 is expected to reach $1.43 billion, which is 16 per cent, or $198 million, above the original estimates for fiscal year 2024/25.

Payroll tax receipts are projected to increase by $11 million, driven by expected job growth in the local economy. There are no changes to the existing payroll tax structure, as the Government awaits the recommendations from the Tax Reform Commission. This increase is lower than projected in prior fiscal years, reflecting the Finance Ministry's consideration of forthcoming recommendations from the Commission to reduce the cost of doing business in Bermuda.

A provisional figure of $187.5 million has been budgeted for revenue from the new corporate income tax, which came into effect on the 1st of January 2025. This figure aligns with the expectations that were set in last year's Budget Statement.

Customs duty revenue is expected to decline to $214.9 million, a reduction of 8 per cent from last year's estimates, as a result of the package of customs duty reductions announced earlier. Land tax collections are estimated at $87 million, representing a 5 per cent decline compared to last year's estimates. Telecommunications receipts are also projected to fall by 11 per cent following the 50 per cent reduction in monthly mobile phone taxes.

The other major changes in revenue are due to lower projected receipts from cruise ships, resulting from a reduction in cruise calls during the construction works at King's Wharf.

CURRENT EXPENDITURE

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, Consolidated Fund current account expenditure for fiscal year 2025/26 is estimated at $1.11 billion. This figure represents an increase of $118 million, or 11.9 per cent, when compared to the original estimates for fiscal year 2024/25.

Now, Mr. Speaker, this figure without context may seem high, especially given the fiscal discipline that the Government has exercised to reach a balanced budget. However, Mr. Speaker, I will share the details of these changes so that taxpayers can understand how their tax dollars are being spent.

Baseline Increases to Ministry Budgets

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, all ministries were granted a baseline increase of 1.5 per cent from last year's original estimates to account for inflation. This 1.5 per cent increase is in line with the Medium-Term Expenditure Framework (MTEF) that was presented in last year's budget and amounts to $13.7 million. In addition to this increase, additional funds were allocated to selected ministries to advance priority initiatives as outlined in the Speech from the Throne. The Ministries of Justice; Education; Housing and Municipalities; Public Works and Environment; Home Affairs; and Youth, Social Development and Seniors were allocated additional funding above the 1.5 per cent baseline totalling $4.7 million.

Social Investments

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, during last year's Mid-Year Review, the funds that were appropriated to ministries were not one-time investments. It was stated at the time that the new funding would be carried forward into this new fiscal year. These additional investments have been allocated to the respective ministries and represent $14.9 million of the additional current account expenditure. (Now, of course, Mr. Speaker, those were appropriated in this past year, but we are comparing the figures to the original estimates. That is why I am making sure I go through all of the figures.)

Union Pay Agreement

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, as mentioned earlier, the Government agreed to a four-year compensation agreement with public sector unions to assist in retaining our talented workforce. This agreement was a combination of inflation-indexed pay increases combined with additional increases, recognising that public sector compensation over the last decade has not kept pace with the rate of inflation. Additionally, to ensure that public sector workers did not experience a reduction in take-home pay due to required increases in pension contributions that I will detail later in this Statement, the Government agreed to fund the increases in employee contributions for both the Government Employee Health Insurance Scheme [GEHI] and the Public Service Superannuation Fund [PSSF]. The impact of these salary increases is $22.3 million, and the additional overheads required for GEHI and PSSF contributions amount to $3.8 million.

INVESTMENT IN HEALTH CARE

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, the Government is committed to introducing universal health care. As we have seen on page A-1 of the Budget Book, this year's budget commits an additional $56.25 million from the Consolidated Fund to invest in health care for Bermuda's residents. These funds will see additional investments made to the Health Insurance Department [HID] to support the expansion of the Health Insurance Plan [HIP] and FutureCare, additional funds to the Bermuda Hospitals Board, additional investments to ensure the launch of universal health care in 2026, and funding for the Government Employee Health Insurance scheme.

Mr. Speaker, I am going to detail these investments in health care, as they are important for Honourable Members and, of course, the public who are watching and listening to hear.

Finalising Universal Health Care to Launch in 2026

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, universal health care has been a long-time goal of the Bermuda Progressive Labour Party. That preceded my time before I was even a member of the PLP, Mr. Speaker. This goal requires the resources necessary to ensure that changes to our health care system are well planned and executed to minimise the challenges faced by those persons currently insured, underinsured or uninsured. A total of $3 million of this additional funding will be allocated to boost the human resources required to implement this initiative in 2026.

Funding Boost for the Health Insurance Department

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, last year the Government used funds from the excess borrowing account to freeze the Standard Premium Rate for the third year in a row. This action shielded families and businesses from additional costs during a period of high global inflation. This year we are moving beyond freezes and making investments to improve the health care benefits available to Bermudians. Through an allocation of $13.25 million from the Consolidated Fund, this Government is delivering on the pledges set out in the Progressive Labour Party's 2025 Platform—transforming health care to make it more accessible, affordable and preventative.

Mr. Speaker, this investment will expand coverage in the following ways:

Elimination of Waiting Periods to Access the Personal Home Care Benefit

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, the first one which will be welcome news to many in Bermuda, we will eliminate the 12-month waiting period for new HIP & FutureCare policyholders to access the Personal Home Care Benefit.

[Desk thumping]

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, as our population ages, access to affordable home health care becomes increasingly essential. Under the current system, newly enrolled HIP/FutureCare members had to wait an entire year to access Personal Home Care benefits—even when immediate support was urgently needed. That will now change.

By removing this waiting period, new policyholders will be able to receive assistance to help defray the costs of home-based care services when they need it most. While this benefit will significantly ease the financial burden for families, it does not cover the full cost of private home care. It is designed to assist families, supporting them in providing care while helping to reduce pressure on hospital services and long-term inpatient care.

This reform represents fairness in action, Mr. Speaker—helping seniors to age with dignity in their own homes and providing vital support to Bermudian families who may need assistance caring for a disabled family member. It is also sound fiscal management: timely access to home care reduces hospital readmissions, eases demand on inpatient beds and leads to lower health care costs over time.

Expansion of Prescription Drug Coverage for FutureCare and HIP

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, this year's health care investment will also fund the expansion of prescription drug coverage for HIP and FutureCare policyholders. Though we have increased access to prescription coverage over the last few years, many Bermudians, particularly our seniors, continue to face financial barriers when trying to access essential medications. This additional funding will increase the coverage limit for HIP from $1,000 a year to $3,000 a year and will increase the FutureCare limit from $3,000 to $5,000 a year, Mr. Speaker.

By enhancing prescription drug coverage, we will make it easier for individuals to manage chronic conditions like diabetes, heart disease and hypertension—leading to better health outcomes and reduced reliance on costly emergency care.

Expansion of Annual Examinations for FutureCare and HIP

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, preventative care saves lives. As we promised in the recent election campaign, this Government will introduce and expand coverage for annual health exams for HIP and FutureCare clients. Regular annual checkups catch potential health issues early before they escalate into costly medical emergencies. Ensuring that every Bermudian under HIP and FutureCare has access to an annual preventative health exam, with no out-of-pocket costs, is a transformational shift toward a healthier Bermuda.

Mr. Speaker, these initiatives are not just good policy—they reflect our values. They are directly delivering on the pledges contained in the PLP 2025 Platform: expanding HIP and FutureCare to make health care more accessible, reducing the financial burdens faced by seniors and working families, and building a health care system focused on prevention and fairness.

However, Mr. Speaker, we must also be responsible stewards of our health care system. Medical inflation [globally] is forecast to exceed 10 per cent this year, driving up the costs of medical care, equipment and pharmaceuticals. Therefore, the Government will not be able to freeze the Standard Premium Rate [SPR] for the fourth year in a row, and it will be necessary to introduce an inflationary adjustment to the Standard Premium Rate to ensure that we can sustain these vital benefits and maintain adequate funding for the Bermuda Hospitals Board.

Additional Funding to BHB

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, the Bermuda Hospitals Board [BHB] funding model was changed in 2018, and I must commend the board, management, staff and of course the Minister of Health for their efforts during the worst health care crisis in a century. It is important that the Government support the hospital to provide a high level of health care in Bermuda, and $22 million of the additional health care funding will be provided to the Bermuda Hospitals Board.

However, I must state, Mr. Speaker, that the Government and taxpayer cannot do it alone. When Bermuda constructed the new acute care wing it was supported by $24 million of private sector fundraising by the Bermuda Hospitals Charitable Trust. The Bermuda Hospitals Board has restarted fundraising activity, and I urge the private sector both local and international to assist in ensuring that our hospital can acquire the latest medical technology so that it can continue to provide top-tier life-saving health care on the Island.

Support for GEHI Funding Shortfall

Hon. E. David Burt: Finally, Mr. Speaker, the Government Employee Health Insurance scheme has experienced a deficit in recent years, and shortfalls in funding have been financed from the excess borrowing account. This year, these shortfalls will be funded from the Consolidated Fund in the amount of $18 million. This is not the full amount of the shortfall, Mr. Speaker, which is estimated at $31 million; however, GEHI rates will be increased for the first time since 2018 as part of the agreement with public sector employees and will be increased over the next [two] years to close this shortfall.

MANAGING BUDGETED EXPENDITURES

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, although this increase in current expenditure appears significant, it is necessary that the full amount of expected changes be put forward to this Honourable House in this budget. However, as recent history has shown, it is unlikely that all funds appropriated will be spent. Public service recruitment normally lags behind forecasts, particularly in a tight labour market. As recent trends have shown, salary expenses are typically 8 per cent lower than budgeted before retroactive pay increases are included. This year's budget includes the full amount of negotiated pay increases as part of the union pay agreement. Given recent trends, the salaries expenditure will likely be closer to $365 million, or $20 million less than budgeted.

Mr. Speaker, some may ask, If the Government is not expecting to spend all of these funds, then why are they in the budget? The answer is not simple, but it is a reality of public sector budgeting. If all of these funds are not appropriated, then ministries will be constrained in the resources necessary to deliver public services that taxpayers expect. Experience has shown that it is better to allow these funds to be appropriated with the knowledge that some funds will not be spent rather than try to reduce those funds prior to appropriation which results in reduced service delivery.

Mr. Speaker, although the Government has made provision for significant additional investments in public services, health care and our workforce, the expectation remains that current account expenditure will not reach the full $1.11 billion that has been estimated. And of course, any funds not spent will result in improved fiscal performance which the Government has experienced in every fiscal year since the pandemic.

And now, Mr. Speaker, if I may, I will move on.

Capital Expenditure

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, in last year's budget the Government allocated the largest investment in capital expenditure in 14 years. This fiscal year we build on that significant investment with a provision for capital expenditure of $149.8 million. This amount would represent the largest investment in our Island's infrastructure since 2008 and is an increase of $37 million compared to the 2024/25 original estimate. Investing funds for capital expenditure is essential because it lays the foundation for long-term economic growth and stability. By investing in physical and digital infrastructure, the Government can improve public services, foster job creation and improve productivity in the public sector.

The most significant items of capital development in this budget include road works and the installation of a new asphalt plant, investments in affordable housing, upgrades to the Tynes Bay Waste Treatment Facility, capital investments for the hospital and the commencement of the replacement of Swing Bridge. Projects such as the new Agricultural Services Centre; upgrades to the Bermuda Aquarium, Museum and Zoo; new facilities for signature schools and parish primary schools; and a new senior daycare facility are also funded, Mr. Speaker.

In terms of Capital Acquisitions, this budget allocates a record level of funding toward critical technology and equipment upgrades across Government. These investments include enhancements to the Government's IT infrastructure to support enhanced online services, the procurement of new buses and ferries, upgrades to information technology and equipment for public schools, the installation of speed cameras to improve road safety, advanced border security technology to protect our borders, Mr. Speaker, and new equipment for the Bermuda Fire and Rescue Service.

Mr. Speaker, by investing in our infrastructure, from our roads and schools to public safety and digital services, this Government is ensuring that the essential services Bermudians rely on are strengthened, modernised and also properly maintained for the future.

DEBT SERVICE

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, debt service costs for the 2025/26 budget are projected to be $127.5 million, largely in line with last fiscal year. There are no changes in long-term debt expected during this fiscal year, and with the prospect of budget surpluses for the foreseeable future, the amount of funds required to be committed to debt service is projected to decline in future fiscal years.

PROJECTED BUDGET SURPLUS

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, to recap, revenue for fiscal year 2025/26 is expected to reach $1.43 billion, which is 16 per cent, [or $198 million,] more than the original estimates for 2024/25. Current Account Expenditure is estimated at $1.11 billion, an increase of $118 million, [or 11.9 per cent,] above the original estimates for last year. The estimated Current Account Balance before debt service is expected to be $320 million, $80 million, or 33 per cent, more than the original estimates for 2024/25.

This Current Account balance will cover the costs of servicing our debt, projected at $127.5 million. This results in $193.1 million of funds available to meet capital expenditure. As I just covered, capital expenditure in fiscal year 2025/26 is estimated at $149.7 million, $37 million [or 33 per cent] higher than last year.

Mr. Speaker, with the budget that I have laid before this Honourable House today, this Progressive Labour Party Government is projecting a second consecutive Consolidated Fund surplus. This year's surplus of $43.3 million is more than double the surplus achieved last year and places the country on an even stronger financial footing for the future.

Mr. Speaker, achieving and maintaining surpluses is critical to safeguarding Bermuda's financial stability. Surpluses provide the fiscal space needed to respond to global challenges without increasing the burden on Bermuda's taxpayers. Through disciplined financial management, combined with prudent investments, this Government will continue on a path to ensure Bermuda is positioned to reduce the Government's debt, leading to a brighter future for the next generation.

GOVERNMENT DEBT

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, as of the 31st of March 2025, gross debt stood at $3.29 billion. After accounting for the sinking fund, the Island's net debt stands at $3.25 billion.

At the end of fiscal year 2025/26, the sinking fund is projected to grow to $85 million. This includes the $40 million balance carried forward, the additional surplus of $43 million which we are anticipating for this year and the anticipated interest earnings of $2 million. Net debt is projected to decline to $3.20 billion at the 31st of March 2026.

Mr. Speaker, during fiscal year 2026/27, the Government expects to have sufficient reserves to repay at least $500 million of Government debt, thereby reducing the Government's gross debt by $500 million, ending the year with net debt of $2.8 billion.

MINISTRY HIGHLIGHTS

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, this budget fulfils the Government's pledge to invest in our people and our Island's future. And if you will allow me, Mr. Speaker, I would now like to cover highlights from various ministries that are funded in this budget. It is vital that budgets match the pledges made in our Throne Speech and also our election platform, and this budget, Mr. Speaker, delivers on those priorities.

Cabinet Office and Digital Innovation

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, the Cabinet Office has been allocated $53.6 million, an increase of $4 million, or 8 per cent.

The ongoing digitisation of the Archives will expand public access to historical records and ensure their long-term preservation. The Digital Transformation Team, with an allocation of $975,000, will continue advancing the One-Stop Shop initiative for online government services. Priorities include expanding the online payment portal and building a unified digital interface to make more government services accessible online.

Funding has been allocated to expand the Public Service Bursary Programme, increasing the number of scholarships awarded in exchange for a commitment to public service employment or health care service upon graduation.

Under Capital Expenditure, the Department of Information and Digital Technologies has received $6.5 million in capital funding to strengthen cybersecurity, modernise network systems and improve public access to digital government services, including continuing enhancements to the Government's online portal. In addition, $1 million of capital funding has been given for a new round of community club development grants, and $500,000 of capital funding has been allocated for the cooperative food supply initiative.

Ministry of Justice

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, the Ministry of Justice has been allocated $57.7 million, an increase of $2.9 million, or 5 per cent. This allocation will support various departments under the Ministry in fulfilling their mandates more effectively.

The Attorney General's Chambers will enhance its resources and staffing levels to support the drafting of robust legislation and to provide comprehensive legal advice and representation to Government ministries and departments. These additional resources will prevent backlogs and ensure that the Government can swiftly move forward with matters of law reform that will benefit all of Bermuda.

This year, the Judicial Department will benefit from capital expenditure funding to implement a new electronic case management system which will modernise services and expedite justice. In addition, renovations to the Dame Lois Browne-Evans Building will begin this year to add purpose-built courtrooms and administrative space aimed at easing pressure on the court system and reducing delays.

The Department of Corrections will recruit new corrections officers to restore operational capacity and meet security standards. Funds will be allocated to officer training and welfare, as well as enhanced and individualised rehabilitation and education programmes for inmates that incorporate principles of restorative justice. Works will also commence this year on long-overdue repairs at Westgate Correctional Facility.

The Department of Court Services will complete its hiring initiative to strengthen the department's ability to meet a broader range of client needs in-house, including support for the new Domestic Violence Court Programme.

Ministry of Finance

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, the Ministry of Finance has been allocated $266.6 million, an increase of $25.2 million, or 10 per cent.

However, Mr. Speaker, 85 per cent of the funds assigned to the Ministry are for employee overheads (which come to $99.9 million) which has increased by $19.8 million, and interest on debt ($127.5 million). Most of the remaining increase is due to a $4.8 million grant to the Corporate Income Tax Agency.

Key priorities for the Ministry include advancing pension reform while progressing critical international tax and regulatory reviews. Ministry Headquarters will support the Tax Reform Commission's work to recommend a revised tax framework for Bermuda.

This will take place alongside the work required to support the Corporate Income Tax Agency [CITA] in implementing the new Corporate Income Tax. The Registrar of Companies will advance implementation of a central register for beneficial ownership in line with Bermuda's international commitments.

The Ministry of Finance has been allocated $2.1 million of capital funding primarily for IT upgrades in the Registrar of Companies, Office of the Tax Commissioner and the Accountant General.

Ministry of Education

Hon. E. David Burt: The Ministry of Education has been allocated $149.2 million, an increase of $9.8 million, or 7 per cent.

These funds will ensure programmes thrive and necessary resources are in place to deliver quality, safe learning experiences. The Ministry's Scholarships and Awards have increased by $223,000 bringing the total to $1.8 million for post-secondary education, providing more opportunities for young adults to access funding and pursue their dreams.

A 26 per cent increase in substitute teachers will support education reform efforts while assisting school leaders with day-to-day operations, in response to concerns raised by our cherished educators.

Capital funding has increased by 52 per cent to support the infrastructure projects for the Harrington Sound and Elliot Parish Primary Schools opening in September 2025. This funding will also support the transformation of Prospect Primary to an Exceptionalities Signature School and continued enhancements for Signature Schools at the Berkeley Institute, CedarBridge Academy and Sandys Secondary Middle School.

In addition to capital works, these additional funds will be used to improve technological infrastructure within schools, including updating computer labs, faster Internet access and incorporating more digital learning platforms into the curriculum.

Ministry of Health

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, the Ministry of Health has been allocated $245.4 million, an increase of $45 million, or 22 per cent.

A significant portion of this funding supports the Bermuda Hospitals Board [BHB], including $112.5 million in patient subsidies for youth, the elderly and those in need, along with a $42.1 million operational grant for the Mid-Atlantic Wellness Institute [MWI]. As mentioned earlier, additional funding has been allocated for hospitals, the Health Insurance Department, and Ministry headquarters to launch universal health care. The Bermuda Hospitals Board continues efforts to enhance service delivery quality through advancements in its electronic medical records system.

For capital projects, the Ministry has been allocated $3.3 million for renovations to the Mangrove Bay Clinic, St. George's Clinic and Hamilton Health Centre, as well as architectural planning for the expansion of Sylvia Richardson Care Facility and the replacement of Lefroy House.

Additionally, $6.6 million of capital funding is designated for BHB infrastructure upgrades, maintenance and system improvements at King Edward VII Memorial Hospital [KEMH] and MWI. The total capital allocation for the Ministry of Health for 2025/26 reflects a 9.83 per cent increase over the previous year.

Ministry of Economy and Labour

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, the Ministry of Economy and Labour has been allocated $27.5 million, an increase of $1.8 million, or 7 per cent.

Funding will support the implementation of the Economic Development Strategy, with the Bermuda Economic Development Corporation receiving an additional $100,000 to deliver Bermuda's first National Entrepreneurship Strategy. The Bermuda Business Development Agency's funding of $4.23 million will continue to drive investment promotion and targeted economic growth initiatives.

At the Department of Immigration, an additional $629,000 has been allocated to modernise the border management system, strengthen recruitment and enhance customer service as part of the department's digital transformation project.

The Department of Statistics will receive an additional $816,000 to complete the Household Income and Expenditure Survey and begin preparations for the 2026 Census, including the hiring of Assistant Statisticians and the engagement of consultants to automate the reporting.

The Workforce Development Department's allocation increases by $305,000, supporting greater access to overseas apprenticeships, local skills certifications and job training programmes that prepare Bermudians for new economic opportunities.

Ministry of Public Works and Environment

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, the Ministry of Public Works and Environment has been allocated $84.1 million, an increase of $4.4 million, or 6 per cent.

The Government has allocated an additional [$3.75] million in funding to commence the replacement of the Swing Bridge, a critical link between St. George's and the rest of the Island. Maintaining and improving road infrastructure remains a priority, with $5 million allocated again for road paving. Preparatory works for the new asphalt plant are fully funded and underway, which will enhance the efficiency and quality of future road maintenance.

To better manage stormwater and reduce flood risks, the Ministry will ensure sufficient funding for modern drainage cleaning equipment. In addition, [over] $1 million have been allocated for the repair and restoration of large water tanks critical to the Island's water supply, ensuring greater resilience during drought and periods of high demand.

Environmental stewardship remains central to the work. An additional $400,000 will support coastal protection projects to combat erosion and safeguard shoreline communities. The refurbishment of the Tynes Bay Waste-to-Energy facility continues to advance, securing Bermuda's long-term environmental health.

Finally, Mr. Speaker, to promote safety and enhance enjoyment at public beaches, the Government has invested in hiring additional full-time lifeguards who will provide [expanded] coverage at major beaches for the benefit of residents and visitors alike.

Ministry of Tourism and Transport, Culture and Sport

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, the Ministry of Tourism and Transport, Culture and Sport has been allocated $101.6 million, an increase of $3.7 million, or 4 per cent.

A total of $8.7 million has been allocated to strengthen Bermuda's ferry fleet, supporting the delivery of two new 550-passenger ferries expected by the end of the year. In addition, $404,000 have been provided to continue the rollout of the digital fare media system under the Shorelink project, modernising public transportation payment options for residents and visitors.

Capital funding of $3.5 million has also been allocated for the purchase of additional electric buses, allowing the retirement of more diesel buses and improving the reliability and environmental sustainability of Bermuda's public bus service.

An increase of $274,000 for the Department of Culture will expand grants to cultural organisations, enhance Bermuda Day celebrations, and support the induction of a new National Hero to strengthen national pride and cultural heritage.

The Department of Sport and Recreation has received an additional $1.6 million, supporting the launch of the new Active Kids Programme under the National Sports Policy, salary uplifts at the National Sports Centre and expansion of summer day camps to provide more affordable recreational activities for Bermuda's youth.

Ministry of National Security

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, the Ministry of National Security has been allocated a total of $126.9 million, an increase of $10.9 million, or 9 per cent.

This funding will enable departments under the Ministry to fill 18 additional posts in the Bermuda Police Service, Customs and the Cybersecurity Unit located in Ministry Headquarters. The Royal Bermuda Regiment Coast Guard has been allocated funding for the impending opening of the St. David's Coast Guard station. This station will result in Bermuda's maritime capabilities being significantly extended, particularly in the east end of Bermuda.

Funding will provide for the implementation of the Uniformed Services Training Programme, which aims to prepare Bermudians for careers in our uniformed services.

Funding has also been allocated for the provision of individual and family counselling, intervention initiatives and educational programmes through our Gang Violence Reduction Team. Additional funding has been allocated to community and sports organisations to support their youth programmes and to enhance their security infrastructure.

Capital funding in the amount of $9.3 million will cover the costs of completing the St. David's Coast Guard Station, the Police Headquarters project in Prospect, the purchase of new fire trucks, upgrades to the public safety communication system, a scanner for Customs at the Heritage Wharf in Dockyard, upgrades to the police network servers and a new building on the Hamilton docks to house Customs' X-ray machine.

Ministry of Youth, Social Development and Seniors

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, the Ministry of Youth, Social Development and Seniors has been allocated $91.2 million, an increase of $5.9 million, or 7 per cent.

Funding has been allocated to support the hiring of a Project Manager to lead the implementation of the National Seniors Strategy as we work to improve the lives of older Bermudians. In addition, the Ministry will continue the successful Dementia Care Pilot Programme, which is providing vital navigation and support services to seniors who are uninsured or underinsured.

Recommendations from the Multi-Agency Risk Assessment Committee will be actioned with the introduction of a structured treatment programme for perpetrators of domestic abuse and with the hiring of a Domestic Abuse Liaison social worker to improve response and prevention efforts.

To support Bermuda's youth, funding has been allocated to fully restore staffing for the Mirrors programme. In addition, long overdue wage increases have been provided for miscellaneous staff at Bermuda's community centres, many of whom have not seen a pay adjustment in more than 15 years.

Finally, an intensive family preservation programme will be launched, supporting high-risk families with coordinated, immediate interventions to keep them safely together and address the root causes of instability.

Capital funding will progress the new senior daycare facility at the former Gilbert Institute site in Paget, with architectural planning now underway. This project will help provide much-needed care options for our ageing population and support families caring for elderly loved ones.

Ministry of Home Affairs

Hon. E. David Burt: The Ministry of Home Affairs has been allocated $5.8 million, an increase of $856,000, or 17 per cent.

Consumer Affairs has rejoined the Ministry Headquarters, and operational funding has been increased to accommodate additional personnel to advance the Throne Speech initiatives, with a particular focus on energy reform and addressing cost of living concerns.

The Ministry will hold a Cost of Living Summit in June focused on food and utility costs, confirming necessary legislative changes to provide economic relief and strengthen oversight across both regulated and unregulated sectors to ease cost pressures on residents and businesses.

The capital budget includes funding to upgrade the IT system within the Land Title and Registration Department, which is expected to assist in reducing the backlog of property and title registrations.

Ministry of Housing and Municipalities

Hon. E. David Burt: Finally, Mr. Speaker, last but not least, to the Ministry of Housing and Municipalities. Mr. Speaker, the newly formed Ministry of Housing and Municipalities has been allocated $7.5 million, an increase of $1 million, or 15 per cent.

Capital funding to the Bermuda Housing Corporation has increased by $4.2 million, or 33 per cent, to $17 million. These funds will continue the record investment in affordable housing made by this Government and are expected to support the delivery of 30 additional affordable housing units in 2025.

Funding to the Ministry will support the development of a long-term affordable housing strategy in collaboration with local stakeholders. Additional funding has been provided to complete the master planning for key residential neighbourhoods including Mary Victoria Road, Alexandra Road and Cedar Park, focusing on improvements to water and sewage infrastructure, lighting and general home upgrades.

Mr. Speaker, that concludes the Ministry Highlights. I will now move on to the next section.

Building a Sustainable Future for Public Sector Pensions

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, in this budget we do more than just invest in today; we are also taking the necessary steps to ensure a secure fiscal future, and that means tackling the large unfunded liabilities in our public sector pensions.

PUBLIC SERVICE SUPERANNUATION FUND (PSSF)

Hon. E. David Burt: Following extensive consultation with our union partners, the Government will table amendments to the Public Service Superannuation Fund Act during this budget session, placing the PSSF on a sustainable footing for the future. These changes reflect years of careful analysis and many rounds of consultation and revision. When implemented, they will eliminate the growing unfunded liability for the PSSF, ensuring that the commitments made to current and future public service retirees can be honoured.

These changes will result in phased increases in the age where public sector workers will be eligible to receive a pension; increases in contributions from 8.0 per cent to 10.0 per cent for most employees, and from 9.5 per cent to 11.5 per cent for uniformed service employees; and a revision to the calculation of the reference wage for retirement, from the final salary to the average salary over the last 10 years. Finally, these changes when passed will reintroduce the annual cost of living increases for public sector retirees, which have been frozen since 2014.

Mr. Speaker, while the tabling of this Bill will represent significant progress, there is more work to be done.

CONTRIBUTORY PENSION FUND

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, with PSSF changes set to advance, the Ministry of Finance will turn our attention to the challenging task of securing the long-term sustainability of Bermuda's Contributory Pension Fund [CPF], which underpins the Social Insurance benefits for more than 14,000 Bermudians.

Mr. Speaker, at the outset let me address a misconception directly. Some have wrongly claimed that the need for reform in the CPF or even the PSSF arises from mismanagement or misuse of funds. That is simply not true. The Contributory Pension Fund is soundly managed, prudently invested and regularly reviewed by actuaries. The challenges we face are demographic. Like many nations around the world, we are grappling with longer life expectancies, fewer contributors and rising benefit demands.

This is not unique to Bermuda. In the United Kingdom, the state pension age has been raised with further increases scheduled. Barbados enacted major pension reforms in 2022 to prevent the depletion of its National Insurance Fund. The United States Social Security Trust Fund will be exhausted in just over a decade if changes are not made. The Bahamas, Trinidad and Tobago, and the British Virgin Islands have all acknowledged similar pressures and begun their own difficult but necessary reform journeys. These realities are shared. And like others, Bermuda must take action.

Mr. Speaker, the time for contemplation is over. With the reforms to the PSSF moving forward this year, Social Insurance must be reformed to reflect the realities of our time: a population living longer and a contributor base that is no longer [sufficiently large] to sustain the growing number of beneficiaries. When Social Insurance was put into place, Mr. Speaker, life expectancy was less than 65. Now life expectancy is 81 years. Advances in modern medicine have extended lifespans, a welcome achievement, but one that means the fund is now supporting more people for longer periods than it was ever designed to do.

To ensure our pension system can continue, as a community we must adjust our expectations as we plan for our retirement. Why is this necessary? Because today's 45-year-old—who has contributed to the fund for 20 years, who still has nearly 20 more years left to contribute—deserves to know that the fund will be there when they retire. If we fail to act, we fail them. And this Progressive Labour Party Government will not fail those who have paid into a system with the expectation of receiving a benefit when they retire.

Mr. Speaker, this Government will bring forward proposals to ensure that Bermuda's Social Insurance system is not only sustainable, but more equitable. These changes will include adjustments to contributions combined with a phased increase in the age that contributors can receive social insurance benefits.

Mr. Speaker, we welcome bipartisan cooperation on this vital national issue, as pension sustainability should not be a partisan matter. It is a question of economic security for future generations, driven not by politics but by the realities of changing demographics.

However, Mr. Speaker, the Government remains fully committed to our policy of increasing seniors' pensions in line with the rate of inflation and will do so again this year. However, until a full Social Insurance reform package is implemented in 2026, that continued commitment, while necessary to protect our seniors, also means that there must be increased contributions.

Mr. Speaker, the Progressive Labour Party has demonstrated consistent fiscal responsibility. We have balanced the budget while supporting families, investing in housing and expanding health care. Our legacy will be one of sound economic management—not only by balancing the books but by ensuring that our public pensions are stable and fair for generations to come.

That, Mr. Speaker, is the true test of leadership, the true record of fiscal responsibility—doing what is right, even if it is hard.

PROGRESS ON TAX REFORM

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, meaningful progress has been made to modernise Bermuda's tax system. Reforms must be anchored in fairness, aligned with global standards, and focused on long-term sustainability. The introduction of the corporate income tax (CIT) marks a major shift, and with implementation now underway, broader reforms are expected to ensure Bermuda remains a jurisdiction of choice for international business.

Corporate Income Tax

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, on the 1st of January 2025, Bermuda's new corporate income tax regime took effect, and the new Corporate Income Tax Agency [CITA] has been set up to administer this new regime. The Corporate Income Tax Agency's role is paramount to reinforcing Bermuda's continuing commitment to global compliance and transparency and maintaining Bermuda's international competitive positioning.

A tax professional with significant relevant experience joined the CITA as CEO in January 2025. He is in the process of progressing the workplan and road map, including hiring further qualified employees to operate the agency to ensure that the implementation is a success.

As part of the road map, the agency is implementing a Tax Administration Platform [TAP] which will be the key interface and collection vehicle for taxpayers. This platform will provide a modern digital interface so that taxpayers can liaise effectively with the agency. The CITA is tasked with balancing the effective collection and determination of tax liabilities with the need to minimise taxpayers' administration and compliance costs.

Mr. Speaker, the CITA has been granted an operational grant of $4.78 million in this fiscal year, which is in line with the current year grant. Further funding will be required in the current year to support successful implementation of the IT system infrastructure and to ensure that there are the required staff and related resources. It is envisaged that the CITA will be self-funding in future years through the interest from revenues that they collect, and any additional funding for this year will likely be as a loan against that future expected revenue.

The full year tax filings for 2025 will be due in 2026; however, the agency will collect the first instalments in August of 2025. This budget includes prudent revenue estimates of $187.5 million and allows sufficient headroom to support any variability in receipts and, as necessary, adjustments to payments made.

Mr. Speaker, the Corporate Income Tax Agency and the Ministry of Finance will continue to work together on all legislative changes relating to the corporate income tax. We will continue to hold public consultations to ensure that legislation is developed to meet our international obligations while addressing the needs of our community.

Recent Global Developments

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, the work to implement the new corporate income tax has required a herculean effort from Ministry of Finance staff, external technical experts, industry bodies and colleagues at the Corporate Income Tax Agency. We are grateful for the support and will maintain this collaborative approach as we continue to develop legislation in support of successful implementation.

Mr. Speaker, we acknowledge that work is ongoing globally to finalise the details of the Global Tax Framework, and we are actively engaged in monitoring developments through our international advocacy. Of course, there are ongoing discussions on how best to achieve the balance of tax sovereignty, certainty and fairness. Bermuda will continue to participate in these discussions to support the achievement of a fair outcome for all. We recognise that this is a significant change in the jurisdiction's tax framework and that successful implementation of the corporate income tax is an important step required for this jurisdiction to remain globally competitive.

Tax Reform Commission

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, this change in our framework requires diverse thinking and collaboration amongst those with technical expertise who have a vested interest in a stable and secure economic future for our Island. The Tax Reform Commission [TRC] is nearing the conclusion of its work to make recommendations to the Government on tax reform to sustain Bermuda's economic strengths, reduce the cost of living and doing business and to support increased equity with the advent of the new corporate income tax.

The commission's work has significantly progressed through three key workstreams:

First, Mr. Speaker, they are reviewing the implications of the CIT for local and international business. They also have a broader remit to recommend a framework to encourage investment and economic activity in Bermuda through appropriate incentives.

Second, the focus is on reducing the cost of living and business operations and the opportunity to assist with equity in Bermuda. This includes evaluating the social and economic impacts of proposed reforms on various demographics and modelling the impacts of revising two larger cost categories—payroll tax and health care—for both individuals and companies.

Third, the Tax Reform Commission have been working to inform, educate and engage stakeholders. This education has been through town hall meetings, radio and a website for public engagement. Over 30 stakeholder group meetings have been held since the start of the Tax Reform Commission's work. This "listening tour" has provided a strong indication of the various stakeholder preferences that the commission will seek to address over the medium term through their recommendations.

The Government looks forward to receiving the report of the Tax Reform Commission in June 2025 and is committed to implementing recommendations arising from their report during the 2025/26 fiscal year. This will provide stability and certainty to our international business community while embracing the reforms that may bring fairness to Bermuda's tax system.

Making Government Work Better for You

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, last year as promised in the 2024 Budget Statement, the Government launched the Red Tape Reduction Consultation, inviting feedback from individuals, businesses and organisations across Bermuda. This consultation closed in May 2024 and received nearly 100 submissions reflecting a wide range of thoughtful suggestions on how to streamline processes, enhance accessibility and make government services more efficient.

Since then, we have honoured that call by advancing a series of impactful enhancements grounded in the feedback we received.

Mr. Speaker, on 1 July 2024, the Government launched pay.gov.bm, initially enabling residents to pay for parking tickets quickly and conveniently online. This platform will continue to expand, eventually supporting nearly all transactions that [currently] require a visit to a cashier.

Mr. Speaker, in February we upgraded the Online Services section of the Government's website. This new site offers simplified navigation, enhanced search functionality, digital application submissions, permit requests and online payments.

Additionally, in response to the public's requests for more accessible services for Social Insurance needs, the Department of Social Insurance has enhanced its digital capabilities. Applications for pensions, name changes, contribution records and various benefits can now be accessed online via socialinsurance.gov.bm. This move enhances convenience and significantly cuts down on paperwork and processing time.

Mr. Speaker, one specific area for which respondents to the Red Tape Reduction consultation submitted ideas was simplifying processes at the Transport Control Department [TCD]. The Government took this feedback on board and implemented more digitised services for TCD. On the 31st of March this year, the department launched the first phase of these services, which are now available on at forms.gov.bm with online applications for Project Ride Instructors; Exemptions for Tint, Seatbelt, Signage and Licensing Fees; and Importation and Replacement of Vehicles and Vehicle Parts.

These services represent just the beginning. In the coming months, more TCD services and applications will be digitised, continuing our work to modernise how residents interact with government services by reducing in-person visits, eliminating outdated manual processes and increasing processing efficiency.

Mr. Speaker, we are delivering on the responses made in the Red Tape Reduction Consultation.

The combined investment across government in new IT programmes and applications is $15 million. This year we will see more applications placed online, additional online services launched and improved customer experiences from the Department of Immigration to the Judiciary, to the Office of the Tax Commissioner, and on public transport. To aid in simplifying navigation of government services and laws, we will implement AI-powered customer support, allowing people to better find the information they need from the government at any time, not just during working hours.

Cutting red tape is not merely about eliminating unnecessary steps; it is also about reshaping the way people experience and interact with the government. While there is still work to do, Mr. Speaker, the progress we have made demonstrates our commitment to listening to the people we serve. We will continue to modernise, streamline and innovate, making it easier for Bermudians to get access to the services they need.

Acknowledgements

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, before I conclude my presentation today, I must thank the persons who made this budget surplus a reality. Though I serve as Premier and Minister of Finance, today I stand here as a representative of this Government, and though I deliver the speech, many others have done the work.

I wish to pay homage to the Ministers and the Public Service Executive, the Heads of Departments and the Ministry Controllers who have laboured to ensure that we complete the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure in good time.

I would like to thank the team at the Ministry of Finance led by the Financial Secretary, Mr. Chidozie Ofoego, who is here in the Chamber, who support the work of the Minister of Finance in preparing the annual budget. I wish to also express a special thank-you to the members of the Budget Office, led by the Budget Director Ms. Tina Tucker, who is also here with us in the Chamber, who work with ministries to ensure budget control and the preparation of this year's Budget Book, and the communications team who ensure that this document is printed on time.

Thank you.

I also, Mr. Speaker, must thank the Junior Minister of Finance, the Honourable Minister Wayne

Furbert, who I can say, without his help and assistance, neither this Budget Statement nor the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure as they were presented today would have been possible.

Thank you, Wayne.

Finally, Mr. Speaker, I would like to thank the public officers who deliver government services to the residents of Bermuda, and I must recognise the Honourable Members of the Government backbenches who I have no doubt will hold this Government's feet to the fire, ensuring that the priorities of the Government match the feedback from the doorsteps.

Conclusion

Hon. E. David Burt: In conclusion, Mr. Speaker, the world's political and economic landscape is shifting before our very eyes. Institutions that once commanded deference now face growing scepticism. A decade ago we spoke of adjusting to a new normal. Today, Mr. Speaker, there is no normal—new or otherwise.

We are global citizens shaped by a shared past. Nations that once found common ground in measured immigration, public engagement and expanding trade find those shared goals now under strain. And while today we can still find stability, the real question is, What does tomorrow bring?

Mr. Speaker, these global changes demand that Bermuda be prepared to meet the challenges that could so easily beset us. Uncertainty must be matched by strong leadership and a clear vision for the future. The Progressive Labour Party has always been a party of vision both in Opposition and in Government. In January of 1997, the Jennifer Smith who was not yet Premier set out this party's timeless vision for the International Companies Division of the Chamber of Commerce. At that time, she said, Mr. Speaker, and I quote:

"Bermuda must become a place where we work together to meet our responsibilities, where people's differences are respected so that we can live together in harmony, a place where hard work is rewarded fairly and equitably."

"There is only one way an economy like ours can succeed in the new global marketplace. The greater the opportunities in education and work for each of us, the better the prosperity for all of us . . . Fairness will be the rule and social justice the hallmark of public policy."—Dame Jennifer H. Smith, JP, January 1997.

Mr. Speaker, building that fairer, more stable and more affordable Bermuda is no slogan formulated in the quest for votes. It is the core philosophy that undergirds all that the Progressive Labour Party, over generations, has set out to do. Three successive mandates won in varying economic conditions are a clear indication that the people of Bermuda know that we, the Progressive Labour Party, have their best interests at heart.

Mr. Speaker, our economic success does not make us triumphant. The facts in support of our policies' positive impact on the people of Bermuda represent a discharge of the solemn trust placed in us by the people. The pride in what we have achieved since 2017 is tempered by a healthy dose of humility, because we know that there is much more work to be done.

Mr. Speaker, as I commend these Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure to this Honourable House, I do so on behalf of my parliamentary colleagues and the members of the Bermuda Progressive Labour Party—staying true to the ideals of those women and men who ushered in the greatest era of political change Bermuda has seen. When we act together, when we lead with fairness and when we keep our focus on what matters—the people—Bermuda and Bermudians will always prosper.

This budget further cements our determination that all should benefit from the economic success of Bermuda, and Mr. Speaker, this budget will deliver a fairer, more stable and more affordable Bermuda for all.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

BERMUDA HOUSING TRUST
AUDITED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
AND CURRENT CHALLENGES

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Mr. Speaker, I rise today to provide this Honourable House and the public with an update on the Bermuda Housing Trust. I am pleased to inform this Honourable House that the Trust has achieved yet another successive, clean and unqualified audit for the financial year ended March 31, 2024. The audit was once again conducted by the Office of the Auditor General, and the Trustees are justifiably proud of this outcome.

Mr. Speaker, Honourable Members will recall that the Bermuda Housing Trust was established by statute 60 years ago, in 1965, to provide affordable rental accommodation for seniors capable of living independently. Today the Trust comprises five properties Island-wide including Heydon Park, Dr. Cann Park, Elizabeth Hills Park, Purvis Park, and Ferguson Park—together housing approximately 200 senior residents.

While the audited financial statements reflect a sound financial position, the Trustees have requested that I also communicate their caution: this picture must be considered in context. Financial pressures loom large, and challenges persist in fulfilling their mandate to provide affordable, quality rental accommodation for Bermuda's seniors.

The first of these challenges relates to demographics. The demand for senior housing is rising. As Members are aware, Bermuda's population is ageing, with projections indicating that by 2026, one in four residents will be aged 65 years or older. Seniors today are living longer and healthier lives. They value and require affordable accommodation that not only meets their financial needs but also supports independent living—a goal we all share for our parents and, one day, even for ourselves.

Currently, the Trust maintains a waiting list of between 50 and 100 qualified applicants. Applications, I note, are only accepted from individuals aged 65 and above. A second challenge lies in balancing priority placements for those in urgent need while maintaining the current housing stock. This is no easy task. Even more difficult is the Trust's effort to continue its long-standing policy of not increasing rent for sitting tenants—regardless of the length of tenancy. In today's climate of rising prices, this is no small achievement.

Although this policy has largely been maintained, the Trustees have, out of necessity, introduced marginal rent increases applicable only to new tenants. These increases are due to the mounting costs of maintaining an ageing housing inventory. Contractors for significant maintenance work are not always easily secured, and scheduling must be carefully managed around the needs of the elderly tenants.

Mr. Speaker, despite these constraints, I am pleased to report progress. Roof repairs at Dr. Cann Park—the Trust's largest property—have been completed, and necessary re-caulking and sealing work is now underway to address longstanding leak issues. This essential work has taken longer than expected, and I commend the patience and understanding of the residents who have endured these delays. The Trust has rightly prioritised sealing and securing the exterior before addressing interior renovations—particularly in currently vacant units.

In support of this work, the then-Ministry of Public Works provided private engineering resources to assist with oversight of the caulking and painting project. The Trustees have asked me to extend their appreciation for the support received from my predecessor in Housing, Lt. Col. the Hon. David A. Burch, OBE, JP. Additionally, the Trust has strengthened its operations with the appointment of an Executive Director, Ms. Chandra Arandjelovic. (Mr. Speaker, I would say that I have always had a problem pronouncing this lady's last name, and we did spend a lot of time in our younger years as teenagers, along with a few other of my young friends at the time.) But she is significantly improving business continuity, regulatory compliance and operational oversight. Mr. Speaker, the Trustees have also formalised a long-standing part-time role into a fulltime position. Ms. Judy Knight, who for over a decade provided valuable support to tenants, has stepped down, and the position has been taken up by Ms. Quayante Watson as the new Rental Agent.

Mr. Speaker, it is important to note that the Bermuda Housing Trust currently receives no direct financial support from the Government. Nevertheless, last year the Ministry of Public Works, together with the Bermuda Housing Corporation, provided invaluable support through architectural, engineering, project management and maintenance services, for which the Trustees are deeply grateful. Looking ahead, I am committed to strengthening the partnership between the Bermuda Housing Trust and the Bermuda Housing Corporation to ensure we continue delivering the highest level of assistance possible.

Finally, in my capacity as Minister, I would like to express my sincere thanks and appreciation to the dedicated Trustees of the Bermuda Housing Trust for their unwavering commitment to serving our seniors. I especially acknowledge the following:

- The Hon. John Barritt, Chairman;
- Mrs. Rochelle Simons, Deputy Chair;
- Mr. Anthony Mouchette;
- Mr. Daniel Robinson;
- Mr. Juan Smith;
- Mr. Marco Bortelli; and
- Mr. Alexander Abbott.

And special thanks to retired Trustee, Ms. Thelma Hart, for her many years of service.

Mr. Speaker, the work of the Bermuda Housing Trust is vital to the wellbeing and dignity of our seniors. Their legacy is one of compassion, service and financial prudence. As the Minister responsible, I am committed to supporting the Trust as it continues to fulfil this essential mission.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

PUBLIC SERVICE SUPERANNUATION FUND 2020 ACTUARIAL REVIEWS

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Mr. Speaker, I rise today to advise the Honourable Members of the completion of the actuarial reviews of the Public Service Superannuation Fund \(PSSF\) and the Ministers and Members of the Legislature Pension Fund \(MMLPF\) for the year ended 31 March 2020, which were tabled in this Honourable House today.

Mr. Speaker, I acknowledge that the 2023 Actuarial Reviews for both the Public [Service] Superannuation Fund and the Ministers and Members of the Legislature Pension Fund were tabled in this House on 21 March 2025. It was at that time that inquiries regarding the 2020 actuarial reviews were made (by, I believe, Honourable Member De Couto). Upon investigation, I became aware that the reports had not been tabled. Once this oversight was identified, the Ministry of Finance reviewed its records and found that, although the actuarial reviews were completed in December 2020, they were never presented, something for which we apologise to this Honourable House.

Mr. Speaker, the PSSF provides contributory defined pensions to Bermuda's public service employees and to employees of some public authorities. The purpose of the actuarial review is to determine the going concern of the financial position of the PSSF, to estimate the costs of the benefits being accrued during the period up to the next valuation date and to determine the adequacy of the PSSF contribution rate. The report includes a three-year projection of the funded ratio based on assets, actuarial liabilities and normal costs projected to 31 March 2023.

Items of note regarding the actuarial review are as follows:

- The total invested assets of the fund at 31 March 2020 were $559.4 million ($571.2 million [in] March 2017). This represents an $11.8 million, or 2.06 per cent, decrease since the 2017 review.
- Contribution income for the year ended 31 March 2020 was $61.9 million ($59.8 million [in] March 2017). And benefit payments and refunds totalled $86.2 million ($81.9 million [in] March 2017).
- There were 4,476 active members contributing to the fund as at March 2020 (4,312 in March 2017), and 3,188 [retirees who were receiving a benefit and 2,946] in March 2017).
- The PSSF Act was amended in 2019 to change the compulsory retirement age from the age of 65 to 68 years for all employees except for the police, fire officers, prison officers, judges and teachers.
- In response to the COVID-19 pandemic, the Government enacted the Public Service Superannuation Temporary Amendment Act 2020 to provide a one-year suspension of the government's contributions and an optional suspension of contributors' contributions.
- The PSSF is not fully funded on the going-concern basis. As at 31 March 2020 the net fund assets were $609.74 million, and the accrued benefit obligation was $1.6[35] billion. The addition of the unamortised experience gain of $12.84 million gives the pension liability of $1.0[38] billion recorded and disclosed on 31 March 2020 audited statements of the Consolidated Fund.
- The three-year projected financial position to 31 March 2023 was done using the economic and demographic assumptions which were used for the March 2017 valuation, taking account of the one-year suspension. The funded ratio of the PSSF at 31 March 2020 was 37.3 per cent, and this is projected to decline to 30.3 per cent at 31 March 2023. The funded ratio measures the actuarial value of the assets of the pension plan divided by the actuarial liabilities.

MINISTERS AND MEMBERS OF THE LEGISLATURE PENSION FUND 2020 ACTUARIAL REVIEWS

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: The MMLPF provides contributory defined pensions to all Ministers and Members of the Legislature of Bermuda. Benefits in respect of service before 1 April 1988 are paid from the Consolidated Fund. The purpose of the report on the actuarial review is to determine the going-concern financial position of the MMLPF; to estimate the costs of the benefits being accrued under the MMLPF during the period up until the next valuation; to determine the adequacy of the MMLPF contribution rate and to estimate the future benefits payments under the Consolidated Fund of the Government of Bermuda. The report includes a three-year projection of the financial position of the MMLPF (excluding benefits covered by the Consolidated Fund, to 31 March 2023).

Items of note regarding the actuarial review are as follows:

- There were 48 active members contributing to the Fund as at March 2020 (46 active members in March 2017) and 59 retirees, spouses of retirees and other beneficiaries who were receiving a benefit.
- At 31 March 2020, the valuation date, the main assets of the Fund consisted of an amount due from the Consolidated Fund of $11.06 million ($12.75 million at March 2017).
- In response to the COVID-19 pandemic, the Government enacted the Ministers and Members of the Legislature (Salaries and Pensions) Amendment Act 2020 to provide for a one-year suspension of the government's contributions and an optional one-year suspension of a member's contributions.
- The MMLPF is not fully funded on the going-concern basis. The members and government contributions do not cover the normal costs of benefits earned each year under the Fund. The funding ratio at March 2020 was 36.7 per cent, and this was projected to decrease to 29.8 per cent as of March 2023.

Mr. Speaker, the benefit payments made from all of the pension plans are important to the ongoing financial stability and security, along with the health of the seniors in our society.

Mr. Speaker, Honourable Members are advised that the 31 March 2023 (the next) actuarial reviews of the PSSF and the MMLPF were tabled in the House of the Legislature on 31 March 2025, and the next actuarial review is scheduled for the period 31 March 2026, for both of the funds.

Mr. Speaker, as outlined in the 2024/25 and 2025/26 Budget Statements, the Government acknowledges the critical need for pension reform and has undertaken extensive analysis and consultation on this issue. After consulting with all relevant stakeholders, several recommendations have been agreed upon to address the increasing unfunded liability of the PSSF. These recommendations will be presented in this House during the budget session, ensuring that commitments to current and future public service retirees can be honoured.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Thank you, Minister.

Members, the next Statement this morning is from the Minister of Economy and Labour.

Minister Hayward.

Hon. Jason Hayward: Good morning, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Good morning.

DEPARTMENT OF LABOUR ACT 2025

Hon. Jason Hayward: I am pleased to introduce in the Honourable House today a Bill entitled the Department of Labour Act 2025. This Bill provides for the continuation of the Department of Labour and establishes the Director of Labour as the public officer responsible for the supervision of the Department of Labour, subject to the general direction and control of the Minister responsible for labour relations.

Mr. Speaker, prior to July 2017 the Labour Relations section [(the section)] was a section within the Department of Workforce Development. In July 2017, after the General Election, the section was separated from the Department of Workforce Development and placed within the Ministry of Home Affairs Headquarters as a standalone government section. Headed by the Manager of Labour Relations, all employment and labour related legislation was amended to provide the manager with specific legislative responsibilities that were previously held by the Director of Workforce Development.

Mr. Speaker, the Members of this Honourable House may recall that, in March 2023, Cabinet approved the transition of the Labour Relations section to the Department of Labour [(the Department)], and the Director of Labour post, amongst other posts, was created to ensure the efficient operation and management of the Department. Mr. Speaker, the creation of the new Department meant that the Employment and Labour Code of Bermuda (comprising the Employment Act 2000 and Trade Union and Labour Relations (Consolidation) Act 2021), and corresponding and consequential legislation, regulations and orders required amending to correctly reference the Department by name and reflect the continuation of the Department. This Bill does exactly that.

Mr. Speaker, by establishing the Director of Labour as a public officer with supervision over the Department of Labour, this Bill also ensures that the legislative responsibility for the Department, including but not limited to

- receiving all employment complaints and labour-related disputes;
- referring unresolved employment matters to the Employment and Labour Relations Tribunal or to the Minister responsible for labour relations;
- imposing civil penalties for contraventions of the Employment Act 2000; and
- the granting and/or refusal of a union as the exclusive bargaining agent in respect of an application for union certification is correctly assigned to the head of the Department and not the Manager of Labour Relations, which is a direct report.

Thank you Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Thank you, Minister.

I believe the next Statement is also yours. Would you like to do your second Statement?

REGISTRY GENERAL 2023 ANNUAL REPORT

Hon. Jason Hayward: Mr. Speaker, today I rise to introduce the Annual Report of the Registry General for the year ended December 31 2023. The Registrar General recognises the essential role that vital statistical information plays in planning for the provision of services in areas such as tourism, health, education and housing, to name a few, and has performed his duties to a high standard in the recording, collating and presenting of the data to include in the Annual Report.

Mr. Speaker, in accordance with section 19 of the Registration (Births and Deaths) Act 1949, "The Registrar-General shall, within ninety days after the expiration of each calendar year, compile for publication in such form and manner as the Minister may approve a summary of the births and deaths which occurred during the year, together with a general report on the increase or decrease of the population of Bermuda."

Pursuant to section 35 of the Marriage Act 1944, the Registrar General is also required to publish a summary of marriages conducted each year.

Unfortunately, Mr. Speaker, the Annual Report is being introduced late due to a number of circumstances including human resources and the need to clarify data. In preparation of the Annual Report, Mr. Speaker, the Registrar has relied on information received from the Records Office of the King Edward VII Memorial Hospital relating to births; from the local funeral directors, medical practitioners and the Coroner's Office in relation to deaths; from local domestic partnership officers in relations to domestic partnerships; and from local marriage officers and Masters of Bermuda registered ships in relation to local and maritime marriages, respectively.

Mr. Speaker, the report, which deals primarily with the vital statistics pertaining to the Island's residential population, indicates that there has been a slight decrease in the number of births. In 2023 there were 436 births, a decrease of 43, or 9 per cent, over the 479 births recorded in 2022. Also, the live birth rate of the population has decreased by 0.6 points per 1,000, from 7.5 in 2022 to 6.9 in 2023. There were no home births or babies born at the residence of the parents for the year ending 2023, which was a decrease of two from the number of babies born at home in 2022.

Mr. Speaker, the distribution of live births by nationality, based on information provided by the parents at the time of registration of their child's birth, for 2023 reflects that 75.7 per cent, or 330, of the total live births have at least one Bermudian parent. Births that had parents who are both non-Bermudian in 2023 were 106, or 24.3 per cent.

Mr. Speaker, honourable colleagues are advised that in 2023 there were 622 deaths recorded amongst residents. A death rate of 9.8 per 1,000 of the population for 2023 reflects an increase of 37, or 6.3 per cent, from 585 recorded in 2022. The report also indicates that there were 12 deaths in respect of non-resident persons, which brings the total number of deaths recorded for 2023 to 634. Also, there was one stillbirth recorded for the 2023 period.

Mr. Speaker, it should be noted that the estimated population figures in the report take into account only registered births and deaths and not migration, because [those figures are] not available. This means the estimates in the report are not indicative of actual population levels. The next opportunity of an accurate population count will be the 2026 census.

Mr. Speaker, for the year ending 31 December 2023 there were 310 marriages performed in Bermuda, a decrease of 26, or 7.7 per cent, from the 336 marriages recorded in 2022. The decrease may be attributed to a number of unknown factors or reasons as to why, but there was no deterring the interest of couples who did desire to marry that year. During 2023, marriages between parties who were both non-residents accounted for only 109, or 35.2 per cent, of the total of 310. This figure, for the fourth consecutive year, breaks the trend where marriages between non-residents previously exceeded the number of marriages between residents, and marriages between resident and non-resident parties. The report also shows that there were 157 marriages between parties who were both residents and 44 marriages between a resident and a non-resident.

Mr. Speaker, of the 310 local marriages recorded in 2023, none were same-sex marriages. In 2023 there were five domestic partnership unions recorded for the period. All five domestic partnership unions were formalised at the Registry General's Office. Mr. Speaker, 329 marriages were performed on board 28 Bermuda-registered ships in 2023. This total represents an increase of 52, or 16 per cent, from the 2022 total of 277. The increase is due to the efforts of the cruise line industry to expand and improve upon services for weddings on board their ships. The cumulative number of marriages (local and maritime) processed through the Registry General for the year ending 31 December 2023 was 639 as compared to 613 for the year ending 2022.

Mr. Speaker, the annual report seeks to provide an illustrative statistical digest of vital events such as live births, deaths, stillbirths, marriages, domestic partnerships, adoptions and re-registration of births for the year ended 31 December 2023.

In closing, Mr. Speaker, the Annual Report of the Registry General for the year ended 31 December 2024 is being compiled, and I expect to present that report in the second quarter of this fiscal year.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Thank you, Minister.

Members, the next Statement this morning is in the name of the Minister of Youth, Social Development and Seniors.

Minister.

FOSTER CARE MONTH—MAY

Hon. Tinee Furbert: Good morning, Mr. Speaker. Mr. Speaker, I rise this morning to inform this Honourable House that the month of May is celebrated as Foster Care Month. The Department of Child and Family Services [DCFS] uses the month of May to not only recruit foster parents, but also to honour Bermuda's foster parents. The Foster Care Team has an active month of recruitment activities planned that began on 1 May with a frontpage feature in The Royal Gazette highlighting the positive experiences of two foster families.

Mr. Speaker, on the evening of 2 May the Child and Family Services Department staff welcomed Mr. Antonio Grate to Bermuda. Mr. Grate is an author, motivational speaker, husband and father who is booked by numerous conferences, schools and welfare agencies to share his story. Mr. Grate is a visionary who grew up on the South Side of Chicago, where his formative years were shaped in the foster care system. Mr. Grate believes that the way we view our children who are in the foster care system is key for the development of their success in life.

Mr. Speaker, on Sunday, 4 May, DCFS held the Annual Foster Parents Appreciation Tea where Mr. Grate was the invited Keynote Speaker. He gave a powerful, motivational and inspirational message on the topic Fostering Hope. Mr. Grate shared his life story growing up in Chicago, being in kinship and foster care and ageing out of the foster care system. He spoke about his mother's addiction to drugs and not having his father in his life, and the importance of connections for children who have experienced trauma. Mr. Grate stressed the vital role that kinship parents, foster parents and social workers play in the life of children in care. He reminded those present to always be cognisant of the trauma that the children whom they are caring for have gone through, though [through] no fault of their own, and the importance of not giving up on them.

Mr. Speaker, foster parents were gifted with copies of Mr. Grate's book The Power of One, of which he graciously signed copies for our foster parents. During the Appreciation Tea, persons were treated to entertaining music on the steel pan with Bermudian musician Ms. Laree Talbot, who was representing the group De Onion Patch Crew.

Mr. Speaker, DCFS presented two Spotlight Awards at the Appreciation Tea for Foster Care parents. Mr. and Mrs. Khabir and Melonie Dill were highlighted and appreciated as foster care parents for the vital role they played during a very critical time when the respite they provided to a teen boy served as a hands-on stabiliser for the teen while DCFS solidified an intensive clinical plan for him. It was noted that Mr. and Mrs. Dill covered the crisis while maintaining a long-term kinship care placement, which saw them having to blend the care provided for the two boys whom they cared for.

Another foster parent couple, Mr. and Mrs. Shlomo and Zipporah Yeshurun, received a formal salute from DCFS for their 18-year commitment to their foster son. The accolades placed upon this couple surrounded their never-ending dedication to the foster care child, who has been filled with numerous challenges, inclusive of ongoing advocacy for his special school plan and working with DCFS continuously to make sure that his vast medical needs, including several overseas appointments, have been met.

Mr. Speaker, this week, Monday, 5 May, Mr. Grate presented a professional development and practice enhancement session at BUEI [Bermuda Underwater Exploration Institute] for the DCFS staff, family court magistrates, staff from the Police Services, therapists and other stakeholders. This was a two-hour interactive and engaging message on the topic of "How Labels Can Negatively Impact Children Socially and Emotionally." Mr. Grate's message moved all stakeholders. Some of the feedback from stakeholders was reflective of the engaging professional development session and included the following:

- "Antonio's presentation was insightful and informative. As he shared his journey, it reminded me of my why [and that] I have to be a support to our young people"; and

- “If I had to give this presentation a topic name, it would be The Power of One! How each of us as professionals has the power to make a difference in supporting a young person. Knowing our WHY, being INTENTIONAL and understanding the power of labels (both positive and negative). His passionate and personal message was inspiring, motivating all to remember their WHY as we show up consistently for clients. Even when it gets HARD we need to work from our HEARTS.”

Mr. Grate was extremely touched and inspired by the close to 50 online reviews that were uploaded within an hour after the professional development session, as all stakeholders were provided with the link.

Mr. Speaker, this week, Monday evening, 5 May, Mr. Grate had an empowering and dynamic interactive session with the young adults at the Independent Living Programme, those youth who have aged out of the care of the DCFS Director. He shared with our young adults the significance of Seeds of Greatness in that “seeds” can grow even if they have been through adverse situations. The session was dynamic and very powerful, having someone talk about their lived experience similar to that of our youth, which gave them hope.

Mr. Speaker, during the month all of the government's social media platforms will be promoting foster parents and recruitment. While we are pleased and thankful for the current pool of foster care parents, who are to be commended for the role that they play in providing stability to our foster children, we must express our plea—we need more foster care parents! Foster care parents open their hearts and their homes by taking in children who need nurturing, guidance and love. These children have different experiences and need care for a variety of reasons. Foster care parents fill that gap with the ongoing support of the Department of Child and Family Services. At present, there are 56 foster care families. The department needs 10 to 12 more foster care families for children of all ages, from birth to teenagers. There is also a need for foster care parents for children with special needs.

Mr. Speaker, I close by stating that our children, vulnerable for many reasons, need us. The Ministry of Youth, Social Development and Seniors takes this time on behalf of all of the children in foster care to thank those individuals and families who have opened their homes and have given of themselves to make a difference in the lives of children. We encourage more people within our community to become foster care parents. This will help the Department of Child and Family Services in its efforts to provide caring, safe, nurturing homes for children when their families are unable to care for them.

Mr. Speaker, in recognition of Foster Care Month, there will be a series of additional radio spots and a BBC interview that have been booked. However, I encourage all Members of this Honourable House, along with all persons within the community, to salute our foster care parents during the entire month of May and beyond.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Thank you, Minister.

Members, the next Statement this morning is by the Minister of Works.

Minister.

Hon. Jache Adams: Good morning, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Good morning.

ROAD SAFETY, INFRASTRUCTURE AND COMMUNITY IMPROVEMENTS: PAVING THE WAY FORWARD

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Speaker, everywhere I go, I hear the same question: What is being done about our roads? Whether it is the bumpy drive to work, having to navigate through potholes or the uneven surfaces near school zones, Bermudians are understandably concerned. The condition of our roads affects how we move; how safe we feel and how we experience life on this Island. This Government has heard the people loud and clear, and today I rise to provide an update on the work we have done, the challenges we continue to navigate and, most important, the actions we are taking to deliver safer, smoother and more reliable roads.

Mr. Speaker, let me begin with a recent success. I want to commend the Ministry's technical officers for their outstanding work in completing critical safety improvements at Scaur Hill. As Honourable Members will recall, this project became necessary due to the deterioration of the retaining wall, originally built using outdated construction methods. The pace of deterioration had become alarming, undermining the adjacent road, and posed a serious risk to motorists and area residents. Thanks to the professionalism and dedication of our teams, the new wall was completed on time and within budget.

While carrying out the road surface repairs near Lantana Road, we also noted and received feedback regarding a dip that was causing concern for motorists. I am pleased to advise this Honourable House that this has now been corrected, and our crews are currently completing final reinstatement works. Weather permitting, all remaining works in the area are expected to be completed by the end of next week. I want to extend my sincere thanks to the residents of the area for their patience and especially to those who generously allowed traffic to be rerouted through their properties during the construction period.

Your cooperation is truly appreciated.

Mr. Speaker, the improvements at Scaur Hill are just one part of a much larger effort. The people of Bermuda expect and deserve a road network that is safe, smooth and modern. That is why the Ministry has been working diligently to deliver a sustained island-wide programme of road improvements. Over the past two years we have made significant progress in resurfacing critical sections, including

- Collector's Hill;
- South Shore Road in Southampton;
- Middle Road from Flatts Village to Store Hill;
- the untrenched lane of Middle Road in Warwick;
- Middle Road in Southampton from George's Bay to Evans Bay, including George's Bay Road; and
- Somerset Road from Elly's Bay through to George's Bay.

And we are not stopping there.

Mr. Speaker, one of the key lessons learned in recent years is the importance of coordination. Paving a road today only to trench it next month is costly, frustrating and counterproductive. That is why we are working closely with our utility partners to ensure critical underground works are completed before we repave. This approach helps us avoid wasted time, money and effort, and ensures that once a road is repaved, it stays that way for the long term. This coordination has required us to delay projects in areas such as near Whitney Middle School, Cavendish Road and Flora Duffy Hill. But I firmly believe it is the right decision.

For example, near Whitney Middle School, shallow communication lines must be relocated before milling can proceed without risking service disruption. We have given the provider the opportunity to complete this work before we return to repave. In Warwick and Southampton, BELCO is undertaking major upgrades to its underground network. That work is nearly complete, but the ground must now settle before repaving can begin. Similarly, trenching is planned by local utility providers at Flora Duffy Hill and Cavendish Road, and so our paving works have been postponed accordingly.

Mr. Speaker, with that said, and based on the current coordination, our updated paving schedule includes the following:

- Later this month, upon completion of works at Scaur Hill, the team will begin work in St. George's—

An Hon. Member: What?

[Desk thumping]

Hon. Jache Adams: —from York Street to Ferry Reach.

- Next our team will address North Shore Road from the Shelly Bay Railway site, heading west, past the Aquarium and through Flatts Village.

- Then our team will repave Middle Road in Smith's from North Shore to Store Hill once the mentioned utility works are completed.

This updated schedule is expected to carry us through to fall of 2025. And as Minister I will continue to keep the public informed as we progress.

Mr. Speaker, I must also thank Surface Experts Ltd, formerly East End Asphalt Company Ltd., for their assistance as well. We have maintained a healthy relationship over the years, and as we plan ahead there may be opportunities to work with them on other projects as well.

Mr. Speaker, we have also ramped up patching and pothole response. Weekend crews are being deployed as needed, and we strongly encourage members of the public to report potholes directly to potholes@gov.bm. This is the fastest and most effective way to receive a response. While we understand the urge to post concerns on social media or message officers directly, using the dedicated email ensures issues are tracked, assigned and addressed as efficiently as possible.

Mr. Speaker, in terms of traffic signals, the control cabinets, essentially the brains of the systems, for Marsh Folly and St. John's Road are enroute and expected to arrive later this month. Components for Crow Lane are in production and anticipated by the end of the month, with installation to follow shortly thereafter. Roadside infrastructure works are ongoing as well. Fence repairs continue along North Shore Road, and Cabinet has approved the purchase of new aluminium guardrails for high risk areas like Shark Hole Bend, Harrington Sound and Barker's Hill.

We have expanded our workforce as well. Thanks to programmes launched by my predecessor, Lt. Col. David Burch, we now have 18 solo sweepers and dedicated vegetation crews working across the Island. In fact, this year's budget includes funding to further expand that programme. Private landscaping contractors and a low-risk prison crew have also been instrumental, particularly in the East End, clearing vegetation, maintaining road edges and contributing to the rehabilitation and reintegration of inmates. These crews will resume operations in June after a short pause.

Mr. Speaker, pedestrian safety remains a key priority. Flashing beacons are being installed at crossings in Somerset Village and Mullet Bay, and new traffic lights are under construction at the Aquarium. These modern crossings, modelled after the one at Harmony Club, provide clearer signals and safer passage for all road users.

Mr. Speaker, we cannot speak about the future of our roads without addressing the limitations of our current asphalt infrastructure. Our asphalt plant is outdated. To prevent breakdowns, we must limit operations to four days a week and cap production at 100 tons per day. These constraints affect the pace at which we can deliver new paving. That is why this Government took decisive action, entering into an agreement with Astec Industries to procure a brand-new asphalt plant, screening equipment and paving machinery, along with long-term maintenance support. Three new machines—an asphalt paver, milling machine and material transfer vehicle—are already en-route and expected to arrive on 17 May. The screening plant is complete and ready for pre-delivery inspection.

Site works at the plant location are progressing, and we expect to begin equipment installation in October. The asphalt plant itself, complete with silos, burners and tanks, is currently undergoing final inspection and will begin arriving in July. It is important to note that once the new asphalt plant arrives it will take several months to construct, and therefore we anticipate the plant will be operational in the first quarter of 2026.

Mr. Speaker, this Government has heard the calls for better roads, and we are delivering. We have made progress, while accepting there is still much more to be done. We are coordinating with our utility companies. We are investing in new equipment. And most important, we are listening to the people.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

[Desk thumping]

The Speaker: Thank you, Minister.

Members, the next Statement this morning is in the name of the Minister of Home Affairs.

CARIBBEAN RENEWABLE ENERGY FORUM (CREF) 2025: BERMUDA'S PARTICIPATION

Hon. Alexa Lightbourne: This morning I rise to inform this Honourable House of the Government's participation in the 2025 Caribbean Renewable Energy Forum (CREF), which took place from 7 May, and concluded today, 9 May, in Miami, Florida. Now in its 17th year, CREF continues to be a key event bringing together ministers, regulators, utilities, investors and international development partners united by a shared commitment to climate resilience and energy affordability.

As my first overseas engagement as Minister of Home Affairs, CREF offered an invaluable opportunity to represent Bermuda's interests on the international stage alongside our Caribbean neighbours in joint pursuit of a fairer, cleaner energy future.

Mr. Speaker, Bermuda's participation in CREF was grounded in the recognition that our Island faces complex barriers to energy equity—from our [reliance] on imported fossil fuels to the constraints of limited land and ageing infrastructure. Through consultation, target-setting and disciplined execution, we will continue to champion a strategy that modernises Bermuda's power sector with the goal of lowering household costs, reducing emissions and building system resilience.

Mr. Speaker, CREF further provided a platform to share updates on Bermuda's clean energy progress, including our proposed Integrated Resource Plan [IRP] and the successes from the electrification of our public bus fleet through the support of Rocky Mountain Institute and other initiatives. While still under regulatory review, this proposed IRP builds on the foundation of the existing IRP and is further informed by technological advancements and critical insights that better inform Bermuda's prospective energy mix. Upon the completion of the Regulatory Authority's review process, I look forward to updating this Honourable House.

Mr. Speaker, while attending CREF, I had the privilege of participating in the Women in Renewable Energy Luncheon and the Ministerial Roundtable entitled "Diverse Pathways to Energy Transition in the Caribbean." I joined ministerial colleagues from islands large and small to discuss our respective policy approaches, regulatory tools and investment environments. It was a privilege to share Bermuda's experience and our ambition to balance affordability with innovation, to integrate public trust through education, and to ensure that our regulatory and legislative environment remains agile enough to accommodate emerging technologies and financing models. This roundtable affirmed that, while no two jurisdictions are identical, our region is strongest when we learn from one another and confront shared challenges together.

Mr. Speaker, I also held a bilateral meeting with the United Kingdom's Under Secretary for Energy Security and Net Zero, Under Secretary [Kerry] McCarthy, during which Under Secretary McCarthy expressed an interest to better support Bermuda through facilitating greater access to resources to advance our energy agenda.

Mr. Speaker, as Bermuda continues its work to finalise the proposed IRP through the RA [Regulatory Authority], expand solar deployment, explore the feasibility of innovative technologies and strengthen community resilience, CREF served as a powerful reminder that we are not navigating this path alone. We are part of a broader movement to redefine energy as a public good, not a luxury; and as a platform to advance equity, not exclusion.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Thank you, Minister.

Would you like to do your second Statement?

Hon. Alexa Lightbourne: Yes, Mr. Speaker.

BULK GENERATION SOLE USE INSTALLATION (BGSUI) LICENCE UPDATE

Hon. Alexa Lightbourne: Mr. Speaker, this morning I rise to update the Honourable Members on the [Bulk Generation Sole Use Installation \[BGSUI\] Licence](#).

Honourable Members may recall that in September 2024 the Government tabled the Electricity Amendment Act 2024, which introduced a new licensing framework under the Electricity Act 2016 for developments generating electricity in excess of 500 kilowatts. This new licence [class], referred to as the Bulk Generation Sole Use Installation, or BGSUI ([pronounced] “big-suey”) Licence, was created to provide a pathway for entities to produce renewable electricity for their own use at their principal location.

Mr. Speaker, the intent of this licence was to address critical energy challenges faced by important public institutions such as the National Sports Centre, which offers accessible services to the public, but faces high operational costs including overhead electricity expenses. Similar challenges are faced by other government facilities and statutory bodies that provide affordable public services. These institutions must be empowered to reduce their energy expenses to maintain operations that directly benefit the people of Bermuda. I am pleased to update this Honourable House that the Regulatory Authority is now in a position to accept applications for these licences.

Mr. Speaker, under the conditions of the BGSUI Licence, the licence holder is permitted to generate electricity above the 500-kilowatt threshold solely for its own use at the principal location. However, to protect the financial sustainability of the electricity grid, the licence limits the amount of electricity that may be sold to the transmission, distribution and retail licensee to no more than 30 percent of the total electricity generated in any given month. Any electricity generated above the limit cannot be sold and will not be compensated. This condition ensures that the licence is used primarily for self-supply and is not a backdoor mechanism for commercial resale.

Mr. Speaker, while the BGSUI Licence is an important step in helping government departments and large institutions to reduce their energy expenses, the Government must also protect those residential customers who continue to rely fully on the grid and who may not have the financial means to invest in solar systems. If the cost of maintaining the grid is shifted away from large consumers who self-generate and toward households who cannot, the result would be an unfair burden on those least able to pay. And for this reason, the Government and the Regulatory Authority are working closely to ensure that fixed and variable electricity costs remain fairly allocated. This includes reviewing legislation, licensing conditions and regulatory tools to prevent unintended consequences that could undermine our goal of energy affordability for all.

Mr. Speaker, this Government remains committed to promoting clean, renewable and affordable energy for Bermuda while safeguarding the interests of all ratepayers. The implementation of the BGSUI Licence strikes this balance, offering a path forward for large institutions in need of energy cost relief while maintaining regulatory discipline to protect the public good.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Thank you, Minister.

And our last Statement this morning is in the name of the Minister of Tourism.

Minister.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Good morning, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Mm-hmm.

CAMP CONNECT SEASON 2: SUMMER DAY CAMP REGISTRATION

Hon. Owen Darrell: Mr. Speaker, the Department of Sport and Recreation has provided the Government's Summer Day Camp Programmes each summer break for preschool, primary and middle school-age students for over 50 years. To facilitate these programmes the department works in conjunction with the Ministry of Public Works, the Ministry of Education and the Ministry of Health to ensure that the necessary facilities are secured, and health guidelines are met.

Mr. Speaker, as we approach the end of the school year, parents who cannot afford private camps will be stressed to find placement for their children. This often leads to children being left home alone or in inadequate conditions.

Mr. Speaker, last year on 14 May 2024, the Department of Sport and Recreation released Camp Connect on their website, the Government's proactive solution to increase camper enrolment and significantly alleviate the waitlist. Camp Connect is a partnership with private camp operators to offer additional programmes at an affordable cost to parents. Through this user-friendly, interactive portal, the reality of these partnerships with private educational and recreational groups came to life.

Mr. Speaker, Camp Connect is now the go-to hub for parents looking for comprehensive information on summer camps and an easier, streamlined registration process. Building on this, the department is pleased to share recent improvements to our Government's Summer Day Camp Programme as part of our ongoing efforts to ease the burden on parents seeking safe and affordable summer options for their children.

Mr. Speaker, the Government has been able to achieve the following:

- Increase capacity—an additional 540 spots have been made available over the summer break for this year alone, offering over 4,000 spots for children to attend these camps this summer.

- Extend the camp duration—camps will be available between June 30 through September 5, 2025. The duration will vary between camps, so I encourage everyone to visit the website for availability.
- Expand variety—a broader selection of camp types is now available, ensuring diverse and dynamic experiences. We have added 11 new camps to the site, offering 40 camp experiences. Users can navigate by category of interest or by the zone of the Island that they live in.

We are extremely grateful to all of the Camp Operators who are a part of the programme this year.

Mr. Speaker, here is what everyone has been waiting for. On Monday, May 12, 2025, at 9:30 am sharp, the registration link for Camp Connect will go live. All camps listed on the portal will remain at last year's affordable rate, Mr. Speaker, of $60 per week per child. Please note that online payments can only be made once registration has been approved. Parents and guardians are encouraged to visit our website www.sportsandrec.bm ahead of time to explore the available camps and decide which experiences they would like their child to enjoy this summer.

Mr. Speaker, Camp Connect is designed to make summer planning convenient and hassle-free, ensuring families have easy access to safe, enriching and affordable summer programmes.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Thank you, Minister.

Members, that brings us to a close of the Statements for this morning.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES

The Speaker: There are none.

QUESTION PERIOD

The Speaker: As this is the second Friday in the month, the first part of the Question Period is the Premier's Questions.

PREMIER'S QUESTION PERIOD

The Speaker: I have not been informed of any Premier's Questions this morning.

There are none? There are none?

[Crosstalk]

The Speaker: Oh, Opposition Leader, you have a question for the Premier.

Let me just start the clock for this.

[Inaudible interjections and laughter]

The Speaker: Put your question.

QUESTION 1: ROAD MAINTENANCE DELAYS

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Yes, thank you.

Would the Honourable Premier be able to specify why the delays in the development or the maintenance of the roads have been occurring so consistently?

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, I think that we just had a Statement on that. And I think the Minister of Public Works and Environment gave a full update on these particular matters.

But on a broader context, Mr. Speaker, I would like to remind the Honourable Opposition Leader that we have returned this country to a balanced budget, and that has required significant sacrifices. I had mentioned in my Budget Statement last year we recognise that some of the things that have to, in many times and areas, be cut back in historical spending terms are in capital works. And that has not been going on just for the last seven years; that has been going on, as I mentioned in my Statement, since 2010 with the requirements in financial discipline to get us back to the space of a balanced budget.

But it is important to note that this Government has increased capital spending significantly over the past three years prior to our even achieving a balanced budget, made the decision to delay the achievement of a balanced budget to invest more money into capital spending, recognising that we need to make sure to invest in order to grow. So, I think that the Honourable Opposition Leader would be aware of what the Honourable Minister for Public Works had shared.

And I am certain that during the question time for Ministers there will be more on this particular topic, and I am sure the Minister for Public Works will be happy to give further updates to Members at that time.

The Speaker: Supplementary?

SUPPLEMENTARIES

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Yes. Thank you, Mr. Speaker. And I thank the Honourable Premier for his response.

Given that we have been hearing [from] the Honourable Minister and across the Island about delays in roadworks for a number of reasons including delays because there are parties to the roads developing the roads who are either late or they are not paying bills in a timely fashion . . . I believe that the Honourable Minister spoke to something about working together with multiple parties. What are the plans of this Government to update the regulatory framework governing the chipping-up of our roads and putting them back properly?

The Speaker: Premier.

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, I am happy for that question to be addressed to the responsible Minister. I am not exactly certain I can answer that off-topic. But what I can say is that, I think as the Minister reported, we are working with the other entities to ensure, and sometimes that means delays. Unless the Honourable Opposition Leader would like us to, you know, pave a road and then have someone dig up the road to repave the road after that. I do not think that makes sense. We are trying to handle this in a particularly efficient manner.

So, I am certain that if there are further updates and specifics that he wishes for, I am sure that his Shadow Minister of Works can find the time to meet with the Minister of Public Works to discuss these particular matters or to submit a specific question on that particular topic or to possibly actually have a debate on it.

The Speaker: Okay.
Second question?

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Was it supplementary or—

The Speaker: Yes, your supplementary on it. Yes.

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Yes, thank you. And I thank the Honourable Premier for his response.

I think what we are trying to get to is the accountability aspect. What we are hearing is that these roads are in a poor state for a number of reasons, and some of them relate to the accountability of people in their working on the road. And my question is, How are they going to be held accountable on a going-forward basis where they fail in their obligations and that results in even poorer infrastructure for our road users?

Thank you.

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, I appreciate where the Honourable Opposition Leader is going. But the reality is that roadworks and infrastructure are complex with regard to a lot of different things. There are lots of moving parts whether you are dealing with BELCO, whether you are dealing with water works, with Digicel, whether you are dealing with [Utilities] One, et cetera. There is work insofar as coordination. As I said, if the [Honourable Opposition Leader] wants to speak specifically on that, I am sure there will be plenty of time during the four hours that have been allotted for the Public Works debate during the Committee of Supply to discuss those particular matters should his Members wish to ask questions in advance on that and so we can actually have a detailed discussion on those matters.

The Speaker: Second question?

QUESTION 2: VIOLENT CRIMES—ACTION PLANS TO HALT THE INCREASE IN

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Yes, please. Thank you. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

My second question relates to the increase in violent crime, that the Honourable Minister Weeks attended a memorial yesterday and the Honourable Minister, Mr. King, Shadow Minister, attended it. And this is in your neighbourhood, Mr. Speaker. These are obviously sad, sad events. And what I would like to know is, What are the Government's immediate—immediate—action plans? We know of their strategy overall. Have these events changed those strategies? What are the Government's new, immediate action plans to resolve these clearly heartbreaking matters?

The Speaker: Premier.

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, violent crime is, without question, a concern for all of us in this Honourable House. And it is something that I know the Minister of National Security and, whether or not with Government House, who has responsibility for enforcement, that the police take seriously. The Government has put significant additional resources into not only supporting the work of the police, [but also to] upgrading the technology to detect crime to help persons to investigate and to bring perpetrators to justice. And in addition to that, Mr. Speaker, making significant investment in matters related to what is necessary to deal with the root cause of crime, whether or not that be mental health, trauma, counselling, family interventions and those things to break the cycle. Mr. Speaker, those works are ongoing. That work will continue.

In regard to the specifics on the implementation plan for the National Violence Reduction Strategy, that implementation plan has been prepared, and I am sure that the Honourable Minister will share it with this Honourable House in due course, most likely very soon in this budget session.

The Speaker: Thank you.
Your third question or supplementary?

SUPPLEMENTARY

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Supplementary, Mr. Speaker.

Yes. I did not quite get the specifics on that. I heard a lot of explanation about intent. But my question relates to, Are there any specific measures that this Government is going to take, especially around the area of funding of policing or anything that is going to . . . Has anything changed? Or are we on the same glidepath? Are we going to keep doing the same thing?

The Speaker: Premier.

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, the Honourable Opposition Leader would know there have been significant additional funds, whether it was through the mid-year review or also during this budget, which we will be debating shortly in regard to additional funding for the police. It was stated inside of the Budget Statement. It was stated inside the mid-year review. I think there was a passing upgrade of 17 new police officers yesterday. There is continued money.

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. E. David Burt: Sorry. How many?

Hon. Michael A. Weeks: Twenty-two.

Hon. E. David Burt: Twenty-two new additional police officers just yesterday, Mr. Speaker. So, I know that [the Honourable Opposition Leader] is trying to make a suggestion that things are continuing as normal. But we are putting the resources in place.

But it is also not just the human resources, Mr. Speaker; it is also the investment in technology which is necessary. And it is also . . . you cannot enforce your way out of a particular issue. That is why it is around community solutions as well. That is why there is additional money that is going to community clubs, additional money that is going to helping agencies, additional funds that are going to the supporting bodies around this, which we have discussed in this House, which we unveiled in the mid-year review, which have been funded in this year's budget.

And we will look forward to hearing the Reply to the Budget [Statement] to see whether or not these additional funds that we have invested are supported by the Opposition. Because the only way that you can make an impact on this is to put the resources in place. So that things are not continuing as usual; we are putting additional resources in place. And I am certain the Honourable Minister of National Security will be happy to speak more on those particular matters should there be a specific question from their Shadow Minister.

The Speaker: Supplementary? You have a second supplementary.

Hon. Jarion Richardson: No. No, thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Third question?

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Third question, please.

The Speaker: Yes. Go ahead.

QUESTION 3: FINANCIAL ACTIONS TASK FORCE ASSESSMENT, PREPARATION OF

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Yes. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

There was some news coming out of the United Kingdom recently that Bermuda had missed a filing deadline relating to the development of beneficial ownership registers. And I know that we are preparing for our Financial Action Task Force assessment with international money laundering norms in 2027, I believe. Would the Honourable Premier be able to speak to the preparations for that? And have any other deadlines been missed in coordination with that project?

The Speaker: Premier.

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, I thank the Honourable Opposition Leader for his question.

As has been relayed to the United Kingdom Government, we are in the process of making sure we get this particular legislation done. It is currently being drafted. It is not insofar as a deadline. This is a United Kingdom deadline, not an international deadline. The international deadlines for the Financial Action Task Force are not until 2026.

We have always stated that we are going to be implementing legitimate access registers of beneficial ownership in line with our commitment to the European Union. The commitments to the European Union are not set to come into place until 2026 or 2027. This has been communicated to the United Kingdom on a number of occasions. The United Kingdom has their own view, but the Bermuda Government takes the position that we are going to implement these items in line with international norms to ensure that we are putting ourselves in a place and a space that is in line with our major trading partners on this particular matter, which [are in] the European Union.

The Speaker: All right.
Supplementary?

SUPPLEMENTARIES

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Yes, thank you, Mr. Speaker. And I thank the Honourable Premier for his reply.

Just some questions relating to especially around the view of the United Kingdom. Will the view of the United Kingdom impact our ability to continue servicing clients in our international financial centres in any meaningful way? Or is this quite an arbitrary thing?

The Speaker: Premier.

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, it will have no impact on the work of which we are doing going forward. As has been stated on numerous occasions, we in this Honourable Chamber have that supremacy over our domestic rules and laws related to this. The United Kingdom has its views and wishes as has been expressed by Parliament. But I think that all Members on both sides of the House should understand that we should be the ones who are responsible for setting the laws for our country and not the United Kingdom Parliament.

The Speaker: Mm-hmm. Thank you.
Supplementary?

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Yes. Yes, thank you.

Given the relative arbitrariness of this deadline, or of this option from the United Kingdom, what if any impact to Bermuda will we face if we do not comply with some of these matters that are arising, both internationally and from the United Kingdom?

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, this is not a matter of deadlines. This is not a matter of anything outside of the fact that the United Kingdom in the new Government has put a particular focus on a matter which they say is something that is important to them. All governments will go ahead and implement their international commitments based on the times which work right and best for them. All Overseas Territories did commit to look to have legislation placed by April. We are expecting that legislation will be tabled during this particular budget session, to work through these particular matters.

But what we are going through on the realm of beneficial ownership is, number one, as has been stated, we are moving the dual vetting. So, all beneficial ownership vetting upon registration is moving from the Bermuda Monetary Authority over to the Registrar of Companies. So, there is one space of vetting. This is something that has been long desired, and that is the first step.

The second step will be the implementation of the Public Access Register. And then the definitions about legitimate interest, based in line with our European Union partners and the commitments of which we have made with the European Union in line with international guidelines which are set by the Financial Action Task Force and not by the United Kingdom.

The Speaker: Those are your two supplementaries. Okay. And you have asked all three questions.

The next question now this morning is from MP Dill. Would you like to put your question to the Premier?

QUESTION 1: BANKING AND MORTGAGE TRANSFERS

Rev. Dr. Emilygail A. Dill: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Speaker, can the Honourable Premier elaborate on what steps the Government has taken to increase competition in the banking sector and to make mortgage transfers easier for Bermudians?

Hon. E. David Burt: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. And I appreciate the Honourable Member's question because I know that is a matter that is important for her, something that she raises in caucus on a particular basis.

Mr. Speaker, what I can say is that one of the biggest frustrations that is expressed by Bermudians is the lack of choice in banking and often the high cost in borrowing, especially when it comes to mortgages. So, the action of which we have taken, Mr. Speaker, certainly was one of the things that we did in addition to our Mortgage Guarantee Programme, which helped a certain segment of the population. We recognise that there is a broader segment of the population that needs to be helped.

And that is why we eliminated the tax, or the stamp duty, on the transferring of mortgages to ensure that there is greater competition inside of the domestic banking market. What we have seen is the response certainly from the banks on that, and we have seen that competition taking place. And I would urge and remind all persons who are listening and all Honourable Members when they are faced with their constituents who come to them with questions regarding high mortgage rates or the fact that mortgage rates are going up or the fact that when mortgage rates are going down overseas, their bank has not reduced their rates, to please make sure to know that they have options to shop around.

What we have also done, which was announced in the last Parliament, Mr. Speaker, is that we have also had an agreement with banks that they are going to roll into all of those particular costs, which may be other closing costs, into that refinancing to ensure that persons do not have to pay up-front costs to make sure that they refinance these loans. And we know that families are saving money, and the banks are doing this work. And we would encourage those banks who are not engaged in the practice of reducing their rates to make sure that they go ahead and reduce them.

And also, I would encourage anyone who is carrying a high mortgage rate to go to your bank and ask for a lower rate. And if they are not prepared to do it, tell them that you are prepared to switch. We have heard many stories where persons have gone to their bank. Their bank has said no. They have gone to another bank. The other bank has said yes. They went [back] to their bank to say, I'm moving my mortgage.

And that bank that they had their mortgage with who told them no the first time has then reduced their rate.

It is important that we have competition. We are doing the work on our side. But it is important for members and citizens and Honourable Members here to let their constituents know how they can be assisted through the law changes that we have made here to get lower mortgage rates.

The Speaker: Thank you.
Supplementary?

SUPPLEMENTARY

Rev. Dr. Emilygail A. Dill: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

I would like to thank the Premier for that answer. And I know that it will be welcome news for my constituents.

Honourable Premier, do you believe it is really having the impact that you intended at this point?

Hon. E. David Burt: Here is what I would say, Mr. Speaker. I would say that it is having an impact. But we would like it to have more of an impact. The Government has put money behind this insofar as advertising on local news and others. It is something that I know that we have shared at least on this side of the House. I know that our Members and our MPs have shared that. I would hope Honourable Members opposite would also share that in their canvassing as well. And we have seen the impact. We know that one particular large local bank had a full campaign on trying to get persons to transfer their mortgages. And we do know that other banks are trying to respond as we are trying to promote a more competitive market.

I have heard from persons, as I stated in the previous answer, who have seen that impact. So, I have encouraged consumers to know that they have the ability to shop around. And I have no doubt that the Honourable Minister who has responsibility for housing, in addition to the Honourable Minister who has responsibility for Home Affairs and the cost of living and consumer affairs, will continue to support the Ministry of Finance in trying to get this message across.

There are options for consumers. We are making the banking market more competitive. And consumers must do their part to take advantage and to go to their bank and ask for a lower rate. And if not, be prepared to move to a different bank. If you have good credit, you will not have an issue moving and getting a better mortgage.

The Speaker: Thank you.

Rev. Dr. Emilygail A. Dill: Thank you.

The Speaker: Is there a second supplementary or are you done?

Rev. Dr. Emilygail A. Dill: Thank you.

The Speaker: Thank you.

The next Member who has questions for you, Premier, is the MP DeCouto.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Good morning, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Mm-hmm.

QUESTION 1: CORPORATE INCOME TAX LEGISLATION

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: We learned through public statements of public companies at year-end 2024 that the OECD [Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development] may not accept our current . . . Let me rephrase. Our CIT [corporate income tax] legislation allows companies to write down certain deferred tax assets over 10 years, 10 per cent a year. And we learned through certain public statements from public companies that the OECD minimum tax policy may not allow . . . other countries may not accept the full amount of that write-down, and they only allow up to 20 per cent over two years.

So, my question to the Honourable Premier is, one, what is the . . . Let me rephrase that, Mr. Speaker, as one question. Does the Government have any plans to adjust our legislation around the corporate income tax to become consistent with what seems to be this new ruling from the OECD?

The Speaker: Premier.

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, I am not entirely certain how to answer that question. What I will say is that the Government will make sure they do everything to remain in line with our international obligations under corporate income tax. There have been many times that we have brought legislation. There is future legislation that is expected to come to this Honourable House. And we will continue to press along with that particular matter.

So, I know the Honourable Member has some knowledge on that. If he has specific questions that would probably not be accessed in the public domain, I am happy to have those conversations. These discussions are sensitive.

But when legislation is brought, we will have plenty of time to discuss and debate those particular matters. And I know the Honourable Member, given the fact of where he works, knows how sensitive these particular matters are.

The Speaker: Thank you.

Do you have a supplementary?

SUPPLEMENTARIES

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Yes, supplementary, Mr. Speaker.

Today I am working for the people in this Chamber, and where I work, I wear a different hat. And there is quite a bright line between those two, for the listening public.

The Speaker: Okay. You can tie it in to your question.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: My specific question would be, my understanding is that companies that take advantage of our 10 year and 10-per-cent per-year deferred tax assets rule here in Bermuda may be liable to pay top-of-taxes in other jurisdictions. I can see how that might be not as efficient as we would have hoped or in keeping with the original aims of when we created our corporate income tax. Does the Government have any specific plans to adjust our legislation to make it as streamlined and consistent for Bermuda's corporate income taxpayers? Thank you.

The Speaker: All right.

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, when it comes to our Corporate Income Tax Agency, our corporate income tax legislation, we will continue to work with our international business partners as we have throughout this process to ensure that Bermuda remains competitive and a jurisdiction. In regard to specifics, I am not going to discuss future specifics, which may or may not happen during Premier's Questions time. If the Honourable Member wants to set up a meeting with the Corporate Income Tax Agency and to discuss those matters, I will make sure to arrange that particular meeting for him.

The Speaker: Okay.

Second supplementary? Third, yes?

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Yes. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Does the Government have a view on how the changes in OECD policy may impact our CIT income? Thank you.

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, the projections that we have laid out have not changed. And they have not changed since we have laid them out in 2024, despite how many questions, times or imputations that the Honourable Member may have. Those measures were set out as an estimate of [€]750 million on an annual basis, and they have not been adjusted since then. And there has been no information that will say that those matters should be adjusted.

The Speaker: Okay.

Those are your supplementals.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: I do have a point of information, if you will indulge me.

The Speaker: Well, well, well. It does not allow for a point of information. Now, you asked your questions and your two supplementals. So, I will move on.

The next person who is on the list is MP Wilmot. Would you like to put your question?

QUESTION 1: MORTGAGE GUARANTEE PROGRAMME UPDATE

Mr. Paul Wilmot: Good morning, Mr. Speaker.

We have not had any updates on the Mortgage Guarantee Programme since last year. Can the Honourable Premier please provide an update on the programme and how many Bermudians have been assisted through this initiative?

Hon. E. David Burt: Thank you very much, Mr. Speaker. And I thank the Honourable Member for his question and of course welcome him to his place in this Honourable House with some big shoes to fill following the retirement of MP and Minister Colonel David Burch.

What I would say, Mr. Speaker, is the Mortgage Guarantee Programme is a source of pride for this Government. It is something that I remember at the time of its introduction. It was ridiculed by the other side as electioneering and as trying to hand out and putting the balance sheets of the country at risk.

But here is the thing, Mr. Speaker. We stand up for home ownership for Bermudians in this country. And here is the good news that I can reply to the Honourable Member for constituency 27 . . . (You are getting excited there now. I see. You are getting excited.) Here is the good news, Opposition Leader. You can hear this too, because maybe some of these people are in Paget as well. Seventy-four Bermudians are either closing on their new homes or receiving mortgage approvals to actually look for a home. And that means—oh, yes, yes, yes, yes.

[Desk thumping]

Hon. E. David Burt: Seventy-four, Mr. Speaker. Seventy-four Bermudians who would not have been able to get on the property ladder are on the property ladder due to the work of this Progressive Labour Party Government. That, Mr. Speaker, is fairness in action. Since the last time an update was given in November of last year, there are 22 more Bermudians. So that . . . we . . . We reported it at 52 at that time. Now it is up to 74. So, 22 more persons have benefited from that programme, Mr. Speaker. Inside of that number includes three who have taken advantage of the refinancing opportunity under the Mortgage Guarantee Programme as well, Mr. Speaker. This is clearly a benefit. This project and programme are working.

And I will state, Mr. Speaker, that there is additional capacity for more. So, if you are a first-time home buyer, if you are looking to be a part, please contact Bermuda Commercial Bank. Find out if the Mortgage Guarantee Programme can work for you. And if you are a public officer who is looking to re-finance your mortgage, also make sure to go ahead to the Bermuda Commercial Bank and avail yourself of that opportunity, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Thank you.

Do you have a supplementary?

Mr. Paul Wilmot: Yes, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Go ahead.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

Mr. Paul Wilmot: It is good to hear the great number of Bermudians whom this programme has helped. (Excuse me. Sorry. I am a little nervous.)

Can the Honourable Premier provide the further details on how this programme has helped or has impacted the Bermudians regarding monthly savings and home ownership opportunities?

The Speaker: Premier.

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, I know full well that on Cedar Hill there are many persons who want to know about this. And I am happy that the Honourable Member is making sure to put forward these questions during this time.

Mr. Speaker, for many of these homeowners, this programme has provided real relief. And so, Mr. Speaker, as a reminder, prior to this programme average down payments were 20 per cent. This cut that down payment in half to 10 per cent, Mr. Speaker. In addition, we know that interest rates in the open market were between, you know, 7.0 [per cent] and 8.0 [per cent], sometimes 8.5 per cent. And the programme was at 5.0 per cent. So, for those persons who are doing, for instance, a $600[,000] mortgage, that is a savings of $550 a month; for a $1 million mortgage that exceeds $700 a month.

So, Mr. Speaker, that is significant money. You add that up for a year, it adds up to just under $10,000 a year. So, these are real savings that are impacting Bermudians due to this Government's policies on promoting home ownership.

The Speaker: Second supplemental or you are complete?

Mr. Paul Wilmot: Yes, Mr. Speaker.

There is always a risk with guaranteeing. Can the Honourable Premier share any details as to the performance of those who have benefited from this programme?

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, I thank the Honourable Member for his question, and here is what is important to note: the Ministry of Finance does get a report every month on the performance of the guarantees that have been placed, because of course the Government is guaranteeing this mortgage. And I can state, Mr. Speaker, that out of all of the mortgages that have been issued, and persons have their house, there is not a single Bermudian who is delayed or late on their payments. That means that this project is working. And it probably is also a contributor to a strong economy.

The Speaker: Okay. That is the completion of your questions.

The next Member who has a question is the Deputy Opposition Leader.

Would you like to put your questions?

QUESTION 1: DUTY RELIEF INCREASE

Mr. Ben Smith: Yes. Good morning, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Speaker, would the Honourable Premier be able to let this House know whether he has received any feedback from the retail sector, since the announcement of increasing the duty relief for people coming through the airport seems to be aiming toward the direction of more Bermudians buying overseas rather than buying Bermuda?

The Speaker: Mr. Premier.

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, whether or not we have had specific response from the retail sector I cannot state. I know that the Chamber of Commerce put out a statement speaking on this particular matter, raising some particular issues. What I would like to remind the Honourable Member is that that duty rates increase was the first increase in 13 years. I do believe that it is in good time, and certainly some persons may say overdue, as you want to try to make sure you do these things in good time.

But I think it is also important to remind the Honourable Member of the significant amount of tax reductions that this Government has given to the retail sector in its time and operations, continuing to reduce payroll taxes for the retail sector as we did in 2023 and in budgets before that, Mr. Speaker. So, we will continue to support the retail sector. But it is important to also recognise, note and understand that in Bermuda, which I know is certainly close to the Honourable Member's heart, Bermuda is another world. But we are in many ways, shape or form in the same space and place as other jurisdictions where we are dealing with the change of the retail landscape. And it is important that we adjust, and it is important that the Government supports that adjustment.

If the Honourable Member would like to recall our election manifesto and the conversations and discussions that we had around that and in the debate of the Throne Speech, was that it was a broader look and a relook in how we actually do assess customs duty overall. That is something that the Ministry of Finance will be taking on during this Parliament, and I look forward to hearing from the Tax Reform Commission if they have any recommendations there. But I want the Honourable Member to be reminded that we have cut payroll taxes for retail establishments to the lowest level in memory.

The Speaker: Okay.
Supplementary?

Mr. Ben Smith: Yes, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Go ahead.

SUPPLEMENTARY

Mr. Ben Smith: Will there be any consideration of changing or lowering the duty rate for the retail sector considering that they are the ones who are hiring the Bermudians? As we continue to lower for people to buy outside of Bermuda, it is important that we are making sure, yes, retail is changing worldwide. But we have to take care of the retail that is happening in Bermuda. Because a thriving city is what is going to help people to want to be here.

The Speaker: Premier.

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, we will have many opportunities to debate a thriving city. As you would note inside of the Budget Statement, approved residential scheme matters are being approved. We are advancing those particular items. There is more investment that is taking place. The City of Hamilton Plan—which I believe if it was not tabled earlier today, it will be tabled in a future session of Parliament—which will deal with the removal of height restrictions in the City of Hamilton, looking to spur investments and doing further things. So, I certainly will agree with the Honourable Member that we need to have a vibrant city.

On the matters that he is speaking about, customs duty relief for retail sector specifically, it is important that Honourable Members know that the way that our customs tariff is currently constructed in line with international norms does not in any way or in the most cases discriminate between whether it is a retail person who is importing or a regular person who is importing. And as I had told the Honourable Member, and I know that he had taken a detailed look at the Progressive Labour Party's election manifesto where it actually did commit to a review of the customs duty.

And as I shared in a debate earlier, it was not something that I was minded originally to go down that road. But I was convinced by the members of my party that it was a good way to look. And I have said that if it is inside of our election manifesto, it is something that we will look at. Because absolutely we want support. So there is a question of whether or not we cut customs duty overall or whether or not it is that we look to make sure that we cut customs duty for retailers while also leaving a level in place for personal importers.

[Timer chimes]

The Speaker: Thank you, Premier. Thank you, Members. That brings us to a close of the Premier's Questions.

QUESTION PERIOD

The Speaker: But now we will start the next 60 minutes that takes us through the Question Period on other questions.

This morning we actually have written questions, so we will start the written questions before we go to the questions on the Statements that were given today.

The first question this morning is a written question. And it is a written question that requires an oral response. And that is from MP DeCouto to the Premier.

Would you like to put your question?

QUESTION 1: CORPORATE INCOME TAX AGENCY, CURRENT AND PLANNED STAFF

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Yes. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Will the Honourable Premier and Minister of Finance please provide for this Honourable House the number of staff planned to be employed by the Corporate Income Tax Agency when fully staffed according to its planned operating model, and the number of staff currently employed today at the Corporate Income Tax Agency?

Do I put all three questions, Mr. Speaker?

The Speaker: No. Separately.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Hon. E. David Burt: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Speaker, the current plan for the Corporate Income Tax Agency is to have a total number of staff between 30 and 35. The latest figure is 33 when fully staffed. The agency currently has three full-time staff and one secondee. They are in the recruitment process for 10 additional staff. That recruitment is set to conclude within the month, and there are ads that are set to go out for a further phase two employees, another 11 employees, taking the total number of persons up to 21. But the full complement is 33, and the expectation is by the time those corporate income tax filings will take place in August, there will be 21 staff in place.

The Speaker: Supplementary? Yes, supplementary.

SUPPLEMENTARY

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Yes. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Let us see. If I heard correctly, there should be 21 staff by the end of next August. When will the full 33 planned be attained? Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Premier.

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, I do not have the answer to that question. But I will look to try to set up a meeting with the Honourable Member and the head of the Corporate Income Tax Agency so he can pose all of his various questions at that point in time.

The Speaker: Okay.

Do you have a supplementary or would you like to put your second question?

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: No supplementary, Mr. Speaker. My second question.

The Speaker: Second question. Go ahead.

QUESTION 2: GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES PAY SCHEDULE FOR BACK PAY AND PAY RISES

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Mr. Speaker, regarding the pay rises for Government employees as per the Premier's Statement on the 21st of March this year, will the Honourable Premier and Minister of Finance please provide this Honourable House the most recent version of the payment schedule as of today for back pay as well as for when pay rises will go into effect for pay going forward? Thank you.

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, before I provide an answer to the question, I must make sure that I set the record straight. Because I think that it is actually shameful—yes, that is the word, “shameful”—that the Honourable Shadow Minister is imputing in the public, not here, that the Government does not have the money to meet the commitments that it has made to the public officers. That is 100 per cent and categorically false. He said it last Friday. He said it on the radio last Sunday. He said it in a press statement, and he continues to state it. And it is false, Mr. Speaker. And so, I accept that—

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Point of order, Mr. Speaker.

Hon. E. David Burt: And what is most interesting, Mr. Speaker—

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. E. David Burt: Do you want me to sit?

The Speaker: Take your point of order then.

POINT OF ORDER

[Misleading]

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.
The fact that payments are being delayed—

[Inaudible interjections]

Some Hon. Members: State your point of order.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Sorry. Mr. Speaker, the Premier is misleading the House.

Because the fact that we know payments are being delayed must mean there was not money for them. There was only one conclusion.

Some Hon. Members: No!

The Speaker: He was giving you the explanation. He was trying to hold you from getting on your feet.

Hon. E. David Burt: See, Mr. Speaker. I would ask, Mr. Speaker, that you would instruct the Whip and also the Opposition Leader on that side that when the Honourable Member puts down a parliamentary question and is waiting for an answer, to not then go into the public and speculate as to what he believes the answer is and why that case is. Which is what he is doing, Mr. Speaker.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. E. David Burt: There we are. Now I hear a lot of chirping. I hear a lot of chirping. But I hope they are ready for the answer.

The Speaker: Speak to the Chair.

Hon. E. David Burt: But I had to make sure I prefaced that, Mr. Speaker, because notice: the Honourable Member will take one and one and will make twenty-two without waiting to see whether or not the answer is actually two. So here it is, Mr. Speaker. The reality is that, yes, this Government came to an historic pay deal with our public sector unions, Mr. Speaker. Not with one union, not with two unions as has been done other times where we have one agreement with one union one day and one agreement with another union and another one and all the rest. We came to them all at the same time.

Well, here is the fact, Mr. Speaker. You cannot process those changes in the system all at the same time. This has been explained, and that is the only reason why these particular matters are being staggered, as has been explained to unions. It has nothing to do with the fact that the Government does not have the money to meet the obligations.

So, to answer his question, Mr. Speaker, I will go ahead and lay out the schedule which has been communicated to the unions.

April 2025, Bermuda Industrial Union [BIU]—

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. E. David Burt: They are chirping. Do they want to hear the answer to the question?

The Speaker: The public will want to hear you . . . the public will want to hear. Talk to them. Go ahead.

Hon. E. David Burt: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

- April 2025, BIU, and that is 2024 uplifts and back pay.
- May 2025, BPSU [Bermuda Public Services Union], 2024/25 uplifts and back pay.
- 2024 and 2025/26, uplifts and back pay.
- June, BPSU school principals and Bermuda Union of Teachers, of course time at the end of school because that is a time when there are also adjustments that are made to those things. We have to remember that there are actually people who are required to make all of these particular adjustments. And the one thing you do not want to do, Mr. Speaker, is get those wrong, which creates additional work and additional challenges as well.
- July 2025, BPOA [Bermuda Prison Officers Association], which is prison officers, and FSA, which is the Fire Services Association.
- August 2025, Bermuda Police Association and Regiment.
- September and October 2025, GEHI [Government Employee Health Insurance] and Superannuation adjustments which will be processed. And that is in recognition of the fact that we are, as stated in the Budget Statement, increasing GEHI rates in addition to expecting to pass public service superannuation reform changes, and those adjustments also need to be made in this system so they are properly adjusted for all persons at that point in time.
- Going to 2025/26 for the persons who are done in April and May.
- Bermuda Industrial Union in November 2025.
- January 2026, Bermuda Public Services Union. There is a reason that you cannot do these things in December, Mr. Speaker, because there are a lot of other things that are taking place. That is what is coming from the technical officers.

- And then going to February 2026, for ex-employees and ex-pensioners.
- Moving on to 2026/27, uplifts and back pay.
- April 2026, BIU and BPSU will be able to be done at the same time, as we are not doing multiple years of back lifts.
- In May 2026, we will do BPSU principals and BUT [Bermuda Union of Teachers].
- June 2026, POA and FSA.
- July 2026, Police and Regiment.

The Speaker: Do you have a supplementary for that?

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.
That was very comprehensive, very comprehensive.

[Inaudible interjections and laughter]

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Very appreciated, Mr. Speaker.

[Inaudible interjections]

The Speaker: Members, Members.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: I have to say if my employer gave me a pay rise and that was the answer, I would say, You'd better get cracking on the computer, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Do you have a question or a supplementary now?

SUPPLEMENTARY

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Yes.

Was this schedule provided to the various stakeholders in writing—i.e., were they fully informed as to this schedule at the time in writing? Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Hon. E. David Burt: Yes.

The Speaker: Okay. All right.
Your third question.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Does the Premier anticipate—oh, sorry. Third question?

The Speaker: Third question. You only have—

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: All right. Much appreciated, Mr. Speaker.

QUESTION 3: ESTIMATED GOVERNMENT CASH FLOWS 2025

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: That is fine. I will move to the third question. I believe we understand the point.

Will the Honourable Premier and Minister of Finance please provide this Honourable House—

[Inaudible interjections]

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Mr. Speaker, will the Honourable Premier and Minister of Finance please provide this Honourable House with the estimated Government cash flows, by month in calendar year 2025, broken out by revenue, expenditure and capital spending and in millions? Round numbers will be fine. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Premier.

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, as I supplied to you from Erskine May, that information will not be forthcoming. What I will state, Mr. Speaker, is that the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure are stated well and clearly inside of the Budget Book, which we will be debating during the budget session. In addition to that, Mr. Speaker, it is also important to note that this Government does give quarterly updates on our financial projections and will be happy to continue to do so.

The Speaker: Okay.
Supplementary?

SUPPLEMENTARY

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Mr. Speaker, what I was asking for is not the estimates or the budget. I was asking for the cash flows. And I think anyone who runs a business appreciates the difference between those two numbers, Mr. Speaker.

[Inaudible interjections]

The Speaker: Members.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Sorry. I am repeating my question. I hope the Premier could perhaps explain why he is not able to answer that question. Thank you.

The Speaker: Premier.

Hon. E. David Burt: I remain by the answer provided, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Okay. All right. All right.
Thank you.

The next written questions this morning are from MP Fahy to the Minister of Housing.

Hon. Michael Fahy: Good morning, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Good morning.

Hon. Michael Fahy: These questions have been provided in writing. And I am satisfied with those responses. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: You got your responses?

Hon. Michael Fahy: Yes.

¹QUESTION 1: PROPERTIES OWNED OR UNDER THE CONTROL OF THE BERMUDA HOUSING CORPORATION

Hon. Michael Fahy: Will the Honourable Minister please inform this Honourable House of the total number of properties owned or under the control of the Bermuda Housing Corporation, broken down by name of property and address, and identify whether the properties are occupied for purposes of housing, currently empty or being used for storage or other non-housing purposes?

QUESTION 2: PROPERTIES OWNED OR UNDER THE CONTROL OF THE WEST END DEVELOPMENT CORPORATION/BERMUDA LAND MANAGEMENT CORPORATION

Hon. Michael Fahy: Will the Honourable Minister please inform this Honourable House of the total number of properties owned or under the control of the West End Development Corporation/Bermuda Land Management Corporation broken, down by name of property and address, and identify whether the properties are occupied for purposes of housing, currently empty or being used for storage or other non-housing purposes?

QUESTION 3: PROPERTIES OWNED OR UNDER THE CONTROL OF THE BERMUDA LAND DEVELOPMENT COMPANY/BERMUDA LAND MANAGEMENT CORPORATION

Hon. Michael Fahy: Will the Honourable Minister please inform this Honourable House of the total number of properties owned or under the control of the Bermuda Land Development Company/Bermuda Land Management Corporation, broken down by name of property and address, and identify whether the properties are occupied for purposes of housing, currently empty or being used for storage or other non-housing purposes?

The Speaker: Okay.

We are moving on. The next written questions this morning were from MP Cannonier to the Minister of Works. And I believe those were also written answers.

You have got your answers? Good.

²QUESTION: PROPERTIES OWNED BY THE GOVERNMENT OF BERMUDA UNDER THE CONTROL AND/OR MANAGEMENT OF THE MINISTRY OF PUBLIC WORKS AND ENVIRONMENT

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: Will the Honourable Minister please inform this Honourable House of the total number of properties owned by the Government of Bermuda under the control and/or management of the Ministry of Public Works and Environment including:

- I. the property name (if any), the property address and Ministry building/property identifying number;
- II. identifying whether the said properties are occupied and by whom and for what purpose;
- III. identifying whether the said properties are vacant?

The Speaker: The fourth is from MP Smith to the Minister of Youth, Social Development and Seniors. I should say MP Linda Smith just to clarify.

QUESTION 1: INTERNATIONAL WOMEN'S LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE IN DUBAI, TOTAL COST OF TRAVEL

Ms. Linda Smith: Good morning, Mr. Speaker, and thank you.

The question is, Would the Honourable Minister please provide this Honourable House with the total cost to the taxpayer [including airfare/travel cost, accommodation and per diem fees] for the 15-person delegation who attended the International Women's Leadership Conference in Dubai in March of this year?

The Speaker: Minister.

Hon. Tinee Furbert: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. And thank you for that question.

I first want to start by acknowledging the Bermudian women entrepreneurs and professional delegates who are listening for the answer to that question today who are taxpayers and went through an organised process for this partial sponsorship.

Mr. Speaker, there were six women who were partially sponsored and not fifteen. And they were selected for the Ministry's partial sponsorship. Four women received $2,500 which went toward the cost of their airfare, accommodation, conference registration fee. And two women entrepreneurs also received partial sponsorship at the amount of $3,500 for their airfare, accommodation, conference registration fee, but they were also responsible for organising the delegates to the conference and side events that also occurred within the conference.

I just also want to mention really quickly, Mr. Speaker, that I have witnessed the women delegates who did attend the conference paying it forward and already providing educational sessions and informational sessions to our community. So, I am very proud of the work that they are doing. And they are doing this for free. They are providing informational sessions and educational sessions to entrepreneurs in Bermuda.

The Speaker: Supplementary?

SUPPLEMENTARIES

Ms. Linda Smith: Yes, I do. Thank you very much.

How was the composition of the delegation and the size of the delegation determined?

Hon. Tinee Furbert: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

In collaboration with the project that we did with UNDP [United Nations Development Programme] and UN Women, Mr. Speaker, the women had to have participated in the programming that was offered through that Building Back Equal project. So, it went out to all of those participants, and they had the opportunity to apply to be a part of the delegation. The funds, you know, we had a budget that we stayed within. And that is how they were able to participate.

The Speaker: Thank you.

Further supplementary?

Ms. Linda Smith: One supplementary, please.

The Speaker: Just one supplementary.

Ms. Linda Smith: What has been the benefit to Bermuda of the participation in this conference?

Hon. Tinee Furbert: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

I think what I would like to share is the investment in its people. Mr. Speaker, the women who attended are entrepreneurs and businesswomen. And I already spoke about the paying-it-forward. I have also witnessed and have been in sessions in which they are providing to our fellow Bermudians as far as information that they have learnt from the conference in building their businesses, building entrepreneur opportunities, also information as it relates to organisation and also self-confidence-building when pushing their businesses forward. So, I have sat into some of these sessions and have been able to see the work that the women continue to do after attending the conference.

The Speaker: Thank you.

Ms. Linda Smith: Thank you.

The Speaker: Thank you.

That brings us to a conclusion of the written questions.

Now we will move on to the Statements from this morning. And the first Statement from this morning is from the Minister of Housing.

Minister, you have Members who wish to put questions to you in reference to that Statement. The first is from the Opposition Leader.

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

On a point of order, am I able to defer my set of questions to the Shadow Minister, principal substantive Shadow Minister, first and then go after him?

The Speaker: You would like the Shadow Minister to go first?

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Yes.

The Speaker: Okay.

Shadow Minister, MP Fahy.

Hon. Michael Fahy: Thank you very much, Mr. Speaker. Thank you, Opposition Leader.

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Michael Fahy: It is. And it is probably the wrong time.

QUESTION 1: BERMUDA HOUSING TRUST AUDITED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS AND CURRENT CHALLENGES

Hon. Michael Fahy: Mr. Speaker, the Honourable Minister for Housing and Municipalities made mention in his Statement that there is a waiting list of 50 to 100 people waiting for housing from the Housing Trust. Why is that number not definitive? Why is it 50 to 100? Thank you. That is question one.

The Speaker: Minister.

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Because it is a moving target all the time, Mr. Speaker. It is a moving target.

The Speaker: Mm-hmm.
Supplementary?

SUPPLEMENTARIES

Hon. Michael Fahy: Okay. So, a supplementary on that. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

In terms of that waiting list, is the Honourable Minister able to provide statistics as to the waiting list for each of the five properties that come under the Housing Trust, particularly Heydon Park, Dr. Cann Park, Elizabeth Hills Park, Purvis Park and Ferguson Park at the current time?

The Speaker: Minister.

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: I will be happy to get [the Honourable Member] that information, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Okay.
Supplementary?

Hon. Michael Fahy: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

In addition to that, what is the average waiting time for people looking for housing with the Housing Trust? And by the way, I understand that this is an independent housing trust. But it is in the Statement, so I think we would like to have some answers to those if possible.

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: I will be happy to supply that, too, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Okay. Thank you.
Any further questions?

Hon. Michael Fahy: Yes. Thank you.

The Speaker: This will be your second question. You used the supplementaries.

Hon. Michael Fahy: Second question. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Yes.

QUESTION 2: BERMUDA HOUSING TRUST AUDITED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS AND CURRENT CHALLENGES

Hon. Michael Fahy: Mr. Speaker, in terms of choices of properties, are individuals on waiting lists just told which individual property they can go to? Or is it something that is allocated to a specific property for a specific person on a list? Thank you.

The Speaker: Minister.

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Mr. Speaker, I would certainly think that the Housing Trust, when they receive applications, you will know that seniors will probably have a favourite place that they would like to stay. And I would think that most of those are accommodated by the trust as they can and as places are available.

The Speaker: Supplementary?

Hon. Michael Fahy: Perhaps like the answers to the other questions, the Minister could verify that for us in due course.

I think that is the end of my supplementaries. I have one more question, Mr. Speaker?

The Speaker: Third question, yes.

QUESTION 3: BERMUDA HOUSING TRUST AUDITED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS AND CURRENT CHALLENGES

Hon. Michael Fahy: Can the Honourable Minister share for us as well the average monthly rent for residents? The Statement made reference to the fact, quite fairly, that rents have not gone up. But what is the average monthly rent for each unit? Thank you.

The Speaker: Minister.

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: I will be happy to give a detailed average monthly rental of all of the units for the Honourable Member.

The Speaker: Okay.

The Minister said that he will provide it for you at another time.

Hon. Michael Fahy: I appreciate that. Thank you, and I will liaise with the Minister in due course. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Thank you. Okay.

Opposition Leader, would you like to put your question now?

QUESTION 1: BERMUDA HOUSING TRUST AUDITED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS AND CURRENT CHALLENGES

Hon. Jarion Richardson: I would. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Would the Honourable Minister be able to speak to . . . I note that in his [Statement] there is a waiting list being of 50 to 100 qualified seniors and that the Government intends to increase the number of senior housing units available before 2026. And we have a projection of one in four residents who will be over the age of 65 by then.

My question is, Is this the only housing solution for seniors that the Government plans to provide going forward?

The Speaker: Minister.

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Absolutely not. The [Honourable Opposition Leader] will certainly . . . he mentioned the statistic, of which I am one. So, the intent is, Mr. Speaker, not only to increase affordable homes for our people, but that also includes affordable homes for our seniors as well.

The Speaker: Supplementary?

SUPPLEMENTARY

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Yes.

So, would the Honourable Minister be able to speak to the other housing solutions that he raised that will be specifically for seniors?

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: I will certainly do that as soon as I possibly can.

[Laughter]

The Speaker: Another supplementary or a new question?

Hon. Jarion Richardson: A new question, please, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Okay. Second question.

QUESTION 2: BERMUDA HOUSING TRUST AUDITED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS AND CURRENT CHALLENGES

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Second question.

With respect to the Minister's confirmation that the Bermuda Housing Trust receives no direct financial support, would the Minister be able to clarify the Government's expectations relating to the rising maintenance cost that the Housing Trust will be incurring? In other words, what is the Government expecting the trustees to do about these matters?

The Speaker: Minister.

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Well, you will notice that once you have a look at the financial statements, you will see that the funding is there. But as I mentioned in my Statement, the concern as it is for all Bermudians with regard to any construction and maintenance, is that the concern is with the cost of materials and labour. And of course you will know, you will hear about it in detail in the coming weeks about what we plan to assist the country with regard to those costs.

The Speaker: Okay.

Supplementary or a third question?

QUESTION 3: BERMUDA HOUSING TRUST
AUDITED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
AND CURRENT CHALLENGES

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Third question, please, Mr. Speaker.

With respect to the Minister's reference to the new executive leadership and operational improvements at the trust, would the Honourable Minister be able to speak to how these improvements will reduce waiting times and give greater accessibility to low income seniors?

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Not yet. But that will be forthcoming.

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Okay.

The Speaker: Supplementary? None.

Minister, you also have Member Campbell. Would you like to put your questions still?

QUESTION 1: BERMUDA HOUSING TRUST
AUDITED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
AND CURRENT CHALLENGES

Mr. Vance Campbell: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

In view of our ageing population and the fact that the Bermuda Housing Trust [BHT] has a waiting list . . . Well, before that, Mr. Speaker, I just want to commend the chairman and his board, as well as the employees, for doing an excellent job in getting another clean audit opinion.

So, in view of the waiting list and our growing ageing population, have there been any meetings between the Minister and the BHT with a view to creating or constructing more units for our seniors?

The Speaker: Minister.

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Before I answer that question, I would just like to thank the Honourable Member Campbell, who just took his seat, because he was very heavily involved with the Bermuda Housing Trust in the past. And from what I understand, he did excellent, yeoman work, and I would like thank him for that.

But to answer his question, yes, I have. I have met with the Chairman, Mr. [John] Barritt, and that was one of the things that we did discuss also. So, as you will appreciate, being a new [Shadow] Minister with a lot of ground to cover in that particular area, I will have information forthcoming in the very near future.

The Speaker: Okay.
Supplementary?

Mr. Vance Campbell: No. That is it.

The Speaker: That is it? Okay. Thank you.

Minister, no further questions for you on that Statement.

Members, the next Statement that has questions this morning is the Statement from the Junior Minister [Furbert].

Junior Minister, the Opposition Leader would like to put questions to you.

Opposition Leader.

QUESTION 1: PUBLIC SERVICE SUPERANNUATION FUND AND MINISTERS AND MEMBERS OF THE LEGISLATURE PENSION FUND
2020 ACTUARIAL REVIEWS

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Yes. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

And with respect to the Honourable Junior Minister's admission that the 2020 actuarial reviews were completed in December that year, but not tabled until May 2025, would the Honourable Junior Minister be able to speak to the specific oversight mechanisms that failed that allowed this statutory omission to go undetected for four years?

Hon. E. David Burt: We would love to be able to provide an answer; we do not actually have that right now. We are trying to figure it out. It seems as though if through the transitions you would note that during 2022, there were some tragic experiences that did take place in the Ministry of Finance Headquarters. There are some things that got missed. One thing was tabled, the CPF. It did not come to the House; remember, there are three actuarial reports. That one somehow did not, and it was not pointed out until we tabled the subsequent reports. So, I cannot necessarily speak to that because there are a lot of persons who were in the Ministry who are no longer there.

It is not ideal. But it was raised to the accountability mechanism of this House, and we have tabled to ensure that.

The Speaker: Mm-hmm. Mm-hmm.
Supplementary?

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Sorry. Second question, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Second question, okay.

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Yes. I thank the Honourable Premier for explaining. We do not always get straight answers. Thank you, Mr. Premier.

[Inaudible interjections]

QUESTION 2: PUBLIC SERVICE SUPERANNUATION FUND AND MINISTERS AND MEMBERS OF

THE LEGISLATURE PENSION FUND 2020 ACTUARIAL REVIEWS

Hon. Jarion Richardson: My second question is remedial. Given that there is currently an inquiry ascertaining what failed, when would we be able to anticipate any remedial action to ensure that it does not take place ever again?

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, there is no remedial action required. There was an oversight that happened. These things have not happened before. And I am quite certain, just as we tabled the three ones this time afterward, the next time there is a review we will table those ones as well.

The Speaker: Okay.
Supplementary? Or third question?

SUPPLEMENTARIES

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Yes, I am sorry. Supplementary.

Can I just get some clarification? Something that was supposed to happen did not happen. Nothing went wrong, and we do not plan to fix anything. Is that the answer the Premier just gave?

Hon. E. David Burt: No, that is not the answer I just gave, Mr. Speaker.

[Laughter]

Hon. E. David Burt: The 2023 reports were tabled, and future reports will be tabled.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I am going to do my best to not be more pejorative or as pejorative as the Honourable Member was. But if the Honourable Member, who I think may have been in the House at the time, would know, there were some tragic circumstances that took place in the Ministry of Finance, and some of these things that happened are understandable. And I would hope he would understand that as well.

The Speaker: Third question?

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Yes, supplemental.

The Speaker: Oh, second supplementary. Go ahead.

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Yes. So, in industry, we call this key man risk. And what it is, we have this in many, many companies where a person is so key to our processes that we often have to in fact insure that person's life should something occur. So, what I am trying to get at is . . . and so my question is, Given that the Government clearly has some key man risk in this system, what are they going to do to ensure that when we have a key man risk failure again that we do not miss our deadlines? Thank you.

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, I have no change to the answer that was given. This was an oversight; an oversight that has not happened again.

The Speaker: Thank you.

That was your second supplementary, second question. Do you have a third question?

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Yes. Given that the reports were completed in 2020, and this is across two fiscal administrations, and the key man risk clearly having been identified and there being no plans to remediate, my question is therefore . . . well, there are no plans to remediate. My apologies.

[Laughter]

The Speaker: Okay. All right.

So that brings us to a close of the questions for you, Premier, on that.

We will move on to the next Statement that has questions. And the next Statement is the Statement from the Minister of Economy and Labour. And the question is from the Opposition Leader. And that is on your first Statement.

Opposition Leader.

QUESTION 1: DEPARTMENT OF LABOUR ACT 2025

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. And I thank the Honourable Minister for his Statements. With respect to his Statement given, that the Department of Labour began operating in 2023. But we are only going to formally legislate that with the tabling of this Bill and obviously when it goes through. My question is, The department's actions between 2023 and 2025 undertaken, is there any statutory ambiguity or legal deficiency that could result in court challenges that this lawful authority needs to be given for?

The Speaker: Minister.

Hon. Jason Hayward: Mr. Speaker, the answer to the question is none. The department was fully compliant with the laws that were enacted and enforced during that period of time. All documents were signed off by the person who had the statutory authority, which would have been the manager responsible for the labour relations action.

The Speaker: Supplementary? Second question?

QUESTION 2: DEPARTMENT OF LABOUR ACT
2025

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Second question, please. Yes. I thank the Honourable Minister for that reply.

Any of those prior decisions, such as civil penalties, referrals and union certifications, will they need to be reviewed for validity given this structural and statutory change?

The Speaker: Okay.
Minister.

Hon. Jason Hayward: None, Mr. Speaker. As articulated, all procedures and matters that were followed were in total alignment with the law.

The Speaker: Okay.
Supplementary?

Hon. Jarion Richardson: No further questions. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: No further questions. Okay. Thank you. Minister, there are also questions for your second Statement.

And again, Opposition Leader, would you like to lead those questions?

QUESTION 1: REGISTRY GENERAL 2023 ANNUAL REPORT

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Yes, thank you, Mr. Speaker.

My questions are in relation to the late filing specifically with respect to the Minister's Statement . . . I apologise, Mr. Speaker. I am just looking through my notes here.

The obligation to file the annual report comes under the Registration (Births and Deaths) Act, which requires publication within 90 days, and that obviously was not fulfilled. And my concern is about management and oversight, given that this is the second time I have risen to my feet to bring up the fact that something is late. These deadlines are not a matter of policy; they are a matter of law.

Could the Honourable Minister please explain whether this breach was escalated to Cabinet?

The Speaker: Minister.

Hon. Jason Hayward: Upon taking over the responsibility of the Office of the Registry General, it was brought to my attention that we were late in terms of our submissions. Mr. Speaker, this morning I apologised to this Honourable House. I will endeavour to ensure that the reports are submitted in a timely fashion moving forward.

The Speaker: Supplementary or second question?

QUESTION 2: REGISTRY GENERAL 2023 ANNUAL REPORT

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Second question, please, Mr. Speaker. Thank you.

Given that the deficiency was noted by the Minister and he moved to correct it, what remedial action will the Minister take now to structurally ensure that this mistake does not occur again?

[Ms. Lovitta F. Foggo, Deputy Speaker, in the Chair]

The Deputy Speaker: Minister.

Hon. Jason Hayward: When we have a compilation of statistical reports where we rely on data that are sourced from multiple agencies and organisations, it is about having conversations with those agencies so that we get the primary data in a timely fashion. Oftentimes we are waiting for data for the full completion of the report. So, you may have 80 per cent of the data that you need to complete a report, and you are just waiting on an outstanding 20 per cent. And sometimes that can hold up the process.

Instead of sending out multiple reports—one would be a preliminary report of the data and then a secondary one when we get all of the information—we have made the determination that you submit one complete report for that particular year.

So being mindful of that, not all of it is on the shoulders of the employees within the Registry General's Department. But again, we will ensure that we seek to be more proactive in our data collection so that we have timely reports according to the legislation.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Minister.
Supplemental?

SUPPLEMENTARIES

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Yes, please. Yes, thank you. And I thank the Honourable Minister to committing to adhering to these Legislative deadlines.

My question goes down to accountability, where the Honourable Minister just explained that there are people who are not providing their necessary reports in a timely fashion. My question is, Are the right people being held accountable for performance failures as it relates to facilitating this process?

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you.
Minister.

Hon. Jason Hayward: I would not categorise it as performance failure. There are a number of reasons why data are not compiled in a timely manner and submitted. Some of these organisations are external to the Government of Bermuda, and we have no control over their internal processes. So, what I will say is, to the extent at which we can control our processes, we will make sure that we are expedient and efficient in our delivery of outcomes. But there are times where we are waiting on data. And when we look at the period of time in terms of waiting on data, we did have challenges across the board in terms of even classification of deaths and we were waiting for medical doctors and things of that nature to sign off on reports. That has been well discussed in this Honourable House as it pertains to some challenges we have had surrounding that.

So not all of them are attributed to staff. They do not mean that you have to be punitive or disciplinary as it pertains to one's conduct. I think the public simply wants reports that have accurate and timely data, and we will endeavour to get the public that information.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Minister.
Second supplemental?

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Yes, please. Thank you.

The Deputy Speaker: Okay.

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Would the Honourable Minister . . . and I thank him for his answer. Just to clarify, there will be no remediation action taken as it relates to the discovery of this failure?

The Deputy Speaker: Okay. Just a comment.
Do you have a third question?

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Sorry. That was my question. There will be no—

The Deputy Speaker: Oh. So, you had no second supplemental?

Hon. Jarion Richardson: That was my second supplemental.

The Deputy Speaker: So, do you have a third question? No?

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Sorry. No.

The Deputy Speaker: Okay. Thank you.

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Okay.

The Deputy Speaker: Any other persons? I think it is Pearman, MP Pearman. MP Pearman, did you have questions for the Minister? Yes. Yes.

Mr. Scott Pearman: Yes, Madam Deputy Speaker. I was not sure if [the Honourable Minister] wanted to answer the last one or not.

The Deputy Speaker: [The Honourable Opposition Leader] did not pose a question. He made a comment.

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Point of order.

The Deputy Speaker: What is your point of order?

POINT OF ORDER

Hon. Jarion Richardson: It is that it was a question.

The Deputy Speaker: Okay. Well, you did not ask it like a question.

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Oh, I apologise.

The Deputy Speaker: So, can you repeat the question?

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Yes, ma'am.

The Deputy Speaker: Yes.

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Yes.

Would the Honourable Minister be able to confirm that no remedial action will be taken?—question mark.

The Deputy Speaker: Yes.

Hon. Jason Hayward: The Honourable Minister can confirm that we will ensure that we provide timely and accurate data.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Minister.
And any supplementals to that? No.
MP Pearman, it is your turn.

Mr. Scott Pearman: Yes, well, I have a supplementary to that question before my question.

The Deputy Speaker: Oh, you do have a supplemental to that question? Okay.

SUPPLEMENTARY

Mr. Scott Pearman: Given the answer just given by the Honourable Minister, when will we see the 2024 report, which is due 90 days after?

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you.
Minister.

Hon. Jason Hayward: Madam [Deputy Speaker], the report indicates that we are in the process of submitting the 2024 report in the second quarter of this year.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Minister.
Now, is this another supplemental or your—

QUESTION 1: REGISTRY GENERAL 2023 ANNUAL REPORT

Mr. Scott Pearman: Yes . . . no. This is my first question of the day. Madam, thank you.

I thank the Honourable Minister for his Statement on the Annual Report of the Registry General 2023 and for tabling this Statement in this Honourable House this morning. The report gives a statistical figure of the Bermuda population of 63,356. I acknowledge that that is an estimate, and I acknowledge that the report indicates that is for the year 2023.

In relation to your Statement to this Honourable House this morning (and I quote with your leave, Madam Deputy Speaker), you said this: "It should be noted the estimated population figures in the report only take into account registered births and deaths and not migration because it is not available. This means the estimates in the report are not indicative of actual population levels."

I know the Honourable Minister is by trade and by expertise a statistician. Would you agree with me that the estimate of 63,356 is far too high for the reality on our Island?

The Deputy Speaker: Minister.

Hon. Jason Hayward: Madam Deputy Speaker, according to Standing Orders, Ministers are not to stand to this floor and give a matter of opinion. We are to provide clarity and factual information.

The Deputy Speaker: Facts. Yes. Thank you.

Mr. Scott Pearman: Supplementary?

The Deputy Speaker: Yes.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

Mr. Scott Pearman: Does the Honourable Minister have other ways to achieve a more accurate population figure?

The Deputy Speaker: Minister.

Hon. Jason Hayward: The next accurate population figure will be provided at the conclusion of the 2026 census. When we get those 2026 census benchmark data, we will then include immigration and emigration tracking so that we have an ongoing number that is more accurate on an ongoing basis moving forward.

The Deputy Speaker: Okay. Thank you, Minister.

Mr. Scott Pearman: Second supplementary?

The Deputy Speaker: You may. Okay.

Mr. Scott Pearman: Thank you, Madam.

Does the Minister himself and his department have a working figure that it uses for its calculations and determinations?

The Deputy Speaker: Minister.

Hon. Jason Hayward: After every census there is a population projection that is actually provided to the public. And we publicly publish that population projection. And that will give a population for a decade moving forward.

Understanding that, there are also other documents that have population numbers contained in them, which will be the Registrar's report and the Digest of Statistics.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Minister.
Member.

Mr. Scott Pearman: Yes, next supplementary, final supplementary.

The Deputy Speaker: No. Two supplementaries.

Mr. Scott Pearman: Oh, second question.

The Deputy Speaker: Yes.

QUESTION 2: REGISTRY GENERAL 2023 ANNUAL REPORT

Mr. Scott Pearman: Yes, Madam Deputy Speaker.

Does the Honourable Minister take a view of the published statistics from the Chamber of Commerce and its accuracy or inaccuracy as compared to the 63,000 figure?

The Deputy Speaker: Minister.

Hon. Jason Hayward: Unless population data take into consideration accurate statistics regarding migration and emigration, then those data cannot be deemed to be reliable.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Minister.
Member, do you have a supplemental or—

Mr. Scott Pearman: I do.

The Deputy Speaker: Okay.

SUPPLEMENTARIES

Mr. Scott Pearman: And in light of the Minister's answer just there, and indeed in light of his Statement where he said (with your leave, Madam), "The next opportunity of an accurate population count will be the 2026 census," which the Minister just repeated to Parliament, are there no other ways for the Bermuda Government and indeed Bermuda as a whole to have a more accurate figure prior to 2026?

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you.
Minister.

Hon. Jason Hayward: Madam Deputy Speaker, the Statement says that the next opportunity for us to have an accurate population figure will be at the conclusion of the 2026 census. I then do not understand how one can ask whether or not we can get to a more accurate figure before the time period when we state, "the next opportunity" for us to get an accurate figure would be the 2026 census.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Minister.
You have a supplemental on this?

Mr. Scott Pearman: Well, actually, a point of clarification if there was a misunderstanding.

The Deputy Speaker: Your point of clarification?

POINT OF CLARIFICATION

Mr. Scott Pearman: A more accurate figure would then be an estimate of 63,000 in case that was not clear. I was not saying a more accurate figure than the 2026 census. I mean a more accurate figure than the 63,000 estimate.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you for your clarification.

Do you wish to answer?

Hon. Jason Hayward: It is the Government's desire that we have accurate population numbers. I have looked into a number of ways in which we can utilise immigration statistics to get a better measure of what our actual population numbers are. I have come to the conclusion that it will be an exercise in futility to compile data based off of data which is not sound. As a result of that, the conclusion is that the next time we would have a more accurate population number will be the 2026 census.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Minister.
Second supplementary?

Mr. Scott Pearman: Second supplementary. Thank you, Madam.

The Deputy Speaker: Okay.

Mr. Scott Pearman: Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker. Thank you, Minister.

What figure is the Ministry currently using for all of its determinations and decision-making?

The Deputy Speaker: Minister.

Hon. Jason Hayward: Statistically, we rely on the population projections in conjunction with the births and deaths outlined in the Registry General's report.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Minister.
And the—

Mr. Scott Pearman: Last question.

The Deputy Speaker: Question three. Go ahead.

QUESTION 3: REGISTRY GENERAL 2023 ANNUAL REPORT

Mr. Scott Pearman: Yes. Thank you, Minister.

In relation to your prior answer about the next-most-accurate number coming when we have the 2026 census, when do you anticipate that to commence and conclude, and when will we have that number, do you think? Appreciating it as a timeline.

The Deputy Speaker: Minister.

Hon. Jason Hayward: The 2026 census will commence in 2026.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you.
Any supplementals?

SUPPLEMENTARY

Mr. Scott Pearman: Supplementary, yes.
Are you able to give a month within the calendar year?

The Deputy Speaker: A month within the year of 2026.

Hon. Jason Hayward: Prior to the release of the 2026 census, I will ensure that I will provide full details as to when interviewers will be in the fields knocking on household doors to collect the necessary data to complete the census.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Minister.

Mr. Scott Pearman: Thank you.

The Deputy Speaker: Supplementary?

Mr. Scott Pearman: No. Thank you very much.

The Deputy Speaker: Thanks. Right.

That moves us to, I believe it is Member King who had questions for you, Minister.

Honourable Member, you have the floor.

Mr. Robert King: Good morning, Madam Deputy Speaker, Members of the House and the listening public.

The Deputy Speaker: Good morning.

QUESTION 1: REGISTRY GENERAL 2023 ANNUAL REPORT

Mr. Robert King: I have a question regarding the statement that was made in regard to marriages. In 2023 there were 310, and there were no same-sex marriages. The question that I have is, Has the law been amended to allow for same-sex marriages?

The Deputy Speaker: Minister.

Hon. Jason Hayward: The law is a matter of public record, Madam Deputy Speaker.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Minister.
Supplemental or new question?

POINT OF CLARIFICATION

Mr. Robert King: For clarification, so if it is legal to have same-sex marriage, it just seems a bit confusing to suggest there were no same-sex marriages. It would be like me having a store that sells apples, and then someone asks me, How many chainsaws did you sell? It does not make any sense.

QUESTION 2: REGISTRY GENERAL 2023 ANNUAL REPORT

Mr. Robert King: The next question that I have is regarding the declining birth rates. It has been established a decrease of 43, or 9 per cent, over 2022 where it was 479. In 2023, it was 436 births. Understanding that a large number of Bermudians are leaving the islands and we have a declining birth rate—you know, leaving Bermuda due to the high cost of living and lack of opportunity—have the Minister and Government now reconsidered its position on Pathways to Status, understanding that we are basically in a crisis state as it relates to population stability? Thank you.

The Deputy Speaker: Minister.

Hon. Jason Hayward: Madam Deputy Speaker, no.

The Deputy Speaker: Okay.

Next question or supplemental?

SUPPLEMENTARY

Mr. Robert King: Supplemental.

So, my understanding is that there is no consideration for Pathways to Status regardless of our declining population?

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Member, point of order, point of order.

The Deputy Speaker: Your point of order, Minister?

POINT OF ORDER

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Madam Deputy Speaker, this Statement had nothing in it about Pathways to Status. So, the Honourable Member is way out of parliamentary procedure.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you.

It has been confirmed that the Minister's Statement did not cover that subject material. So, can we have a different question?

Mr. Robert King: Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

The Deputy Speaker: Yes.

Mr. Robert King: What I was referring to is we have a declining birth rate, and we have persons migrating to other shores, which means that the birth rate continues to go down and persons are leaving. So, the population is declining. And we understand the implications for the pension, for the cost of living and other things. So, the question is, Is there a strategy in place to ensure that we have a stable Bermuda population by status or otherwise?

The Deputy Speaker: Minister.

Hon. Jason Hayward: Madam Deputy Speaker, this Government put out a full report as it pertains to the challenges that we are going to have regarding our ageing population. The Ministry of Economy and Labour has been on the forefront of educating the public regarding the challenge but also providing recommendations as to how we believe we can have a sustainable population level and more in particular a sustainable workforce.

Subsequent to the report regarding the ageing population, we then put out a report in terms of retention of our local workforce because we determined that, based off of our ageing population, we needed to grow our local workforce. That particular paper had a number of policy goals and names outlined in it as it pertains to how we can ensure that we have a sustainable workforce to sustain our economy and our ageing population. And I will encourage the Honourable Member to read through that particular report because we are actively pursuing all of the goals that we had set out in that particular report.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Minister.
Supplemental to that?

Mr. Robert King: Yes, Madam Deputy Speaker.

The Deputy Speaker: Okay.

SUPPLEMENTARY

Mr. Robert King: So, what we are basically to understand is that the population is now increasing because of those measures that are being put in place?

The Deputy Speaker: Minister.

Hon. Jason Hayward: I would say that the overall workforce in Bermuda is increasing. The statistics will show that our workforce is increasing year over year since the report was actually submitted. That report identifies that we need to ensure that we have retention and expansion of our local workforce. It has a number of goals set out there. In that particular report, the goals pertain to ensuring that local residents remain on Island attracting residents back to the Island by ensuring that they have opportunities. And then also ensuring that we have an appropriate balance between the supply and demand of expatriate labour that is required in our workforce.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Minister.
Member, do you have any further questions?

Mr. Robert King: Nothing further. Thank you.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you.
That takes us to the Ministry of Public Works. I think MP Cannonier registered that he had questions.

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: Yes. Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker. My voice is a bit hoarse, so . . .

[Crosstalk]

QUESTION 1: ROAD SAFETY, INFRASTRUCTURE AND COMMUNITY IMPROVEMENTS: PAVING THE WAY FORWARD

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: On page 2, the Minister mentions midway through—and I will read the sentence: “One of the key lessons learned in recent years is the importance of coordination. Paving a road today only to trench it next month is costly, frustrating, and counterproductive.” As I recall, there has always been a coordinated effort in dealing with many of the stakeholders who actually do dig up the roads. Is the Minister suggesting when he says, That is why we are working closely with our utility partners, that that coordination that was put in place many, many moons ago has fallen by the wayside?

[Hon. Dennis P. Lister, Jr., Speaker, in the Chair]

Hon. Jache Adams: Thank you, Mr. Speaker, now. I thank the Honourable Member for his question.

The reality is no. That mechanism has not fallen by the wayside. There is a group of utility partners, as well as the government and other stakeholders who do meet on (I believe) a monthly basis. Thank you.

The Speaker: Okay.
Supplementary?

SUPPLEMENTARIES

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: Yes. Thank you. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Supplemental would be then, Why, when the Minister says “paving a road today only to trench it next month” are these things happening if we have this coordination going on?

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Speaker, as the term says, life happens. There are opportunities where things, despite our best efforts, still go awry. But it is important and part of those meetings . . . it is not just where people trench, but how we can do the work better to avoid mistakes happening in the future. That is part of the process of having those meetings.

The Speaker: Okay.

Hon. Jache Adams: Thank you.

The Speaker: Another supplementary?

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: Yes, second supplementary.

Considering the answer then, and these lessons learned, can the Minister identify or highlight any new lessons, I guess, based on what is happening presently? Has there been anything that they have identified or highlighted that they were missing in the past that they are now doing with their current coordination?

The Speaker: Thank you.

Hon. Jache Adams: Two lessons. Effectively how to better communicate exactly where we are going, getting a more cohesive plan in place. But also, in particular, one of the lessons learned is, if you will, allow us to be able to have longer projections.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Second question?

QUESTION 2: ROAD SAFETY, INFRASTRUCTURE
AND COMMUNITY IMPROVEMENTS:
PAVING THE WAY FORWARD

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: Second question.

Thank you for that answer, Minister.

Second question: On page 3 . . . sorry. It is just electronic; I am scrolling down. At the bottom of page 3, the Minister mentions in terms of traffic signals and highlights Marsh Folly, St. John's Road and then Crow Lane. These lights have been out for I would imagine now well over a year-plus maybe. And it does mention that we are . . . some boxes or something, trying to get to where it is here. Control cabinets.

Why is this taking so long? It seems like these lights have been flashing and out for forever. Why is it taking so long to get this stuff?

The Speaker: Minister.

[Crosstalk]

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Speaker, I will endeavour to get the Honourable Member the answer. The specifics of why it is taking so long I just do not have with me.

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: Okay.

Hon. Jache Adams: Thank you.

The Speaker: Third question or supplementary?

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: No. Considering that he can get the answer, I will hold off on the supplementals.

The Speaker: No problem.

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: Just to say that, yes, it has been a long time.

Third question. Then I will go to—

The Speaker: Your question, third question?

QUESTION 3: ROAD SAFETY, INFRASTRUCTURE
AND COMMUNITY IMPROVEMENTS:
PAVING THE WAY FORWARD

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: Yes. I will go down to page 4 where the Minister talks about dates and the operational dates of the plant, asphalt plant. This has been an ongoing saga, in my opinion, where we said that it would be up and running in 2024, by 2025 April. Then it has been pushed back. And I think the reasoning was saying that problems with shipping and the like. Or according to the previous answer, Life happens. We recognise that stuff happens.

But then we have a new trajectory rate of January of 2026 that we will have the plant fully up and operational. And I should clarify that April of 2025 was operational, then 2026 operational. And these are specific months, which I appreciate, which suggests that they had been working diligently on this here.

But now this Statement mentions that the first quarter. So it infers—

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: January? You want January. Okay, okay. The [Honourable Minister] is going to say January.

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: Yes, January, first quarter. January is in the first quarter. February is in the first quarter. March is in the first quarter.

So, they were very specific prior, but now we have changed the language to say quarter. So is the Minister . . . based on the timeframe (we are talking about several years now), is the Minister fairly confident that the first quarter now? And I will be checking in January to see if he has that stuff. He is fairly confident that we will have it?

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: Because, Mr. Speaker, I recognise why he is saying the quarter because stuff happens.

The Speaker: Yes.

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: So, is he fairly confident that in that first quarter, he feels, based on the past, that it has not been that way?

The Speaker: Minister, before you respond, let me just remind folks that it has gone 12:30, but we have only got less than five minutes left on the clock. We will run out the five minutes, and then we will break for recess.

Hon. Jache Adams: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. And again, I thank the Honourable Member for his question.

The short answer is yes, we are confident. And a great telling point of where we are—a barometer of where we are, as I said in my Statement, we are expecting the materials to arrive in July of this year. So that will be a great telling to ensure that we are on target with our projections. Thank you.

The Speaker: Thank you.

All right. No further questions? All right.

The next item that has questions would be the Statement from . . . let me see. We may get one question in. The Statement from the Minister of Home Affairs.

Minister, your first Statement has the questions. And, MP Fahy, would you like to put that question?

Hon. Michael Fahy: Yes. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Mindful we have only got three minutes left.

QUESTION 1: CARIBBEAN RENEWABLE ENERGY FORUM (CREF) 2025: BERMUDA'S PARTICIPATION

Hon. Michael Fahy: Thank you.

The Honourable Minister made a statement that suggested that the Integrated Resource Plan [IRP] had perhaps been presented at the conference. Can the Minister confirm if in fact the Integrated Resource Plan referred to in the Statement was presented in any way at that conference?

Hon. Alexa Lightbourne: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Bermuda has a current IRP and there is a proposed IRP. So, both are referenced in the conference. The proposed IRP is not open to consultation, Mr. Speaker, and we have a current IRP that was initially confirmed by the Regulatory Authority. Thank you.

The Speaker: Supplementary?

SUPPLEMENTARY

Hon. Michael Fahy: Yes. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

More specifically, then, and can I have leave to just read from the Statement, "CREF further provided a platform to share updates on Bermuda's clean energy progress, including our proposed Integrated Resource Plan and the successes from the electrification of our public bus fleet" It would appear that the proposed Integrated Resource Plan was presented at a conference. Yes or no?

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Alexa Lightbourne: So, the proposed IRP is a public document that is open. It was discussed at the conference as such as a non-confirmed document that is currently under the remit of the Regulatory Authority, managed by the Regulatory Authority, but out to public consultations.

The Speaker: Supplementary?

SUPPLEMENTARY

Hon. Michael Fahy: Thank you.

And with that in mind, the last Integrated Resource Plan was 2019. A new one is supposed to be published at least every five years. Can the Honourable Minister advise when the Integrated Resource Plan is updated and will be published in final form?

The Speaker: Minister.

Hon. Alexa Lightbourne: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Ministry and the Department of Energy have full confidence in the Regulatory Authority to do its function. As you would know, operationally there is a separation to safeguard its successes and its regulation. And so, I have full confidence that they will be doing the necessary checks to ensure that we are able to publish a new IRP, or the proposed IRP will be confirmed in short order.

The Speaker: Thank you.

Supplementary or second question?

QUESTION 2: CARIBBEAN RENEWABLE ENERGY FORUM (CREF) 2025: BERMUDA'S PARTICIPATION

Hon. Michael Fahy: Second question. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Speaker, if the Honourable Minister could provide a breakdown of attendees and costs for attending the CREF conference, please?

The Speaker: Thank you.
Minister.

Hon. Alexa Lightbourne: Sure. At the time in which ministerial travel is published, I will send you a personal note to make sure that it is done. So, thank you.

The Speaker: Supplementary? Third question?

SUPPLEMENTARY

Hon. Michael Fahy: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. Supplementary.

I would like to ensure as well that it is not just the ministerial travel, but also [information on those] accompanying the Minister. Thank you, Minister. Can I ask, Who appeared with the Minister at that conference?

The Speaker: Minister.

Hon. Alexa Lightbourne: There was a full complement of Bermuda's energy sector, to include the Regulatory Authority and its representation. And representatives, Ministers present would be myself and members of the Department of Energy, as well as—

[Timer chimes]

The Speaker: Minister, the clock has run out on us at that.

So, Members, we thank you for your participation this morning in the Question Period.

Deputy [Premier], would you like to rise and have us break until 2:00?

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Yes, Mr. Speaker. I do ask that we now adjourn for lunch and return at two o'clock.

The Speaker: At 2:00 pm.

Thank you, Members.

Members, the House now stands adjourn until 2:00 pm.

[Gavel]

Proceedings suspended at 12:37 pm

Proceedings resumed at 2:00 pm

[Hon. Dennis P. Lister, Jr., Speaker, in the Chair]

The Speaker: Members, I trust everyone had a nice break from here. Now we are going to resume this afternoon's business.

This morning, we ended on the question period, which means the next thing on the Order [Paper] is the congratulatory and obituary speeches. So let me just open the House.

[Gavel]

The Speaker: The House now stands open.

Does any Member wish to make a contribution at this time under congratulatory and obituary remarks?

Mr. Premier.

CONGRATULATORY AND/OR OBITUARY SPEECHES

Hon. E. David Burt: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Thank you.

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, as expressed last week in this Honourable House, I rise to ask that this House express condolences to you, Mr. Speaker, to the Member for constituency 28 and to your family on the passing of your beloved wife Ms. Miranda Lister.

I know that there will be many things that [will be] said, Mr. Speaker. The one thing that I do know, Mr. Speaker, is that she was kind and generous at all times. I do know that your family has asked that donations be made to the Miranda Lister Education Scholarship at the Bermuda Institute and I can confirm that the Bermuda Progressive Labour Party will be making such a donation. And so, Mr. Speaker, on behalf of this Honourable House we offer our collective sympathies to you and to your entire family. And I know that her legacy will continue, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Thank you.

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Speaker, I would also certainly like to extend condolences to the families who experienced loss in the tragic events of last week Tuesday . . . oh, sorry, last week, Thursday.

One of the victims was the daughter of one of my constituents and one of the most difficult things that we do in this line of work is console those persons who have lost their families to gun violence. And so, Mr. Speaker, I wish to extend my condolences to Mr. Lloyd Smith. I also can extend my condolences to Silita as well on the passing of her beloved daughter and to the entire family, Mr. Speaker.

I would also, Mr. Speaker, like to extend condolences to the family of Mr. Shaquan Williams as well, and I am certain, Mr. Speaker, that many Members will also wish to be associated with those particular remarks.

Mr. Speaker, at this same point in time, there are others who are close to our PLP family who have experienced loss in recent times, Mr. Speaker. First, I would like to extend or ask the House to send a letter of condolences to the family of the late Eugene A. Simmons who was the devoted father of the Senator Lindsey Simmons, who sits in another place, who has lost her father.

I would also like to ask, Mr. Speaker, that this House do extend condolences to the family of the late Fay Hayward, who is the mother of Senator Lauren Hayward Bell, who sits in the other place as well, and who lost her mother last week as well, Mr. Speaker. And I would certainly ask that Members be associated with those remarks. But I am certain that those persons will give their comments.

Finally, Mr. Speaker, inside sticking with the PLP family, I would also like to ask the Honourable House to send a letter of condolences to the family of the late Alexander “Happy” Abbott, who is the father of Mr. Alexander Abbott, who is the deputy chair of our party, but also (as the Deputy Premier reminded me) a well-known and well-loved individual who unfortunately passed away very suddenly last week.

And in closing, Mr. Speaker, on behalf of the Government, I would like to extend congratulations to the outstanding teen of the year—

[Timer chimes]

Hon. E. David Burt: —who was honoured at the Outstanding Teen Awards, Mr. Speaker, thank you—Miss Esi Naylor.

The Speaker: Thank you, Mr. Premier.

Mr. Opposition Leader, you have your three minutes.

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

I do not mean to belabour the point, but I do [wish] to express the Opposition's condolences on the passing your wife and most especially we are very mindful of her legacy. For those of us who also went to the Bermuda Institute we have fond memories. I just would also remark the homegoing service was very beautiful and especially your youngest son's presentation was very heartwarming.

Mr. Speaker, I also rise to give my condolences to the families of the victims of the shooting in Somerset and the entire Somerset community. It is a very, very tight community and having already suffered loss . . . to suffer further must be quite significant. And I pray for their consolation.

Mr. Speaker, I also [send] condolences to the family of Mr. “Chuckie” Berg, a constituent of mine, who through his quiet charity has made substantial contributions to the benefit of our community. One of those was to the Bermuda Sloop Foundation and the Spirit of Bermuda ship, which, as we are all aware, does incredible work in the community to educate young persons and give them incredible opportunities to advance their life. So, with that being said, for all of these I give my condolences.

Thank you for this time, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Thank you, Mr. Opposition Leader.

MP . . . Deputy Speaker. Deputy Speaker, you have your three minutes.

Ms. Lovitta F. Foggo: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

First of all, I would like to be associated with the remarks of condolences to both Senators, Lauren Hayward Bell as well as Lindsay Simmons during this time of their loss.

I would like to express congratulatory remarks in general for all young people who took part in the agricultural exhibition events and received prizes. But in particular, I will speak to those students from Saint David's Primary and East End Primary and congratulate them. I will associate the whole House with that because we are proud of our young ones. We really are.

Mr. Speaker, finally, I would like to extend personal condolences to you and to the Lister family and to the Member from constituency 28. Indeed, as has been stated, your wife was a lady of excellence, par excellence. She was an outstanding person in the community. She gave much in terms of education as well as to this House when she worked with the Youth Parliament. And I can attest to the fact that I saw the product of her tuition during her time with Youth Parliament.

I would also like to say there are many who do not realise her entrepreneurial acumen and she is well known by those of us who partook of her peanut butter—she sold the best peanut butter in Bermuda. And I do want to say this, Mr. Speaker, I will be holding your sons to account because they cannot let that die. And you know that I will talk about Russell, in particular, and be more than willing to help him to achieve what his mother mastered. And so, condolences for you and your family, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Thank you.

Junior Minister Furbert, you have your three minutes

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Mr. Speaker, on behalf of my family, of course, I would like to express our condolence to you and your family, particularly because you are not only the Speaker of the House, and also Dennis Lister Junior III, who is in this Honourable House, we express our condolence to you.

Mr. Speaker it was [an] interesting comment from one of the speakers at the service and the scripture that they used was in Proverbs 31:10. It says, “Who can find a virtuous woman? For her price is far above rubies.”

Mr. Speaker, you found that in Miranda Lister. A virtuous woman uplifts others with grace, leads her family with wisdom and walks through life with quiet strength and unwavering faith. She is clothed in dignity, speaks with kindness and leaves behind a legacy that transcends generations.

Mr. Speaker, Miranda (as far as I know) was by every measure such a woman. Her presence brought light. Her character radiated strength, and her love offered comfort. The lives she touched were immediately richer and the values she lived by continue to guide and inspire all who knew her. Mr. Speaker, may her memory forever be a blessing and may we each strive to carry forward the legacy of integrity, love and unwavering faith that she so beautifully emboldened.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Thank you, Junior Minister.

Does any other Member wish to make a comment? Minister Darrell, you have your three minutes.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today to send condolences to the family of Ms. Idabelle Simmons, who sadly passed away recently. She was a constituent of MP Ben Smith in constituency 8. And I met her during my campaign in the 2020 election. Her daughter is Ms. Zolita Smith who has been one of my greatest supporters since 2020, and as I learned at Ms. Simmons' funeral, she was a stalwart of the Vernon Temple AME Church. So may she rest in peace.

Also, condolences to the family of Ms. Cynthia Brangman. She is a constituent of constituency 15, and I think the Premier would like to be associated with these condolences as he is close to her daughter. She was from Band Room Lane, Mr. Speaker, and her daughters are Raynelle and Cher-Ann Brangman. Also, although I never met Ms. Brangman, those who do work in my office share fond memories of her. Their very first kindergarten experience—as she was a teacher at the historic kids' college over there at New Testament, and she has had many family ties with many people throughout the years.

Also, I would like to send condolences to the family of Mr. Daamian Simmons. He was a young chef who many people did know. I would like to associate the Premier and I think Minister Lightbourne with this one as well. I met him years ago when he was working at the Coco Reef Hotel. Many people in this community were very proud of the work that he was doing. He was known through COVID-19 through his very popular pop-up outdoor brunches. And his grandmother, Ms. Sylvia Edwards, is a constituent of Pembroke East, constituency 15.

Also, lastly on the condolences, Mr. Speaker, I would like to send condolences to the family of Mr. Robert "Butch" Taylor. He was one of my constituents from Dock Hill. Condolences to his wife Suzanne, his children Tanika, Tanaya, Takia and his son Taurianno. And I was able to greet the family during their time of bereavement. So that is the obits, Mr. Speaker.

On a brighter note, I would like to express my congratulations once again to CARIFTA athletes that participated in this year's games, especially those that returned to Bermuda with medals: Mr. Cameron Adkins, a silver medal in the 1500 metres. Mr. Thomas Cechini, who won three bronze medals in swimming and Miss Tatiana Sousa, who won a silver medal in javelin.

And finally, Mr. Speaker, I probably should have said this one before yesterday, but I would like to send congratulations nonetheless to Mr. Nahki Wells. For the second time in his illustrious footballing career in England, he has guided his team to the championship playoff. Although the result last night did not go as all of us would have liked, I hope he can pull out a victory in the second leg and I hope that this time will be as successful as the first.

Thank you, Mr. speaker.

[Timer chimes]

The Speaker: Thank you.

Minister Hayward, you have your three minutes, sir.

Hon. Jason Hayward: Good afternoon, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Speaker, I want to echo the condolences to yourself and your family, [Junior] Minister Lister . . . I will leave it there. I echo in the sentiments of condolences.

Mr. Speaker, it is unfortunate that I have to rise to my feet and give congratulations on this particular matter, but I will do so with great pride. I want to give congratulations to the North Village community club for winning both the FA and the league cups this year.

[Laughter and inaudible interjections]

Hon. Jason Hayward: Mr. Speaker, I want to send congratulations to the president of the Club, Shervin Dill and the vice president of the club, Ralph "Gumbo" Bean, Jr. They did an excellent job, not just with the senior team but also with the youth programmes within the clubs. They were successful at under-18 levels. They were successful at the under-15 levels. They were successful at the under-13 level, and they were successful in the under-11 level this season, winning trophies in each and every one of those categories. And so, I am hearing that the whole house wants to join in—

[Laughter]

Hon. Jason Hayward: —in ensuring that the North Village community club receives a letter on behalf of this Honourable House regarding their success this season.

[Inaudible interjections]

The Speaker: Thank you.

Deputy Premier, you have your three minutes.

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. He sounds like he was talking about the Somerset Trojans of old for a minute there.

But, Mr. Speaker, I would like to start by congratulating Vernon Temple Church for celebrating 99 years last week.

I would also, Mr. Speaker, like to congratulate a young man by the name of Jayden Smith. He was recently appointed as Head Boy at Warwick Academy.

He received a distinction in business. He is also the top goal scorer for the under-18s at Vasco da Gama. This young man . . . oh, I have to declare my interest. This young man that just happens to be my great-nephew. So, he is very smart, very athletic, and I think he is going to go a long, long way. His very good friend, some might say girlfriend, also at Warwick Academy, Miss Chloe Saunders is also the Head Girl. So, they make a pretty good couple.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I would like to associate myself with the beautiful remarks about your wife.

An Hon. Member: Yes.

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: You can say nothing but great, beautiful things about her.

Mr. Speaker, you will know, I do not know if you noticed it or not, but it was one of the biggest funerals I have been to in recent times. I mean, it was . . . there was not even standing room in the place. And what an experience and what a testament to the great lady that she was. And of course, the beautiful part about the service was Russell. He was fantastic—surely came out of his shell and it was a pleasure to witness.

Mr. Speaker, it was a week of heavy losses for our party. And of course, I associate myself with the condolences for the families who lost two loved ones. We had a very well attended vigil last night. I think I saw you there, Mr. Speaker, which was very good to see.

Also, the families of Lindsay Simmons, our Senator [and] our Senator Lauren Bell. My good friend Dean Alexander Abbott. We used to (what we say) run together when we were teenagers, so that was a shock to not only me, but of course to his family. So, my sincere condolences go out to all.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Thank you, Deputy.

Does any other . . . MP Whip? Would you like to have your three minutes?

Mr. Neville S. Tyrrell: Thank you very much, Mr. Speaker, and good afternoon, colleagues.

Mr. Speaker, I also wish to be associated with the condolences sent on the loss of two of my favourite Senators' mother and father, and I send it to them and their family as well. But I personally want to also give you, Mr. Speaker, the condolences of my family on the passing of your wife. And that also goes to MP "D3" as well. Your wife certainly was a light to certain members of my family, and we will always appreciate it. So again, my condolences as well.

On a brighter note, Mr. Speaker, I would ask that congratulations be sent to a very good friend of mine. He received a [Department of] Sport and Recreation Special Achievement Award for football and that is the one and only David Sabir.

[Desk thumping]

Mr. Neville S. Tyrrell: David is what I would certainly describe as the second longest serving General Secretary in the Concacaf and CFU region and he has served several . . . a long line of presidents. He certainly has served us well and I say us because David was hired by the Bermuda Football Association when I was actually on the Council at that time, in 1993. I was on the panel that interviewed him and at that time it was the BFA admin assistant job that we were filling on the loss of Eugene Pearman. And since the reform of the role of admin assistants in football, David has graduated to General Secretary. He, as I said, has had the distinction of serving at least six presidents (and I include myself in that six) and he has a wealth of knowledge in the beautiful game.

He is sought out for counsel on the constitution of football around the world. David is known worldwide, and I would think David even has the capability of moving up a step higher in the ranks of football and FIFA as well. I certainly look forward to seeing that happening. So, I certainly ask that some sort of letter of congratulations be sent to him because it is well deserved.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Thank you, Mr. Whip.
MP Simmons.

Mr. Scott Simmons: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. My apologies, my microphone. There we go.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker, and good morning and morning colleagues or good afternoon. I wish to start first by where the Honourable Member left off and that is to thank Mr. David Sabir and to congratulate him on that and for his contribution given to our community of sport here in Bermuda.

Mr. Speaker, I also would like to be associated with what took place last night, which was the vigil at Manchester Street in Somerset. I believe that every single Member of this House recognises the hour and that we must all come together to work in community so that we are able to, at least at the very minimum, prevent this from occurring. So, this is bipartisan. It is something that we all see in this House as being important. And I would like to especially send out our best wishes to Mr. Kenny "Yogi" Simmons and his wife, Carmelita Williams for a wonderful event last night and those who participated and those to whom which we celebrated and also remembered and prayed for at this time.

Also, Mr. Speaker, if you do not mind, on a personal note, I would just like to extend to you my personal condolences on behalf of me and my daughter Isabela. And I would also recognise that I have known your wife for a very long time, and she knew me for a long time and in the Seventh Day Adventist community, firstly through Bermuda Institute and then as it relates to our church family, she is someone who will not easily and not soon be forgotten. She made an impact. She certainly made an impact on each and every one of us. She will be sorely missed, and it is a testament to the life that she lived, to the family that she reared, to those great boys that she has: by your fruits, you shall know them. And certainly, Mr. Speaker, to the service that she provided, not just to her family, to church and also to you. So, we celebrate you, we celebrate your family, and we certainly remember you in our prayers today.

I thought it was a wonderful service. I thought it was an appropriate service in recognition of the life that she lived. May she, Mr. Speaker, rest in peace.

Thank you.

The Speaker: Thank you, MP.

Does any other Member . . . MP Swan.

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: Yes, thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Speaker, I would certainly like to be associated with those condolences offered to your family, ably put by the immediate past speaker, MP Simmons. I had the privilege of actually travelling with you and your wife to Africa on a CPA [Commonwealth Parliamentary Association] conference. Those tend to be most memorable. And the photos [allow us] to reflect and bring back great memories of interaction on a different level that we truly appreciate. To you and your sons our deepest condolences go out from not only from me, but also from my family who are somewhat intertwined with yours as well.

I would like to send condolences to the Williams and Gibbons family of St. George's and associate my St. George's colleagues with that from [constituency] 1 and [constituency] 3 in particular. Sinclair Williams has passed away this past week, and his nephew Kieshan Gibbons passed away in the UK a couple of months ago. But Sinclair was told by former Deputy Premier that he was an executive member of the Progressive Labour Party as secretary at one particular time—probably around 2007. And I would like to associate the whole House with those condolences there.

And I will be writing something about Sinclair, an outstanding man who I have had the pleasure of knowing both as a political opponent and political colleague but always a friend. His nephew Kieshan passed away in England and his family had to go and get him. He used to work for me at the golf club at another time, Mr. Speaker, so I am very close to that family. My condolences go out to them.

And certainly, I [wish to be] associated with those condolences to Senators Simmons and Bell on their loss as well.

I would like to congratulate the Bermuda Volleyball Association on the success, the silver medallist winning of beach volleyball, Megan Hands, Hailey Moss and the men's team of Benjamin Barnett and Sean Tucker. They did us proud.

I would like the Littman family who visited Bermuda to celebrate their 30th anniversary . . . they have been spending for more than 40 years in Bermuda. I was happy to join them for dinner. It is always nice when our returns come back to celebrate those milestones.

And finally, Mr. Willet "Bill" Anderson from Southampton, my uncle, who was made a life member of the Blue Water Anglers Club. He joined there in 1958 on the urging of Mr. Reid Johansen, who went up and down the Island and got all the game fishermen to join that wonderful club.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Thank you, MP Swan.

Does any other Member wish their three minutes?

MP Tucker.

Ms. Robin Tucker: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. Good afternoon.

The Speaker: Good afternoon.

Ms. Robin Tucker: I would like to also associate myself with the comments made by everyone in here today, particularly as it relates to you and to your family.

The Speaker: Thank you.

Ms. Robin Tucker: I also attended the service. It was absolutely beautiful. I would want, in particular, to join my comments to what MP Simmons said. And what he said was absolutely spot on. I did not have the privilege that most people in this room and others who would be listening had, in terms of the interactions with your wife. What I did [have], though, was [being] able to see the two of you out and about, you know. [And I] would basically have just sort of like a "hello" sort of greeting and that type of thing. Every interaction that I have had with her, she just exemplified warmth and kindness, and so I was very much able to relate to what everyone else said about her.

And I think that one of the really beautiful things, listening to all the comments that were made by everyone, is that she made an indelible mark on every person that has had the privilege of actually knowing her. And that is a really big deal. And again, a testament to the life that she led.

The Speaker: Yes.

Ms. Robin Tucker: I would also like to associate myself with the condolences extended to Senator Lindsey Simmons on the passing of her father and to Senator Lauren Hayward Bell on the passing of her mom. And also, I would like to extend condolences to Silita and to Lloyd and Mr. and Mrs. Trott on the passing of Jasmin Smith and also to the family of Mr. Eugene Brangman of Somerset. I have never met him, but he was such a colourful character. Whenever I would go into Somerset I would pass his house, I would look for any updates and all of that that he had written on the walls. Right? I mean, definitely a very colourful character and who will obviously be very much missed in the community.

And then also I would like to associate with the condolences expressed for Ms. Cynthia Brangman, who I knew. She was an ex-boyfriend's auntie, so I knew her quite well.

[Laughter]

Ms. Robin Tucker: So again, condolences to them and as well as the—

[Laughter]

Ms. Robin Tucker: —all of the families . . . there are a lot of families who are grieving right now. And so, I just want to take this opportunity to express condolences to all the families that are grieving the loss of a loved one today.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Thank you very much.

MP DeCouto.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

First of all, I wish to be associated with the numerous condolences to you and your family, particularly the comments by MP De Silva and MP Simons who have said it as well as I could ever hope to say it.

I also wish to associate myself with the condolences to those who lost loved ones in Somerset. And again, it has been said.

I also associate myself with the condolences to the family of Eugene Brangman. I think we can agree Bermuda has enjoyed his creative and inspiring messages, and I would especially like to extend my condolences to his son, Michael.

On a lighter note, I would like to congratulate Bermudian artist Graham Foster. His piece, The Wreck of the Sea Venture, has been put on display at the Hampton Court Palace in the UK, part of an exhibit of highlights from the Royal Collection. Mr. Foster is a very unique and talented Bermudian artist who has a deep passion and commitment to his art. And many of you probably know he did the piece, the mural Hall of History at the National Museum of Bermuda, and anyone who has a chance to go up there and experience that would have no question as to the particularly deep commitment he brings to his art.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: You are welcome, sir.

Does any other Member wish to make a contribution?

MP Robinson, you have your three minutes.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. And also, I would like to associate myself with the condolences to your family as I have longstanding roots in Somerset. My grandparents spoke very highly of Mrs. Lister and yourself. So, I just wanted to be associated with that. The service was very phenomenal, well attended and I learned a couple of things that I did not know.

[Laughter]

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: So, you know I send strength to you and your family during this difficult time.

I would also like to associate myself with the condolences given for the loss of life in Somerset as well, as this has rocked the community and a lot of folks in Somerset are feeling the loss of such a devastating act. So, I believe that unites us all (as one of the speakers earlier said) in our fight to curb this violence.

On a lighter note, I would like to congratulate one of my constituents, Jasmin Simons, who is having a grand opening today at 6:00 PM for her art exhibit, The Canvas is Black [Vol. 2]. I wanted to bring this up because I feel like the collaboration of artists is very key to our culture, and she is bringing together over 22 artists. I encourage my colleagues if they have time since we are probably not going to be going home any time soon tonight, if they could pop out and go . . . I will say there is a $10 entry fee. It is at 95 Front Street, so I do not want anybody to say I sent them there and they did not know they had to pay. So, 95 Front Street at Karma Nightclub at 6:00 PM.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Thank you.

MP Dill. You have your three minutes.

Rev. Dr. Emilygail A. Dill: Thank you. Mr. Speaker.

I want to join with my colleagues, first of all, in expressing condolences to you and your entire family. Your son who sits in this Chamber and certainly . . . your wife, she was . . . I was one of her first students. I can remember her coming home from college and just the encourager that she has been over the years. And she was a woman of great faith who set such a wonderful example, and we will deeply, deeply miss her.

I would also like to associate myself with the condolences that were offered for Ms. Cynthia Brangman, in particular to her daughter Cher-Ann who serves as the head of the Somerset Brigade Band. Ms. Brangman was also a woman who was a great encourager and an inspiration over the years who will be deeply missed.

I would like to also offer condolences to the family of Mr. Brunell Swan. Brunell came from the Somerset community and was a wonderful young man. At his homegoing his colleagues . . . he worked at the Supermart in Somerset. And the comment that was made about him was that it would take four individuals to replace him. That is the tremendous work ethic that he had and one that certainly can be replicated in our community today.

I would also like to associate myself with the condolences to Mrs. Idabelle Simmons, in particular to her daughter Zoleta who is a dear friend of mine. Ms. Idabelle was the [Godmother] to my husband and so we certainly offer condolences to all of them.

To the two Senators as well . . . I would like to offer condolences to them.

I would also like to offer condolences to the family of Eugene Brangman and the families of the individuals that were lost in the shooting last week and the Somerset family and just the commitment to them that we will come forth from this stronger than before, committed to turning around the situation in our community, wrapping our arms around these individuals that feel so hopeless that they believe shooting is the only way forward.

So, thank you, Mr. Speaker. Last but not least, I want to congratulate my wonderful constituents in constituency 36 for the Eggstravaganza.

Thank you.

[Timer chimes]

The Speaker: Thank you, MP.

Does any other Member wish to make a contribution?

Minister Furbert.

Hon. Tinee Furbert: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Speaker, I also want to take the opportunity to associate myself with the condolence remarks that have already been made, particularly to you [on the loss of your] wife, Mr. Speaker. Sincerest condolences to you and your son and your families. Your wife, I mean, we used to share short conversations, but she has always been around and available and community oriented and I know when I had the opportunity to visit schools when she was subbing that she is a very passionate and dedicated teacher and really cared and had a great understanding of her students.

I also want to be associated with the condolences for Mr. Eugene Brangman. Mr. Brangman often used to visit this House, and I have many of the letters in my office from Mr. Brangman, where he was explaining some situation to me. And you know he is going to be a great miss, particularly during the times when the Ministry of Health has their Senior Sports Day where he would participate in the running events there. And so Mr. Brangman, definitely a spirited person, will be greatly missed in the fabric of our community.

I want to also take the opportunity to give condolences to our Senators Lauren Bell and Lindsey Simmons who are heartbroken and devastated with their recent losses and we just want you to know that we love you and we are thinking about you and to continue to find your strength in God and the Holy Trinity.

Mr. Speaker, I want to also take the opportunity to give condolences to the family of Mr. Alexander Douglas "Timmy" from Harlem Heights in Hamilton Parish who recently passed. Just wanting to again hold that family up in prayer.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Thank you, Minister.

Does any other Member wish to make a contribution?

MP Lister.

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Good afternoon, Mr. Speaker. Good afternoon to the listening audience and those honourable colleagues.

Mr. Speaker, first I would like to also associate myself with the condolences given to both Senator Lindsey Simmons and Senator Lauren Bell. I now know what it is like to lose a parent, and I offer them encouragement and strength going forward.

Also, I would like to be associated with the condolences to the families of the victims in the shooting last week, Mr. Speaker. I personally knew one of those victims and Somerset is a community tight knit and when one hurts, we all hurt. And so, for those families, we offer condolences. But for the wider community, we have to come together, and we have to . . . they say Unity in the Community. We need to come together—and not just the community of Somerset, but the Island of Bermuda—to stamp out this uncalled for, unnecessary violence that is happening.

Also, I would like to associate, Mr. Speaker, condolences for the unofficial mayor of Somerset, Mr. Eugene Brangman. Anyone that lives in Somerset knows that when you hit the bottom of Sound View and main road, Somerset, and you hit that corner, you look out for what he has written on his wall, painted on his wall that day. Whether it be something funny. Something that he puts out that might not be funny, but to him it might be funny. But you look forward to that. And as said, he was a person that, as a Somerset person, you see him around in the garden, also at Somerset Cricket Club. He was a passionate Somerset community member. And so, the community of Somerset will be feeling his loss. But we offer condolences to his family and to his daughters and his son, which I know, condolences to them.

And, Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the rest of the colleagues for offering condolences on behalf of them to my mother, your wife. Mr. Speaker, so much I can say, but I only have a minute left.

Mr. Speaker, I attended the funeral. And growing up my brothers and I always joked my mom knows so many people. She taught so many people all of this but—

[Inaudible interjections]

Mr. Dennis Lister III: But attending her funeral—

[Inaudible interjections]

Mr. Dennis Lister III: —attending her funeral, you know, for us as her sons it brought to us . . . there was, I think someone said over 900 people at the funeral.

And, Mr. Speaker, it shows the impact that she had as a teacher, Youth Parliament, in the church, in the community. Wherever she went. And I think for us as her sons and even you, we just have to know that is the legacy she left and we just have to continue on and . . . we might not be teachers, but we just have to continue on what she left in us to carry that legacy.

And so, I thank the House for the comments, Mr. Speaker. And, last but not least, this is Mother's Day this weekend and it will be the first that I will be—

[Timer chimes]

Mr. Dennis Lister III: —not having a mother. But I just want to wish Happy Mother's Day to all mothers out there, Mr. Speaker. Thank you.

The Speaker: Thank you. Thank you, MP.

[Desk thumping]

The Speaker: Does any other Member wish to make a comment?

No other Member?

Before we move on, my son has done a good job with thanking everyone just now. And I have to add my thanks to that—not only to those in this House, but to this entire Community—because there has not been a place that I have been able to go since where I see . . . I see . . . I see you there, Deputy . . . Where people are doing what the Deputy is doing with me: shedding a tear. Shedding the tears. It has been difficult.

It has been extremely difficult. But it just speaks to the love that she brought to this community, not only in this immediate family, but Island wide, because everywhere in this Island I have gone people have touched me in that way. And the size of the funeral . . . not only the funeral, but even the viewing the night before. It was just remarkable. The numbers of people that showed up on each of those occasions, spoke to the love that she has shared in this community. And we always spoke about the journey that she and I had over the 46 years that we were together.

The journey was never about the destinations, but it was about the people who touched our lives and allowed us to touch their lives and if she could have impacted the people, the impact of her touching those lives and those lives touching us was definitely demonstrated in the outpouring that we received from the community, not only in Bermuda, but worldwide. I have just been impressed by people around the world who have phoned, who have sent words of condolences or cards, et cetera, et cetera. She left her mark everywhere she went. And if there is anything that we can take from that is that we are here to touch others. That is what we are here for.

As we walk and move about each day, wherever our walk takes us, we should try and leave a positive trail behind us with those who we have touched during that day. And if we live our lives like that every day, it would be fulfilling the meaning of why we are here.

We are here not just for ourselves, but to encourage those around us. And it is all walks of life, all persuasions of life. Because her . . . our journey took us to all those different places. I was telling someone earlier: in our travels we have sat on dirt floors and ate with people. We have sat across the table with royalty and ate with them. But in whatever setting it was, she was as comfortable no matter where it was. And she made people who she sat across the table from feel like they were a long-lost friend, and she was there to just uplift them, no matter what their circumstance was.

So, I am deeply, deeply saddened. My heart is extremely broken. But I am rejoicing in the life that she lived and the impact that she has had on others. And I am rejoicing in the fact that she walked a faithful life for her entire 46 years that I knew her. She was faithful to her God. And I know where she is going to be on that great gettin'-up day.

So, I rejoice in that.

I rejoice in that.

And I am going to close on this note. I am going to close on this note that what we all experienced this past weekend from her viewing on the Saturday evening, from the funeral on Sunday and the programme that you held in your hand. My three sons did that. When their mother died, they said this is our mother, the only mother that we have, and we are going to make sure she is recognised the way that we want to honour our mother.

And I salute them. And I am sure that their mother would be extremely proud if she had been there to experience what her sons did for her. So, I thank you, Dennis. I thank you, Russell. I thank you, Randall, for what you boys did for your mother. And you are always deep in my heart for that.

Thank you for allowing me those few words and we will now move on.

MATTERS OF PRIVILEGE

The Speaker: There are none.

PERSONAL EXPLANATIONS

The Speaker: There are none.

NOTICE OF MOTIONS FOR THE ADJOURNMENT OF THE HOUSE ON MATTERS OF URGENT PUBLIC IMPORTANCE

The Speaker: There are none.

INTRODUCTION OF BILLS

The Speaker: There is one Government Bill to be introduced. Premier . . . oh, Minister of Labour. I am sorry.

BILL

FIRST READING

DEPARTMENT OF LABOUR ACT 2025

Hon. Jason Hayward: Mr. Speaker, I am introducing the following Bill for its first reading so that it may be placed on the Order Paper for the next day of meeting: the Department of Labour Act 2025.

The Speaker: Thank you.
There are no other Bills.

NOTICE OF MOTIONS

The Speaker: There are no notices of motions.

ORDERS OF THE DAY

The Speaker: Members in the Chamber and the listening audience, we are here today for the Reply to the Budget Statement. And as we have the technician sorting things out for us, once we get the okay . . . we will now start that matter. The Premier will lead us into that matter and then the Opposition Shadow Finance spokesman will present the Opposition's Reply to last week's Budget Statement.

Mr. Premier.

MOTION

ESTIMATES OF REVENUE AND EXPENDITURE FOR THE YEAR 2025/26 BE APPROVED

Hon. E. David Burt: Thank you very much, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Speaker, I move that the Estimates for Revenue and Expenditure for the year 2025/26 be approved, Mr. Speaker. And of course, my recital says you may wish to make a few brief remarks or wait until the conclusion of debate to do your reply. All I will say is, Mr. Speaker, is that we kick off this budget debate in a new time. A time where the country can look forward to increasing revenues and a better economy and I sincerely hope that our debate over the next three weeks will be worthy of the people of whom we serve. I hope that we can make sure that we stick to fact, and I hope that we can have a bipartisan, and full and frank discussions on how best to advance the economic interests of the people we serve.

So, with that, Mr. Speaker, I move that the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure be approved.

The Speaker: Thank you.
Any objection? None.

Hon. Jason Hayward: Mr. Speaker, I am just rising on a point of order on a procedural matter to see if I can obtain clarification from yourself.

The Speaker: Go ahead.

Hon. Jason Hayward: We often listen to the Budget replies, and sometimes they are filled with factual inaccuracies. It has been customary that Members do not rise and provide points of order during this period of time. And I am just asking for clarity on whether or not, if persons do intentionally or unintentionally mislead the House, points of order will be accepted during this time.

The Speaker: Well, you did say that it is customary that we allow it to flow without interruption, and I will stick to custom on this occasion.

But I will ask any Member who feels that there is a clarification or correction or inaccuracy that needs to be cleared up, to feel free to do it when you have the occasion to rise on your feet. Okay? On your turn to speak.

With that, we will call on the Shadow Minister [of Finance].

OPPOSITION'S REPLY TO THE BUDGET STATEMENT 2024/25

EMPOWERING THE BERMUDIAN DREAM

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. Good afternoon and good afternoon to the listening audience.

Today it is my privilege to present the Opposition's Reply to the Budget, with the theme "Empowering the Bermudian Dream." We will provide an overview of global and local economic conditions that affect us here in Bermuda, lay out our views on how the Government proposes to spend the people's money, and contrast the Progressive Labour Party's approach with the One Bermuda Alliance approach—that would be focused on empowering Bermudians, so they can dare to dream of a future in Bermuda. We will provide a vision for why Bermudians, especially our younger generations, should want to stay here and return here. Contrast that to the Government, which disenfranchised our up-and-coming generation of students at the recent election.

Mr. Speaker, in summary, while the Government claims to be focused on creating "fairness" for the people of Bermuda, its policies and actions have been ones of economic control and financial shell games. We know that there are many in Bermuda who need help and a hand up. And, like almost all societies, our society can and must be fairer for all.

The Opposition agrees, there have been some Government initiatives that helped many in need, and we have taken care to note and support those, both in this House and in the public. But this current Government has presided over an unprecedented shrinking of Bermuda's population and the associated long stagnation of the local economy that most Bermudians live and work in—even after accounting for the effects of COVID-19. This has meaningfully decreased fairness across the Island.

Mr. Speaker, while the current Government has spoken of many plans, strategies, and initiatives, with the exception of a few bright sparks, the favourable economic impacts on our local economy and finances have been lacklustre for everyday Bermudians. The blame must be laid squarely at the feet of the Progressive Labour Party Government and its failed policies. Many Government actions seem to benefit special interests, party insiders, and those otherwise connected to the Government party.

And, this Government has repeatedly refused to meaningfully engage with and address what has been and will remain our biggest challenge of these decades: a shrinking and emigrating population. This Government has failed to make a case for Bermuda's future.

1. Introduction

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Mr. Speaker, this Government has failed to convince the next generations that Bermuda is a country for them. And that is because the Progressive Labour Party Government's vision for the future extends no further than the most recent election. This Government would rather preside over the decline and fall of Bermuda than take the actions required to see Bermuda rise.

A One Bermuda Alliance Government will make Bermuda rise again, by taking immediate action to address issues like . . . listen in . . . the shrinking population and lack of growth in the local economy. Our goal is to make Bermuda an attractive destination, for visitors, local and foreign investors, and most importantly, Bermudians. We are competing with other jurisdictions not just for business and investment, but for our own people.

Mr. Speaker, we fully acknowledge and support the role of Government to provide a critical social safety net, but we consider that to be a minimum requirement from Government. We know most Bermudians who are able would prefer the opportunity to have a good job, or start a business, or otherwise apply their energy and creativity to take control of their future. The One Bermuda Alliance would set the conditions to empower Bermudians to achieve their dreams, and create an environment of growth, optimism, and possibility. Government can provide a launching pad for success, not just a safety net.

We would do that by creating clarity, consistency, and predictability in Government policies and operations. By not competing with businesses or intruding into their financial affairs, so they are more likely to invest, hire and grow. By being responsive to and working with Bermuda's stakeholders in various sectors. By providing appropriate support via legislation, marketing, and where appropriate, financial support. By not ignoring our own home-grown experts. By judiciously managing our Island's finances to care for our people, Mr. Speaker. Not just today, or tomorrow, but for the long-term future of our people and our children.

And most importantly, by looking forward, and running the race in front of us

2. Global Economy

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Mr. Speaker, Bermuda's economy exists as part of a bigger global picture and is impacted by trends around the world. Of course, thanks to the unprecedented policies and activities over the recent months of our largest trading partner and neighbour to the west, the United States, forecasts and predictions are particularly difficult right now.

The various Trump policies on tariffs, shipping fees and other changes to international relationships and agreements have seriously disrupted the way the world has been working, Mr. Speaker.

These changes have introduced volatility and uncertainty to economies, businesses and supply chains around the world. At this point many countries and businesses are rethinking their trading relationships, their supply chains, and when, where, how or even if to invest. And while some might argue that the Trump phenomenon will be short-lived, the impacts will not be. The changes that countries and companies make over the next few years will likely stay in place as organisations and countries seek to insulate themselves from any future volatility.

In fact, Mr. Speaker, the world has reached a watershed moment. A decade-long period of stability anchored by stable US-backed international rules with a historically low rate of global conflicts is coming to an end. To some, this moment looks like the 1930s, which led into World War II, or the late 1800s around the American Civil War. Many parts of the world are moving back to a transactional and zero-sum approach, focusing only on themselves.

Mr. Speaker, as the global political system becomes more fragmented, companies and countries are focusing on safety and security rather than efficiency. This in turn leads to duplications in the global economy, adding delays and costs everywhere in the global economy. What does that mean for Bermuda?

First, tariffs and shipping fees will increase the costs of goods in the United States. This will impact Bermuda, since we look mainly to the US for our goods, increasing our cost of living. Even if tariffs are not as high as originally projected, and Bermuda companies identify alternate supply chains, sorting this out will take time and add cost.

Secondly, Mr. Speaker, we can expect an economic slowdown in the United States, and we are already seeing signs of it. As you know, if the US economy sneezes, the Bermuda economy catches a cold and continues to remain ill long after the US has recovered.

Thirdly, financing costs are now rising around the world on the back of increased yields on US Treasuries due to the economic uncertainty. This means increased interest costs when the time comes for Bermuda to refinance its very large debt, limiting our government's financial flexibility.

Fourthly, Mr. Speaker, economic uncertainty in the US may reduce the number of American residents who want to spend money to travel or the amount they spend if they do travel—perhaps negatively impacting our tourism sector.

There is some potential for silver linings, although they won't offset the bigger picture problems. For example, there is an opportunity to market to more Canadian visitors, who may now wish to avoid the US.

Mr. Speaker, our well-respected world-class regulatory regime and unique mid-Atlantic location should be attractive to businesses that wish to avoid the United States. The Government should continue and increase its canvassing of the various trade organisations on-Island to see how Bermuda can support initiatives in these areas.

Finally, this new era of global uncertainty means we cannot take any particular outcomes for granted. We must plan for the future thoughtfully. We must manage our funds with particular care, knowing that economic downsides are real possibilities. We must carefully consider where to launch initiatives and place our investment bets. We must act swiftly and effectively to get the best results possible. The current Government status quo of poor decision-making and accepting mediocre results is no longer fit for purpose and has not been for a long time.

Mr. Speaker, put another way, we are looking at a potential economic crisis, on top of our current cost of living crisis and these demand action and results.

3. Local Economy

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Mr. Speaker, when we look to the local economy, it is important to dig beneath the surface of the available statistics and examine multiple perspectives to assess the true economic state of our Island. For our reference, we use 2017, the start of this current Government's economic stewardship. While this Government still likes to point to COVID-19 as an excuse for issues, the rest of the world has moved on. We must too.

3.1 GDP

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: At a high level, Mr. Speaker, the total economic growth as measured by Gross Domestic Product, or GDP, has seemed reasonable with increases over the last few years. And the overall unemployment rate—the fraction of the population that wants to work but cannot—is indeed low. But these figures hide troubling trends underneath.

Mr. Speaker, a closer look shows us that our total GDP improvements have been driven almost solely by international business and financial services. Local business output has remained essentially flat. And detailed jobs numbers show fewer people working in Bermuda, fewer Bermudian jobs, high youth unemployment, and an ageing workforce—our demographic crisis unfolding right in front of us.

Local business output has remained flat. Fewer people working in Bermuda. Fewer Bermudian jobs. High youth unemployment and an ageing workforce. As I said, Mr. Speaker, a demographic crisis.

In “real” GDP, after adjusting for inflation, [Bermuda's] economy grew 8.7 per cent from 2017 to 2023, or 1.4 per cent per year, on average. By comparison using OECD [Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development] data over the same time, the Euro Area grew 6.7 per cent (or 1.1 per cent per year), the USA grew 13.9 per cent (or 2.2 per cent per year), and the world overall grew 16.8 per cent (or 2.6 per cent per year).

Looking into the breakdown of Bermuda's GDP by industry, we see that a massive 76.1 per cent of the GDP growth was driven by international business [IB], rising to 87.4 per cent after adding in other financial [and] insurance activities. Bermuda's GDP growth was due almost solely to [these] industries.

In fact, from 2017 to 2023, IB grew a whopping 25.0 per cent,—

An Hon. Member: Hear, hear!

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: —or 4.1 per cent per year.

[Inaudible interjections]

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Local business, that is, everything except for IB and financial services grew only 2 per cent, or a meagre 0.3 per cent per year. That is essentially no growth at all.

And I know there were some comments earlier, but I would remind the viewers that these are government statistics. To aid understanding for the people in the Chamber and who get this online, there is a chart that illustrates.

3.2 Retail Sales and Shipping

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Mr. Speaker, other key indicators for the health of the economy are retail sales and shipping. These continue to show declines. Looking at full-year retail sales data for 2022, 2023, and 2024, after adjusting for inflation, total sales were 1.9 per cent lower in 2024 than in 2022.

[Inaudible interjections]

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Out of the seven sectors, after adjusting for inflation, lower. Out of the seven sectors reported, only motor vehicle sales and service stations showed an increase.

In fact, in 18 out of 24 months in 2023 and 2024, or two-thirds of the months, total sales were lower than the same month a year before, adjusted for inflation. To help those following along in the Chamber, for food and liquor, these numbers are 16 months and 20 months, respectively.

Now, I am just going to add something that is not written here. But the people—

[Inaudible interjections]

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: —eating less and drinking less. That tells you something is up.

Thanks to emigration and cost of living increases, there are fewer people buying things, spending more, but getting less.

Mr. Speaker, container volumes point in the same direction of fewer goods being brought to the Island and purchased. Although container volumes from April through September last year were up from the prior six months, they were still down 9.6 per cent from the same period in 2020, before the pandemic.

And “breakbulk,” which includes heavy equipment and construction materials, was 27.0 per cent lower than the same period last year.

All of these data confirm our view that the local, bricks and mortar economy is not doing as well as we would like.

3.3 Jobs and Population

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Mr. Speaker, one of the Government's favourite-cited statistics is the unemployment rate, which was 2.8 per cent in the November 2023 Labour Force Survey. What is driving this? Fewer people and fewer jobs. The reality is that the number of people has shrunk faster than the number of jobs. Government has outsourced our unemployment, as people who can't find work have been emigrating.

Shockingly, youth (those between the ages of 16 to 24), their unemployment was a whopping 13.5 per cent, over four times the average.

Mr. Speaker, according to the [Bermuda Job Market] Employment Briefs report, Mr. Speaker, Bermuda lost 793 jobs from 2017 to 2023, or –2.4 per cent. This was actually a loss of 1,438 jobs for Bermudians and spouses, but a gain of 787 jobs for non-Bermudians. And all those missing jobs are for workers under 55—who should be the backbone of our workforce. The largest increase in jobs is for workers over 65 per cent, presumably they have been unable to retire due to the cost of living.

Mr. Speaker, we struggle to reconcile this disturbing loss of Bermudian jobs, high youth unemployment, and seniors having to work longer, with the Government's claims of a “fairer Bermuda.”

The reality, Mr. Speaker, which we all know, is that people are leaving Bermuda for opportunity. They are leaving Bermuda for social support. They are retiring. Or they are reaching the end of their life. Anecdotally, everyone has friends, family, and acquaintances who are either thinking about moving away or who have already gone. In fact, survey results [released] last year show that over 70 per cent of Bermuda residents are at least thinking about leaving Bermuda. And this is no doubt even more likely among our youth. They are looking for opportunity, they are looking for support, and they are looking for a dynamic, thriving place to live. And while many of our youth were denied a chance to vote at the ballot box, we can be sure the younger generation will vote with their dollars and their feet. Mr. Speaker, they already are.

Mr. Speaker, other reputable reports and data all reinforce that Bermuda's shrinking population is a crisis that must be treated as a national emergency.

[Inaudible interjections and laughter]

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Government's own report, “Addressing the Challenge of an Ageing Population [in Bermuda]” described the problems very well. It also described the negative impacts on our economic growth, health care, and pensions. And I don't know about you, Mr. Speaker, I don't find any of this amusing.

Here is the short version: you can't grow the economy with a shrinking population. You can't reduce the cost of living with a shrinking population.

[Inaudible interjections]

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: And you can't properly fund health care and pensions with a shrinking, ageing population. We can either have more people, each paying less tax, or fewer people, each paying more tax. Government's own estimate for the required increase in the working population at that time was 8,418 workers, or 25 per cent.

Mr. Speaker, organisations like the Chamber of Commerce—which I would suggest is reputable; you can have your own opinion—have done a commendable job of conducting research. Its March 2025 economic report [Head or Tails—A coin has two sides] provides a credible estimate of our population from as low as 54,651 to 56,683 people, or at least 10 per cent less than the 2016 census of 63,779. The Chamber also provides a perspective on the ageing workforce that is complementary to the Government's report—it's not just a loss of workers. It's also the loss of their experience and knowledge.

So how many people do we need working in Bermuda to maintain a growing and vibrant economy and society? Reasonable people can disagree on the exact number, but no one can disagree that the answer is more than we have now, by at least several thousands.

Mr. Speaker, we in the Opposition have seen no realistic, credible, or effective strategy from this Government that will address the shrinking population with the urgency and impact required. Instead, the Government has continued cynically to attempt to use the difficult and complex topic of immigration to divide Bermuda, for short-term political gain.

We know that part of the answer is to make Bermuda a compelling home that Bermudians want to return to.

3.4 Salaries and Cost of Living

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Mr. Speaker, let's talk salaries and cost of living. All those statistics might seem abstract to Bermudians who are working day-to-day. Our people who are trying to pay the rent, buy the groceries, keep the car running, and stop the house from leaking. How are these workers doing? Based on recent government statistics, we know that the median gross annual income across all workers grew 2.4 per cent from 2022 to 2023. But much like the higher-level economic statistics, there is a lot of variation here across industries. For IB and financial services, the average median increase was 6 per cent, and for everything else, only 1.8 per cent. What does that mean?

Over the same period of time, based on the December 2023 Consumer Price Index, costs rose 2.4 per cent. This increase is just about the same as the median salary increase for all workers, and one-third higher than the median salary increases for workers in "local" industries.

[Inaudible interjections and laughter]

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: In fact, rent costs grew 2.7 per cent, driven by 1.7 per cent increases for properties under rent control, and 3.5 per cent for properties not in rent control. Mr. Speaker, I know that some in this Chamber find these statistics amusing. I can assure you, there are many areas of this country where these are matters of getting by in life.

[Inaudible interjections]

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Food increased 2.9 per cent and health costs increased 2.5 per cent. At the end of the day, while it is true inflation has slowed, for most people costs are still rising faster than their incomes. And that's why Bermudians remain very concerned about their cost of living.

I will say it a different way. Bermudians are very concerned about their cost of living.

3.5 Tourism

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Mr. Speaker, tourism has seen some improvements from 2023 to 2024, but remains far behind 2019, and continues to remain behind our competitors to the south. Tourism arrivals by air are 15 per cent higher from 2023 to 2024 but are down 27 per cent versus 2019. Airline capacity is 25 per cent higher than the prior year, but still 6.4 per cent lower than in 2019.

By comparison, Turks and Caicos has seen air visitors increase 51 per cent since 2019. Bahamas' air visitors are at the same level as 2019, and Cayman's air arrivals are down 14 per cent versus 2019 (or only half the gap of Bermuda since COVID-19). While many competitors are having record years for tourism, our Government is still talking about COVID-19.

It's clear that our snail's pace tourism recovery is another crisis that requires swift and decisive action.

4. International Business

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Mr. Speaker, while we rely on tourism as a key component of our local economic activity, providing a variety of jobs, attracting visitors, and consuming goods and services, it's currently IB that drives our economy. IB drives our GDP. As a sector, IB is our largest employer. IB employees are economically influential consumers of goods and services. Business travellers contribute to our air traffic and spend in our hotels and restaurants. IB spending fuels our professional services sector.

And IB provides a major component of Government's revenue—perhaps as much as 25 per cent in direct payments such as payroll tax and companies fees, and even more considering other tax payments made by IB companies and employees such as customs duty, land tax, and foreign currency fees.

With the corporate income tax (CIT), IB's contribution to Government's coffers will be even more influential. We must pay close attention to the dynamics of these industries.

Mr. Speaker, while IB encompasses much more than insurance and reinsurance, these two industries drive the lion's share of IB's economic activity on Island. Over the past few years, insurers have seen a relative “hard market,” with good returns as demand has risen, capacity has stayed flat or shrunk, and the market has brought pricing discipline to many areas. In addition, there has been very good growth in new markets such as cyber insurance.

These good years in insurance have led to above-budget Government payroll tax receipts. However, headwinds have already started for international business. Property reinsurance rates peaked in 2024, with increases slowing to only 2.3 per cent for the year, with average rate increases decreasing by 6.6 per cent at January 2025, and in some cases as much off as -15.0 per cent.

Insurance cycles don't last much more than a few quarters in today's market, and while the industry as a whole remains positive, it has already come down from its recent peak. New capital is available in the insurance market, suppressing prices, and many clients have had good history with their insurance and also demand lower prices.

Mr. Speaker, many large insurers are facing earnings headwinds from catastrophes such as the Los Angeles [LA] wildfires occurring early in the year, with peak hurricane season and other risk periods still ahead, and a backdrop of constantly growing natural catastrophe losses year on year. Fast-growing areas like cyber [insurance] are slowing, as insureds better understand their risk and control their insurance costs by buying less insurance or seeking lower premium, further reducing insurers' profits.

Mr. Speaker, the question mark of corporate income tax hangs over the industry. As IB starts to pay taxes, how will companies react? What business will stay? What business, if any, will leave? How much will IB reduce its charitable giving, leaving more for Government to pick up? Will the Government do what is needed to keep Bermuda attractive for international business? Will the OECD throw another wrench in the works to disrupt our economic model, which competes against their jurisdictions?

We won't know for a while.

5. Government Performance

5.1 Pension Challenges

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Bermuda's demographic crisis—an ageing and shrinking population—has negatively impacted our public pension funds: Public Sector Superannuation Fund [PSSF], for Government Employees, and Contributory Pensions Fund (CPF), also known as Social Insurance.

Mr. Speaker, for defined benefit funds such as the PSSF and CPF to work properly, all the components must be in balance: the proportion of active workers paying in versus the number of pensioners receiving benefits; the investment results; and the number of years that workers pay contributions into the pension fund versus the number of years they receive benefits.

In the case of both the CPF and PSSF, many of those elements have become unbalanced, and the ability of the funds to support their beneficiaries in the future has been compromised. The most recent actuarial review of the CPF in 2023 shows that the CPF funds will be exhausted in 2042, two years earlier than predicted in the 2020 review. As the report states, “the CPF is not financially sustainable for the long-term;”.

Mr. Speaker, there are fewer workers contributing into the funds, while the number of beneficiaries has increased. In addition, beneficiaries are living longer and receiving payments for longer. And the Government has increased pension payments for the CPF, without corresponding pension contribution increases. Government has cynically sought political credit for those increases, without doing the work to secure the foundation of those payouts for the future—even though the underlying issues have been known for several years.

We were glad to see that reforms to the PSSF have been agreed with the Public Service and look forward to the changes being implemented promptly. However, there has been no progress with the CPF social insurance. Without reform, [many] Bermudians working today should not rely on social insurance in the future. We are glad to hear that the Government says it plans to reform the CPF but are puzzled why this is delayed, yet again, to next year. Government's statement that the pension fund investments are well-managed is true, but irrelevant. Government's continued failure to address the long-understood structural issues is its own kind of mismanagement.

5.2 Health care

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Mr. Speaker, turning to health care. After eight years of this current Government, health care costs in Bermuda have continued to rise. And most of us have a story of a friend or relative stuck on beds in the hospital hallways or suffering long waits due to lack of staff.

Government has focused on increased expenditures on electronic medical records, plans to shuffle the taxpayer money around without actually addressing the underlying costs, and they have damaged relationships with medical professionals after threatening to lock them up over paperwork. Meanwhile, key information required to inform decision-making, like the National Health Accounts, is delayed and incomplete.

Mr. Speaker, from year one, the block grant to the hospital was a bad idea. While the thinking behind it seemed reasonable—make the hospital pay attention to its costs—it's clear that it has not worked. The block grant is not enough money to properly run the hospital, pay for staff and equipment, and keep the facilities up to the required standard. Compounding the problem, at times the Government has not even made the payments as promised by the block grant on time or in full. This grant should be scrapped, or the amounts reviewed on a regular basis to properly support the hospital requirements.

Under the block grant, the hospital is not able to charge “fee for service” on most of its procedures, that is, charge for each procedure or service provided. This forces the hospital to view every part of its facility as a cost centre. Understandably, the hospital has trimmed operations to reduce its costs. This includes closing operating rooms, reducing services to our Island. In addition, Mr. Speaker, while the public service has just received a large pay increase, the hospital has been unable to increase wages, leading to low staff morale and difficulties recruiting staff.

Mr. Speaker, the knock-on effects have reduced health care performance and increased costs for everyone on the Island. For example, because there are fewer operating rooms open, more people have to travel overseas for procedures that could otherwise be performed on Island. These overseas procedures, with associated travel costs and “international patient” rates at US hospitals, have inflated insurers costs, which are then passed on to residents via increased health care premiums. So, Government's attempts to reduce costs have in fact increased costs.

We are also very aware of the problem of hospital wards filled with seniors because we lack the appropriate facilities to care for them. This in turn, causes a blockage of use for new patients.

Another issue of concern is Bermudians without health care or with poor coverage attending the hospital emergency room for ailments that could be dealt with by a family doctor or GP [general practitioner]. Put another way, Mr. Speaker, a huge driver of our health care costs is that we are not taking care of our people in the right place.

Mr. Speaker, we need a variety of facilities to take care of seniors and others, that are less expensive than the hospital but still provide the appropriate care. These are sometimes known as “step-down” facilities, such as skilled nursing facilities, long-term care facilities, and residential and outpatient rehabilitation facilities. We also need to give all Bermudians access to a primary care doctor.

Government's promised “universal health care” to date really means some expanded benefits for people who already have some form of health insurance. This is a step in the right direction, but not the same as “universal” care. Almost 4 per cent of workers with permanent employment, 1,300 people, do not have health insurance.

We are also glad to see progress in reducing drug prices by ensuring people have access to the lowest cost provider possible—with the caveat that this has to be implemented fairly and efficiently for all stakeholders, not least the patients and pharmacies.

Similarly, while initiatives like electronic medical records are useful and increase efficiency, they do not address the core underlying issues, which we have outlined. Finally, underlying all of this is our shrinking, ageing population which requires more health care spending per person, with fewer people paying health premiums.

At the end of the day, Mr. Speaker, we support making sure that all Bermudians have access to quality health care. We believe that this can be done in conjunction with the private sector—doctors, allied health professionals, pharmacies, and insurers—with targeted Government support and programmes. We would not support a fully Government-run “socialised” health care medical system with a reduction of options for people in Bermuda.

6. Education

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Mr. Speaker, education is one of the most important components for success in life. It comes in many forms, from hands-on to bookwork. Bermudians need to be well-educated, in whatever form that means for each person, so they can be empowered to take control of their own success. A well-educated populace with a mix of critical thinking skills and hands-on technical abilities is required to power our economy, keep Bermuda running, and produce an engaged and informed citizenry.

Our public education system is in crisis. While many or even most agree that reform was and is needed, it's clear that the Government's current reform project is stalled or even failed. Now that Government's spending on the “Innovation Unit” consultants has grown to $8.4 million, Bermudians can rightfully ask, Are we getting results for our taxpayer dollars? For many Bermudians, the answer is a resounding no, as shown by the increasing fraction of students enrolled in private schools.

Parents are particularly frustrated with the poor provision of special education and support for special needs, despite the fact that public education costs far more than private schools per child. Many families leave the Island to obtain the education support their children deserve. Bermudians deserve high-quality public education, and getting this reform working effectively is critical to our future. We believe that a critical piece of the solution is an Education Authority that is independent from political control, and accountable for educational outcomes.

7. Housing

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Turning to Housing, Mr. Speaker. The One Bermuda Alliance believes that all Bermudians must be able to live in dignity, and this includes securing affordable housing. The housing situation [in Bermuda] has left many puzzled. Why, with an acknowledged decline in population, is housing harder and harder to find, at all levels of the housing ladder? The reasons for this housing shortage are incredibly varied, and include vacation rentals, rent control and landlord tenant issues, and shifts in society like divorces, post-COVID-19 splits, and younger generations wanting their own space.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Recent work by the Chamber of Commerce Economic Committee has provided valuable insight, that the average household size in Bermuda has reduced. That is, even with fewer people on Island, we need the same or even more units, as each unit will house fewer people. This is of course compounded by people not wanting to rent for fear of locking up their assets with a bad tenant or they choose to host a vacation rental for increased income.

Ultimately, we need more housing supply at a range of sizes and a range of price points. And we need to recognise that for many, home ownership may not be the right answer or even the desired answer. While “owning a piece of the rock” has been a dream and path to intergenerational wealth for many generations, that is no longer true for everyone. Younger generations often value experiences and flexibility over the anchor of a home. They may plan to live internationally for a while, or simply prefer to avoid the expense, risk, and hassle of ownership, while relying on financial investments for their retirement and family assets.

Mr. Speaker, the rate of development of new housing units has been at a historic low since 2014, and we can presume this has been further offset by buildings falling derelict and owners removing units from the rental supply. Therefore, housing is yet another national priority. Addressing it will require a mix of approaches, in balance.

Landlord-tenant laws and rent control need immediate reform to incentivise owners to rent, giving protection both to the property owners as well as the renters, in a fair and proportionate way. For example, streamlining the process for removing bad tenants and ensuring legal disputes are handled quickly and fairly so all parties can get resolution without excessive delay and costs. Also, enabling property owners to raise rents in a measured way, so they can properly maintain their properties and get a reasonable return in the face of rising insurance, maintenance, and energy costs. Mr. Speaker, many renters will need support to afford their housing, but that support should come from the Government, not be shouldered by private property owners. We look forward to working constructively with the Government when it brings forward its promised reform.

Mr. Speaker, Government can incentivise the development of brownfield sites and derelict buildings, including unused Government properties. These incentives can include tax breaks on payroll costs for construction labour or land tax breaks, with increased incentives to provide rent-controlled or otherwise low-cost units. As an added benefit, this can be a way to move unused properties off the Government's balance sheet. We also support the Government's proposed duty breaks for construction materials, and suggest they go down to zero for affordable housing initiatives.

While we cautiously support in principle Government's plans to address derelict property in private hands, this needs to be handled in a very sensitive way, ensuring that the rights of families that own properties are fully respected and that they also gain a return from their family assets.

Mr. Speaker, we need to provide more flexibility in how we build. How can we amend our codes and techniques to enable efficient and cost-effective designs that can attract capital, while keeping up our high standards for safety and quality? Building technologies have advanced over the years, so should our regulations.

The City of Hamilton has an important, perhaps central role in expanding our housing supply, which we will discuss later.

It's clear, Mr. Speaker, that if we want different outcomes—more housing—we need to change how we do things.

8. Energy

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Turning to energy, Mr. Speaker, last but not least of the cost-of-living drivers is energy. We in the Opposition proposed to give the Regulatory Authority (RA) more legal power to take into account costs to consumers when setting BELCO rates. We welcome Government's promise to limit the costs BELCO can recover from customers and give the RA power to consider if pricing is fair. This will improve alignment between BELCO and the consumers when BELCO plans its investments and spending.

We would also support ways to streamline the deployment of renewable sources of energy so that they are cost-effective and ultimately reduce consumers' costs. This may mean speeding up and simplifying permits, looking at duty relief for certain classes of customers, and allowing more flexible ways of connecting to the Island's energy grid. We welcome and support all Government initiatives that are aligned with these goals.

In terms of subsidising or directly investing in energy projects, we believe the private sector is best placed to assess and take that risk. The OBA will work to remove barriers and roadblocks to efficient deployment. Our decisions must make economic sense for consumers and the country.

9. Government's Financial Performance and Fiscal Plans

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Mr. Speaker, turning now to the Government's recent financial performance, it is disappointing yet unsurprising that the Finance Minister persists in his charade of a so-called "surplus" for the recently concluded financial year. It reflects poorly on his credibility as a steward of our finances and, by extension, the Government and our country.

The independent Fiscal Responsibility Panel 2024 report used terms such as "regrettable," "of particular concern," and "should not be repeated" to describe the Government's use of off-balance sheet spending to achieve policy goals. Alarm bells sound when governments spend money directly from the Sinking Fund without Parliamentary oversight, by-passing the very process of scrutiny we are engaged in today. That is strong language for a bureaucratic report. What is particularly galling is that the Government passed a law specifically enabling it to spend borrowed money without oversight.

Mr. Speaker, we would also suggest that if any Chief Financial Officer in international business manipulated their results like this, they would be fired.

These funds were spent on health care and housing—noble goals—but like any other spending, this spending must be subject to the oversight of the Members of this Parliament elected by the Bermudian people. And the fact that this sort of spending is normally "above the line," including in this current budget, shows that transparency is the proper approach.

Putting aside Government's misrepresentation, and properly adding up the spending, last year's finances came in at a $54 million deficit, the year before had an $80 million deficit, making a $134 million cumulative deficit over two years.

Mr. Speaker, the table in the Statement restates the budget years 2023/24 and 2024/25 to present the true picture of the spending versus revenue by including the off-balance sheet spending.

Mr. Speaker, based on the revised estimates, last year's deficit was driven by $1.3 billion of spending offset by $1.25 billion of revenue. Revenue's $16 million beat to budget (or 1.3 per cent above budget) was primarily driven by a $26 million budget beat for payroll tax, offset by other areas producing lower-than-expected revenue. We were glad to see an increase in the Hotel Occupancy Tax receipts but also note a 12.0 per cent decrease in immigration receipts, perhaps indicating a slowdown in work permits among other things.

Mr. Speaker, as the Government Budget Statement noted, the better-than-expected payroll tax result was driven by IB salaries, which would include bonuses (which is out of Government's control) and should be treated as a pleasant surprise, rather than an intrinsic result of Government policies. Additionally, income from payroll tax, customs duty, and the Foreign Currency Purchase Tax will rise with inflation (since IB typically increases pay with inflation), creating revenue rises. However, this is not true organic growth of Government revenue streams. So, while at first blush these rises seem to help Government budgets, they actually reflect pain for people working in the local economy, whose cost of living is increasing. Government expenses will increase with inflation as well.

Mr. Speaker, spending for last year is projected to come in at $70 million over budget (5.7 per cent), driven by unbudgeted health care subsidies and support for housing. The overspend was reduced by staff costs coming in at $12 million under budget, among other things. We also note the increased insurance costs, reminding us that Government is subject to the same cost pressures as regular Bermudians.

Government notes that it will continue to budget for staff increases that it cannot hope to fill in the financial year, explaining that this will create extra funds that can be used elsewhere. Mr. Speaker, we would suggest that this is not, in fact, how budgets are supposed to work. Government should set a realistic budget for staff, and departments and ministries should work within their agreed budget. If unexpected events cause budget overruns, that can be discussed at this time next year.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Finally, if Government truly wishes to maintain a contingency amount in the budget, which is not unreasonable, we suggest a separate budget line for that.

Mr. Speaker, we are very disappointed to see very little progress in reducing the backlog of audit reports across Government. And, for two successive years the Auditor General has had to provide a Qualified Opinion on our Consolidated Fund—that is, she could not provide a completely clean audit result. And that is because Government has not been able to support its estimates for liabilities for things like asbestos in buildings and underground fuel tanks. In our view, this lack of a clean audit is inconsistent with Bermuda's desired reputation as a jurisdiction. We urge the Government to take the necessary actions to receive a clean audit next year.

9.1 Corporate Income Tax

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Mr. Speaker, the Corporate Income Tax (or CIT) is a potentially transformative resource for Bermuda. However, it is no silver bullet and brings its own challenges. We have spoken often of the uncertain nature of the timings and amounts of the CIT, and the uncertain number of taxpayers. This means we must budget conservatively around the CIT. It is far better to be overconservative in our use of CIT funds, only to find we have more than expected, than to craft a budget of promises around high estimates, which then cannot be funded.

Another challenge is that CIT payers will understandably expect more from the Government in terms of services, immigration processing, quality of our infrastructure and general costs of living and doing business. Will Government deliver? The CIT payers will demand value in Bermuda as a jurisdiction in multiple ways. There is significant execution risk.

Mr. Speaker, a third challenge is that the Government has set unrealistic expectations from the CIT. Through the Sovereign Wealth Fund idea the PLP has, perhaps unwittingly, suggested the CIT will solve all of our problems. At the same time Government has made numerous short-term promises relying on the CIT funds, without knowing how those cash flows will perform over the next two years. This Government has already had to make adjustments resulting in delayed or broken promises, including announcing initiatives this year that won't even happen until next year. We also understand the agreed pay rises have been delayed in some Government departments.

The One Bermuda Alliance would take a more moderate, transparent and realistic approach. First, we would craft a budget that works without including the CIT for at least the next two to three years. This would allow us to understand who the CIT [tax]payers are, what the CIT income looks like, and develop more realistic and achievable plans for the future.

Mr. Speaker, our National Debt is currently $3.3 billion. This costs the taxpayers $128 million per year in interest payments alone. To put these numbers in perspective, that means each worker in Bermuda is on average through our taxes, paying $3,900 of interest every year. That's $128 million per year of Government spending in US dollars that could otherwise be spent directly on programmes and services for Bermudians. Every year, not just one year. Think housing, think health care.

In addition, significant portions of our debt were placed with historically low interest rates by the previous Finance Minister. When this debt is replaced, our interest costs will go up. US Treasury rates are as much as 3 per centage points higher than 2020 levels, and global uncertainty around US policies might drive them higher still. Since markets view the price for our debt as a "spread" on US base rates, that additional 3 per cent could translate to as much as $100 million per year in additional interest costs, depending on timing.

Mr. Speaker, that is why the One Bermuda Alliance repeats its call to ring-fence the most significant portions of CIT to pay down our national debt, along with infrastructure and key social support for Bermudians. This would avoid the increased interest costs and make those funds available to help Bermudians every year, year after year.

We support the Government's medium-term plan to repay debt, and would go one step further, setting the CIT funds aside into a dedicated fund, so the public can be confident they will be used for the best results in the medium- and long-term. This fund would then make allocations to the Consolidated Fund, debt, infrastructure, and specific social packages based on a set of bipartisan national priorities, guided by bipartisan and non-political advisors.

Although this reduces political control over the CIT funds, that is exactly the point, Mr. Speaker. How we use the CIT funds is too important to be subject to short-term political thinking focused on election time.

Our approach is differentiated from the Government's as we would ensure CIT funds work sustainably for Bermuda over the short-, medium-, and long-term—not just until the next election.

9.2 Sovereign Wealth Fund

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Mr. Speaker, a key element of many of the Government's statements around the CIT is the establishment of a Sovereign Wealth Fund, funded by CIT revenue. It connotes wealth, obviously, and also plenty—a solution to our financial problems. This is, of course, politically attractive.

However, we have many other uses for the CIT money before setting it aside for such a fund that would further delay the time before a useful Sovereign Wealth Fund is attained. First, we need to set aside CIT funds as a "revenue stability fund," to help smooth out the volatility of CIT earnings for whatever portion is earmarked for regular Government revenue.

Secondly, we need to pay our $3.2 billion debt down to a workable amount, perhaps no more than 50 per cent of our annual revenue. If we did not pay down the debt and instead invested CIT money into a wealth fund, our bondholders would view that as adding risk. This would increase our borrowing costs.

Thirdly, Mr. Speaker, we have large unfunded liabilities in our government pension funds and part of the solution could include CIT funds as a one-time reset as part of broader reform. There is also the $270 million guarantee for the hospital. We might consider just paying that debt down to reduce the total annual cost.

Finally, we have large amounts of infrastructure that need repairs and replacement, [such as] roads, bridges, the incinerator and numerous government buildings.

So, while a wealth fund is a nice idea, it is not likely to impact the lives of any Bermudians for quite some years.

9.3 Gaming

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Mr. Speaker, after millions of dollars spent, we are very disappointed to see no progress on the development of gaming on the Island, and no progress in eliminating or reforming the Gaming Commission. As in most of the other areas of our economy, if we want a better result, we are going to have to change how we do things. We say, get gaming going or shut it down.

10. Empowering the Bermudian Dream

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Mr. Speaker, we have spoken a lot about the general state of Bermuda, its economy, the Government's plans, and its financial performance and we have provided a few points about what the OBA would do in specific areas. So now we turn to our overall vision for the finances and economy of Bermuda and her people.

10.1 Philosophy of Empowerment and Growth

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: At its heart, our philosophy is that all Bermudians must be empowered to achieve our dreams, and success in whatever ventures we choose. While we want to ensure the appropriate social safety net is in place, we must aim for fewer and fewer Bermudians to need it.

We view creating opportunity for Bermudians in three pillars: local business and economy, tourism, and international business.

Mr. Speaker, we start with the local economy, where we have the most concerns, and which needs the most attention. This makes up all the jobs, services and businesses that support the other two pillars, as well as other niche businesses that don't fall into them. The important characteristic of the local economy is that it provides a wide range of jobs, including many hands-on, technical jobs that pay well and provide job satisfaction. The small- and medium-sized businesses in our local economy are also a path to financial security for many Bermudians.

Ultimately, the local economy is completely driven by the number of people living on the Island, the quality of the jobs they have, and the goods and services they consume. It's the same issue underpinning pensions and health care. Bermuda must become a place that both takes care of its workers and is also friendly to businesses and investors so they will create projects and hire. These two groups of stakeholders can enjoy a shared success, underpinned by a listening and cooperative government.

Mr. Speaker, Government must work closely with small- and medium-sized businesses, not just the larger ones that can catch their ear or have access to a Minister. Importantly, Government must not compete with private business. In areas ranging from the Office of the Tax Commissioner, Planning, Immigration, and numerous other departments that businesses work with, businesses need a responsive and friendly government that provides the required services efficiently. Now that the public service has received a pay rise, the public will be looking for the promised increase in morale, performance, and effectiveness from government departments. While the public service is not directly managed by the Ministers, we know that "tone comes from the top," and the Ministers should set an example of the approach and performance that the Bermudian public is looking for in its government services.

Ultimately, the Budget Statement had very little to offer for local businesses, especially small businesses and retail. For example, we hoped to see duty breaks for retailers. Instead, Government is encouraging more overseas purchases by raising the duty-free allowance for individuals, further disadvantaging local business. Success for local business depends on the number of customers, as already discussed, decreasing, and cashflow, where duty breaks can help.

Mr. Speaker, we would continue to grow Bermuda's portfolio of niche but diversifying businesses, where Bermuda brings a well-understood advantage, and investors have business plans that make sense. Typically, these are brought forward by experts with deep understanding in their areas, rather than consultants touting PowerPoint ideas.

Examples of good ideas that the Government has executed include the Google subsea cable and satellite launching slots. In addition, we support the Government family office initiatives, and we would also grow trust businesses, supporting relevant industry sectors in Bermuda that would benefit from serving and working with this business. We would continue to support FinTech, where there are legitimate business models that are a fit for Bermuda's regulatory regime—but not the hype-driven or scam-inducing meme coins and other cash-grab schemes.

Mr. Speaker, we are open to initiatives in the blue and green economy. But as with all initiatives, we would need to identify clear reasons for investors to want to do projects in Bermuda, with a clearly identified benefit. Typically, these projects make sense for investors because of external factors, such as a requirement to have a certain percent of "green" investment in their portfolio. Given the recent changes in US policy with greatly reduced attention or even antipathy towards Environmental, Social, and Governance (ESG) standards, we will have to watch this space carefully. Regardless, success here must be measured by dollars invested in projects on the Island, and jobs for Bermudians, not presentations at conferences.

10.2 Tourism

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Mr. Speaker, a second well-known pillar that creates opportunity for Bermudians is hospitality and tourism. These sectors bring foreign currency into Bermuda, and more importantly, provide a wide range of jobs for Bermudians and consume a wide range of services in our economy. Tourists provide a good market for many Bermudian entrepreneurs, retailers and service providers, that we should grow. It's a natural fit for our Island's convenient location, beauty and friendly people. Despite recent headwinds this industry has room to grow again in Bermuda. Our goals here would be to ensure that the Bermuda Tourism Authority [BTA] is working well and independently of political interference to market Bermuda effectively. This would include having a good range of industry representation on the BTA board and accountability for the BTA leadership based on results. We were disappointed to see reductions in the BTA grant and no mention of how to reform their funding model.

Recent news of a new owner for Elbow Beach is promising and we would seek out, market to, and work with investors to get other dormant sites open, such as Ariel Sands or reuse existing brownfield sites.

And, Mr. Speaker, we would seek to diversify the industry by getting multiple properties open with a range of sizes and styles so we as a country are not dependent on any one specific tourism property or owner. This includes vacation rentals. While some believe that vacation rentals are negatively impacting rental supply, the data indicates that the effect is small at best. And we know that vacation rentals can provide a uniquely Bermudian product that is attractive to many visitors—not just in the heyday of Bermuda's cottage colonies—but also in today's competitive global tourism market where consumers are seeking experiences.

Regarding concessions, Mr. Speaker, although we were not supportive of the scope of the concessions and guarantees given to Fairmont Southampton, the updated legislation has now set a new high level for them. The horse has left the stable. We would ensure that tourism concessions are awarded consistently and with accountability for targets such as numbers of Bermudian staff hired or amounts invested. The goal is a level playing field for all participants in the tourism economy with concrete results delivered in return for the loss of tax revenue.

10.3 International Business

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Mr. Speaker, International Business brings foreign currency into Bermuda and provides high quality, well-paying, often comfortable jobs for Bermudians. Our objective with IB is to continue the growth and success of it in Bermuda. We'd maintain Bermuda's top-ranked regulatory reputation and provide IB with efficient and effective Government services, such as immigration processing and other local infrastructure like good roads.

Mr. Speaker, we would ensure that Bermuda remains an attractive jurisdiction of choice, where IB taxpayers feel their tax funds are being spent responsibly, and which is an attractive location for employees. This includes things like housing and health care, which impact everyone. Where useful, we would partner with IB to promote Bermuda as a jurisdiction, and work collaboratively to [help] promote new sectors to continue to broaden and diversify the scope of IB in Bermuda. And we'd ensure that Bermuda's education system can equip future generations of Bermudians to benefit from IB's success, where those jobs are a good fit with skills and interest.

10.4 City of Hamilton and Brownfield Sites, East End

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Mr. Speaker, a key opportunity for Bermuda's economy lies in Hamilton, which is the perfect site for creating the housing that Bermuda needs without further encroaching on the miniscule amounts of open space we have left. While Government has loosened some restrictions for building and development in Hamilton, more should be done. After all, if investors and developers wouldn't want to do projects in Hamilton, where would they?

The City of Hamilton provides an opportunity to build up and create vibrant zones of mixed uses. Many younger people, including guest workers, would welcome the chance to live and work in a vibrant Hamilton with shops and restaurants a few steps from their doors.

Mr. Speaker, the One Bermuda Alliance would work with developers, builders, and designers to create different types of housing for different segments of the market. We would also work with them on ways to reduce costs of projects. Government's reduction of duty on construction materials is a step in the right direction, but could go further, and costs need to be addressed at multiple levels, from zoning restrictions and requirements, building codes, construction techniques, and legal and planning overheads.

Hamilton has a unique location in Bermuda, and many natural assets. It's time for us to get us going again.

We shouldn't forget the ends of the Island either. St. George's rich history and position as our gateway to the open ocean means we should continue to develop and expand our attractions and services for yachts. As a deep-water port with beautiful views, surely Marginal Wharf can be put to better uses than industrial facilities and boat storage.

10.5 Immigration

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Mr. Speaker, as we have seen in multiple areas across our economy and finances, a critical underlying issue is the number of people living and working in Bermuda. We must consider it an urgent national priority to make it more attractive for young Bermudians to return home, for Bermudians and people working here to stay here, and for new people to come to Bermuda.

Immigration is understandably a controversial and emotional topic, due to Bermuda's history, the history of individuals and families in Bermuda, actions taken by Governments in the past, and the lack of action by Governments in the past and present. And this has all been overlaid by the cynical manipulation of immigration as a political tool by this current Government, alongside legitimate and important concerns about Bermudian culture and what being "Bermudian" really means.

But what we do know is that what we are doing now is not working. Change is required. Let's start by actually carrying out existing immigration policies with fairness, consistency, efficiency and transparency so families and businesses have confidence in outcomes and decision-making.

Then let's have a good-faith engagement on what we can do to turn our population around. It's easy for Government to say what they won't do, but we're more interested in hearing what they can and will do to solve this problem.

An Hon. Member: What would you do?

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: What a timely question.

11. Specific Proposals

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Mr. Speaker, we were very disappointed that Government has not scrapped the sugar tax.

[Inaudible interjections and laughter]

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: It's well-known that this tax has not achieved its goals and only increased food prices for Bermudians. It's not too late for Government to get rid of it.

Another tax we would suggest cutting, targeting better or even eliminating, is the Foreign Currency Purchase Tax, or FCPT. This 1.25 per cent must be paid on all purchases of foreign currency such as US dollars. Since all of our goods are purchased from overseas, this adds 1.25 per cent to the cost of all goods, including essential goods purchased by Bermudians. While we appreciate this a very efficient tax to collect (the banks do it for the Government) it is also very regressive. That is, the FCPT disproportionately impacts those who earn the least, and pay a higher fraction of their income on necessities.

In general, the One Bermuda Alliance would adjust tax reductions to be targeted to those most in need. This is in contrast to the Government's approach, which gives more dollars back to those who can afford to use the most electricity or drive the most expensive cars.

12. Conclusion

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Mr. Speaker, we have provided ample evidence that shows just how hollow the Government's claims of fairness really are, as businesses and Bermudians in the local economy continue to struggle and cost of living outstrips whatever small pay increases people are getting. We have shown how Bermuda's biggest challenge is our shrinking and emigrating population, which the Government continues to ignore. We have highlighted the lack of attention to our youth. And we have debunked the Government's financial performance. The parts of it that have been good are riding solely on IB. Meanwhile, Government continues to fail to address the key issues that put our IB success at risk: housing, infrastructure, cost of living, transparency, and accountability.

In contrast, we have set out the approach and ideas of the One Bermuda Alliance so that Bermuda can rise again. So that Bermudians can breathe easy and see and feel opportunity. So that our youth can dream of their future here at home in Bermuda. A Bermuda where the pie grows to feed us all, not a Bermuda where we are fighting over a shrinking one.

And it all comes down to integrity, accountability, and delivering results.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

[Desk thumping]

The Speaker: Members, we have just had the Opposition's Reply to the Budget [Statement]. We are going to take a couple of minutes and let the technical officer [remove] the connectors from . . . You are good? Okay.

So, we are in pretty good stead. We have got the okay from the technical officer.

Is there another Member who would like to make a contribution?

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER

HOUSE VISITOR

The Speaker: But before I call on that Member, I would just like to acknowledge in our Gallery today that the former Opposition Leader Mr. Cole Simmons is visiting with us today.

Welcome, sir.

[Desk thumping]

The Speaker: Good. Okay. All right.

[Budget Debate, continuing.]

The Speaker: Junior Minister, I understand you are going to be the first up.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Yes, I am.

The Speaker: Are you ready to start?

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: I am, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Go right ahead, sir. The clock is on.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.
I can start?

The Speaker: Yes.

DEBATE ON THE BUDGET STATEMENT AND REPLY TO THE BUDGET

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.
Let me make it very clear that I know most people have been sleeping for the last 30 minutes.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: But we are going to change that right now.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Absolutely right.

[Laughter]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Mr. Speaker, the Honourable Member DeCouto . . . we have talked about increasing, having a new economy, we are talking about increasing revenue, we are talking about surpluses going forward.

Mr. Speaker, I had the honour to be in the House with the Honourable Member's mother.

The Speaker: Mm-hmm.

An Hon. Member: Yes.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: The Honourable Member Ann Cartwright DeCouto. I believe you also, Mr. Speaker, you definitely [were].

Mr. Speaker, what such a fiery lady she was. But, Mr. Speaker, I can tell you right now, that the Honourable Member is not Ann Cartwright DeCouto.

[Laughter]

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Point of order, Mr. Speaker!

[Laughter and inaudible interjections]

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Point of order.
Personalisations, Mr. Speaker. Personalisations.

[Laughter and inaudible interjections]

The Speaker: He was just making a distinction that you are her blood, but you are not her.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: That's right, Mr. Speaker.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: That young lady, Mr. Speaker,—

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: That young lady was so fiery many of us . . . I remember the speech on . . . particularly when it came to the franchise. It was called the mother of all franchises. I think the Honourable Member Kim Swan, he was in the House, Mr. Speaker.

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: She woke us all up that day—

The Speaker: Yes.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: —coming back from lunch after drinking ginger ale.

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Mr. Speaker, Mr. Speaker—

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: It was ginger ale. What's . . . what's . . . we all had ginger ale. The Honourable Member is trying . . .

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Oh, okay.

So, Mr. Speaker, it is clear, the Honourable Member, like I said . . . and I will be preaching today.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: I started . . . as you know, I started from the . . . speaking about a virtuous woman. But there are many things that we say about the gentleman, and I will not be saying [that] about the gentleman today.

But, Mr. Speaker, let me make it very clear. Let me just start from the very beginning when we talk about page 21—

An Hon. Member: Yes.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: —of the Honourable Member's [Statement]. Where did the Honourable Member get these numbers from? He talks about $50 million off-balance sheet spending. If any Member on that . . . and I will sit down if he can tell us. He talks about $50 million off-balance sheet spending in 2023/24. And I will speak about that year in particular. And also off-balance sheet for $73 [million] in 2024/25. I will be willing to sit down so the Honourable Member can tell us where those numbers came from.

An Hon. Member: Oh-oh!

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Because, Mr. Speaker, every one of us respect the Auditor General.

An Hon. Member: Yes.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: We respect the professionals within the Ministry of Finance. And this Honourable Member, Mr. Speaker, comes up with these numbers and no one in this House knows what it is about. Those 23—

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: No, the 2023/24 numbers were audited and laid down in this Honourable House. But yet he, the Honourable Member, comes up with $50 million of off-balance sheet. And I will speak later on about the Sinking Fund. I will be willing to speak about that. But you just can't make these numbers up.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: You just can't make these numbers up. Everything is being made up by the Honourable Member.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Everything. So how are we expected to believe the Honourable Member, the Shadow Minister of Finance . . . and he wants to be eventually the Minister of Finance, but it will be another 50 years from now. But the Honourable Member just makes these numbers up. And he is sitting by an accountant, a professional accountant. We are both CPAs so we understand the numbers.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: We understand the numbers. So where did the Member get that number from? I just know, like I said, Mr. Speaker, the Auditor General, who we respect, and we supported when we laid the Bill in this Honourable House, we all supported the numbers.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: He is checking out AI right now.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: But, Mr. Speaker, that's not true. And I will be willing later on to speak about the Sinking Fund. I mean, we spoke just earlier about the Honourable Member Cole Simons in this House. I enjoyed listening to him when he was the Shadow Minister of Finance. And he had some facts in those days. But this Honourable Member here has very little facts at all.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Mr. Speaker, on page 22, the Honourable Member . . . if I can find this information. Not [page] 22, [page] 23, the Honourable Member speaks about the One Bermuda Alliance would take a more moderate, transparent and realistic approach. What does that mean? What does that mean?

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: What does that mean? The cost . . . this costs taxpayers $128 [million per year] says, "We will craft a budget that works without including the CIT for at least the next two to three years." So where would you get the revenue from? Ah! I'm sorry. They would not lower the rate that Bob Richards had, 20 cents per litre, on fuel.

An Hon. Member: Yes.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: We are lowering it to four cents.

Some Hon. Members: Yes.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: The Honourable Member, where would he get his numbers from. And I will speaking later on about how the increases in taxes under the One Bermuda Alliance from 2012 to 2017. We will get to those numbers. Compared to how the Progressive Labour Party from 2017 to 2025 has reduced taxes and continues to reduce taxes.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Poor? Mr. Speaker, we are talking about a $43 million surplus. Last year we budgeted for $210,000 surplus and we are now up to estimating $19 million. There could be some adjustments after the Ministry and the Auditor does her thing, there could be some adjustments. But it probably won't be any lower than $18 million. But I would also speak, Mr. Speaker, about the deficits they have had since 2011 to 2017.

An Hon. Member: They don't want to hear that.

Another Hon. Member: No.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: I will also speak about the millions of dollars they borrowed in the first year. It was supposed to be lasting three years and it only lasted a year and a half.

An Hon. Member: And then they borrowed more.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: And then they borrowed more.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: For the new Members who are here from the OBA, you may want to leave and not hear this stuff. I am sure they didn't tell you about all this good stuff that they did when they were there.

But, Mr. Speaker, as a matter of fact, I am not sure who was there.

An Hon. Member: Wow!

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: There is not a Member . . . Ah! The Honourable Craig Cannonier.

[Inaudible interjections and laughter]

Hon. E. David Burt: Ah!

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: The Honourable Craig Cannonier was the only Member . . . and I don't know if that Honourable Member has informed his colleagues how bad the deficits were under the One Bermuda Alliance when they were in Government.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: I don't know if they remember that.

But, Mr. Speaker, I am going to say right now, I am going to go and let me . . . my topic is this: let the numbers speak for themselves.

An Hon. Member: There you go!

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Let the numbers speak for themselves.

Mr. Speaker, I also want to talk about . . . the only thing I hear about the Honourable Members and what they will do is remove the sugar tax and the FCPT [Foreign Currently Purchase Tax].

[Crosstalk]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: That is the plan?

An Hon. Member: Your mother gave you sugar.

[Crosstalk]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Is that the plan that we expect to hear, Mr. Speaker, to grow the economy? You have more deficits. What would you do? What would you reduce? What expenditures would you do? You want to have capital expenditure. That's good. We need some money. We got to pave the roads. And the Honourable Member who spoke earlier this morning talked about how the Government is moving ahead with the road paving. I applaud him. Got some Hamilton Parish in there.

[Laughter and crosstalk]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Right? We did around Smith's Parish. The Honourable Members who are from Smith's Parish will be appreciative of the Member. And finished Smith's Parish.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: And Paget. And as a matter of fact, Mr. Speaker, if you know, those Smith's Parish and Paget don't end up in my territory. I will speak on that later on.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: No, I'm talking about as far as . . . you know what I am talking about. I am not going there at all.

[Laughter]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: But, Mr. Speaker, you can't at the end of the day talk about you are going to . . . not use CIT, you are going to do this and do that and then don't tell the country how you are going to raise the revenue and how you are going to balance the books. You get it . . . the numbers do not add up. The numbers do not add up!

An Hon. Member: Mm-hmm.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: So, Mr. Speaker, let me just say this. A few points that the Honourable Member also said.

The Honourable Member said that . . . let me find my notes here. So, Mr. Speaker, so we will stand here today and not pontificate.

[Ms. Lovitta F. Foggo, Deputy Speaker, in the Chair]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: But one thing for sure, Madam Deputy Speaker, as I said earlier, let the numbers speak for themselves.

And one thing about the numbers, if they are right, we will have to all agree. One thing about us, we know that one and one, you can look at it as eleven. Which I am sure you looked at it. But one plus one is two, in my books.

But, [Madam Deputy] Speaker, over the past several years Bermuda's economy has been steadily strengthened under this Progressive Labour Party Government. And there is not one Honourable Member in this House who can stand up and deny it. There is not one Member who can stand up.

An Hon. Member: I will.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Not one.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: We had the great Curtis Dickinson. We had the great—

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Yes. Former Minister of Finance. We had the great and current Minister Colonel Burt. Not Colonel Burt—E. David Burt.

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: I did.

[Laughter]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: But, [Madam Deputy] Speaker, these Honourable Members, we got through those rough times. I can't remember which Minister had the . . . I think it was the Premier. But we got through some rough times. But even going through the rough times we are in a position right now that we can say to the public, [Madam Deputy] Speaker, that we are now heading toward a surplus. Now, I know that the Honourable Members on that side would not like to hear that. Right? We have now experienced four consecutive years of robust GDP. Record employment for Bermudians in our international business. And I understand. I understand how the man, the honourable gentleman, is trying to bring down the international business, he works for them.

An Hon. Member: Oh my.

Some Hon. Members: Ooh.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: The Honourable Member works for international business.

An Hon. Member: Oh wow. Bring them down?

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: What is he saying? We appreciate what the international business . . . we appreciate it. I am telling you right now. We are not going back to the days when I was a busboy in a restaurant. And all . . . most of our families grew up in tourism. That has changed. It has changed! We are now international business.

Now how did we grow that? Well, it was through FinTech, or whatever it is. But we are not going back to where we were. And, yes, we will continue to help out small business. And I am sure the Honourable Member Jason Hayward will talk about what BEDC has been doing over the years about small business. And we have helped out small businesses, which we will talk about later on.

Some Hon. Members: Mm-hmm.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: We have. But I am also going to tell you how you did not help out small business when you were between 2012 and 2017.

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Yes. We have to. I know you are the only Member, Mr. Cannonier, the only one standing at this time who was around at that time while the rest of them have gone home.

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: [Madam Deputy] Speaker, do you know how long it has been for any Minister of Finance to stand in this Honourable House and say, Madam Deputy Speaker, we are projecting a surplus.

An Hon. Member: Whoa!

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Do you know how long that has been? A very long time. As a matter of fact—

An Hon. Member: Four years.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: What?

[Inaudible interjection]

An Hon. Member: Four years.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: That's right. I don't think anyone in this House, outside of myself, was in the House.

An Hon. Member: Been here a long time.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Probably Kim.

Some Hon. Members: You have been here a long, Wayne.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: A long time.

[Laughter and inaudible interjection]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Yes, I am. That's why I can say what I am saying. Because I know. I know what those numbers were in those days. I do. All right?

And, [Madam Deputy] Speaker, the other side can say what they want but they would rather not hear the word surplus. What they hear is hidden off-balance sheet spending. And I will speak about that later on. They will talk about presenting misleading financial statements. As a matter of fact, the Honourable Member said here, he said something . . . where . . . let me see where I have underlined it. Maybe I will get back to it later on. I don't want to pursue it. But there was something here, it was just off-track.

An Hon. Member: All of it.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: All of it.

[Inaudible interjections and laughter]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: All of it. And we rely on international business. Yes, we do rely on international business.

An Hon. Member: And we are proud of it.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: And we are proud of it.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Can the Honourable Member tell us . . . I will appreciate the Honourable Member who stands up next for your side—tell us they appreciate international business.

[Laughter]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Because I don't . . . the Honourable Member when he spoke in the One Bermuda [Alliance] office the other day, he talked about international business like . . . it was like some of us . . . like we did something wrong. We are happy and we want to grow more. I think it is 25 per cent to 27 per cent of our GDP now for international business. As a matter of fact, the Leader, Jarion [Richardson], when he was the Shadow Minister of Finance, said this. He likened Bermuda to a vehicle in a gigantic pothole.

An Hon. Member: Mm-hmm.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Those are the types of things that they would rather continue to be able to pontificate on or say. They do not want to hear the word surplus.

An Hon. Member: No.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: They do not want to see what this Government has been able to accomplish and will accomplish. They do not want to see that. They do not want to see in 2026/27 that we are paying down the debt by the projected $500 million. They do not want to hear that.

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: No, you don't.

An Hon. Member: Yes, I do.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: No, no, no. Don't be fooled people. No, no. The Opposition does not want to hear that. Because when they fight the election another four or five years from now, they want to be able to say that the Government did not bring down the debt. Cost goes up again. They didn't help out the people.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: That is what they want to say. And the Honourable Member knows that. That is why some of the things they said in their Reply is off-track. Off-track.

So, Madam Deputy Speaker, talk is cheap. The true measure of leadership is not in eloquence, it is found in action. And this Government has taken action since 2017. You may not want to believe it but we have. Something they never did or had the heart to do.

An Hon. Member: No.

[Laughter]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Now, the only person laughing is because he was the only Honourable Member on that side in the House.

Madam Deputy Speaker, this party has produced results which the other party, as I said, could not do. You could not do it. You did not do it.

So, Madam Deputy Speaker, our comments are based on data, and it reflects the outcomes of policy and leadership during challenging times. In 2020—

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Data is very important.

[Laughter]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Data is very important. The Honourable Member who speaks for . . . I am not sure what ministry he is in now. But the Honourable Member is aware of data. Being, As I said, we both have the same profession. But data is very important. So, here is the question: The Honourable Member DeCouto delivered a well-rehearsed critique, similar to all his other colleagues. The Honourable Member Jarion Richardson, my good friend, the Honourable Member Cole Simons, but let us not confuse a cleverly worded speech with factual substance.

An Hon. Member: Oh-oh!

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: So, let's go point by point.

Now, Madam Deputy Speaker, the Honourable Member comments about spending from one pocket while pretending it does not count is simply not grounded in facts. And they have not laid out those arguments. It is easy to say . . . it is easy to say stuff. One thing about the Opposition, you can just say what you want. The Government has to rely on some type of factual things.

[Inaudible interjections and laughter]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Yes, I was in Opposition for a while.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Yes, that's right. That is why I am learning this stuff now.

[Laughter]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Yes. So, I understand that.

The method used to report a surplus or deficit follows international accounting standards. The same approach used by his party when they were in Government. The same auditors were around. So, if ours is wrong, they must be wrong. Do you agree? It is the same auditors. Honourable Member Craig Cannonier, were they the same auditors that were there at the time you were there?

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: I don't remember.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: I am sure.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: These numbers are not produced by the Minister.

An Hon. Member: No.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: They are verified, as I said, by professional public officers in the Ministry of Finance and reviewed by the Auditor General.

Sometimes we don't agree with the Auditor General. But at the end of the day, as the Member, Mr. Campbell, we realise that at the end of the day they come to us and talk to us. I am sure that the former Minister met with them many times. We agree. We disagree on certain things. But they have to sign off.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: They have to sign off. So all the information that they wrote on page 21 is absolutely incorrect.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: It is absolutely incorrect. And the Honourable Members on that side, the Honourable Member Vance Campbell, knows this.

An Hon. Member: Mm-hmm.

Another Hon. Member: Wow!

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: I had to call you because you and I are in the same profession.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: You are in the same profession as myself. And so, my point is, it is untrue. And how would you allow . . . I am not sure whether you all read this before or if it was the first time you heard it like we did. But I am sure many of you have had to have asked that question. Where did you get $50 million off-balance sheet spending? I will be willing to sit down if you are willing to stand up and tell us.

An Hon. Member: Where is DeCouto?

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Oh, he is going to tell us.

An Hon. Member: Yes.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: So, he is telling us the Auditor General that we trust is wrong.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: That is what you are telling us. Is that what you are going to tell us? That the Auditor who we have trusted for umpteen years is incorrect and the Honourable Member DeCouto—

An Hon. Member: Who has left the Chamber.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Who has left the Chambers—

An Hon. Member: Yes.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: —is right.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Gross debt has not . . . the Honourable Member is coming now. Gross debt has not significantly changed in the period he referenced, from 2023 to 2025.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Point of information, Madam Deputy Speaker.

The Deputy Speaker: Do you yield?

[Inaudible interjections]

The Deputy Speaker: Do you yield for a point of information?

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: No. No, I don't. No. No.

The Deputy Speaker: Okay.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: No, no.

[Crosstalk]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: No, no he just . . . Honourable Members. He can point of order—

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Minister.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Point of information—

[Crosstalk]

The Deputy Speaker: Minister, just speak to me. Thank you.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: So, Madam Deputy Speaker, what did change was the balance in the Sinking Fund. That is what we are referring to. Which affected net debt and that is a normal, expected part of public finance.

Madam Deputy Speaker, the Sinking Fund came from excess borrowing. Anybody who is not aware of that, it is a reserve fund primarily to repay debt. That is how it is done.

An Hon. Member: Mm-hmm.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Pay it back. As a matter of fact, I was in this Honourable House in a certain Cabinet when the Honourable Dr. David Saul said, We are going to set aside . . . I think it was 2.5 per cent.

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: No, it came to Parliament. I know you weren't here. That's right. I think it was 2.5 per cent . . . I think it was 2.5 per cent that was set aside to put in the Sinking Fund. The great Curtis Dickinson recognised . . . Why would you go out when you have got no money, you are going to borrow the money and put it in a Sinking Fund for? Why? Because the purpose was to pay off debt coming in the future. That was the purpose of the Sinking Fund, setting money aside. This was in 1994, I think was, 1995.

[Inaudible interjections]

An Hon. Member: [It was] 1994.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: It think David Saul was Minister of Finance way back then.

But the Honourable Member Curtis Dickinson recognised why would go out and just borrow money and put it in a fund? And increase the debt again. Does that make sense, fellows? Ladies? So, we appreciate what the Honourable Member Curtis Dickinson did at that time.

So, Madam Deputy Speaker, I would like to provide a breakdown for the Members of this House as of 31 March 2023 the Government's Sinking Fund was valued at $223 million. As of 31 March 2025, it is projected to be valued at $35 million. So, what happened in between?

This would be a change of approximately $188 million. So, the primary reason for the transfer from the Sinking Fund was what? Madam Deputy Speaker, $50 million was to reduce the debt. Do we all agree? Yes.

Madam Deputy Speaker, $45 million was transferred to Government account for interest expense. It was accounted for in the Government's books, by the way, as interest expense. [There was] $30 million transferred to the MRF (mutual reinsurance fund) because in 2024 (I think it was 2024) this House passed . . . it allowed the Minister of Finance . . . let me get it right.

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Investments were made under . . . as a matter of fact, you can take some of that money and put it in investment, investment under subsection (1B). Offset future years' deficit or transfer money to other public funds. And that what was being done. The MRF . . . said, $30 million was transferred to MRF, Mutual Reinsurance Fund, in 2024 and 2025.

And, [Madam Deputy] Speaker, the Government has recognised shortfalls in the GHI last year, and $30 million was transferred to that. And the other part was $29 million in 2023/24 which offset the Sinking Fund. Tell me, where was the around-the-corner, back-in-slide-type, under-the-cover, putting-money-somewhere-else-off-the-balance-sheet?

This Honourable House, this Honourable House—

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Point of information, Madam—

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: No, no, no.

The Deputy Speaker: Do you accept a point of information?

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: No. If he said a point of order, I would . . . but a point of information I am not willing to because he has already misled us with information. I am not going to set him up again and let him give more misinformation. That's not on the table.

An Hon. Member: Well done.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: So, Madam Deputy Speaker, in March—

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: —as I mentioned, in 2024 we made some changes to the Government Loans Amendment Act which introduced significant changes to the utilisation of excess funds. And I kind of spelled out the changes between 2023 and [20]25. So, this is not financial trickery. It is responsible fiscal management.

Some Hon. Members: Mm-hmm.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: The surplus plus is legitimate and when the Auditor General audits the account they will tell us whether it is $19 million, or it is $18 million or it may end up being $20 million. But they will tell us. And if you want to take it up and discuss the Auditor's report, so be it. This Honourable House has the right to do it. We laid it down; you want to take it up and debate it, so be it.

So, talk about reliance on international business. So, Madam Deputy Speaker, as I mentioned earlier, let the numbers speak for themselves. The OBA always speaks about leadership. Well, let's look at the leadership under the OBA and the PLP since 2012.

Some Hon. Members: Oh-oh!

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: [Madam Deputy] Speaker, one thing for sure, we have a record. We can't hide. Every one of us has a record. And when we stand before the great day, hallelujah.

[Laughter]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: We have a record.

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: We will have a record. Anyway, we will get to that right now.

So, Madam Deputy Speaker, total net debt of Sinking Fund. In 2013, who was the Government?

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Sorry. I thought everybody was wondering.

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Total net debt of Sinking Fund was $1.4 billion. In 2024, it went up to $1.7 [billion]. In 2015, it up to $2.0 [billion].

An Hon. Member: Oh-oh!

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Sorry, what years was that? What years was your Government in place?

An Hon. Member: They borrowed some more.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Oh, sorry. In 2016, it went up further to $2.2 [billion]. And in 2017, guess what it went up? [It went up to] $2.3 [billion].

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Here we go. We will get a point or order now—for sure.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: It kind of stayed stable until 2020. Now we all know what happened in 2020. We would rather help out our people instead of letting them suffer. We helped out with financial assistance. There were a whole bunch of things. And Ministers who were around at that time can speak on it. But it was around that time we borrowed the money—$600 million, by the way. We borrowed another $187 million the year after. I'm sorry. What were we paying off? Oh, sorry. Morgan's Point. I'm sorry.

[Laughter]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Sorry. Morgan's Point. I knew it was something that affected [you]. These are numbers. And the Honourable Members were responsible for that.

Madam Deputy Speaker, let me also speak about this. In 2013, who was the Government?

An Hon. Member: Still them.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: I'm sorry—$299 million in deficit. In 2014, the deficit was $265 million. It went up . . . he did a pretty good job in 2015. It was only $160 million.

[Laughter]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: In 2016, I'm sorry. He must have made a mistake. It went back down to $182 million. Deficit! Under your Government! The Honourable Member Craig Cannonier—because none of you were in the room. We became Government in 2017. So, listen, Madam Deputy Speaker, the deficit was $182 million under them in 2016. What was the deficit under the Progressive Labour Party in 2017? Just one year later. [It was] $70 million.

An Hon. Member: Oh-oh!

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: In one year we were able to improve things. In those years we cut taxes for the people significantly.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Yes. I know. I know I am an accountant. That's why I was able to tell you.

[Madam Deputy] Speaker, 2017, [the] $77 million went to $32 million in 2019. Of course, we had a huge deficit in 2020 because we all know what happened. But then we climbed back up. The deficit went to $56 [million] to $34 [million], $29 [million] and a whopping $19 million in surplus in 2024/25. Let the numbers speak for themselves. And we are projecting $48 . . . $43 million in 2025/26. Madam Deputy Speaker, I can tell you right now, looking at the history and how the expenses work within Government, we probably could come up even more. But we are going to be conservative in our approach.

An Hon. Member: Yes.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: We are going to be conservative in our approach. Now, I understand. Yes, we put aside (I think) $187 billion in CIT. But there is no secret. The experts out there have been projecting $750 million in CIT. But we are saying, No, no. We are only going to look at $187 [million]. That is the conservative approach in counting revenue. You are telling me you would not take anything. Well, first of all, I don't believe you.

[Laughter]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: And the people—

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Point of order, Mr. Speaker.

[Hon. Dennis P. Lister, Jr., Speaker, in the Chair]

The Speaker: Point of order.

POINT OF ORDER

[Misleading]

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: The Member is unintentionally misleading the House. I believe we outlaid specifically the things we would take out of it. Not that we would not take anything out of it. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: He is probably seeking—

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: I'm sorry, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: —more clarification on it. He hadn't seen it clearly yet.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: The Honourable Member said these words:

An Hon. Member: These words. And I quote.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: And I quote.

[Laughter]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: CIT. It says something about two or three years they would not take any funds out of that account. Did I get it right?

An Hon. Member: Yes, he said it.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: I know I was sleeping around that time—

[Laughter]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: —when the Honourable Member spoke these words. But Mr. Speaker, the Honourable Member said something about two or three years that they would not take the funds.

An Hon. Member: He said it.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Oh, here it is. “The One Bermuda Alliance would take a more moderate, transparent, and realistic approach. First, we would craft a budget that works without including” (now, that’s English to me) “the CIT for at least the next two to three years.”

Some Hon. Members: Oh-oh! That’s what he said.

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Do you have an apology coming to me?

An Hon. Member: What’s that? A point of apology?

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: You said you wouldn’t take it.

An Hon. Member: Keep reading.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: No, you read it.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: But, Madam Deputy Speaker . . . Madam Speaker, sorry. Mr. Speaker . . . sorry. I’m sorry. I’m so busy—

The Speaker: I knew you would get it right.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: I’m too busy looking at the ladies out there earlier. So, look at this, Mr. Speaker, I said, let the numbers speak for themselves. So, payroll tax policy under the Progressive Labour Party reduced payroll taxes for local businesses and exempted specific groups (for example: farmers and fisherman) and helped the disabled between 2017 and 2025. Under the One Bermuda Alliance, from 2012 to 2017, they increased payroll tax from 14.5 per cent to 15.5 per cent and rolled back sector concessions and introduced tiered employer rates.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: This is the One Bermuda Alliance that wants to come out and take . . . take . . . take charge.

[Mr. Speaker], I mentioned earlier that the Honourable Member Bob Richards in 2017, I think . . . not think. The PLP was charging 10 cents per litre for the fuel adjustment. The Honourable Member Smith may know this. The next year he increased to 15 cents. The next year he increased it to 20 cents. We are now going down to 4 cents. So, the Honourable Member would have left that figure . . . he would have left that figure.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Yes, it’s true. You can check the data out. That’s the truth. You were a Government that taxed the people over and over again. You did not care about the people.

An Hon. Member: No.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Hence why you lost the election in 2017. And the people did not trust you again in 2020 and they didn’t trust you again in 2025. You are not to be trusted.

[Inaudible interjection]

An Hon. Member: No confidence.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: They have no confidence in a party that keeps on talking and the Honourable Member lays out the facts of what they will do in the future. They won’t vote for you again.

[Laughter]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: That’s why I said, he doesn’t represent the Honourable Member Ann Cartwright.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Point of order, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Point of order.

[Crosstalk]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: No, I’m not.

The Speaker: Point of order.

POINT OF ORDER

[Standing Order 19, Rules of Debate]

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: It is behaviour unbecoming a Member of this House, Mr. Speaker. And I would request—

[Inaudible interjections]

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: —that this gentleman, that the Member—

[Inaudible interjections]

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: —I would request that the Member retract his statement out of respect for the former Deputy Premier and Minister of this country. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Madam Deputy Speaker [sic]—

The Speaker: Hold on, Members.

The only reason I didn't call him myself on it was because he didn't say anything negative about her.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: That's right.

The Speaker: He said that . . . just . . . again, he clarified that you were not her. If he had said anything negative about her, I definitely would have called him on it. But—

[Inaudible interjections]

The Speaker: But . . . but, having said that . . . having said that . . . having said that I am going to be sensitive to the fact that it is your mother. And ask the Member to be more sensitive in your comments towards his mother. Okay? Particularly this being Mother's Day weekend.

[Crosstalk]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Mr. Speaker, I accept . . . I have no problem with that. But the Honourable Member was a Member of Parliament. And we can quote exactly some of the things that the Honourable Member said. The Honourable Member . . . I'm not sure if the Honourable Member realises it that the Honourable Member left the United Bermuda Party and became an Independent candidate.

[Crosstalk]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: These are factual things. But these are factual things. I am just saying things that are factual. Right? I left the United Bermuda Party too.

[Laughter]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Yes, I did. That's factual. That's factual. I have no problem . . . I have no problem with that. But these are the facts. Right? The information . . . I had been sitting in the room. Minister . . . let me go quiet. Let me go quiet with that one.

Okay, Mr. Speaker, new business. One year payroll tax holiday for new local businesses was in 2018 to the present. No formal payroll tax holiday was given by the One Bermuda Alliance.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: New hire relief exempted employers from additional payroll tax from 2018 to 2026. If I think . . . I am corrected . . . Members. But no specific employer payroll tax by the One Bermuda Alliance. The PLP launched . . . BEDC grants, et cetera, et cetera. But nothing done by the One Bermuda Alliance. It may eliminate payroll tax for self-employed, but nothing done by the One Bermuda Alliance. These are facts, Mr. Speaker. That is why I said, let the numbers speak for themselves. And this is even after we were still fighting . . . a period when it was tough when it came to COVID-19. And we had to get through that. We worked the numbers out and made it and we kept on going. We reduced, I think, 86 per cent . . . I think that is the number there.

An Hon. Member: Yes.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Mr. Speaker, 86 per cent for those who were under a certain number.

An Hon. Member: Get it right.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: I will get it right—86 per cent. I will. But it is the truth.

Honourable Member Vance Campbell, but what has your party done?

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: What has your party done? They have done absolutely zero!

The Speaker: Direct your comments this way.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: They have done absolutely zero!

The Speaker: Don't get caught up and sidetracked.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: They did absolutely zero before and the Honourable Member, the way he speaks now, will do absolutely zero business in the future.

Madam Deputy Speaker, Madam . . . Mr. Speaker—

The Speaker: I think you like that yellow dress she has.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: I do. I like—

The Speaker: You must have been attracted to that yellow dress. That's all.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: I am going to put the Member up there again.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Mr. Speaker, taxi drivers.

An Hon. Member: Yes.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Under the One Bermuda Alliance they were paying roughly $2,500 per year for their licence. The taxi driver, under the Progressive Labour Party, they are paying $600 yearly.

An Hon. Member: And they are still angry at you.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: They aren't angry with me anymore.

[Laughter]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Mr. Speaker, I can tell you right now, I catch a taxi a lot.

[Laughter]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: He has a problem catching taxies. Right? He has problems catching taxies. But not Wayne Furbert. I can tell you right now.

So, Mr. Speaker, let the facts and numbers speak for themselves. We have had two consecutive budget surpluses—$19.7 [million] for 2024/25. For 2025/26, $43.3 million. Revenue growth—$1.43 billion. There was a 16 per cent increase over 2024/25.

Mr. Speaker, the largest increase in projected capital expenditure was $149.8 million. The largest investment since 2008. These are facts.

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Capital expenditure.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Capital expenditure. Capital expenditure, Mr. Speaker.

This year, Mr. Speaker, we are reducing the material custom duties as low as 10 per cent on some of our buildings.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: I am referring to some of the information. I thought I . . . I don't know what he is talking about.

So, we were reducing to at least 10 per cent. And the base rate is going from [$]300 to [$]150. These are . . . these are . . . and even after all those tax reductions which you do not support—

[Laughter]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: —which you do not . . . because the Honourable Member said it. He said he wouldn't do it. He said something else. He said he would give sugar tax removal. And he will do . . . well, he got my whole nut chocolate down; I have no problem with that one.

[Laughter]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: And that is all he will do, Mr. Speaker. There was nothing in that Budget Reply that we can put our hands on and clap and applaud at what the Honourable Member has said. There is nothing. Cumulative payroll tax savings from 2017 to 2025 was about $9,480 per worker. These are facts. And you are saying that we don't care. We do care. And even as we said, after all those tax reductions, after all these increases in expenditure, et cetera, et cetera, we are still pushing for . . . looking . . . projecting for a surplus.

And as I mentioned earlier about the fuel duty. And the Honourable Member Craig Cannonier supported the 20 cents per litre charged on the people at that time. And wondered why the tax for our fuel . . . and wondered why our electricity costs went up. The Honourable Member Craig Cannonier, as a matter of fact, I think he was Leader at the time when that took place, supported it—20 cents per litre. And I want everybody in the public to hear this.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Twenty cents per litre that was put through by the One Bermuda Alliance under the leadership of Craig Cannonier.

[Crosstalk]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: We have gotten rid of him.

[Laughter]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: We reduced it to six point . . . six point . . . 8 per cent last year. And now we are reducing it to 4 cents. It is not the when. You guys wouldn't do it at all. That is the issue. You would not have done it because you don't think that way. You don't think—

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: You don't think progressive when it comes to taxes. You don't.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: You don't think that way. Because you talk about . . . the Honourable Member is talking about that he won't touch it. Where will he get his money from? Where?

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: We say . . . it's in our budget. We laid out where we are getting the money. We have laid it out. And some of it is CIT. Yes, it is.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Yes, it is, some of it. But you said you wouldn't touch it. And if you are not going to touch it, where would you get it from? Another deficit.

An Hon. Member: Oh-oh!

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: You have to stand up and tell the public if you want to gain some support and try to win the next election, at least tell them how you will spend the money, or how you will raise the money.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Point of information, Mr. Speaker.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: No, no. No point of information.

The Speaker: Point of information. He doesn't have to take it.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: No, I am . . . no.

And we are talking about the future as far as removing . . . the elimination of payroll taxes for employers who retain Bermudian employees for employers . . . by the way, that includes small businesses, that includes retail and a lot of them, as you know, keep their people for several years working in retail. And the Honourable Member said that we are not doing anything for them for small businesses in retail. The Honourable Member . . . some of you who have particular workers, you will not pay payroll tax for those who are over the age of 65. That is positive. That is positive!

So, as I said, Mr. Speaker, we have continuously reduced payroll tax for 86 per cent of the Bermuda workforce, expanded child care allowance, eliminated custom duties on essential goods, cut energy taxes by 60 per cent, reduced private car licence fees . . . will be reduced, abolish land tax for charities and nursing homes, and froze local fuel prices during global price surge. These are positive things that the Progressive Labour Party has done and will continue to do.

I am sure the Honourable Member Craig Cannonier does not want to hear all this.

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: I do.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Mr. Speaker, under the PLP they emphasised social equity, increased funding to education scholarships which you [the OBA] never did. Health, housing and public pensions, funded capital works like road paving. New ferries . . . on its way. October, I believe it is coming in. Digital government and public health upgrades. What did the OBA do? Investments slowed under austerity, social and capital spending were more constrained.

An Hon. Member: Oh-oh!

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Yes, it was. And you still had a $299 million deficit.

An Hon. Member: I remember.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: We came in the next year and had a deficit of $70 million.

Mr. Speaker, as we move to conclude, I would like to thank the Honourable Member DeCouto for his contribution, although I didn't hear all of it. In my closing I will address the final points raised and reiterate why I remain confident that the course we are on is the correct one. Above all I will return to the core theme: Let the numbers speak for themselves.

And, Mr. Speaker, the numbers we have been discussing speak volumes about Bermuda's progress. Mr. Speaker, there is no complacency on the Government's benches. We are prudent, not pompous. Every statistic of success we cite is taken with humility and a resolve to do even better. In other words, Mr. Speaker, the work has just begun. We are not finished. And as time goes on, as most Cabinet Ministers realise, there could be some changes that come place. As you know, we are projecting certain tax reductions as of April. If things get better, then we can improve . . . I am sure the Minister may even be bringing it ahead further.

Looking at . . . as the Honourable Member said cash flow. We can improve some things on [it.] But we will see. So, I wasn't . . . I know the numbers. I think will speak volumes or be even better. Members may even bring it even further up. Instead of doing it April 1. The significance of achieving consecutive budget surpluses after so long is not lost on this House and the public itself. We understand it as a mandate to continue responsible management. Likewise, record employment and low unemployment are blessings that we must work to safeguard through training our people and nurturing key industries.

We fully agree with the Opposition that these positive trends must be maintained and not squandered. However, where we diverge from the Opposition's narrative is in the level of confidence we have in Bermuda's direction.

I heard caution from the Honourable Member. Caution. Which is healthy. But I also hear reluctance to give full credit where it is due. I doubt any Members, understand . . . I will say a few things that are positive. They may change their minds now that I am saying it.

So let me state clearly for the people listening. Bermuda's economic recovery is real. It is robust. And it was achieved by design and not by accident. It was not by accident. The Honourable Ministers around this table know the pressure that we all come under and how we fight for certain things and get certain things and blah, blah, blah.

It has been a partnership between a government that provides sound policy and a populace and business community that preserves and innovates. We in Government do not claim sole credit. We cannot. What we claim is that we created the condition for our people and industries to succeed. And you cannot deny that we have created an environment for international businesses to thrive. We just for the last week, or last . . . yes, this week, we have had industries here. No one believed the industry at the time that the Premier at the time was speaking about. No one believed him.

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Not even I . . . I was struggling trying to figure out how to work the machine. But even then, even I after . . . well, one day. But it is the future that we are living in. But most Members, as a matter of fact, if we go back in history, you will probably find Honourable Members on that side speaking against it. But it is happening. It is happening. For us who are moving off the scene, times will change. Nobody had . . . we had record players. We had . . . remember those record players?

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Remember the record players? Times have changed.

Let me re-emphasise those outcomes one last time, Mr. Speaker. Because they bear repeating. Our gross domestic product has grown strongly four years in a row putting us ahead of many developed economies in growth rate. We have more Bermudians working, particularly in high paying sectors, than ever before. Our unemployment rate is at 1.6 per cent. It is the lowest in over half a century. Something that would have been unimaginable in the dark days of 2020. Not many of us would have believed that we would have met those numbers.

We have brought Government's finances from a deficit to a surplus position. And not just on paper, Mr. Speaker. That surplus would be used to reduce our debt. We know it is 3.3 . . . 3.23 . . . or 3.25 or whatever it is. And we will use those numbers to reduce our debt. And we can say it without being apologetic. Those numbers will help. And for the . . . what? Another four years, five years. And I can't wait for . . . now, I may not be here, but whatever happens in the next five years, I am hoping that some of you Members are here when we could probably celebrating and say, It's down to zero. Under the Progressive Labour Party Government. A government that when I was in another place would not, did not have the fortitude and the ability to do what they are doing now. In other words, there was a certain group, which they have now become the One Bermuda Alliance, did not believe . . . the people did not believe that we could do it.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: That is what I am saying. But we have proven without a shadow of a doubt that we are able to do what we said we could do. They are walking back. They are walking back. One thing about it, you read my book when I talk about that other group.

But my point, Mr. Speaker, is that we have done it, and we can do it again. These are tangible benefits and people's lives are not abstract numbers. The Opposition asked what . . . will these good numbers last? Mr. Speaker, with wise management I believe that they will not only last but improve. We are not merely resting on the current figures, we are actively planning and working to keep the momentum. Now, every Member on this side and particularly the Ministers, understand that. Honourable Member Jason Hayward was away this week at RIMS. He didn't just go there to say hi, and you know, drink some ginger ale. But he went there to improve the business so that we get more IB business here.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Yes, but the Honourable Member complains about IB business growing. He did.

Our fiscal prudence will ensure that even if growth moderates, we will not slip backwards into crisis. Our commitment to diversification and education will ensure that if one sector slows, others can pick up slack. We are building a Bermuda that is resilient. The Economic Development Strategy mentioned earlier is a roadmap for the next several years. It is not a document for a shelf. It is a working plan being executed daily. And Honourable Member Jason Hayward is responsible for the Economic Development Strategy.

We are moderating our infrastructure, investing in our workforce, attracting new investors and improving Government efficiency. All to underpin sustained growth and should global economic weather worsen, and it is possible, we have contingency plans and the buffers I spoke of to navigate that as well. So, in other words, anything that happens, that 46 may go down to 10. But we have a buffer in place to make some things happen.

Mr. Speaker, it has been said that success has many fathers. And failure is an orphan. Maybe you didn't hear that. In this case, Bermuda's recent successes have many contributors, and I am pleased that in this debate we have all in our own way taken ownership of the success and also of the on-going responsibility to maintain it.

The Opposition rightly wants to ensure that the Government does not veer off course. The Government is determined to stay on course. If there is a take-away for the public, it is this: Bermuda is on sound footing today. We have come through the worst and emerged stronger. That is cause for optimism—cautious optimism, yes. But optimism nevertheless. We are optimistic. And I believe the Honourable Members on that side are optimistic. Because you are under the Progressive Labour Party Government. The phrase, Let the numbers speak for themselves, was my theme. Let the numbers speak for themselves. And I have laid out clearly some of the numbers from the period under the One Bermuda Alliance Government and under us.

We hear a lot of numbers given out today. To conclude, I would like to translate those numbers back into what they really mean for people. Strong GDP growth, budget surplus, better opportunities for Bermudians, more jobs, potentially higher wages as employers compete for talent. And that is the truth. That is the truth! And Honourable Member DeCouto can speak to that as they compete for the talent in Bermuda. And more ability for the Government to invest in education, health care and social programmes.

Lower unemployment means dignity of work and self-sufficiency for our citizens. Parents providing for their families, young graduates finding their first jobs at home in Bermuda, and seniors (perhaps) able to work if they wish without penalizing taxes. And that is by lowering the taxes or reducing taxes for 65. That reduction remains a significant burden on the future generations. We must remove that debt.

These outcomes are why we govern. The honourable Opposition has expressed hope that in five years we will look back at 2025 as a stepping stone. And I hope you do. That you look back on this period of time and realise that this was a stepping stone. Last year we budgeted $210,000 and this year we are budgeting $46 million. So, it is not a peak. I share that hope and more than that, I have confidence it will be so. Because this Government will continue to be guided by the principles that got us here. Fiscal prudence. Investment in our people. And we have done it. Fairness in how we distribute the gains. If we stick to that, Bermuda's numbers will continue to speak, and they will speak at a prosperous, fair, and secure nation.

Mr. Speaker, I reiterate, let the numbers speak for themselves. The numbers tell me, Mr. Speaker, that Bermuda is going in the right direction. Mr. Speaker, I know I have two minutes left. With the foundation we have laid, and the vigilance we will maintain, I am confident that when the numbers speak next year, and the year after, and the year after [that], it will be an even more impressive story for this Government to give the country.

Mr. Speaker, may we continue to work together for the good of Bermudian people. The numbers have spoken, and they speak to a brighter future for Bermuda.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Thank you, Junior Minister.

[Desk thumping]

The Speaker: Does any other Member wish to make a contribution?

The Opposition Leader—let me reset the clock.

Opposition Leader, you have the floor.

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: And it is a 30-minute clock now.

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I will endeavour to get your title right during my contribution.

The Speaker: All right.

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Mr. Speaker, I want to first start by congratulating the Honourable Shadow Finance Minister on his first Reply to the Budget. The Honourable Member from constituency 25, as you are well aware, is new to the House after successfully contesting the last general election and has subsequently joined and covered himself in competence and esteem and I am very thankful he comes here to continue to uplift the work of the Honourable House.

I would further like to reiterate, if I may read a portion of his contribution. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

I do believe he has entirely provided ample evidence that shows just how hollow the Government's claims of fairness really are as businesses and Bermudians in the local economy continue to struggle and the cost of living outstrips whatever small pay increases people are getting.

I would also like to follow along the Honourable Member from constituency 6 contribution to this debate wherein he outlined that times have changed and I couldn't agree more with him on that specific point. Something has gone horribly wrong in Bermuda. I don't . . . I mean, maybe they were canvassing different houses than I was, but I did not see a lot of happy people when I was wandering around out there.

Something that has also gone horribly wrong in Bermuda is . . . and I know that my colleagues will never, ever do this. And I am warning everyone now that we will never speak about another Honourable Member's mother in passing or in jest. Something has gone horribly wrong.

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Point of order, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Okay. I was . . . I was . . . go ahead.

POINT OF ORDER

[Misleading]

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Mr. Speaker, the Honourable Member is misleading the House and the people of this country. Right? No one . . . you even ruled, Mr. Speaker, that the Honourable Member Furbert was not talking about any Honourable Member's mother in a derogatory way.

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: In fact, he did. He highlighted her accomplishments.

The Speaker: I really want to decide how I am going to weigh in on this. Because your mother was actually one of those ladies I liked when she got on her feet. She was a real firebrand. And there are some Members when they get up you want to leave because they will put you to sleep. Your momma did not do that. She handled herself—

[Inaudible interjections and laughter]

The Speaker: No, no. No, no. No, no, no, no. She handled herself extremely well on her feet. And you would sit there and want to engage when she was doing it. So, I see her contribution on the floor as a positive. And I think . . . I did not take any offence to the Member's comment as being negative toward your momma. Because I sat there when your momma was there. I saw your momma perform and I knew what your momma brought to the debates. And I was thinking, you know, he was being credible to your mother, actually. So, if I missed something, I missed something. But I thought your momma brought a very positive contribution to the floor.

[Inaudible interjections]

The Speaker: Okay?

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Mr. Speaker, with your permission, may I say a . . . may I make a comment?

The Speaker: Okay. Make your comment.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: I just want to say I am grateful for those kind words of my mother. And I also know that when people have to start talking about your family rather than the substance of your topic, you are probably doing pretty well.

Some Hon. Members: Ooh!

[Inaudible interjections]

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Well, rest assured that if any Member spoke negative toward another Member's mother or family, I would definitely pull him on that, but I did not see that. And I was sincere when I said that your mother was one of those . . . she was a firebrand. She definitely was.

Hon. Jarion Richardson: And to that end, of some of the other things that are happening which are discouraging to Bermuda and Bermudians at this moment, as I said, we have all been recently wandering around, specifically canvassing after the last general election, and we are getting many, many complaints on the doorsteps. And this budget is part of that problem. It is a budget that is built on an illusion.

Mr. Speaker, I can use the example of the CIT, corporate income tax. Insofar as the working papers that this Government is using to say that $187 million will be coming in, this Honourable House has not had the benefit of such materials and research and is in fact entirely reliant on the Cabinet to simply state a number, and for us to go, Yes. Because we have seen nothing that allows us to interrogate, scrutinise, evaluate, assess and give feedback on the accuracy of that number. So, we are entirely reliant on someone else telling us that this is in fact going to happen, when and how.

I take a note, Mr. Speaker, that if . . . I feel as if I went into a board meeting, and I said that we are going to see a 20 per cent increase in revenue off of an unidentified line item that has not previously existed before, I feel like members of the board would stop me and ask me to justify such a statement and to explain it in detail because that is an incredible amount of money and on it relies a great deal of Government's hopes. More specifically, their claim towards a surplus which is going to happen in the future is based entirely on whether or not the CIT comes through. And so, without the benefit of the working papers, in fact, without the benefit of anything whatsoever, other than their Statement, it is not entirely unreasonable that Members of the Opposition, in fact any one in Bermuda, would have a question about the reliability of such a statement.

To that end, Mr. Speaker, my point is that this budget is entirely built on an illusion and a hope. And I 100 per cent agree with my honourable colleagues from constituency 25 that when it comes to preparing for the future, illusions are no basis for progress.

Mr. Speaker, we are speaking further to the circumstances in which we find ourselves in Bermuda. Obviously, all of us are living through the state of the roads. We are living through the state of the cost of living. The price of food going up by a quarter, according to the Chamber of Commerce. Energy bills going up. Medications going up. Every single one of us is living in that reality. And I believe that is the reality that the Honourable Shadow Finance Minister was alluding to when he was talking about the local economy.

He was speaking about the lived experiences of many, many people as we make our way throughout Bermuda. And the lived experience indicates that things are not getting fairer. That things are not getting easier. But that things are getting harder. So much so that multiples of our countrymen, our brothers, our sisters, our cousins, our mothers, our parents, are in fact leaving Bermuda to head for greener pastures elsewhere.

This recovery is in fact not being felt by Bermudians. But I believe my honourable colleague has made that point and I simply wish to reiterate that is what he is talking about. I would be quite impressed to hear how my honourable colleagues who have been out canvassing and out speaking are getting different feedback that Bermuda and Bermudians are in fact falling in love with the current economic state and think that everything is heading in the right direction.

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Sorry? Yes.

So, to that end, Mr. Speaker, we were talking earlier about international business. I just want to clarify something that the Honourable Member from constituency 6 was speaking to. Absolutely no one in the Opposition has a problem with international business growing, has a problem with international business being here, participating. Its relevance and role, not just to our economy but to our entire social fabric is key. Of the 35,000 employees, workers in Bermuda, some 5,000 are employed in international business. And yet the majority of our payroll tax receipts come from that very small group.

International business is that place where people can work toward and have and have risen their standard of living by working in that area. But also, international business is that place where we get to meet new people to the Island, welcome them into our community, show them the things that make Bermuda indeed the best place in the world, and invite them into our community and culture. And that is definitely taking place.

I remember the first time I went to Cup Match and I saw a reinsurance broker's sign up on the bleachers and it was . . . I couldn't figure out why they were advertising there, but . . . it is because they are buying into Bermuda. And so, when I am talking here on this specific point, when we say international business is up, we are in no way, shape or form complaining about that. What we are saying is that the Bermudian job numbers are down.

The growth in international business is effectively covering up the damages that are happening in other places in the economy and that is our point. Not that that growth is bad, simply that it is warping the total picture of what is happening within our economy. Household spending is stagnant, and retail is weak. Those are realities.

Hon. Jason Hayward: Point of order, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Point of order.

POINT OF ORDER

[Misleading]

Hon. Jason Hayward: The Member is continuously misleading the House. The economic data shows that the agricultural, forestry and fishing sector is above 2019 levels. The electricity, water supply and waste sector is above 2019 levels. Wholesale and retail trade is above 2019 levels.

An Hon. Member: Yes.

Hon. Jason Hayward: Information and communication is above 2019 levels. Financial and insurance activities, which is domestic, is above 2019 levels. Real estate activities are above 2019 levels. Professional, scientific and technical [are] above 2019 levels. And I can go on and on and on.

They are creating this narrative that it is not factual as it pertains to the performance of the other sectors within our economy. And I would ask them to look at the detailed breakdown of GDP, real GDP by industry, and look at the performance of the pre-pandemic activity in 2019 to the current performance now and you will see that there is growth in a number of sectors outside of international business.

The Speaker: [No audio]

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Yes, I am looking forward . . . that very glowing and optimistic clarification [from] the Honourable Member from constituency 17. I am looking forward to him accompanying me after the House when I go grocery shopping.

[Laughter and inaudible interjections]

Hon. Jarion Richardson: I will take the point of order. Go ahead. No? Okay. You can come grocery shopping with me too, you know.

[Laughter and crosstalk]

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Thank you. Thank you.

So, some of the solutions that the Honourable Shadow Minister had brought up was dealing with stemming the contributing factors leading to our increase cost of living. And I just used the example of groceries, but it is quite clear.

In fact, the Honourable Shadow Minister spoke before about how the tax burden would be split if there were more people on Island. We would simply each be paying less because there are more people to pay into the kitty, and those sorts of ideas. Now these aren't terribly complicated ideas, Mr. Speaker. Indeed, one of our economic working group's chairperson—

Mr. W. Lawrence Scott: Point of order, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Point of order.

POINT OF ORDER
[Misleading]

Mr. W. Lawrence Scott: The Honourable Member is misleading the House. He has said multiple times that the Government has nothing to help reduce the cost of living and he uses the grocery store as an example. This Government has reduced duty costs and duty amounts on fresh fruits and vegetables, on water and other grocery items which have not been passed on to the consumer. And so therefore the Government has done its part but the corporate entities that are at bay have not done theirs.

The Speaker: Mm-hmm.

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Thank you. I thank c—which one are you? I thank the Honourable Member from constituency 24. I think he heard something that I might have . . . I don't think I said that the Government didn't do anything about the cost of living. I said they are welcome to join me at my grocery shopping.

So . . . where was I? I was moving on. Oh, yes. We were talking about the population, Mr. Speaker, because it is a fairly easy thing to understand that the more people we have, the less pressure, cost pressures we are going to face. And to that end, that is why we have been raising that as a constant issue. And in this budget, we were hoping to see some reforms in that direction, some allocations in that direction.

A good example, Mr. Speaker, of a policy idea that gets funded in the budget is of course universal health care which sees some $50-plus million being allocated to it. So, the policy idea of immigration reform being funded is not unexpected here. But we don't see it. So, therefore, we know that that issue is still being left unaddressed while more and more people continue to—

Hon. Jason Hayward: Point of order.

The Speaker: Point of order.

POINT OF ORDER
[Misleading]

Hon. Jason Hayward: I have come to this House on multiple occasions and spoke about the initiatives that we are doing to increase our working population. I have put out reports that speak to the goals that we have set out to accomplish as it pertains to us increasing our working population.

There was a member that just chirped as it pertains to how's it going? But what I want to say is that between 2021 and 2024 our working population has increased by over 2,000 individuals. Persons may not be happy with the rate of progress, but progress is being made in the right direction, and we continue to increase our working population since we are recovering from the pandemic.

The Speaker: Thank you.
Continue on.

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Yes, I thank the Honourable Member from constituency 17 for speaking because it helps remind us that the target he set was 8,000 in five years. And I think we have run out of those five years. Or are we almost there yet? I can't remember. But 2,000 is certainly better than zero. So, we credit you with 2,000.

Yes, but he raises a good point, the Honourable Member from constituency 17, relating to the working population as a number. It is our supposition, Mr. Speaker, that the population increase would benefit from those who also are not working, like children. As we are well aware, the enrolment . . . and we will be talking about that during the budget process. School enrolments are down, and the Honourable Minister of Education has had a number of things to say about that . . . Sorry, the Honourable former Minister of Education had a number of things to say about that during the Reply to the Throne Speech. So, this is a great example because children eat too. So that is how that would impact the economy.

But, Mr. Speaker, let me just go on about some of the circumstances that we are concerned about, that we would like this budget to have addressed, and we have provided some ideas mostly around the food energy, and housing, inflation which has outpaced wage growth. And that is obviously a problem, that disparity is not going to make life any easier. Or to borrow a word from the Government, any fairer.

Earlier our recommendation to drop the sugar tax and reduce the foreign currency purchase tax met with widespread laughter, as I am assuming the position was that it would not affect anything or its arbitrary or too small. As it stands right now, we are well aware of the success of the sugar tax. Its use, or certainly its primary use and how it has not achieved that. And we are all well aware of that, so we still agree that we can be rid of yet another reason to drive up the cost of groceries.

Now, Mr. Speaker, while I am on my feet I would like to talk a little bit about tourism. Our statistics indicate that we are lagging behind in the region and falling behind further from the region every year. As it stands, our 2024 air arrivals are still some 27 per cent below the 2019 numbers whilst our regional peers have recovered fully, or surpassed, pre-COVID-19 levels. So, even though we are moving in the right direction, we are moving at a glacial pace. And the question is: Will the pace be able to compensate or will we be able to actually realise enough gains in a timely enough fashion to save these struggling areas?

Mr. Speaker, whilst I am on my feet talking about tourism, I was reminded by a constituent that I canvassed that the structure of our tourism industry is also not conducive to small businesses, specifically around the maritime water trade tours. There are a number of regulations governing that space, including profit sharing, which reduces the amount of money that the Bermudian tour operator actually gets. And it goes instead toward those very large and fancy international corporations pulling up and dropping off tens of thousands of tourists. And that is a bit disappointing because those guys out there are working incredibly hard. And our Dockyard marine tour sector has typically been a key attraction and the more that we squeeze them the fewer there are. That means the fewer amenities there are in Dockyard. And that is just causing a problem altogether.

And it goes to my main point on tourism, Mr. Speaker. It is quite clear that the Bermuda Tourism Authority has been politicised to this point. And at this point now we watch it with the fascination of an episode of The Young and the Restless. As it stands right now, we . . . every other week we feel like you open the paper, and someone has either come or gone. Every other week you open the paper, and you hear about a board member having said something or not said something.

Mr. W. Lawrence Scott: Point of order, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Point of order.

POINT OF ORDER
[Misleading]

Mr. W. Lawrence Scott: The Honourable Member is misleading the House.

The Speaker: Go ahead.

Mr. W. Lawrence Scott: The Honourable Member is sitting here trying to paint a narrative that his version of what he says, politicisation of the Bermuda Tourism Authority [BTA], is what is hindering growth in the tourism sector when it is actually the fact that we don't have enough hotel rooms, which they spoke against when we brought the Southampton Princess Bill to the House of Assembly. And when Southampton Princess comes on you will see an increase in air arrivals because more seats will become available, more airlines will put on more flights, thus increasing our tourism numbers. And so therefore he cannot sit here and try to paint a picture that it is the BTA and what they are characterising as politicisation when it is actually just our infrastructure.

And keep in mind that it was the UBP that hindered hotel development which is where their . . . which is the ideology which they continue to push forward to today.

The Speaker: Mm-hmm.

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

I thank the Honourable Member from constituency 27 . . . I think it was.

An Hon. Member: Constituency 24.

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Constituency 24.

Yes, so I was fascinated to learn that the title "parliament" comes from old French which is to speak. So, I would disagree with the Honourable Member from constituency 24. I can come on here and say quite a lot of things and paint the . . . and make a compelling argument about circumstances that I see. And he is free to disagree with it. But I will speak because I am allowed to speak. This is Parliament. And I will not be stopped.

Mr. Speaker, I would also like to thank the Honourable Member from constituency 24 for pointing out that I was trying to hinder . . . paint how hindering growth in tourism is entirely the fault of the BTA and that the Opposition is against adding hotel beds. I mean, that's a new one. I think that it's . . . it's certainly a creative approach to tourism. I don't think we are that creative though, to just simply throw away hotel beds.

Mr. Speaker, so as much as I thank the Members for their consideration, certainly their interruptions are allowing us to point out just how much of a threat we pose when we speak these matters.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Jarion Richardson: And I look forward to continuing. So, I am happy to take another seat for another point of order if anyone . . . I hear a lot of people interpolating. I am happy to take a seat and let you talk.

No?

Okay. Because you see when I say that, and I invite someone to talk, I actually sit down. I accept the invitation on a point of clarification.

[Inaudible interjections]

[Ms. Lovitta F. Foggo, Deputy Speaker, in the Chair]

Hon. Jarion Richardson: International business. Madam Deputy Speaker, we already spoke a little bit about the international business and its success in our industries. I think the Honourable Shadow Minister of Finance spoke to the proposition of the Sovereign Wealth Fund and how it is effectively not going to work out well for us in Bermuda. It is one of these things that you see, Madam Deputy Speaker, on CNN a lot. And then you have someone like the expert, that is the Shadow Minister, who then points out just how feeble such an idea would be.

If I may, Madam Deputy Speaker, may I read?

[No audible comment]

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Point of order, Madam Deputy Speaker.

The Deputy Speaker: Your point of order.

POINT OF ORDER

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: The Honourable Member says he will sit down for a point of order. I just wanted to . . . and I can direct you to their Budget Reply on page 27, the very last paragraph. Regarding concessions—

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: He asked for it; he is going to get it.

An Hon. Member: What's your point of order?

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: The point of order is this: The Honourable Member said that if you can show where we do not support Southampton Princess concessions, "although we were not supportive of the scope of the concessions and guarantees given to Fairmont Southampton," in their words, in their Budget Reply.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you.
Member, continue please.

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Thank you.
Which [constituency], Honourable Deputy Premier? Which?

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Constituency 29. I thank the Member from constituency 29. I think it goes to show just how when people are talking, we can each hear something different. Because my point was . . . I was speaking about hotel beds, show where we don't agree with adding hotel beds. I didn't bring up the proper name for the hotel or the concessions. But that is my point. I mean, when I talk about the failure of Bermuda and how we are falling down, we can't even agree to—

Hon. Jason Hayward: Point of order, Madam Deputy Speaker.

The Deputy Speaker: Your point of order.

POINT OF ORDER

[Misleading]

Hon. Jason Hayward: The Member is now intentionally misleading the House when he refers to the failure of Bermuda. Bermuda is not a failed state. Bermuda is not a failed country. You cannot say that Bermuda has failed in any way. And so, I do not understand how he can continue to use that term when the facts don't support it.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Yes. Thank you. I thank the Honourable Member from constituency 17. Yes, the difference between a failed state and the circumstances of Bermuda are definitely evident most especially because we are not a failed state. We are not Somalia. We don't have the problems of Haiti. So, I definitely would never say that we are in fact a failed state.

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Jarion Richardson: I would say that there are failures taking place in Bermuda. Which is very difficult from the entire state.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Jarion Richardson: So, you want me take my seat? You guys want to point-of-order again?

[Inaudible interjections]

The Deputy Speaker: Speak to the Chair please.

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Sorry Madam Deputy Speaker.

The Deputy Speaker: Yes.

Hon. Jarion Richardson: I apologise. It is easy to get distracted.

As I was saying, the Honourable Shadow Finance Minister made a number of points about why the Sovereign Wealth Fund would not be a good idea, including having to use the CIT funds as a revenue stability fund. This was a fascinating point for me, realising the volatility of profits in property and casualty lines in insurance, which is our primary bread and butter in reinsurance. It means that we effectively have to save up money for bad days, for bad years. So, when we get this money in from the CIT, it is not as if it is free for spending. There are going to be years when that won't happen. And we are in fact going to have to compensate others.

So, I mean, that's a great point for the Shadow Finance Minister to bring up and say, a Sovereign Wealth Fund in fact differs from our circumstances and so therefore we should not attempt to treat them the same way. Bermuda is certainly not a failed state when we are having conversations about hundreds of millions of dollars.

Madam Deputy Speaker, we were also speaking earlier about our public services. It goes without saying that all of us are looking forward towards increased public services. Now, before anyone jumps up and says that I hate civil servants, nothing would be further from the truth. I believe that the overwhelming vast majority are incredible public servants and due us a great service. And so, before anyone says that I hate civil servants, let's just get that off the table.

Service lines though are incredible. I mean, so . . . again, in my experiences one of the things that really separate a company is its ability to serve its clients better than anyone else. It is one of the things that we constantly emphasise in private sector. Indeed, when client emails come in, I am expected to reply to them on a same-day basis. We have many stories currently where such public services are not getting the same levels of responsiveness.

And I bring that up because we are looking for that increase in public services, in the quality of public services because the people who hire a lot of the Bermudians, we were talking before about the 5,000 Bermudians in international business, the 35[,000] in the working population, the people who are in fact creating those jobs, they rely on government. I mean, government is absolutely crucial to the success of the economy. And that success especially starts with reliable services, clarity around the interpretation of regulations.

Indeed, we know that the uplift companies that started as innovative companies that went through the incubation period with the Bermuda Economic Development Corporation, so quite legitimate, found themselves on the wrong side of a new regulatory interpretation. Now you can only imagine the extent of money that was involved in bringing that enterprise to fruition and the number of jobs that have been lost subsequent to that change in regulation. And that lack of certainty and stability is what is causing the issues when we look at the domestic economy.

So, I see my time is just running out. I thank you for your time. I thank you . . . I thank the honourable colleagues for the many points-of-order that were raised.

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Jarion Richardson: Yes, I was . . . for the many points-of-order that were raised. I believe my point ending is that there is a better version of Bermuda. I know that we are all working toward it. But absolutely at no point will we get there if we spend all of our time thinking that each other is the evil person in the room.

Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Member.

Are there any other Members who wish to speak?

Any other Members who wish to speak?

[Pause]

The Deputy Speaker: Okay. I am going to put the gavel down and the debate will end. So, if somebody needs to speak, they better get up now.

[Inaudible interjection]

The Deputy Speaker: Yes.

[Timer chimes]

The Deputy Speaker: I recognise the Member from constituency 8. Hold on, Member, before you start.

Okay. Now you may start. Yes.

Mr. Ben Smith: Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

Madam Deputy Speaker, thank you so much—

The Deputy Speaker: Right.

Mr. Ben Smith: —for this opportunity.

So, Madam Deputy Speaker, the budget obviously is filled with numbers but when the population listens the thing that impacts them is usually not those numbers. That is not the one . . . that is not what they pay attention to. They pay attention to how those numbers turn into services that they deal with. How that impacts their lives.

And the issue is that when you see the growth that is being discussed in the budget, if that is coming from a specific sector, that is coming from international business, then most of our population who is not part of that industry might not feel the same way about that growth.

So, what we are saying is, we agree. There has been growth in international business. We are happy that there is growth in international business. But understand that that growth in international business . . . because when you look at the payroll tax numbers, the Government tells everybody that they have lowered the payroll for most of the population but the numbers that they are receiving are actually getting quite a bit of revenue. That revenue is coming from mostly that sector.

So, Madam Deputy Speaker, more expectation from that sector. We are not saying that the other sector has not had anything happen to it. But we are saying that there has to be more focus on it.

Because the international business side is already paying. Not just with the taxes that they are paying now. In the future they are going to be looking at CIT tax. But they are also the ones who have been propping up our charities, propping up our sports. And the more that we seem to have an issue where we are needing more charity, more support for our sport clubs, because the Government has not always been able to give those resources, we are expecting more from that sector as we are moving into a CIT tax, a tax that can be a huge benefit for our country. But there is a cost. Because as you are expecting more from that sector at some point the golden goose wants to know, What am I receiving? Because, Madam Deputy Speaker, they are also driving on these roads. They also have to deal with the long waits at our hospital. They also see that we have issues with education. That are—

Mr. W. Lawrence Scott: Point of order, Madam Deputy Speaker.

The Deputy Speaker: Your point of order?

POINT OF ORDER

[Misleading]

Mr. W. Lawrence Scott: That Honourable Member is misleading the House. He is making . . . for the person who is listening on the radio and if they had just turned in, [we] would [understand] if they misunderstood . . . if they had the understanding that the CIT tax is a PLP initiative. This is us actually complying with a global directive. This is not a PLP platform that we came up with where we are finding ways to make more money. This is something of making sure that we can be a first-world jurisdiction and not be put on any blacklist, greylist, or any other colour list.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Member.

Mr. Ben Smith: Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

The issue is not that the PLP has come up with this initiative. It is that this tax is going to be layered on top of the demand that already exists. That is where the issue comes. But understand something: We as a country have to realise that the same way they could pay that tax in a different jurisdiction, they could also move to another jurisdiction. They are still here today.

[Inaudible interjections]

An Hon. Member: It's only fearmongering.

Mr. Ben Smith: But this is the issue. And it is not about fearmongering.

An Hon. Member: It is.

Mr. Ben Smith: It is about the reality—

[Crosstalk]

Mr. Ben Smith: So—

The Deputy Speaker: Speak to the Chair.

Mr. Ben Smith: I will continue to speak . . .

[Inaudible interjections]

The Deputy Speaker: Speak to the Chair.

Mr. Ben Smith: Madam Deputy Speaker, it is interesting that the Honourable Labour Minister is one of the people who is chirping right now.

An Hon. Member: Correct.

Mr. Ben Smith: Because one of the issues is this: The slow movement of immigration is one of the things that has actually been impacting this sector. And what you have to understand is that slow movement means that many times they are placing those jobs in other jurisdictions because their . . . because the immigration process is taking too long. So, while he is slowing it down—

[Inaudible interjections]

Mr. Ben Smith: So, the issue is because the Government likes to talk about the low unemployment rate, but they can't tell us how many people have emigrated. We know that because it came up earlier today and we do not have those figures. We can't even talk about it because we don't know.

Hon. Jason Hayward: Point of order.

The Deputy Speaker: Your point of order, Minister.

POINT OF ORDER

[Misleading]

Hon. Jason Hayward: The Member is misleading the House in a number of areas.

Number one, he is stating that companies are making decisions to move employees overseas after I just articulated that the number of employees in international business has increased, is at record levels. We have more numbers in international business now than at any period of time under the OBA's tenure.

Year over year we have had job growth in international business as well. When you look at the annual work permits that are actually being produced, we are increasing the number of work permits that the Department of Immigration is actually putting out on an annual basis. And so, it is incorrect to somehow say that the processing times in immigration is leading to a decline in the workforce in that particular area.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Member.

Mr. Ben Smith: Madam Deputy Speaker, it is not a decline. We are saying we need growth. The Minister talked about 8,000 more jobs. If you are slowing down the process and are putting the jobs overseas, those are jobs that we could have had. Correct? That's the growth. So, he can talk about that message, but let's be clear. Under the One Bermuda Alliance Government the turnaround time was 20 days. Can he get back to that number? Can he work to that number?

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Point of order. Point of order.

The Deputy Speaker: Your point of order, Minister.

POINT OF ORDER [Misleading]

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: The Honourable Member would need to withdraw that statement. Because if the OBA were turning over—

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: The OBA were not turning over work permits in 20 days on a consistent basis. They were not. They might have done one fast-track or two fast-tracks, but I can assure you they were not. And I can speak to that through experience. I have several companies under the OBA that waited an extensive time for permits to be renewed.

Hon. Michael Fahy: Point of clarification.

The Deputy Speaker: Do you accept?
Okay.

POINT OF CLARIFICATION

Hon. Michael Fahy: Thank you.

When the One Bermuda Alliance first came into Government in 2013, it was quite correct to say that work permits were not being turned around in 20 working days. After some period of time of a reform, we in fact hired consultants through KPMG to help process the permits and we did in fact get it down to 20 working days for a period of time.

An Hon. Member: Oh! Oh!

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Michael Fahy: That's the point. All right. Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Member.

Hon. Jason Hayward: Point of order, Madam Deputy Speaker.

The Deputy Speaker: Your point of order.

Hon. Jason Hayward: Mr. Speaker [sic]—

The Deputy Speaker: Madam Speaker.

Hon. Jason Hayward: Madam Deputy Speaker—

The Deputy Speaker: Acting Speaker.

POINT OF ORDER [Misleading]

Hon. Jason Hayward: The Honourable Members are misleading the House. There has always been inconsistency in terms of processing work permits within the Department of Immigration. Even after the reform exercise took place, they were able to get the permits done for a short period of time and then you went through peaks and valleys again where permits were being processed outside the 20 days.

I can highlight during this current administration where permits are being processed under 20 days. But there are some occasions where permits are not being processed within that 20-day period. When I looked at the turnaround times, consistently it is more consistently related to 30 days than 20 days.

But the fact remains that that particular OBA Administration was unable to consistently put out permits in a 20-day turnaround period.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you.
Member. Yes.

Mr. Ben Smith: Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

The Deputy Speaker: You are just under 20 minutes so you . . .

Mr. Ben Smith: Yes, I will continue on the immigration tact because going along with that . . . and the reason that this becomes a major subject is that almost everything that we are pointing to tells us that we have a population problem. And it is an emergency because the statistics that were brought to the House earlier today showed us birth rate/death rate.

We are not moving in the correct direction. We have to grow the population. The health care needs us to have more young, healthy, vibrant people in our community in order to spread the cost of a growing, ageing population. This is where we are, and many other jurisdictions are. So, I am not . . . all I am saying to the Minister and to the public is that we need to make sure that as we are putting more burden on a group to pay our bills, we need to make sure that we are being as effective and as efficient as possible because other jurisdictions are moving at the speed of business. So, we need to make sure that we are moving at the speed of business. Because we have to grow.

Hon. Jason Hayward: Point of order, Mr. Speaker. [sic]

The Deputy Speaker: Your point of order, Minister.

Hon. Jason Hayward: Mr. Speaker, [sic]—

An Hon. Member: Madam Deputy Speaker.

POINT OF ORDER
[Misleading]

Hon. Jason Hayward: Madam [Deputy] Speaker, the Department of Labour has put out the information regarding our ageing population. That is where he gets it from. The Department of Labour has put out a paper regarding how we retain our local workforce. And so, he knows that there are plans to be made. I have come to this House on numerous occasions and talked about the digitisation process that is currently underway. I eluded in a Statement that I made a couple of weeks ago in the House as it pertains to the work that is being done, how we had selection of vendor, how we went overseas to explore the software for implementation in Bermuda. So, it is highly misleading to suggest that we are not doing what is necessary.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Minister.
Continue.

Mr. Ben Smith: Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.
Once again, this is the reality that we are living in. I understand that the comments are because it is uncomfortable when somebody tells you that you have got to move faster than you are moving right now. And it is really about we have to grow. Because at the moment, Madam Deputy Speaker, we believe that the Government is doing a lot of great work building a safety net for the community.

[Inaudible interjections]

Mr. Ben Smith: One thousand per cent.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Stop on that note.

[Inaudible interjections]

Mr. Ben Smith: But guess what, Madam Deputy Speaker, the middle class is falling into that net. More and more of our community is falling into that net. That is why the 65-year-olds, who might not have chosen to continue to work, must work. That is why more of our people are getting on the plane to never return. That is what is actually happening.

[Inaudible interjections]

Mr. Ben Smith: So, it is interesting that the Government likes to point out that certain taxes were put in place under the One Bermuda Alliance, but they sure continue to collect those taxes up until recently.

An Hon. Member: Whoa!

[Inaudible interjections and laughter]

Mr. Ben Smith: That's where they were getting that money from. And now they are looking at the CIT to bail them out.

An Hon. Member: That can't be true. No. No.

[Inaudible interjections]

Mr. Ben Smith: So, Madam Deputy Speaker, construction. We are happy to see that they are lowering those taxes in order to increase that. But once again, the issue is this: It is the processing of Planning that is holding it up, that is causing the cost to go up because the construction industry is at a halt. Those are the issues. You can put the best plans down but if you are not actually implementing the plans, and moving forward with those plans, they are just plans. And that is the issue.

So, the answer is this: Yes. We do have a crane on Front Street and all of us are excited to see that crane on Front Street.

An Hon. Member: Hear, hear!

[Desk thumping and inaudible interjections]

Mr. Ben Smith: But one crane is not a construction boon. Most of those buildings that are being torn down—

Mr. W. Lawrence Scott: Point of order, Mr. Speaker [sic]. Point of order, Madam Deputy Speaker.

The Deputy Speaker: Your point of order.

POINT OF ORDER
[Misleading]

Mr. W. Lawrence Scott: The Honourable Member misleading the House. I actually work for a hotel down in the East End and I can see three cranes in the air just from my office.

[Laughter]

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Member.
Continue.

Mr. Ben Smith: It is amazing that he can see that from way down there because I said the crane was on Front Street.

Mr. W. Lawrence Scott: Point of order, Madam Deputy Speaker.

[Laughter]

The Deputy Speaker: Your point of order.

POINT OF ORDER
[Misleading]

Mr. W. Lawrence Scott: The Honourable Member is misleading the House. The Honourable Member is making it seem as though the only construction that is happening in the Island is on Front Street. There are hotels that are expanding themselves and growing. There are hotels that are building new wings, hotels that are building new conference areas. And that does not happen just on front street. So therefore, the Honourable Member either needs to be better educated on what is going on in the country or speak to the facts.

Some Hon. Members: Ooh!

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you.

Mr. Ben Smith: Madam Deputy Speaker, once again, on Front Street—crane. We can see it. And I was saying that we are happy about that. But Madam Deputy Speaker, how many buildings that are being torn down in Hamilton are being replaced with parking lots? Think that through.

Some Hon. Members: How many?

[Inaudible interjections]

Mr. Ben Smith: If everything is booming, they would be building office buildings, apartment buildings, and instead they are building parking lots. That tells you where the actual situation is. That is the part that they do not want to talk about. And we are not saying that nothing is happening. But every day that more of our citizens are deciding to opt-out, that is happening because we need to be growing faster.

Mr. W. Lawrence Scott: Point of order, Madam Deputy Speaker.

The Deputy Speaker: Point of order.

POINT OF ORDER
[Misleading]

Mr. W. Lawrence Scott: The Honourable Member is misleading the House. He is saying that we are returning old derelict buildings into parking spaces, but yet he conveniently is leaving out the fact that they spoke against the PLP Government allowing for a change in the height restrictions to buildings which has sort of inspired—

An Hon. Member: No, no.

Mr. W. Lawrence Scott: —the building which he is speaking to.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you.

Mr. Scott Pearman: Point of order, Madam Deputy Speaker.

The Deputy Speaker: Point of order.

POINT OF ORDER
[Misleading]

Mr. Scott Pearman: I'm afraid the Honourable Member is misleading the House. When the proposal came for this high building on Front Street where the crane is, we were delighted to be supportive of that. And it is incorrect to say we were contrary. I myself spoke. I know Michael Dunkley spoke about how it was nice to see buildings being built and to welcome Brookfield with open arms on both sides of this Honourable House.

An Hon. Member: Yes.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Member.
Continue, Member Smith.

[Inaudible interjection]

Mr. Ben Smith: Thank you. And I will. Thank you, Minister.

Because growing is what needs to happen, with urgency. Because the issue is this: The Budget tells you all the things that the Government is going to do. But many of these things . . . we have been patient. The country has been waiting for them. This is not the first year that we have had to increase police. This has been a situation that has been going on forever. In a time that we have higher need for what happens with our police force because the crime has changed. Times have changed in Bermuda.

Everybody is dealing with the potholes. The Minister got up and told us that things are going to change with that. We have heard that more than once.

Mr. W. Lawrence Scott: Point of order, Madam Deputy Speaker.

The Deputy Speaker: Your point of order, Member.

POINT OF ORDER
[Misleading]

Mr. W. Lawrence Scott: The Honourable Member is misleading the House. It makes it seem as though the Government controls the police. The police answer to the Governor, not the Government. The Government only provides funding.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Member.
Continue.

Mr. Ben Smith: Thank you. I'm glad he said that because not giving the funding is how we got into the position in the first place.

So, the issue is this: You can tell by a budget what your focus is. We are saying that you have to look to grow our economy so that more of our people can be part of it. So that our young people when they go away to get educated, look at Bermuda as an option. Bermudians have always left after school and decided to work overseas. But that number is increasing. The problem is the parents are following them. Their grandparents are following them. That's the part that we cannot have. Because as that number continues to go down while the senior population increases the burden is on a smaller group of people. And all we keep hearing is, We are going to ask more from this small group of people in international business. We want them to pay more and we want them to be patient because we do not want to give them anything. But guess what? Could they give us more money for the hospital?

[Desk thumping and crosstalk]

Mr. Ben Smith: Can you give us more money for the hospital? Can you help? Can you help there too? Can you help with our charities? Can you increase our safety net for us? Can you do all of those things? And we are going to have to increase your taxes with the CIT.

That's where we are.

And we have to understand that all of the things that we want as a community . . . remember the IB people can pay for the $23 broccoli. They don't even think about it. But when Mr. and Mrs. Smith go to that same store, maybe they can't have broccoli.

Maybe they can't have the healthy food that they need. So once again, Let's increase our safety net. Let's make sure that what we are doing is more seniors are having to rely on social assistance because they can't survive in the Bermuda that has been created.

The ones who reach the critical point say I am going to leave. So, my statement is based off of if you are a senior who has an opportunity to move to another jurisdiction where your health insurance is low enough for you to be able to survive, your pension number goes far enough for you to be able to survive, that is the decision that they are making. Choose a jurisdiction. Because they are going everywhere.

[Inaudible interjections]

Mr. Ben Smith: So, once again, it is very interesting that we can talk about facts. When what is being provided is based off of incomplete data, we do not even know what the emigration number is. So, we are here today without the correct data. You think about this, Madam Deputy Speaker, yes, there hasn't been a census since 2016.

An Hon. Member: Who left?

Mr. Ben Smith: But since that point there was a pandemic, and we know that parts of our population have decided to opt-out. Don't you think it would have been kind of a good thing for us to make sure that our numbers were right when we were making the decisions that we have to make for the future of this country? But no. We will wait until 2026 and that is when we will figure out whether what we have put forward is actually real, whether it is going to work for our population. And that is why when you knock on doors people are not happy.

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: So why do voters vote?

Mr. Ben Smith: That's an interesting one because most people did not vote.

[Laughter and crosstalk]

Mr. Ben Smith: So, the issue is this, Madam Deputy Speaker. They have the mandate. They have the Government. They want to talk about what the OBA did not do, but it is eight years. It is your record that is on the line. It is you who has to put the things in place. You are the ones who have to make sure that that education reform is happening, that we have enough police, that you are lowering the Crime, that we actually have a hospital that works, that our people are not in the hallway. That is your responsibility. So, you need to stand up and make sure that that is what is actually happening. And if what we need to do is grow our population, you need to make sure it is working efficiently enough at the speed of business so that we can increase. That is what actually has to happen. We have to grow the pie instead of dividing the pie that is left into smaller pieces.

[Inaudible interjections and desk thumping]

Mr. Ben Smith: The only pie that seems to be growing is the one that the Labour Minister sees. That is the only pie.

Hon. Jason Hayward: Point of order.

Mr. Ben Smith: And it is a pie in the sky!

Some Hon. Members: Ooh!

Hon. Jason Hayward: Point of order.

The Deputy Speaker: Point of order.

POINT OF ORDER

[Misleading]

Jason Hayward: They might not like the facts. The Honourable Member is misleading the House.

The economy is growing. That is a fact. And so, when you start to talk about the economic pie in Bermuda, the economic pie is actually expanding and getting bigger. When that economic pie expands, it creates more opportunities. When those opportunities arise, we see job growth. If you look at the numbers, you see an expanding economy, you see job growth, you see one of our lowest unemployment rates ever. There are more opportunities in Bermuda for Bermudians.

And so, it is important that when we stand here and we are speaking to the public that we ensure that they are informed with the accuracies. Can the Honourable Member stand to his feet and explain when he talks about a shrinking pie, what does he mean by the numbers?

Mr. Ben Smith: Madam Deputy Speaker, with the rest of my time I am going to continue on with the fact—

[Laughter and inaudible interjections]

Mr. Ben Smith: Oh, yes. Okay, Labour Minister. Because guess what—

The Deputy Speaker: Members—

Mr. Ben Smith: —you are going to have an opportunity.

[Gavel]

The Deputy Speaker: Speak to the Chair.

Mr. Ben Smith: The Labour Minister will have his opportunity to get up and tell everybody—

The Deputy Speaker: Are you speaking to the Chair?

Mr. Ben Smith: Correct. He is going to have his opportunity to talk about why all of these people are going out and becoming “belongers,” because they don’t get the same safety net that they are looking for. He can tell us what those numbers are. He can tell us how many of those processes he is getting at Immigration. He can talk about that. The same group that I am telling you is the golden goose.

An Hon. Member: Yes.

Mr. Ben Smith: But don’t pluck all the feathers of that goose. Because they can go to other places. And what we are saying is, make sure that you understand that. And we will continue to push for the economy to grow. Grow for everybody. Because when you walk around this city, right in front of us, how many of those restaurants are actually booming? How many of those retail shops are actually booming? Because this Government . . . this is the Government that has been competing against retail. Don’t forget, that failed job where they, Oh, we are going to make sure that you can import through us. So, compete against local retail that has to pay all of our taxes, our health insurance, our electricity bills. And hire Bermudians only. And don’t forget, in this budget let’s make sure that people can travel overseas and have less duty to pay when they come in—

Hon. Jason Hayward: Point of order. Point of order, Madam Deputy Speaker.

Mr. Ben Smith: —to compete.

The Deputy Speaker: Point of order, Minister.

Hon. Jason Hayward: Madam Deputy Speaker, can you allow me to quote from the daily?

The Deputy Speaker: You may.

Some Hon. Members: What’s your point of order?

POINT OF ORDER

[Misleading]

Hon. Jason Hayward: The Member is misleading the House as it pertains to the economic performance in terms of the performance of construction and I just want to use an additional source to clarify that matter.

[Inaudible interjections]

The Deputy Speaker: I have given you permission to read the daily.

Hon. Jason Hayward: ³“Building boom in Hamilton!” is the headline. [The lead is] “Commercial and tourism developments keeping builders busy.” And they go into the numbers of developments that have taken place.

Why would the business section of the RG use those terms if it was not a reality?

Secondly, when we start to talk about wholesale and retail, I articulated that the wholesale and retail sector has expanded beyond 2019 levels. Explain to me the contraction of wholesale and retail that he is talking about versus the statistics which show that economic output in that particular sector is going up.

An Hon. Member: That’s a valid challenge.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you.

Continue. I want to remind you that you just have under two minutes.

Mr. Ben Smith: Yes, so with the rest of my time I am actually going to focus on Bermuda and the Bermudians who are living in the actual economy not whatever the Labour Minister would like for me to discuss. But he will have his opportunity to do so.

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Economy and Labour.

Mr. Ben Smith: We have to grow. Those are the facts. He talks about 8,000 jobs but he doesn’t want to talk about 8,000 people. I got it. Because it is not helpful for him to say 8,000 people. I got that. But without the extra people going around this community, those are the ones who fill the restaurants and then have a young person say, Well, I can be an entrepreneur and open something. That’s how we actually grow. You have to have more people here paying into this system. That is how it is going to happen. You cannot rely on IB to continue to bail you out because if, five years from now, that is not there we need to have built a sustainable plan here with people. That is how this is going to happen.

So, one more time. Grow the pie. That is what we have to be about. Focus on it.

[Inaudible interjection]

Mr. Ben Smith: Become more efficient. Actually do the work. Don’t put the numbers down and say, This is the plan. Implement the plan. Make sure you are getting it done and stop worrying about what happened seven, eight years ago and worry about what you are doing right now and how you are going to move forward. Because the record of building an airport and building hotels . . . I haven’t seen your hotel yet. I am waiting for it. That is the actual reality.

So, as we move forward I want the population to know we can be a better country moving forward. We can grow. But we have to be focused on you and your children so that you can come back and thrive in this community. Not [on] whatever is going to be left after this Government is done.

[Desk thumping]

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Member.

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: I don’t understand that.

The Deputy Speaker: Are there any other Members who wish to speak?

[Crosstalk]

The Deputy Speaker: Are there any other Members who wish to speak otherwise . . .

Are there any other Members who wish to speak?

[Crosstalk]

The Deputy Speaker: Okay. There being none, this . . . Okay.

I recognise the Member from constituency 10.

[Crosstalk]

The Deputy Speaker: Okay. I haven’t seen anybody else on their feet. So, I guess this debate has ended.

[Crosstalk]

[Gavel]

The Deputy Speaker: Okay. All right.

[Crosstalk]

The Deputy Speaker: Okay. Where does that take us on the Order of the Day?

[Crosstalk]

[Hon. Dennis P. Lister, Jr., Speaker, in the Chair]

The Speaker: Members, just for clarification, I take it that no Member rose to their feet just now.

An Hon. Member: Correct.

The Speaker: That’s correct. Okay. And the Deputy Speaker gave plenty of opportunity. I heard her call numerous times for someone to rise to their feet. No one rose to their feet, and she ably hit the gavel.

³ The Royal Gazette, 30 April 2025

An Hon. Member: Correct.

The Speaker: Which means that the long-anticipated debate this evening is now over.

An Hon. Member: Yes.

The Speaker: And I thank you for that.

[Laughter and crosstalk]

The Speaker: Now, the Premier has a right to reply because he opened it.

Does the Premier wish to reply?

An Hon. Member: The Premier is not in here.

The Speaker: Deputy [Premier] do you want to reply on his behalf?

[Inaudible interjections]

An Hon. Member: Oh, no! Don't give him the last word.

[Laughter]

An Hon. Member: Point of order.

The Speaker: Point of order.

[Laughter]

The Speaker: Deputy, I am going to give you the curtesy . . . because the Premier is not here, I am going to give you the curtesy of replying. You have your 30 minutes to reply and then we will all go home.

[Inaudible interjections]

An Hon. Member: There is your audition.

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. Thank you very much.

Well, Mr. Speaker, let's say this. I have been in this House now almost 20 years, and I have never seen where you have a Budget Reply and the party that produced the Budget Reply failed to get up and speak to their Reply in support of their leader.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: So, Mr. Speaker, I must say what a surprise it has been.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Mr. Speaker, let me just rearrange my notes. I did not expect to be talking this early.

The Speaker: You have 30 minutes, but you do not have to use all of your 30 minutes.

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Yes, and I probably will, Mr. Speaker. I probably will.

What I did not appreciate was the last speaker that spoke, the Honourable Member Ben Smith.

An Hon. Member: Did not appreciate it.

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: I did not appreciate it at all because if you listen to the Honourable Member speak, you would have thought that Bermuda was on its way down the drain. Mr. Speaker, I am sure the Honourable, Minister Jason Hayward, will take joy in presenting and debating his budget in the weeks to come. And I am sure that when the people of the country hear what the Honourable Minister Jason Hayward has to say, they will feel a lot more confident about the country.

But, Mr. Speaker, the Honourable Member Ben Smith said that we need to grow the country, and we need to grow it quickly. If you listen to his speech, Mr. Speaker, as I said, you would have thought the country was going down the drain. And I think Members on both sides talked about Brookfield Re being here and building their large building on Front Street extending to Reid Street, Mr. Speaker. If Bermuda was doing so badly and things were so bad and things were so expensive that people would not want to be here . . . We have another company, one of the biggest in the world, that has just signed a very long lease, as you know Mr. Speaker, by the name of Google. Mr. Speaker, Gencom has invested tens of millions of dollars in Rosewood [on] Tucker's Point Drive. They are investing up to half a billion dollars into Fairmont Southampton.

An Hon. Member: Elbow Beach

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: And I will declare my interest when I talk about Gencom.

Elbow Beach has just been purchased by another gentleman and company that have super confidence in Bermuda, Mr. Stephen King and his group. They developed the Loren hotel, built homes there, built villas there, and because Bermuda is such a great place to invest in—unlike Mr. Ben Smith talked about for 20–30 minutes, Mr. Speaker—they decided they are going to invest in Elbow Beach.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Mr. Speaker, Washington Mall announced recently that they had never had their offices this full since they opened.

An Hon. Member: Correct.

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Washington Mall, Mr. Speaker. They are absolutely 100 per cent full here as we speak. But then, if you listen to Ben Smith, you would have thought that the Island was going down the drain.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Mr. Speaker, and I will declare my interest again, my company demolished a building on Pitts Bay Road recently, [the] Belvedere. Guess what they are doing there. Building up another office block, Mr. Speaker.

An Hon. Member: Not a parking lot.

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Not a parking lot.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: It is an office block.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Mr. Speaker, the Greens have invested hundreds of millions of dollars in the Hamilton Princess hotel [and] not because they do not have confidence in Bermuda and think that we are going down the drain. They are doing it because they have confidence that their investments will do well in this country.

Mr. Speaker, the people of this country rejected the OBA Government for seven straight years. We had a lot of talk over there today about how the PLP are not running this country, not handling the economy, and not handling the finances of this country well. Let me assure you, Mr. Speaker. If that were the case, we would not have had two landslide victories and one earth-shattering victory over the last seven years, which we have had—

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: —because the people of this country—

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: —the people of this country decided that they had the confidence in this Progressive Labour Party Government to continue governing the country for the people of this country.

An Hon. Member: They do.

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Mr. Speaker, not only are we—

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: —have we shown that we are running the country and handling the finances really well, Mr. Speaker, but we have done that going through a pandemic, a once-in-a-lifetime pandemic. Many countries, Mr. Speaker, are still reeling from the effects of the COVID-19 challenge that we had world-wide.

Mr. Speaker, it was said by Members opposite that we need to get this economy going. We need to get it flowing and quickly. Mr. Speaker, you have heard that we have the lowest unemployment rate in 50 years in this country. IB are at the highest levels they have been in a very, very long time—

An Hon. Member: Very long.

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: —Mr. Speaker, a very long time.

An Hon. Member: You said “very, very” was the right one.

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Yes. Mr. Speaker, the Honourable Member, the Opposition Leader, said several times that something has gone horribly wrong with this country. Maybe he was talking about the way they ran their election campaigns the last seven years because certainly the other thing he said was that the feedback he received on the doorstep . . . Well, Mr. Speaker, the feedback that Honourable Member received on the doorstep—remember where he lives, in Paget . . . See, the feedback that we receive in our constituencies from our people tells us exactly what they think, Mr. Speaker. We do not do everything perfectly, but they are happy enough for us to continue to be the Government of this country. And govern we will. So, Mr. Speaker, I do not know where that Honourable Member canvases, but I will tell you what.

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: I know where we canvas on this side of the House, and I know who we talk to. I know who we spend our time with, Mr. Speaker.

Now—

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: —Mr. Speaker, we are talking about the economy. This economy has shown under a Progressive Labour Party Government resilience and growth post pandemic. Our GDP has grown for four consecutive years. Unemployment, as I said earlier, is at its lowest historical low of 1.6 per cent for 50 years. We achieved a $19.7 million surplus in 2024–2025, our first surplus in 24 years. That is why the people of this country have confidence in this Progressive Labour Party Government.

Another key budget figure I think for us to take note of is our total revenue, which was $1.43 billion, $1.43 billion. Our debts serviced were $127.5 million.

[Ms. Lovitta F. Foggo, Deputy Speaker, in the Chair]

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Madam Deputy Speaker, we have a projected surplus of $43.3 million. For the first time in a very long time, we are going to have two consecutive years of surplus. And as the Honourable Member David Burt, our Premier, stated recently, the deficit days are over.

We are also, you will note . . . These things are important because if you listen to the OBA and you listen to their Reply . . . I want to concentrate on our budget [and] some of the things that we are doing. Someone said to me after we produced our budget, they said: Wait a minute. The OBA said that you produced a budget before the election. It was an election budget. Well, if you looked at our budget for this next fiscal year, some might say, Are you expecting another election? because of the number of things that we are going to do for our people. And some of those are customs duty on building materials. I am glad to see that the Opposition say that they think it should be reduced to zero. Well maybe it will. Maybe he has been listening to the Premier talk. Fuel tax on electricity has been reduced 80 per cent from 20 cents to 4 cents per litre. That is huge for people of this country. To say that we are not taking care of the people of this country is being a little economical with the truth to put it mildly. The land tax base rate is being cut to 50 per cent. Car licensing fees are going to be cut 10 per cent [and] the returning resident duty exemption raised to $300.

The Honourable Member Ben Smith seemed to say: Well, here you go again. You are hurting retailers. Well, I tell you what. You tell our Bermudian people when they come back through customs that the first $300 is duty free and see what they say.

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: No, it is not.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: They . . . The Honourable Member is chirping next to us saying, Look, let the retailers go get your numbers down. You know. And of course, he is saying it with a bit of a smile on his face as we do sometimes in this place. But I tell you what.

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: You have our PLP Government that has helped retailers more than the OBA did during their last tenure. I will say that—the concessions that we have constantly given all retailers in this country. They have got the opportunity to invest in their business and do well if they work hard.

[Inaudible interjection]

[Hon. Dennis P. Lister, Jr., Speaker, in the Chair]

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Madam Deputy Speaker, over the . . . Mr. Speaker, I just want to touch on the Budget Reply for just a moment if I can.

[Crosstalk]

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Mr. Speaker, I quote page 23 [in] reference to the corporate income tax, “The One Bermuda Alliance would take a more moderate, transparent, and realistic approach. First, we would craft a budget that works without including the CIT for at least the next two to three years.” Now, Mr. Speaker, see? That is the difference between them and us; we intend on using that money for the infrastructure that they say . . . Honourable Member Opposition Leader, some of the things that you had talked about were the infrastructure, the roads. Yes. Well, what we plan on doing is using some of that CIT money for just that.

[Crosstalk]

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: That is right. We will.

And Mr. Speaker, let me just touch on Fairmont Southampton for just a moment because we had an exchange about that earlier, and I did quote page 27 where the Opposition said “although we are not supportive of the” (they are not supportive) “. . . of the concessions and guarantees given to Fairmont Southampton . . .” Not only were they not supportive, but Honourable Member Criag Cannonier said at the time that it was criminal. He said it was actually criminal—the concessions that we gave to Fairmont Southampton.

An Hon. Member: He said that.

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: And I do not hear a point of order on that, Mr. Speaker.

An Hon. Member: Because he said it.

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Because he did say it. The Honourable Member Craig Cannonier said in this House during the debate for the concessions for Fairmont Southampton that the concessions that we gave were criminal. That does not sound like somebody supporting it to me.

[Crosstalk]

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: That is what was said, and you cannot deny it.

[Crosstalk]

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: I do not hear a point of order, Mr. Speaker. I do not hear a point of order, Mr. Speaker.

[Crosstalk]

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Now, Mr. Speaker—

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Well, it is true. It is true, Mr. Speaker. And then they say at the same time—

An Hon. Member: What do they say?

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: They say . . . The Opposition—

POINT OF ORDER
[Misleading]

Mr. L. Craig Cannonier: Point of order, Mr. Speaker. The Honourable Member is misleading the House.

An Hon. Member: That was easy.

Mr. L. Craig Cannonier: Point of order. Yeah, it is easy—

An Hon. Member: That was easy.

Mr. L. Craig Cannonier: If memory serves me correct, you know, he is saying that we did not agree with the concessions. We voted for the concessions, and we said in our general statements—just about every single person at that time—that we supported this here. But we were very much questioning the increase. It was the increase that we were very much concerned about, but we supported it because it had to be done.

And if you recall, Mr. Speaker, that was done in a one, two, and three session—in one day, rushed. And so, we agreed to do it and pass it.

But what I could also say as part of a clarification, Mr. Speaker (I am losing my voice, you know) [is] back in 2014, just to clarify all of this here, I can recall when the Premier spoke vehemently against the fact that he did not feel that the Greens should have got an extension on their concessions for $11 million. He was arguing against the point—

[Crosstalk]

Mr. L. Craig Cannonier: —against the point.

It still went through, so you know, it is kind of contradictory for the Honourable Member Deputy [Premier] to get up. And that can be found in The Royal Gazette easily in 2013 and 2014 where the then Opposition Shadow Financial . . . Speaking against the Greens getting $11 million in concessions . . .

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Mr. Speaker, I will tell you what. I would ask the Honourable Member to produce that like [what] I produced here when I make a statement about what someone says in this House, I do not make that statement unless I have a Hansard or copy close by. And the Honourable Member knows that. Most Members in this House will know that.

Now, Mr. Speaker, just on that point—because I was in the House that day—I will tell you what did happen. Grant Gibbons, the Honourable former Member Grant Gibbons, was the Minister of Finance, and I will tell you what he did. He brought concessions to the House that the Greens did not agree with, and we were told that if the concessions were not fixed immediately the construction on it at the time would be shut down. And guess what happened on Monday, Mr. Speaker. All the construction was shut down. And guess what we did on Friday. You talk about doing something superfast. The Honourable Grant Gibbons was back in the House—

[Laughter]

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: —to give them a further $11 million. That is what he is getting confused with, I think.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. L. Craig Cannonier: Point of order, Mr. Speaker. I certainly am not getting confused. On February 28, 2014, the Premier, well the Shadow then, now Premier . . . Tax concessions cannot go on forever. And it goes on to speak to the fact that he was against the $11 million increase. There you go.

[Inaudible interjections and desk thumping]

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Okay. I will give you that, but I . . . Just like you said, it was criminal for Fairmont Southampton to get concessions. I guess you and the Premier should have a chat.

[Laughter]

POINT OF ORDER
[Misleading]

Mr. L. Craig Cannonier: Point of order again, Mr. Speaker. The Honourable Member is misleading the House. The whole purpose behind the fact that we were saying that it was criminal [is] because we had already bailed them out. And why are we then going into concessions for them when we are bailing them out?

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: I beg your pardon? Bailing out Fairmont Southampton? Bailing out Fairmont Southampton?

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Wow. That is on record.

An Hon. Member: That is on record because they . . . We . . . You remember that?

[Laughter and crosstalk]

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Wow. I will gladly take my seat if you want to clarify that.

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: I want to know how the people of this country bailed them out.

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Now you see, Mr. Speaker, that is a falsehood that the Opposition continued to say at the time, and it was absolutely wrong. The fact of the matter is that we felt on this side of the House that the people who were to get that $11 million in compensation should get it sooner. So, it is not like we bailed them out—

An Hon. Member: Yes, you did!

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: —but we felt as a Government—

An Hon. Member: Say it!

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: —we felt as a Government—

An Hon. Member: You heard right.

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Yes. We felt as a Government, Mr. Speaker, that that was the right thing to do, to look after our people sooner than what they were going to get taken care of. So, it was not a thing about bailing them out.

Now, Mr. Speaker, the other thing I want to . . . It is interesting (right?) to hear the Opposition say that we did not have one session, we did not have two sessions, we did not have three sessions with regard to those concessions, but we did it very, very quickly.

One month they will say we are rushing things through. The next month they will say we are taking too long. The Honourable Member Ben Smith said we need to get this economy going quickly. He just said that.

An Hon. Member: I agree.

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: When we bring things to this House so that we can progress construction, investment, and jobs for our people quickly, the Honourable Member Craig Cannonier is complaining.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. L. Craig Cannonier: Point of order, Mr. Speaker. Point of order, Mr. Speaker. I think it is clear that I just showed that we were willing to work together for them to make something happen very quickly for Fairmont Southampton, which is why we did it so quickly, because we were willing to work with them to make it happen despite the fact that I might have thought at the time that it was criminal.

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Oh, so I guess that he does not think it is criminal anymore as he has had time to think about it.

So, Mr. Speaker—

[Laughter, inaudible interjections]

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: I am glad he clarified that back then he made a mistake, Mr. Speaker. That is very interesting indeed.

But Mr. Speaker, the other thing I thought that I would point out is the . . . is the . . . Hang on. Let me get my notes, Mr. Speaker. The . . . One page 12 of the Opposition's Reply to the Throne, it stated—

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: I will get to our budget—

An Hon. Member: You are running out of time.

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: —it states on page [12], and I will quote: "tourism has seen some improvements from 2023 to 2024, but remains far behind 2019," (Far behind 2019) "and continues to remain behind our competitors to the south. Tourism arrivals by air are 15% higher from 2023 to 2024, but are down 27% versus 2019." Now, Mr. Speaker, let's talk about that for just a moment.

Mr. Speaker, let's repeat that, "but we are down 27% versus 2019." Mr. Speaker, it was 29 per cent under the OBA in 2014, and we were 23 per cent under the OBA in 2015. So, [you] have to be careful how you produce these numbers. You have to look at the history of your own party.

Now, Mr. Speaker, as I close, Mr. Speaker, I thought it would be important to mention a few things of note since I am the last one to speak. Mr. Speaker, we are going to increase capital expenditures to $150 million. And I note that is the most since 2008—$150 million since 2008. Mr. Speaker, we are investing more in scholarships this year than any time in recent history. We will continue to spend millions of dollars on affordable housing in this country. We are increasing future care benefits for our seniors, Mr. Speaker, because Members Opposite said, What are doing for our seniors? We are not telling them that money grows on trees, Mr. Speaker. We are not.

Mr. Speaker, we will continue to have a surplus this year. We had a surplus last year, and the deficit time, as I said, is over.

Mr. Speaker, with regard to the budget and the Budget Reply, all I would advise the people of this country to do is read our Budget 2025–2026. It is full. It is full of benefits for the people of this country. The people of this country decided to vote us in for yet another term, and this Budget is a reflection of the care and love that we have for our people

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: Thank you, Deputy Premier.
All the items are carried over.

[Inaudible interjection]

The Speaker: Yes. Read the motion that the Premier used to open it. We will close it out.

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Yes, Mr. Speaker. I move that the House do now resolve in committee of supply to consider the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for 2025/26.

The Speaker: And Deputy, you need to take your chair while that is done.

[Pause]

House in Committee at 6:26 pm

[Ms. Lovitta F. Foggo, Chairman]

COMMITTEE OF SUPPLY

ESTIMATES OF REVENUE AND EXPENDITURE FOR THE YEAR 2025/26

Ms. Lovitta F. Foggo: Minister? Yes. You move.

An Hon. Member: Yes.

Ms. Lovitta F. Foggo: Oh.

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Thank you, Madam Chairman. I now move Heads 37 Ministry of Justice Headquarters 03 Judicial Department, 04 Attorney General Chambers, 25 Department of Corrections, 74 Department of Court Services, and 75 Department of Public Prosecutions.

Ms. Lovitta F. Foggo: Okay. It has been moved that Head 87, Head 4, Head 3, Head 25, Head 74, and Head 75 be considered.

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Madam Chairman, I move that the Committee rise, report progress, and ask for leave to sit again Monday, 12 May 2025.

Ms. Lovitta F. Foggo: It has been moved that the committee rise, report progress, and ask for leave to sit again on Monday, 12 May 2025.

Any objections?

No.

There being none, approved.

The Speaker will resume his seat.

[Motion carried: The Committee of Supply agreed to rise and report progress, and sought leave to sit again, Monday, 12 May 2025.]

House resumed at 6:28 pm

[Hon. Dennis P. Lister, Jr., Speaker, in the Chair]

The Speaker: Members, all other orders on the paper will be carried over.

So, Deputy would you like to close the House out.

ADJOURNMENT

Hon. Zane J. S. De Silva: Yes, Mr. Speaker. Mr. Speaker, I ask that the House adjourn until Monday, 12 May 2025 at ten o'clock [am].

The Speaker: Any objections to that?

There are none.

MP Simmons, I see you standing. Are you standing because you are ready to leave?

Mr. Jamahl S. Simmons: No, sir. No, sir. I have got an early night, and I am all dressed up. I think I might as well say a few things.

The Speaker: Oh. Okay.

Mr. Jamahl S. Simmons: Mr. Speaker—

The Speaker: Let me . . . Let me just check the time and get us all . . . I packed up my things—

Mr. Jamahl S. Simmons: Mr. Speaker, you know—

The Speaker: —ordinary little things—

Mr. Jamahl S. Simmons: —my motto is to hit quick, fast, and leave them wanting more. I am going to stick to that.

CONGRATULATORY AND/OR OBITUARY SPEECH

Mr. Jamahl S. Simmons: Mr. Speaker, I am rising today because the two minutes during the congrats and obits were not enough for me to speak about two very important constituents of mine who passed. And Mr. Speaker, I am going to begin with your bride, Ms. Miranda Lister, who I cannot speak enough about how grateful I am for the support that she has given not just me and the constituency 33 branch but to be a wife and support a family—a father and son—in politics since 1989 and before that really when you have to put up with—when you were not the Speaker—the abuse, the hardship, [and] the sacrifice. I am grateful to her for that. But I am also grateful because when I was very young, she had a significant part in my life. And I do not think I have ever shared this with you. She was the person responsible for Youth Parliament—

The Speaker: Yes.

Mr. Jamahl S. Simmons: —when I was a member of Youth Parliament. And Mr. Speaker, I can tell you I was a very sick little boy. I have wanted to be a Member of Parliament since I was eight years old, and from the time I was that age, I was reading everything about parliament, everything about elections, everything. And I was so grateful for the experience of Youth Parliament and the environment that she created for the children in that group because it was encouraging. It was compassionate. It was gentle. And we learned so much from that experience. I have never forgotten that and never, ever will be able to tell you how much I appreciate that.

And just for our team—always there, always supportive, always encouraging—I am thankful to her, and I am thankful to your family for everything. And I really hope your family is getting consoled at this time because I know that the loss that we feel can be incomparable to what you felt.

And Mr. Speaker, the other person I want to speak on is a very strong supporter of mine who passed recently, Mr. Charles Ratteray. And Charles, I can tell you, man. I do not think . . . If I had one supporter that was not my wife, it was Charles. Look, when I was unceremoniously removed from Tourism, Charles wanted to go to town and sort the Premier out.

And I said: No, Charles. And then he said, Well I am going to put a motion of no confidence down because this has got to be fixed.

And I said: Charles, do not do that. Do not do that. Do not do that. This is part of the process.

But I speak of him because Charles and your wife are the spectrum of support at the grassroots level that the Progressive Labour Party enjoys. And it is people like that who keep us humble, who keep us grounded, who keep us connected, who are not afraid to tell us when we are not doing a good job, and who will constantly advocate for the small man. And so that is really, really the core of this.

And that is why, Mr. Speaker, I am grateful because I think this is my first time speaking since the election in this Chamber. I am grateful to the people of constituency 33 and the people who worked tirelessly behind the scenes to help keep the Progressive Labour Party structured, growing, and accountable because we are nothing without them, Mr. Speaker. And so, I am grateful to those whom we have lost over the years. And we continue to lose many because the service record for a lot of these guys has been very long, decades long. But I am grateful for them because we would not be here.

We were talking upstairs recently, actually earlier this afternoon, about how when the Progressive Labour Party was founded, we had six seats the first time. And we are all now beneficiaries of the people who had the vision that got us the six seats, that struggled for 40 years and did not give up, did not re-brand, did not rename, did not change approach, [that] persevered, and worked, and worked. And those are the people that we serve, and we have to live up to. So, I am very grateful to the people who placed me back in office and to all the people who placed my colleagues back into office.

Mr. Speaker, we are about to go into Mother's Day on Sunday, and I would like to take the opportunity to wish all the mothers of Bermuda a happy Mother's Day.

[Desk thumping]

Mr. Jamahl S. Simmons: Thank you. I do not think I have ever been in the House and had the OBA applaud for me as well, so I feel—

[Inaudible interjections and laughter]

Mr. Jamahl S. Simmons: I know, right? But thank you.

No, but I think that we all . . . Look, we all can point to a mother or mother figure who shaped our lives. And we . . . I particularly am grateful to my mother for all she did and continues to do. And I am grateful to her for building a home with my father to keep us focused on the community, helping to raise us to become the people we are today, flaws and all.

I am thankful to my wife who [has] suffered through politics alongside me since the early 2000s, and I am grateful to her and for the wonderful sons we have.

And Mr. Speaker, with that I would just like to again reiterate Happy Mother's Day to all the mothers of Bermuda. Thank you for all you do and continue to do.

The Speaker: Thank you, MP.
MP Famous.

CONGRATULATORY AND/OR OBITUARY SPEECH

Mr. Christopher Famous: Mr. Speaker, as the Honourable Member from 33 said, three minutes is not enough for some persons. So, I want to start off. After your son got up, I figured, you know, it does not make sense me standing up.

Mr. Speaker, [in] 2018 you took me on my first trip overseas to represent Bermuda to the Cayman Islands. And it was not just you; your wife was with you. And we were fortunate. We got there Saturday, I think. Yes. We were fortunate the next day was Father's Day. So, I got to be your son for the day. All right? Because Russell and the other guys were not there. So, I was not just your son, I was your wife's son for the day. So, we drove all around [the] Cayman Islands to see what it is about, and, you know, we saw what we had to see.

But my point, Mr. Speaker, is during that trip she was not just there as your wife. She was the mother to the MPs that were there at the time, MP Tinee. And MP Jackson was there as well. So, it was a bipartisan trip. But the point is, that was my one week to spend with her as my mom.

What I saw on Sunday was a tribute to a woman who, as was written in The Royal Gazette—I do not know how true it is—I was going to run, but I decided to let him run because he could not have babies. So, it kind of alluded to [the idea] that she was the brains in the operation a little bit. Right? I say that in the sense that everyone who has passed through Youth Parliament was nurtured by her. Some of them have gone on to become politicians. Some of them have become leaders in other ways. So, again I want to just give my respect to a woman who was my mother for one week.

AFFORDABLE HOUSING CRISIS IN BERMUDA

Mr. Christopher Famous: Mr. Speaker, I am going to move on to a topic that affects everybody in Bermuda. I am not going to be long. Mr. Speaker, it seems that sometimes when you read stuff from the Opposition and hear stuff from the Chamber of Commerce, it is like, Whoa, they are almost saying the same thing. And I am not saying it is the wrong thing just [that it seems they are] saying the same thing.

So, in this document today and other documents we keep hearing that we need to increase in population. We need to increase in population. We need to increase in population. And there is some magical number bandied about that we need to get 70,000 people and blah, blah, blah. Okay, fine. Whatever. But the reality is where are we going to put these people? Right now, we have a housing crisis, [an] affordable housing crisis. Let me put it that way. So where are going to put another 5,000 people? Where are we going to put another 1,000 people?

The reality, Mr. Speaker, is someone like yourself who knows a little bit about real estate . . . The reality is it is a challenge. We do not have a lot of land. The banks are charging exorbitant prices for interest. Construction rates are extremely high. We have to be brutally honest. We do not have enough local construction talent. So, we have all these factors working against us as a country expanding our housing stock. Right?

There is a claim that I am still trying to figure out—so maybe later on they can tell me how it goes—that if term limits cause people to leave the country, that caused the housing crisis.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Point of order, Mr. Speaker. If the—

The Speaker: Point of order.

POINT OF ORDER

[Standing Order 19, Rules of Debate]

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Yes. My understanding is this is not properly following the standing orders because we have already debated these topics.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker: He is not debating. He is not taking on the budget debate. He is just making comments to some topic.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: I appreciate your guidance.

The Speaker: Had he gone specifically back to a budget debate or something like that, a budget item, it would have been different.

Mr. Christopher Famous: Mr. Speaker, if the fish did not open his mouth.

Mr. Speaker, the reality is that no matter what the circumstances are, we are in an affordable housing crisis. There are reasons such as probate, property transfers taking too long, planning regulations taking too long, banks charging too much money, interest rates. There is a host of reasons. But we as a country have to be honest with ourselves versus the finger pointing and this, that, and the other.

[Inaudible interjection]

Mr. Christopher Famous: Right?

[Inaudible interjection]

Mr. Christopher Famous: Beg pardon?

An Hon. Member: Blame the Government.

Mr. Christopher Famous: Yes. Blame the Government. Right?

[Laughter]

Mr. Christopher Famous: We have to be honest with ourselves. All right? And there are ways to not necessarily fix the problem but mitigate the issue that we have. The Housing Corporation is doing their part. We are providing affordable housing, but there is no way we could provide the amount of housing that is needed.

And if we do not fix the problem, Mr. Speaker, what is going to happen? We are going to have more people coming in to work no matter what spectrum they are working on, and our people are going to be forced out of housing. And what is the net result with that? That contributes to the part about people leaving the country.

So, my point to all in this House and all that are listening is, What are you prepared to do to help the housing situation? If you own a piece of property no matter how small or big it may be, go check a plan. Go check the bank. See if you can get a loan. Check an architect to see if you could build on because even if you cannot rent it out, even if you are not doing it to rent it out, you are going to need it for your own family sooner or later. If you do not have a skill, go learn a skill because you will never not need a . . . Trade persons are never not needed, Mr. Speaker. All right?

And those that do have influence with financial institutions need to have a conversation with them to say, Listen, working class, middle class, upper middle-class Bermudians are having a challenge just borrowing money to build because your loan regulations are too stringent.

So, I say that, you know, we are going to have an ongoing debate about housing because we have a Minister of Housing that is on point. We have a Shadow Minister of Housing that is trying to be on point, getting on point. Right? I will give him his credit.

It is a serious situation, Mr. Speaker, because knocking on doors . . . Any one of us have knocked on doors, and we have seen people that are looking for somewhere to live, not because they do not have the money, but some landlords are being extortionists. I went to a house in Devonshire, a middle-class neighbourhood. A young lady is paying $6,300 for a three-bedroom house. And her landlord is telling her, If you do not sign, you can leave next month, you know. She is a young Bermudian who has got her degree, is a professional, has herself a husband and three children. She cannot qualify for a loan because she is a civil servant so she cannot take her pension. So, she is in this catch-22 situation. She cannot save for a loan because she is paying . . . she cannot save for a downpayment because she is paying $6,300—$72,000 a year, Mr. Speaker. In five years, she will have paid $350,000 in rent. This is what we are facing as a country.

You go on Facebook. There is a page called Home for Rent. People are now just begging to find a room to rent for $1,500 per month—not a studio, not a one bedroom. They are looking for one room [and] willing to pay up to $1,500 per month. That is where we are as a country, so it kind of begs to say, Well, we cannot really be in a big population decline if housing is so scarce. Right? So, I will just leave it at that, Mr. Speaker.

As Honourable Jamahl said, Happy Mother's Day to all the mothers that have mothered us.

[Desk thumping]

Mr. Christopher Famous: Hey! Whoa! Happy Mother's Day, Scott.

[Inaudible interjection]

Mr. Christopher Famous: Yeah. And, Mr. Speaker, I am your full son.

The Speaker: Thank you, MP Famous.

Does any other Member wish to make a contribution this evening? No other Member?

We will rise and call this day a conclusion, and we thank Members for their participation. We thank you even more for making it a shorter night than we expected. And we trust that you get some rest this weekend and come in on Monday expecting to put a lot of energy into the next three weeks as we go through the individual Heads. And just be mindful that, yes, it is Mother's Day. And love those mothers and those wives that you have around you. Some of us will only be able to do part of that this year. Have a good weekend.

CITY OF HAMILTON PLAN 2025

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Madam [Deputy] Speaker, I have the honour to attach and submit for the information of the Honourable House of Assembly the City of Hamilton Plan 2025.
Thank you.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Member.

PETITIONS

The Deputy Speaker: [There are none.]

STATEMENTS BY MINISTERS AND JUNIOR MINISTERS

CITY OF HAMILTON PLAN 2025

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Thank you, Madam [Deputy] Speaker.

Madam [Deputy] Speaker, today I presented to this Honourable House for its consideration and approval the City of Hamilton Plan 2025—or simply, "the Plan." This forward-looking document, prepared by the Department of Planning, will guide all future development activity in the City of Hamilton excluding the North East Hamilton Local Plan 2022 area.

The Plan is accompanied by two important documents: the Tribunal Report, which outlines its findings and recommendations, and the City Survey Report 2024, providing the background data and research that shaped the policies contained in this Plan.

Once approved, the Plan will be published in the Official Gazette, representing a critical step forward in modernising the planning framework that guides development in the City. I invite all Honourable Members and members of the public to view the full documents online at planning.gov.bm, reflecting the Government's commitment to accessibility and transparency in public policy.

Madam Deputy Speaker, this Plan reflects not only policy but also a cultural shift in how we approach development in the City. For too long, outdated policies have limited good projects and prevented officers from using their judgment to achieve well-balanced results. That changes today.

The City of Hamilton Plan 2025 introduces a more flexible and holistic approach to planning that empowers technical officers to use their professional judgment more effectively while ensuring that every decision is grounded in design quality, sound evidence and community benefit.

Madam Deputy Speaker, this Plan is built on the internationally recognised principle of placemaking. Development must contribute positively to the human experience of the city, not just in appearance, but in how people move, gather, and interact. By focusing on design, walkability, and mixed uses, we believe Hamilton can become more than a place of business—it can be a vibrant, safe, and inviting urban destination.

Placemaking is not merely a catchphrase; it serves as a framework that underpins every major element of this Plan—from transportation to green spaces, from housing to commercial revitalisation. We prioritise people, and where they choose to spend time, economic activity naturally follows.

Madam Deputy Speaker, as we adopt this modern and responsive plan, I want to address a concern that I shared during the discussion with technical officers: building heights.

Let me be clear: this Plan does not open the door to 30-storey skyscrapers in Hamilton.

While the Plan eliminates rigid, city-wide height limits, it maintains control and common sense. Instead, it introduces a smarter, more responsive framework that considers height and massing based on a building's location, context, and design quality.

Madam Deputy Speaker, building heights will now be negotiated and assessed based on a project's location in the City and its contributions to the surrounding area. Any proposal will still be required to meet infrastructure standards, ensure design excellence and maintain compatibility with neighbouring properties. We have replaced arbitrary maximums with a more tailored and place-based approach.

So no, Madam Deputy Speaker, this is not a green light for unchecked vertical growth. It is a call for thoughtful, contextual and community-minded development that works for Hamilton, not against it.

Madam Deputy Speaker, the Plan before us is the result of years of public engagement, consultation, and technical analysis. From the Consultative Draft in 2023 to the final Tribunal review in 2024, every step reflects a commitment to inclusion, evidence, and fairness. Stakeholders across sectors—from the Corporation of Hamilton to residents and businesses—have shaped this final product. This collaborative spirit will continue as we implement it.

Madam Deputy Speaker, Bermuda's land is limited. Yet, within that limitation lies opportunity, particularly in Hamilton. The City already has the infrastructure, services, and transport connections. If we are to achieve compact, efficient and sustainable growth as an Island, it makes sense to maximise development in the one place already built for it.

Madam Deputy Speaker, the Government remains committed to a thriving, sustainable and inclusive City of Hamilton. The City of Hamilton Plan 2025 is key to achieving that vision. Together, they lay the foundation for responsible investment and smart growth that benefits all of Bermuda.

I want to conclude by thanking the Tribunal, led by Chairperson Ms. Jennifer Haworth, along with Mr. David Astwood and Ms. Vanessa Turner, and the Forward Planning team from the Department of Planning led by Director Victoria Cordeiro, for their professionalism and commitment to bringing this pivotal Plan to fruition.

Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Minister.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES

The Deputy Speaker: There are none.

QUESTION PERIOD

The Deputy Speaker: No Member indicated that they have questions, so there are no questions.

CONGRATULATORY AND/OR OBITUARY SPEECHES

The Deputy Speaker: I recognise the Member from constituency 2. Member, you have three minutes.

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: I know all too well, thank you very much.

Madam Deputy Speaker, I just rise this morning to offer congratulations to one of our own in this Chamber—the Sergeant-at-Arms, Mr. Arnold Allen, the founder and chief instructor of the Harto Dojo karate which was founded in 1982. And I would like to associate MP Lawrence Scott, who I know is well versed and in doing so . . . I will associate the whole House as well.

I had the great privilege of attending a prize presentation a couple of Sundays ago at the Warwick Academy. I was not able to stay long. I was going to my own teaching instructions, but I was impressed by the level of discipline I witnessed with those young people as his team put them through their charges and with brown belts, green belts, orange belts, purple belts, yellow belts being raised on that day with demonstrations which lasted quite some time. And it was impressive to say the least, Madam Deputy Speaker.

I would go as far as to say that having attended another one of the prize presentations, which involved all of the disciplines in karate, I was impressed by the leadership that I witnessed on that occasion. And I could see from his own dojo where that emanated from because the precision and the detail that was enforced and emphasised is something that I picked up on—fundamentals being key to any sport and discipline.

I saw it being taught and being enforced with those who were teaching those young people. And I would go as far as to say that Mr. Arnold Allen, who represents us ably as Sergeant-at-Arms with his military background, has found a great way of teaching young people how to learn great qualities of life—discipline being amongst the most important.

Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

The Deputy Speaker: Are there any other Members who wish to speak?

I recognise the Member from constituency 1. Member Ming, you have the floor.

Mrs. Renee Ming: Thank you. Good morning, [Madam Deputy] Speaker.

First of all, I come on a sad note this morning giving thoughts and prayers to the family of Peggy Delpeche. For us in St. George's, that would be Peggy Paynter, Aunt Peggy Paynter—the nerve of me. She is no longer with us, but I would like for her family—a large St. George's stalwart family—to know that they are in our thoughts and prayers. I cannot believe I am not going to have any more phone calls from Aunt Peggy on anything that is happening in St. George's that she thought I needed to know about.

So, it will definitely be an adjustment for all of us in St. George's because whilst I may have thought I was special, Aunt Peggy called around to everybody to let you know either what was happening in St. George's, what needed to be repaired in St. George's, and who may have passed in St. George's. Her family is in our thoughts and prayers.

I would also like to be associated with the comments from Friday, Madam Deputy Speaker, with regard to Sinclair Williams.

And on a happier note, I would like to congratulate the Relay for Life organisers. I had the opportunity to participate this year with my 15 laps around the . . . I associate the whole House. The 15 laps around the thing. I did not take up spinning. It did not look like it was for me, but I kept to my walking.

And this one is a bit close to my heart, Madam Deputy Speaker. I would like to congratulate my hubby. He has retired after 38 years of service with the Bermuda Police Service. I do not know what he will do now, Madam Deputy Speaker. But I have a really long honey-do list that has not even been started. But I do believe . . . one thing I will say is that a policeman is a policeman forever. Right? Because he is always thinking in that way. And I guess after 38 years of service to his community and to his country, it is really hard to turn something like that off. But we wish him all the best in whatever it is he decides to do. And I think he still has a lot more to offer his country. So, I will just say: look out. Watch this space.

Thank you.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Member.

Are there any other Members who wish to speak?

I recognise the Member from constituency 15. Member, you have the floor.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Thank you. Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

I would just like to rise to my feet to give congratulations to the Bermuda Football Association [BFA]. One of our National Sports Governing Bodies that is supported by the Government of Bermuda. And this Saturday night, Madam Deputy Speaker, they had their annual end of year awards, and I would like to just take the time that I have left to actually go through the list of those awards. And I will finish with one that I am sure my honourable colleague from constituency 17 will be happy to hear.

But I will start with these ones. So, the top goal scorers and winners were:

- Premier Division: Diaje Hart
- First Division: Paul Simons
- Women's [Division]: Ms. Kalila Daley

The top defensive Player of the Year:

- Premier Division: Julian Carpenter
- First Division: Mr. Darius Cox
- Women's Division: Kalay Hollis (PHC)

The Goalkeeper of the Year:

- Premier Division: from North Village, the champions, Mr. Detre Bell
- First Division: Deaz Chambers
- Women's Division: Samantha Davis

The Fair Play award went to:

- Premier Division: North Village Community Club—and that is the team that has the least amount of infractions. So not only did they win the league, but they did so in a fair manner.
- First Division: Robin Hood
- Women's Division: Somerset Cricket Club and Dandy Stars

The Young Player of the Year:

- Premier Division: Mr. T'ysi Showers (PHC)
- First Division: Sami Carolo (Robin Hood)
- Women's Division: Koa Goodchild (Somerset Cricket Club)

The Order of Merit—this was a very momentous award given by the BFA:

- Mr. Kevin Grant for the work he has done in football over the years.
- Mr. Stuart Crockwell—everyone will know Mr. Crockwell as a former referee.
- And former colleague, former Minister of Sport, Mr. Dale Butler was recognised for his achievements in supporting sport while he was the Minister.

The Coach of the Year:

- Premier Division: This year, it went to the champions in the Premier Division, Calvin "Patches" Dill, Jr. from North Village

- First Division: Troy Smith from Boulevard
- Women's Division: Danvers Seymour, Jr.

Referees of the Year:

- Youth Referee: Mr. [Rhys] Pedro
- Young Referee: Dash Bailey
- Senior Referee: Amaury Majors

The MVPs, Most Valuable Player for each division:

- Premier Division: Again, from the champions, Mr. Jonté Smith (North Village)
- First Division: Paul Simons (X-Roads)
- Women's Division: Jenay Edness-Gomez (Dandy Stars)

It was also lovely to have the president of CONCACAF, who was in attendance. That is a big deal for the Bermuda Football Association. As you will know that not only do we have the Gold Cup as we do often, but CONCACAF are the official host of the World Cup in 2026, and it was good to have him in our presence.

So, congratulations to all winners of the BFA Awards. Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you. Just on time.

[Timer chimes]

The Deputy Speaker: Are there any other Members who wish to speak?

I recognise the Member from constituency 28. Member, you have the floor.

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Good morning, Madam Deputy Speaker.

I would like to associate my comments with the Minister of Sport in regard to the BFA Awards on Saturday night. I had initially planned to attend, but in preparation for today's budget I was not able to make it. But I would like to just for all those who represented Somerset Cricket Club, I would just like to send congratulations to them. And I declare my interest as a member of the management of Somerset Cricket Club. While it is good to see all of our clubs doing well, I do have to single out Somerset Cricket Club for the work that they have done.

Also just to make a correction to what the Minister said, it's T'ysi Showers, my cousin. So again, I want to say congratulations to my cousin T'ysi Showers for winning Young Player of the Year award and to all the other awardees: Well done on a good season and looking forward to again the . . . Somerset. Hopefully we can win more awards and be promoted next season. But well done to all of the awardees.

Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Member.

I am wondering why St. George's names were not called in that.

But are there any other Members who wish to speak? There being none.

Thank you, Member.

ORDERS OF THE DAY

The Deputy Speaker: That brings us to Orders of the Day and that would be the resumption in Committee of Supply for further consideration of the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for 2025/26.

I call on the Premier.

Hon. E. David Burt: Thank you. Good morning, Madam Deputy Speaker.

Madam Deputy Speaker, I move that the House do now resume in Committee of Supply to consider the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for fiscal year 2025/26.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Premier. I did not mean to exclude you.

I call on the Member from constituency 24. Member.

House in Committee at 10:24 am

[Mr. W. Lawrence Scott, Chairman]

COMMITTEE OF SUPPLY

ESTIMATES OF REVENUE AND EXPENDITURE FOR THE YEAR 2025/26

The Chairman: Good morning Honourable Members. We are now in Committee of Supply for further consideration of the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditures for the year 2025/26.

The heads that are going to be debated right now are Heads 87, 03, 04, 25, 74 and 75. I call on the Minister [sic] in charge to proceed—

The Clerk: Member.

The Chairman: Member—Junior Minister Lister, you now have the floor.

MINISTRY OF JUSTICE

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Good morning, Mr. Chairman.

I move the following heads:

- 87—Ministry of [Justice] Headquarters;
- 03—Judicial Department;
- 04—Attorney General's Chambers;
- 25—Department of Corrections;
- 74—Department of Court Services; and
- 75—Department of Public Prosecutions be now taken under consideration.

It is my distinct honour to rise today on behalf of Attorney General, Senator the Honourable Kim Wilkerson, JP, to present the budget brief for the Ministry of Justice.

This Ministry stands as the cornerstone of our democracy, safeguarding the rule of law, ensuring access to justice and upholding the rights and freedoms of every citizen.

We remain committed to strengthening our justice system, advancing legal reform and providing critical support to agencies and services that uphold fairness, accountability and public safety across Bermuda.

HEAD 87—MINISTRY OF [JUSTICE] HEADQUARTERS

Mr. Dennis Lister III: I will now present Head 87 Ministry of Justice headquarters, found on pages B-78 to B-82 of the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure. The mission: To uphold the rule of law, to ensure justice for all and promote a community where every individual is respected, empowered and their interests safeguarded.

The total current expenditure is estimated to be $57,740,000 for 2025/26 and represents an increase of $2,857,000 or approximately 5 per cent higher than the budget of 2024/25. This change is due primarily to an increase in salaries, legal and consultancy costs.

Revenue Overview

Mr. Dennis Lister III: The department under this Ministry's portfolios whose mandates directly entail generating revenue is the Judicial Department.

The Judicial Department's revenue stream is projected to yield a total of $4,811,000. This amounts to $423,000 or 10 per cent more than the 2024/25 original estimates. The observed increase is primarily attributable to the escalation of higher court fees and charges as well as the payment of parking fines and civil fees.

I will now present the budget for the Ministry of Justice Headquarters along with the business units under its purview. The budget for individual department heads within this Ministry will be covered separately in their respective budget briefs.

Expenditure Overview

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Mr. Chairman, a total of $6,755,000 has been allocated to the Ministry of Justice Headquarters, which represents a $952,000 or 16 per cent increase from the previous year and constitutes 12 per cent of the budget allocated for the Ministry as a whole. The adjustments will be reflected in each corresponding section.

Mr. Chairman, the Ministry of Justice Headquarters is subdivided into eight fiscally identifiable programmes/business units as follows:

- 97000, Administration;
- 97010, Financial Intelligence Agency;
- 97030, Legal Aid Office;
- 97050, Parole Board;
- 97060, Treatment of Offenders Board;
- 97070, Justice Protection Programme;
- 97080, Financial Sanctions Implementation Unit; and
- 97100, Law Reform Commission.

I will proceed to address these business units individually as follows.

Current Expenditure: Administration, 97000

Mr. Dennis Lister III: The original estimate 2024/25 of $542,000; estimate for 2025/26: $1,322,000, an increase of $780,000. Percentage increase of 144 per cent.

This Administration business unit provides for the administrative and personnel costs associated with the daily operation of the Ministry Headquarters for which a total of $1,322,000 has been allocated. This represents an increase of $780,000 or 144 per cent compared to the original 2024/25 estimates, driven by higher expenditures for consultant services, legal fees, travel costs and increased grant allocation, rental expenses and newly allocated funding for the Parole Board and the Treatment of Offenders Board, which fell under the Ministry of National Security in the last fiscal year.

Legal Aid Office, 97030

Mr. Dennis Lister III: The original estimate for 2024/25 [was] $1,867,000. The estimate for 2025/26 [is] $2,223,000, an increase of $356,000 or 19 per cent.

The Legal Aid Office's purpose is to ensure that legal advice and representation is readily available to those who need it most, and who, because of limited financial means, would otherwise be unable to secure access to justice.

The Office's mission statement is To provide high quality legal representation to those who qualify for assistance under the Legal Aid Act 1980. The office fulfils this role by providing clients who qualify for the scheme with quality professional legal services in a timely and efficient manner. Mr. Chairman, the Legal Aid Scheme is administered by the Legal Aid Committee under the authority of the Legal Aid Act 1980.

For 2025/26, its budget allocation is $2,223,000. This is a $356,000 or 19 per cent increase from 2024/25 original estimate allocation. This increase is mainly due to legal services, consulting costs and rent.

Mr. Chairman, of the 2025/26 allocation, $1,196,000, or 54 per cent, is allocated to salaries for administrative, managerial and legal aid staff. Mr. Chairman, $700,000, or 31 per cent, covers external legal services, while the remaining $327,000, or 15 per cent funds administrative expenses, including committee fees, professional indemnity insurance and Bar Association dues. This year, the Legal Aid Office will undergo a full review to develop a strategic plan aimed at improving efficiency and ensuring continued access to justice for all.

Mr. Chairman, the Legal Aid Office delivers two key services. The administrative team supports applicants in completing legal aid forms and conducts financial means assessments under the Legal Aid Act 1980 before submitting cases to the Legal Aid Committee. Once decisions are made, the team notifies applicants and counsel and issues certificates. The accounts officer then processes all legal and expert service invoices, ensuring they are reviewed, taxed and approved by the committee prior to payment.

The legal team, when at its current full complement, consists of:

- junior counsel,
- two legal aid counsels,
- a senior legal aid counsel
- and the legal aid paralegal.

Whenever possible, the Legal Aid Committee assigns in-house counsel to represent persons who were granted legal aid certificates by the committee.

The performance matches for the Legal Aid Office for 2024/25, where:

1. to process and grant legal aid certificates to qualified applicants within seven days of receiving their completed applications and supporting documents;
2. to process and grant legal certificates in urgent situations within three working days;
3. to assign 75 per cent of new cases to in-house Legal Aid counsel; and
4. to grant approximately 140 new Legal Aid certificates.

Mr. Chairman, I am pleased to report that the Legal Aid Office met its performance goals for the fiscal year 2024/25. Applications for the new Legal Aid certificates were efficiently processed and placed before the Legal Aid Committee and most certificates were considered and granted within seven days of receiving completed applications and supporting documentation. Temporary urgent Legal Aid certificates were granted within 24 hours, which exceeded the goal set of three working days.

Mr. Chairman, a key performance goal for 2024/25 was to assign at least 75 per cent of new Legal Aid certificates to in-house counsel. The Office surpassed its target, achieving 80 per cent. With the recruitment and training of additional in-house counsel for 2025/26, this figure is expected to rise to approximately 90 per cent, leading to cost savings and broader public access to justice.

Mr. Chairman, the number of Legal Aid certificates granted each year fluctuates due to unpredictable socioeconomic and other factors. In 2024/25, while 228 applications were processed (slightly above the projected 225), only 113 applicants qualified and were granted certificates. Decisions on 23 applications remain pending further information.

Overall performance indicators show increases in applications processed and certificates granted compared to the previous year, along with a reduction in deferred applications.

Operating Expenses

Mr. Dennis Lister III: For the fiscal year, Mr. Chairman, expenses occurred, excluding salaries, were as follows:

- Legal fees for external counsel—$970,000
- Telephone expenses—$5,700
- No fees were paid out for consultants over the period under review
- $13,800 was spent on board and committee fees
- $97,000 was apportioned for electricity, rent and maintenance
- $11,600 was allocated for cleaning

- $18,700 was allocated for office supplies, printing, books and professional law periodicals

Legal Services

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Mr. Chairman, between the period of 1 April 2024 and 31 March 2025, the Legal Aid Office processed a total of 228 new applications—140 criminal matters, 56 civil matters and 32 matrimonial matters. Out of the 228 new applications for funding, 113 matters were approved, 92 were declined and 23 were deferred.

The work of in-house Legal Aid counsel—individual client cases managed by in-house counsel over the period under review resulted in cost savings of approximately $880,000 in legal fees, which would otherwise have been paid to external counsel.

Mr. Chairman, the Legal Aid Office represented clients with respect to a broad range of legal matters over the past year, including family court matters, civil claims such as employment and personal injury, human rights claims, constitutional applications and criminal trial and appeal matters. Cost savings were realised in many ways through the strategic use of Legal Aid counsel to assist individuals before the courts. The Legal Aid Office ensured all assisted people received quality representation and timely access to justice. In-house counsel appeared as duty counsel for individuals in many courts, thereby safeguarding the rights of individuals and ensuring that cases are dealt with fairly and expeditiously.

The Legal Aid Office provided counsel each week to assist individuals appearing in the Mental Health Treatment Court, Drug Treatment Court, DUI Court and the Juvenile Court. Effective counsel in these courts is critical to the success of individuals appearing before them. Individuals and the judiciary rely on counsel to provide legal and moral guidance as they work to address the underlying causes of their involvement in the criminal justice system.

The Legal Aid Office made counsel available 24 hours a day, seven days a week, to advise and assist all persons arrested and detained by the police over the past year, including attending at the police station to assist adults and young people during police interviews and serious matters. The Legal Aid Office ensured that no one [who] appeared in the Plea Court was required to enter a plea or otherwise compromise their legal rights without the advice and assistance of legal counsel.

The Legal Aid Committee, Mr. Chairman, recognises that for some members of the community faced not only with financial challenges, but also with cognitive or mental health challenges, representation by in-house counsel is necessary to ensure their voices are heard. In these circumstances, Legal Aid certificates are granted at the discretion of the Committee, in the interest of justice.

In addition to clients charged with criminal offences, the Legal Aid Office continues to represent an increasing number of individuals who are before the Supreme Court and the Magistrates' Court in relation to child custody, access and maintenance disputes. There continue to be an increased demand for Legal Aid Counsel in the Juvenile Court to represent young people being tried for serious matters. Legal Aid counsel appear as duty counsel for the Juvenile Court every week and are most often assigned to represent young people who are granted Legal Aid certificates by the committee.

The implementation of child safeguarding provisions which protect the rights of children and ensure their voices are heard in all types of cases before the courts has resulted in Legal Aid counsel frequently being called upon to represent children who come before the courts as witnesses, victims and the subject of Family Court litigation regarding their care and custody.

Internally, Mr. Chairman, the Office continues to build a strong team as the administrative staff and counsel work together to meet their shared goal of providing excellent legal representation to the public. Together, they have developed effective solutions to all obstacles and challenges presented over the past year.

External Counsel

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Mr. Chairman, external legal fees remain the largest area of expenditure for the Legal Aid Office, except for salaries, and continue to be challenging to accurately predict.

Last year the legal fees paid to external counsel were higher than predicted for several reasons, including the following. There was an increase in the rate of murder and other serious violent crimes, as well as conspiracies to import firearms, ammunition and illegal drugs into Bermuda. Multiple defendants were charged and tried together in these serious cases.

Each defendant is entitled to independent counsel who is free from any potential conflict of interest in most cases. Therefore, in-house Legal Aid counsel is only able to represent one defendant, whilst the other two, three or more co-defendants, who often all qualified for Legal Aid have to be represented by external counsel. Very focused efforts and cooperation between the courts, the Department of Public Prosecutions [DPP], Legal Aid counsel and external counsel has continued to decrease the backlog of cases during the last fiscal period, which has necessarily increased the cost of external legal fees.

Although the Legal Aid Committee requires brief fee proposals from counsel to ensure fees are necessary and reasonable, it remains challenging to predict when trials will occur, and accounts will be submitted.

In the past fiscal year, external counsel submitted claims for serious trials and appeals that had been budgeted for and completed in prior years. Several Privy Council appeals and applications advanced during this period, resulting in significant decisions.

To manage costs, local and in-house counsel supported these matters. However, foreign counsel was also required to ensure the efficient progress of appeals in that jurisdiction. The past fiscal period included payment of substantial fees to external counsel for retrials. Costs to Legal Aid increased whenever the DPP determines it is in the public interest to try individuals for a second or third time for the same offences.

Training and Development

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Training and development, along with succession planning are some of the most important objectives of the Legal Aid Office as a number of experienced barristers who are willing and able to represent Legal Aid clients will begin to decrease over the next five years. It is imperative that we begin to train and develop the next generation of Bermudian barristers now to ensure that our courts continue to operate efficiently and that all persons, regardless of wealth have access to justice.

The Legal Aid Office is an ideal training ground for pupils and junior counsel, both due to the diversity of legal work and the opportunity to assist and learn from senior barristers engaged in complex matters before our courts. It is integral to facilitating the Ministry's goal to train and retrain competent and qualified Bermudians for the legal profession, especially for the Criminal Defence Bar.

Recruitment is underway currently to bring on board a second more senior barrister and a junior barrister immediately. Further development and growth is anticipated as we remain dedicated to access to justice for all Bermudians into the future.

The Legal Aid Office is actively seeking a larger, more suitable space for its team. While relocation has been more challenging than anticipated, the Office remains committed to finding a cost-effective solution that supports its mission, sustains its services and offers a strong training ground for promising Bermudian barristers. Supporting the development of future Bermudian barristers and judges, alongside providing quality legal representation, remains a top priority for both the Legal Aid Office and the Ministry of Justice.

Mr. Chairman, we will begin over the coming fiscal year to make the crucial investment now in our Legal Aid plan, in our collective commitment to ensure equal access to justice for all and the preservation of high standards ([which] we now enjoy and expect in our justice system in the future) and the absolutely essential development and retention of first-rate Bermudian barristers.

Parole Board, 97050

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Parole Board, business unit 97050. The original 2024/25 estimate, zero. Estimate 2025/26, $120,000, an increase of $120,000, or zero per cent.

Mr. Chairman, the Parole Board, which has recently been transferred to the Ministry of Justice, has been allocated a budget of $120,000. The allocation under this business unit is designated for board fees and board training programmes as we seek to modernise our approach to parole. The Parole Board serves as an important role in facilitating the re-entry of offenders into society. The members of the board, which include experts in law, psychology and institutional aftercare, are charged with releasing men and women who are eligible by virtue of certain established criteria to serve the remainder of their sentence under community supervision. With careful thought and deliberation, the Parole Board implements conditions that will provide the highest likelihood of applicants becoming law abiding citizens and equipping them for successful reintegration.

On average, Mr. Chairman, the board meets three to four times per month and works collaboratively with other partner agencies of the justice system, including court services, corrections facilities, rehabilitation programme providers and aftercare professionals to identify appropriate ways to achieve goals by reducing recidivism, preventing crime and protecting society. In 2024, the board conducted a comprehensive review of cases.

Treatment of Offenders Board, 97060

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Treatment of Offenders Board, business unit 97060. The original estimate 2024/25, zero dollars. Estimate for 2025/26, $98,000 an increase of $98,000, zero per cent.

Mr. Chairman, the Treatment of Offenders Board which has recently been transferred to the Ministry of Justice, has been allocated a total budget of $98,000. Of this amount, $68,000 is designated for the salary of an administrative assistant, while $30,000 is allocated for board fees.

The Treatment of Offenders Board includes persons who possess expertise in medicine, psychology, law and/or education. The board meets in person twice per month, alternating between Westgate and the co-ed/farm Right Living House facilities. Every month, two members of the board attend roto visits at the facilities to engage with inmates and compile reports based on their findings.

The board acts as a fundamental cornerstone of our justice system ensuring inmates voices are heard and our correction systems remain focused on rehabilitative and restorative justice principles over mere detention.

Justice Protection Programme, 97070

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Justice Protection Programme, business unit 97070. The original estimate for 2024/25 [was] $275,000. The estimate for 2025/26 [is] $320,000, an increase of $45,000 or 16 per cent.

Mr. Chairman, the Justice Protection Programme has been allocated a budget of $320,000 for the fiscal year 2025/26, which represents a $45,000, or 16 per cent increase from the prior year. The Justice Protection Programme operates under the Justice Protection Act 2010, providing protection and relocation services to key prosecution witnesses who meet the statutory criteria. Details of the programme are strictly protected from public disclosure under both the Justice Protection Act 2010 and the Public Access to Information Act 2010.

Thus, Mr. Chairman, we proceed with great caution when representing figures and data which could be mosaiced together with other information, to unwittingly reveal the identity of participants in the Justice Protection Programme, which ultimately prejudices the effectiveness and security of the programme. There was one participant and one person being considered for entry to the programme at the start of the 2025/26 fiscal year.

Programme participants are for their protection, whilst they provide evidence in high profile or high-risk cases before the courts. Over the past 15 years, the Justice Protection Programme has supported 44 participants, representing a total of 62 individuals, some of whom were spouses, partners or children included for family unification. On average, participants remain in the programme for three years. During this period, 11 additional applications were reviewed but denied, as the excess risks were sufficiently mitigated by existing support available to those individuals.

Mr. Chairman, for example, payments under the programme are carefully vetted and structured to cover a participant's reasonable living expenses, including where appropriate those of accompanying family members. Financial assistance may also be provided for relocation settlement, employment support, education and health care. Additional support is offered to help participants achieve greater self-sufficiency and long-term stability. Over the past 15 years, participants in the Justice Protection Programme have testified in 34 trials, resulting in convictions in all but four, an 88.2 per cent conviction rate.

This underscores the programme's critical role in supporting the administration of justice, upholding the rule of law and enhancing public safety, particularly in gang related and violent crime cases. Its success rate exceeds that of comparable programmes in other jurisdictions offering strong evidence of both its effectiveness and value for money.

Mr. Chairman, looking ahead to fiscal year 2025/26, the budget increase is in anticipation of the start of the Domestic Violence Programme and the potential for an increase in providing assistance to the victims of domestic violence specifically. Allowing for the introduction of the new programme and the continued gun crime in our community, the work of this programme will continue within its budget to protect the privacy and locations of the participant witnesses in the programme towards the successful prosecution of some of the most heinous crimes in our jurisdiction.

Financial Sanctions Implementation Unit, 97080

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Financial Sanctions Implementation, business unit 97080. Original estimate for 2024/25 [was] $353,000. Estimate for 2025/26 [is] $376,000, an increase of $23,000 or 7 per cent.

Mr. Chairman, the Financial Sanctions Implementation Unit [FSIU] plays a critical role in upholding Bermuda's reputation as a cooperative jurisdiction with a strong and effective sanctions regime. Its responsibilities include implementing and monitoring compliance with financial and trade sanctions to safeguard the integrity of Bermuda's financial system and protect national economic interests. The FSIU also advises the Minister of Justice on broader issues related to anti-money laundering, counter terrorist financing and counter proliferation.

For fiscal year 2025/26, the FSIU's budget allocation is $376,000. This is an increase of $23,000 or 7 per cent from the estimated allocation for the 2024/25 fiscal year. Mr. Chairman, 96 per cent of FSIU's budget is allocated for salaries. The remaining 4 per cent is allocated for training, office supplies, telephone expenses and membership fees for its two counsels.

Staff

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Mr. Chairman, the FSIU's compromise of two posts, the head of the FSIU and one legal counsel. The FSIU team is responsible for

- providing legal advice and technical support to the Ministry of Justice and carrying out functions delegated to the Minister from the Governor;
- implementing targeted financial sanctions, as well as trade sanctions, including bringing relevant sanctions, Overseas Territories Orders in Council into force in Bermuda;
- reviewing licence applications in respect of the various sanctions regimes and enforcing the same;
- maintaining a web-based repository of sanctions notices in effect in Bermuda;
- public outreach to industry supervisors and government agencies to enhance awareness on sanctions obligations, including proliferation of weapons of mass destruction;

- liaise with Government House and UK authorities on sanctions matters; and
- assisting Ministry of Justice headquarters with Bermudas AML/ATF global obligations.

Under the international sanctions framework, Mr. Chairman, His Excellency the Governor is Bermuda's competent authority and holds ultimate responsibility for sanctions implementation as outlined in the applicable Overseas Territories Orders under the International Sanctions Act 2003 and the International Sanctions Regulations 2013. Since September 2018, certain functions have been delegated to the Minister of Justice under the International Sanctions (Delegation of Governors [Functions]) Notice 2018.

Mr. Chairman, Bermuda's sanctions regime must be up to date, fully implemented and effective for the specific purposes of each financial sanction. As an Overseas Territory, Bermuda's sanctions regime mirrors those sanctions which are implemented in the United Kingdom. To meet international obligations, the FSU ensures that all applicable Overseas Territories Orders that detail new sanctions or amendments to existing sanction regimes are expeditiously brought into force in Bermuda. All updates to Bermuda's sanctions regimes are listed in Schedule 1 of the International Sanctions Regulations 2013.

Mr. Chairman, the FSU's role includes providing legal advice and technical support to the Minister of Justice in carrying out her delegated functions. For instance, under the Bermuda sanctions framework, the Minister of Justice has the power to - obtain evidence and information by taking such steps as considered appropriate to cooperate with any international investigation relating to the funds, economic resources or financial transactions of a designated person;

- issue and revoke licences, with the consent of the Secretary of State, and may grant a licence authorising an activity that would otherwise be prohibited under the said Orders. An issued licence can be varied or revoked by the Minister at any time with the consent of the UK Secretary of State;
- serve as a reporting depository to whom a relevant institution reports or informs if it credits a frozen account pursuant to an Order;
- authorise persons with power to search and investigate suspected ships, aircrafts and vehicles; and
- specify by regulations in the currency of the territory the amount which is to be taken as equivalent to sums expressed in sterling in the relevant Order.

Output Measures

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Applications under the Russia (Sanctions) [(Overseas Territories) (Amendment) (No. 4) Order 2022] regime continues to be the prominent regime for which licence applications are submitted to the FSU.

In 2024/25, the Minister of Justice issued three general licences, two general licences for legal fees which were issued under the Russia sanctions regime Bermuda General Licence 2004 and Bermuda General Licence 2024. Both general licences allowed for payment for the provision of legal services to a designated person under the Russia or Belarus regimes. As a result of the legal general licences, firms will not have to wait for a specific licence before they can receive payment from or on behalf of designated persons, provided that the terms of the general licence are met.

The first general licence, legal licence, was issued in June 2024 and the second general licence (GL) was issued in January 2025. And a general licence for GTLK companies and their subsidiaries under the Russia Sanctions regimes, Bermuda General Licence 2024 in respect of payments and activities associated with insolvency proceedings. The general licence allows payments and other permitted activities to take place in relation to insolvency proceedings associated with GTLK Europe and GTLK Capital and their subsidiaries.

Persons will not have to wait for a specific licence before they can carry out activities in relation to these proceedings, provided that the terms of the general licence are met. In addition, six specific licences were issued in 2024: five financial and one trade. The FSU continues to provide support to the Minister in processing sanctions licence applications. Moreover, the FSU continues to receive a number of compliance reporting forms from industry under the Russia Sanctions regime. To date, $230,750,317.99 in frozen assets has been reported and logged to the FSU.

Outreach

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Mr. Chairman, the FSU continues to ensure that sanctions web page of the Government portal is updated within 24 hours of receiving updated notifications from the UK Government. These updates are required to notify the public of additions or de-listings to the various sanctions' regimes in force in Bermuda. Thus, upon notification from the Foreign, Commonwealth and Development Office and His Majesty's Treasury Office of Financial Sanctions Implementation, the FSU updates the web page and notifies their supervisors to immediately advise their supervised entities of the changes.

Mr. Chairman, during the reporting period, the FSU has been diligently working to introduce a subscription service that enables entities to sign up online to receive sanction update notices. This project is nearing completion and is anticipated that the subscription service will be launched before the end of June 2025. The FSU will continue its outreach to Government Ministry departments and industry to raise awareness of sanctions obligations.

During the reporting period, outreach was provided to the Customs Department. The FSIU is also developing a virtual tool to help entities better understand their obligations and regularly responds to queries from both industry stakeholders and government agencies seeking guidance.

The FSIU also continues to work closely with UK counterpart authorities, Overseas Territories counterparts and domestic operational partners to ensure a consistent approach is used in the effective implementation of targeted financial sanctions and trade sanctions in Bermuda.

Law Reform Commission, 97100

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Law Reform Commission, business unit 97100. Original estimate for 2024/25 $164,000. Estimate for 2025/26, $171,000, an increase of $7,000 or 4 per cent.

Mr. Chairman, the Law Reform Commission has been allocated a budget disbursement of $171,000 for the fiscal year 2025/26. This amount is a $7,000, or 4 per cent increase, from the 2024/25 estimates. This increase is attributable to salary adjustment. There was no movement in the other current expenditures.

Law Reform Commission, Mr. Chairman, is an independent public body established by statute, namely the Law Reform Commission Act 2009. The functions of the Commission are to study and keep under review the laws of Bermuda, with a view to their systemic development and reform. Bermuda's first law reform commissioners were appointed in July 2019, and a new cohort is being presented for approval.

The Commission consists of a chairperson and between four and seven commissioners appointed by His Excellency the Governor, based on their qualifications, training and experience. Appointments are made on the nomination of any two of the following: the Attorney General, the Chief Justice, or the President of the Bar Council.

Mr. Chairman, the Ministry of Justice is [the] sponsoring ministry for the Law Reform Commission. It is the sponsoring Ministry for the Law Reform Commission and has previously subsumed the Commission's costs from within its Headquarters' annual budget allocation.

Mr. Chairman, the fiscal year 2024/25 budget disbursement for the Law Reform Commission, established it as a new business unit. As we continue to devise operational savings within the overall budgetary restraints, the Ministry Headquarters continues its financial stewardship of the Commission. This is done by identifying synergies and resource sharing, which will continue into the next fiscal year.

As such, the statutory role of Director of Law Reform Commission, per section 9 of the Law Reform Commission Act 2009, was designed and approved by the Public Service Commission to be a shared role with the Ministry Headquarters via the FT [full-time] post of law reform policy and strategy counsel—$165,000 is allocated for the fiscal year 2025/26 for that FTE [full-time equivalent] salary.

Mr. Chairman, the Commission is transitioning to a hybrid model in which independent Commissioners are supported by a fully staffed Law Reform Office. This transition includes comprehensive training for both incoming Commissioners and support staff to ensure they are well-equipped for their roles. Oversight that will be provided by the current Law Reform Policy and Strategy Counsel, Mr. Keivon Simmons, alongside the permanent secretary for the Ministry of Justice. Every effort will be made within the budget allocation to support the Commission's mandate to modernise Bermuda's laws and institutions.

Mr. Chairman, for 2025/26 administrative and operational costs will continue to be supported through the shared services of a Ministry Headquarters administrator and careful use of Headquarters' budget allocations. While this arrangement is not ideal, steps will be taken to review and renew roles and responsibilities to maintain Bermuda's strong legal reputation and ensure our laws remain current and aligned with Commonwealth and global standards.

I will take a break, Mr. Chairman.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE CHAIRMAN

HOUSE VISITOR

The Chairman: And while you take a break Junior Minister Lister, the Chair would like to recognise the Minister, the [Honourable] Attorney General who is in the Chambers.

[Committee of Supply, continuing]

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

The Ministry of Justice 2025/26 budget reflects more than arithmetic. It represents our shared commitment to fiscal responsibility and careful stewardship of public resources. Our dedicated public officers will continue to advance fair and equitable access to justice through legal services, policy and legislation that upholds the rule of law and supports social progress for the people of Bermuda.

I am confident that the Ministry will maintain high quality service delivery in 2025/26 driven by sustainable programmes and reforms that strengthen Bermuda's reputation for effective self-governance and respect for the rule of law.

Grants

Mr. Dennis Lister III: The original estimate in 2024/25 [was] $1,625,000. The estimate for 2025/26 is $2,125,000. This represents an increase of $500,000 or 31 per cent. The budget allocation for grants for fiscal year 2025/26 is found at page C-17 of the Approved Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for fiscal year 2025/26 Budget Book. We highlight $2,125,000 has been allocated. This represents an increase of $500,000 or 31 per cent from the 2024/25 fiscal year.

Mr. Chairman, in line with the Government's commitment to combat money laundering, terrorist financing and proliferation financing, the Financial Intelligence Agency [FIA] was established under the Financial Intelligence Agency Act 2007. The FIA is an independent agency authorised to receive, store, analyse and disseminate financial intelligence relating to suspected money laundering and terrorist financing activities primarily received in the form of suspicious activity reports and suspicious transaction reports. The agency is empowered to share intelligence with the Bermuda Police Service, foreign intelligence counterparts and other relevant domestic authorities.

For the 2024/25 fiscal year, the FIA was allocated $1,625,000 consistent with the previous year's budget. In accordance with its statutory obligations, the FIA submitted quarterly expenditure reports and its audited annual report to the Minister of Justice. The FIA remains steadfast in its effort to counter terrorist financing, money laundering and the financing of proliferation, working diligently to protect Bermuda's financial integrity and international reputation.

Training and Capacity Building

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Mr. Chairman, in 2024/25 the FIA continues to enhance its capabilities through targeted training. Staff participated in virtual webinars and courses on topics including sanctions, corruption, digital assets, cryptocurrency and proliferation financing hosted by leading institutions such as the Association of Certified Anti-Money Laundering Specialists, the International Compliance Association, the Association of Certified Financial Crime Specialists, the Financial Action Task Force, Caribbean Financial Action Task Force and the Egmont Group of Financial Intelligence units. In addition, the FIA director and IT coordinator travel to Latvia to attend training by the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime on the goAML platform used to collect SARs [suspicious activity reports] and STRs [suspicious transaction reports].

Highlights from 2024/25

Mr. Dennis Lister III: The FIA contributed significantly to domestic and international financial intelligence efforts. Key achievements included

- contributions to the national money laundering, terrorist financing, proliferation financing and legal persons and arrangements risk assessments;

- ongoing participation in national anti-money laundering committee, working groups and other cross-agency initiatives;
- attendance at the July 2024 Egmont [Group] Plenary and January 2025 working group sessions; and
- attendance at the Caribbean Financial Action Task Force Plenary and working group meetings in June 2024 and December 2024.

Statistics

Mr. Dennis Lister III: In 2024, the reporting entities continue to file suspicious activity reports and suspicious transaction reports to the FIA. This year, the agency received a total of 870 SAR and STR reports.

Throughout 2024, the FIA conducted analysis and issued disclosures to local law enforcement competent authorities and overseas financial intelligence units. In support of this work, the agency issued 56 information requests to Egmont Group FIUs [Financial Intelligence Units] and one to a local counterpart. Additionally, using its authority under section 16 of the Financial Intelligence Agency Act [2007], the FIA issued 143 requests to 10 different reporting entities.

As a result of these inquiries, the FIA has disclosed 215 reports to local law enforcement, local competent authorities and overseas financial intelligence units utilising 365 suspicious activity reports and suspicious transaction reports. This breaks down to 124 disclosures disseminated locally and 91 disclosures to foreign financial intelligence units.

Also, so far in 2025, the FIA received a total of 75 income requests for information—that is 56 from local counterparts and 19 from foreign financial intelligence units. Looking ahead for the 2025/26 fiscal year, the increased grant will be strategically used to strengthen the FIA's operational capacity and effectiveness. Key investments will include the recruitment of additional analysts and support staff, upgrades to the goAML platform and IT infrastructure and enhanced training both in person and virtual, focused on high-risk and emerging areas such as digital assets and AI.

The FIA will also establish a dedicated strategic analysis workflow to support policy reform and expand stakeholder engagement through public-private partnerships and targeted outreach to improve the quality and compliance of suspicious activity and transaction reports.

In conclusion, the FIA remains steadfast in delivering its mandate. The role that they play is invaluable as they continue to combat financial crimes and protect our community. I extend gratitude to the board and staff at the FIA for their tireless efforts.

The Chairman: And just to use that as a segue, the Honourable Member, Junior Minister Lister has just finished presenting on Head 87. He will be going on to Head 3 under the Judicial Department. We do have in the Chamber the Attorney General and our supporting technical officers. And Junior Minister Lister, you have the floor.

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Thank you, Mr. Chairman. I am not yet moving with the next head. I will just give the subjective analysis of Head 87.

Subjective analysis

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Mr. Chairman, the subjective analysis of current account estimates of the Ministry of Justice Headquarters 2025/26 is found on page B-80.

I will highlight the material object code increases and decreases. Salaries decrease by $609,000 primarily due to salary adjustments offset by the transfer of eight positions to another Ministry. Advertising and promotion expenses have decreased by $38,000 as these costs were previously associated with Consumer Affairs. With the transfer of Consumer Affairs to another Ministry, this expenditure is no longer required.

Professional services increased by $890,000, largely driven by higher legal and consultancy fees. While rental expenses increased for Legal Aid, the net effect was a decrease of $24,000 due to the transfer of Consumer Affairs rental obligations to another Ministry.

Other expenses rose by $251,000 due to the introduction of funding for two new boards and additional support for an existing board. Finally, there was a $500,000 increase in grant funding provided.

Capital Expenditure

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Mr. Chairman, the budget allocation for capital expenditure is found at page C-10, of the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure.

The Ministry of Justice Headquarters has been allocated a total of $29,000 for fiscal year 2025/26. This funding will be utilised to acquire new office furniture as the existing items are fully depreciated and have no remaining residual value.

Manpower, business unit 97000. Administration has four staff which will consist of an executive assistant, administrative assistant, policy analyst and a comptroller.

Business unit 97030, Legal Aid has 10 staff, which will consist of a senior legal aid counsel, two Legal Aid counsels, administrative assistant, paralegal, executive assistant, administrative assistant, accounts officer and two pupils.

Business unit 97060, Treatment of Offenders Board has one staff which will consist of an administrative assistant.

Business unit 97080, Financial Sanctions Implementation Unit has two staff which consists of a head of financial sanctions and a legal counsel.

Business unit 97100, Law Reform Commission has one staff which consists of a law reform policy and strategy counsel.

Mr. Chairman, this budget reflects a targeted investment in strengthening justice delivery and upholding the rule of law in Bermuda. It is aligned with national priorities and through this allocation, the Ministry will continue to drive accountability by delivering measurable and impactful performance outcome.

This ends my presentation on Head 87, Ministry of Justice.

HEAD 3—JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT

Mr. Dennis Lister III: I will now move on to Head 3, the Judicial Department, which can be found on pages B-83 to B-90 of the Budget Book.

Mr. Chairman, the Judiciary is established by the Constitution as a separate and independent branch of government. Its task is to adjudicate charges of criminal conduct, resolve disputes, uphold the rights and freedoms of the individual, and preserve the rule of law.

The mandate of the Judiciary is To administer justice through the effective management of the courts of Bermuda. The mandate of the administrative arm of the Judiciary, the Judiciary Department, is To provide the services and support necessary to enable the judiciary to achieve its mission.

Manpower

Mr. Dennis Lister III: The judicial system is comprised of three levels of court: the Magistrates' Court (consisting of Criminal, Civil and Family Courts), the Supreme Court (consisting of Criminal, Civil and Commercial, Appellant, Family, Matrimonial and Probate jurisdictions), and the Court of Appeal. Ancillary services offered under the umbrella of judicial system include Bailiff services. The Honourable Chief Justice is the head of the Judiciary. The Registrar is the head of the Judicial Department.

Collectively, the Judiciary and the Judicial Department have a staffing complement of 70 officers, two of whom require a work permit (Puisne Judges), 55 (or 79 per cent) of posts are filled substantively, seven (or 10 per cent) are filled by temporary relief employees, and eight (or 11 per cent) are currently vacant.

Expenditure Overview: Capital Expenditure

Mr. Dennis Lister III: The capital expenditure estimates for 2025/26 are found on page C-10 of the Approved Estimates of Revenue Expenditure Budget Book. The Judicial Department has been allocated a total of $1 million for fiscal year 2025/26 for the replacement of its outdated case management system, JEMS. With the procurement process well underway, the department is hopeful that the implementation of a new case management system will be imminent.

The implementation of this system is expected to catapult the Judiciary into the 21st century, affording both the Judiciary and the department the ability to deliver more efficient, modernised services. In addition, $18,000 has been allocated for computer equipment. Original estimates for 2024/25 [was] $800,000 and the estimates for 2025/26, again, $800,000.

Current Account Expenditure

Mr. Dennis Lister III: The current account estimates for Head 3, the Judicial Department begin on page B-84 of the Budget Book.

A total of $10,334,000 has been allocated to Head 3 within the Ministry of Legal Affairs and Constitutional Reform. This amount represents a $783,000 or 8 per cent increase from the 2024/25 fiscal year. Additional funding that has been allocated to the department primarily reflects salary increases following negotiations with the BPSU. These salary increases account for a total of $729,000 of the additional funding allocated to the department. Additional funding has been allocated to cover fees payable for legal services. This includes fees payable to the Assistant Justices who have been appointed to hear matters in the Supreme Court, and fees payable to local law firms who have been instructed to represent members of the judiciary.

Lastly, additional funding has been allocated to cover increased fees for services that the department is legislatively mandated to cover. This includes the cost for autopsy reports and the fees for transcription services.

Original estimates [for] 2024/25 [was] $9,551,000. Estimates for 2025/26 [is] $10,334,000, an increase of $783,000 or 8 per cent.

Performance Measures by Business Unit

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Mr. Chairman, I am pleased to provide an analysis by business unit of the budget estimates for the Judicial Department for the fiscal year 2025/26 compared to 2024/25.

The Supreme Court, 13000 Criminal Injuries Compensation

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Original estimate for 2024/25 [was] $208,000. Estimates for 2025/26, zero dollars, a decrease of $208,000 or 100 [per cent]. This funding has now been allocated elsewhere within the Ministry and is no longer accounted for in the Judicial Department's cost centre.

Supreme Court, 13010

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Original estimates for 2024/25 [was] $1,024,000. Estimates for 2025/26 [is]

$1,184,000, an increase of $160,000 or 16 per cent. This cost centre provides for the salaries and operational expenses for the administration of the Supreme Court Registry, for which there are 10 posts, including the assistant registrar, Supreme Court manager, accounts personnel and administrative officers.

The increase in funding to this cost centre reflects salaries and the cost of literary subscriptions required for the Judiciary to perform their judicial functions.

Court Rooms and Chambers, 13015

Mr. Dennis Lister III: The original estimate [for] 2024/25 [was] $2,722,000. Estimates for 2025/26 [is] $3,231,000, an increase of $509,000, or 19 per cent. This cost centre provides for the salaries and operational expenses for the courtrooms and chambers of the Supreme Court (Criminal, Civil and Commercial, and Families/Matrimonial divisions). There are 20 posts accounted for in this cost centre, including the members of the Judiciary, the Chief Justice, Puisne Judges and the Registrar.

When the performance measures were submitted in December 2024 for the upcoming fiscal year, the statistics for the Supreme Court's Criminal Jurisdiction and Appellate Jurisdiction were not available. The department can now report that in 2024/25, a total of 39 matters were commenced in the Criminal Jurisdiction and a total of 35 actions were commenced in the Appellate Jurisdiction. In the Civil and Commercial Jurisdiction, a total of 420 actions were commenced, 1,000 orders were made and 80 judgments and rulings were published. In the Family/Matrimonial Jurisdiction, a total of 160 divorce petitions were filed with 90 conditional orders for divorce, and 100 certificates making conditional orders final issue. In the Probate Jurisdiction, 140 applications were filed and 120 grants were issued.

The increase in funding to this cost centre reflects salaries and also the fees payable to Assistant Justices and to local law firms. Due to Bermuda's small size, occasionally it is the case that the Judiciary's current complement of judges are conflicted from hearing certain matters that are commenced in the Supreme Court.

When these cases arise, the Governor in consultation with the Chief Justice will appoint an Assistant Justice to have conduct of the matter. Given that there has been an increase in cases that have been filed in the Supreme Court, the Judiciary has had to utilise Assistant Justices on a more frequent basis.

Additionally, there have been cases where litigants have commenced Supreme Court and Court of Appeal proceedings against Magistrates, Judges and the Registrar in their judicial capacity. These cases must be contested, and costs will be sought against the litigants who commence each action. Regrettably, the Attorney General's Chambers is conflicted in being able to represent members of the Judiciary, and as such there must be funding in place to retain private counsel.

Court Technology Office, 13025

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Original estimate for 2024/25 [was] $472,000. Estimates for [2025/26] [is] $510,000, an increase of $38,000, or 8 per cent.

This cost centre provides salaries for the Information Technology Section. There are three posts: the IT manager, IT assistant and a data entry clerk. This funding also includes the cost for transcription services and maintenance fees for the court's court reporting system, CourtSmart. The court's IT equipment and software applications must be maintained, kept up to date, and will ultimately have to be replaced when necessary.

The increase in funding to this cost centre reflects salaries and the fees for transcription services. Due to an increase in the number of criminal matters proceeding to the Court of Appeal, the department requires additional funding to cover the increased cost of preparing transcripts of the Supreme Court proceedings. It is to be noted that the Supreme Court Registry provides transcripts for the Court of Appeal as a result of a legislative mandate.

The Court of Appeal, 13020

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Original estimates [for] 2024/25 [was] $1,002,000. Estimates for 2025/26 [is] $1,016,000, an increase of $14,000 or 1 per cent.

This cost centre provides the sitting and retainer fees of the President of the Court of Appeal, five Justices of Appeal and the salaries of two posts: the administrative officer Court of Appeal and an administrative assistant. The Court of Appeal meets three times a year. Each session is three weeks long. The increase in funding to this cost centre primarily reflects salaries with a nominal increase in costs to cover courier services.

The Magistrates' Court, 13040 Adjudication

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Original estimates for 2024/25 [was] $1,061,000. Estimates for [2025/26] [is] $1,087,000, an increase of $26,000 or 2 per cent. This cost centre provides funding for the Senior Magistrate, four Magistrates and Acting Appointments where necessary.

The Magistrates' Court is presided over by the Worshipful Senior Magistrate Maxanne J. Anderson, the Worshipful Tyrone Chin, the Worshipful C. Craig Attridge, the Worshipful Maria Sofianos and the Worshipful Aura Lee Cassidy, all of whom bring a wealth of knowledge and experience to the Magistracy. In addition, the Senior Magistrate has an active Magistrate roster so as to give opportunities to those in the legal profession to acquire judicial experience and skills, which will put them in a position to elevate to the bench.

The Magistrates' Court is multijurisdictional, having conduct of civil, criminal, traffic and family matters. There are also the Treatment Courts such as the Mental Health Treatment Court, the Drug Treatment Court and the Driving Under the Influence (DUI) Court which continue to reduce recidivism by addressing the drug, alcohol and mental health challenges of offenders. The Case Management Court which is conducted once a week is designed to resolve all disclosure, evidential and procedural issues before a matter proceeds to trial.

As a result, instances where a trial would not have proceeded because of such issues have been significantly reduced from previous years. The increase in funding to this cost centre reflects salaries.

Civil Records, 13050

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Original estimates for 2024/25 [was] $261,000. Estimates for 2025/26 [is] $273,000, an increase of $12,000, or 5 per cent. This cost centre provides for the administrative arm of the Magistrates' Court Civil Section. The Civil Section is overseen by the office manager, who has under their remit one senior court associate and two court associates.

The Civil Section provides case management and court services for the resolution of civil claims up to $25,000 and landlord/tenant matters under the Landlord and Tenant Act 1974 and the Rent Increases (Domestic Premises) Control Act 1978. The Civil Court continued to accept filings of all proceedings, including evictions and the recovery of rent arrears. Proceedings were initiated by various entities, which include, but are not limited to, law firms, litigants and persons and credit agencies. The increase in funding to this cost centre reflects salaries.

Family and Child Support, 13060

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Original estimates [for] 2024/25 [was] $511,000. Estimates for 2025/26 [is] $531,000, an increase of $20,000, or 4 per cent. This cost centre provides for the salaries and operational expenses for the Family and Child Support Section of the Magistrates' Court. There are six posts including the family support officer, enforcement officer, an administrative assistant and three court associates. The Family Court is a special court which was created to handle the specific needs of children (whether born within or outside of marriage) and matters arising in respect of their custody, care, maintenance and violations against the law juvenile offenders.

There are two Family Courts. Each Family Court proceeding is presided over by a Magistrate and two special panel members, one male and female pursuant to the Magistrates Act 1948. In 2024, the number of persons serving on the special court panel totalled 44. The panel members assist the Magistrates in decision-making and their value to the Family Court and its continued success is immeasurable. The overall number of new cases filed in the Family Court in 2024/25 totalled 135. The overall number of new cases filed in the Family Court in 2023/24, totalled 135. There was a nominal decrease in 2024/25 which saw 132 new cases filed in the Family Court. Notably, there was a rise in the number of domestic violence orders adjudicated in the Magistrates' Court of 59 per cent in 2024/25 when compared to 2023/24.

In 2024/25, a total of 155 domestic violence orders were issued, compared to a total of 92 DVOs [domestic violence orders] issued in 2023/24. Domestic violence remains a prevalent issue within our community that needs to be addressed. The anticipated establishment of a Domestic Violence Court represents a significant advancement in our judicial approach, allowing us to address the underlying issues therapeutically and provide comprehensive support to victims.

The total number of child support payments received in 2023/24 was $2,790,050. There was a decrease in the amount of child support payments received in 2024/25 which totalled $2,690,249. The increase in funding to this cost centre reflects salaries.

Administration, 13070

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Original estimates [for 2024/25 was] $1,279,000, estimates for 2025/26 [is] $1,330,000, an increase of $51,000 or 4 per cent. This cost centre provides for the salaries and operational expenses for the administration of the Magistrates' Court, for which there are six posts, including the court manager, office manager, accounting officer and administrative public officers. In 2024/25, the cashier's office collected a total of $5,656,981 in fees and fines, which is a decrease of $458,624 when compared to 2023/24, when a total of $6,115,605 was collected.

As it did in previous years, the Magistrates' Court still takes into consideration the financial circumstances of individuals who have been fined and, accordingly, the Magistrates' Court have allowed prices to pay off the fines in instalments. Additionally, Magistrates are making community service orders in lieu of the imposition of fines so that persons who are not able to pay fines can give back to society through charity work. Due to the increased inability of persons unable to pay their fines, the number of community service orders has drastically increased over the past year. The increase in funding to this cost centre reflects salaries and the cost to cover autopsy reports.

Criminal and Traffic Records, 13080

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Original estimates for 2024/25 [was] $464,000. Estimates for 2025/26 [is] $595,000, an increase of $131,000 or 28 per cent. The Criminal/Traffic Records Sections falls under the remit of the office manager and is supervised by the records supervisor. There are two court associates designated to this section who provide case management and court services related to the resolution of criminal traffic and parking ticket cases, as well as manage all record requests.

Additionally, the court associates provide clerking support to the Magistrates and the solely responsible for inputting demerit points into the Transport Control Department's drivers' vehicle registration system and the Court's current case management system, JEMS. The number of new criminal cases filed in Magistrates' Court increased from 537 in 2023/24 to 538 in 2024/25. This was not the case as it relates to the number of new traffic matters filed, which saw a slight decline from 4,510 in 2023/24 to 3,986 and 2024/25.

Additionally, the number of parking cases filed increased in 2024/25 to 29,219 when compared to 2023/24, which had 28,451 matters filed. In 2024/25, the Criminal Traffic Record Section processed a total of 2,660 record requests which is an increase when compared to 2023/24 of 2,500. The requests come from various sources which include, but are not limited to, private citizens, local and overseas employment agencies, private companies, Canadian immigration, the US Consulate, et cetera. As stated in prior briefs, it remains the department's intention to increase the fee for a record request from the Magistrates' Court.

The current fee remains disproportionately low at $10 per application, when a similar report from the Bermuda Police Service is $100. It is anticipated that this fee will be increased during the course of this upcoming fiscal year. It is to be noted that the fees payable in respect of filings and services offered in the Magistrates' Court increased generally pursuant to the Court Fees and Expenses Amendment Act and Validation Rules 2024, which came into effect on 1 August 2024. Prior to this increase the fees charged in the Magistrates' Court had not increased in almost 60 years. The increase in funding to this cost centre reflects salaries.

Bailiffs Office, 13090

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Original estimate for 2024/25 [was] $547,000. Estimates for 2025/26 [is] $577,000, an increase of $30,000 or 5 per cent. This cost centre provides for the salaries, service and execution of court papers inclusive of Civil, Family, Supreme Court and Foreign Service. There is one Head Bailiff, a Deputy Provost, Marshal General, one administrative assistant and four bailiffs who travel throughout the Island serving court processes.

During the 2024/25 fiscal year, the bailiffs served a total of 370 summons, 128 DVOs and executed 52 evictions. The increase in funding to this cost centre reflects salaries.

Revenue Overview

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Mr. Chairman, the revenue estimates for 2025/26 are found on page B-5 of the Approved Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure Budget Book. Revenues are projected at $4,811,000, or an increase of 11 per cent from 2024/25. Total revenue for 2024/25—original estimate for 2024/25 [was] $4,329,000. Estimate for 2025/26 [is] 4,811,000, an increase of $482,000 or 11 per cent.

Filing Fees for the Supreme Court

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Historically, fees payable to the Supreme Court Registry in respect of documents filed in new and active proceedings is a source of revenue that has not been recorded as the majority of these fees are paid by way of revenue stamps that counsel and litigants purchase through the Accountant General.

In 2025, the department began recording the fees paid in respect of filings in the Supreme Court's Civil and Commercial Jurisdiction. During the period 1 January 2025 to 31 March 2025, the Supreme Court Registry recorded a total of $136,473 in revenue for Civil and Commercial matters. It is to be noted that with effect from 31 March 2024, the fees payable to the Supreme Court Registry increased pursuant to the rules of the Supreme Court Amendment Rules 2024 and the Civil Appeal Amendment Rules 2024.

The new fee structure brought the fees charged by the Supreme Court Registry in line with other similar jurisdictions such as the Cayman Islands and has provided an increased revenue stream for the Government of Bermuda.

Fees for Overseas Registered Associates and Court Fees and Charges

Mr. Dennis Lister III: The Supreme Court Registry also processes applications submitted by local law firms to register their locally and overseas-based attorneys/associates to practice law. In 2024/25, the revenue received for overseas registered associate applications decreased from $36,000 collected in the prior year to $25,000. There was however a significant increase in the revenue received for court fees and charges. This revenue includes the fees charged to conduct hearings in the Civil/Commercial Courts for obtaining copies of court records, swearing of affidavits and certifications.

The department recorded a total of $213,124 in revenue for court fees and charges in 2024/25, which is an increase of $160,517 from the previous year which saw a total of $50,607. This increase is largely due to the department making a concerted effort to enforce the payment of hearing fees in respect of civil and commercial matters in accordance with the new fee structure.

Stamp Duty on Deceased Estates.

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Lastly, the Supreme Court Registry Probate Jurisdiction processes applications to probate the estates of deceased individuals. A tax assessment is made on the net estate value of a deceased estate. The net estate value is a calculation of the total value of the deceased gross estate less the value of statutory deductions and exemptions, including the value of property designated as a primary family homestead and spousal benefit. The total revenue receipts for deceased estates in 2024/25 is $1,649,000, an increase from the previous year which saw a total of $747,600. Total stamp duty assessed for grants issued for 2024/25 is $1,717,000 whereas the previous year was $1,183,000.

Magistrates' Court: Traffic, Parking and Criminal Fines

Mr. Dennis Lister III: The major components of revenue in the Magistrates' Court are traffic, parking and criminal fines. The total amount recorded for traffic fines in 2024/25 was $1,646,772, a decrease from $1,841,077 in 2023/24. The total amount recorded for parking fines in 2024/25 was $461,450, a decrease from $643,250. The total amount recorded for criminal fines in 2024/25 was $137,684, an increase from $115,623 in 2023/24.

It should be noted that there remains a concern that the Magistrates' Court Cashier Section provides all of the resources to collect parking ticket fines on behalf of the Corporation of Hamilton. These resources are funded by the Bermuda Government. There is no financial reimbursement by the Corporation of Hamilton to recover the cost of collecting their fines, as 100 per cent of fines are transferred directly to the Corporation of Hamilton.

This results in a loss of revenue to the Bermuda Government. The department has recently engaged in discussions with the Corporation of Hamilton to address this and it is hoped that the department and the Corporation of Hamilton can come to an agreement that would be a benefit to both the Government and the Corporation of Hamilton.

Court Fees

Mr. Dennis Lister III: The revenue received for civil fees in 2024/25 was $138,615, which is a significant increase when compared to the revenue received for civil fees in 2023/24 of $88,675. This increase in revenue is largely attributed to the new fee structure that went into effect in August 2020.

Plans for the Upcoming Year

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Mr. Chairman, in addition to the implementation of a new case management system, funding for which has been allocated in the upcoming fiscal year, the department has received support from the Attorney General to restructure the organisation by redefining now defunct positions. The most significant and anticipated change to the department's organisational structure includes the addition of a second assistant registrar and an administrative officer supervisor for the Supreme Court's Matrimonial and Probate jurisdictions.

The assistant officer for Matrimony and Probate will have oversight over the Matrimonial and Probate divisions of the Supreme Court, while the assistant registrar will lend additional administrative and quasi-judicial support to the registrar and department as a whole. The scope of responsibilities falling within the registrar remit is extensive. Not only does the registrar have quasi-judicial functions and is required to preside over applications within the Supreme Court and the Court of Appeal the registrar is also the Head of Department.

As Head of Department, the registrar is responsible for strategic planning and developing and maintaining the department's budget, human resource management, facilities and operations management and procurement. Additionally, the registrar has administrative duties that are set out in statute, which include scheduling all court proceedings and maintaining the courts records. With an increase in the number of complex matters being filed at all levels of the Court, additional support at the level of administrative registrar is required.

As to the creation of an administrative officer Matrimonial/Probate post, it has been noted that there are currently administrative officers over the Criminal and Civil and Commercial jurisdictions of the Supreme Court, but no such position exists in the Matrimonial or Probate jurisdictions. The creation of a second assistant registrar and an administrative officer Matrimonial/Probate will fill significant service gaps and greatly improve the department's ability to deliver prompt and efficient services. It is also anticipated that final preparations will be made to commence renovations to the Dame Lois Browne-Evans Building to create additional fit-for-purpose court and administrative space.

With the department now fully vacated from Sessions House, the Judiciary is suffering from a lack of physical infrastructure. This can have the undesirable effect of negatively impacting the timely disposal of Court proceedings. The department is looking forward to continuing its work with the Department of Public Land and Buildings this fiscal year to progress the renovation project.

Mr. Chairman, this ends my presentation on Head 3, the Judicial review.

The Chairman: Yes, thank you, Junior Minister. For those in the listening audience, we have just finished Head 3 under the Judicial review. We are now in our second hour of five hours for the Heads 87, 3, 4, 25, 74 and 75.

Junior Minister, you have the floor.

HEAD 4—ATTORNEY GENERAL'S CHAMBERS

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

I will now begin the brief on Head 4, Attorney General's Chambers. Mr. Chairman, the mission statement, department objectives and current account estimates for the Attorney General's Chambers Head 4 begin on page B-91 of the Estimates Book.

The Mission Statement

Mr. Dennis Lister III: As legal advisors to Government, the Attorney General's Chambers is committed to provide high-quality legal advice and litigation services and to drafting sound legislation ever mindful of the need to protect the public interest and to safeguard and preserve the fundamental rights and freedoms enshrined in our Constitution.

In doing so, we also pledge to uphold the traditions of equity, fairness and justice inherent in the legal profession, whilst simultaneously remaining on the cutting edge of legal trends and technologies to ensure that we are abreast of and in accord with global trends.

Expenditure

Mr. Dennis Lister III: The original estimate for 2024/25 [was] $5,702,000. The estimate for 2025/26 is $7,052,000, an increase of $1,350,000, or 24 per cent. A total of $7,052,000 has been allocated for Chambers. This represented an increase of $1,350,000, or 24 per cent from 2024/25.

Mr. Chairman, the Attorney General's Chambers' objectives are

1. to provide quality legal services to the Government of Bermuda;
2. to advise all Government ministries, departments and entities on the law applicable to their operational requirements;
3. to draft legislation as required to implement the Government's legislative agenda to maintain Bermuda's legislative database and to support law reform;
4. to draft contracts, international instruments for mutual tax information exchange, conveyances and other documents required for public purposes and to provide advice on private Bills;

5. to conduct litigation in the Civil Courts of Bermuda on behalf of the Government of Bermuda; and
6. to process mutual legal assistance requests on behalf of international jurisdictions.

Mr. Chairman, the Attorney General's Chambers is functionally divided into six programmes accounted for below as follows.

Administration, 14010

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Original estimates for 2024/25 [was] $435,000. Estimates for 2025/26 [is] $444,000 an increase of $9,000, or 2 per cent. Administration provides administrative support to the Attorney General, Solicitor General, Deputy Solicitor General, Senior Crown Counsel and Crown Counsel. This cost centre provides salaries for an office manager, a customer service representative, a records management administrator and an accounts officer. It also supports the purchasing of office supplies that are common to all sections of the department. The modest increase is due to the salary increase received by the public servants. In addition to the salaries provided for in this cost centre, it also provides $46,000 for repair and cleaning services, $25,000 for office supplies, $20,000 for telephone services, $12,000 for drinking water, $31,000 for repair and maintenance of office equipment and $4,000 for hospitality expenses.

Advisory, 14020

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Original estimates for 2024/25 [was] $2,440,000. Estimates for 2025/26 [is] $2,673,000, an increase of $233,000 or 10 per cent.

Mr. Chairman, the Advisory Section is responsible for providing quality legal advice to all Government departments and conducting litigation matters brought by or against the Government. Additionally, Advisory is responsible for recovering debts owed to the Government and processing mutual legal assistance requests. This cost centre provides salaries for one Solicitor General, two Deputy Solicitor Generals, two Senior Crown Counsels, six Crown Counsels, two administrative assistants, one paralegal to the Solicitor General and one pupil.

The increase is due to legal services, funding for the Deputy Solicitor General post for the full year and the salary increase received by public servants. In addition to the salaries provided for in this cost centre, it also provides $166,000 for consulting services, $150,000 for legal services, $20,000 for software maintenance, $15,000 for membership fees, $11,000 for books and subscriptions and $11,000 for office supplies.

Legislative Drafting, 14030

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Original estimates for 2024/25 [was] $2,097,000. Estimate for 2025/26 [is] $2,842,000, an increase of $745,000 or 36 per cent.

The Legislative Drafting Section advises regarding proposals to introduce or amend legislation, drafts primary and subordinate legislation for all Government departments and provides advice and support to Ministers in the House of Assembly and Senate as their respective legislation progresses.

This section also provides advice to Ministers and the Governor on legal and constitutional issues and on matters of parliamentary procedure. The salaries provided for in this cost centre include those of the Chief Parliamentary Counsel, Deputy Chief Parliamentary Counsel, six Parliamentary Counsel, two Assistant Parliamentary Counsel, one Legislative Database Manager, one Legislative Editor, one Legislative Administrator and one Legislative Database Administrator.

The year over year budgetary increase is due to budgeting for payments to drafting consultants, the temporary additional Parliamentary Counsel and the salary increase received by public servants. In addition to the salaries provided for this cost centre, it also provides $3,000 for local training, $10,000 for overseas training, $8,000 for membership fees, $20,000 for office supplies and $517,000 for local consulting fees.

Revised Laws of Bermuda, 14040

Mr. Dennis Lister III: The original estimates for 2024/25 [was] $244,000. Estimates 2025/26 [is] $369,000, an increase of $125,000 or 51 per cent.

Mr. Chairman, this cost centre supports the consolidation, periodic revision and publication of the laws of Bermuda. It is responsible for providing Members of both Houses of the Legislature, businesses, lawyers and the general public with access to the revised statutes and regulations of Bermuda. It also supports the ongoing consolidation of primary and subordinate legislation. The budgetary increase is due to a pricing increase relating to the LIMS software to enable better system support and an upgrade in security to the online legal database.

Debt Collection, 14050

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Original estimates [for] 2024/25 [was] $338,000. Estimate for 2025/26 [is] $534,000 which represents an increase of $196,000, or 58 per cent.

Mr. Chairman, the Debt Enforcement Unit within the Attorney General's Chambers was established by the Government to assist the Department of Social Insurance and the Office of the Tax Commissioner in the recovery of unpaid social insurance contributions, payroll tax, land tax and other taxes owed to the Government. The cost centre provides salaries for one Crown Counsel, one Junior Crown Counsel, and one Administrator. The increase is due to the addition of a Junior Crown Counsel and a temporary additional Junior Crown Counsel. The addition of these posts will ensure and assist with the training of Bermudian Junior Attorneys that wish to enter the public service.

Law Library, 14060

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Original estimate 2024/25 [was] $148,000. Estimate for 2025/26 [is] $190,000, an increase of $42,000 or 28 per cent. This programme provides for the cost of maintaining the Law Library and the Attorney General's Chambers which includes the purchase of books, periodicals and the provision of access to leading online legal information sources such as Lexis/Nexis, vLex, Practical Law and Westlaw UK. The increase is due to the Law Library moving from primarily hard copy subscriptions to almost entirely digital subscriptions which have now incorporated the use of AI.

Capital Acquisitions

Mr. Dennis Lister III: The original estimates 2024/25 was $10,000. Estimates for 2025/26, is $10,000, which represents zero or nil, or zero per cent change.

The budget allocation for capital expenditures is found at page C-10 of the Budget Book. The Attorney General's Chambers has been allocated a capital amount of $10,000 for the fiscal year 2025/26. Funding for this amount will be used to purchase office equipment.

Performance Measures

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Mr. Chairman, during the 2024 calendar year, 43 Acts were enacted and 133 Statutory Instruments were made. In addition to the annual budget legislation, there were a number of new and amending Acts to give effect to the Government's legislative agenda.

The Bermuda Laws website, which contains all of Bermuda's current laws and subordinate legislation, is updated in real time from within Chambers and will continue to make improvements to the site. Updating the eGazette from within Chambers allows Regulations to be published and take effect immediately. Over the past budget year, we received eight mutual Legal Assistance requests, which obligations arise out of various international arrangements. The Advisory Section also acts as attorneys for the Enforcement Authority under the Proceeds of Crime Act 1997.

Over the past budget year, there was one civil recovery proceeding resulting in $100,000 being confiscated. We also completed three section 51 of the Proceeds of Crime Act 1997 cases, which resulted in $59,000 being confiscated.

Staffing—Civil Advisory

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Mr. Chairman, there are currently five vacant posts within the Civil Advisory and Litigation section of the Attorney General's Chambers. Two Deputy Solicitor Generals, one Crown Counsel, one Junior Crown Counsel and one administrative assistant.

Recruitment for the vacant Deputy Solicitor General post has begun and interviews are due to take place shortly. The remainder of the posts are in the process of having the job descriptions reviewed. The current staffing levels of the Civil Advisory section are: one Solicitor General, two Senior Crown Counsels, six Crown Counsels, one Junior Crown Counsel, one administrative assistant, one temporary relief administrative assistant and one paralegal to the Solicitor General.

In December 2024, Shayla Hassell joined the Civil Advisory Section as a Junior Crown Counsel, which demonstrates the commitment to hire young Bermudian counsel.

Staffing—Legislative Drafting

Mr. Dennis Lister III: In the Drafting Section of Chambers, there are five vacancies: Deputy Chief Parliamentary Counsel, one Parliamentary Counsel, one Assistant Parliamentary Counsel, and two temporary additional Parliamentary Counsel. The vacancy in the Parliamentary Council position arose with the resignation of Ms. Lauren Francis in February 2025, who completed 13 years of service in Chambers. We thank Ms. Francis for her dedicated work and commitment to Chambers and we wish her well in her endeavours.

Recruitment for the five vacant positions has begun and interviews are due to take place shortly. We will be seeking permission to create three additional posts: one Deputy Chief Parliamentary Counsel, two Senior Parliamentary Counsel to support professional and leadership progression and to convert one temporary additional post to an established post so that a Bermudian Assistant Parliamentary Counsel can be promoted during this fiscal year.

The current staffing levels in the legislative Drafting Section are: one Chief Parliamentary Counsel, three Parliamentary Counsels, one temporary additional Parliamentary Counsel, one Assistant Parliamentary Counsel, one temporary relief Parliamentary Counsel and three consultants.

In addition to these dedicated lawyers who are responsible for drafting all government Bills and statutory instruments, the section is fortunate to have an excellent administrative team comprising of four posts: Legislative Database Manager, Legislative Editor, Legislative Administrator, and Legislative Administrator Database, each of whom plays a critical part in the timely production, publication, and consolidation of legislation.

Training and Development

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Mr. Chairman, the Attorney General's Chambers includes within its mandate the development of its professional and administrative staff. In December 2024, the Acting Senior Crown Counsel and a Crown Counsel attended a virtual training session for anti-money laundering and countering the financing of terrorism.

Additionally, to encourage collaboration and a healthy work environment, members of the Civil Advisory Section participated in two team building exercises held in September 2024 and March 2025. This formed part of the development of staff initiative. During the course of the 2024/25 budget year, the Solicitor General coordinated the Pupillage Programme of the Ministry of Justice, where one Crown Counsel serves as pupil master for one pupil, Ms. Denzelle Swan, who commenced her pupillage on the 1 October 2024.

The Pupillage Programme provides each pupil with a unique and enriched training experience within various departments in the Ministry of Justice, which includes the Department of Public Prosecutions, the Legal Aid Office and the Drafting and Advisory Sections of the Attorney General's Chambers. In September 2025, Assistant Parliamentary Counsel, Ms. Lorendae Symonds will complete her online studies at Athabasca University for a graduate diploma in Legislative Drafting, and we wish her continued success in completing her training.

Members of the Drafting Section attended various training and development webinars and online training sessions on topics including developments in legislative drafting, FinTech, personal information protection, health and safety, leadership and well-being. The Attorney General's Chambers Civil Advisory and Legislative Drafting conducted a continuing legal education seminar with members of the Bermuda Bar Council in November of 2024. Members of the Drafting Section conducted policy-to-law training in February 2025 at the Department of Employee and Organisational Development. Staff participated in a team building and wellness retreat in October 2024.

Initiatives for the Forthcoming Year—Advisory

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Mr. Chairman, a principal focus will continue to be on the development of Bermudian Crown Counsel and pupils. Emphasis will be given to using Senior Crown Counsel and Crown Counsel to assist Junior Crown Counsel and pupils on advisory and litigation matters. The Advisory Section intends to fill the vacant post of Deputy Solicitor General, Junior Crown Counsel and administrative assistant in the forthcoming fiscal year.

Chambers is in the process of revising one job description for Crown Counsel into a dedicated specialist post with expertise in land law, conveyancing and planning law. It is worth noting that this initiative will not increase the number of posts within Chambers. Additionally, Chambers seeks to improve its case management system to reduce our demand for paper resources through the increased utilisation of the ProLaw software and other electronic filing systems.

Legislative Drafting—Staffing and Training

Mr. Dennis Lister III: The principal focus is to fill all vacancies in the section and chart a succession plan to develop Bermudian Parliamentary Counsel. An organisational restructuring of the section to bolster succession planning and support professional and leadership development is forthcoming.

Legislative Information Management System—LIMS

Mr. Dennis Lister III: The legislation is produced quickly and accurately using LIMS which is customised to our Bermuda drafting style. This, combined with the important role of the legislative editor, has kept the number of errors and inconsistencies found in legislation during House and Senate debates to a minimum, thereby expediting the legislative process. The maintenance of LIMS is through a Canadian vendor who provides timely professional assistance and technical support whenever necessary and regularly updates our software with the latest version.

It is intended to continue to improve our database and to post new laws within a week of enactment on the Bermuda Laws Online website www.bermudalaws.bm, which is hosted locally by One Communications Limited.

Consolidation, which is the incorporation of amendments into existing laws, is more time-consuming since the amendments are checked by the Drafter as well as the Legislative Database Manager. The goal is to continue to complete the process within one month of the enactment of the amending legislation which was achieved in the last few years. To date, we have reached the intended outcome of 95 per cent of enactments.

Thank you, Mr. Chairman. That concludes that brief.

The Chairman: And for the listening audience, we have just concluded Head 4 under the Ministry of Justice, which is being delivered by Junior Minister Lister. We are now in hour number two of five and we are approaching 20 . . . or just about 20 minutes prior to going to lunch.

Junior Minister, you have the floor.

HEAD 74—DEPARTMENT OF COURT SERVICES

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Next, I will continue on with Head 74 Department of Court Services found on pages B-98 to B-101 of the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure.

Mr. Chairman, it gives me great pleasure to present the budget for Head 74, the Department of Court Services. The mission statement is to reduce recidivism by delivering risk reduction programmes and strategies to protect the community. The mandate of the Department of Court Services is to be responsible for the assessment, rehabilitation, treatment, supervision and case management of offenders in the community who are subject to statutory orders.

The department also delivers comprehensive assessments, makes referrals to treatment agencies for substance abusers via the Bermuda Assessment and Referral Centre (BARC) and furthermore conducts drug and alcohol screenings. Additionally, the department supervises and monitors clients, many of them high-risk sexual offenders, violent offenders on probation and/or supervision orders or those serving life sentences who are on licence.

Expenditure Review

Mr. Dennis Lister III: This department has been, and continues to be, impacted by an increasing number of clients who are victims of unresolved childhood and adult traumas which negatively affect their lives, culminating with their involvement in our criminal justice system. These issues seriously affect their ability to function in society, which ultimately leads to addiction, criminal thinking and deviant behaviour.

These clients who manifest multidimensional needs and varied degrees of risk to themselves and/or the community, need a flexible, multi-pronged approach to meet their diverse needs. They require not only monitoring and supervision, but assistance with requiring social and living skills. All of this requires complex, intensive and sustained clinical and social interventions. These interventions are seriously compounded by the myriad number of issues which negatively affect our clients' lives such as economic hardships, lack of affordable housing and insufficient positive community support to assist in parenting and development.

Some of the continuing pervasive issues negatively affecting our client population are unemployment, mental health issues, misuse and abuse of substances, parenting struggles, anger control issues, gang affiliations, cognitive and brain injury deficits, negative peer and familial influences and educational deficiencies.

Mr. Chairman, a total of $4,888,000 has been estimated for this fiscal year. This is an increase of $491,000 over the previous year. This increase is solely due to incremental salary increases and the filling of previously vacant posts. No additional operating expenses have been requested for Head 74. This constitutes 8.5 per cent of the budget allocated for the Ministry as a whole. Budget savings over the fiscal year were realised by freezing posts as well as staggering the filling of vacant posts.

Subjective Analysis

Mr. Dennis Lister III: The subjective analysis of current account estimates of the Department of Court Services are found on page B-98. I would highlight the material object code increases and decreases.

Head 74—Department of Court Services

Mr. Dennis Lister III: The expenditure for the fiscal year 2024/25 was $4,397,000, while the estimate for the fiscal year is $4,888,000. This is an increase of $491,000 over the previous year, or 11 per cent, and as noted above, contains the salary uplift for staff as well as filling of vacant and frozen posts. This salary increase is 14 per cent.

Case Management Unit Probation Services, 84010

Mr. Dennis Lister III: In 2025/26, the estimated expansion for this team is $439,000. This is a $7,000, or 2 per cent increase over last year, the increase [is] due to salary uplifts and post fillings.

Parole Services, 84020

Mr. Dennis Lister III: This team had an original expenditure in 2024/25 of $424,000. In 2025/26, Mr. Chairman, $463,000 has been requested and this would be an increase of 9 per cent, or $39,000—again to cover staff uplifts and vacant posts being filled.

Drug Treatment Court Programme, 84080

Mr. Dennis Lister III: This Treatment Court Programme had an original expenditure of $471,000 in 2024/25. The request for 2025/26 is $621,000, which would be a 32 per cent increase, or $150,000. The total expenditure for the Case Management Unit is $1,523,000 which is 15 per cent, or $196,000, over last year's amount.

Administration—7402 Court Services Administration, 84070

Mr. Dennis Lister III: This business unit has the Management Team salaries as well as the IT post and the operational funds for the department.

This business unit in the 2024/25 fiscal year had an expenditure of $1,262,000. The 2025/26 fiscal year estimated expenditure is $1,328,000. This is an increase of $66,000, or 5 per cent. This increase is due to ensure salary monies are available as the management posts which were frozen in prior budgets are accounted for as hiring takes place.

Assessment and Treatment Unit—7403
Aftercare and Community Offenders, 84030

Mr. Dennis Lister III: The expenditure for this team was $174,000 in the 2024/25 fiscal year. The 2025/26 expenditure estimate is $423,000. This is an increase of 143 per cent. This fiscal year will be the first year that the department has two Forensic Psychologists, and with the recruitment process well underway, the Specialist Probation Officer post on this team should also be filled. Hence the $249,000 increase over the last year. This should be offset by a decrease in spending to contracted private clinicians for interventions and assessments for our clients.

Community Offenders, 84040

Mr. Dennis Lister III: This team's estimated expenditure of $509,000 is an increase of $46,000, or 10 per cent over the 2024/25 year.

Assessments, 84060

Mr. Dennis Lister III: This unit comprises three teams: Report Writing Team, the BARC Team and the Mental Health Treatment Team, whose 2024/25 expenditure was $1,171,000. The expenditure estimate of $1,105,000 for the 2025/26 year is a decrease of $66,000, or 6 per cent.

This brings the 2025/26 expenditure for this unit to $2,037,000. This is an increase of 13 per cent or $229,000 over the 2024/25 expenditure total.

Performance Measures by Business Unit

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Mr. Chairman, I am pleased to report that the department's forecast performance measures for fiscal year 2024/25 were achieved as listed below in each cost centre.

Business Unit 7401, Case Management

Mr. Dennis Lister III: This business unit is responsible for three teams which carry out the functions of probation, parole and the Drug Treatment Court.

Probation Team: The Probation Team monitors and supervises clients who are on probation, orders which have been ordered by the Courts. Conditions in probation orders are designed utilising the results of assessment tools that determine the areas of our clients lives which need interventions as well as the risk to and in the community. These interventions, from probation officers as well as clinical staff, are designed to support the client in making positive changes to their behaviour, friends and lifestyle, as well as assisting and reducing the criminal thought patterns. These interventions are strengthened by officers making job and home visits to get a holistic synopsis of the clients functioning in the community.

Performance Measures

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Two of the performance measures, which were forecast at 75 per cent, were actioned and completed at 100 per cent. All clients who screened positive for drug or alcohol use were actioned within one week. This would mean that one or more interventions based on client behaviour, history and/or response to said interventions would be utilised to minimise a reoccurrence of the issue. Clients who were prolific or repeat offenders were case managed within one month of beginning their new order.

This would be an internal case conference with the prior supervising officer, Treatment Court staff and/or clinical/treatment staff to get as complete a behavioural or clinical package as needed to facilitate their supervision. The target for administering clients a final risk assessment was 75 per cent. The final total was 79 per cent.

The number of persons completing probation was 85 per cent of the total number of admissions at 73. This means that 50 out of the 59 discharged were assessed. The remaining nine will be those who were breached and were sentenced to incarceration, fined or had their sentence extended forward.

The Parole Team

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Individuals released from the Department of Corrections on early conditional release to serve the remainder of their sentences in the community by the Parole Board are supervised for the remainder of the sentences under the supervision of an officer from the Parole Team.

This means that in addition to finite sentences, persons serving life sentences are supervised by the department for parole for the rest of their natural life. At present, there are 22 offenders under supervision for the remainder of their lives, referred to as "lifers." During the year, six additional persons were given the licence by the Parole Board. Additionally, there were five clients whose sentence and parole concluded. Two persons were breached and returned to Corrections due to failing to adhere to the conditions of licence. This was one less than what the target number for the calendar year was forecast at three. These statistics point out the effectiveness of criminal justice programmes and this number is amongst the lowest worldwide.

The Chairman: Junior Minister, we have reached the two-hour mark right now. We started at 10:24. Lunch is in about six minutes. Whenever you want to find a good place to sort of stop and then we can resume after lunch.

Mr. Dennis Lister III: I will do one more page and then we can stop.

Performance Measures for the Drug Treatment Court Team

Mr. Dennis Lister III: The Drug Treatment Court Programme remains the principal model for a Magistrate-led team approach to offender treatment and supervision, being the progenitor of all other Treatment Courts. There were eight new referrals in the Drug Treatment Court Programme during the year in addition to those observing for potential admittance into the programme. The number of participants at the end of 2024 stood at 17. The makeup of the Court in terms of substances used is 80 per cent use cocaine and 20 per cent use heroin.

An adjusted stream for offenders convicted of driving under the influence offences is now a full-fledged programme—DUI programme meetings facilitated by the focused Treatment Care Centre and this department for once-a-week sessions. There were eight new referrals in the DUI stream. Numbers at the end of 2024 stood at 21. Of these, 98 per cent are for alcohol use. In the drug use stream, 90 per cent of participants are male, while in the DUI stream 80 per cent are male. Both streams require the office to engage in intensive case management to ensure that the treatment needs as well as social, medical and mental needs are also met.

With that Mr. Chairman, I will pause before I continue any further reading.

The Chairman: Thank you for that Junior Minister, and I will call on Minister Furbert just to move the motion to take us to lunch.

You just move—

Hon. Tinee Furbert: Thank you. I move that we adjourn for lunch.

The Chairman: Any objections?

So, we are going for lunch until 2:00 . . . to resume at 2:00 pm.

Proceedings in Committee suspended at 12:26 pm

Proceedings in Committee resumed at 2:00 pm

[Mrs. Renee Ming, Chairman]

COMMITTEE OF SUPPLY

ESTIMATES OF REVENUE AND EXPENDITURE FOR FISCAL YEAR 2025/26

[Continuation thereof]

The Chairman: Good afternoon.

Some Hon. Members: Good afternoon.

The Chairman: We are now in session.

[Crosstalk]

The Chairman: We are now in Committee of Supply for the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure [for fiscal year 2025/26.]

Please be seated, Members.

[Pause]

The Chairman: I call on the Junior Minister for Legal Affairs to continue with his presentation. Can you please just remind me and the listening public where you completed before lunch today? Thank you.

MINISTRY OF JUSTICE

HEAD 74—DEPARTMENT OF COURT SERVICES

[Continuing]

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Thank you, Madam Chairman.

I stopped off on Head 74, Department of Court Services and I am on page 17 on my brief.

When you are ready, I can start.

The Chairman: Begin. Thank you.

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Okay. You are welcome.

To the listening audience . . . excuse me, Madam Chairman, how much time do I have left?

The Chairman: You have approximately three hours remaining for your presentation.

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Thank you, Madam Chairman. I will try and leave enough time for the Opposition to ask some questions.

Madam Chairman, I left off on stating the performance measures under Head 74 and I will continue. The department is actively working to lessen the number of persons who test positive during their participation in the programme, and I'll just reflect back, this is the Drug Treatment Court Team. Intensive work has gone on with an added emphasis on assisting plans to give—

The Chairman: Junior Minister.

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Yes.

The Chairman: Can I just stop you for one minute?

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Mm-hmm.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE CHAIRMAN

HOUSE VISITORS

The Chairman: I would just like to acknowledge the presence of the Attorney General, Senator Kim Wilkerson in the Chamber with us today. She also has her permanent secretary . . . secretaries, sorry.

[Committee of Supply, continuing]

The Chairman: Thank you very much. Please continue.

Mr. Dennis Lister III: You are welcome.

Intensive work has gone on with an added emphasis on assisting clients to deal with their trauma issues. The measurement forecast was at 7 per cent for both the DTC [Drug Treatment Court] and DUI [Driving Under the Influence] streams. The actual percentage was 10 per cent. Of that percentage most clients tested positive early on in their treatment with the number declining with the amount of time persons were in the programme. The percentage of clients reoffending while in the programme was at 3 per cent and these additional offences were mainly at the beginning of their entry into the programme.

Additionally, the percentage of clients who were referred to other therapeutic programmes after the completion of the DTC Court Programme was forecast to be 10 per cent. That percentage for the year came in at only 36 per cent. This was mainly individuals who were recommended for a lower level of service who were subsequently referred to a higher level when they were unable to support their sobriety for at least three months after discharge.

The Assessment and Treatment Unit

Mr. Dennis Lister III: This unit includes community service orders and the Mental Health Treatment Court programme along with the Report Writing Team and the Community Offenders Programme and the Bermuda Assessment and Referral Centre.

Community Service Orders

Mr. Dennis Lister III: During the past year, individuals were sentenced to 3,802 hours of community service by the courts. This is down 10 per cent from the previous year. Generally, the number of hours ordered by the courts fluctuates with the economy where more hours are ordered in difficult financial environs as individuals are less able to pay court order fines. Of these, 2,593 hours or 68 per cent were completed within the year. This departmental function has also been carried out by one probation officer or case manager who has done a sterling job of arranging regular reviews for uncooperative clients as well as securing more placement opportunities for our clients engaged in paying back the community.

Mental Health Court

Mr. Dennis Lister III: The Mental Health Court Programme is a valuable option for individuals who come into the criminal justice systems with diagnosed and treatable mental health issues that were significant contributors to their offending. A major challenge for this team that continues year to year is the inability for these clients to access the relevant residential treatment services and housing opportunities. This is critical for them to receive the necessary treatment and social stability which they require for their self-actualisation and motivation to change. It is an inherent barrier to positive development if society cannot supply the basic means to support their actualisation.

The situation is especially prevalent with individuals dually diagnosed with a mental illness and a substance addiction. In several cases many of the individuals are not ill enough to be hospitalised but too ill for residential placement. This places an added burden on the case managers who are trying to facilitate clinical, medical and addiction interventions for these individuals while simultaneously negotiating through the homeless situation of the clients. Additionally, because of the multitude of varied needs these individuals present with, their case management and treatment needs are time and energy intensive.

Community-based Programmes

Mr. Dennis Lister III: The Community-based Programme Team delivers accredited and certified interventions by specially trained senior probation officers for high-risk offenders such as sex and violent offenders under the guidance of a forensic psychologist. Unfortunately, we lost our dedicated sex and violent offender staff member, and we are actively searching for another. As a result, we were not able to offer groups which meant a substantial rise in the number of individual clients seen by the team; however, clients did not miss out on clinical interventions. Instead, the team utilised one-to-one intervention. However, we now have restarted client group meetings as this is the first full year of the department having a full-time in-residence forensic psychologist again.

As a result, outsource expenses have decreased and various trainings have taken place to better equip officers to work with our clientele. Future training will aid in the staff's further development and application of accredited service standards. The second forensic psychologist has arrived on the Island and has been working in this last quarter. This will increase our ability to meet more of the needs and more of our clients quicker. The Assessment and Treatment Team consisting of the Report Writing and the Bermuda Assessment and Referral Centre compiled timely, comprehensive and succinct reports and assessments. These both aid in referrals and guide the dispensation of cases in the courts as well as informing decisions made by the Parole Board.

Report Writing Team

Mr. Dennis Lister III: The Report Writing Team had a total of 294 reports for the calendar year. This was up 86 from the previous year. Madam Chairman, 95 per cent of reports were completed on time. The target for this objective was 100 per cent; however, being unable to contact offenders due to incomplete or incorrect contact information or the client misses several scheduled appointments for assessments or home visits are difficult to schedule are causative factors in not being able to reach 100 per cent. Reports include 45 Prison Rules 1980, 166 reports to the Parole Board. While the remaining 249 were court-ordered SIRs (or social inquiry reports). Out of the 249 court reports, 12 were from the Supreme Court; 217 were from Magistrates' Court; and 65 being from the Family Court specifically for reports on juvenile offenders.

Bermuda Assessment and Treatment Centre

Mr. Dennis Lister III: The BARC [Bermuda Assessment and Referral Centre] Team completed a total of 153 reports in the last year. This was five more than the previous year. During the year there were 53 recommendations for intensive outpatient treatment, while there were 23 referred for inpatient retreatment—I take that back—while there were 23 referred for outpatient treatment. Madam Chairman, 47 were referred for residential treatment and ongoing issues with the length of time some clients have to wait to enter treatment, especially residential, remains a challenge for the department. Notwithstanding we continue to seek resolutions for addressing this. The Ministry is exploring options for public-private partnerships with providers with the relevant expertise.

The delivery of BARC reports is overseen by the team's clinical supervisor who possesses the IADC, International Alcohol and Drug Counsellor designation and is currently studying to obtain the certified Clinical Supervisor designation for those persons working with drug-involved persons. In turn this supervisor assists with and promotes the development of our team members.

Plans for the Upcoming Year

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Madam Chairman, as we continue to develop our staff developmental opportunities to keep abreast of trends in the field, numerous training and acting opportunities have been made available. Additionally, an Acting Unit Manager as well as a Probation Officer Case Manager attended the American Probation and Parole Association [APPA] conference where they were able to return with up-to-date knowledge on programmes, therapies and procedures to assist this department, along with other government departments, in the further development of additional treatment courts.

Our Clinical Supervisor was also able to attend several of the conference's workshops remotely. This knowledge has proven invaluable and will assist the department in conducting assessments, analysing results and conducting treatment planning for the forthcoming Domestic Violence Court as well as continued readiness to assist those with gambling addiction in addition to the current work. In relation to the Domestic Violence Court our newest forensic psychologist has been directed to provide clinical support to the agencies involved as well as to assess and recommend training for our officers to supervise and monitor domestic violence perpetrators in a treatment court setting.

We are also scheduled to be a pilot agency later this year testing new state-of-the-art domestic violence electronic monitoring devices which can be used not only to determine where a perpetrator is at at any given moment, it will [also] allow a participating victim to know that the perpetrator is in their immediate vicinity.

This department remains an active participant on the Interdepartmental Gang Enforcement Team as well as the Offender Risk Management Team for high-risk sexual and violent offenders. Additionally, the department is represented on the Mental Health Clients in Corrections and the High-Risk Intervention Committee. The department is also represented on the Child Safeguarding Committee looking at ways to protect the children in our community. These collaborations will continue as we try to ensure the safest possible Island community.

During this upcoming year, the team will increase clinical interventions as required to further assist sex and violent offenders, continue with training to obtain additional certification in working with persons with a gambling addiction, and increase the number of treatment groups as well as one-on-one interventions to provide a more intensive clinical response for more clients.

The budget year 2025/26 initiatives include

- continuing with training officers in the entire department to administer various assessment tools to better facilitate cross-training and movement amongst teams (or reassignments) within the department to optimise skills and resources;
- pursuing options for more specialised training in addiction assessments, gambling assessments and treatment;
- as well as domestic violence interventions and supervision.

Madam Chairman, the department's overall focus in the coming year is to utilise its funding to optimise its effectiveness and efficiencies. Staggered recruitment drives have created some shortfalls which resulted in salary underspends. This was intensified by contracts being offered for positions that were later turned down due to better offerings in the private sector. Madam Chairman, 98 per cent of all of the department's job descriptions have been completed and signed off on. An intensive recruitment to fill previously frozen or vacant posts is ongoing. The majority of posts should be filled by this summer.

Madam Chairman, the department's treatment, assessment, enforcement and rehabilitation regimes continue its aim to lessen the effects of offending and the impact of associated risk on the community. Department officers conduct curfew checks, visit homes and employment sites. They also attend high-profile events in the community to monitor clients more vigorously. They also use electronic means to strengthen and support supervision tactics.

These responsibilities present safety risks yet officers are dedicated in their efforts to transform the lives of our clients and their families and associates by deterring further offending or relapse through various strategies and interventions deployed. We note, Madam Chairman, that some offenders prefer to forego supervision and elect to serve their entire sentence as they view the department's activities as being onerous, intrusive and disruptive to their life pursuits.

The department's Client-Facing Officers as well as the supervisors and support staff continue to work in dangerous conditions conducting curfew checks in the early hours of the morning, especially on weekends and major holidays, is inherently risky, especially in today's environment where firearms, knives, and other weapons are increasingly available and utilised. These job functions put these officers at risk for harm yet they persevere and do what is needed to ensure the continued safety of the community. The department will also continue to utilise therapeutic and supervision regimes to minimise this threat and prepare the event offender to be a viable entity in today's community.

Madam Chairman, notwithstanding the department has and will continue to embrace partnerships and strategies as well with other government departments, community organisations, and NGOs to meet the department's objective of protecting the community. Expenditure requests for this year have not increased and recruitment drives for recently vacated posts or unfrozen posts are almost completed. And while a couple had been frozen for the entire year, the department will do its best and rely on whatever support may become available through creative means throughout the upcoming year to accomplish its goals. We enthusiastically acknowledge the relentless work of the department and its officers and staff and continue to keep the community safe. Through data-driven programming and collaborative partnerships, the Department of Court Services will continue to support the courts, reduce recidivism, and improve long-term outcomes for Bermuda.

Madam Chairman, this ends the presentation on Head 74, the Department of Court Services and highlights the operational use of its expenditures.

HEAD 75—DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC PROSECUTIONS

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Madam Chairman, I will now continue with Head 75 Department of Public Prosecutions. The Department of Public Prosecutions [DPP] is found on pages B-102 to B-105 of the Budget Book.

Department Overview

Mr. Dennis Lister III: The mission statement for the Department of Public Prosecutions is, To provide Bermuda with independent, efficient and effective criminal prosecution service without fear or favour based on the rule of law. The following are the objectives of the Department of Public Prosecutions:

1. Promote the fair, transparent and efficient prosecution of criminal offences consistent with lawful authority and subject to established guidelines to safeguard the actuality and the perception of prosecutorial independence.
2. Promote high standards and principles in the administration of criminal justice including procedures to guard against or address miscarriages of justice in support of the rule of law.
3. Carry out prosecutorial functions impartially, assisting the court to arrive at the truth and to do justice between the community, the victim, and the accused according to law and the dictates of fairness.
4. Promote good relations between individual prosecutors, policing and other agencies within the criminal justice system to facilitate the exchange and dissemination among them of information, expertise and experience, and to that end, to encourage the use of information technology.
5. Maintain a team of highly competent and administrative professionals to carefully handle the day-to-day responsibilities of the department with great detail and confidentiality, which is a critical and essential element in helping prosecutors fulfil their mandate.

Madam Chairman, the complications of modern society are such that there can never be an absolute end to crime. All we have at our disposal are the different components of the criminal justice system to provide access to justice for our people. And yet this Ministry amounts to less than 3 per cent of the overall budget.

In 2024/25, the Department of Public Prosecutions had the smallest budget in the Ministry. Notwithstanding, Madam Chairman, DPP has worked hard to ensure that the Department of Public Prosecutions is a properly empowered and publicly respected prosecuting authority.

Madam Chairman, 88 per cent of the department's 2024/25 budget was spent on salaries and allowances. The remaining 12 per cent of the allocated budget was spent as follows:

- 43 per cent was spent on consultants to support the department in specific cases where legal conflict arose;
- 7 per cent was spent on office supplies and printing;
- 6 per cent was spent to pay interns to scan the department's files into the case management system in an effort to become a paperless office;
- 10 per cent was spent on training;
- 3 per cent was spent on storage costs;
- 7 per cent was spent on professional and membership costs; and
- the remaining 24 per cent was spent on communications and security costs.

Current Account Expenditure

Mr. Dennis Lister III: The original estimate for 2024/25 was $3,703,000. The estimate for 2025/26 is $4,001,000, an increase of $298,000 or 8 per cent. The current account expenditure estimates for Head 75, the Department of Public Prosecutions, begins on page B-102 of the Budget Book. A total of $4,001,000 has been allocated to the Department of Public Prosecutions which includes its Witness Care Unit. This represents a $298,000 or 8 per cent increase from the 2024/25 original estimates.

Public Prosecutions

Mr. Dennis Lister III: The original estimate for 2024/25 was $3,537,000. The estimate for 2025/26 is $3,828,000 an increase of $291,000 or 8 per cent.

Madam Chairman, $3,828,000 has been allocated to the Department of Public Prosecutions on its own. This represents an increase of $291,000 or 8 per cent from fiscal year 2024/25. Like last year, the majority of the budget for the department relates to salaries and allowances. Money has again been allocated to the department to fund consultants to support the department in specific cases where legal conflict may arise or where the department is sued and the Attorney General's Chambers cannot represent them or to fund Privy Council cases.

Witness Care Unit

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Madam Chairman, $170,000 has been allocated to the Witness Care Unit. This represents an increase of $7,000 or 4 per cent from fiscal year 2024/25. The Witness Care Unit was implemented in December 2008 with the aim of improving the experiences of civilians by offering support to them within the criminal justice system. This assisted in increasing the number of civilian witnesses who attended court to give evidence and also aided in reducing the number of trials which had to be forfeited by the prosecution due to non-attendance by civilian witnesses at trials.

The Witness Care Unit consists of two dedicated Witness Care officers who act as the sole intermediary contact between civilian witnesses and the prosecutors. The officers arrange pretrial meetings between witnesses and prosecutors, identify any peculiar circumstances that the prosecutor might not be aware of, offer ongoing support to witnesses, and keep them updated on the progress of the matter that they are involved in.

Since the implementation of the Witness Care Unit there has been a vast improvement in the number of civilian witnesses who have attended either Magistrates' or Supreme Court to give evidence in criminal trials. Upward of 18,000 witnesses have received the benefit of this service and the impact that this has had both on the criminal justice system and the community at large is immeasurable. The officers continue to receive positive feedback from civilians they have assisted in criminal trials.

Performance Measures

Mr. Dennis Lister III: During the fiscal year 2024/25, the Department of Public Prosecutions handled approximately 950 criminal cases in the Magistrates' Court. There were also approximately 7,000 traffic cases completed during the financial year. Multiple defendant trials in the Supreme Court have increased and a total of 20 indictments have been disposed of.

Staffing

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Madam Chairman, under the direction of the Director of Public Prosecutions there is a complement of 14 counsel. However, currently there are two vacant posts, one of which is well into the recruitment process. All counsel are engaged in the prosecution of offences and appear when appropriate in the Magistrates' Criminal Courts, Family Court, Treatment Courts, (which includes Drug Treatment Court and the Driving Under the Influence track, and Mental Health Treatment Court). Counsel also appear in the Supreme Court, the Bermuda Court of Appeal and, when necessary, the Privy Council. Soon prosecutors will appear in the Domestic Abuse Court. The prosecutors also provide legal advice to the police, government ministries and departments on matters relating to offences.

The organisational chart provides for additional staff including one office manager, one litigation manager, five administrative assistants and one customer service representative. The department is currently recruiting for a customer service representative and an administrative assistant. In addition, the department employs the two Witness Care officers as previously mentioned.

Madam Chairman, during the past financial year, Madam DPP led a team of her prosecutors to the International Association of Prosecutors 29th Annual Conference. The main theme of the conference was "The Role of the Prosecutor in Upholding the Rule of Law." Madam DPP chaired the closing plenary. Mr. Adley Duncan, presented at a workshop and Mr. Matthew Frick chaired a workshop session. The team ensured that the Bermuda Department of Public Prosecutions was recognised on the international stage as a team of highly competent prosecutors.

The Department of Public Prosecutions continues to work toward advancing the criminal justice system. In 2024/25, the department sponsored a visit by Madam DPP, the Senior Magistrate, Ms. Maxanne Anderson; Acting Senior Crown Counsel, Shaunte Simons-Fox; Senior Probation Officer Noel Hayward; and Witness Care Officer Deanna Binns to the Westminster Magistrates' Courts, Domestic Violence Court. All who attended were inspired to return home to Bermuda to implement our own Domestic Violence Court.

The Department of Public Prosecutions continues to uphold its mandate to train Bermudian prosecutors as successors for all positions. The department was able to hold two training sessions during the past year with the March 20th session being attended virtually by prosecutors from Anguilla.

In 2025/26, the DPP intends to host two major training sessions for both counsel and administrative staff. The themes of the training sessions will fit into the established strategic vision of the department. This will promote a more positive impact on the community through the department's role in the justice system.

Working with Other Agencies

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Madam Chairman, the DPP works with other departments and entities such as the Bench, the Defence Bar, Legal Aid, Court Services and of course the Bermuda Police Service. Their co-operation throughout the past and into the upcoming year is vital for the proper functioning of the criminal justice system.

Madam DPP's intention is to continue the work undertaken since her appointment to develop all members of the department so that the Department of Public Prosecutions continues to offer an excellent service to the people of Bermuda. The Director of Public Prosecutions has shared her strategic vision for the department. The way forward for the department in the upcoming budget year is as follows:

1. To ensure quality assurance and where possible standardise prosecution processes to achieve a consistent and high standard of trial preparation and appearances, particularly for financial crime and vulnerable persons crimes including domestic violence matters, taking advantage of information technology to achieve effective and efficient outcomes. In doing so, the DPP plans to quality-assure and where possible standardise prosecution processes to achieve consistent and high standard of trial preparation and appearances.
2. To be responsive to victims and witnesses in the prosecution process. The DPP plans to strengthen accountability and transparency by developing and communicating the department's complaint processes.
3. To influence and implement policy, procedure and law reform by monitoring the outcomes of trials and appeal hearings, and where appropriate develop submissions, policies or projects that identify issues for law reform. The DPP plans to liaise with the Ministry, the Judiciary and other relevant stakeholders in order to advocate for change and improvements in the criminal justice system.
4. To deliver legal services within a framework that supports strong governance, professional capability and staff well-being. The DPP plans to review and implement changes to optimise flexibility, efficiency and capability of the department and their service delivery. In keeping with the public service initiative for staff well-being, the DPP plans to further develop and implement staff well-being and resilience programmes and activities.

In short, Madam Chairman, the DPP plans to continue to develop the department through recruitment, training and succession planning.

Madam Chairman, Madam DPP is almost six months into the final year of her current contract which is due to expire in December 2025. She is the first Bermudian woman to hold her post and I congratulate her on the achievements in her department and thank all of the staff of this department as they unwaveringly uphold their duties.

This ends my budget brief for Head 75. I will now continue onto Head 25 Department of Corrections.

The Chairman: Before you start that can you just give us the page number?

Mr. Dennis Lister III: The page number in the Budget Book . . . and I do apologise.

Mr. Scott Pearman: Page B-94.

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Page B-94. Thank you, MP Pearman—

The Chairman: Thank you.

Mr. Dennis Lister III: —for paying attention. That's good.

[Laughter]

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Madam Chairman, can I continue, or . . . Okay.

HEAD 25—DEPARTMENT OF CORRECTIONS

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Madam Chairman, it is my pleasure to present fiscal [year] 2025/26 estimates of expenditure for Head 25, the Department of Corrections, which are found on pages B-94 through B-96 of the Budget Book.

The Department of Correction's mission is, To protect the public and provide rehabilitative services. The department objectives are to

- strive to maintain high standards of security as this is essential to the safe operation of our facilities;
- provide a humane but demanding regime aimed at reducing re-offending by presenting inmates with a range of opportunities in which reward is linked to effort, incentives and earned privileges to prepare for life after release; and
- aim to have robust and disciplined regimes and systems in place in order to achieve operation efficiency at all levels.

The department carries out its objectives by providing rehabilitative services across its three inmate facilities, [employing] a high level of security to ensure the safety of its staff, inmates and the community.

Madam Chairman, the current account estimates for Head 25 begin on page B-94. A total of $24,710,000 has been allocated for Head 25 for fiscal year 2025/26. This represents a decrease of $1,017,000 or 4 per cent over the original budget for fiscal year 2024/25.

Madam Chairman, at present there are 172 full-time staff. The estimated numbers of full-time employees for 2025/26 is 224 who will be funded in the 2025/26 fiscal year.

Madam Chairman, fiscal year 2024/25 saw the commencement of the recruitment process for the basic officers to fill vacant posts. Seven officers were successfully recruited during this fiscal year. In addition to basic officer recruitment, the department recruited and hired two nursing officers and one administrative assistant. In addition to these, there were five staff recruited for the Right Living House therapeutic community, one programme manager, one aftercare coordinator, two addiction counsellors, and one junior addiction counsellor.

The Department of Corrections continues to maintain a high level of security at its facilities. In fiscal year 2024/25, the department completed upgrades to the CCTV systems at the Farm, Westgate and Co-Educational [Co-Ed] Facilities with funding from capital acquisitions. Razor wire was installed and repaired at Westgate, the Farm and Co-Ed Facilities.

There were some operational efficiencies created in fiscal year 2024/25. The Animal and Garden programme at the Farm and Co-Ed facility produced eggs and vegetables for consumption by the inmate population in the respective facilities resulting in a reduction in food purchases.

Madam Chairman, the facilities are occupied by the Department of Ageing and require significant maintenance and repair. The department continues to prioritise finding solutions to address the repairs required as a state of our facilities not only impact staff but those who are remanded in the custody of Corrections.

Physical Plant Upgrades

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Physical plant upgrades over the 2024/25 fiscal year included a continuation of refurbishment and repairs to one of the inmate housing units at the Westgate Facility. Repairs and replacements have also been made to the air-conditioning units at Westgate. [Additionally, there were] partial replacements of the kitchen equipment in the main kitchen at Westgate and there were some software upgrades made to the main generator uninterrupted power supply unit also at Westgate.

Current Account Estimates

Mr. Dennis Lister III: I would now like to draw your attention to page B-94 of the Budget Book which sets out the current account estimates for the 2025/26 [fiscal year.] Here, under the General Summary, you will note that there are 12 business units within the Department of Corrections. Those business units with variances from fiscal [year] 2024/25 will be addressed in turn. (I will take one second, Madam Chairman.)

Headquarters and OTS

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Madam Chairman, the estimate for business unit 35000, Headquarters and OTS, is $17,915,000 a decrease of $1,842,000 or 9 per cent over the 2024/25 budget allocation. This business unit is 72 per cent of the department's budget allocation. The allocation will fund salaries for staff including custody staff and operating expenses for Corrections Headquarters. The Department of Corrections staff training regime is designed to provide learning that is aligned with the department's core values. Staff training programmes focus on equipping staff with the necessary skills to maintain security, enforce policies and legal statutes, and to force the rehabilitation of incarcerated persons.

In fiscal year 2024/25 the Department of Corrections engaged in a very aggressive training programme both locally and overseas. Madam Chairman, in the fiscal year 2024/25 the following training was provided for staff: 37 staff [members] successfully completed the management and leadership training programme through Bermuda College, APACE [Athora Professional & Career Education]; 25 CPR/First Aid/AED training plus recertification; 19 leadership and influence stream; 7 mental health First Aid training; 5 critical incident management; 3 Use of Force revalidation instructors' course; 2 recertifications of professional licences forensic psychologist; and 10 [attended the] Presentation Advantage course.

Farm Facility

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Madam Chairman, the estimate for business unit 35020 Farm Facility is $446,000. This represents a $5,000 or 1 per cent increase when compared to the 2024/25 fiscal budget. The Farm Facility is an adult male minimum security facility with a capacity to house 90 inmates. For inmates to be housed at this facility they must have completed their core sentence plan requirements and are classified as a minimum- to low-risk inmates.

Eligible inmates at the Farm Facility are considered for work release and charity programmes. Unescorted charities that allow inmates to independently contribute to [various programmes] such as rest homes and STAR-such programmes foster societal reconnection and the enhancement of the inmate's sense of self-worth.

During the fiscal year 2024/25, the Farm Facility's gardens managed to produce a variety of vegetables including corn, beans, pumpkin, butternut squash, lettuce, mustard greens, onions, beets, spinach, Swiss chard, sweet potatoes and turnips. The Animal Programme which includes chickens successfully produced nearly 2,114 eggs for consumption which equates to a savings of approximately $1,585. During the [2025/26] fiscal year, we are looking to increase the number of chickens with the aim of supplying all facilities with eggs.

The facility also houses goats which are part of a robust animal husbandry therapeutic programme aimed at teaching inmates a beneficial skill which may be utilised upon release.

Madam Chairman, in fiscal year 2024/25, the Work Release Programme continued with 10 inmates participating. Two inmates who participated completed their sentence, were released and secured gainful employment. The diverse employment placements showcase the success of the Work Release Programme in connecting individuals to various employment opportunities.

During the fiscal year 2024/25, a new work release initiative "Step Up Work Readiness" started with the aim of providing inmates with significant opportunities to develop the social skills, work ethic, and gain valuable experience outside of the facility compound. This programme also reinforces in inmates a sense of confidence, purpose, responsibility and ultimately contributes to reducing their chances of reoffending upon release from custody. Through this programme they have assisted with the removal of invasive trees from Coney Island and at various spots around the Island and have assisted with the clearing of foliage which encroaches on roads and main thoroughfares.

Madam Chairman, recently the Mechanics Programme at the Farm Facility was reintroduced after a lengthy absence. The main garage at the Farm Facility is the location of this programme and the intent is to engage inmates with instruction in motor mechanics, teaching them viable skills which can be utilised upon reintegration into the wider community. It is also intended that the garage operations will reduce overall costs associated with the servicing of the department's fleet of vehicles.

Co-Educational Facility

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Madam Chairman, the estimate for business unit 35030 Co-educational Facility is $306,000. This represents an increase of $1,000 when compared to the 2024/25 fiscal budget. This facility with a capacity of 56 cells has separate and distinct provisions to house 40 females (adult and juvenile); six young male offenders between the ages of 16 and 21; and 18 adult males participated in the residential Substance Abuse Treatment programme therapeutic community. Educational and vocational programmes are offered based on the needs and classification of the inmates and trainees and are identified through the case management process.

Madam Chairman, the following programmes are offered at the Co-Ed [Facility] to support the rehabilitation of incarcerated persons.

- Ongoing training and development programmes are provided to help prevent reoffending.
- Assistance with housing and job placement is offered to ensure those in custody have the best possible start as they transition back into the community upon release.
- Young offenders without a General Education Diploma [GED] are enrolled in educational programmes to help them achieve this goal and provide a foundation for greater self-achievement.

- Religious programmes to support inmates' spiritual needs.
- Alcoholics Anonymous support groups are available to offer support during incarceration and help facilitate continued support upon release.
- A chicken programme has been established at the Co-Ed Facility offering therapeutic benefits as inmates care for the chickens.
- Carpentry classes for both male and female inmates or trainees.
- A mentorship programme is available and designed to support the spiritual and social development of inmates and young offenders. Through this programme experienced mentors guide mentees in navigating personal challenges, fostering emotional growth and building stronger social skills.
- The Cisco [Networking Academy] computer programme course continued allowing inmates to engage in computer-based programming in a variety of disciplines and provides the opportunity to obtain certified courses and diplomas.

Westgate Correctional Facility

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Madam Chairman, the estimate for business unit 35060 Westgate Correctional Facility is $1,188,000. This represents an increase of $52,000 or 5 per cent when compared to the 2024/25 budget. Westgate Correctional Facility is an adult male establishment with the capacity to house 220 inmates classified as maximum, medium, and minimum security as well as males remanded by the courts. Most of the assessment and treatment programs for male inmates take place at this facility. Westgate presently houses over 20 inmates who are serving life and over 15 inmates who are serving 15 years or more.

Madam Chairman, in fiscal year 2024/25, Westgate Facility continued to have infrastructure challenges such as plumbing, electrical and roofing defects because of an ageing physical plant which has been in existence since 1994.

Madam Chairman, during fiscal year 2024/25 whilst undertaking of the refurbishment of one of the medium classification housing units, the department entered a pilot programme with the Department of Works and Engineering to enlist nine inmates to supplement the refurbishment work in the unit. The inmates (who were remunerated) were selected based on their skills and some based on their willingness to learn a new skill. This initiative was a six-week project that ended in the successful completion of sanding and repainting of the unit with results exceeding expectations.

Madam Chairman, the implementation of a computer lab instructor continues to bolster supervised access of the computer lab, allowing inmates to utilise programming to online educational and technological programmes. This access also benefits inmates who require additional learning support or may require alternative learning styles. Inmates who are seeking employment as part of their discharge planning can now be given a monitored personal email address allowing them to communicate with potential employers. Vocational and enrichment classes such as art, music, culinary arts, and small engine repairs continue to be offered for enrichment and prove popular with the inmate population.

Therapeutic Community Centre

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Madam Chairman, the estimate for business unit 35090 Therapeutic Community Centre is $653,000 which represents a decrease of $132,000 or 17 per cent when compared to the budget allocation for the fiscal year 2024/25. This reduction is related to the programme being transitioned to the management of the Department of Corrections resulting in a reduction in operational costs.

Madam Chairman, the Therapeutic Community Centre, also known as the Right Living House [RLH], is located at the Co-Educational Facility. During the 2024/25 fiscal year, the RLH programme was successfully transitioned from the GO Group to the Department of Corrections on 1 July 2024. The Right Living House is a substance abuse rehabilitation programme that is segregated from the remaining prison population. The programme has the capacity to house 18 adult male offenders with a history of substance abuse and associated criminality. The programme aims to transition residents to the broader community with an increased potential for a life free of drug abuse and criminal activity through providing tools and opportunities for change. The budget allocation funds staffing, operational costs and the inmate programmes associated with the Right Living House.

Madam Chairman, over the past year 15 inmates enrolled in the Right Living House programme. The residents transitioned through three phases of the programme with increased privileges such as day passes, spiritual passes, and work release. Four residents in phase three have participated in work release as they transition back into the community while continuing to engage in therapeutic groups and classes during evenings and weekends. Additionally, six individuals participated in the Aftercare programme with two graduating in September 2024 during recovery month. The programme also accommodates individuals serving shorter sentences with community supervision to follow, particularly those who referred through the Drug Treatment Court.

Psychological Services

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Madam Chairman, the estimate for business unit 35105 Psychological Services is $354,000. This represents an increase of $10,000 or 3 per cent when compared to the [2024/25] fiscal budget. Psychological services have evolved throughout the fiscal year of 2024/25 and are provided across all three facilities. The services provided by the Psychology Department include clinical interventions on a one-to-one basis and within a group setting. The individual interventions are person-centred and aim to meet the specific needs of the clients. To enhance the services provided, psychologists have engaged in continuous professional development and have now introduced eye movement desensitisation and reprocessing [EMDR], an intervention to address trauma which has been delivered on a one-to-one basis.

During this fiscal year the group intervention Life Minus Violence—Enhanced [LMV-E] was delivered for violent offenders. The service has also been involved in conducting psychological risk assessments for the purposes of pre-sentence planning for the courts of Bermuda and for the Parole Board. It must be noted that support from contracted psychologists is needed to complete some of these requests.

Madam Chairman, it should also be noted that while psychological services are primarily provided for the incarcerated, the department psychologists also provide consistent support and consultation for staff in times of crisis. Psychological provision within Corrections extends to risk focus and well-being interventions which include, but are not limited to, individual therapies like cognitive behaviour therapy, including trauma-focused therapy, management of deliberate self-injurious behaviours, and eye movement desensitisation reprocessing. The breadth of psychological services provision through Corrections is much broader than can be fit into this brief.

Madam Chairman, areas of focus for the upcoming fiscal year 2025/26 will be the implementation of individualised programming to treat those incarcerated for both violent and sexual offences issued. A collaborative working relationship between psychological services, health services, and the department leadership team ensures that our clients psychological needs are being met. In addition, staff support sessions through reflective practice can assist staff across all three facilities on a consistent basis.

Social Services and Case Management

Mr. Dennis Lister III: The estimate for business unit 35106 Social Services and Case Management is $959,000. This represents an increase of $380,000 or 66 per cent when compared to fiscal budget 2024/25. This budget increase is due to additional staffing consisting of one social worker, three treatment facilitators, and various independent service providers. The department's social worker is a member of the department's Multi-Disciplinary Team and assists inmates and trainees with offence-specific associated problems to address behavioural, social and financial problems. The Social Work Team provides a variety of services to the inmates and trainees.

During fiscal year 2024/25, Social Services facilitated the Grief Recovery Programme for inmates, participated in mental health clients in Corrections meetings with other agencies to ensure continuity of services being between the agencies. Additionally, Social Services coordinated the Fathers and Children Together, Father's Day event on 22 June 2024. Nine fathers participated in the event and 17 children attended. The second Fathers and Children Together event took place during the Christmas period with the Prison Fellowship Angel Tree Programme donating 62 gifts to the children and grocery vouchers to families. This was an excellent opportunity for dads and their children to spend quality time together. The second annual Family and Friends Get Together party was held at the Co-Ed Facility for the adult females and trainees. The event gave the participants an opportunity to bond with family members and friends. The Thinking for a Change Programme, which addresses cognitive dissonance intervention, commenced in February 2024 and eight participants completed the programme.

The social worker also assists inmates in securing employment and housing prior to their release. Additionally, the social worker facilitates family support and intervention meetings.

Madam Chairman, four case managers or assessment officers provide assessment and classification for the inmate population. They are responsible for the development of case plans which drives the rehabilitation process for all inmates, assisting them in developing risk reduction as well as critical thinking tools to address criminogenic thoughts and behaviours.

During the 2024/25 fiscal year, case managers conducted various assessments, provided parole reports, made referrals (both internally and externally), processed inmate applications, and held multi-disciplinary case conferences

Health Services

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Madam Chairman, the estimate for business unit 35107 Health Services is $1,744,000. This represents a $181,000 or 12 per cent increase when compared to 2024/25 fiscal budget. This increase is related to the number of inmates requiring health care services. This budget allocation will provide funding for nursing staff and health care services for inmates. Health Services is managed by a senior nurse and five registered nurses responsible for providing services to the inmate population at all facilities.

Educational Services

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Madam Chairman, the estimate for business unit 35108 Educational Services is $389,000. This represents an $89,000 or 30 per cent increase. This is due to an increase in the cost of new courses and associated materials. During the fiscal year 2024/25, a total of 55 clients were actively engaged in various educational courses or classes offered both internally and in conjunction with partner agencies. Twenty students, during fiscal year 2024/25 were actively enrolled in the GED Penn Foster High School equivalency programmes. A total of six students sat the GED exam. One successfully passed the GED, whilst the remainder had various portions to successfully complete their GED. There were also two students enrolled in Penn Foster. One student successfully graduated in custody, while the other was successful after release from custody. There are currently 15 remaining students pursuing their high school equivalency degree.

Nineteen students participated in various Bermuda College PACE courses which were offered online. Through a partnership with the department and the Bermuda Technical Institute Association, 15 students were enrolled in a variety of Cisco Certified courses ranging from cybersecurity to entrepreneurship. During the summer programme other classes were offered. These classes included toastmaster speech craft, music sound engineering, drumming and African studies. A total of 25 students participated in these offerings. Ten students also participated in the FinTech programme which was cosponsored by the Economic Development Department. Five students successfully graduated and were personally congratulated via recorded message by the Premier, the Honourable David Burt.

Six students were enrolled in foreign language classes, architecture, graphic design, law studies and individualised remedial learning. One student was accepted into the London School of Design in marketing and has commenced studies which will culminate in a Bachelor of Arts [degree] in Marketing. Sixteen students attended a virtual conference held by the Alliance of Higher Education in Prison. This conference highlighted the important role of education in the journey of rehabilitation and reduction of recidivism.

Vocational Services

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Madam Chairman, the estimate for business unit 35109, Vocational Services, is $352,000. This represents an increase of $228,000 or 54 per cent. This increase in funding will provide for continued development of an inmate cooperative programme (a Throne Speech initiative), resumption of the National Center for Construction Education and Research (NCCER) training and trade courses. The Department of Corrections prison population has access to a variety of vocational programmes. The Department of Corrections offered the following vocational programmes during the 2024/25 budget year.

- Academic studies, classes in person and computer based.
- APACE courses, computer based at Bermuda College
- Art classes
- Carpentry
- First Aid/CPR/AED
- Horticulture classes
- Motor mechanics
- Sewing

In addition, Vocational Services also provide hobby work experiences for inmates. These opportunities not only provide a creative outlet, but in addition, inmates can sell wares such as cedar plaques, jewellery boxes and fabric items such as bags, caps and articles of clothing. These programmes will continue to be offered during the 2025/26 fiscal year.

Recreational Services

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Madam Chairman, the estimate for business unit 35110, Recreational Services, is $60,000. This represents an increase of $11,000, or 22 per cent. The increase is due to the increase of materials.

Subjective Analysis of the Current Account Estimates

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Madam Chairman, I would like to draw your attention to [page] B-95 of the approved Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure Book. Salaries have decreased by $1,461,000, or 7 per cent. This decrease is a result of the forecasted retirement of senior officers and planned recruitment of new officers at the introductory pay rate.

Professional Services has increased by $178,000, or 10 per cent. This increase can be contributed to the increased number of contractors required to provide services to the department.

Materials and Supplies has increased by $56,000, or 3 per cent. This increase represents materials and supplies that will be needed to effect minor throughout the facilities due to ageing.

Performance Measures

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Madam Chairman, I would now like to draw your attention to [page] B-97 which outlines the performance measures of the Department of Corrections. The forecast for 2025/26 is as follows.

1. The average daily inmate population is currently at 152 with 47 of the admissions estimated to be first-time offenders who receive custodial services.
2. The number of inmates projected to be released through parole is four. In fiscal year 2024/25, Madam Chairman, 40 per cent of eligible inmates enrolled in development and treatment programmes aimed to address the offending behaviours, address educational and vocational needs and improve skills development. This department has a target enrolment of 50 per cent for 2025/26.

The Department of Corrections calculates its recidivism rates according to internationally accepted practices. Based on these standards the rates include persons who have a conviction for a new offence within three years of their release. The actual outcome for 2024/25 was 20.0 per cent. For international comparison, the recidivism rate at three years is 36.0 per cent in Australia, 31.0 per cent in Austria, 17.5 in France, 33.0 per cent in Germany, 44.0 per cent in New Zealand, 25.2 per cent in the UK and 45.0 per cent in the United States.

Capital Acquisition and Development

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Madam Chairman, I will now move to [page] C-10 of the Budget Book and Capital Acquisitions. The estimate for 2025/26 is $402,000. This allocation will be used for main kitchen equipment upgrades, the purchase of security equipment and air-conditioning equipment. [Page] C-4 shows the 2025/26 estimate for Capital Development is at $600,000. The department has commenced the procurement of the Black Creek Integrated security system which is Phase 2 of the required upgrade of the existing security system, Black Creek.

The original system was installed when Westgate on 9 September 1994. The existing system (which is obsolete) will be upgraded to current operating standards. Although procurement has begun in fiscal year 2024/25, the bulk of the work will be completed during the 2025/26 fiscal year. Also, during the 2024/25 fiscal year in conjunction with the Ministry of Public Works, the plumbing and electrical retrofit procurement process began. The remaining work will be completed during the 2025/26 fiscal year.

Madam Chairman, during the 2024/25 fiscal year, the procurement for a new intercom paging system for the Co-Ed facility began. The original system is scheduled for replacement or upgrade with coverage throughout the entire facility. This new intercom system will replace an older antiquated system and provide for two-way communication between inmates and staff should inmates require emergency assistance or are incapacitated whilst in their cells. Also, three ageing vehicles were replaced.

The capital developments plans for 2025/26 include

- Security equipment which would improve security measures;
- Replacement of the Farm Facility generator and hut to house it. This will ensure continuity of services during power outages, particularly during hurricane season.

- Replacement of ageing vehicles; and
- Minor works funding for small infrastructure projects and unforeseen emergencies.

2025/26 Plans

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Madam Chairman, staffing at the facility continues to be a critical challenge and is a major part of ensuring the safety and security at the facility. We must operate at the highest security standard thus ensuring Corrections staff, service providers, inmates and visitors are safe within the facility.

Staffing has posed a significant challenge in fulfilling our mission as the Department of Corrections endeavours to provide assessment, treatment, intervention, skills training, development, family support and community reintegration for each inmate prior to their return to the community. Despite our challenges with manpower, which requires that staff work long hours and sometimes double shifts, we are committed to ensure that the highest level of security is met and maintained. We continue our efforts in the interdiction and eradication of contraband items from the facility. This is done through intelligence gathering and sharing with our partner agencies and the utilisation of our canine units for the general searching of the facility and continue the targeting and searching of high-risk offenders and gang members within the facility.

Priorities

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Madam Chairman, I will briefly set out some of the priorities of the Department of Corrections for fiscal year 2025/26. The department will continue with recruitment to fill various vacant posts which are mainly custodial staff. Recruitment of custodial staff has been a challenge during this fiscal year. However, we recognise that staff are our greatest asset to the fulfilment of our mission and are vigorously recruiting to bolster our existing staffing levels. The department is currently undertaking a three-pronged recruitment drive in Bermuda, the Caribbean and the UK to fill custodial staff posts. At this stage, 32 applicants have reached the final stage of assessments and interviews. Bermudians take hiring priority and remaining posts will be filled after offers have been provided to local applicants.

Department promotions in the senior ranks are scheduled to fill vacant senior management posts. The department will work with the Ministry headquarters and other uniformed services to introduce the Uniformed Services training programme which is a Throne Speech initiative to recruit suitably qualified candidates and fill the needed vacancies.

As a health and safety priority, the department will work with the Ministry of Public Works to effect repairs and replacements of ageing facility structures and equipment. The department will partner with the Ministry of Public Works to provide work placements for inmates on [the] facility's minor work projects. As part of a plan to engage the community, the department will partner with community stakeholders to support the successful reintegration of inmates into the community. The Department of Corrections will also work with community partners to develop projects that can benefit both the inmates and the wider community.

Finally, the department will continue to work with other government agencies on criminal justice-related initiatives, updated policy initiatives, amendments to antiquated legislation to reflect modern day best practices in Corrections and that align with the mission of the department.

Madam Chairman, I would like to thank the Commissioner, Ms. Joell-Benjamin, and her staff who throughout many challenges beyond her control provided exemplary service and delivered on the mission to protect the public and provide rehabilitative services.

Madam Chairman, this concludes my remarks on Head 25, but before I finish, I just want to make some acknowledgements. I would like to take this moment to acknowledge and sincerely thank the dedicated officers within the Ministry who worked diligently to prepare this budget brief. Their expertise and unwavering commitment have been invaluable in shaping the priorities and strategic direction presented here today. I would like to name Attorney General and Senator, the Honourable Kim Wilkerson, JP; Permanent Secretary Mr. David Roberts; outgoing Permanent Secretary Ms. Marva Jean O'Brien; Comptroller Ms. Onika Mendes; Solicitor General Shakira Dill-Francois; Chief Parliamentary Counsel Ms. Nalini Salick; Director of Public Prosecutions Ms. Cindy Clarke; Commissioner of Corrections, Ms. Keeva Joell-Benjamin; Director of Court Services, Mr. Derek Flood; Acting Registrar of the Judicial Department, Ms. Cratonía Thompson; Director of Financial Sanctions Implementation Unit, Ms. Renée Foggo; Director of Financial Intelligence Agency, Ms. Christal Hanna; and Legal Crown Counsel Legal Reform, Mr. Keivon Simons.

With that, Madam Chairman, I conclude my presentation on the Ministry of Justice.

The Chairman: Thank you, Junior Minister Lister. I will give you a minute to just sort yourself and get ready for any questions.

I just want to take this opportunity to update the listening public that we are in Committee of Supply for the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure. We are currently doing the Ministry of Justice, and that would be Heads 81, 3, 4, 74, 75, and 25.

I welcome anyone who would like to speak at this time.

The Chair recognises the Member for constituency 22, Mr. Scott Pearman.

Mr. Scott Pearman: Thank you, Madam Chairman, and good afternoon to you and to the listening public. Let me start by thanking the Honourable Junior Minister for his presentation. And, in particular, let me thank him for his speed reading, because he has very kindly left me with considerably more time than I have ever experienced, I think, in Legal Affairs to date and I am extremely grateful. Unfortunately, we did add an hour to the debate on this one, so I do apologise in advance.

Let me also acknowledge the presence in the Chamber of the Honourable and Learned Attorney General, Senator Kim Wilkerson, who I see is here with her staff, including the new PS, Mr. Roberts, and the old PS Ms. O'Brien. I apologise, there is another member of the Ministry here, whose name I do not know, but hello and welcome and thank you for being here today.

The—

The Chairman: Member, before you get into it, let me just remind the public that we actually have one hour and 45 minutes more at this time. Thank you.

Mr. Scott Pearman: Okay. Excellent. Oh, and I am being offered a podium for the [Budget] Book.

Madam Chairman, I will try my very best to assist both the Honourable Junior Minister and the members of the Ministry by maintaining each of the heads and trying to put all of my questions on a particular head and also to go through the heads in the same order that the Honourable Junior Minister did. I noted that order actually differed from the order in the Budget Book, but I will adopt his speaking order rather than the order that is in the Budget Book.

The Chairman: Okay. Thank you.

Mr. Scott Pearman: And the first head, the Ministry of Justice Headquarters, as a whole appears (for those who are following along in their Budget Books) at page B-78. And that is where we have the overview of the budget for the Ministry of Justice including all of the heads and all of the departments. And, again, for the benefit of the listening public, this Ministry has changed substantially since last year in that one of the departments, namely the National Drug Control Department, is no longer in this Ministry. So, we have lost that department to another Ministry. But we have also picked one up, and that is the Department of Corrections.

So, I mention that for the benefit of the listening public, but also because the Department of Corrections is something entirely new to me. It has never been in my Shadow portfolio for these last eight years. So, I apologise in advance, when we get to Corrections, if any of my questions are patently obvious or silly questions. But this is my first time dealing with Corrections. So, it is certainly a complicated and interesting area of government and one that is very important, not only to this Chamber, but to the Government as a whole and to the population as a whole.

But starting first, Madam Chairman, with the headquarters. The overarching point is that the budget, which is again at page B-78, is just under one million [dollars] more than it was last year. So, there will be anticipated expenditure in this Ministry and, as we have heard from the Junior Minister, most of the anticipated increases in expenditure do appear to be salary increases here or there. The one exception in the Ministry as a whole is Corrections, where rather than the numbers going up, we see for Corrections the numbers are going down, in particular against 2023 actuals, the numbers for Corrections are going to go down about $2 million. And we will come to that when we get to that particular head.

But, leaving Corrections firmly to one side, the theme of expenditure (and this is a budget debate) for the Ministry of Justice is that generally things are ticking up and they are ticking up generally because of salary increases. And that was something that the Honourable Junior Minister made clear on a number of occasions while presenting his brief.

The specific headquarters increases, if one turns to page B-80, are largely, again, in the administration section. We see $780,000 increases to the 2025 estimate, that's against the original 2024, but considerably up for most of the 2023 actuals. And I am looking here at page B-80 under line item 97000, which is the Administration line item for the Justice Headquarters. The personnel increase. There was not a great deal of specificity as to what roles were being increased. There was an expressed reference in the brief by the Honourable Junior Minister to the staff at the Parole Board being increased. And I noted that.

But my first question out of the gate is, given that there is a considerable salary increase and numbers increase and employees increase could the Honourable Junior Minister and the Ministry help to elaborate a little bit about what new roles one can expect given the considerable increase of some $780,000 there which, as I understand is mostly linked to salaries?

Madam Chairman, I am happy to be guided by you, but from prior experience sometimes the answers are slower than the questions. And so, I won't trip into the next head, but I am certainly happy to set out my questions on this head and let the answers trickle in. And I will take my seat whenever the Honourable Junior Minister wishes to provide the answers. So, if that is okay with you, and okay with the Honourable Junior Minister that is how I will know that's acceptable.

The Chairman: Minister.

Mr. Dennis Lister III: MP Pearman, do you know how many questions you anticipate for this head? You can ask all of the questions on this head and then I can answer them.

Mr. Scott Pearman: I will be very happy . . . I don't have them numbered, I just have them in my notes. But I will certainly pause at the end of this head and welcome any responses coming my way, if that's okay with you, Madam Chairman.

The Chairman: I am fine with that. But that also, on that particular head, if anyone else wishes to ask any questions—

Mr. Scott Pearman: Of course.

The Chairman: —let's take all of the questions on one head first, and then allow the Honourable Junior Minister to respond.

Mr. Scott Pearman: Yes.

The Chairman: That will make it easier, even for the listening audience.

Mr. Scott Pearman: And I know in respect of certain heads that there are colleagues on my side who do have additional questions. I am certainly not the only speaker on this side. And particularly so given that we have been told that we have about an hour and 45 minutes for questions.

The Chairman: Okay. Thank you. Proceed.

Mr. Scott Pearman: So, that is a little bit more flesh on the bones, if we could, about the personnel increases and the cost increases for salaries.

The second topic, still on this head, and this arises on page B-80, line item 97100, and this is in relation to the Financial Intelligence Unit. Excuse me, that is the wrong line item, it is about the Law Reform Commission.

In his brief, the Honourable Junior Minister indicated that most of those law reform commissions were made back in July 2019. And he indicated that those appointments are mostly, if not all, coming to an end and that a new slate will be appointed. For the benefit of those less familiar, the Law Reform Commission is a group of people, probably lawyers (I'm not sure if they are all lawyers, but certainly most of them will be lawyers) who assist the Government with proposals as to how to improve our laws. So, it does what it says on that tin the "Law Reform Commission."

So, what I would like to know in relation not only to the new slate that we anticipate is coming, or we are told is coming, but in relation to the old slate who are now stepping aside after six years of diligent hard work, firstly, what is the Ministry's focus on law reform? What are the priority areas of law reform for this Ministry and this new Attorney General? Where would she like to see our laws improve in the immediate one-, two-year period?

Secondly, in the same vein, are we inviting the outgoing commissioners to express their views? They have had six years in the proverbial saddle, as it were. Are we going to invite their views as to what they advocate should happen in terms of law reform. The reason I say this is that we who sit in this Chamber often think that the changes to the law are those which the Government or sometimes the Opposition say they should be. And sometimes we ignore those who use the law, and who deal with it every day, and do our shouting and screaming about the areas of the law that require reform that sometimes do not get the attention that they should from us legislators. So, it seems to me that if someone has spent a good six years working hard, and probably without pay, as a law commissioner, leaving aside the director, I know is a paid role, but the others, I suspect, are not paid roles. It would be very meaningful and probably helpful to invite their five or ten points as to how we could enhance Bermuda's legislative roadmap.

As to the director of the Law Reform Commission, the Honourable Junior Minister, mentioned a curious situation where he, and I believe it is Keivon Simons, I think (let me look at my notes) . . . where Mr. Simons, who, I know at one time was a lawyer at Carey Olson, is performing a dual role in that he is performing the statutory requirement of being the Director of the Law Reform Commission, whilst at the same time performing the role of being effectively the (I don't know the precise expression) policy and strategy councillor, or words to that effect. And I just wonder what plans, if any, the Ministry has to separate out those two roles. And no disrespect to Mr. Simons, I am sure he is performing both roles competently at the same time. But is the Attorney General and her Ministry intending to separate out those roles, as one can see why they would be free-standing and self-sufficient and differential roles that may not normally be provided by one person wearing both hats as it were. So, if I can ask that as my fourth sort of overarching question.

At page C-10, we see the acquisitions of the department. And this is still in relation to headquarters. I note that we had an acquisition of some $200,000. This is at page C-10 in relation to the Ministry of Justice, under the Justice Headquarters and it's line item 76853, Case Management System. And we note that in relation to the case management system, some $200,000 has been spent. If we look to the right, the revised estimate is then zero, and next year's, this year's, as it were, estimate is zero.

So, my question in relation to the case management system for HQ is, Is that now complete? Is all the work done? And, if so, how is it all working? And if all of the work is not done, [I am just curious why] there is a zero-budget item. Has it been postponed or delayed? So, that question arises in relation to the line item at page C-10.

And then going back in the Budget Book to page B-78, which is overarching page for the Ministry of Justice, under Capital Expenditure, under Acquisitions, we see an estimated acquisition number $1.47 million (that's in the greyed-out column, Madam Chairman, to the right of "acquisitions" under the 2025/26 estimate). Looking at that, I am just wondering if we can assist with what is happening in relation to that. Because if one goes back to page C-10, which we were just looking at, we see there, I think the largest line item, which is Judicial, and we will come back to it, but CJS framework. So, if I may flag that I would be interested to hear the progress made in relation to that noting that there has been $800,000 of expenditure, and $1 million of anticipated expenditure in relation to that.

In the back of the [Budget] Book, turning then to the page on Grants, which is C (for Charlie) 17, one of the considerable items of increased expenditure in the Grant heading under Ministry of Justice at [page] C-17 is the FIA grant, the Financial Intelligence Agency grant, which is increasing fairly markedly. And I know that the Honourable Junior Minister did touch on the Financial Intelligence Agency in his brief. But I did not quite catch the reason for the considerable increase in expenditure. So, if I could just start with a headline question of, Why is that? And again, if we could just have a little more meat on the bones about the increased expenditure going up to $2.125 million, as you can see on page C-17.

In terms of Legal Aid, which the Honourable Junior Minister in his brief said was one of the largest costs and one of the largest costs within Legal Aid, the Honourable Junior Minister referenced external counsel. And he said that the costs in relation to those was (and I quote) "more than expected." One of the—

The Chairman: Member, just so I am following with you, are you now on page B-81?

Mr. Scott Pearman: Exactly. I am back to the Headquarters page.

The Chairman: Okay.

Mr. Scott Pearman: Yes. Thank you.

The Chairman: Thank you.

Mr. Scott Pearman: And I am dealing with the issue of Legal Aid. And I was dealing with the statement made by the Honourable Junior Minister in his brief that in relation to Legal Aid one of the largest costs to the Government in Legal Aid was external counsel. And he had said that that was more than expected.

Now, the plan in relation to Legal Aid was to in-house counsel. And that has been a plan that has been developing over the last few years. And the idea . . . and I understand the idea. You bring your in-house lawyers in. You have your lawyers in house. And if you look at page B-82, we see there in the middle box of business units . . . So, this is performance measures at B (for Bravo) 82. And in the middle box we see Legal Aid 97030. And this is the business unit. And we see the percentage of new cases (this is the third item down, percentage of new cases) assigned to in-house legal counsel. And reading across, you see the actual of 68 per cent back in 2023. Projections last year, 75 per cent, revised 75 per cent. And next year we are projecting 90 per cent.

Now, I just observe that that is an ambitious projection of 90 per cent. And I would invite the Ministry to explain their rationale behind that 90 per cent prediction, not least given the number, I think 43 per cent, of conflicts that were identified as being the reason to pass internal in-house cases out to external counsel, and 43 [per cent] may be wrong, but it was forty-something. I am grateful to the Honourable Member behind me, but it was in the 40s.

So, to sort of try and put that in simple terms, if we are experiencing such a problem with conflict with our in-house team that we have to outsource to external counsel, is the 90 per cent figure on [page] B-82 realistic? Is it improbable? And more important than that, how does the Ministry anticipate achieving that to get this plan working, which is to take these things in-house? So, I would be very grateful for some elaboration on the thought behind that and the apparent contradiction between the 90 per cent target outcome at page B-82 and the conflict number [shared with us] by the Honourable Junior Minister during his brief?

Moving from in-house counsel in Legal Aid to the sort of larger question, Is the Ministry satisfied with the pace of trial progress? I note that some of the statistics that have been shared with us today, specifically in the upper courts, were less positive perhaps that in the Magistrates' Courts. And one might say that the Magistrates' Court figures were more positive in terms of progression of trials. I am fully cognisant—in fact, we all will be fully cognisant and those using the legal system will be cognisant—of the fact that we had a huge backlog coming out of COVID-19. And that is some years past now. But nonetheless, a bit of sense of a health check from the Minister and the Ministry. Where are we with the pace of trial progress? And are we satisfied with it, or are there things that could be done to improve it or to speed it up?

On the issue of provision of legal services, one of the things that is a passion of mine and I have called for previously both inside of this House and out, is the notion that the Bar, the lawyers in Bermuda, can do more to engage with the Bermudian community and do more from a pro bono perspective, which is obviously Latin for free, for good, pro bono. And one of the ideas that has been bubbling around, percolating around is this idea of a walk-in legal clinic which would be staffed by the Bar Council and by barristers and lawyers and attorneys giving their free time pro bono to provide at least the more necessary services.

And I obviously appreciate I am not in the criminal sector here. I am talking more in the civil sector. More specifically, I am talking more about landlord and tenant, family law issues, employment law issues, you know, the kind of thing where just a little bit of knowledge from a lawyer as to how the law works in that area can be so very helpful to people who are not legally qualified and just want to know what their rights are. And I would put this marker down, that if the new Attorney General would like to try to develop that idea of a legal clinic, it seems to me that there are ample number of lawyers on this Island. Some would say far too many. We should all be doing—

Yes, I see the Honourable Member Craig Cannonier has put his finger up to say, Too many.

[Laughter]

Mr. Scott Pearman: I see the Honourable Member Michael Fahy, who is a lawyer, say, Never. But there we are.

But the reality is that there are a number of lawyers on this Island, probably more statistically and percentagewise than in some other jurisdictions, given that we are an international financial centre. And I will put it in the bucket of Wouldn't it be nice? But would it not be nice if we could try to harness some of us and guilt us and shame us into providing those services?

I think we are not far off. What I would respectfully suggest to the Attorney General and her Honourable Junior Minister would be the possibility of identifying some space. And we heard from an answer to Parliamentary Questions from the Honourable Craig Cannonier the other day about how many government properties there are still on the books where a full-time or part-time clinic could be staffed by volunteer lawyers to share that advice with the public.

Now, I appreciate that that might not be open seven days a week, 24 hours a day, but maybe could be open three days a week, you know, six hours a day or something like that. So, I just put a marker down that, in the spirit of bipartisanship and welcoming the new Attorney General, that would be something wonderful to try to work toward. And it would make a meaningful impact, I suggest, to those who really would benefit from it.

So, I guess the question is this: In principle, would the Minister and the Ministry be prepared to find some space for a walk-in location? And would they be prepared to work toward persuading the Bar Council that this is just an eminently sensible and helpful idea for the community at large?

Turning to what is probably the most interesting announcement in the Legal Affairs space for those of us who have been following it or participating in it for some time is the Domestic Violence Court and also the Domestic Violence Programme. The question I have about the Domestic Violence Programme is at page B (for Bravo) 80 under the General Summary. And my understanding is that programme, which is currently operational, is folded into line item 97070, which is the Justice Protection Programme. Now, I may have misunderstood that. But I think it is commingled within there.

That programme, the Justice Protection Programme, has been given an estimated budget of $320,000. And if I am right that that is commingled with the Domestic Violence Programme. And I may not be, but if I am right that they are commingled, could perhaps I have a breakdown of how the $320[,000] breaks out between the JPP (the Justice Protection Programme) and the Domestic Violence Programme?

And the other question, as long as we are on this page, is the line item immediately below deals with the Sanctions Unit. And this has been a particularly active area of late for a number of reasons. One because as an international financial centre, Bermuda is at the forefront of regulatory obligations and requirements. And we need to make sure that we are not only meeting the grade, but exceeding the grade, which we do, I hasten to add. And I thank those involved.

And the other reason why this is busy territory is of course the wars that are going on, and particularly the war in the Ukraine and the sanctions regime that is being applied to Russians and other citizens in relation to that. And so, my question there . . . and I do appreciate that the Honourable Junior Minister in his brief spoke a little bit about the FSIU [Financial Sanctions Implementation Unit], but I would invite a little more clarification about how we are engaging with the sanctions regime in a practical way. Again, I note also that in the brief there was a discussion of the Governor's powers to give relief from sanctions, or licensed sanctions . . . excuse me, that is not the right phraseology . . . to give licence in relation to them.

But I would like to know how it is going on, and in particular what is the impact of the war and the sanctions regime upon our registries? This was a hot topic only a few years ago in relation to our shipping registry, our aircraft registry. And I would welcome just a little bit of information or view from the learned Attorney General or her Ministry as to how that is going and perhaps where we see that going. So, Madam Chairman, those are my questions in relation to [page] B-80.

While we are on [page] B-80, there is also in the box below, which is Expenditure, a line item for Professional Services. Now, I declare my interest as a lawyer. I like lawyers, and therefore I recognise that when lawyers hire lawyers, things get very expensive.

Mr. Neville S. Tyrrell: Yes, they do.

Mr. Scott Pearman: Thank you. I heard the Whip from the other side supporting me on that one.

[Laughter]

Mr. Scott Pearman: But Professional Services. So, the actuals were $1.28 million in 2023. They are going up. They are going up quite considerably, $1.9 [million] is the estimate, $1.94 million in the grey box there for Professional Services at [page] B-80. That is almost $1 million up. And so, I guess the question I have is, Why is it that such a considerable increase is expected against last year's original budget or indeed the actuals of 2023? Is there something looming that requires particular additional expert legal advice to the Attorney General's Chambers, or indeed to the Ministry of Justice? Is there a particular reason that number is going up so much? Or is it just that things go up? So, I would be grateful for an answer to that question.

At [page] B-82, which is over the page, two pages, this is the box that deals with Performance Measures in the Ministry of Justice Headquarters. This is a very small point. But the box above for Consumer Affairs indicates that the number of vacation rental inspections and licences was 105 in 2023/24. And notwithstanding that we are now dealing with 2025/26, I note that 2024/25, the middle year still says to be determined. And I am just curious why there is not an actually a number there. And if there is a number, could that number be shared with us?

Whilst I am on the Performance Measures and with a finger staying here at [page] B-82 and turning back to [page] B-80, I had asked a question about the Justice Protection Programme. If we go back to [page] B-82, I note that there is no performance measure at all for that programme in line item 97070, which is the Justice Performance Programme, which is the third from the bottom at [page] B-80. And it does strike us as a bit odd that there are no performance measures. The Junior Minister did state an 88 per cent conviction rate, and that is excellent, because of the programme. And clearly this is a life-saving measure. But it is odd that there are no performance measures. And I suppose the question is, How do you determine how best to allocate the limited resources that this Ministry has if you do not have performance measures linked to that?

Likewise, if we go back to [page] B-81 where we see the Employee box, I do not see any staff linked to the Justice Protection Programme 97070. It may be there are no staff. But that seemed odd too, that that did not have an employee number linked to it.

And, Madam Chairman, those are my questions in relation to Head 87, the first of the six heads that we are going to cover under this Ministry. And if that is a convenient moment for me to take my seat and allow the Junior Minister to address some of those questions, I will sit down.

The Chairman: Let me first ask if any other Member would like to speak on Head 87?

No.

Junior Minister, you have the floor.

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Thank you, Madam Chairman. I will try and answer in the order that they were asked.

The first question asked by MP Pearman was in regard to the personnel salary and employment numbers in HQ. Just to make a point of clarification, the number of members on the Parole Board and the budget have not increased. But the Parole Board has been moved under the Ministry of Justice for the first time. I would just make a point in regard to your question.

Your second question, What is the Ministry's or the Attorney General's focus and priority, and are we inviting outgoing commissioners to express their views? The Attorney General is interested in hearing from both the outgoing and incoming commissioners on their perspective, as well as hearing from members of the Judiciary and other relevant stakeholders. It is only by collaboration and consultation that fundamental and important reforms to our legal system can take place in an effective and comprehensive manner. And of particular interest to the Attorney General are updates to the domestic abuse laws to bring Bermuda in line with modern approaches to protection and prosecution.

Updates to restructuring and insolvency law, reform to the Jurist Act to ensure that criminal cases are appropriately juried to allow for the swift and fair application of justice. Reform of civil jury panel as recommended by the Judiciary and updates to the Prisons Act and Prison Rules and all laws that impact access to justice. And just while I wait, the last is that the Attorney General is also having ongoing discussions with the Governor regarding his views on commissioners.

Next question in regard to the case management system, How is it working, and if not, has the budget been postponed or delayed? The funds allocated in the Ministry's budget were earmarked for the case management. At this point, no funds have been extended toward the case management system. There is a request for proposal which was issued on 6 January 2025, and the submission deadline was initially set for 17 February, but was extended at the request of proponents to 3 March 2025. And the Judicial Department is now engaged in the evaluation stage of the procurement process. And capital funds for the case management system have been allocated in the Judicial Department's budget.

While I do wait for some answers, I will go into another question [the Honourable Member] asked in regard to Legal Aid staffing. There is no conflict number in the budget brief, and we are unclear . . . I will ask. We are unclear where that 40 per cent came from if you can clarify that for us, MP Scott Pearman.

Mr. Scott Pearman: Okay.

Mr. Dennis Lister III: In regard to your question, Is the Domestic Violence Court Programme commingled with the Justice Protection budget? The answer is no, they are not commingled. But the Justice Protection will be available to witnesses and victims in that programme. And we can confirm no additional budget was required from our department for the Domestic Violence Court.

Then in regard to the Justice Protection Programme Performance Measurements, no, there are no performance measurements made public. The information from that programme is statutorily required to be top secret and confidential. The persons who staff the programme are full-time public servants who hold full-time posts within the Ministry, and they receive no additional salary.

And in regard to the question about the dual role of Mr. Keivon Simons, there has been a service management review that established roles to support Legal Aid pending a new law reform office.

I am hoping I am able to answer your questions correctly, MP Pearman.

[Pause]

The Chairman: Junior Minister, do you need some additional time? Because Mr. Pearman is on his feet.

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Yes. He can sit up while . . .

Mr. Scott Pearman: Yes. Let me just clarify one—

The Chairman: I recognise the Member from constituency 22.

Mr. Scott Pearman: Thank you, Madam Chairman.

Sorry. Let me just clarify one point, and I apologise. I think the note was in error. The 43 per cent was in relation to the DPP [Department of Public Prosecutions] conflict and not in relation to the HQ Legal Affairs. So, apologies for my misstatement there. The 43 per cent, Madam [Chairman], was in relation to the DPP conflict, not in the Attorney General's Chambers. So, I do apologise for that confusion.

Nonetheless, the question still stands. Is 90 per cent an ambitious target for next year, notwithstanding the 43 per cent is unrelated?

Yes. So, would the Honourable Junior Minister prefer me to move on to the next head, or do you have further answers to give?

Mr. Dennis Lister III: We can move on to the next head.

The Chairman: Junior Minister, you have to wait to be acknowledged.

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Oh. Right.

The Chairman: Yes. You can get up and provide some guidance.

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Thank you, Madam Chairman. Yes. MP Pearman, you can continue on to the next head.

The Chairman: And just for the listening audience, we are in Committee of Supply in the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure. We are doing the Ministry of Justice, and we have one hour and seven minutes remaining.

Thank you, Member from constituency 22.

Mr. Scott Pearman: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

The next of our six heads, the second of our six heads, is the Judicial Department. And that commences on page B-84 for those following along in the Budget Book. And if we keep sort of a finger at [page] B-84, we turn back to the overarching page for the Ministry of Justice at [page] B-78. In relation to this head, Head 3, Judicial Department, the second head, we can see by the expenditures going up just over three-quarters of a million. Now, I think again, as per the last head, my understanding is that the increase is largely due to salary increases rather than other specific amounts. And I appreciate of course in the Judicial Department we do have all of the judiciary itself, and then other members of courtrooms and chambers, which is a significant number of employees. As set out at [page] B-86 it is about 20 or so [according to] the estimate for next year.

My questions in relation to the Judicial Department are really at a high level. To begin with, in terms of firstly the civil and commercial judges, where do we see those appointments going? We currently have the Chief Justice. We have, as I understand it, two full-time civil commercial judges. And we have one, I do not want to say part-time, but effectively on a fixed-term temporary position as a judge of the Commercial Court. Is that temporary judge likely to be renewed or substituted for by a full-time judge?

Turning from the commercial court to the family court, could the Attorney General in the Ministry kindly provide us, again very high-level, not specifics, an update on the Family Matrimonial Court appointments and where we see that going, taking into account the Domestic Violence Court that is coming online or is partly online? And how do you see the number of judges who are populating those courts?

In the Criminal Court, my understanding is that we have a new judge, one new criminal judge. Again, do you see expansion or contraction in the Criminal Court in relation to the number of judges that we have?

Turning from those sitting on the bench to those before the benches, one of the matters that was emphasised at the opening of the judicial year where judges are given an opportunity to speak slightly more freely on their views of how the court system can be improved, enhanced, addressed, et cetera, was a very detailed presentation in relation to traffic offences. And that was made by the Senior Magistrate, who set out a number of issues as perceived by the bench and how some of those might be addressed. One in particular that stood out in my mind was the . . . "plea" might be putting it a bit hard, a bit high, but the observation that some of the fines that we have for our traffic offences have not been updated in some considerable time. And questioning whether or not they do amount to a sufficient deterrent.

For example, if you are speeding, it is only a $500 fine. There are some people to whom that might not be a great deal of money who would be less inclined to worry about how fast they are driving.

Anyway, the Senior Magistrate made what I thought was a very good case for a review of our traffic offences and what we might do in relation to them. I think we can all agree that our roads are a cause for concern. It has gone beyond mere safety concerns, but you know, we have people dying on our roads more than we should. And again, it is not a political point; it is just an observation.

And I think where our Senior Magistrate rightly calls for an overhaul of our traffic laws, hopefully this will be something that can be picked up with relative ease and in a bipartisan way and pushed through this House with the speed that the matter deserves.

Also on the judges. I would be grateful if we could have an update on the status of Assistant Justice Forde. I know that he last sat on the bench in this Island in November of 2023. And it has been some time since. So, I am just wondering about the status of that. And more specifically, is there any reason of which the Ministry may be aware why the public is still awaiting his judgment in that rather prominent case before the courts?

When canvassing in the election, I know that I am not alone in this Chamber when I announced that I was the Shadow of Legal Affairs, if asked. The number-one legal issue that was lamented to me was our probate. I see members in the Chamber nodding around the Chambers. There was a deep frustration with probate at the moment and the delay and difficulty with which regular, ordinary, everyday Bermudians are experiencing problems in progressing probate. And I am pleased to note that amongst those nodding I see even the Attorney General herself is nodding. Again, this is not a criticism. It is an identification of an area. It is an ask for some clarity as to how best we together can work to solve that.

I note that the Honourable Junior Minister indicated that there were 140 applications filed, and 120 grants issued. Those are not bad numbers. But I think what number is missing is the backlog before that.

I think when the Honourable and Learned Attorney General and I both had the pleasure of attending the opening ceremony of the court this year, this was a point that was acknowledged directly by the Chief Justice. But what might assist would be a dedicated probate judge. I know we are getting a dedicated probate . . . assistant registrar, I believe will be the title (I may have the title wrong), but someone effectively to push the cases along.

But is there a judicial issue there? I ask it as a question, not as an assertion. But probate is something that I think desperately needs our attention as best we can.

Still under the Judicial Department, one of the suggestions that we had seen increased of late is to greater security and independence of the judiciary by allowing a ring-fenced judicial budget. It is an idea that I greatly support. It is an idea that I would welcome the new Attorney General maybe clarifying the Ministry's views [on]. Is it something that you are looking into? Is it dead in the water? Is it something that might happen or hopefully will happen? And if it is something that will happen, what sort of timeframe and what is envisaged? Again, the question is placed at a very high level, but it would be useful to know.

Still under the head, Madam Chairman, on the Judicial Department, the question arises from the box at B-84. And that is the line item 1300, Criminal Injuries, which I believe is a reference to the Criminal Injuries Compensation Board, appears to have disappeared in that the budget is no longer there for next year. Now, either that is a typo, or more probably Criminal Injuries has moved out of this Judicial Department into another department or indeed into another Ministry. However, doing the best I could (and I appreciate the Budget Book is not small), I could not locate where the Criminal Injuries Compensation Board or Criminal Injuries as a headline or indeed line item 1300 has moved. So, I would be grateful for clarification where it has moved.

On that subject, if one turns to B-87 two pages over, this is the Performance Measures box. And the first box in relation to that matter, the Criminal Injuries Compensation Board or indeed criminal injuries that we've just been discussing, the entries in relation to this line item all say (or at least my copy says) "With the Ministry." I do not know if your copy says that, Madam Chairman. But in relation to all of the indicators, it just says "With the Ministry." So I would invite the Ministry to share those figures with this Honourable House, whether by way of the B-87 addenda page or whatever is the most convenient way, not on my feet and not right now. I appreciate that perhaps this page could be updated with those figures.

And whilst I am there, I did not quite understand, if you look down to business unit 13015 Courtrooms and Chambers, and then Criminal Division, Number of new indictments, Number of Indictments Carried Over, et cetera, all of those were just at zero.

And if over the page, B-88, likewise Civil and Criminal Appeals from Magistrate's Court is in the top box, and then Court of Appeal, all of those were zero. It may be I have missed the point, and they are meant to be at zero. But if they are not meant to be at zero, I would be grateful for clarification as to why that is and what it is supposed to mean.

Still under Head 3, Judicial Department, if we could turn to page C-10, which is the Capital Acquisition page for the Ministry of Justice. And in relation to Judicial, I pre-flagged this in relation to CJIS [Criminal Justice Information Services] framework. Now, the Honourable Junior Minister did address the point on the case management system [mentioned previously] in relation to the Justice Headquarters. And my understanding of his answer is effectively that is now on hold pending an RFP [Request for Proposal] in relation to the $200,000 that was spent last year. But on the CJIS framework, it would be useful just to have an update on that point as well.

In terms of the justice/judicial . . . I am going to take us back, if I may, to page B-85. The Judicial Department is, in addition to being an expense sector, it is also a revenue sector because it takes in the fines and penalties of court fees and such like. One of the suggestions that I have been banging on about ever since I was elected to this Honourable House in 2018 (and probably boring each Attorney General in succession) is a way in which we can better harness our Commercial Court so that it helps to pay for our underfunded Family Court. And it is not a novel idea; it is not my idea. Indeed, it is one that has been used by the UK by more than a decade if not possibly two decades.

And that is that the court fee for a Commercial Court claim is linked, is tiered to the value of the claim. So, if the claim is $500,000, the fee is (I do not know) $500. But if the claim is $1 million, then the fee is maybe $5,000. It goes up sequentially. In the UK they use three tiers, beginning, middle and the high one. It goes without saying that because Bermuda is such a sophisticated offshore financial jurisdiction, the litigation that comes through our Commercial Court is usually, if not invariably, of a vast amount. And it would be very useful, I suggest, to our court system if we, given the effort that our court staff . . . and the acting Registrar was in the Chamber earlier today. But the effort that our court staff give, 110 per cent, 24/7, to some of these mammoth commercial cases that make their way through the system, it would be appropriate and fair and reasonable for the fees to be tiered so that the larger commercial cases that demand people's attention charge higher fees and that those court fees generate greater revenue for the court and that that revenue can support our Family Court, our Family and Matrimonial Court.

It is a matter I raised with the previous Attorney General and indeed the Attorney General before that. And I raise it today with this Attorney General in the hopes that that very small tweak could be used to increase the revenue in our courts and to better support our perhaps underfunded Family and Matrimonial Court.

As to revenues, there is a projected increase of some of $482,000 in revenue since last year. And that is doubtless because of the introduction of the court fees that came through this Honourable House, I want to say last year but maybe it was two years ago, but in the recent history. And I will just make the point that with the tiered system that I have just outlined we could really do so much better in terms of our revenue. So, I invite the learned Attorney General to consider that opportunity and to take a look at how the UK does it. It is not complicated, and it really could greatly assist.

The Domestic Violence Court I think strictly falls in this head, although I did ask some questions under the previous head. But I would be grateful just to hear a little bit more as to the Domestic Violence Court and how that is progressing and when we feel that that will be ready and all of the bells and whistles going full steam ahead.

Madam Chairman, I think those are the questions I have under this head, the second head of the Judicial Department, [Head] 3. And I will sit for any other questions that anyone else may have.

The Chairman: Does any other Member wish to speak to Head 3, Judicial Department?

No.

Junior Minister, are you ready to answer the questions asked by MP Pearman?

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Thank you, Madam Chairman.

I will just go back to answer a few questions from the previous head. One was the reason behind the increase in the expenditure for the Financial Intelligence Agency. There is an employment of a new analyst who will assist with preparation for upcoming mutual evaluation assessments within the next two years. And then the other question was, Is the Minister of Justice satisfied with the pace of trial progress? The Ministry understands that for our clients, the pace will never be fast enough. But we acknowledge that challenges exist and continue to work toward addressing them. And then a question in regard to Legal Aid staffing. We do anticipate meeting the goal of assigning 90 per cent of Legal Aid cases to internal counsel, subject to exceptional circumstances.

And then with that, I will go on to [the Honourable Member's] questions under Head 3. In regard to the Commercial Courts, there were two assistant justices contracted with the Judicial Department who have conduct of matters in the civil and commercial jurisdiction of the Supreme Court. There is Assistant Justice D. Hugh Southey, I believe, and Justice Nicholas Segal. And assistant justices will continue having conduct of matters in the Civil and Commercial Courts on a case-by-case basis.

Your question regarding the Family and Matrimonial Court appointments . . . the Domestic Violence Court will be under the Senior Magistrate, and Family Court matters will still be subject to Family Court panels.

And your question with regard to traffic fines and consequences, I will just state before I provide an answer, as a former Road Safety Chairman, the response is, fines across the board will be subject to review as by the Law Reform Project. And I would say that that is much needed under my former head.

In regard to your question on the judgment awaiting Mr. Forde, the Chief Justice has been in consistent communication with Mr. Forde concerning the receipt of his ruling. And we are informed that Mr. Forde suffered a medical issue which had delayed provision of the rulings. And we are awaiting response to the Chief Justice in the most recent communication with Mr. Forde on the timing of that ruling.

And I am going to try to give this answer in regard to the probate backlog. The Probate Division has issued two circulars that provide an update on the probate backlog. The first was issued on August 21, 2024. The second was issued on February 21, 2025. The Judicial Department has met the goals set out in in the circular issued in February 2025, which indicated that all 2023 probate applications were to be actioned by the end of April 2025. We are now processing 2024 applications, and the aim is to have actioned all 2024 applications by the end of July 2025. The department would then be well placed to address applications filed in 2025 and thereafter. And there will be an update provided by way of a circular in May of 2025.

Additionally, the Judicial Department is seeking to restructure its organisational structure to introduce a second assistant registrar and an administrative officer for the Matrimonial and Probate Divisions. The assistant registrar has the authority to review applications and issue grants of probate. With the addition of these key roles, the Judicial Department will be in a position to provide increased attention to the applications filed in the Probate Division. And currently, there are two staff members dedicated to the Probate Division.

In regard to your question about Criminal Injuries, it has been moved to Ministry Headquarters under business unit 9700[0] under a separate heading.

And then in regard to the intentions of independence of the Judicial Department, the independence of the Judicial Department is critical, and a proposal from the Chief Justice is currently under consideration. However, no timeframe has been announced at this time.

I will take any further questions . . . hold on. And with regard to the Commercial Court fees, it is using a tiered system. The Attorney General has indicated that this is interesting and is worth taking your proposal under consideration. Any way that we can make money is a plus. However, a vast number of commercial cases are resolved by our arbitration.

In regard to the zero value on pages B-87 and B-88, the zero is an automated calculation error, as it multiplies the previous zero in the budget. But it should in fact be an increase. So that will stand to be corrected on that one.

In regard to the Domestic Violence Court, a new Domestic Abuse Task Force has been assembled. It [comprises] the Attorney General; the Ministry staff; Senior Magistrate responsible for the Court, Maxanne Anderson; and senior staff members in the Department of Court Services, including the staff psychologist; Department of Child and Family Services; and the police. The task force will be meeting this coming Thursday, and the Ministry will be provided with a full update. The task force will continue to meet as the court progresses and will provide feedback for ongoing, comprehensive domestic abuse reform.

An RFP was issued earlier this year for a service provider with experience specifically in rehabilitation for domestic abuse offenders. An announcement message of the chosen provider will be [released] in the coming weeks.

I will sit for any further questions.

[Mr. Christopher Famous, Chairman]

Mr. Scott Pearman: Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: Yes. Good afternoon.

The Chair recognises MP Scott Pearman.

Mr. Scott Pearman: Thank you, Mr. Chairman, and thank you to the Junior Minister and to the Attorney General for those fulsome answers. Just three quick follow-ups from the answers given.

One in relation to the probate. My understanding of the answer is that we have caught up 2025. We are now going back to 2024. I do not know if that means 2023 is outstanding or complete. But I would be grateful for clarity. That is on probate.

Secondly, the Junior Minister clarified that there is in fact an error here with the Budget Book. I think that error is pages B-87 and B-88. And I would be grateful for an addenda at some future point in time, not today.

And thirdly, just arising from that, the answer in relation to where the Criminal Injuries Compensation Board 1300 has gone, I think was that it is now under Headquarters, B-80, under line item 9700[0] Administration if I understood the answer correctly. (Is that right?) Yes. I am told by the Honourable Junior Minister that it has been rolled into Administration. All right. So, thank you for those answers.

Turning now to questions on the third head of the six heads identified. And I know that on this head some of my colleagues have some additional questions, and I yield to them . . . No, I'm sorry, not on this one.

Mr. Scott Pearman: So, the third head is Attorney General's Chambers, Head 4. And I would be grateful, Mr. Chairman. I think I have got about 30–35 minutes left in the debate. Does that sound about right? Or is it a little bit longer?

The Chairman: You have approximately 40 minutes left.

Mr. Scott Pearman: Forty minutes, excellent. Thank you.

The Chairman: Four-zero.

Mr. Scott Pearman: Great.

So, in relation to Head 4, this is the Attorney General's Chambers, again this sort of headline issue based upon page B-78, which is the overview of the entire department. If you just look there in relation to the Attorney General's Chambers, it is going up $1.35 million versus last year, and it is going up about $2 million versus the 2023/24 actuals. And again, as before, we have five of these ministries going up and the one in relation to Corrections going down about $2 million. And my understanding in relation to the Attorney General's Chambers is again the reason for the $2 million circa increase from 2023—$1.35 million versus last year—is largely driven by salary increases. But I would be grateful for clarification on that if I am mistaken.

And my question in relation to the Attorney General's Chambers is, Are there any unfilled senior counsel posts? I know that the unfilled senior counsel posts were an issue over the last year or two. And I am just wondering if those posts (plural) are now sufficiently filled? Whilst I am there, I note that the Honourable Junior Minister thanked the new Solicitor General, Shakira Dill-Francois. Let me do the same. I think she was acting. And I think probably toward the summer or perhaps it was the fall, she became the formal Solicitor General. So at least let me congratulate her on her confirmation in her role from [before] (I believe, although she had been acting for some time). But let me offer my formal congratulations on the floor of the House to Ms. Dill-Francois.

In terms of the vacancies, the Honourable Junior Minister very candidly admitted that there are, I believe he said five vacancies in the legal drafting team. And if I invite the Ministry and the Attorney General and the Junior Minister and indeed the Chair to turn to page B-93, which shows us the business unit for Legislative Drafting, 14030, we see in the first item the number of Bills drafted and passed by the Legislature to give effect to the Government's legislative agenda. And the actual number of Bills was a staggering 29 in 2023, forecast to be 35 last year, but was down to 30. Again, we have a target outcome of 30.

So, I am just asking . . . and again it is not a criticism; it is a question. But if we are seeking a more, or at least as ambitious, legislative agenda as we had in the past, if a slightly more ambitious in the sense of one Bill greater, but you still have five vacancies of drafting counsel. What is the plan? And I say the next comment not necessarily for those who are in the Ministry, but for the benefit of the listening public. There are lawyers, we were talking about them earlier. But those who are parliamentary draftsmen and draftswomen, or drafters, are a relatively rare breed and are very hard to come by. They are also very hard to come by to get the good ones. Because the good ones go off to the jurisdictions that pay more than we do and always will pay more than we do, frankly.

So, given that that is the position, what plans are afoot not only to hire, but really to try to deal with the risk that the Attorney General's Chambers becomes a kind of bottleneck to the progression of the important legislation that this Chamber needs to deal with? And again, I make the point that it is not a criticism on my part. It is merely a question of the pragmatic reality that appears to be faced here.

Mr. Chairman, those are my few questions on the Attorney General's Chambers. And I think if this is a convenient moment, I will take my seat in case anyone else has questions on the Attorney General's Chambers or indeed the Junior Minister has some answers. Thank you.

The Chairman: For the benefit of the listening public, we are now in Committee of Supply for further consideration of the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for the year 2025/26. We are debating the Ministry of Justice.

Do we have anyone else who wishes to ask any questions?

The Chair recognises Honourable Member Smith from constituency 31.

Ms. Linda Smith: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

I just had one additional question with respect to the reply that has been given. The Criminal Injury Compensation which is now not its own line item, but is part of the HQ budget, it was allocated previously $200,000. Is that still the case, or do we know what that is? Thank you.

The Chairman: The Chair recognises the Honourable Member Scott Pearman from constituency 22.

Mr. Scott Pearman: Thank you, Mr. Chairman. And I am afraid that I sat down a little too quickly. I had one last question on the Attorney General's Chambers, which I failed to put.

And that is at page B-91 under General Summary and in relation to the topic of Debt Collection, which was 14050. And we see that there is going to be an increased amount for the debt collection by the internal team. Debt Collection was of course outsourced by the Government with some consideration debate around that. And I am not going to go there. But regardless of the debate and the company and the registration and all of that, I think one thing that could be fairly said about it is that the debt collection agency (or non-agency) was rather successful in getting money. So, I guess my question is this: Are there plans to outsource again or not? Or is the debt collection going to be left to this department?

Appreciating that there are specific priorities of this debt collection department in relation to taxation, the tax commissioner, land tax, et cetera. So that was my final question on this Head 4, Attorney General's Chambers. Thank you.

The Chairman: Thank you.

The Chair recognises Junior Minister Dennis Lister III.

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

I just want to go back just to clarify the response on regard to the probate. You did ask [about] 2023. So as of now, all of 2023 probates have been actioned. And as I said, we are now working on processing 2024 applications, hopefully to have them all actioned by July of this year. And then going forward, we will be up to date and working on 2025 applications.

Under Head 4, question: Are there any other unfilled senior counsel posts? Yes. There are two deputy solicitor posts in the Civil Advisory section of Chambers, but they will be filled shortly as we are currently at the interview stage.

The question [from] MP Smith in regard to Criminal Injuries Compensation: Is the figure the same? No, it has increased to $250 an hour.

And question regarding the vacancies of drafting counsel and a plan to hire and mitigate bottlenecks, the Attorney General says a recruitment drive for talented staff is underway for Bermudian overseas applicants. Sixty persons have applied for five posts: Deputy CPC, parliamentary counsel, temporary additional parliamentary counsel and assistant parliamentary counsel from 20 Commonwealth jurisdictions. And the recruitment process is underway.

And in regard to debt collection, there were no plans to outsource debt collection. As indicated, there are plans to hire two additional juniors to this unit.

And those are all of the responses for the questions that I had.

The Chairman: Thank you, Junior Minister.

The Chair recognises Honourable Member Scott Pearman.

Mr. Scott Pearman: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

One question following up from that that was asked by my colleague to my right, just in terms of the post, the parliamentary draftsmen then post the five vacancies. I was not sure if any of those was Chief Parliamentary Draftsman. I do not think so. No. I see a shake of the head from the Attorney General. So, no, none of them was the Chief Parliamentary Draftsman. No doubt MP Fahy was considering his options.

[Laughter]

Mr. Scott Pearman: But there we go.

Yes. So the next head of six is Court Services, which is . . . Excuse me, one second.

[Crosstalk]

The Chairman: For the benefit of the listening public, we are now in the Committee of Supply for further consideration of the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for the year 2025/26. We are debating the Ministry of Justice. The Honourable Member Scott Pearman is leading a robust debate.

[Laughter]

Mr. Scott Pearman: If only. If only.

One of my colleagues has asked in relation to the answer given for debt collection in the previous head, Head 4, whether there is an idea of how much debt in total we are seeking to collect. And I pass that question on on his behalf since I am on my feet already.

Whilst that is being considered, I was moving on to Court Services, which is Head 74. For those looking in the bundles, page B-98, (B as in Bravo) 98. The headline here again looking back to the page that gives the overview of the entire Ministry, at page B-78, the headline for this line item, the Department of Court Services, is effectively that this spending is going up about half a million versus last year's budget, and up $1.25 million versus the 2023/24 actuals. Again, my understanding is that this is largely driven by salary increases. Again, if I am wrong in that understanding, I would be grateful for clarification as to where any non-salary-related extra spending is anticipated to be applied. But it is my understanding is that it is mostly on salaries, given the brief presented by the Junior Minister.

At page B-99, which is under this head, we see employee numbers. And an area that is near and dear is that of Probation Services at 84010 in a box at the bottom of page B-99. And I see there that the five posts are now anticipated to reduce to four. Firstly, I guess the question is, Were the five filled? Is the fourth going to be filled or are the four going to be filled? But second and more relevant, I think, is in terms of the performance measures for that unit, which can be seen over to page B-100, we see under Probation Services, business unit 84010 at the top of the page there, that the first performance measure is percentage of cases receiving a final risk assessment during the final month of supervision.

Now, the actual outcome percentage-wise was 75 per cent in 2023/24. But the target outcome on the righthand-side box is more ambitious. It is 85 per cent for the coming fiscal year. It was 75 per cent last year. So, we are setting ourselves a more ambitious target outcome in relation to what Probation Services will achieve in terms of risk assessments at the very least, whilst at the same time the posts are being decreased, or at least if those posts are in fact staffed and filled, they appear to be being decreased. So that seems a little bit of a contradiction, and I welcome some clarification on that.

Again, back to the Domestic Violence Court, which is probably the showpiece of the current Attorney General and this Ministry in terms of where things are going. There was discussion in the brief by the Honourable Junior Minister of a pilot agency regarding electronic monitoring devices. Now with my apologies, this is the first I have heard of this. I had not picked up on this pilot scheme prior to today's brief. And if I should have done, I do apologise, but I had not seen that referenced anywhere. And given that I had not clocked that before, I would just like to ask a few very high-level questions about the Junior Minister's description of the fact that those who are accused or found guilty of domestic violence will be wearing a monitoring device, I assume, because we are told that the victim will be told when that person, the abuser, is in the (quote) "immediate vicinity" (unquote).

So, I would like a little bit more information from the Honourable Junior Minister and the Ministry about that. How is that intended to work? I mean, we live on a very small island. So, I guess my first question would be, what does "immediate vicinity" mean? Or if it does not have a specific meaning yet, what is it likely to mean? How close would this person be before alarm bells go off?

And is there . . . how do I put this? Is there an anticipated threshold where an abuser is obliged to wear this versus an abuser who is not obliged to wear this? And if there is a threshold for abusers who do wear the monitoring devices and abusers who do not, how is that threshold going to be adjudicated? Is that something for the Domestic Violence Court to determine? Would that be in the discretion of the judge or the magistrate? I think it is going to be under the magistrate. How is that going to work? But I would be very grateful for a little bit of answering around that.

And as indicated previously, I have another colleague, and I will yield to MP King on the area of Court Services. Thank you.

The Chairman: Good afternoon.

The Chair recognises MP King of constituency 10, Smith's North.

Mr. Robert King: Thank you.

I might be able to offer some assistance regarding the requirement for electronic monitoring as it relates to domestic violence.

The Chairman: MP King, you are asking questions. You are not—

Mr. Robert King: No, no, no. It is okay, it is okay. Do not worry, I will get myself together.

Regarding the Senior Probation Officer who used to deliver the sex offender programme of violent offender, he is right here. So, when I came into this House, that is why they were one person less.

So, regarding the Department of Court Services, I have a question as relates to how many persons are currently under probation, parole, and in the Drug Treatment Court and Mental Health Treatment Court who are being serviced by the 38 officers at the department.

The Chairman: Any other questions, MP King?

Mr. Robert King: I do. Would you prefer I put all of the questions?

[Inaudible interjections]

Mr. Robert King: Okay, cool. I will go ahead and do that.

In terms of business unit 84040, Percentage of individuals who have been sent an appliance, receiving individual versus group, we do not actually have a number of the clients who are in groups or a receiving individual. I am wondering if you have access to that. That would be B-101.

This is a general question as it relates to intimate partner violence [IPV] and services and treatment for that population. What data have been used to support IPV treatment at the Department of Court Services in terms of numbers of persons, types of IPV to include stalking other otherwise? Because as it is right now, I am not seeing specific numbers in order to make an assessment.

I am looking at [business unit] 84060, percentage of reports utilising risk assessments. What is interesting about this is the reports that are being requested—social inquiry reports, BARC reports, Bermuda successful and referral reports, and other reports—they are all assessment reports. And the social inquiry report as well. All of the reports are presentence and/or substance use disorder and/or violence and sexual risk assessment reports. So essentially, all of the reports that come from Court Services when they are requested are risk assessments 100 per cent of the time. It is not one or the other.

Page B-101, Drug Treatment Court 84080. How many clients are actually in the Drug Treatment Court programme?

[In regard to] 84040, do you have a number of clients who actually completed treatment and reoffended? The percentage of suitably referred clients in treatment is a bit of an ambiguous category. And I am wondering if you can provide some clarification on that?

Probation, 84010, percentage of clients who committed new offences whilst in programme. In terms of the 20 per cent target, I am wondering how this target was arrived at in terms of, was it an arbitrary percentage or was it based on best practice? I am just wondering how that was arrived at?

Electronic Monitoring Devices, 84070, percentage utilised, 80 per cent. Do you have a number in terms of the actual number of electronic monitoring devices that are currently being used? And two, what is the correlation between the use of the devices and reducing recidivism? In other words, we are using a technology with the express purpose of preventing a re-offence. How does that connect?

Page B-101, Court Services. Report writing, 294 for the year. That essentially works out at five reports per week in total for the team. So, at first blush it does not appear to be a good use of resources. That is why I would ask, What is the total number of clients under supervision? Thank you.

The Chairman: Thank you, MP King.

Does anyone else have any questions for the Junior Minister?

No.

For the benefit of the listening audience, we are now in Committee of Supply for further consideration of the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for the year 2025/26. We are debating the Ministry of Justice.

MP King has given a barrage of questions, and the Junior Minister shall reply.

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Thank you again, Mr. Chairman.

I do just want to jump back to Head 4 just to further answer the question in regard to debt collection and how much are we seeking to collect? The forecasted amount will be based on the cases referred to the office by Finance. It is difficult to provide an amount at this stage.

Now on Head 74, the question is, What non-cellular expenses can we expect? None because this is because of the cuts in salary from last year. In essence, we are filling substantive posts that remained unfilled.

The question in regard to the Domestic Violence Pilot Scheme, How will it work? The victim will have updates coming to their mobile device. Thresholds are under consideration, and the devices will be launched in conjunction with the Domestic Violence Court programme. And the vicinity will be determined based on the contact limitations and any protection order or bail condition.

In regard to how many devices, there are a total of 32 devices and four spares. And in regard to how many are being used right now, I will have to get that answer to you.

While I wait for further answers, if there are any other questions, I will open up to any other questions.

The Chairman: The Chair recognises MP Scott Pearman, Shadow Minister of the Ministry of Justice.

Mr. Scott Pearman: Thank you very much, Mr. Chairman. So, we are waiting on some of the answers in relation to Court Services, including my question in the Probation Services and the number of questions by MP King.

While we do, I think we have got about 20 minutes or so to run. So, I will move on to the fifth of the six heads, namely, the Department of Public Prosecutions.

The Honourable Junior Minister said in his brief that the term of the Director of Public Prosecutions [DPP] is due to come up in December 2025. I had not appreciated that it was coming up that soon. Time runs away with us.

But let me take the opportunity to commend her. I do not know what the situation will be in December 2025 in relation to the DPP. But I know that she has certainly put in some vigorous effort in difficult circumstances since her appointment some time ago, obviously.

In terms of the DPP, again this sort of overarching view going back to page B-78 and the page that gives the Ministry of Justice overview. For the Department of Public Prosecutions, what we see is that spending is going up over a quarter-million versus last year (last year's budgeted figure anyway) and approximately $1.1 million versus the 2023/24 actuals. Again, my understanding is that is mostly expenditure on salaries, and again if I am wrong and not understanding, no doubt the Junior Minister or the Ministry will kindly point out where other expenditure is anticipated to be allocated.

Just a point of clarification, the Junior Minister when he was giving his brief—and forgive me. Let me just grab my note of it. But he said that the Ministry amounts to less than 3.0 per cent of the overall budget. I think that might be an old sentence left over from a prior budget speech in years past. Because if one looks at page C-39 of the Budget Book, it is at 4.2 per cent; if you look at page B-78 it is actually expressed as 5.0 per cent at the bottom there, in Expenditure at the bottom. So I would be grateful for clarification. I anticipate that the number at page C-39, which is 4.2 per cent, is the correct figure, not less than three. But anyway, perhaps it is neither here nor there.

Also, and this was the 43 per cent number that we raised previously. And I appreciate that this department is under the DPP and only under the Ministry in a titular way. But one of the things that did raise eyebrows when it was presented was the point I made earlier about 43 per cent was spent on consultants to support the department in specific cases where legal conflict arose. So, I guess that is probably 43 per cent of budget rather than 43 per cent of cases where there is conflict. But I would be grateful if the Junior Minister is in a position to clarify that. Just because 43 per cent of conflict in all cases sounds awfully high. So anyway, maybe the Junior Minister is in a position to clarify why that is. And it may well not be as well.

At page B-105, this is under the performance measures for the Department of Public Prosecutions, a question arose as to (at the very bottom under Witness Care Unit) number of victim impact statements, was only at 60 in 2023. And it is now anticipated to decrease this year. Just curious why that would be if we do not see a downward trend in the number of cases coming through the system. Or indeed perhaps it is indicative that we do see a downward trend in the number of cases coming through the system. But I would just pose those questions in relation to the Department of Public Prosecutions, Head 75, appreciating that some of those answers may well be in the hand of the DPP herself and not in the hand of the Honourable and Learned Attorney General in the Chamber today.

Mr. Chairman, I propose to sit down, perhaps hear the answers for Head 74. And if need be, I can go on to questions that I have in relation to the final head, Corrections, Head 25.

The Chairman: Thank you, Honourable Member.
Honourable Junior Minister.

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Before I answer those, I just do want to go back to Head 3 just to provide a response to one of the questions from MP Pearman in relation to the expansion or contractions of the number of judges in Criminal Court. There are two judges appointed to the Criminal Court, Justice Juan Wolffe and Justice Alan Richards. And the court historically has had two judges appointed to the courts, and there are no plans to expand the appointment of judges to the Criminal Court at this time.

And then just as a follow-up under Head 74, in regard to the electronic monitoring devices, as I said there are 32 with four spares. All 32 are being utilised at this time, actually all 36 including the four spares. And the question follow-up was, What is the correlation in use of devices in reducing recidivism? Devices are not necessarily used for the purposes of reducing recidivism, but to monitor a parolee's adherence to their parole conditions.

And then under Head 75, in regard to your point of clarification on the less than 3 per cent of the budget, we can agree it is an error. And the 43 per cent of conflict, 43 per cent of the remaining 12 per cent of our budget that is not spent on salaries. So, it not the cases; it is on budget.

And in regard to the performance measures, the question, Why will impact statements decrease? It reflects the downward trend in victims' wishing to participate in the sentencing portion of cases. There is an increase in the number of cases where the prosecutor provides a victim impact statement as is allowed in the Criminal Code.

And I will take a seat and let you get in a few more questions for the last head.

The Chairman: Thank you, Junior Minister.

The Chair recognises Honourable Scott Simmons [sic] with his last few questions for the Ministry of Justice—

Mr. Scott Pearman: Pearman. Pearman.

The Chairman: Sorry.

[Inaudible interjections]

The Chairman: Just checking to make sure you are awake.

Mr. Scott Pearman: We are, barely.

The Chairman: This debate is due to end in the next 12 minutes.

Mr. Scott Pearman: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. Chairman, I am now moving on to the final head of the six heads presented under this Ministry or at least in this debate today, namely, Head 25 involving the Department of Corrections.

And, Mr. Chairman, before you took your chair, when Madam Chairman was in the Chair, I had explained that the one head is completely new to me. So, I may have some questions that are a little more blindingly obvious than they should be. But let me pose them, nonetheless.

The Chairman: Where is this found? Page?

Mr. Scott Pearman: Page B-94, ninety-four. Head 25.

The Chairman: Okay. Thank you.

Mr. Scott Pearman: So, the headline here, again by reference to the overarching page for the Ministry, which is B-78, is that we have 26077 revised and 26787 actuals in 2023/24. So, against the actuals, it is about a $2 million decline.

And I guess my question here is really a bit of a philosophical one. Why does the Ministry believe that some $2 million, at least against 2023, is able to be saved in Corrections given what the actuals were? Is this a bit of a hope and a prayer? Or really will it be achieved? And if it is not a hope and a prayer, if it is going to be achieved, where are the $2 million in budget cuts in Corrections actually going to come from? And I would just like to point out that at pages B-94 and B-95, if we look at the Salaries box on the right-hand side at page B-95, there are savings of $1.4 million. So that is not a small number in salaries savings. I appreciate that.

Then there a whole series of numbers which pretty much eat away at that because they are all increases. So, the net savings down from $1.4 [million] is approximately a million dollars of savings in that box on page B-95. But if you look over at the other page, we are projecting $1.84 [million], or just [under] $2 million, against actuals. So, there is a considerable discrepancy between the million at the bottom of the box on page B-95 and the [$]1.8 million, [$]2-plus million [on] page B-94. So, in this particular instance, I do ask for further clarity as to how this is going to be achieved, because it is clearly not all salaries as we saw with many of the other ministries. So that is one overarching question in relation to Corrections.

The other overarching question is, I would be interested to hear the Ministry's or the Minister's or the Attorney General's or indeed the Junior Minister's rationale as to why Corrections is being moved out of National Security in the first place and is being moved over to the Attorney General's Chambers. I think that there would be some who would question the logic behind that. I anticipate that there are some points that might be made in favour of such a move. But I anticipate there are some points that might be made against such a move. And I am just asking what the particular rationale or rationales (plural) are for the move in the first place.

Turning to a slightly more specific issue, if we go to Capital Acquisitions at page C-10, there is reference here under the Corrections to a not-inexpensive security system. And almost three-quarters of a million has been spent on a security system. We can see that in the middle—it is down at the bottom of the page. It is under 76643, the fourth line item up from the bottom of page C-10. So, $698,000, almost three-quarters of a million, on the security system, which has been revised down by more than two-thirds to only $223 million in the revision. So again, these are the numbers. But originally someone was going to spend three-quarters of a million-ish, $700,000-odd. And now they are only going to spend $223[,000]. And then this year coming, if we look to the right, it is zero.

So, I guess my question is, Could someone please explain this a little bit better? Did the security system get severely curtailed over at the Department of Corrections? Or was there a reason why the intended allocation became such a lesser amount? Is it completed, which is why we have gone to zero? Or was it a budgetary constraint that has driven us to zero? And we will now see the next step with more spending at a later stage? I do note in passing that there is a reference in the line item above to [$]235,000 in relation to the CCTV. And I guess my question again—forgive me for very obvious questions—How was the security system (about which we have very little information, or I have very little information) different from the CCTV system? And additionally, there was reference in the brief by the Honourable Junior Minister to an audio system . . . I am not using the correct word, but it was an audio system or it was some sort of—

[Inaudible interjection]

Mr. Scott Pearman: Okay. Well, I am grateful to know the Junior Minister does not remember the precise word either, so I am okay on that one for a minute. But it was some sort of audio system to monitor each cell as I understood it.

So those are three overarching questions that I have about Corrections. The first one, where are the cuts coming from, in addition to the salary cuts? Two, why are we moving it? And three, what is going on with the security system?

I am mindful of the time, and I would love to get the answers, so let me just quickly point out two or three more questions I have. In terms of refurbishment in Corrections, if we quickly turn to page C-4 we see, right in the middle of the page under Ministry of Justice Corrections, 75227, Prisons Refurbishment, we see an initial $3.0 million. But of that, it looks like there is still $1.75 million to spend that has not been spent. And the zeroes to the right of that suggest that it will not be spent. Likewise, there was a $650,000 allocation for plumbing, and it seems like only $250,000 of that has been spent, suggesting that $400,000, again because of the zeroes, will not be spent. So my fourth question in relation to Corrections, given the time available, would be if some clarity can be given?

And by the way, the word I was trying to come up with is intercom. And I am grateful that the Junior Minister has come up with it at the same time as me.

So, I will take my seat. I do have further questions, but we may not have sufficient time.

The Chairman: Thank you, Honourable Scott Pearman.

Junior Minister.

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

In my short few minutes left, I will try to catch as many answers as possible. But I do want to go back to in regard to Domestic Violence and the data being used to assess numbers of persons. Because of how persons are charged, not all domestic violence situations are charged as such. Those numbers will need to be determined before we invest in Domestic Violence Units.

Getting to questions under this head, What is the rationale for moving Corrections from National Security to the Ministry of Justice? The rationale is strategic focus on restorative justice, which is more suitably aligned to the Ministry of Justice. Security system has been reduced to zero. The system is being upgraded using a phased approach to effectively manage resources. The security system was started in 2024/25, Black Creek. The remaining balance for Black Creek will be carried forward to 2025/26 as the project will be completed in the current fiscal year. And there was not a request in 2025/26. Funding was to be carried forward in the 2025/26 budget for the completion of the Black Creek project.

How is the security system different from CCTV? The Black Creek system was first installed in 1994 when Westgate opened. It has undergone various small upgrades but has required a substantive upgrade for some time and for the current upgrade.

And CCTV is specifically a camera and video recording system that tie into the Black Creek system.

And in regard to why does the Ministry of Justice think $2 million can be saved in Corrections? The majority of savings comes from salaries, understanding that through natural attrition of resignations and retirements of higher-level staff. The new staff being hired will be at a lower entry rate. So that is where the savings can be made in regard to hiring at a lower staff rate pay scale. As I try to answer one final question in my time, back to the electronic monitoring devices, 10 of those units are also being used to provide 24-hour monitoring of clients who are at high risk.

And before the time is up, I would like to ask if there are any more questions.

The Chairman: There is no more time for questions.

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Okay, no more question time.

Mr. Scott Pearman: We have a minute and a half.

[Laughter]

Mr. Scott Pearman: With your leave, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: I will be generous today.

Mr. Scott Pearman: Thank you, Mr. Chairman. That's very kind.

I had a number of questions about the educational programme for prisoners. I will not pose those questions. What I will do instead is simply say, would the Ministry be prepared to extend an invitation to Members of the Opposition to visit those programmes and learn a bit more about them?

The Chairman: You want to visit Westgate?

Mr. Scott Pearman: Yes.

The Chairman: Okay. All right.

[Laughter]

Mr. Dennis Lister III: I will leave the answer to that question up to the Attorney General. But with the remaining time, or as the time has expired, I would first like to thank all of the staff of the Ministry of Justice, those present here and those who are at their offices for all of the work they have done. I want to thank the listening public for taking the time to listen to the budget being presented from the Ministry of Justice by myself on behalf of the Attorney General.

Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: For the benefit of the listening audience, we have just concluded the budget debate on the Ministry of Justice. Junior Minister Dennis Lister III has given stalworth answers and he is now going to move his heads.

Mr. Dennis Lister III: Yes, cannot forget that part.

Mr. Chairman, I would like to move that Heads 87, 3, 4, 25, 74 and 75 be approved as printed. Thank you.

The Chairman: It has been moved that Heads 87, 3, 4, 25, 74 and 75 be approved.

Are there any objections to that motion?

No objections.

Agreed to. Thank you.

[Motion carried: The Ministry of Justice, Heads, 87, 3, 4, 25, 74 and 74 were approved and stand part of the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for the year 2025/26.]

The Chairman: Honourable Members, we are now in Committee of Supply for further consideration of the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for the year 2025/26 and I call upon the Minister of Home Affairs to proceed.

Minister Alexa Lightbourne, you have the floor.

MINISTRY OF HOME AFFAIRS

Hon. Alexa Lightbourne: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

I move that the following heads, Head 93, Ministry of Home Affairs Headquarters; Head 89, Energy; and Head 97, Land Title Registration, be now taken under consideration.

The Chairman: You may proceed.

Hon. Alexa Lightbourne: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

It is my privilege to present the 2025/26 Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for the Ministry of Home Affairs. These estimates cover Head 93, Ministry Headquarters; Head 89, Department of Energy; and Head 97, the Land Title Registration Office. I will speak to each head in turn.

The Ministry of Home Affairs is charged with key responsibilities impacting those living and working in Bermuda and in presenting these estimates I reaffirm our commitments to delivering inclusive people-centred policies, advancing legislative reform, and ensuring transparent sustainable governance across all sectors under our remit.

HEAD 93—MINISTRY OF HOME AFFAIRS HEAD-QUARTERS

Hon. Alexa Lightbourne: Head 93, the Ministry Headquarters, Mr. Chairman, leads the strategic direction policy development and coordination of activities across the departments under the Ministry's remit. For the 2025/26 fiscal year our priorities reflect the Government's broader objectives of affordability, modernisation and regional engagement. These include strengthening consumer protection, modernising key legislation, reducing the cost of living, supporting energy reform, advancing consultation to advance policy development, particularly with CARICOM membership for this upcoming year.

The Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for Head 93, Ministry of Home Affairs, can be found on pages B-308 to B-312; C-8, C-16 and C-22 of the 2025/26 Budget Book.

Mr. Chairman, Head 94 encompasses two business units, Administration and Consumer Affairs. Notably, Consumer Affairs now has been integrated into the Ministry of Home Affairs headquarters supporting a unified approach to consumer-focused policy in alignment with regulatory oversight. The mission of the Ministry headquarters is: To develop consumer-focused policies and legislation addressing affordability, consumer protection, and sustainability through transparent, fair and effective regulation.

To fulfil its mission the Ministry Headquarters has defined the following strategic objectives: Direct, coordinate and enhance the performance of departments and sections under the Ministry's remit to ensure streamline operations and the impactful results; provide comprehensive support across legislative policy, administrative financial and logistical areas to improve the efficiency and effectiveness of the Ministry Headquarters and its affiliated departments; ensure equity in the rental relationship by reforming the Landlord and Tenant Act and domestic properties Rent Increases (Domestic Premises) [Control] Act [1978; to introduce clear regulatory policies that promote fair treatment of both landlord and tenants; strengthen consumer protection through enhanced public education and the development of fair and enforceable legislation that safeguards consumer rights; complete public consultation and stakeholder engagement on CARICOM membership, followed by a delivery of a Green Paper for Cabinet's consideration ensuring that Bermuda's progress aligns with all of the interests of the relative stakeholders; [and] promote transparency, consistency and fairness within regulatory sectors through continued collaboration with the Regulatory Authority.

To deliver effectively on these national priorities, the Ministry Headquarters will implement a defined framework that is informed by the 2025 Throne Speech, the 2025 Budget Statement and the Government's commitment to [digitise] 93 per cent of eligible public services by 2026.

There are five pillars which have formed the strategic developments which include policy development. The Ministry will lead integrated cross-sectoral policies to promote affordability, access equity across regulated and unregulated markets, with key focus areas including electricity policy to advance grid modernisation, expand renewable energy integration and ensure fair, sustainable cost structures, broadcasting policies to modernise licensing and content standards to reflect the evolving media consumption, electronic communications policy to ensure equitable access to telecommunication and digital services, consumer protection policy to strengthen enforcement, legislative reform, and public education to uphold consumer rights, fuel policies to improve pricing transparency, supply chain resilience and energy security.

Additionally, policies specifically to address the cost of living will include reforms targeting affordability and fairness in everyday life. This includes the Landlord and Tenant Act and Domestic Premises Act, which will amend rent control ensuring equitable treatment of tenants and landlords and improved dispute resolution frameworks.

The Electricity Act revisions will support renewable technology adoption while securing equitable cost sharing for residential and commercial users. Consumer protection policies and laws will be developed to combat unfair pricing, deceptive trade practices and predatory behaviours.

The Ministry Headquarters will enhance consumer safety and market integration through the following actions: Product investigations and enforcement measures. Product investigations will assess safety and quality standards of goods and services and enforcement measures will seek to review the provisions under the Consumer Protection Act 1999 and related laws to issue alerts and initiate legal action for non-compliance.

Additionally, through targeted oversight of unregulated sectors, policy reforms and efforts will focus on supporting vulnerable consumers subject to unfavourable terms. This includes online retail platforms, used vehicles sales with a view to closing policy and enforcement gaps.

Bermuda's progression towards full CARICOM membership will proceed via a phased consultative process. To date, the Government has conducted preliminary stakeholder engagement and awaits a reply from the secretariat regarding the draft membership agreement.

During the fiscal year 2025/26, we will further engage with the secretariat and confirm any associated costs. We will launch public education and consultation process and additionally assess any feasibility that needs to be confirmed. Following, we will prepare a comprehensive Green Paper for further consideration by the Cabinet and the public.

In collaboration with the Regulatory Authority, the Ministry will advance legislative amendments to the Regulatory Authority Act 2011 to enhance adjudication, expand enforcement capabilities and clarify the Authority's jurisdiction committed to in the 2025 Throne Speech. This will permit transparent, accountable and fair market conduct across regulated sectors including electricity, fuels, telecommunications and broadcasting.

In support of the Government's goal to digitise 93 per cent of eligible services by 2026 the Ministry will prioritise transformation of key platforms including a Consumer Affairs portal for digital submissions and the Land Title Registry system enhancements integrating AI to improve land title application processing. These reforms are expected to reduce processing times, improve transparency and efficiency, and enhance overall user experience.

All platforms will adhere strictly to Bermuda's cybersecurity data protection standards in coordination with the Department of Information and Digital Technologies. This reflects our commitment to modernisation, fairness and service excellence. Through oversight and consumer protections, the Ministry Headquarters will continue to deliver its part in the promise of a fairer Bermuda.

Mr. Chairman, as outlined on page B-310 of the 2025/26 Current Account Estimates, the Ministry Headquarters has been allocated $3,584,000 for this fiscal year. This allocation represents a significant change due to our operational landscape by integrating the Consumer Affairs section into the Ministry's Headquarters. This further aligns to the overarching mandate of lowering the cost of living as informed by both the Throne Speech and ministerial appointments. This repositioning recognises that consumer rights, regulatory coherence and affordability must be coordinated uniformly. This alignment therefore enables the Ministry to respond more effectively to the pressures facing everyday Bermudians, particularly those related to cost of living, market fairness and public protection.

The integration of Consumer Affairs has increased our staffing and public-facing responsibilities.

This equips the Ministry Headquarters to lead with greater impact in reform, modernisation and digital transformation.

Mr. Chairman, subjective analysis of the 2025/26 Current Account Estimates can be found on page B-310 and represents our resource needs aligned to our strategic uses. Line 8, Professional Services, an increase of approximately $806,000 has been allocated under Professional Services. This item will support specialised technical expertise critical to the Ministry's wide ranging priorities and are essential to meeting the commitments outlined in the 2025 Throne Speech.

Specifically, they will support advisory services including the Landlord and Tenant and Domestic Premises (Rent Control) Act reforms, the Regulatory Authority and Electricity Act reforms, in addition to strengthening consumer protection legislation to address unfair pricing, deceptive practices and emerging risks in both regulated and unregulated markets. These services will also support specialised CARICOM membership advisory through exploring both the legal and economic impacts as Bermuda's phased approach towards full CARICOM membership. These services will also support energy affordability frameworks putting into practices cost of living strategies and energy pricing mechanisms that prioritise household stability and commercial sustainability.

Additionally, this allocation supports any digital transformation consultancy to improve internal systems, integrate data analytics and modernise consumer complaint portals, reducing processing times for licensing investigations and public outreach. A separate additional $77,000 is allocated under consultants, line 8, to retain specialised legal expertise in international trade sectors specific telecommunications and energy regulations and the legal interpretation of any further CARICOM obligations. These consultations will be commissioned on an as-needed basis to address any impact or high-risk areas related to advancement.

It is important to note, Mr. Chairman, that these amounts are separate from the operational expenditures associated with Consumer Affairs as the operational costs for delivering these extended services are captured under two primary categories: Consumer Affairs Operational Expenses, which supports the licensing administration, complaint resolution, public education and field investigations, and the core Ministry Headquarter costs which include executive policy development, legislative drafting, stakeholder engagement and licensing reform administration.

Line 1, Salaries. The salaries allocation has been increased by 102 per cent equivalent to $874,000. This increase accounts for the BPS [Bermuda Police Service] new negotiated salary adjustments and the transfer of eight Consumer Affairs staff into the Ministry's Headquarters payroll structure.

The creation of new posts also has been set to meet regulatory demands including the business liaison officer [fees] under the Ministry Headquarters Consumer Affairs business unit.

Line 15, Grants and Contributions: Members will note a decrease of $80,000 in grants and contributions reflected in this year's budget following the transfer of environmental programme funding to the newly formed Ministry of Public Works and Environment.

Across lines 7, 9, 10, 11 and 12, Operational Cost, an increase of $128,000 across operating lines represent a 175 per cent increase. These increases cover rent and facilities costs stemming from the relocation of the Consumer Affairs section to the [D.] Rego building, utilities and telecom services to support both new and existing staff, enhance administrative resources to manage growing volumes of public interface and inter-ministerial coordination. These operational investments ensure that the Ministry Headquarters can perform efficiently, delivering timely services, and maintain compliance with the evolving public sector standards.

Mr. Chairman, this budget as presented positions the Ministry Headquarters to deliver more equitable landlord/tenant relationships, protect the public from unfair pricing and exploitive practices, modernise licensing and enforcement across key sectors and accelerate digital services to improve everyday experience of the people that we serve.

Revenue: Mr. Chairman, the revenue summary is located on page B-311 of the 2025/26 Current Account Estimates. For the upcoming fiscal year, the Ministry Headquarters projects a revenue generation of $4,000. This revenue is derived solely from the licensing of two debt collection agencies, each of which is subject to a licensing fee of $2,000 under the oversight of Consumer Affairs. The Consumer Affairs section which supports the debt collection licensing is designed to protect families, workers and tenants from unfair and unsafe products, misleading practices and unregulated exploitation. In the upcoming fiscal year Consumer Affairs will continue to execute a strong, visible enforcement mandate, one that directly supports the Government's broader priorities of cost-of-living relief, affordability and modernisation.

For 2025/26, Consumer Affairs aims to conduct approximately 2,000 product investigations across the local marketplace. And while this ambitious but necessary target reflects the enhanced enforcement capabilities, following its formal integration to the Ministry Headquarters it will also be supported by its personnel whose purpose is to intercept unsafe, substandard, deceptive or illegally traded goods before they reach the consumers. The investigation programme is underpinned by three operational pillars.

The Chairman: Please hold, Honourable Minister.

For the benefit of the listening audience, we are now in Committee of Supply for further consideration of the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for the year 2025/26. Heads 93, 89 and 97 are being read off by Minister Alexa Lightbourne.

Please proceed, Minister.

Hon. Alexa Lightbourne: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

The investigation programme is underpinned by three key operational pillars, risk-based targeting and sectoral prioritisation by which Consumer Affairs will use risk-based enforcement methodology to focus resources on product categories most likely to pose health, safety and financial risk to the public. This includes electrical appliances, children's goods and toys, personal care items, and over-the-counter health and wellness products.

This targeted approach ensures that the Ministry is focused not only on compliance but on the prevention of harm. Investigations will be supported by proactive market inspection that includes retail inspection and audits of labelling practices, warranty and disclosures, and return refund policies. These tools will help identify trends and inform evidence-based interventions.

Consumer protection and legal support as part of the Ministry renewed focus will seek to safeguard the rights of consumers and provide legal mechanisms that underpin the consumer protection regime. This section of Consumer Affairs continues to serve as the frontline agency for consumer oversight empowered by key legislations to investigate and intervene where necessary.

With enhanced awareness, it is important to note that under the Consumer Protection Act 1999 the officers are authorised to conduct investigations into premises and seize unsafe goods or documentation and carry out tests for other purchases. Importantly section 21 makes it an offence to offer or supply products that fail to meet general safety standards, while sections 23 and 24 allow for the issuance of orders to prohibit the sale or distribution of unsafe goods.

This Act also addresses unfair business practices within section 12, making deceptive, misleading or exploitative conduct a punishable offence. Through the Sale of Goods Act 1978 consumers are further protected by the requirement that the goods be of merchantable quality, fit for purchase and as described. When those standards are not met consumers have a legal right to refund, repairs or replacements.

To enhance transparency and accountability the department will issue product recall notices, publish monthly bulletins on active investigations and an expand access to secure anonymous complaint submission portals. These measures work in tandem to increase public confidence and deter bad actors across these sectors. In this fiscal year we are committed to enhance enforcement to ensure fair trade, safe and informed marketplace for all Bermudian residents.

Mr. Chairman, the outputs of these include issuance of public advisories and safety alerts, product review recalls, and penalties for violations. These outcomes protect not only the consumers but legitimate businesses that operate within the law and uphold ethical trade practices. It is also important to emphasise that this work contributes directly to the Government's national priorities of affordability and cost relief, public health and safety, market regulation, consumer education and empowerment. This governance empowers those both living and working in Bermuda to protect themselves.

For the upcoming 2025/26 fiscal year Consumer Affairs will ensure that these outcomes will result in public advisories and that the enforcement actions will not only promote compliance but support education and ensure trading confidence in these practices. The manpower estimates, Mr. Chairman, for the Ministry Headquarters as outlined on page B-311 reflect a total of 16 full-time posts for the 2025/26 fiscal year. This represents an increase of eight positions following the recent integration of the Consumer Affairs and these positions have been aligned with the core objectives to advance legislative reform, digital service delivery, and expanding consumer education.

Under Capital Expenditure, Mr. Chairman, as outlined on pages C-8 and C-16 the Ministry Headquarters does not anticipate any capital assets purchased during 2025/26 fiscal year.

Under Grants and Contributions, Mr. Chairman, there are no formal grants or contributions allocated under the Ministry Headquarters for this reporting period.

Mr. Chairman, the department's performance measures are outlined on page B-312 for 2025/26 fiscal year. Headquarters is targeting 100 per cent completion of the initiatives assigned under the 2025 Throne Speech. These deliverables form a critical part of the Government's broader reform and modernisation agenda. Key output targets include legislative and regulatory reforms; introduction of the amendments to the Landlord and Tenant Act [and] Electricity Act to enhance energy affordability and reliability; amendments to the Regulatory Authority Act to clarify the mandate and improve sectoral governance; development of the CARICOM membership Green Paper; and implementation of cost-of-living mitigation strategies.

In tandem with these initiatives the Ministry is advancing digital transformation projects aligned at modernising the delivery of services within Consumer Affairs. As part of the Ministry's Headquarters commitment to strengthening public protection and regulatory transparency, I am pleased to report that the development is actively underway for a dedicated digital platform for Consumer Affairs. This initiative aligns with the Government's broader digitisation agenda and is being implemented as a standalone purpose-built system in support of the digital transformation priority for the Ministry.

The platform is being developed in collaboration with the Department of Information and Digital Technologies and is designed to deliver end-to-end service integration for both the public and internal regulatory teams. The platform objectives are designed to significantly modernise and centralise Consumer Affairs service deliveries and upon launch it will support key functions including electronic submission of consumer complaints, licensing applications, product investigation requests, and case management and resolution tracking. This approach reflects our commitment to financial prudence and technology agility. This platform is intended to be integrated by the end of the fiscal period.

Once operational it will yield significant operational gains and public service enhancements including reduction of processing times for complaints and investigations, allow for task prioritisation and streamlined review of these processes, improved work-flow transparency and real-time case status updates for both internal officers and members of the public, and will provide centralised records and case histories supporting faster resolution and improved continuity across complex or repeat complaints. This would be in full compliance with the centralised IT infrastructure, cybersecurity and data protection, Personal Information Protection Acts, cyber risk management protocols and data encryption standards.

The public can be confident to know that their information will be treated with the highest standard of care and will provide analysis of complaint categories and consumer pain points, identification of repeat offenders and trend analysis across licensing volumes, enforcement activity, and resolution timeframes.

The Ministry of Home Affairs, Mr. Chairman, remains steadfast in its commitment to strategic policy service delivery, enhancing regulatory capacity and directly addressing the public's priorities with the particular focus on the rising cost of living. As outlined in the 2025 Throne Speech, the Ministry has developed a multi-tiered approach to cost of living mitigation targeting regulatory oversight and key sectors such as fuel, energy and telecommunications. The Ministry is working closely with the Cost of Living Commission and industry stakeholders to explore and expand the regulatory frameworks resulting in lower costs.

Mr. Chairman, the Ministry of Home Affairs is placing a renewed emphasis on public engagement and consumer empowerment through the expansion of its education outreach and regulatory oversight functions as aligned with the 2025 Speech from the Throne which prioritises consumer protection and market transparency. Consumer Affairs will spearhead public communication strategies targeting all sectors. To facilitate this, the Ministry will appoint an Education Officer to lead targeted public awareness campaigns, develop educational materials and increase the visibility of consumer rights and responsibilities throughout the community.

A central component of the strategy would be the proactive regulation of high-risk sectors, which pose particular risk to customers and consumers. These include informal and unlicensed debt collections agencies, unregulated used car sales and other deceptive practices. These reforms aim to provide consumers with clear, accessible pathways to foster greater accountabilities across businesses and ensure that the public remains both informed and protected in an increasingly complex marketplace.

Mr. Chairman, the major achievements from the 2024/25 fiscal year under the Ministry of Home Affairs Headquarters include several key milestones in alignment with the Government's modernisation efforts. The Ministry advanced the implementation of Bermuda's National Space Strategy, positioning the jurisdiction as an emerging global hub in the rapidly expanding space and satellite communications industry. Achievements included the development of a regulatory framework to ensure safe and transparent sector operations, formalisation of stakeholder partnerships with industry leaders and international bodies, and the establishment of licencing protocols to attract foreign investments and produce sector growth.

The Ministry successfully also led legislative amendments to the Electricity Act [2016], resulting in expanded kilowatt hour allowances for residential customers. This change directly addressed energy affordability concerns and the promotion of more equitable access to essential electricity services across households.

For the upcoming year, Mr. Chairman, the Ministry of Home Affairs remains steadfast in its commitment to address systematic cost drivers such as housing, energy and the price of essential goods and services. In the upcoming fiscal year, the Ministry will continue to advance reforms to deliver meaningful relief to Bermuda's residents. To support this, the Ministry will implement an electronic register of goods, review the list of essential services to determine best areas for reform, review new trade agreements to reduce the cost of living through strategic importation savings, and in the area of housing, the Ministry will finalise these amendments to the Landlord Tenant Act aimed to foster equitable rental relationships and ensure protection for both landlords and tenants to streamline adjudication.

In the energy sector, further amendments to the Electricity Act [2016] will be introduced to advance fair pricing methodologies and incentivise investments in renewable energy. As part of this strategy, work is progressing to develop frameworks for community solar, designed to incentivise local participation in clean energy generation and improve energy equity.

Mr. Chairman, the Ministry also intends to amend the Regulatory Authority Act 2011 to streamline internal operations and strengthen enforcement capabilities. These amendments will address current operational gaps and reinforce the Authority's ability to fulfil its statutory oversight and responsibilities effectively. We are also preparing for the launch of a Cost of Living Summit in the coming months. This event will feature a comprehensive report on both past and present initiatives designed to alleviate financial pressures on Bermudian households.

Mr. Chairman, the Ministry's legislative agenda for the year include

- the Landlord Tenant Act—repeals the 1997 [Act] and establishes a modern framework for residential relationships;
- amendments to the Electricity Act to ensure affordability and sustainability in energy pricing;
- amendments to the Electronic Communication Act; and
- enhancements to the Regulatory Authority Act 2011, in consultation with the Regulatory Authority.

Mr. Chairman, in direct response to one of the most pressing issues facing the people of Bermuda, the rising cost of living, the Ministry has taken decisive steps to strengthen coordination, deepen analysis and deliver meaningful, measurable outcomes. To support the Ministry's cost-of-living efforts, it has convened a non-statutory strategy team working in tandem with the newly formalised Cost of Living Commission to develop a coordinated multi-sectoral action plan.

The Cross Functional Team is convened by the Ministry Headquarters with volunteers to ensure focused leadership and coordination on strategic cost-of-living priorities. It operates with engaging industry experts across sectors to drive implementation of actionable policies and regulatory reforms. While previous jurisdictional reviews and internal reports have offered important insights, many recommendations were left unrealised due to fragmented ownership and resource constraints. The strategy team now supports a coordinated multi-sectoral action plan focused on affordability, pricing, fairness and structural market reform.

The Cost of Living Commission gazetted on 7 May 2025, formally established its mandate to provide evidence-based independent advice to the Minister and the Government on monitoring price trends and cost drivers across essential goods and services, recommending fair pricing practices to ensure equitable treatment of consumers and suppliers, and advising on appropriate policy and regulatory interventions, particularly where market conditions create hardship for systematic inequities.

The Commission will work closely with both the Ministry and the strategy team to align analysis with execution, ensuring strategic coherence and accountability. To support this work, the Ministry has launched two national public surveys (one for residents and one for businesses) and has hosted a focus group. These surveys closed on 30 April 2025 with impressive participation. Approximately 1,500 responses from residents and 250 from businesses across sectors. This strong level of engagement demonstrates that the public is eager to be part of the solution and will enable Government to design responses, grounded in lived experiences. The findings from the Summit will be shared upon completion of their analysis and will be tabled in the House thereafter.

Mr. Chairman, planning is well advanced for this inaugural Cost of Living Summit, which will convene these key stakeholders to tackle immediate affordability challenges and long-term relief. The Summit will aim to deliver the short-term immediate actionable items, particularly within the food and essential goods supply chain, and also to develop a road map for sustainable affordability in the long-term to address the cost pressures. A comprehensive stakeholder list is being finalised and will include representation from grocery retailers and wholesalers, shipping and logistics providers, labour unions, business associations, non-governmental organisations and consumer advocacy groups.

Recognising the importance that this topic has to members of the public, the Ministry is developing a phased communication strategy to promote transparency and manage expectations. This includes a dedicated website providing regular updates and reports, as well as media engagements and newsletters to keep the public equally informed of the progress and any relative policy changes. The strategy team supporting the Ministry Headquarters will review pricing practices in unregulated sectors, study market concentration in key sectors, explore competition tools and also advance research to further inform consumer behaviours, pricing markups and supply chain dynamics. These initiatives are designed to ensure that the proposals align and are evidence-based, responsive to market conditions and capable of delivering lasting relief to Bermudians across income levels.

Mr. Chairman, the Government made a promise to the people of Bermuda to tackle the cost of living in action. And through the upcoming Cost of Living Summit, the Ministry is translating that promise into action. We seek to advance these reforms that ensure that families can afford basic necessities, businesses can compete fairly and transparently and that no one is forced to choose between dignity and survival. We look forward to reporting back on the concrete outcomes and policy interventions emerging from this work in the months ahead.

Mr. Chairman, in closing, I would like to express my sincere gratitude to the dedicated public officers of the Ministry Headquarters and to their continued work in the success of the Ministry's mission and objectives.

Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: Thank you, Honourable Minister.

For the benefit of the listening audience, we are now on the Committee of Supply for further consideration of the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditures for the year 2025/26. The Ministry of Home Affairs, Heads 93, 89 and 97 were presented by the Honourable Minister Alexa Lightbourne. The Chair now invites the Shadow Minister, Michael Faye.

Hon. Alexa Lightbourne: Actually, I have two additional heads.

The Chairman: Oh, sorry.

Hon. Alexa Lightbourne: No problem.

HEAD 89—DEPARTMENT OF ENERGY

Hon. Alexa Lightbourne: Thank you, Mr. Chairman. I am pleased to present the budget for Head 89, the Department of Energy, as detailed on pages B-313 [through] B-315 and C-16 of the Approved Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure.

Mr. Chairman, the mission of the Department of Energy is to develop and advocate for policies, legislation and regulatory frameworks that enhance sustainability, stabilise pricing, ensure affordability and build a resilient future for Bermuda's energy, telecommunications, space and satellite industries.

To accomplish this mission, the department proceeds the following broad objectives:

- to reduce reliance on fossil fuel imports while balancing the security, sustainability, and affordability of energy in Bermuda;
- to provide education, advice and guidance on policy and regulation for the energy and telecommunications sectors;
- to facilitate the growth of industry and businesses in Bermuda through supporting the development and maintenance of robust space, satellite and telecommunications, and energy infrastructure; and
- to meet these objectives, the department, operates through a single business unit detailed on page B-313 and is supported by four officers under the heading of Administration.

Mr. Chairman, the Department of Energy's total budget allocation for the 2025/26 fiscal year is $526,000. This allocation is largely consistent with previous year's estimates, reflecting a slight decrease of 4 per cent compared to the 2024/25 budget. Notably, there is a modest increase in the salaries line to accommodate expenditure relating to acting pay and necessary salary adjustments. The Director's post is a statutory position, which necessitates the appointment of an Acting Director whenever the substantive post holder is on leave. As a result, an additional $5,000 has been allocated to this line, representing a 60 per cent increase.

In terms of operational expenses, cost-saving measures have been implemented to improve efficiency. The budget for overseas call and data lines have been eliminated, resulting in a reduction of 25 per cent, contributing an additional savings within the department's operational expenditure.

Revenue

Hon. Alexa Lightbourne: Mr. Chairman, the Department of Energy's estimated revenue for the 2025/26 fiscal year as outlined on page B-314 is projected at $15,385,000. These revenues are made-up of

- telecommunications fees of $5,981,000;
- Integrated Communications Operating Licence (ICOL) and spectrum band fees of $9,091,000;
- broadcasting fees of $30,000;
- electricity fees of $177,000; and
- aircraft and marine licencing fees of $106,000.

This represents a decrease of $1,964,000 or approximately 11 per cent compared to the original revenue estimates of 2024/25. The primary reason for this decline is a projected reduction in telecommunications revenue following the Government's decision to lower monthly tax on mobile phones by 50 per cent, from $12 to $6 effective 1 July 2025. This policy change was a key initiative announced in the 2025/26 Throne Speech and reflects the Government's ongoing commitment to ease financial burdens on residents by reducing government-imposed fees.

Staffing

Hon. Alexa Lightbourne: Mr. Chairman, the Department of Energy Staffing details are provided on page B-314 of the Estimate of Revenue and Expenditure.

The department is comprised of four full-time positions of which all are held by Bermudians. At present, one of these positions is vacant. However, the department is actively recruiting with the goal of fulfilling the vacancy before the end of the current fiscal year. The full staffing complement includes the Director and Energy Policy Analyst, a Research and Development Officer and a Telecommunications Officer. The total salary allocation for these positions is $514,000, which accounts for 98 per cent of the department's overall budget.

Performance Measures

Hon. Alexa Lightbourne: The Department of Energy's performance measures are outlined on page B-315 of the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure.

These updated metrics reflect the Government's commitment to public service reform and are closely aligned with the department's core functions. Essential priority for the department continues to be the provision of technical and project management support across Government, alongside its leadership role in collaborating with the Regulatory Authority to advance critical policy and legislative initiatives across the energy, fuel and electronic communications sectors.

In the upcoming fiscal year, the department will play a pivotal role in supporting the Government's initiative to modernise Bermuda's regulatory framework. The current enforcement and adjudication process employed by the Regulatory Authority have been deemed outdated, insufficient and unnecessarily complex. These processes often involve lengthy formal hearings and administrative steps which no longer meet the needs of a modern regulatory environment. To address this, the Government is implementing a more streamlined regulatory model. This updated approach will introduce clear procedures for issuing warnings, making final decisions, and publicly disclosing enforcement outcomes where appropriate. It will also strengthen the enforcement capabilities of the Regulatory Authority by enabling it to impose suitable penalties, amend or revoke licences and take other necessary actions to ensure compliance.

To address this, the Government is seeking to implement a more streamlined and transparent regulatory model and this updated approach will introduce clear procedures to strengthen all enforcement. Additionally, the consultation process with stakeholders will be improved. The current three-step process required for most cases with the option to revert to the original format for complex or sensitive matters when necessary. The enhancements aim to make Bermuda's regulatory regime more responsive, efficient and aligned with international best practice. The Department of Energy remains committed to supporting these reforms and ensuring that the sectors under the Regulatory Authority's oversight operate with a modern, effective and transparent framework.

Mr. Chairman, a major milestone that was achieved in the previous fiscal year through the Green Overseas (GO) programme, which is the EU-funded initiative executed by Expertise France is an initiative funded by the European Union and implemented to provide international technical cooperation. This was launched in August of 2020 with the budget of €17.8 million over 68 months. The programme aims to support sustainable development and climate resilience in overseas countries and territories, including Bermuda. The programme operates through two main mechanisms: the GO facility, which allows for individual territories to request specific national level activities within a set financial range and GO Communities which fosters regional and interregional collaboration among multiple territories.

In Bermuda, the GO programme assisted in updating the Island's building codes for both commercial and residential structures, focusing on enhancing energy efficiency and resilience to extreme weather events linked to climate change. This support included expert consultations and stakeholder engagements to ensure that the revised codes effectively address the unique environmental challenges faced by the islands, including rising sea levels, and increased hurricane activity. The programme has significantly advanced Bermuda's sustainable development.

Hon. Michael Fahy: Just a point of clarification, if I could.

The Chairman: Point of clarification or point of order?

POINT OF ORDER

Hon. Michael Fahy: Well, I suppose a point of order. I am just trying to understand what line item the Minister is on with this particular point. I am not following it in the [Budget] Book, I am afraid. That's a question, I suppose.

The Chairman: Minister Lightbourne, could you clarify for MP Fahy?

Hon. Alexa Lightbourne: As consistent with the other ministerial briefs, this relates to the achievements of the previous year—under the Department of Energy.

The Chairman: Is that clear enough for you, MP Fahy?

Hon. Michael Fahy: Sadly not. I am just not following. We are on Head 89. The Minister is giving a presentation on last year's performance outputs. But from what I gathered that was to do with Planning. That does not seem to fall within this particular budget head anymore. I am not . . . I just want some clarification because otherwise I will ask questions on it from last year. But it does not appear in this . . . in these heads. Sorry, but I need some clarification.

The Chairman: Minister.

Hon. Alexa Lightbourne: I will reread a sentence from my ministerial brief, so this achievement was a result of strong partnership between the Department of Energy and the Department of Planning.

Hon. Michael Fahy: That is clear. Thank you.

The Chairman: Clear as mud, now?

[Inaudible interjections]

The Chairman: Okay. Thank you.
Thank you, Minister.

Hon. Alexa Lightbourne: The Department of Energy provided technical leadership to ensure that all recommendations were tailored to Bermuda's unique climate and socioeconomic context, while the Department of Planning led the drafting and integration of these recommendations into the updated building code.

Mr. Chairman, the technical modelling and analysis conducted under the GO facility produced several key insights. It was determined that many Bermudian residents already exhibited relatively high energy efficiency due to the Island's moderate temperature range. As a result, traditional efficiency upgrades such as wall installation and high-performance glazing offered limited cost-effectiveness and longer payback periods. Instead, the study found that passive design strategies such as extended porches, roof overhangs, and natural shading from trees delivered a far greater impact.

This collaboration also identified two high impact scalable technologies: heat pump water heaters and balcony solar systems. Water heaters can reduce the residential electricity consumption by 30 per cent if made widely accessible and the balcony solar system small plug-in solar units that do not require Planning permission capable of meeting most daytime electricity demands and approximately 17 megawatts of decentralised solar capacity.

Collectively these efforts have laid a foundation for more affordable energy resilient-built environments and the revised building code reflects both ambition and pragmatism, accounting for Bermuda's specific development challenges while moving the Island closer to its sustainability and climate resilience goals.

Mr. Chairman, it is also important to highlight the department's oversight for Bermuda's subsea telecommunications infrastructure, which plays a crucial role in the Island's digital and economic resilience. The Bermuda Submarine Communications Cable Act [2020] provides legal framework for licencing and managing the landing and operation of submarine cables in Bermuda's terrestrial waters. With exponential growth of global data flows and increasing strategic value of data connectivity, submarine cables have emerged as vital infrastructure underpinning financial services, community and data scrutiny. The department continues to monitor the sector developments and will lead in efforts to align Bermuda's legislative and regulatory regime with international best practices to ensure that the jurisdiction remains attractive for future cable landings and investments. In the upcoming fiscal year, the department will also assess how this sector can be integrated more broadly into Bermuda's long-term telecommunications and digital economy strategies, identifying opportunities to support innovation, sector evolution and new business development aligned with Bermuda's role as a digitally connected hub in the Atlantic.

Mr. Chairman during the most recent fiscal year, the government passed the Electricity Amendment Act 2024, introducing a new Bulk Generation Sole Use Installation Licence ("BGSUI" Licence) as part of its ongoing efforts to modernise Bermuda's regulatory framework and accelerate the Island's energy transition. This legislative change directly supports the objectives outlined in the 2019 Integrated Resource Plan, which calls for 85 per cent reduction in fossil fuel use for electricity generation by 2035 and promotes greater adoption of distributed renewable energy. The new Bulk Generation Sole Use Installation Licence permits Bermuda's registered companies, Government departments and statutory authorities to install renewable energy systems exceeding 500 kilowatts for self-use, while allowing them to distribute up to 30 per cent of their total monthly generation to the transmission, distribution and retail licensee.

Importantly, the Regulatory Authority must assess and approve each installation to ensure grid stability and safeguards ratepayers from potential cost impacts. This amendment resolves a long-standing challenge faced by developers who were previously required to sell all of their generated electricity at low feed-in tariffs and repurchase it significantly higher retail rates. The updated framework creates a more commercially viable and equitable pathway for large scale renewable investments by private and public sector entities alike. Furthermore, it aligns with broad public support for clean, affordable energy and responds to stakeholder calls for more flexible future-ready energy legislation. By removing structural barriers and promoting responsible development, this reform reinforces the IRPs [Integrated Resource Plan] road map, while advancing Bermuda's national sustainability and energy affordability goals.

Mr. Chairman, the Department of Energy remains a key partner in supporting interministerial initiatives and driving national progress towards zero emissions mobility. Mr. Chairman, the Department of Energy remains a crucial partner in advancing Bermuda's national objective for sustainable transportation. In the upcoming year, the department will continue to provide technical and project management support for the development and implementation of two landmark policy frameworks. In collaboration with the Ministry of Transport the national policy of zero emissions vehicles, also known as EVolve.

This framework forms the foundation of Bermuda's long-term strategy to transition from inter-combustion engines to clean electric mobility. The national policy on zero emissions vehicles, sets ambitious but achievable targets to phase out the importation of fossil fuel powered vehicles across all classes. Key masters include banning the importation of gas-powered motorcycles by 2028, public service vehicles by 2032, passenger cars by 2035, light and intermediate trucks by 2036, and heavy trucks by 2040. The policy also promotes EV-ready building codes and a workforce training to support this transition. The department will continue to lead stakeholder engagement, scenario planning and legislative alignment efforts to ensure timely implementation of these targets.

In direct support of these national goals, the department has also expanded its collaboration with the Ministry of Tourism, Transport, Culture and Sport, which is embarking on its own sector-specific clean transport transition. As part of this support, the department has reassigned one officer to provide targeted guidance on vehicle electrification infrastructure requirements and policy alignment to facilitate the Ministry's goal of modernising transport services within the tourism economy. This officer's role has been adjusted accordingly in the department's staffing plan, reinforcing the department's agile and interministerial approach to advancing national sustainability targets.

Mr. Chairman, the Government continues to lead by example. Several ministries have already initiated the conversion of their fleets to electric vehicles, demonstrating a firm commitment to decarbonisation of Bermuda's transport sector. Notable actions include the introduction of electric motorcycles within the Bermuda Post Office, the deployment of electric vehicles within the Ministry of Health and the ongoing electrification of vehicles for the Ministry of Public Works and Environment. Furthermore, the electrification of Bermuda's public bus system represents a transformative shift with 70 electric buses now operating across the Island. This initiative has significantly reduced emissions from one of Bermuda's largest vehicle fleets, while generating cost savings through lower fuel and maintenance expenses.

Mr. Chairman, marine transportation is also a key focus. The Government is currently piloting the use of electric ferries to assess feasibility, operational efficiency and environmental benefits of electrifying Bermuda's ferry system. This project supports the long-term aim of modernising Bermuda's maritime infrastructure in a manner that is both climate resilient and cost-effective. From electric buses to inter-ministry fleet conversions and the expectation of electric ferries, the department will continue to support projects that reduce emissions, expand EV infrastructure and stimulate the clean energy economy. These initiatives reflect Bermuda's commitment to building a modern, efficient and climate resilient transport system that benefits all sectors of society.

Mr. Chairman, the Government's early adoption of electricity mobility serves two strategic purposes. First, it demonstrates leadership and builds public confidence, encouraging wider adoption of electric vehicles in the public and private sectors, and it secondly supports the expansion of electric vehicle market, which will result in increased electricity demands and kilowatt hours. This growth economically is significant. By increasing energy consumption, fixed generation and distribution costs can be spread across a larger volume, potentially reducing the per kilowatt hour cost of electricity and improving affordability and long-term sector sustainability.

Mr. Chairman, the Government continues to advance its clean energy agenda through strategic partnerships and targeted programmes that accelerate the transition to renewable energy. Central to this effort is the Government's solar programme, which is facilitating the development of solar systems across 35 government-owned buildings. This initiative is designed to reduce the Government's overall electricity consumption, lower operational costs and set a strong example of environmental stewardship across the public sector. The Department of Energy is coordinating this effort by identifying suitable sites, establishing procurement frameworks and guiding implementation to ensure efficiency, cost-effectiveness and long-term performance.

Let me just take a break.

The Chairman: Thank you, Minister.

For the benefit of the listening audience, we are now Committee of Supply for further consideration of the Estimates and Revenue Expenditures for the year 2025/26, Ministry of Home Affairs. Honourable Alexa Lightbourne is presenting Heads 93, 89 and 97.

Please proceed, Minister.

Hon. Alexa Lightbourne: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

This programme further strengthens through a strategic partnership with the Rocky Mountain Institute (RMI) a globally recognised energy innovation and implementation partner. RMI has provided technical assistance, policy guidance and energy modelling expertise that support Bermuda's broader integrated resource plan and energy resilience objectives. Their involvement ensures the Government's efforts are aligned with global best practices and grounded in sound, economic and environmental analysis. Together, the deployment of solar infrastructure across Government buildings and the partnership with the Rocky Mountain Institute exemplify a whole of Government approach to reducing fossil fuel dependence, cutting emissions, and fostering a more sustainable and self-reliant energy future. These actions not only contribute to Bermuda's national climate goals but also demonstrate the Government's leadership and commitment to driving the Island's energy transition forward.

Mr. Chairman, in alignment with the Government's commitment to transparency and the reduction of cost-of-living pressures, the Ministry will strengthen oversight of regulated sectors by issuing directives to the Regulatory Authority, regarding governance and transparency, capacity building, electric sector review, consumer protection and oversight. This in support of the Regulatory's remit to ensure high quality affordable services and its internal priorities to reinforce its role in driving innovation, competition and responsible investments across regulated sectors in the year ahead.

Mr. Chairman, turning to communications and broadcasting policy, the department recognises the rapidly evolving landscape of broadcasting, driven by digital conversions and new media consumption habits. Bermudians are increasingly accessing content through online platforms, mobile applications and Internet-based streaming services challenging the relevance of traditional regulatory frameworks. To address this, the Government has introduced a new draft broadcasting policy entitled the Converged Policy for Electric Communication and this forward-looking framework seeks to unify the regulation of traditional broadcasting and Internet-based audiovisual media services under a single modern infrastructure. The policy aims to ensure regulation keeps pace with technological advancements while upholding public service obligations, quality standards and accessibility.

Mr. Chairman, a central element of the new policy is the promotion of local content. Proposed measures include financial incentives to support local media content creators, content requirements to maintain visibility of Bermudian stories and the establishment of a national broadcaster dedicated to local programming. These initiatives will protect Bermuda's cultural identity and support vibrant, sustainable local media industry. Affordability and public access remain high priorities. The policy contemplates the introduction of a universal service package, ensuring all residents have access to basic range of television and radio services at regulated fare prices. The Government will also engage stakeholders to consider infrastructure sharing among broadcasters and Internet service providers to reduce duplication, enhance efficiency and lower consumer cost.

To uphold content standards, the department will establish a content review panel under the Broadcasting and Telecommunications Board responsible for setting content guidelines, reviewing programming and address public concerns. This panel will ensure content across all platforms remains accurate, appropriate and aligns with Bermuda social and cultural values.

Mr. Chairman, in support of these objectives, the licencing regime will be modernised to include new categories for Internet-based broadcasters and other emerging digital media platforms. These licences will require compliance with local content obligations, technical standards and adhere to public interest principles, ensuring fair and consistent oversight and pricing.

Mr. Chairman, collectively, these broadcasting reforms represent a bold and forward-thinking strategy, modernising outdated legislation, empowering local voices, ensuring public access to quality content and creating a more responsive and inclusive media ecosystem that serves all Bermudians affordably.

Mr. Chairman, the Energy Policy Steering Committee remains a key advisory body to the Ministry, strategically positioned to guide Bermuda's transition towards a more sustainable and resilient energy future. The committee's ongoing mandate includes the development and refinement of both electricity policy and the fuels policy, with the sharp focus on three core priorities: reducing Bermuda's dependence on fossil fuels, addressing the high cost of electricity and ensuring grid stability as the adoption of renewable energy continues to grow.

Through meaningful stakeholder engagement, international benchmarking and scenario-based planning, the committee is aligning its policy with practical forward-looking solutions. These efforts will support the Ministry in advancing its policies to ensure that they respond to today's challenges while shaping a secure, affordable and sustainable energy system for the future.

Mr. Chairman, as highlighted in the recent Throne Speech, the Government is advancing targeted amendments to the Regulatory Authority Act to streamline its adjudication process. These changes are designed to create a more agile, responsive regulatory framework, one that is better equipped to address the complexities of Bermuda's rapidly evolving sectors. The proposed revisions will enhance the Regulatory Authority's ability to uphold compliance, resolve disputes sufficiently and enforce clear, consistent standards. By empowering the Regulatory Authority to act decisively, these reforms will promote greater accountability and reinforce public trust in the governance of Bermuda's regulated industries.

Mr. Chairman, in response to the department's expanding mandate, a strategic restructuring is underway to better align its organisational structure with its evolving responsibilities. The existing title "Department of Energy" no longer fully captures the scope of its work, particularly with the integration of electronic communications and emerging regulatory obligations surrounding space and satellite operations. The department is transitioning into a multidisciplinary policy department and is tasked with managing the complex intersections of terrestrial and extraterrestrial infrastructure, spectrum allocation and data governance.

At this time, it is leading efforts to promote energy efficiency across Government operations and to accelerate the public sector shift towards renewable energy ensuring that the Government sets the standard in emissions reduction and optimisation. This restructuring represents a timely and necessary step in modernising Bermuda's institutional capacity and ensuring that it remains fit for purpose in an increasingly digital and interconnected world, while aligning with the long-term sustainability objectives of the Island.

Mr. Chairman, in closing, I extend my sincere appreciation to the dedicated team within the Department of Energy, now led by newly confirmed director, Mr. Adrian Dill. Their efforts continue to strengthen Bermuda's reputation as a clean, innovative and forward-thinking jurisdiction across the fields of energy, telecommunications, satellite and emerging technologies.

Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: Thank you.

For the benefit of the listening public, we are now in Committee of Supply for the consideration of the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for the year 2025/26. Home Affairs Minister Alexa Lightbourne has completed Head 89, the Department of Energy. She shall move on to Head 97, Land Title and Registration [Department].

Please proceed, Minister.

HEAD 97—LAND TITLE AND REGISTRATION DEPARTMENT

Hon. Alexa Lightbourne: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

I am pleased to present the budget estimates for Head 97, the Land Title and Registration Office [LTRO], which may be found on pages B-316 through B-318 and C-16 of the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for the fiscal year 2025/26.

Mr. Chairman, the mission of the Land Title Registration Office is to maintain a secure, transparent and accessible register of land ownership and interest that reinforces public trust, supports legal certainty and contributes to sustainable land management in Bermuda. The Land Title Registration Office is a cornerstone institution of property governance, playing a vital role in both the modernisation of land administration and the economic development of our jurisdiction.

Mr. Chairman, the Land Title Registry Office is tasked with administering Bermuda's transition from a deeds-based system of property transfer to a title-based registration model, an approach that offers greater legal certainty, facilitates efficient property transactions and reduces land disputes. At the heart of this system lies a centralised and authoritative land register which records and guarantees ownership and legal interest in land under the protection of Government. The key objective and responsibilities of the Land Title Registry Office include:

1. Land title registration and maintenance—processing fresh registration, as well as applications for property transfer leases, mortgages and easements ensuring the Land Title Register remains current, accurate and reliable by promptly reflecting any change in ownership or registered interests, supporting the formalisation of ownership in areas with historically undocumented land occupation or fragmented title records.
2. Land title index map and boundary management—in maintaining the land title index map, which identifies the boundaries, parcels, extents, and unique title references of all registered land, this register underpins the legal recognition of boundaries and is integral to surveyors, legal practitioners and land owners.

3. Dispute resolution and adjudication—offering adjudication and administrative pathways for resolving disputes related to ownership, boundary alignment or foreshore claims, strengthening public confidence by providing clarity and legal remedies for competing land interest.
4. Dual registration oversight, title register and deed registry—while advancing title registration, the Land Title Registry Office continues to manage the Deeds Registry, ensuring that transfer notices for transactions falling outside of title triggers are properly logged and maintained. This dual registry model preserves both historical records and ensures continuity as Bermuda fully transitions to a title-based system.

Facilitating public and professional access to land information is also facilitated by the Land Title Registry Office, including official searches, inquiries and certified registry extracts, responding to increased public demand for clarity, especially in relation to family land, inherited property and mortgage parcels.

Digital transformation and AI integration is supporting the department in advancing the modernisation of land administration through the rollout of electronic systems, digitised maps and AI assisted document processing. These tools are intended to reduce backlogs, expedite decision-making and improve data accuracy.

Mr. Chairman, the LTRO's operational efforts in the upcoming fiscal years will focus on five priorities:

1. completion of priority registrations;
2. implementation of legislative triggers;
3. expansion of public awareness;
4. safeguarding historical records; and
5. supporting economic development and investment.

The LTRO will advance completion of priority registers through mortgages and secured transaction processing which are essential to supporting Bermuda's credit system and lender confidence.

1. Registrations in unregistered areas with the particular focus on resolving historically undocumented parcels.
2. Implementation of legislative triggers with improved system efficiency through AI and digitisation, the Ministry will review and potentially activate additional legislative triggers under the Land Title Registration Act [2011], broadening the pool of properties subject to title registration.
3. Expansion of public awareness. The Office remains committed to stakeholder education through guidance materials for the public, training for attorneys and surveyors, community outreach to demystify title registration and reduced public apprehension. This is particularly important for resolving land issues rooted in intergenerational family land, where the absence of documentation often deters formal registration.

The department aims to safeguard historical records by maintaining the Deeds Registry and through the LTRO will provide archival quality, preservation of Bermuda's historical land instruments, a robust public search service to assist researchers, legal professionals and historians and safely net during the transition from deeds to title systems, especially where registrations are pending.

The department will also support economic development and investment through a modern legally sound land title system that facilitates secure land-based investments, enables more efficient land valuation and taxation, reduces transaction costs, and increases Bermuda's competitiveness in real estate, construction and international finance sectors. The ability to confirm ownership quickly and confidentially is vital to developers, lenders and residents alike.

I will just take a quick break, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: Yes.

For the benefit of the listening audience, we are now in Committee of Supply for further consideration of the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for the year 2025/26. Ministry of Home Affairs. Minister Alexa Lightbourne is presenting.

Hon. Alexa Lightbourne: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

The LTRO's ongoing investment in technology and innovation reflects the broader Government-wide commitment to digitising public services and reducing administrative burdens. Planned IT initiatives include full integration of the Land Registry and Case Management system, integrating the cadastral mapping tools, development of public-facing search portal and strengthening data security and encryption and compliance with the Personal Information Protection Act [2016].

Mr. Chairman, the Land Title Registration Office stands at the intersection of legal certainty, economic growth and public service reform. This is fundamental to public trust, investor confidence and everyday lives of Bermudians who depend on the clear, reliable and accessible record of their most valuable asset—land. In the year ahead, the LTRO will continue to expand their coverage of title registration, improve these turnaround times through digital reform, educate the public on their rights and responsibilities, preserve Bermuda's historical deeds and promote fairness, transparency and certainty in every land transaction. This budget supports not only the modernisation of land records, but the modernisation of how we protect what matters most.

Expenditure Overview

Hon. Alexa Lightbourne: Mr. Chairman, I am pleased to rise and present the expenditure estimates and strategic priorities for Head 97 for the LTRO Office 2025/26. This vital office continues to play an increasingly central role in modernising the land administration, recognising the importance of digital transformation for Government.

The LTRO are dedicated to ensuring accountability to individuals whose losses due to errors or omissions in the Land Title Registry will have avenues to seek compensation. Through collaboration in the development of innovative land information systems within Bermuda, we aim to enhance accessibility and efficiency. Finally, the LTRO provides expert advice to the Minister of Home Affairs in all land-related matters, and diligently prepares reports highlighting the achievements of the activities of the Office.

Head 97, the Land Title and Registration Office as outlined on pages B-316 through B-318 of the approved Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure and page C-16 of the Capital Estimates. The total allocation for the Land Title Registry Office for the fiscal year 2025/26 is $1,657,000, representing a 5 per cent increase or $82,000 compared to the original estimates for 2024/25. This allocation supports strengthened staff, will continue to support software and systems implementation, improved public access to land information, dispute resolution, accurate mapping, lease and operational maintenance, and professional services to address legal and technical complexities in land title registration.

A detailed breakdown of the current account estimates is found on page B-317 as follows:

- Salaries on line 1, which is the largest budgetary line item and reflects human resources required to manage increasingly complex and high volume applications. The $142,000 increase covers an additional two temporary staff posts: one to support administrative processing and one mapping officer to respond to the increased application flow and accelerate digitisation efforts.
- Line 7 Professional Services covers the cost of an engaging a consultant with deep expertise in title examination and application authorisation whose role is pivotal to maintaining processing standards and quality assurance while mentoring junior officers. This consultant will continue to support the LTRO until April 2026.
- Line 8 rentals covers the annual lease of the LTRO's premises at Milner Place, ensuring continued accessibility and proper housing of technological systems.
- Line 9 repairs and maintenance—$62,000 includes the cleaning contract of $15,000, office equipment maintenance at $1,000, software licencing and maintenance of the Landfolio system, $47,000 which ensures the continuity and operability of the core electric land registration system.

Revenue Overview

Hon. Alexa Lightbourne: Mr. Chairman, the estimated revenue for the LTRO in financial year 2025/26 is $412,000. As noted on page B-317 an increase of $10,000 over 2024/25 projections. This increase reflects activity in the property market, particularly in single family homes and mortgage registrations. Revenue is derived primarily from fresh registrations and title conversion fees. Official search fees, certified document fees, voluntary title registration, transaction-related filings for mortgage leases and conveyances. The LTRO will continue to balance accessibility and affordability, with cost recovery, ensuring that land information remains accessible while the system is sustainable.

Capital Expenditure

Hon. Alexa Lightbourne: Mr. Chairman, the LTRO's capital allocation appears on [page] C-16 and totals $500,000, which has been earmarked for the acquisition of a proof of concept to modernise the Land Management and Title Registration system. This initiative forms part of the Government's broader digitisation efforts and is focused on replacing or significantly enhanced the Landfolio system supporting its integration with the artificial intelligence tools, improving customer interface, reducing bottlenecks and advancing application turnaround time. Proposals for the proof of concept have been solicited from FluentData, Medici Land and Innola Solutions, with implementation anticipated in the upcoming year.

Mr. Chairman, the expected outcomes for the Land Title Registry Office are listed as follows:

- Secure and transparent land ownership to ensure that owners' rights are clearly documented, protected by law and publicly accessible, fostering trust and legal certainty in property transactions.
- Efficient land administration to improve the speed and accuracy of land registration processes through digital systems and standardised processes, enhancing timely service and delivery.
- Reduce land disputes to minimise conflicts through reliable records and accessible dispute resolution mechanisms, including adjudication services, increased voluntary registration, encourage property owners to register their land under the title system, increase the proportion of land based under secure registration.

- Enhance public access to land information, provide the public and professionals with fast, easy and accessible access to land information and services.
- Support for sustainable land use and development to enable better planning and land management through accurate records and infrastructure developments.

Staffing

Hon. Alexa Lightbourne: Mr. Chairman, staffing details for the Land Title Registry Office are outlined on page B-317. The Land Title Registry Office is currently staffed by nine full time employees and has four vacancies: Office Manager, temporary Administrative Officer, temporary Junior Mapping Officer and Land Title Officer.

Additionally, the long vacant Land Title Legal Officer training post has been filled by a member of staff who has supported the department since 2007. The LTRO also plans to create a new senior Land Title Officer role which will handle quality control and authorisation duties, thus reducing the reliance on consultants.

These staffing initiatives reflect the Ministry's commitment to growing internal capacity, nurturing institutional knowledge and aligning skill sets with technology. Additionally, a new Office Manager position has been introduced to support financial accountability and payment tracking. Recruitment is also underway for a temporary Administrative Officer to receive applications and assist with scanning documents for the AI initiative and a temporary Junior Mapping Officer to assist with the additional mapping demands generated because of faster application turnover.

The AI mapping initiative will not only increase the speed in which land parcels are digitised and the remaining process will rely heavily on the Mapping Officer. In addition, there are currently five Land Title Officers and only one Mapping Officer. These temporary posts are for a period of nine months and will prove critical to meeting operational targets and delivering quality public service.

Performance Measures

Hon. Alexa Lightbourne: Mr. Chairman, the department's performance indicators are detailed on page B-318 and reflects both public value and operational accountability. Highlights include

- Land Title Registry adoption—90 per cent of all incoming applications are now processed through the Land Title Registry system, demonstrating the momentum in transitioning from the Deeds Registry.
- Application acknowledgement—100 per cent of all first registration applications are acknowledged and received within five working days of submission. Triggers include sale of conveyances, long-term leases, mortgages and court-ordered conveyances. Voluntary registrations are also accepted.

- Customer service—100 per cent of registered information queries are responded to within a 48-hour time frame. Maintaining high service standards within the department.
- Dispute resolutions—95 per cent of land disputes are resolved within the statutory time-lines exceeding the target of 90 per cent, which reaffirms the LTRO's commitment to fair and efficient adjudication.

The LTRO continues to prioritise innovation, including the application of artificial intelligence and the resolution of legacy backlogs. Backlogs were experienced largely in part due to the COVID-19 pandemic and the department continues to seek ways to strengthen the security of its systems by exploring migration of the Office's database to a cloud-based service.

Major Achievements

Hon. Alexa Lightbourne: Mr. Chairman, some of the LTRO's achievements for the previous year show that 90 per cent of applications are now processed to the system and will continue to do so and be acknowledged within five days of submission.

Plans for the Upcoming Year

Hon. Alexa Lightbourne: Mr. Chairman, the department will complete phase one of the AI partnership and the LTRO is launching phase two, focused on the mapping automation. The LTRO has already commenced phase two of its mapping initiative, which involves the automated process of scanning survey plans. As previously mentioned, it is anticipated that the digitisation of scanned survey plans will be reduced to 5 to 10 minutes per application. The final output will be reviewed and validated by a qualified Land Title Mapping Officer to ensure accuracy and integrity.

DocDash will provide the LTRO with a fast, efficient method of extracting data from the documents and populate it into the registry. However, this does not complete the registration process. The LTRO still requires officers to quality control the data extracted and populated before sending the application to the next workflow queues that involve mapping and final authorisation. The LTRO will still require a full complement of staff; however their roles under the new AI system are subject to change pending review of those workflows.

In short, the DocDash platform AI is used to read and extract data from property documents, pre-populate fields in Landfolio within 5 to 10 minutes per application. Routine applications for human verification, mapping and final authorisation will still be required. This blended approach combining AI-driven efficiency with professional oversight will significantly expand the LTRO's capacity to digitise mapping data, accelerate modernisation and enhance service delivery for the public. As a result, the LTRO's capacity to manage growing volumes will improve significantly.

In the upcoming year they will complete the POC for registration systems and modernisation, launch phase 2 of the mapping, advance training new staff to reduce dependency on consultants and explore cloud migration to ensure data integrity, business continuity and enhanced systems security.

Mr. Chairman, the LTRO continues to support other Government departments through data collaboration, including Land Valuation Department for appraisals and tax law development; Office of the Tax Commissioner for the land tax collection; Department of Land and Surveys for public property registration; the Bermuda Monetary Authority for housing market monitoring; and the Cabinet Office for multi-agency research and infrastructure planning.

These partnerships demonstrate the LTRO's growing value as a national data asset, supporting both physical operations and long-range policy-making. Currently the LTRO is proceeding with the final quality control and testing for integration between its systems before going live.

In conclusion, Mr. Chairman, the Land Title Registration Office continues to transform not only how we manage land but how we deliver certainty, security and service to the people of Bermuda. The LTRO team has risen to meet the increased demand, and under the leadership Ms. Debbie Reid while embracing innovation across its remit. This budget supports the work of the office and protects our past but secures our present and prepares our land governance systems for a more transparent, equitable and digital future. I extend my sincere appreciation to all of the members and staff at the Land Title Registry Office. Thank you, Madam Chairman.

[Mrs. Renee Ming, Chairman]

The Chairman: Thank you, Minister Lightbourne, for your delivery.

At this time we welcome any Member to reply. I see Minister. . . I'm sorry, MP Fahy, from constituency 20.

And just so you know, we have one hour and 30 minutes remaining.

Hon. Michael Fahy: Thank you, Madam Chairman. You were confused maybe a little bit because once upon a time I was a Minister of Home Affairs, but this is a very different Ministry compared to what it was 10 years ago. Very different indeed. As you can see certainly from the brief, it is largely a policy-making Ministry.

If I can begin . . . and thank you to the Minister for her brief and giving time today for questions and debate. Like my colleague, MP Pearman, I am going to do my best to follow each Head through almost, I hope, in the order of the Honourable Minister's brief. So, we have got Head 93, Head 89, and then the final head, Head 97.

Madam Chairman, let me begin, if I may, with page B-309 which are the department's objectives. Bear with me because I have to keep switching glasses here unfortunately. [There are] a number of objectives within that Ministry but I am going to begin, I think, with objective number five. Which one of the roles of the roles of the Ministry's headquarters is to complete a comprehensive consultation on CARICOM membership, engage stakeholders in the public and deliver a White Paper for decision.

Now, I think, based on the brief that the Minister read, she made reference in the brief to a Green Paper. So, I am going to make the assumption that in fact it is a misprint in the actual Budget Book. And I think the Honourable Minister is recognising that that should say Green Paper. And the reason that is important is because that then will align with the performance measures on page B-312 where the target is to complete a CARICOM process and Green Paper. So, that makes a little bit more sense to me. For the listening public, the usual process, if I may, Madam Chairman, is to begin with the Green Paper and then move on to White Paper with the anticipation of legislation thereafter.

That brings me to an important point based on the brief that we heard this evening. And that is that if . . . obviously, there is the anticipation of the Bermuda Government going for a Green Paper on CARICOM membership. There are a number of things that I quickly wrote down as the Honourable Minister spoke and that is that there is already (and I can stand to be corrected on a point of clarification if I didn't get this correct) a draft membership agreement in place or has at least been exchanged as between the Bermuda Government and CARICOM. Which would certainly suggest that a Green Paper is kind of a fait accompli in terms of what the Government's desires are. A Green Paper is to get opinions to get input but if in fact there is already a draft membership agreement for CARICOM, it seems a bit strange. Nevertheless, I presume there would be an agreement for associate membership and if there is a draft agreement that would be for full membership. So maybe we can get some clarification on that.

[Crosstalk]

Hon. Michael Fahy: One second, Madam Chairman. Just a technical point here.

[Crosstalk]

The Chairman: Take your time.

Hon. Michael Fahy: Thank you.

The Chairman: You are fine now?

Hon. Michael Fahy: I'm good now, yes, thank you.

The Chairman: Okay.

Hon. Michael Fahy: I was just pausing to get my computer plugged in with my notes.

So, in relation to CARICOM specifically, that is a question in respect of any CARICOM draft agreements or thereabouts. And if there were, when were those drafts exchanged? I think the people of Bermuda would like to know that.

The performance measures, again sticking with the issue of CARICOM, if you look at page B-312, Madam Chairman, it says complete CARICOM process and Green Paper. Perhaps the Minister could shed light on what it means by CARICOM process. Is that negotiations? Is that preparation of the Green Paper? Maybe we can have some light shed on that.

In terms of a timeline for the publication of a Green Paper, it would be useful to know as to the specific timeline of the publication of the Green Paper. Normally again, Madam Chairman, for the listening public, Green Papers do involve public consultation. And perhaps the Minister could give some further details on what the specific public consultation will look like if given the fact that the target outcome is 100 per cent for the completion of the Green Paper which means that it would be done and completed presumably by or before 31 March 2026. And as well, in terms of that I don't see any specific line item necessarily for the costs that would be involved in both the Green Paper and eventual White Paper procedures. Again, that does not necessarily come cheaply.

Madam Chairman, in terms of staffing relating to the Ministry of Home Affairs HQ. Again, this is on page B-311. We have eight members of staff and administration and then we have eight members that come within the line item 103010 for Consumer Affairs. But for administration when you are looking at 103000, I would like to know if there are any staff within the number of eight who are dedicated to pushing forward the CARICOM agenda that appears to be part of the objectives within the Ministry.

In relation to the next piece, when we have a look, again continuing with CARICOM, the Home Affairs travel budget, if you look at page B-310, is $109,000 and the other session, I think the most recent session, the Minister had given a presentation about, I think, CREF [Caribbean Renewable Energy Forum]. And what I am more interested in with this particular line item, travel, CARICOM obviously requires a lot of travel. Are all line items related to travel, is this about CARICOM, specifically? Because certainly other Heads where travel is zero or close to zero, so one has to presume that the Minister has the responsibility for CARICOM affairs and will be attending CARICOM events.

Assuming that that is at least a good portion of the travel budget, perhaps the Minister can outline for the listening public the number of trips that she intends to take to attend CARICOM affairs from within that budget line item. Assuming that given the portfolio of CARICOM affairs now comes under the Ministry of Home Affairs, one has to presume that the Minister will be responsible for traveling to various CARICOM events and acting on behalf of the people of Bermuda, presumably instead of the Premier (or perhaps both). Again, let's just get some clarification on that.

Madam Chairman, in terms of the overall staff in the Ministry, we have in total, I have calculated between the various departments, I think we have 33 staff. And again, it is a little bit across the various departments, but I am not quite following the way in which the staffing has panned out here.

During the Minister's brief, we again see a number of increases. But what I am not quite following is in relation to Consumer Affairs. It would appear that on that line item which came from another Ministry, I think it was Legal Affairs one year and another year it was another Ministry. But I believe in the last Budget Book there were seven members of staff. So, let's just make that clear. It looks to be an increase of one in that department overall from where it laid in a previous Budget Book. And maybe the Minister can confirm that.

So, we have eight for admin in Home Affairs and eight for Consumer Affairs, four in Energy and thirteen in Land Registry. So, I will get to that in due course about the Land Registry. What I would like to know in respect of the Ministry of Home Affairs HQ, and again forgive me if I missed it because the Minister had a comprehensive brief, is how those eight staff in the HQ are broken down by PS code. So, we can understand the tasks that are really being assigned to each person within that HQ.

So, for example, given that within the Ministry HQ we see under the department objectives that, and if I can read, Madam Chairman, to ensure that landlords and tenants receive fair and equitable treatment through reform the Landlord and Tenant [Act 1974] and the [Rent Increases] (Domestic Premises) [Control] Act [1978] transparent policies and effective regulation one has to presume that there are dedicated staff within the Ministry HQ who deal with some of these objectives exclusively. Or is it split down across individuals? Because these obviously are very important areas and they are all policy-making areas, for the most part. So, again, one would presume that there are policy individuals within the headquarters dealing with those comprehensive objectives.

One of the items generally that I . . . there wasn't a lot about. And I will get to that under the head of Energy. [It] is the issue of expanding the satellite business. There was some mention but certainly not within, from what I could tell, the realms of the plan that was put out in 2020. That was a five-year plan in respect of trying to boost Bermuda's satellite technology. And I will get to that and try to align the objectives within that plan as to whether they have been successful in the Ministry and the department in dealing with that particular portion.

Madam Chairman, in terms of specifically lowering the cost for Bermudians which is one of the main budget items. Again, it would be useful to know how many staff are working on that particular project. Are there individual staff members dealing with, for example, price controls (which was mentioned in the Throne Speech).

Under page B-312, Madam Chairman, I just want to have a look at some of the performance measures and then bring those back to the objectives and the sums of monies that appear within the Ministry itself. The Minister made mention specifically if we look at page B-312 under business unit 103010, Consumer Affairs, it says the number of valid complaints investigations is a targeted outcome of 2,000. Now, the Minister said, Look. Now this is something that we can do and there will be investigations, et cetera.

Now looking at the performance measures from the previous year they do not appear in this particular chart because the Department of Consumer Affairs, or the head of Consumer Affairs came under another Ministry. But last time, or last year, there were 428 investigations under that particular line item of performance outcomes with seven staff. There are now going to be eight staff, and we are jumping to 2,000. I just don't see how that is physically possible. And if it is, then I would like to understand how many investigations each member of staff is going to be responsible for and how those output measures match up. I think it is a pie-in-the-sky figure, frankly. I just don't see how investigations of 2,000 can be reached with eight staff members. And of those eight staff members, I do not believe that all of them are investigators. So, maybe the Minister might clarify how that number was actually reached.

And, Madam Chairman, again, if you look within the performance measures the number of rent inspections is listed as 2,500 for the course of the year. That . . . listen, if we have investigators who are that efficient, I would be absolutely thrilled. But 2,500 seems like an unachievable number. If we can get there, brilliant. I would be the first to praise the department and to praise the Minister, but 2,500 just . . . I don't know. Maybe there is a different terminology that is being used for the number of rent inspections. If you just break it out, how many rent officers are there conducting inspections? Maybe the Honourable Minister could share that with us and then we can at least have an opportunity to break down how many rent inspections each rent inspector is required to do through the course of 365 days, less holidays, sick time and the like. So again, it sounds good. I am just not sure in any way that that number is achievable.

Again, the number of rent commission appeals that number of a target outcome for 2025/26 is three. That . . . I can't believe it is that low. Maybe it is. Is that concluded appeals? Started appeals? Dismissed appeals? The reason that is important . . . if you are having 2,500 rent inspections that means a determination is being made by someone within the department as to what a relative rent is, and I am presuming that is under the Landlord [and] Tenant [Act 1974] and the [Rent Increases (Domestic Premises) Control Act 1978] for rent control. Maybe there can be light shed on that. Is it just related to rent control, those inspections? I think it must be. Again, with the adjudications there are only three appeals? Sorry, again, I find that sum difficult to really come to terms with.

Again, when we look at the number of product recalls removed from sale. We say there is going to be 20 products. Again, I would like to know how these numbers are calculated. Especially given that the Minister's brief certainly made it known that there is going to be enforcement powers and investigations taken against products and presumably sellers of products and we have 20 items removed . . . sorry, 20 product recalls removed from sales. Again, maybe that number can be clarified in some way.

Let me just turn, if I may, to some of the notes that I had taken from the Minister's brief. Ah yes, in terms of the consultants in respect of the professional services, and this is page B-310, professional services. It represents $1,420,000. I just note that that is getting fairly close in terms of numbers to salaries of the individuals within that department. And that to me suggests that the department obviously does not have the requisite expertise to take on all of the projects that this Ministry has been given in terms of policy. It is now having to spend a significant amount of money on professional services. It has jumped from $590,000 (and the Minister said it in her brief) to $1,420,000.

Perhaps the Minister can share some further details on whether that money is made up of specific projects with particular consultancy companies and if so which ones. Or is it staff who are sitting within the Ministry acting as consultants. And if so, from where? And what are the tasks that they have been allocated to in respect of the Ministry Headquarters departmental objections? Again, is it to deal with the Landlord [and] Tenant Act? Is it to deal with consumer protection? Is it to deal with CARICOM? Or is it to deal with increasing the transparency of the Regulatory Authority? (Bear with me for one moment, if you will, Madam Chairman.)

Ah yes, in terms again of the consumer protection, I was interested to hear that there apparently must be major concerns with food labelling and the like within Bermuda given that there appears to be some requirements for further investigations. And what I am interested in is if there is any data that the Minister can share and if she has it, it would be interesting for her to share it as to how many complaints have been received in the last fiscal year as to the number of items that were made reference to in her brief. So, she made specific reference to looking at issues to do with electrical appliances, toys, [and] second-hand cars.

I certainly was not aware that this had become a major problem in Bermuda that enforcement needed to be done with labels. I am making an assumption that labelling must relate to perhaps locally produced goods because obviously if we are importing most of what we utilise in Bermuda from overseas where they have very stringent labelling requirements, are they somehow different here that the Department of Consumer Affairs needs to get involved? Or is this something that maybe we are overthinking?

So again, just for clarity, if the Minister would give some information as to why it is seen as necessary with electrical appliances and toys and second-hand cars that there is this major requirement for inspections and inspections on goods and on labelling. And in respect of the number of investigations that the Department of Consumer Affairs intends to carry out in the forthcoming fiscal year would also be helpful.

I noted that much has been put on the Ministry of Home Affairs HQ and across the entire Ministry to do with digitisation which presumably increases efficiency. And that there is going to be a new purpose-built digital platform built for Consumer Affairs delivery by March 2026. Given that it is internal, I am not sure where we would find that on the line items as to the overall costs. Maybe the Minister could give some details. Maybe it falls within the budget of the IT Department.

I will take a moment here and maybe pause and allow the Minister to answer those questions and then I can . . . I may nip back but I will then spend some other times on those other heads, Madam Chairman.

The Chairman: Minister, before I ask you Minister, does anybody else wish to speak to Head 93?

Minister, you can respond.

Hon. Alexa Lightbourne: Thank you, Madam Chairman.

I am still waiting for a few technical responses, but I will get through the Honourable Member's questions as best as I can.

Relating to Head 93 and the CARICOM, not any performance measures, but also the consultation process. In the first instance, yes it is an error, so to formally clarify that it will be a Green Paper with a view to solicit the information from the CARICOM secretariat which is now still outstanding but will also include the draft membership agreement which is a standardised document that the CARICOM secretariat provides to all who intend to seek CARICOM membership. Additionally, the performance measure that you also noted on page B-312, it should say complete CARICOM consultation process and Green Paper. So, I thank the Honourable Member for that clarification.

In terms of the timeline, we are actually at the behest of the secretariat and while we have made best efforts to engage with the office of the secretariat and express our desire to have better understanding of both the cost and the associated provisions that will be required of membership. We have not yet received that and so it is our intention to continue to seek the secretariat for a response. Also noting that they have substantive member states that they are currently servicing and the CARICOM head rotates every six months, that is currently a priority for them and so we are seeking to get that information from them as best we can and at which time it will form the further consultation and the Green Paper thereafter.

Relating to the dedicated staff of the section of Consumer Affairs, the Honourable Member noted that there was an increase from seven to eight of the Consumer Affairs staff and that correctly relates to the Education Officer who has been . . . was noted in my brief will . . . business liaison officer who will support education and community-related engagements, promoting awareness and overall consumer protection practices.

Regarding the dedicated staff member who would be associated with any CARICOM-related consultation and Green Paper, there is one dedicated staff member and will also be supporting any public consultation and public awareness efforts relating to membership with the Honourable Attorney General's Chambers.

Regarding the Ministry Headquarters' PS grades. They range from PS14 to [PS] 39 for the eight persons currently retained at the Ministry Headquarters. And relating to the satellite business strategy, the progress of the satellite and space strategy was initially developed in 2020. And due to the COVID-19 pandemic it has significantly impacted the momentum and implementation of the strategy at this time. However, the Ministry has since which renewed its focus and is actively advancing this initiative as part of our current efforts and in process of establishing the space advisory panel which is currently comprised of key stakeholders and experts. The panel will be focused and tasked with supporting business development opportunities in this sector and contributing to the finalisation of the earth station regulations, which will be essentially crucial to enabling the growth and attracting investment in Bermuda's space economy.

Relating to the Consumer Affairs digital platform, this will be handled internally by the IDT department. It will not incur additional costs, and it will not be reflected in the line items in our subsequent budget pages.

Regarding the professional services from Headquarters, I think the Shadow Minister does rightly note that there is a change of remit of the Ministry of Home Affairs to focus on both consumer protection, cost of living measures, and at present we have engaged with . . . or we are seeking to engage with persons to support any sort of legal or legislative reform efforts following the Cost of Living Summit and the findings that result there[from]. To be able to both generate and implement these cost-saving measures swiftly, recognising that there are a number of other conflicting projects that are also underway with other substantive ministries and Attorney General's Chambers, we would seek to have support from those who have expertise to streamline and advance these reform efforts.

Additionally, the professional services breakdown includes local consultants, overseas consultants, legal consultants, government membership fees, board and committee fees. So, it is not just personnel alone but it actually supports this array of consultant and professional services.

The Honourable Member also asked [about] the number of trips that are intended. At present there is no known travel schedule, but this allotment is to support any technical support or further persons who would need to support these travels and it does not relate specifically to CARICOM membership. It also ranges across the other areas and most notably . . . you rightfully noted my most recent trip to, CREF [Caribbean Renewable Energy Forum]. And so, I don't have a number of intended trips to allot to that line item. But it will also expand to technical support.

And I will yield to further questions and if I get some further replies I will come back.

Hon. Michael Fahy: Thank you for that. I mean, if . . . if—

The Chairman: Minister . . . MP Fahy, one second. You need to be acknowledged by the Chair.

So, I will thank the Minister for her response and I will now recognise the Member from constituency 20, MP Fahy.

Hon. Michael Fahy: Thank you. I was getting very excited, ready to stand up a little early. Thank you, Madam Chairman.

And thank you to the Minister for those answers. As she has rightly noted there are outstanding questions and I will allow her to get [that] information and I will continue to ask questions for the next while.

Just in follow-up to a couple of statements made in relation to what we heard. I think I heard there was not really a travel schedule there. And there was note made of this Cost of Living Summit, which a lot has been put on it. I query that because I do note that there was one major question missing from that survey as I looked at it. I am just curious as to why no question was asked, at least from my review, as to whether or not those being asked thought it was important to grow Bermuda's population. I leave that there because I don't remember seeing that in the survey and maybe the Minister can clarify that.

Either way it would appear then that we have $1.4 million put aside for professional services, and as yet unengaged consultants, depending on the outcome of the Cost of Living Summit in June. Perhaps, if it is this Ministry that is likely to be dealing with price controls pursuant to the Throne Speech, the Minister might shed light on whether it is this Ministry that would be dealing with . . . I believe there has been talk of a Government-sponsored grocery store. Again, maybe that falls within here, maybe not. But I would be curious to know.

If I may, I will turn more specifically to Head 89 and that is Energy and that is found in the Budget Book beginning on page B-313. I will just have a quick look again at the mission statement which this particular department has four members of staff and that is found on page B-314, line item 99000, under administration. Four members of staff for a whole department. I just flag that up. I wonder if that could be merged with another department to save some costs.

With that said, we see that the mission statement is to development and advocate for policy legislation and regulatory frameworks and enhance sustainability, stabilise pricing and ensure affordability and build a resilient future for Bermuda's energy, telecom space and satellite industries. Two of those, space and satellite industries, seem to have taken a pause because of COVID-19 four years ago. I think we can do better than that, frankly.

I will turn in a minute to the five-year plan that, from what I can tell, has not made much progress. I think the people of Bermuda need to know what progress has in fact been made within that plan rather than simply making a broad sweeping statement of COVID-19 given that this Ministry is responsible for satellite and space technology. Again, we have the creation of another committee that advises the Government which seems to be par for the course.

With that said, we have again four members of staff. I think the Minister did share with us the breakdown of what that was in total as to the individuals. But in terms of the integrated resource plan, that comes within the remit of the Department of Energy, I believe, who is following and making sure that the integrated resource plan is being followed? I know the Regulatory Authority [RA] obviously has a role to play in that, a major role to play.

But, again, department objections on page B-313 say that one of the objectives is to provide education, advice and guidance on policy and regulation for the energy and telecommunication sector. As well as ensuring reduction of fossil fuel imports, balancing security sustainability and affordability of energy in Bermuda. That seems to be the agreement of the RA. So there has to be some overlap, presumably someone within that Ministry has some oversight of that integrated resource plan. I would like to know when that integrated resource plan would be in final form because I believe it is late. Maybe the Minister can clarify. The last one was 2019. It is supposed to be published every five years. So perhaps the Minister can clarify in the timing of the next instalment of the integrated resource plan.

One of the items that is within the Budget Book is performance measures, [page] B-315. And it is useful to look at these as you have heard from my previous remarks, because this is a large policy-making Ministry, rather than lots of other measures that you might otherwise find in other much larger ministries. So, again, if you look at the output we have some new measures listed there. This is page B-315, Madam Chairman. It says a number of policy recommendations to be submitted to the Minister in the year is five.

How are these targets met if we don't have final integrated resource plan, if we are still working through a space plan? I am not sure how those variables are calculated. For the number of legislative amendments tabled, is says three. Where does that number come from? These are new measures. One has to presume if they are new measures we already know what those amendments are likely to be. I did hear some presentation as to what is likely to come but maybe the Minister can clarify or perhaps repeat if I missed it. And if I did, I apologise.

Again, number of Cabinet memoranda submitted to Cabinet is five. The way it works is that you get all kinds of different papers that can be presented to Cabinet, from drafting papers to information papers to decision papers. How is that broken down, number of memoranda submitted to Cabinet? Is that related to one initiative, or the information papers? How has this number been calculated?

Again, number of project initiatives. A new number of five, a target outcome of five project initiatives. Maybe the Minister can break that down as to what those projects are likely to be. I think that would be very important.

When we look at revenue, and this is page B-314, this is a very revenue-producing department, the Department of Energy, from general fees. And I thank the Minister for making some clarifications in her Statement as to what some of those fees were, because it is listed. If you look at page B-314, line item 8431, it makes reference to general fees. And I believe that relates to telecoms. It relates to other fees. And again, it is significant. [It] was 2024/25, $7.9 million. This year it is going to be estimated at $5.9 [million] because of a reduction of telecom. And I think it was some of the mobile phone carrier fees so that reduces some of the amount.

But what strikes me with some of this is the amount of money here in revenue is a lot. And it is tax. So, when you talk about cost of living, I would certainly hope that these fees would be looked at again in furtherance to reduce the overall cost of living for Bermudians. When you look at the amount of revenue, this is all tax that Mr. and Mrs. Bermuda eventually pay through the Department of Energy.

In addition to that, when you look at electricity fees, one of the questions that people have always asked is, Well, how . . . People forget about how the Regulatory Authority is funded. And that is funded through their own fee that is attached to some of these providers. And I think their budget in the last year was $6 million or something close to it. It may be just over that. And again, perhaps the Minister could clarify.

The budget I think for the RA is $6.5 [million]. I know that . . . and I am bringing this up, Madam Chairman, if I can get a bit of leeway on it, because there is a requirement (from what I can recall) that the Regulatory Authority gets the Minister's approval for that budget. Is it anticipated that next year that budget is going to increase or decrease? And when is it anticipated that for the Regulatory Authority there will be audited financials? At the moment the last set of financial statements that I could find online were the unaudited financial statements from March 2025 [sic]. So again, I would be interested to know about those being audited.

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Michael Fahy: So, I put that there and I think that is useful to note . . . sorry, 2024. Yes. Thank you for the clarification.

The Chairman: Member, just real quick. What you just said, is that a question for the Minister or is that—

Hon. Michael Fahy: It is a question. If we could get some clarification on the . . . when audited financials will be received for the RA's last set of financials.

The Chairman: I see. Okay.

Minister, have you noted that question?

Hon. Michael Fahy: Thank you, Madam Chairman.

The Chairman: Thank you.

Hon. Michael Fahy: So, let me just look at this.

Oh, yes, also we have heard mention of the Rocky Mountain Institute [RMI] which the Bermuda Government signed a memorandum of understanding in 2019 (I think), and there were two major tenets of that. One was to do with electric buses and transport and the other pieces (from what I could gather) were to prioritise renewable energy projects and look for ways to build a more resilient grid. Perhaps given that that is also something that falls under this Ministry, I would be interested to know if there are any key performance indicators within that MOU. And I don't believe that MOU has ever been tabled before the House. I would be curious, if it hasn't been, if the Minister would be prepared to table that MOU for the House to understand the contents and what obligations . . . suite of obligations I say because it is an MOU, as to where we are with that relationship with RMI.

Is it anticipated as well that that relationship will continue past whatever the end date is. I don't know what the end date is. There was a signing ceremony in 2019, and I could not find any information as to how long that was to last. So again, perhaps the Minister can clarify that.

In relation to further work from the Department of Energy . . . and again, I just want people to understand why I am asking some of these questions and how I am relating them in. Under [page B-313] again, is the department objectives. [It is] to reduce reliance on fossil fuel imports while balancing security sustainability and affordability of energy in Bermuda. Today we were given a treat of the tabling of the City of Hamilton Plan 2025. And a quick read through that I didn't see anything in there that was an absolute requirement to have renewable energy on new builds and things like that. And I am just wondering if the Honourable Minister could [shed] a light on whether or not the Department of Energy had given comprehensive feedback in relation to the City of Hamilton Plan. Is there any intent to perhaps give further feedback given that there didn't seem to be anything in that City of Hamilton Plan that required new builds absolutely to have renewable energy?

They have to have energy statements. They have to have renewable statements. But does the Minister think it useful, given that we are trying to lower energy costs, to have new builds with some form of renewable energy component? And I would be curious to know what the Department of Energy's stance is on that.

Of course, the Minister also made mention of the ongoing projects to ensure that Government buildings do have renewable energy as part of those buildings, so solar panels, et cetera. And perhaps the Minister could give further details since again it is part of the Department of Energy brief. Not necessarily something you are going to find immediately line by line, but I am going to tie that to the objectives rather broadly. Again, because I think this Ministry is more or less a policy-making Ministry. How many Government buildings now have some form of solar or renewable power attached to it? How many are still to go? And what has been the anticipated . . . or what is the cost savings so far given that this is a major project for the Bermuda Government?

In addition, Madam Chairman, the Minister in her brief said that . . . or reminded us of this plan for there to be fully fleeted electric vehicles. I think 2020. . . I want to say 2026 but maybe it was 2028, that all bikes are supposed . . . motorbikes—2028. Banning of motorcycles, gas motorcycles I think by 2028. I can only write so quickly. I think 2035 was cars and then we went into trucks and different vehicles. But the first year I heard was 2028.

Perhaps the Minister can give further details on how that project is ongoing in terms of requiring Bermudians to have all electric bikes by 2028. And that seems way off to me. I can imagine the outrage on that particularly given I don't see any real progress in infrastructure to allow for fully electrified vehicles through Bermuda. I don't see it. Maybe we will blame COVID-19 for that. But I am sure that will come and that things are slow because of something from five years ago. If we are going to progress these then I think we need, again, the key performance indicators for every single one of those categories from bikes to cars to heavy goods vehicles.

Oh! And . . . and an electric ferry fleet I heard. That is fantastic! Again, these are wonderful ideas—

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Michael Fahy: I tell you . . . I tell you; I won't hear it either. I won't be able to run for the ferry in the morning.

[Laughter]

Hon. Michael Fahy: It will be so quiet.

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Michael Fahy: Yes. I tell you.

So, there goes the Corona, and there goes the other ferries. But again, the cost of that. I would like to know if the Minister could point within the Budget Book as to where those line items are, because it is being mentioned in this debate, in this particular Committee-of-Supply conversation. Therefore, I think we should be told where that is and has it been budgeted for to align with these plans. I think that is important. If we are talking about [it], then show me where it is. Show us where those funds are coming from, how they are being spent and when. Okay?

How many ferries?

Is it for the short routes? The long routes?

Are we going to spend the money on batteries? I mean, the questions can go on and on and on and on. But those are the things that matter to the travelling public. And if the department is putting out these edicts as policy, is it just make work and fanciful ideas that will never be implemented? Or will they? Or is it a case of, Well, we have to prioritise the things. We have to lower cost, because, make no mistake, the infrastructure for something like this would be enormous.

And is that then relying on the private sector to do? And how does that number add up? And the question that I then have is: The Minister said in a previous Statement in this House that she is aware, of course, that the more solar and renewable energy that you install does in fact potentially increase the cost to those that do not have the ability to use solar and wind and the like. Right? So, how does all of this add up when we have one provider that is responsible for the grid? And that's BELCO.

Everybody loves to criticise, but they are the only provider. And we are also aware that you are still pretty much going to need two spinning engines in case it goes dark. Right? If you have solar, the clouds come . . . these are facts. So again, we have these lovely pronouncements from this particular department, but how does it translate into practice? I am sure that we will be told that it is a committee that is going to give advice, and that further information will be forthcoming in respect of that.

The Minister also made mention in her brief of the draft broadcasting policy and financial incentives for local programmes. Okay? I think that is grand but where is that line item? When is that going to happen? Who is going to pay?

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Michael Fahy: Sorry. So . . . so . . . this . . . so, at the moment, for the listening public—

The Chairman: Member, please address your concerns to the Chair.

Hon. Michael Fahy: Yes. Madam Chairman—

The Chairman: And if you are asking for him to just tell you where it is, I will ask him to note where he . . . either refer to it in the [Budget] Book or refer to it from the brief.

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: Thank you, Madam Chairman. I appreciate your indulgence.

Yes, I was very interested in the fast ferry . . . the electric ferry so I was trying to follow it in the [Budget] Book—

The Chairman: MP . . . MP . . . yes. But I was not giving you permission to speak. I was just saying that I would allow MP Fahy to tell you where he referred it. Because what he has been doing is that he has been referring to the places that he is asking the questions. He is either referring to it from the Budget Book and he has given us the section and, if not, he will let us know that he is referring to it from the brief. And then I will ask if someone else wishes to speak. And you can definitely get up and speak.

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: Yes, it would be helpful so that I can also relate to it if I decide to make a contribution. Thank you.

The Chairman: No problem. Thank you very much.
MP Fahy.

Hon. Michael Fahy: Thank you, Madam Chairman.

Madam Chairman, specifically for the Member from constituency 2 (I didn't want to say number one and get it wrong; that is the Chair.) I am making specific reference to the Energy Mission Statement which says that the Department of Energy is responsible for Bermuda's energy telecoms, et cetera, and the ministerial brief that the Minister kindly read that made mention of specifically the electric ferries.

More specifically, in relation to . . . again, the broadcasting policy that I am going to ask questions about . . . again, I am making reference here to the Minister's brief and also to the point about telecommunications within the mission statement for which the Department of Energy is responsible.

Madam Chairman, the Minister, as I said, made reference to this broadcasting policy and its financial incentives. And the Minister, I hope, will shed light on what those incentives are likely to look like, the types of fees that will . . . or the types of funds that will be given and under which line item this may fall, or which Ministry or department this potentially will fall. Because, again, I don't see any specific reference in any budgeted line item for these payments. And, again, presumably it is going to come under Culture and Sport. I don't know. But it is interesting that it is mentioned from within this particular Ministry and this Head.

As well, there is an Energy Policy Steering Committee. We did hear a ministerial Statement on this particular . . . yet another committee, I might add. Another committee to give the Government advice. This Ministry has a lot of [advisors]: policy, steering committees, consultants, free—I guess . . . I don't think anyone is getting paid on the Energy Policy Steering Committee. But given that this committee is going to begin work in earnest, perhaps the Minister can share who is on this committee now that it has been announced by ministerial Statement and reference was made to it in a ministerial brief.

When was the committee . . . when did the committee first meet? Who are the members of that committee? Is anybody getting paid on that committee? How many times do they intend to meet? What are their key performance indicators? We can make announcements that sound amazing, but we need details as to what this actually means in practice, given that one of the roles of that committee, from what I recall, is to give advice to the Ministry on ensuring the Integrated Resource Plan is followed. That is what the Ministry should be doing already. I am a little confused

[by] that. Again, what is the cost if any to the department for that?

What I am going to do is . . . I think we have another 30 minutes. But I am keen to ask a number of questions on Land Title and Registration, and I think, if I may continue, Madam Chairman, I would prefer to do it that way and get answers at the end.

The Chairman: You actually have 35 minutes at this time. So, I assume that you want to . . . if you are going to move, I am just going to ask if any other Member would like to speak on this Head before we move away from it, if that's okay?

Hon. Michael Fahy: Okay. Thank you. Yes, yes, Madam Chairman.

The Chairman: Would any other Member wish to speak on Head 89, Energy?

I recognise the Member from constituency 25, MP Dr. DeCouto.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Thank you, Madam Chairman.

On page [B-]313 regarding the department objectives the first objective, reliance on fossil fuels and so forth, we know that the RA is putting out some kind of request for proposals on wind energy. Could the Minister characterise if this Department of Energy has any involvement and to what extent in that initiative?

Thank you, Madam Chairman.

The Chairman: Thank you, Member.

Does any other Member wish to speak to Head 89, Energy?

I recognise the Member from constituency 20, MP Fahy.

Hon. Michael Fahy: Thank you. I had one more point to make. Thank you, Madam Chairman.

I did promise to the listening public, who I am sure is finding this invigorating, that there was a space strategy paper published in 2020, a five-year plan. There were strategic goals. I think the listening public would like to know what the strategic goals are since not much has been achieved, given that this was a major part of a plan for revenue in building Bermuda's reputation.

1. Build Bermuda's reputation as a responsible, leading jurisdiction for space and satellite-related business. (I am not sure that is successful.)
2. Enhance domestic space and satellite-related capabilities. (I don't think so.)
3. Further integrate Bermuda with the international space community.
4. Generate revenue—

The Chairman: Member, just for clarity.

Hon. Michael Fahy: Yes.

The Chairman: This document is . . .

Hon. Michael Fahy: This is the Bermuda Space Strategy document that was published by the Bermuda Government in 2020. It is a five-year plan. It was published under the previous Minister, Minister Rob-an.

The Chairman: Thank you. And you found it on the Government website or—

Hon. Michael Fahy: I did indeed, Madam Chairman.

The Chairman: Yes, okay. Thank you.

Hon. Michael Fahy: Yes.

There are numerous pieces that come under that. There are a number of strategic goals. There are dozens of them, really, that are pages and pages long.

I think what would be very helpful is if the Minister, given this is a policy-making Ministry, could give a comprehensive update as to whether or not that strategic plan has in fact even come close to being filled. I did hear that other things have taken priorities. But given that clearly a lot of work was put into a five-year plan, perhaps the Minister would undertake to give a comprehensive update at some point by way of a ministerial Statement or otherwise so that the public is aware of what has or has not happened.

I don't have any other questions in that particular . . . at this moment in time, Madam Chairman, so I sit for you in relation to others.

The Chairman: Okay. I will just ask if any other Member wishes to speak to Head 89, Energy?

None at this time.

So, are we going to move to the next head, which was [Head] 97?

Hon. Michael Fahy: Yes, thank you, Madam Chairman.

The Chairman: So, I am assuming, MP Fahy, that you would like to speak on Head 97.

Hon. Michael Fahy: I am not getting this right every time, am I, Madam Chairman? But thank you—

The Chairman: It's okay.

Hon. Michael Fahy: —for your indulgence.

The Chairman: I'm here to make sure you follow the rules.

[Laughter]

Hon. Michael Fahy: Quite. Thank you very much.

The Chairman: You are welcome.

Hon. Michael Fahy: Madam Chairman, you are quite right. I am going to speak now to Head 97, Land Title and Registration. And there are a number of items here where I think clarity is required based on the ministerial brief and some of the numbers.

Again, I will just take us to [page] B-317 which is the employee numbers (full-time equivalents) and again 2024 was revised numbers of nine members and that is going to jump to 13. I did hear the Minister say there are a couple of unfilled posts and there were going to be a couple of temporary posts and there is someone who is going to be involved in making sure that documents are scanned to try and improve efficiency.

What I am not following here is in relation to some of these numbers. So, Madam Chairman, if we have a look at the performance measures to begin with on page B-318, and it says on that page under performance measures, To maintain the registering of mortgages alien register, land transfer notices to within 10 days of receipt of notice in the office. [There is] a 100 per cent target outcome. Increase digital data pertaining to land ownership. [There is] a 100 per cent target outcome, up from 95 [per cent] and 90 per cent, respectively. And increase public stakeholder meetings, 100 per cent. It sounds like things have gone pretty well in the Land Registry. But the numbers are a little bit different.

If we look at [page] B-317, on Land Title Registry fees, that is under the revenue summary, line item 8294. You will see that the revised estimate of revenue was $724,000, in 2024/25. The estimate for 2025/26 is $402,000. It is estimated to go down which aligns, quite neatly I might add, with the original estimate from 2024/25 of $402,000. That is remarkable that it is the same. I find it interesting that if we are using digital technologies things should get better. We are going to increase to 13 staff. But the revenue is going to go down.

Now, I hope the Minister can explain why they believe that is going to happen. Is it because of less transactions? Is it indicative of the housing market? I think it could be. It is a very funny number that we are going to increase staff, increase digitisation, which apparently is so efficient, but we are increasing staff. I don't follow. Then again, the revenue is going to decrease.

Again, we see professional services. You will see year over year, Madam Chairman, on [page] B-317 that professional services, 2023/24, the actual number is [$]324,000. The original estimate in 2024/25 was [$]70,000. The revised estimate is more than double that. [$]160,000. Now it has gone down to [$]54,000. Again, perhaps the Minister would . . . I think that's relating to an individual who is continuing to provide professional services for the purposes of ensuring training and what-not for Bermudians to become familiar with the systems.

The difficulty that we have with this department [is that] it is not doing its job fast enough. I can tell you that it is not going well. And I say that because of the number of property attorneys who have complained to me over the years about the Land Title Registry not completing what it is supposed to complete in a timely fashion. As the Minister said in her brief this particular department is in correspondence with the Office of the Tax Commissioner for the purposes of land tax and the like. And [it is also in correspondence] with the section that is responsible for doing land registry assessments . . . sorry, assessments on property value, the Land Valuation Department. The knock-on effect, Madam Chairman, that I need to share is the amount of time that it seems to take from the time that papers are lodged with this particular department from the time that you actually then eventually get a bill for land tax on [the] property transaction. People are putting money aside to pay for a land tax bill that is taking forever to come to them once a property transaction is complete.

So, rather than have these very interesting, not-really-telling-me-much performance indicators, why not tell us exactly how many of each type of transaction registered has in fact been done year on year so we can have a proper measure of the effectiveness of this department? How many property sale transactions have been registered properly with this department? How many mortgages have been done? How many alien registers have been done? How many land transfer notices have been done? That is a far better way to measure effectiveness so that the public knows where the backlogs are in this department.

We know it is a problem. Hopefully the increase of staff will help. So will digitisation we are told which has not always been the case when we look at other departments, like immigration, for example. It doesn't always come to fruition with what we are told in briefs and in ministerial Statements.

Madam Chairman, we understand that this system, I think it is [page] C-16, I think that . . . if I recall [page] C-16 is the amount of money in relation to land registry . . . no, that's gone. Okay. I've got that wrong. Excuse me, Madam Chairman.

So, overall, I think, Madam Chairman, what we see here is what appears to be lots of wonderful promises on policy. It is very difficult to get a measure of a lot of these policies through a Budget Book. We have had to really listen carefully to the ministerial brief on this. Thirty-three staff; small-ish budget and an awful lot of policy work to do across every single one of these heads. I suspect a lot of it is unachievable. But anyway, I will take my moment to give others to ask questions and for the Minister to give some answers. And if I have any further questions I will certainly seek to be recognised.

Thank you.

The Chairman: Thank you, Member.

Does any other Member wish to speak to Head 97, Land Title and Registration?

No. Minister, you have 23 minutes left in your debate.

Hon. Alexa Lightbourne: Thank you, Madam Chairman.

If I may just . . . In regard to the Honourable Member's questions regarding the RA's budget, Members would know particularly that the RA is a quango under the department and the Ministry's remit. Therefore, the audited financials are annually produced. I will seek to get an update in terms of when they expect to publish it. Their annual budgets.

I note the Honourable Member's question around when it will be released or the numbers associated with it and if it was under the department and Ministry's remit. No, it is not. It is actually approved by the Ministry of Finance. However, the Ministry does work to define and share its priorities. And you may have noted in my ministerial brief where I spoke of the ministerial directives that will be forthcoming alongside the principles in which we are seeking for enhanced regulations as well as awareness of information, including their annual budgets as well as their annual progress to implementing their various strategic pillars.

In relation to the next IRP, that too is under the arraignment of the Regulatory Authority, and it is expected that it will be finalised soon. The IRP is actually written by the utility and reviewed and approved by the regulator. And so, we have requested that we receive an update relating to that and we anticipate that it will be approved in short order soon. And we will seek to update this Honourable House once that has been completed.

Regarding the performance measures in the Department of Energy's Budget Book items. They relate specifically to the regulatory reforms that I spoke of, namely, the Electricity Act, the Regulatory Authority Act, Electronic Communications Act and the possible broadcasting communication policy as well. And so, I do trust that that will be sufficient.

Relating to the Rocky Mountain Institute, yes, the Ministry and department, Madam Chairman, have been working to have support where we have policy for the Government solar initiative which had identified 36 government buildings that would be eligible for solar installation to lower the government's annual electricity cost. They are still in phase 1 of 2. It was paused due to COVID-19. And you can appreciate that I am getting caught up with the initiatives that are under my remit over the past two months; however, the solar initiative has been supported by the Rocky Mountain Institute. Additionally, they have successfully supported the electrification of the bus fleet. And so, this is another project that they are seeking to support.

The question relating to price controls and if it does fall under the Ministry's remit, yes, mainly the Cost of Living Act and the subsequent essential goods that are included in the Essential Goods Act. Sorry. Additionally the Government grocery that you refer to is actually not within the remit. I am not particularly aware of all of the provisions, therefore, I cannot speak to it specifically.

Additionally, the Department of Energy does provide policy advice and support to the Ministry of Tourism and Transport, namely their EVolve policy and so they would be suited to speak to all of the different ferry and other initiatives that you referenced in terms of the specifics. The department provides that cohesion.

You mentioned the recently announced City of Hamilton Plan. To support and enhance collaboration and unified messaging as well as unified policy across government, the Ministry of Transport is one area where we successfully had enhanced collaboration. And we seek to do the same across the other government ministries and departments including Planning and the other associated departments and sections.

The EPSC, the Energy Policy Steering Committee. Notably, a recent ministerial Statement included the fact that they were newly formed to support the department and the Ministry in updating its fuel and energy policy. This is recognising that there are a number of energy stakeholders in our Bermuda environment and accordingly these various stakeholders provide different feedback and different perspectives of which the department can use to enhance its policy. The members at present are Mr. Adrian Dill who is the chair as well as the newly appointed Director of Energy. Additionally, Mr. Simon Clinton, also from the Department of Energy, he also has a background in support and has supported some private renewable energy firms. Mr. Dennis Pimentel who is the former utility sector employee and now providing consultancy service in this sector, in this space; Mr. Denton Williams, former Regulatory Authority expert and executive; Mr. Craig Simmons who is an economist; Ms. Regina Ferguson who is from Public Works; Mr. Geoff Smith from DENR; Mr. Stuart Kriendler who is from the renewable energy industry; Mr. Francios Rogers from Blue Planet Alliance; and Mr. Kneyone Murrar also from Blue Plant Alliance.

And to your question about if they will be paid, the answer is no. But, recognising that the energy transition and our energy policy is quite complex and it does interact with various stakeholders, namely the Regulatory Authority, the Utility Renewable Energy and its technologies, Public Works as well as Environment, this steering committee is seeking to ensure that we have the most updated policy that is in step and aligned both with our country's objectives as defined in the current IRP and any of the proposed provisions in the proposed IRP that is soon to be confirmed.

The question relating to the wind study which was recently announced by the Regulatory Authority. In short, no, we will not be managing or involved in the procurement process. All expressions of interest are being run through the Regulatory Authority.

Relating to the City of Hamilton Plan, energy efficiency and conservation items have been incorporated into the proposed building code which has also taken into consideration climate resilience. And you may have noted in my brief where I talked about the Project GO. And so, this is closely aligned to the success of that programme as well.

The question on Bermuda government buildings and the number that do have solar, at present TCD [Transport Control Department], DPT [Department of Public Transportation], GPO (our Post Office) and the National Sports [Centre] are all buildings that currently have solar installed. And they have just completed the purchase by which they could confirm the lands and the properties that will be eligible for solar installation for use.

Your question relating to the Cost of Living Survey and the population increase. This is a question that may be better suited for the Minister responsible for Economy and Labour. But the survey means and purposes were defined as the lived experiences of cost for those living in Bermuda and the business cost and the experiences of those who have businesses. So, I would not necessarily project that they would speak to solutions, but they could talk about their lived experiences with cost of living both from a business/entrepreneurial perspective as well as residence in the community. But I appreciate the Member's contribution relating to that.

What else . . . I am just turning to Land Title Registry. We spoke of the increase in staff and registrations. I am actually awaiting a technical reply relating to the numbers and the line items. Notably the professional services do relate to the temporary engagement of consultants who are no longer there but there is a senior consultant who actually has been there since the creation of the Land Title Registry and has provided advisory services over time with a view to transition. Most notably, the legal officer [which] is now the legal officer trainee post is now being filled with the view that we will be able to increase the internal capacity in the section department to enhance those registrations.

Relating the 2024 original estimate of $402[,000], revenue revised from $724[,000]. The reason is associated with the decreased projection [which] was lower as not many high valued properties were being registered, and the late application fees due to attorneys now being trained in this application process. Additionally, the difference in professional fees is because of . . . relating to the Land Title Registration Office. It is due to an office manager who was in this post before and it was a temporary position and now we have put in a consultant to support this until the recruitment has concluded.

The Chairman: Minister, just letting you know that you have 10 minutes left.

Hon. Alexa Lightbourne: Thank you.

I believe I answered the Honourable Member's questions. There may be a few outstanding that I am still awaiting technical replies. I think you asked for . . . yes. You can clarify any outstanding questions, and I will seek to see if I have updates to support a reply. Thank you.

The Chairman: Does any other Member wish to any of the heads at this time? It would be Head 93, 89 and 97. I note that we have eight minutes left.

I recognise the Member from constituency 20, MP Fahy.

Hon. Michael Fahy: Thank you, Madam Chairman. And thank you to the Honourable Minister for answering a number of the questions. I know there are still a number outstanding. But I note that there was nothing more said about any key performance indicators with the MOU with the Rocky Mountain Institute and what else is within that agreement. When does it expire? Is it likely to be renewed? Those kinds of things. And would the Honourable Minister table the MOU to this House?

There are a number of other items. And again, the Minister has said she is waiting for some answers so it may be that they are on the way to the Minister, but the Minister noted that as part of the initiative to have renewable energy on government buildings that 36 have been identified. Interestingly, we had this past week a parliamentary question where the Shadow Minister for Public Works received a listing of all government buildings. It is enormous. And it is only 36 out of hundreds and hundreds. So, I would be curious to get a listing of the 36 buildings that have in fact been identified, and I am sure the Minister can provide, and a parliamentary question can be put for that so people understand the full number.

And the question that then related to that you will recall was, Will all projects for every government building be put into one project in terms of an RFP or is it an individual building that would be subject to an RFP for the renewable energy, solar or otherwise?

In relation to, again, the Land Title Registry, I would urge and request that we have better data points to measure the performance of this department because no explanation has been given as to why there is a quite significant delay between registration of properties for sale and taxes. Now, nobody ever wants to pay taxes, but people should know how much they are likely to pay and should not have to then be burdened with a long-time waiting for land tax, post transaction. We know that is a problem. So, that needs to be done. And again, the performance indicators as to how many land titles have been registered. Again, I put it to the Minister that those types of information would be useful.

In follow-up to the answer, and forgive me if I didn't quite understand the response in relation to the anticipated decline in revenue. I think I heard the Minister suggest, dare I say, the lawyers didn't get it right. And maybe they are not trained properly in the system. I think that is what I heard. I am happy to take clarification on that. I cannot imagine us lawyers would get it wrong.

[Laughter and inaudible interjection]

Hon. Michael Fahy: I say that facetiously, of course. But it would be interesting to know how that is . . . and if in fact these lawyers are getting it wrong, then they need to be properly trained. And so again, that is part of the remit of this department to make sure they are properly trained. But I am not a conveyancing attorney and neither is my friend to the left here. So at least we do not have to take the stick on that.

But I will give the Minister an opportunity to respond if she has further answers that maybe she can clarify in the time remaining, Madam Chairman. I think you . . . it's probably three minutes or so.

Thank you.

The Chairman: Minister, you have five minutes.

Hon. Alexa Lightbourne: Thank you, Madam Chairman.

I neglected . . . I thank the Honourable Member for his questions, the Shadow Minister. I neglected to relate to the RMI or speak to the MOU. The RMI were initially engaged to support two parts, namely, the bus fleet as well as the government project. It is a non-profit organisation . . . just by way of your information. And they support world leading energy advisor. Madam Chairman, if you don't mind me reading from their website. And the Government of Bermuda signed this agreement to launch its energy transition back in 2018.

The question relating to the delay in registrations, I know namely the Land Title Registry Office upon inception sought to digitise the entire land registry process. And there are a number of triggers in law that are currently enacted to enable such a registration. The total parcels is 23,271, and currently 15 per cent of the Island is registered under the Land Title Registry system. That does not equate to . . . it does not speak to the number of provisions that have been either the first number of triggers that are enacted in law as associated to the 15 per cent, but notably they are seeking to address the backlog by way of the AI system to support the initial part of the two-part registration process. In addition to digitising the mapping process, which is a more technical process but notwithstanding that the goal is to be able to streamline this process and decrease the production times.

Relating to the fees that have declined, it was actually due to the lawyers becoming more trained so therefore they were not receiving the late fees associated with any sort of registration . . . the Land Title Registry Office.

I think I have answered your questions, most notably. I am happy to table the MOU once I become more aware of the provisions. It was a 2008 MOU with RMI, and I know that the project at present is across both the Department of Energy and Public Works. And so, I will seek to get more clarification on that and provide an update to this Honourable House as associated with it.

I just want to make sure . . . Yes. Relating to the steering committee and its KPIs (key performance indicators) or outcomes, their particular focus would be to support the updating of both the fuel policy and the electricity policy. So those are the two objectives.

I think the Honourable Member had also asked me a question about . . . no. I think we have answered most of the questions. Okay. Perfect.

Thank you, Madam Chairman.

The Chairman: Thank you, Minister.

We have . . . well, really we have just enough time now to allow you to go and rise and report and to move your heads. Sorry.

Hon. Alexa Lightbourne: Thank you, Madam Chairman.

I move that Heads 93, 89 and 97 be approved as printed.

The Chairman: It has been moved that Heads 93, 89 and 97 be approved.

Is there any objection to that motion?

No objection.

Agreed to.

[Motion carried: The Ministry of Home Affairs Heads 93, 89 and 97 were approved and stand part of the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for 2025/26.]

[Crosstalk]

Hon. E. David Burt: Madam Chairman, I move that the honourable Committee of Supply do rise and report progress and ask for leave to sit again.

The Chairman: It has been moved that the Committee rise, report progress and ask for leave to sit again.

Is there any objection to that motion?

No objection.

Agreed to.

Thank you, Members.

[Motion carried: The Committee of Supply agreed to rise and report progress and sought leave to sit again.]

House resumed at 8:03 pm

[Ms. Lovitta F. Foggo, Deputy Speaker, in the Chair]

JUNIOR MINISTERS

The Deputy Speaker: I call on the Honourable Minister Weeks.

STAND UP, SPEAK UP, SAVE LIVES

Hon. Michael A. Weeks: Good morning, Madam Deputy Speaker, colleagues and those in the listening audience.

Madam Deputy Speaker, I want to thank those in this House and the listening audience for lending me their ear this morning.

Madam Deputy Speaker, I come before you, not just as a public servant, but as a community member, a neighbour, a parent, a brother, an uncle and a friend. Like you, Madam Deputy Speaker, I love this country. I love my people. I believe in our potential. And I know, deep in my heart, that we are better than the senseless violence that threatens to tear us apart.

Today, Madam Deputy Speaker, I want to speak to you plainly and from the heart, because this is not just another speech. This is a call to action, a call for courage, a call to our collective conscience.

Madam Deputy Speaker, we must decide together, right here and right now who we are and for what we are going to stand. I am pleading to all of us, with these simple but powerful six words: Stand UP, Speak UP, Save LIVES!

Madam Deputy Speaker, let me begin with a truth that we all know, but sometimes hesitate to say out loud: violent crime is hurting Bermuda. Physical violence, gun violence, stabbings, assaults—these are not abstract problems. These are not distant headlines. They are tragedies unfolding in our own backyards, in our own families, in our own communities—sometimes next door—and they are rendering us asunder. They are tearing at our moral fibre, our character and our identity as a people.

Madam Deputy Speaker, each act of violence is a wound on our national soul. Each life lost is not just a number, but a name. A son, a daughter, a brother, a cousin, a friend. Some of them were bright lights in their communities. Some were trying to turn their lives around. Some were simply in the wrong place at the wrong time and yes, some may have been caught up in the game. But all of them had value. All of them, Madam Deputy Speaker, deserved a future.

The hardest part to accept in all this is that in virtually every incident that blights our community, someone knows who did it. Someone saw something. Someone heard something. Someone has a piece of the puzzle that could bring justice to a grieving family. But too often, that someone stays silent and in doing so, they are actively aiding and abetting this heinous and destructive behaviour. Why? Perhaps because of fear. Maybe because of distrust, or maybe they just do not care. Or, because of a culture that has over time told us that it is safer to look the other way.

Madam Deputy Speaker, I understand that fear is real. But today, I want to say clearly and with every ounce of compassion in my body: Bermuda, our silence is costing lives.

The first step, Madam Deputy Speaker, that we must take is to Stand Up. Standing up means refusing to accept violence as just the way things are. It means saying, Not in my neighbourhood. Not in my school. Not in my home. And not on my watch.

Madam Deputy Speaker, we have to stand up for our youth, many of whom are being lured into dangerous paths before they ever get a fair shot at life. We must stand up for the mothers burying their sons. For the children growing up without fathers. For the innocent bystanders caught in the crossfire.

Standing up means showing that we are not afraid to say that enough is REALLY enough. Standing up also means standing with each other. We must stand up as a community—united, not divided by fear or frustration.

- When we see a young man drifting toward the streets, we intervene and offer assistance or guidance.
- When we see a young woman being lured into gang life, we pull her back by pointing her in a positive direction.
- When someone is in danger, we do not wait for the authorities—we become our brother's and sister's keeper.

Do not get me wrong, Madam Deputy Speaker, this is not about vigilante justice. This is about community strength. This is about reclaiming the streets, the schools, the parks, the corners—and our peace and security.

Madam Deputy Speaker, we must speak up. Yes, the second step is to SPEAK UP! This is perhaps the hardest part, because speaking up requires courage. It requires trust. It requires faith that our voice will matter and that it will be protected.

But let me tell you this Madam Deputy Speaker: speaking up is one of the most powerful things we can do. Every time someone comes forward with information, no matter how small, we move one step closer to solving a crime. One step closer to holding a callous killer accountable. One step closer to preventing the next act of violence.

Perhaps one may think that It's not my business. But if someone out there has taken a life, it is my business, and as a matter of fact and for the record—it is all of our business.

Madam Deputy Speaker, someone may worry, What if I become a target? But there are safe, anonymous ways to report what you know. We are strengthening our witness protection systems to allow people to freely and safely provide useful information.

Madam Deputy Speaker, we are also investing in community policing. We are working hard daily to build a system of justice that does not just demand information but earns trust as well. Our voice could be the difference between another cold case and a family finally getting answers and justice. Our words could help stop the cycle of retaliation and revenge. Our courage could inspire others to come forward as well.

Madam Deputy Speaker, we cannot build safer communities with silence. We need people to speak up—in homes, in our churches, in WhatsApp chats, on social media, at town halls, at our sports clubs and in our neighbour's yards. Say something. Ask questions. Share what you know.

Madam Deputy Speaker, even a whisper can start a movement. We need to start a movement. We need to do all that we can do to save lives. At the heart of my plea today is for us to work together to put an end to this madness and to save lives.

When WE stand up and when WE speak up, WE are not just solving crimes—WE are actually preventing them. WE are saving the next young man from picking up a gun. WE are saving the next family from that knock on the door or phone call that every parent fears. WE are saving Bermuda from becoming a place where violence becomes normal.

Madam Deputy Speaker, we are not there yet but we must be relentless in preventing this from occurring. I want to remind everyone that justice is not just about punishment—it is about prevention. When someone is held accountable, it sends a message:

- It tells our youth that there are consequences.
- It tells our communities that their pain matters.
- It tells the perpetrators that this community will not protect them in their wrongdoing.
- And just as importantly, it tells the victims that we see them, we honour them, and we will not forget them.

Madam Deputy Speaker:

- We are not powerless.
- We are not helpless.
- We are not alone.
- We can save lives—not through magic, not through slogans, but through action.

Madam Deputy Speaker, the solution is found in community effort. Now let me be clear, I have said this repeatedly and I will say it again here now—this is not just the responsibility of the police. It is not just the job of government. It is not just about laws and sentences. It is about all of us. Teachers and pastors; coaches and neighbours; parents and friends. The people who run barbershops and beauty salons. The elders sitting on the porch; the youth on the block. Everyone has a role to play.

Madam Deputy Speaker, I implore families to talk to their children as children often know more than we think. Let's listen to them. Teach them, that it is all right to tell—there is no such thing as a snitch, because telling the truth is always a good thing. We must teach our children about conflict resolution. Show them alternatives to violence. Support them in their school programmes; get them involved in community programmes. Let us support rehabilitation and reintegration for those young men or women who are trying to leave a life of violence behind. Hold all leaders accountable. And yes, if you know something, say something.

Madam Deputy Speaker, we must build a Bermuda where there is no safe haven for violent criminals, no code of silence that protects murderers, no aiding and abetting those who are physically harming others; and no corner where justice cannot reach.

Madam Deputy Speaker, let me share a story of hope. Recently, a mother whose son was killed in a senseless act of violence came forward to me and said, I don't want revenge, Minister. I want justice. I want no other mother to go through what I've gone through.

And do you know what gave her strength, Madam Deputy Speaker? It was her community. People who stood up and spoke up—not with anger, but with truth. And because of that, her son's killer was brought to justice. It did not bring her son back, but it brought some peace for her. It helped her to take a step towards healing.

Madam Deputy Speaker, that is the power of standing up. That is the power of speaking up. That is the power of saving lives.

Madam Deputy Speaker, I send out an urgent call to action

- to all in this Honourable House;
- to those listening right now to their radios—whether in your car or in your home or in your offices;
- to those listening right now, by way of social media;
- to families who know that their loved ones are caught up or involved but are afraid to speak up;
- to those young men and women who want to do more than just talk about what they know in their living rooms or in the halls of their schools;
- and, even to those involved in violent acts who are fed up with a lifestyle of guns and violence and want to change. It is time to come home, as the pastors would say. Put down your weapons and come home.

To all of us—we are all tired of these senseless acts of violence and I know that we have had enough.

Madam Deputy Speaker, and all of Bermuda, I leave you with this, as I shared up at the vigil held at Legends just last week:

- If you know something—stand up.
- If you see something—speak up.
- If you care about Bermuda—help save lives.
- Do not wait for the next tragedy to hit closer to home.
- Do not wait for the headlines to carry the name of someone that you love.
- Do not wait until it is too late.

Madam Deputy Speaker, the silence of those who have information has allowed this problem to grow, but from this moment forward, our voices—united, determined and fearless—can bring about change.

Let us build a Bermuda where children can play without fear—

- where families can walk the streets in peace and safety;
- where parents do not have to worry about whether or not their son will return home safely when they leave the house;
- where we can leave our doors open again and not have to worry (Do any of us remember those times?);
- where justice is not delayed and truth is not buried in silence.

Madam Deputy Speaker, we are better than this violence. We are stronger than this fear. And we must not be bystanders in our own story. Again, I implore our people to: Stand up, speak up and save lives. Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

[Desk thumping]

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES

The Deputy Speaker: There are none.

QUESTION PERIOD

The Deputy Speaker: I have one Member's name down and that is Member King.

Member King, did you want to put questions to the Minister? I recognise you.

Mr. Robert King: Yes, good morning, Madam Deputy Speaker. I have a couple of questions for the Minister of National Security. Thank you.

QUESTION 1: STAND UP, SPEAK UP, SAVE LIVES

Mr. Robert King: Understanding that the prevalence of violent crime has increased and the seriousness and the number of incidents, are consultations currently occurring between the Attorney General's Chambers and the Ministry of National Security about amending sentencing guidelines? In particular the penalties for violent offences.

Would you prefer I put all the questions and then . . . okay.

The Deputy Speaker: Minister.

Hon. Michael A. Weeks: Madam Deputy Speaker, all conversations are being held that are relevant to where we find ourselves right now in Bermuda. But I want to be clear while I am on my feet that longer sentences are not going to fix the problem. Corporal punishment is not going to fix the problem.

The police are there. This Government has done everything it can financially and in other support to help the police do what they need to do to make Bermuda safer. But the key core in making Bermuda safer is not longer sentences. It is the community standing up, speaking up to all of us to work together to save lives.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Minister.

Do you have a supplemental question or . . .

Mr. Robert King: I do, Madam Deputy Speaker.

The Deputy Speaker: Okay.

POINT OF CLARIFICATION

Mr. Robert King: For clarification, I was not necessarily speaking about stronger sentences. What I was speaking about was the appropriate sentences in relation to the seriousness of the offence as opposed to a blanket . . . we need to be much . . . more onerous to sentences, et cetera. That is not what I was saying. They need to be appropriate to the seriousness of the offence, but I will continue on.

The Deputy Speaker: Yes, your supplemental.

SUPPLEMENTARY

Mr. Robert King: Sure. Understanding that we have persons, as the Minister has rightly identified, who are silent when they know things about criminals who may be residing with them, or they are creating safe harbour for them, is there going to be some action on the application of the law as relates . . . understanding that they have conversations with the Attorney General's Chambers in terms of harbouring of fugitives? Because I know with young persons who have gone missing and they appeal to the public, I haven't seen anybody brought to justice for that.

The Deputy Speaker: OK, so your question is, Is there going to be some sort of application with respect to—

Mr. Robert King: That is correct.

The Deputy Speaker: Okay.
Minister.

Hon. Michael A. Weeks: Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker. I am certain that there are laws already on the books for harbouring criminals and fugitives from justice. So, I am certain that if it is ever proven that a citizen is harbouring someone that is wanted and proven to be a member or of having committed any violent acts, I am certain that the appropriate law will be applied for anyone that is harbouring someone.

The Deputy Speaker: You have a second supplemental? Or is it a new question?

Mr. Robert King: New question.

The Deputy Speaker: Okay. Go ahead, Member.

QUESTION 2: STAND UP, SPEAK UP, SAVE LIVES

Mr. Robert King: Understanding that the prevalence of serious crime has increased (murders due to gun violence and stabbings), is there consideration to a gun and bladed weapon amnesty for those for weapons that cause death?

Thank you.

The Deputy Speaker: Minister.

Hon. Michael A. Weeks: Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

I want to start off by saying that we have to be careful with the statements we make because what has been happening in these last couple of days has been violent crimes, but to draw the conclusion that violent crime has increased without facts is . . . it is treading down a road until we have the facts. Right?

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Michael A. Weeks: There is a time when we all get on our feet, and we all have the microphone and so I have no problem speaking when it is my time and then waiting for the next person to take their turn.

So, while I am here on my feet, I want to say that we have to be careful when we talk about crime and whatnot, because what we do not want to do is give our communities the wrong impression. There is crime and there are steps being done by our Police Service and this Government to ensure that we are safe. So let us work together to see what we can do, each one of us and then ask our community to make sure that we do our part to keep Bermuda safe.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Minister.
Supplemental.

QUESTION 3: STAND UP, SPEAK UP, SAVE LIVES

Mr. Robert King: Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker. Understanding that violent crimes have increased and deaths, as reported in government statistics and police statistics, is there a strategic plan with specific performance measures and timelines that will address this problem? Thank you.

The Deputy Speaker: That is your supplemental?

Mr. Robert King: That is my final question. Thank you.

The Deputy Speaker: Oh, third question. Okay. Thank you.
Minister.

Hon. Michael A. Weeks: We brought an anti-violence strategy to the House, I think at the end of last year, November or December, that addresses where we are as a country and our plan on going forward.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Minister.
Any supplemental?

Mr. Robert King: A supplemental, yes.

The Deputy Speaker: Member, I recognise—

SUPPLEMENTARY

Mr. Robert King: Madam Deputy Speaker, in terms of the [National] Violence Reduction Strategy, if memory serves me correctly, there were no specific timelines or performance measures as relates to that strategy.
Thank you.

The Deputy Speaker: Okay that is just . . . okay, thank you.

Are there any other Members who wish—sorry. Sorry. I recognise Member Campbell because he did indicate that he wished to ask questions.

QUESTION 1: STAND UP, SPEAK UP, SAVE LIVES

Mr. Vance Campbell: Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

I would like to ask the Minister . . . it is difficult, and I understand that. It is extremely difficult to measure the success of the Gang Violence Reduction Team. But I would like to ask Minister if he believes that the team is appropriately resourced.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you.
Minister.

Hon. Michael A. Weeks: The Gang Violence Reduction Team is doing a good job in the role that they have to combat violence and there is always room for more resources. But resources—how much resources is enough? You know? We as a community have to do what we have got to do.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Minister.
Is there a supplemental?

Mr. Vance Campbell: No supplemental. Thank you.

The Deputy Speaker: Any new questions? None.
That brings question period to a close.

CONGRATULATORY AND/OR OBITUARY SPEECHES

The Deputy Speaker: I recognise the Member from constituency 15. Member, you have the floor.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

I would like to offer a few congrats this morning. First of all, to the Bermuda School Sports Federation (BSSF) and that is the sporting body made up of mainly PE (physical education) teachers. But it is a separate body who hosted and organised the middle school interschool sports yesterday. I did have the opportunity late in the day to get up and experience the end of the festivities yesterday, and I did catch most of the 4x100 metre relay.

So, I do want to congratulate all middle school students who were involved and my colleague here who formerly was the Minister of Education will be pleased that I was interested to see that some of the new parish primary schools, their older grades are now participating in this level as well. So, it was a sight to see and everybody wonders, Well, what is going to happen with sports? But I want to congratulate them because there were individuals from Purvis Primary school as well as Francis Patton that actually took part with the traditional middle school students yesterday. So, congratulations to everyone involved and I want to highlight the individual winners, well the individual group winner, not individual, sorry, the group winners from the schools.

So, the overall female winner for middle school interschool sports was the Saltus Grammar School. The overall male winner for middle school interschool sports was the Whitney Institute Middle School and the overall school again, defending their title was the Saltus Grammar School. So, congratulations to them. Congratulations to their PE teachers, many of them I do know well, as you know, Madam Deputy Speaker, from a previous life.

Also, I would like to send congrats to all primary school students who are going to take part this afternoon. So primary school students (or maybe now) are doing interschool sports. And that is a very important part of sporting that we have had over the history of time in Bermuda.

And just switching gears a little bit, Madam Deputy Speaker, I would like to send congratulations—and this was an event that I attended a couple of weeks ago and that is to the Grace [Methodist] Church. Many would know that Grace Church down there on North Shore [Road] which happens to be in Pembroke East, constituency 15. They celebrated 115 years, I believe, a couple of weeks ago and I had the opportunity to attend with my branch chair, and I want to shout out to two gentlemen who were honoured by Grace Church for their service and that is Mr. Gino Brangman, who lives in constituency 15, and . . . forgive me, I forget his first name but I will go with Mr. Mallory, who was also honoured.

Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

[Timer chimes]

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you. Right on the bell.

Is there any other Member who wishes to speak? I recognise the Government Whip. Member, you have the floor.

Mr. Neville S. Tyrrell: Good morning, [Madam Deputy] Speaker. Thank you for recognising me. Good morning to my colleagues.

Madam Deputy Speaker, I would like congratulations to be sent to a very good family friend of ours and I would imagine you might want to be included once I give the name. It is now Dr. Jana Pitcher, who has just recently graduated from Liberty University with a doctorate in education in educational leadership.

Just for some background, Dr. Pitcher is the daughter of a long-standing party member, Ms. Ianthia Butler, and she has recently, I think, been a past chair of your constituency, if that is correct. So, I ask that congratulations be sent out. And as I said, I wish to associate you, if you wish. Thank you.

The Deputy Speaker: Are there any other Members who wish to . . . I recognise the Member from constituency 13.

Member, you have the floor.

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker

I would like to join in with the Member who just [stood] for the congratulations for Dr. Pitcher. Dr. Pitcher is probably one of our finest principals within our system, coming from . . . as an administrator at the preschool level to now where she resides at the Gilbert Institute, which will be closing at the end of this year. But she will be moving on to another location. She is probably one of the top principals that we do have within our system.

Madam Deputy Speaker, I would also like to say congratulations to St. Philip A.M.E. who launched their series of recognising the matriarchs of the A.M.E. church for St. Philip, and this Sunday was recognition of, one, my grandmother and of my great aunt, Catherine Stovel. It was interesting as I was doing the history for this event to have to go back in memory and remember actually having conversations with my great aunt who was old enough to have lived in Tucker's Town, and was old enough to have been removed from Tucker's Town and help build not only the church that was in Tucker's Town and eventually destroyed, but the new church that now sits on Harrington Sound Road. So, it was an emotional Sunday for myself and my family who attended that service to recognise those two great women who helped build that church and reminisce about their time spent in Tucker's Town prior to being forcibly removed.

Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Member.

Are there any other Members who wish to speak?

I recognise the Member from constituency 36. Member, you have the floor.

Rev. Dr. Emilygail A. Dill: Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

I would just like to take the opportunity. I would like to continue with the congratulations that I began at our last sitting for constituency 36 for the Musical Extravaganza where they honoured one of our most outstanding musicians in Bermuda, who is a member of our constituency, Mr. Max Maybury. It was certainly a wonderful time for Mr. Maybury, because that week he was also celebrated by [Wendell] "Shine" Hayward and honoured as well as honoured in the Spring into the Arts [Festival] for the educational school system. So, I would like to congratulate them and if possible, a letter be written to acknowledge their hard work and the contribution of Mr. Maybury.

I would also like to take the opportunity to offer thanks and congratulations to Reverend Cyril Simmons and his wife, Mrs. Regina Simmons, who are the organisers for the National Day of Prayer, which was held on the grounds of the House of Assembly. And we would like to thank the team that worked along with them. We would like to thank the members of the Legislature who came for the meeting that was held last week on those sacred grounds, and we would like to thank our community for remembering the importance of prayer and the power of coming together to lift the concerns of our joint community.

Thank you so much, Madam Deputy Speaker.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Member.

Are there any other persons who wish to speak? I recognise the Minister from constituency 4.

Minister, you have the floor.

Hon. Tinee Furbert: Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

I want to take the opportunity to give congratulatory remarks. If House Members are not aware, this month we are recognising mental health for our youth, and yesterday I had the opportunity to sit in on a Youth Mental Health Show debate. And our young people were debating the topic: "This House believes that the age of consent to access mental health services should be reduced from 18 to 16." And it was . . . first of all, I want to congratulate the debaters who had the research, endurance and courage to come forward with their remarks as it relates to this topic. And they brought forward some very important considerations being that this month is anti-stigma month for mental health. They were relating the change from adult to 16 so that more youth could have access to mental health services—not necessarily medication or prescription, but mental health services as a whole. And so, I want to congratulate the debaters as there were some involvement with the debate clubs, or youth groups, as well as Mirrors. And so, I want to say a big well done to our debaters.

As well as the Office of Youth Affairs who put on a youth mindfulness fair yesterday. Sorry, the debate was on Monday, not yesterday. But the youth mindfulness fair for our young people, which was put on by the Office of Youth Affairs, was run very well. A couple of Members of Parliament, Ministers, did attend that event as well. But they had opportunities to do yoga and some mindfulness activities, some therapy through art. And it just gives us the opportunity to let our young people know, particularly with mental health [issues], that there are other ways in which you can get—and I would like to associate Minister Rabain as well as Minister Adams, who also attended. I think—the Attorney General also had attended as well. So that our young people have a better understanding of mental health and that it is . . . we are not developing these stereotypes and beliefs and perspectives in our mind with people who are having difficulty with mental health. And so, it is good to reach out to the young people in that way. So, I want to thank all those persons who were involved in planning those activities and please take the opportunity to contribute to other mental health activities for our youth this month.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Minister.

Are there any other Members who wish to speak on congrats and/or obits?

There being none, we shall move on.

ORDERS OF THE DAY

The Deputy Speaker: That brings us to the Orders of the Day, and we will be resuming into the Committee of Supply for further consideration.

I call on the Minister of Cabinet Office to move us.

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Madam Deputy Speaker, I move that the House now resume in the Committee of Supply to consider the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for 2025/26.

The Deputy Speaker: It has been moved that we resume into Committee of Supply.

Are there any objections? There are none. So, moved.

I call on Member Lawrence Scott to assume the Chair.

House in Committee at 10:40 am

[Mr. W. Lawrence Scott, Chairman]

COMMITTEE OF SUPPLY

ESTIMATES OF REVENUE AND EXPENDITURE FOR THE YEAR 2025/26

The Chairman: Good morning, Members.

With it having been moved. Honourable Members, we are now in Committee of Supply for further consideration of the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for the year 2025/26.

We are now doing Public Works and Environment, Heads 36, 53, [sic] 68, 81 and 82. This is a four-and-a-half-hour debate, starting now.

Minister, you have the floor.

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: Could you read those heads again?

The Chairman: We have Heads 36, 53, [sic] 68, 81 and 82.

[Crosstalk]

An Hon. Member: I don't see [Head] 53.

[Pause]

The Chairman: We are doing Public Works and Environment for Heads 36, 68, 79, 81 and 82 and this is a four-and-a-half-hour debate.

Minister Adams, you have the floor.

Hon. Jache Adams: Thank you. Thank you and good morning, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. Chairman, I move the following Heads 36, the Ministry of Public Works Headquarters; 68, Parks; 79 Environment and Natural Resources; 81 Public Lands and Buildings; 82 Works and Engineering be now taken under consideration.

The Chairman: Please proceed.

MINISTRY OF PUBLIC WORKS AND ENVIRONMENT

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, today I rise to address this Honourable House on a matter that is fundamental to the very functioning, safety, and future of our country—the work and budget of the Ministry of Public Works and Environment for the fiscal year 2025/26.

Mr. Chairman, this Ministry does more than just maintain infrastructure—it underpins the daily lives of every resident and visitor, supports the engine of our economy, and safeguards the natural beauty and environmental health of our Island home. It is the Ministry through which we manage Bermuda's most valuable physical and environmental assets and deliver the essential services that keep the country running. The scope of the Ministry's portfolio is unmatched in breadth and complexity. Allow me to illustrate the scale and significance of the responsibilities we bear:

- More than 2,000 acres of public land and over 750 government buildings, carefully managed by the Department of Public Lands and Buildings. These assets hold a combined insured value exceeding $1.5 billion and include everything from schools and clinics to government offices and historical sites.

- A network of over 600 public roads, totalling approximately 225 kilometres, forming the life-lines of our economy—carrying people, goods, services, and opportunity to every corner of the Island.
- Over 80 public docks and purpose-built berths, critical to our maritime economy, enabling the docking of cruise ships, cargo vessels, fishing boats, and private watercraft—linking Bermuda to the world and supporting jobs in shipping, tourism, and trade.
- Municipal solid waste collection and disposal for over 60,000 residents and visitors to ensure the cleanliness of our Island and maintain the health and welfare of our people through environmentally responsible means.
- Freshwater reservoirs with a combined storage capacity of more than two million gallons, representing one of the most strategically important and scarce resources we possess. The Ministry is a guardian of this essential supply.
- Seventy-five public parks, beaches, school grounds, and recreational spaces, which we not only maintain for public enjoyment, but also protect for future generations as stewards of our environment and biodiversity.

And, Mr. Chairman, I am proud to note the Ministry's growing leadership in sustainability and climate resilience—a responsibility that has become more urgent with each passing year.

We are actively undertaking:

- Island-wide waste reduction initiatives, including enhanced recycling collection, the expansion of household composting pilots, strategic upgrades at the Material Recovery Facility, and ongoing investment in the Tynes Bay Waste-to-Energy Facility;
- Green energy infrastructure projects, including the installation of solar PV systems across multiple government sites, the integration of energy-efficient lighting and HVAC systems, and accelerating the uptake of electric vehicles and charging stations;
- Marine and coastal conservation programmes, such as shoreline stabilisation works, mangrove replanting, and the promotion of best practices in marina and boating operations;
- Climate resilience strategies, along with the construction of flood defences, sea wall rehabilitation, and investment in sustainable drainage systems;

Mr. Chairman, the Ministry of Public Works and Environment is a Ministry that touches every life, every day. From the roads we drive, to the schools our children attend, to the beaches we enjoy, to the rainwater we rely on—this Ministry is woven into the very fabric of life in Bermuda.

But more than that, it is a Ministry that must look forward. The challenges of the 21st century—climate change, rising sea levels, ageing infrastructure, resource scarcity, and changing demographics—require vision, coordination, and investment. That is what this budget seeks to enable.

Strategic Investment for Long-Term Impact

Hon. Jache Adams: Infrastructure is not merely about fixing potholes or maintaining buildings. It is a strategic asset—one that determines how efficiently our economy functions, how sustainably we manage our resources, and how prepared we are for the future.

Our investment in infrastructure

- drives economic growth by enabling commerce, improving logistics, and supporting the movement of people and goods;
- supports workforce development, creating skilled and semi-skilled jobs in construction, engineering, environmental management, and public services;
- enhances our international competitiveness, particularly in tourism, by ensuring a clean, functional, and welcoming environment for visitors;
- promotes equity, by improving access to public services and opportunities for all Bermudians;
- protects the environment, by integrating sustainability into our planning, procurement, and operations; and
- builds resilience, helping us respond effectively to natural disasters, climate threats, and infrastructure failure.

Mr. Chairman, this is why, as outlined on page B-201, the Ministry has been allocated a 6 per cent increase in its overall budget for the 2025/26 fiscal year. This increase is a clear and deliberate signal of this Government's strong commitment to investing in the core infrastructure and environmental systems that form the foundation of Bermuda's long-term progress and prosperity.

The Operational Budget, also known as the Current Account, stands at $84,140,000, supporting the day-to-day services, personnel, and maintenance functions essential to the Ministry's mandate. The Ministry also anticipates generating $16,286,000 in revenue over the fiscal year, through fees, service charges, and other sources.

In addition, the Ministry has been allocated a Capital Budget totalling $57,327,000. This includes $50,492,000 earmarked for Capital Development Projects, such as major infrastructure upgrades and public works improvements, and $6,835,000 for Capital Acquisitions, which will fund the purchase of critical equipment and technologies needed to modernise service delivery.

This substantial capital investment enables the Ministry to press forward with long-deferred infrastructure works, address maintenance backlogs, upgrade essential facilities, and implement transformative environmental initiatives that have been in the planning stages. It reflects not only financial commitment, but confidence in the Ministry's ability to deliver results for the people of Bermuda.

To support this work, the Ministry's established staffing level for the fiscal year 2025/26 is 720 full-time equivalents [FTEs] showing a reduction of 43. It is important to clarify that this reduction does not represent a loss of jobs or a downsizing of the Ministry's workforce. Rather, it is the result of a revised and more accurate approach to position budgeting. In previous years, the reported number of posts included all positions on the department's current establishment list, regardless of whether they were actively filled, underactive recruitment, or even funded. This approach created a discrepancy between the official headcount and the actual operational staffing levels.

For fiscal year 2025/26, we have adopted a more realistic and transparent methodology. The revised figures now reflect only those posts that are either currently filled or funded and in the process of being filled through active recruitment. This change ensures that the staffing figures presented are more closely aligned with the Ministry's true operational capacity, providing a clearer picture of workforce resources and enabling better planning and accountability.

Mr. Chairman, while we fully acknowledge that the Ministry continues to require additional personnel resources to meet the growing demands on our services, this new approach to position budgeting represents a responsible step toward greater financial accuracy and accountability. By aligning the reported staffing numbers with actual, funded positions, we are better able to manage costs and balance the books, while still keeping a clear view of where staffing gaps exist.

At this time, I would like to express my sincere gratitude to the dedicated team across the Ministry of Public Works and Environment. Your efforts may not always be visible to the public eye, but their impact is felt every single day. Your commitment and service are truly invaluable, and I thank each and every one of you for your continued dedication.

Mr. Chairman, with that said, this budget represents more than a financial allocation. It is a vision for a stronger, cleaner, more resilient Bermuda—one where infrastructure serves the people, where development respects the environment, and where government leads by example.

As stewards of both our built environment and our natural heritage, this Ministry stands ready to meet today's demands while preparing for tomorrow's challenges.

With that, I now direct Honourable Members to Head 36, Ministry of Public Works and Environment Headquarters, where the detailed financial and operational breakdown is available for review on pages B-202 through B-206, page C-5 and page C-13.

HEAD 36—MINISTRY OF PUBLIC WORKS AND ENVIRONMENT HEADQUARTERS

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, the overarching objective of the Ministry Headquarters (Finance and Administration) is to serve as the central coordinating and support hub for the entire Ministry. Its primary function is to provide the essential financial, administrative, human resource, and strategic planning services that enable the effective operation of all departments under the Ministry's umbrella.

These include the Department of Public Lands and Buildings, the Department of Works and Engineering, the Department of Parks, and the Department of Environment and Natural Resources—each of which delivers a wide range of vital programmes and public services across the Island. From infrastructure maintenance and land management, to environmental protection and recreational space upkeep, the success of these departments depends heavily on the efficiency, oversight, and support provided by the Ministry Headquarters.

The Headquarters ensures that departmental operations are not only properly resourced, but also aligned with Government policy, regulatory frameworks, and fiscal accountability. It plays a critical role in budgeting, procurement, inventory management, performance monitoring, and compliance—helping to ensure that the Ministry as a whole functions cohesively and delivers measurable results for the people of Bermuda.

Simply put, the Ministry Headquarters provides the backbone of administrative and financial stability that allows each department to focus on its core mandate, innovative where necessary, and execute its programmes with integrity and professionalism. Mr. Chairman, the services provided by the Ministry Headquarters are organised into the following five programmes which are found on page B-203:

1. Head Office Administration, 3601;
2. Accounts, 3610;
3. Purchasing, 3611;
4. Telecommunications, 3612;
5. Central Office Administration, 3613.

The Ministry Headquarters total operational budget for 2025/26 is $6,620,000 an increase of $293,000.00 which will be explained later in this presentation.

Head Office Administration Programme, 3601

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, the Head Office Administration Programme 3601 encompasses three core components: the Executive Office, Headquarters Administration, and Safety and Health. Together, these units form the strategic and operational nucleus of the Ministry, ensuring coordinated leadership, policy implementation, and workforce safety across all departments.

Under the direction of the Permanent Secretary, Headquarters Administration provides centralised oversight and management support to the Ministry's departments. This includes ensuring that the Minister's strategic policy priorities are executed efficiently and effectively. Specifically, the unit is responsible for the implementation of the Ministry's Throne Speech initiatives, the execution and monitoring of the annual business plan, oversight of health and safety compliance, and the coordination of numerous administrative projects and special assignments. In essence, it ensures that the Ministry remains aligned with Government goals while operating in a structured, accountable, and results-driven manner.

Mr. Chairman, a vital component of this programme is the Safety and Health Office, which plays an essential role in safeguarding the well-being of Ministry employees and the public alike. During the 2024/25 fiscal year, the Office delivered over 12 safety training sessions, totalling 68 hours of instruction, and attended by more than 100 Ministry staff. These sessions covered key areas such as workplace hazard awareness, equipment handling, emergency protocols, and site-specific risk mitigation.

In addition to training, the Ministry conducted a range of safety and health assessments across various operations. These assessments were not only critical in protecting employees as they carry out essential and, at times, hazardous duties, but also instrumental in mitigating risks to the general public where Ministry activities intersect with public spaces. As a result of these evaluations, new safety protocols and procedures have been developed and implemented, strengthening the Ministry's overall culture of safety and operational responsibilities.

Mr. Chairman, the operational budget for programme 3601, Head Office Administration for the 2025/26 fiscal year is $2,473,000. This represents an increase of $41,000 over the previous year's allocation. The primary drivers of this increase are related to pay scale upgrades for staff positions, including upward adjustments such as from PS Grade 20 to PS Grade 21, and the implementation of findings from the Management Consulting Services job description review process, which resulted in revised compensation levels to reflect updated job scopes and responsibilities.

Mr. Chairman, I also wish to take this opportunity to remind Honourable Members that in February of this year, the Government fulfilled its 2024 commitment to place public sector workers ahead of inflation, while helping to offset the financial burden resulting from six of the eight wage freezes endured by civil servants in previous years. This adjustment is reflected across various Ministry programmes and will be referenced throughout this presentation to help explain some of the budgetary increases detailed.

Public Works Accounts Programme, 3610

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, the Accounts Programme 3610 plays a critical role in the financial stewardship of the Ministry by delivering a wide range of core accounting services to all operating departments. These services include accounts payable, accounts receivable, payroll processing, capital asset management, and both financial and non-financial reporting functions that are essential for transparent and accountable public administration.

This section is responsible for the preparation and distribution of both the monthly and weekly payroll, ensuring that staff are compensated in a timely and accurate manner. It also oversees the issuance of vendor cheques and invoices for services rendered by the Ministry's operational units. In addition, the Accounts Programme facilitates the collection and recording of all Ministry revenues, including payments made by online banking, credit card, cash, and cheque—ensuring accurate and secure reconciliation of funds received for public services.

A key enabler of this programme's effectiveness is the use of a centralised government accounting system, through which the teams manage the annual budget preparation process and produces monthly financial management reports for the Ministry and the Budget Office. These reports serve as vital tools for informed decision-making, allowing for continuous monitoring and control of expenditures across both the Current Account and the Ministry's Capital Development and Capital Acquisition budgets.

Mr. Chairman, for the 2025/26 fiscal year, the operational budget for Accounts Programme 3610 is $1,380,000 representing an increase of $119,000 compared to the previous year's budget. This increase is largely attributed to staff-related adjustments, including the filling of two previously vacant positions—which, in the last fiscal year, were only budgeted for half-year funding—as well as the public service salary increases referenced earlier in this presentation.

This investment in staffing ensures the Ministry maintains the capacity to manage its growing financial responsibilities, enhance internal controls, and improve service delivery through efficient and timely financial operations.

Purchasing Programme, 3611

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, the Purchasing Programme 3611 provides a critical, centralised support function within the Ministry, offering procurement services, inventory management, warehousing, and disposal of surplus assets. This programme not only supports the operational needs of the Ministry's internal departments—such as Works and Engineering, Parks, Public Lands and Buildings, and Environment and Natural Resources—but also extends procurement assistance to external government departments when required.

Its role is fundamental to ensuring that materials, supplies, and services are sourced efficiently, economically, and in compliance with Government regulations, while also ensuring accountability in the management of public resources.

Mr. Chairman, in the upcoming 2025/26 fiscal year, the Purchasing Section will undertake a strategic focus on reviewing and strengthening internal controls, operational procedures, and policy frameworks.

Key priorities for the Purchasing Programme this year include

- the creation and enhancement of supply chain-related policies, aimed at standardising procurement practices and improving transparency;
- the updating of operational procedures and end-user guidance documentation to reflect the centralised model and evolving best practices;
- closer collaboration with the Accountant General's Department to fully leverage the capabilities of the E1 enterprise system; and
- the refinement of Key Performance Indicators (KPIs) to monitor performance, track procurement efficiency, and support data-driven decision-making.

This modernised approach is expected to deliver long-term efficiencies, reduce waste, enhance accountability, and provide better service delivery across all Ministry departments.

Mr. Chairman, the operational budget for the Purchasing Programme 3611 for fiscal year 2025/26 is $1,538,000, representing an increase of $69,000 over the previous year's allocation. As with other programme areas, this increase is staff-related, reflecting pay scale upgrades—for example, positions moving from PS Grade 20 to PS Grade 21—as well as the previously referenced public service salary adjustments introduced earlier this year to help offset prior wage freezes and ensure compensation keeps pace with inflation.

This additional funding will ensure that the Ministry is properly resourced to professionalise procurement practices, optimise supply chain operations, and continue to uphold the principles of good governance in the management of public funds and assets.

Telecommunications Programme, 3612

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, the Telecommunications Programme 3612 plays a vital role in the Ministry by managing both internal and external communications infrastructure, a responsibility that ensures the seamless operation of government services, public safety, and national connectivity.

Internally, the programme provides and maintains essential communication tools, including the replacement and servicing of telephone systems and related equipment, and the management of mobile service contracts for staff across all Ministry departments. These services support day-to-day operations, facilitate coordination among teams, and enable real-time response for frontline workers in the field.

Externally, the Programme oversees a portfolio of critical infrastructure in the form of seven government-owned telecommunications towers, strategically located at:

- Somerset Police Station,
- Alton Hill,
- Warwick Camp,
- Police Communications Operations in Prospect,
- The Quarry,
- Fort George,
- And St. David's Lighthouse.

These towers serve as crucial communications hubs—not only for Government departments, including emergency and protective services—but also, in some cases, for third-party providers that support Bermuda's broader telecommunications network. Their continued operation is essential for both national security and the delivery of government services.

Mr. Chairman, I am pleased to also announce a significant infrastructure project planned for this fiscal year: in collaboration with the Department of Public Lands and Buildings, the Ministry will be constructing a new communications tower in St. David's. This will allow for the relocation of all communications equipment currently mounted on the St. David's Lighthouse, thereby enabling the commencement of long-overdue restoration work on the Lighthouse itself—a nationally important cultural and historical landmark. I will speak to the capital funding for this project in more detail during my remarks on the Capital Acquisitions.

Mr. Chairman, the operational budget for Telecommunications Programme 3612 for the 2025/26 fiscal year is $807,000, reflecting a $26,000 increase over the previous year's allocation. This increase is primarily due to higher service charges for Government telephones and mobile usage, consistent with increased departmental reliance on mobile technology and external communication systems to support field and emergency operations.

This budget ensures that both the internal communications needs of the Ministry and the external infrastructure supporting island-wide public communications are properly maintained, modernised, and positioned to meet Bermuda's current and future needs.

The Chairman: And for the listening audience, we are on Head 36 of the Ministry of Public Works and Environment with the Minister Jache Adams presenting. He is currently talking about telecommunications which is under line item 3612.

Hon. Jache Adams: Thank you, Mr. Chairman. And now that I have finished that section, I will move on.

Central Office Administration Programme, 3613

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, the Central Office Administration Programme 3613—formerly known as the Human Resource Programme—was historically focused on direct employee services and personnel management within the Ministry. While many of these human resource functions, such as recruitment, employee onboarding, and organisational development, have since been centralised under the Department of Employee and Organisational Development, the Ministry continues to play an active and supportive role in several critical areas.

Specifically, the Ministry retains responsibility for assisting with recruitment processes, supporting employee relations, and coordinating training and professional development opportunities for staff across its various departments. These responsibilities are essential to maintaining a skilled, engaged, and well-supported public service workforce—particularly in a Ministry as operationally diverse and workforce-intensive as Public Works and Environment.

Mr. Chairman, the second key component of this programme is Central Filing, which plays a vital role in the management of official records for the Ministry. This includes the secure handling, archiving, and retrieval of human resource records, Cabinet documents, capital project files, and contracts. Central Filing also ensures the preservation and accessibility of records associated with the Ministry's legislative responsibilities, ensuring compliance with statutory obligations and supporting transparency and institutional memory.

The Central Filing function is especially important in the current climate of digital transformation, as the Ministry works to modernise its records management practices while safeguarding the integrity and confidentiality of both digital and physical records. These efforts not only support operational efficiency but also uphold the principles of good governance and accountability.

Mr. Chairman, for the 2025/26 fiscal year, the Central Office Administration Programme 3613 has been allocated an operational budget of $422,000, representing an increase of $38,000 over the current year's budget. This increase is attributed primarily to two factors:

- First, the expansion of training and development opportunities for Ministry staff, which supports capacity-building and career progression;

- And second, the salary uplifts resulting from the Government's commitment to address long-standing public service wage freezes, as referenced in earlier remarks.

This allocation ensures that the Ministry can continue to support its departments and personnel effectively, while also maintaining robust administrative systems that are essential to both daily operations and long-term strategic goals.

Subjective Analysis of Current Account Estimates

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, I now direct Honourable Members to page B-204 of the Estimates Book, which provides a detailed breakdown of the Ministry's Current Account Estimates for the 2025/26 fiscal year.

Upon review, you will note a collective increase of $141,000 in salaries and an additional $108,000 in wages, alongside a $68,000 increase in the Ministry's training budget. These increases reflect this Government's continued commitment to investing in our public officers—not only by ensuring fair compensation in line with revised pay scales, but also by equipping staff with the professional development opportunities needed to grow, adapt, and lead within an evolving public service environment.

Mr. Chairman, you will also observe an $884,000 increase under the Professional Services line item. In this context, professional services refer to individuals or entities retained to support public officers in the delivery of programmes, projects, and strategic objectives. This includes the hiring of temporary personnel, summer students, local and international consultants, and specialist service providers or firms that possess the technical expertise necessary to supplement our internal capacity.

Mr. Chairman, regarding the increase of professional services, the Ministry is placing a stronger emphasis on ensuring that these resources are strategically deployed and accountability-driven. To this end, we will be monitoring the outcomes and deliverables associated with each engagement. This includes clearly defined scopes of work, performance benchmarks, and reporting requirements for consultants and contracted service providers.

By doing so, the Ministry aims to maximise the return on investment for every dollar spent in this category—ensuring that these professional services do not simply fill gaps, but actively contribute to capacity building, project acceleration, and the successful execution of key initiatives.

Mr. Chairman, you will further note a $900,000 reduction under Grants and Contributions. This is not a cut in overall government support, but rather a realignment of funding responsibilities. Specifically, this amount has been transferred to the Ministry of Housing and Municipalities, which now has jurisdiction over the Corporation of St. George's. The associated grant, previously administered under this Ministry, was operational in nature and pertained to support for the Corporation when it fell under our remit.

Revenue Summary

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, through the Department of Public Lands and Buildings, the Ministry manages the rental of designated parking spaces within Government-owned car parks to both public officers and, where available, members of the general public. These spaces are offered at a nominal fee.

For the 2025/26 fiscal year, we anticipate this initiative will generate approximately $16,000 in revenue. While not a major source of income, it reflects the Ministry's ongoing efforts to optimise the use of government assets and identify additional revenue streams that help offset operational costs.

Full-Time Equivalents (FTE)

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, the budgeted number of employees for the Ministry Headquarters is 39 as reflected on page B-205, no change from the previous fiscal year.

Performance Measures

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, as outlined on page B-206, the Ministry Headquarters has established a number of key performance targets for the 2025/26 fiscal year to ensure continued accountability, safety, and operational excellence.

Specifically, the Ministry Headquarters will:

- Anticipate the filing of approximately 12 accident reports over the course of the year. While our ultimate goal is to achieve zero incidents, this projection—given the Ministry's large workforce and broad operational remit—is considered within acceptable safety margins. Importantly, every incident is reviewed thoroughly, with corrective actions taken to reduce future risk.
- Conduct four comprehensive safety and health assessments, each followed by the implementation of corrective measures to improve worksite conditions and reduce hazards.
- Deliver 12 safety and health training sessions for Ministry employees, reinforcing compliance with the Occupational Safety and Health Act 1982 and the Occupational Safety and Health Regulations 2009, while promoting a culture of safety and awareness across the organisation.

- Continue to meet Government-mandated deadlines for public officer performance reporting, ensuring that HR evaluations are conducted in a timely and structured manner.
- Ensure that new employee records are updated within three weeks of the start date, including beneficiary information, training profiles, and other relevant documentation. This contributes to stronger personnel management and more efficient service delivery.
- Maintain compliance with Public Access to Information (PATI) requirements by ensuring all executed contracts are accurately recorded and published, thereby upholding standards of transparency and good governance.
- Commence a new series of training sessions focused on procurement best practices. These sessions are being reintroduced following the retirement of a key staff member last year. With a new team member now on board and familiarising themselves with internal processes, the Ministry is positioned to strengthen procurement integrity and efficiency moving forward.

Mr. Chairman, these performance measures reflect the Ministry's commitment to continuous improvement, legislative compliance, and the effective stewardship of public resources. They form part of a broader effort to build capacity, reduce risk, and enhance accountability at all levels of the organisation.

Capital Development

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, turning to page C-5, I wish to highlight that there are certain cost centres reflected under the Ministry Headquarters which, in practical terms, are managed by other departments within the broader Ministry.

While the Budget Book identifies five capital cost centres under the Ministry Headquarters, it is important to clarify that only two of these are directly overseen by the Headquarters team. The remaining three are managed by their respective departments and will be discussed in detail during their individual budget presentations under the appropriate heads.

Mr. Chairman, focusing now on the capital projects that are managed directly by the Ministry Headquarters, the 2025/26 Capital Expenditure Plan includes the following allocations under Capital Development:

- Cost centre 75050—Minor Works: allocated $300,000; and
- Cost centre 75053—Miscellaneous Small Projects: allocated $280,000

These particular cost centres are typically used to fund discretionary community-based projects—small but meaningful initiatives that enhance public infrastructure, improve amenities, or respond to urgent local needs that fall outside the scope of larger capital programmes. Examples of such works include minor building repairs, accessibility improvements, fencing installations, landscaping upgrades, and enhancements to public-use spaces.

Mr. Chairman, you will also note a decrease in the allocation for cost centre 75050 compared to the previous year. As Honourable Members may recall, during the mid-year budgetary review in 2024, this cost centre received a one-time increase specifically to support minor community projects. That additional funding was fully utilised on targeted initiatives, such as landscaping works, fencing upgrades along North Shore, and other small-scale improvements that addressed community feedback and improved the functionality and safety of public spaces.

While the allocation for 2025/26 returns to its standard level, these funds continue to play a vital role in giving the Ministry the flexibility to act swiftly on community priorities and address infrastructure needs that do not require full-scale capital project planning.

Capital Acquisitions

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, the total Capital Acquisitions Plan for the Ministry of Public Works—Headquarters for the 2025/26 fiscal year is $878,500, as outlined on page C-13.

This allocation includes funding for one capital acquisition that is directly managed by the Ministry Headquarters:

- Cost centre 76868—Communications Equipment: This allocation will fund the purchase and installation of [a] new communications [tower] in St. David's. As mentioned earlier in my presentation, this new tower is critical to relocating existing telecommunications infrastructure currently mounted on the St. David's Lighthouse, thereby allowing for essential preservation and renovation works to proceed at that historically significant site.

Mr. Chairman, while the Estimates reflect three cost centres under the Ministry Headquarters, I would like to clarify that only the aforementioned cost centre—related to the communications equipment—is managed directly by the Headquarters team. The remaining two cost centres fall under the remit of the Department of Works and Engineering, and their details will be addressed in that department's specific presentation.

This targeted investment underlines the Ministry's ongoing efforts to ensure the reliability of our critical communications infrastructure, while also supporting the conservation of Bermuda's heritage assets.

Mr. Chairman, before concluding, I would like to take a moment to recognise Ms. Elizabeth Smith, who retired this past November after more than 20 years of dedicated service to the Ministry's Purchasing Section.

Ms. Smith was a cornerstone of our procurement operations, working diligently behind the scenes to ensure the Ministry's needs were met with integrity and a deep knowledge of the processes. Her calm presence, professionalism, and unwavering commitment earned her the respect and gratitude of colleagues across the Ministry.

She was not only a skilled public officer, but also a generous team member, always ready to support others and share her institutional knowledge.

On behalf of the Ministry, I extend our heartfelt thanks to Ms. Smith for her exceptional service and wish her a fulfilling and well-earned retirement.

Mr. Chairman, this concludes my presentation for the Ministry Headquarters, Head 36 and I will now turn to Head 68, the Department of Parks as found on pages B-207 through B-213, page C-6 and page C-13.

The Chairman: Thank you, Minister. Are you opening up for questions now? Or are you going to go straight into Head 68, which is Parks?

Hon. Jache Adams: Yes.

The Chairman: All right.

HEAD 68—DEPARTMENT OF PARKS

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, the Department of Parks plays a vital role in the stewardship of Bermuda's natural and recreational landscapes. It is entrusted with the administration and management of protected areas as outlined in both the Bermuda National Parks Act 1986 and the Bermuda National Parks Amendment Act 2017.

These Acts categorise protected areas into three classifications:

- Class A—[Nature] Reserves, which fall under the responsibility of the Department of Environment and Natural Resources (and will be addressed in my next brief);
- Class B—Amenity Parks, managed by the Department of Parks; and
- Class C—Recreational Parks, which are overseen by the Department of Sport and Recreation.

Under Class B, the Department of Parks is responsible for 76 amenity parks, which include a broad range of public spaces, such as playgrounds, historic forts, landscaped gardens, and the extensive Bermuda Railway Trail, a treasured corridor for walkers, cyclists, and nature enthusiasts.

The department's mission is clear and impactful: To [develop] and maintain public amenity parks, beaches, forts, and public school grounds, and to cultivate plants for use in areas under the department's remit. To provide safe, aesthetically pleasing, active and passive recreational and educational facilities for the enjoyment of residents and visitors alike.

Mr. Chairman, in addition to maintaining these green and cultural spaces, the department also delivers a vital Lifeguard Service at four of Bermuda's busiest public beaches: Horseshoe Bay, John Smith's Bay, Clearwater Beach, and Turtle Bay. These lifeguards are professionally trained and ensure the safety of thousands of beachgoers every year.

Beyond parkland and beaches, the Department of Parks also manages a wide-ranging portfolio of responsibilities that includes the landscape and horticultural maintenance of

- roadside verges and roundabouts;
- public school grounds;
- government health care facilities (clinics, rest homes);
- post offices and community centres;
- historic and ceremonial sites such as Clifton, The Laurels, Montpelier, and Government House.

The department is also responsible for plant propagation, cultivation, and upkeep at government properties, supporting Bermuda's biodiversity and contributing to the aesthetic appeal of public spaces across the Island.

Mr. Chairman, the work of the Department of Parks is critical not only to environmental preservation but also to public well-being, tourism, and national pride. Its contribution to the maintenance and protection of open spaces ensures that Bermuda's natural heritage is accessible, safe, and enjoyable for residents and visitors.

As we continue to face the challenges of urban development, climate change, and population growth, the goal of the department remains unwavering: to develop, conserve, and protect open spaces for current and future generations.

The value of this department cannot be overstated, and its contributions reach far beyond aesthetics—they are foundational to quality of life in Bermuda. With that in mind, I am pleased to state that the Current Account Expenditure estimate allotted to the Department of Parks for the 2025/26 fiscal year . . .

Mr. Chairman, as seen on page B-208, the Current Account Expenditure is $11,547,000 which represents a $1,278,000 increase over the prior year's original budget of $10,268,882 and is broken down into five programmes:

1. Park Services, 6801
2. Lifeguard Service, 6802
3. Park Maintenance, 6803
4. Administration, 6804
5. Forts, 6805

Park Ranger Service, 6801

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, the first programme under the Department of Parks is programme 6801, Park Ranger Service, associated with cost centre 78000.

The Park Ranger Service is responsible for enforcing the provisions of the National Parks Act 1986 and the National Parks Regulations 1988. Rangers patrol Bermuda's national parks, beaches, and nature reserves, monitoring the condition of these areas and the activities taking place within them. Their duties include responding to incidents, ensuring compliance with park regulations, and supporting the safe and responsible use of public lands.

Rangers also play a key role in managing special events and functions held within the parks, liaising closely with community groups, event organisers, and industry partners to ensure smooth operations and minimal environmental impact.

Mr. Chairman, beyond enforcement duties, the Park Ranger Service is deeply engaged in community outreach and education. On an annual basis, Rangers support and participate in a range of public service initiatives, including:

- Charity walks and cycling fundraisers,
- CPR, First Aid, and AED certification courses,
- Guided interpretive tours for schools and summer camps,
- Organised clean-up campaigns—both scheduled and post-hurricane,
- Collaborative projects with civic and environmental organisations.

The [Park Ranger] Service enjoys strong working relationships with key stakeholders, including the Bermuda Police Service—particularly the Community Action Team—as well as Keep Bermuda Beautiful (KBB), the Friends of the Bermuda Railway Trail, and the Association of Bermuda International Companies (ABIC). These partnerships enhance the department's ability to enforce regulations and preserve the natural beauty of our parks.

However, Mr. Chairman, despite these efforts, the issue of abandoned vehicles, boats, furniture, and illegal dumping in our parks remains a persistent challenge. The department continues to work proactively and collaboratively to address these matters and mitigate their environmental and aesthetic impact.

For the 2025/26 fiscal year, the budget allocation for the Park Ranger Service is $575,000, representing an increase of $77,000 compared to the previous year. This increase is primarily due to the addition of one new full-time [position] within the Ranger team, as well as the salary scale adjustments previously referenced, reflecting government-wide efforts to ensure fair compensation for public officers.

Lifeguard Service, 6802

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, the second programme under the Department of Parks is programme 6802, Lifeguard Service, which falls under cost centre 78010.

This critical service is responsible for enforcing the National Parks Regulations 1988 as they pertain to public beach safety. The Lifeguard Service provides trained personnel at four public beaches—Horseshoe Bay, John Smith's Bay, Clearwater Beach, and Turtle Bay—and delivers water safety outreach across the Island.

In addition to their daily responsibilities, lifeguards support community events such as the Bermuda Triathlon, providing essential water safety oversight. They also contribute to the Emergency Measures Organisation (EMO) by offering real-time surf condition assessments before and after storms and hurricanes. Moreover, their training makes them valuable assets during post-storm recovery efforts, assisting with tree felling, road clearance, and general restoration work on government properties and beaches.

Mr. Chairman, as I have noted previously, enhanced lifeguard coverage at our beaches is urgently needed—particularly as tourism rebounds and considering recent tragic incidents that have highlighted the vital role these frontline professionals play in protecting lives.

At present, the service is largely seasonal, resulting in gaps in coverage during the off-season, which leaves our beaches vulnerable. Despite previous budget increases, the department continues to experience challenges in recruiting and retaining qualified lifeguards—an issue compounded by global shortages in water safety personnel.

To address this, the Government is taking decisive action. We are

- reviewing the organisational structure of the Lifeguard Service,
- updating job descriptions and compensation packages,
- and collaborating with the Royal National Lifeboat Institution (RNLI) to elevate training standards and safety protocols.

In support of this commitment, the 2025/26 budget allocates $1,520,000 to the Lifeguard Service, an increase of $818,000 over the previous fiscal year.

This enhanced funding will facilitate the recruitment of up to eight full-time consultant lifeguards, who will be engaged on one- to two-year contracts. This measure ensures consistent, year-round coverage at our major beaches while longer-term human resources processes are finalised.

To clarify, the additional funding is not simply divided among consultants; rather, it supports a comprehensive staffing package that includes

- a consultant pay rate of $30.61 per hour,
- room and board for all eight consultants, including any Bermudian hires who meet the criteria,
- health insurance coverage for these frontline safety personnel,

- modest pay scale increases for seasonal life-guards, aimed at improving retention,
- and an expanded contingency budget to accommodate overtime and emergency deployments during hurricane season and other crises.

Mr. Chairman, this investment reflects the Government's clear and unwavering commitment to public safety, workforce stability, and the protection of our residents and visitors.

I am pleased to report that the department is in the final stages of securing these qualified individuals, and I look forward to providing this Honourable House with a formal update in the near future.

Park Maintenance, 6803

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, the third programme within the Department of Parks is programme 6803, Park Maintenance Service, encompassing nine distinct sub-programmes as detailed on page B-208. This division employs the majority of the department's staff and is integral to the day-to-day maintenance of Bermuda's protected areas.

In accordance with the Bermuda National Parks Act 1986 and its amendments, the Park Maintenance Service is responsible for

- landscape maintenance of amenity parks, beaches, and associated facilities;
- sanitation services across the Bermuda National Parks System;
- horticultural upkeep along roadside verges, public school grounds, clinics, rest homes, post offices, and other Government properties, including Clifton, The Laurels, Montpelier, and Government House.

Additionally, the department's versatile staff provide vital support to the Emergency Measures Organisation, assisting with recovery efforts following hurricanes and storms to ensure Bermuda's swift return to normalcy.

As such, the section's Budget Allocations for 2025/26 are as follows:

- Government House and Camden Programme [(78015)]: $357,000 (an increase of $64,000), reflecting staff reassignments and salary scale adjustments.
- Maintenance and Development Programme [(78020)]: $1,074,000 (an increase of $120,000), due to staff movements and salary scale adjustments.
- Eastern Parks Programme [(78030)]: $855,000 (a decrease of $148,000), resulting from staff reassignments.
- Tree Service Programme [(78035)]: $431,000 (a decrease of $108,000), attributed to staff movements.
- Western Parks Programme [(78040)]: $1,461,000 (an increase of $48,000), due to

Bermuda House of Assembly

staff reassignments and salary scale increases.

- School Grounds Programme [(78045)]: $556,000 (an increase of $21,000), primarily due to increased material costs.
- Tulo Valley Nursery Programme [(78055)]: $695,000 (an increase of $276,000), reflecting staff reassignments and salary scale adjustments.
- Botanical Gardens and Arboretum Programme [(78065)]: $1,549,000 (a decrease of $36,000), resulting from staff reassignments.
- Railway Trail Programme [(78100)]: $320,000, consistent with the previous budget cycle. This programme requires targeted landscape management, including the removal of invasive species and the introduction of native and endemic plants.

Mr. Chairman, the department's commitment to maintaining Bermuda's parks and green spaces is unwavering. Through strategic staffing and budget allocations, we continue to ensure that these areas remain safe, accessible, and aesthetically pleasing to residents and visitors alike.

Administration, 6804

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, the fourth programme at the Department of Parks is 6804, Administration and Planning, cost centre 78050.

The Administration and Planning Programme 78050 is the hub of the department where the operational and organisational functions that underpin the running of the department are conceived and implemented. This section works closely with the superintendents as there is collaboration required on many of the Parks' initiatives.

The Administration and Planning Teams are responsible for the issuing permits to lease areas within the amenity parks and forts. The Planning component of this programme is responsible for drafting and developing plans for areas within the national parks, as well as park planning and design, the drafting of park management plans, the issuance of licences, and leases for concession operations in addition to capital project oversight, parks assets analysis and other key operational activities.

Mr. Chairman, the budget allocation for this programme is $1,371,000, an increase of $53,000 attributed to salary scale increases.

Mr. Chairman, the Administrative section also includes the Agricultural Exhibition, cost centre 78110 which has a $236,625 budget an increase of $64,607 to help bring this annual tradition to fruition.

Forts, 6805

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, the fifth and final programme under the Department of Parks is programme 6805, Forts and Historical Sites, listed under cost centre 78080.

The Department of Parks is the steward of Bermuda's rich cultural and historical legacy, including the preservation and upkeep of numerous forts and historical sites. These treasured locations are not only integral to our heritage but continue to serve as popular venues for both residents and visitors.

Fort St. Catherine, in particular, remains the most visited fortification and holds special significance as part of the UNESCO World Heritage Site in the Town of St. George's. Recognised as one of the top cultural attractions in Bermuda, Fort St. Catherine is especially appealing to history enthusiasts and continues to generate strong interest for events such as weddings, guided tours, and educational visits—with bookings already secured for the 2025/26 fiscal year.

To preserve and promote these important sites, the department will continue to collaborate with key stakeholders, including the Bermuda Tourism Authority and other local partners, to enhance marketing efforts, to improve accessibility, and ensure proper maintenance of these historical assets.

In support of these efforts, a total allocation of $541,000 has been set aside for this programme in the 2025/26 fiscal year—a modest increase of $23,000 from the previous year. This increase will fund staff training initiatives and salary scale adjustments, enabling the department to strengthen its capacity to protect and showcase Bermuda's cultural heritage.

Before I move on, Mr. Chairman, it would be remiss of me not to mention Mrs. Francine Trott—a relative of my honourable colleagues from the eastern end of the Island and a dedicated public servant whose career has left an indelible mark on the Department of Parks, particularly within the Forts Section.

Mrs. Trott has served the department with distinction for over 30 years, bringing not only a wealth of knowledge and experience, but also a deep sense of pride and care to her work. Her commitment to preserving and maintaining some of Bermuda's most treasured historic sites has been nothing short of extraordinary.

Throughout her tenure, she played a vital role in ensuring that our forts—which are symbols of Bermuda's rich history—remained safe, accessible, and well cared for, not just for our residents, but also for the hundreds of visitors who walk their grounds each year.

Beyond her technical contributions, Mrs. Trott has been a mentor and a source of steady support to her colleagues—always willing to share her knowledge, offer a helping hand, and take pride in a job well done. Her presence within the department will be missed dearly.

On behalf of the Ministry of Public Works and Environment, I extend our heartfelt gratitude to Mrs.

Francine Trott for her decades of dedicated service. We wish her all the very best in her retirement—may it be filled with health, happiness, and the same sense of purpose that she brought to her work each and every day.

The Chairman: Thank you, Minister. And for the listening public we are on the Ministry of Public Works and Environment. It is a four-and-a-half-hour debate, five Heads—36, 68, 79, 81 and 82. We have just completed the second head which is Head 68 and I believe that the Minister is going to go onto Head 79.

Hon. Jache Adams: Not quite, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: Oh, sorry.

Hon. Jache Adams: Almost finished.

The Chairman: I was too slow on the last one, too fast on this one.

Hon. Jache Adams: Yes, yes, yes.

[Laughter]

Hon. Jache Adams: We'll get it right. We'll get it right.

Subjective Analysis of Current Account Estimates

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, I now draw Honourable Members' attention to page B-209, which outlines the Ministry's Current Account Estimates for the 2025/26 fiscal year in detail.

Upon review, Members will note a collective increase of $171,000 in salaries and an additional $306,000 in wages. These adjustments reflect this Government's ongoing commitment to fair compensation and investment in our public officers, particularly in recognition of their dedication and the increasingly complex demands of public service.

Additionally, Mr. Chairman, there is an $800,000 increase under the Professional Services line item. As previously discussed, this allocation is tied directly to the engagement of consultant life-guards, which forms a critical part of our strategy to strengthen beach safety.

This targeted use of professional services represents not only a strategic response to staffing shortfalls but also a proactive approach to enhancing public safety during a time of growing tourism and increased beach usage.

Revenue Summary

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, the department anticipates generating $227,000 in revenue during the 2025/26 fiscal year—consistent with the amount collected in the previous year.

Full-Time Equivalents (FTE)

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, the budgeted number of employees for the Department of Parks is 132 as reflected on page B-210, a decrease of one from the previous fiscal year.

As previously noted, the reduction in the reported number of posts does not indicate job losses or downsizing but rather reflects a more accurate and transparent budgeting approach. Unlike past years, the current figures include only filled or actively funded positions, providing a more realistic view of the department's true staffing levels and supporting better planning and resource management.

Performance Measures

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, as outlined on page B-211, the department has set forth a series of key performance targets for the 2025/26 fiscal year to guide service delivery, ensure legislative compliance, and reinforce our commitment to operational excellence across all programme areas.

For the Park Ranger Service, the department anticipates the following:

- Issuance of 45 camping permits within our parklands. This represents a slight increase over 2024/25, when fewer permits were issued.
- Approximately 460 special permits for large-scale events—again, an increase from last fiscal year, reflecting greater demand for park-based activities.
- A forecast of 180 incidents reported across the Parks system. While this number appears high, I am pleased to note that only 40 incidents were recorded in 2024/25, and the projection accounts for expanded reporting and monitoring.
- Ten interpretive tours are planned for the year. This is double the five conducted last year, with the previous reduction largely due to increased private-sector offerings by local tour operators.

With respect to the Lifeguard Service:

- Lifeguards are expected to provide coverage at four public beaches, with potential expansion depending on the number of qualified seasonal applicants.
- While 54 water rescues were performed in the last fiscal year, we are working to reduce this figure through enhanced public awareness, increased preventative measures, and better compliance with safety guidance.
- We will also continue to monitor and respond to metrics such as preventative actions, minor and major first aid treatments, with the goal of minimising risk through proactive engagement.

For Park Maintenance operations: the department will continue delivering high-quality landscaping, sanitation, and horticultural services across parks, beaches, school grounds, and other government properties. I am pleased to report that the team consistently met its performance expectations throughout 2024/25.

Mr. Chairman, these performance indicators reflect the department's ongoing efforts to promote continuous improvement, enhance public safety, and uphold accountability. They serve as measurable outcomes tied to our broader mission of preserving Bermuda's natural and recreational assets for the enjoyment and well-being of all.

Capital Developments

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, for the 2025/26 fiscal year, the Department of Parks will undertake several important capital projects that reflect the Government's continued commitment to enhancing Bermuda's public spaces and infrastructure.

To support this, the department has been allocated $1.2 million under the Park Improvements line item 75101, as outlined on page C-6. This funding will be used for a variety of infrastructure upgrades, including:

- repairs to the Kindley Field Boat Ramp at Stonecrusher Corner, improving access and safety for the boating community;
- installation of a Temporary Lifeguard Station at Horseshoe Bay to enhance beach safety during peak periods;
- repairs to the Tulo Valley Government Plant Nursery Greenhouse, which supports the propagation and care of flora used across public lands;
- renovations to the Cacti House, Exotic House, and Visitor's Centre at the Botanical Gardens to improve visitor experience and preserve these vital assets; and
- replacement of playground and outdoor exercise equipment at various locations across the Island to support healthy recreation and public wellness.

Mr. Chairman, I also wish to address the longstanding issue of the department's administrative headquarters. Since 2016, the department has been operating from a temporary space on the first floor of Global House in Hamilton, following the deterioration of its previous facility. This current location, while functional in the interim, is not fit for the operational or administrative needs of the department.

As such, the Government has allocated $500,000 (also found on page C-6) to continue the design and planning of a new purpose-built Headquarters and Maintenance Facility at the Marsh Folly site. This project represents a strategic investment in the department's long-term capacity and will ensure that staff are housed in a modern, efficient, and purpose-designed environment that enables them to better serve the public.

Capital Acquisitions

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, under Capital Acquisitions, cost centre 76474, Vehicles, as outlined on page C-13, there is a reported allocation for vehicle purchases.

However, as with previous years, while this cost centre appears under the Department of Parks, it is important to clarify that the Department of Works and Engineering is responsible for managing and executing this line item. As such, further details regarding this allocation will be provided during that presentation.

Mr. Chairman, this now concludes my presentation for the Department of Parks, Head 68, and I will now turn to Head 79—Department of Environment and Natural Resources as found on pages B-214 through B-[221], C-6, C-13 and C-19.

The Chairman: Thank you, Minister. For the listening public, we have just concluded the second of five heads. We just finished Head 68 and the Minister is now going to go into Head 79 under the Environment and Natural Resources.

Minister.

HEAD 79—DEPARTMENT OF ENVIRONMENT AND NATURAL RESOURCES

Hon. Jache Adams: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. Chairman, it gives me great pleasure to present the budget for Head 79, the Department of Environment and Natural Resources [DENR], found on pages B-214 through B-221, C-6, C-13 and C-19 of the Approved Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure.

Mission

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, starting on page B-214, the Mission of the Department of Environment and Natural Resources is To protect Bermuda's environment and responsibly manage its natural resources.

The department's objectives comprise the following:

1. To provide strategic direction and management in the formulation and implementation of legislation, policy, and standards to protect Bermuda's environment.
2. To reduce negative impacts to Bermuda's natural environment, biodiversity, natural resources, and marine heritage.
3. To increase the Island's food security and local food production.

4. To better ensure the survival of threatened species and habitats.
5. To improve humane care and protection of animals.
6. To improve the quality of Bermuda's ambient air and water quality.
7. To improve care and appreciation of Bermuda's natural environment and marine cultural heritage.

To meet these objectives, the department has 14 business units as shown on page B-215 each of which comprise a varied complement of skilled officers. The business units are as follows:

- 89000 Administration
- 89010 Marine Resources
- 89020 Marine Conservation
- 89030 Marine Heritage and Health
- 89040 Marine Enforcement
- 89050 Terrestrial Conservation
- 89060 Veterinary Services
- 89070 Animal Control
- 89080 Plant Protection
- 89090 Agronomy
- 89100 Pollution Control
- 89110 BAMZ Administration
- 89120 Aquarium and Zoo
- 89130 Museum

Expenditure Overview

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, on page B-216 you will note that the department's total budget allocation is approximately $9,148,000 for the 2025/26 fiscal year. This represents an increase of $279,000, or 3 per cent when compared to the original budget of the previous year. This increase is due to the increase in salary and wages and energy costs, as well as the hiring of a new temporary assistant for the Marine Resources Section.

Mr. Chairman, the Subjective Analysis of Current Account estimates is found on page B-216 and includes the following:

- The total salaries for the department is shown on Line 1 and is an increase of $135,000 from fiscal year 2024/25. Wages is shown on Line 2 with an increase of $121,000, an 11 per cent increase. The total of salaries and wages represents 79 per cent of the department's budget.
- Professional Services is shown on Line 9 and is $276,000. This budget provides funds for the overseas consultant agronomist and to undertake specialised environmental-related scientific studies and monitoring to address various pollution and fisheries issues.
- Energy is shown on Line 13 and is $494,000. This is the same allocation as the previous year. It is noted that high energy costs are required to energise the numerous buildings managed by the department, inclusive of the Bermuda Aquarium, Museum and Zoo [BAMZ], as well as the Agriculture Services Centre.

I would note that significant efforts have been made to reduce energy consumption throughout the department where possible. Both the department headquarters and the BAMZ have significant solar installations and the BAMZ also has an integrated energy reduction plan that they have been implementing for several years. An audit of energy usage across the five sites and other buildings of the department is recommended to ensure that the benefits of solar installations and other cost-saving measures are maximised.

- Grants and contributions are shown on Line 18 in the amount of $230,000. These funds account for the grant to the Bermuda Institute for Ocean Sciences [BIOS] to address some of the requirements of the Clean Air Act. Further explanation will be provided under Grants and Contributions.

Mr. Chairman, these increases to salaries have been offset where possible with savings from building rental for a satellite fisheries warden.

Revenue Summary

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, the department's Revenue Summary is found on page B-217. The department generates revenue from a variety of licences, permits, services and other fees including: licensing of dogs, lobster and fishing activities, water rights, clean air operating licences, crop storage fees and daily visitor admissions to BAMZ.

The department's projected revenue is estimated to be $1,374,000 for the 2025/26 fiscal year. This estimate represents an increase of $6,000 when compared to the original estimate of the 2024/25 fiscal year.

An analysis of the projected revenue, includes the following:

- Admissions, 8253, is shown on Line 2. Admissions are projected to increase $38,000 over the original estimate from 2024/25. This increase is attributed to revenue expected from an upward trend in entrance fees into the Bermuda Aquarium, Museum and Zoo [BAMZ].
- Several other revenue cost centres are expected to decrease slightly, and these will be explained as part of the forthcoming performance measures discussion. However, of note are the reductions of Lobster Divers Licence by $21,000 or 33 per cent. This is reflective of a decision to reduce the number of licences to lessen the pressure on Bermuda's lobster population, which continues to show signs of significant stress, and to help this important resource recover. It is noted that the expected reduction in dog licence revenue across the Bermuda Post Office counter in 8495 of $40,000 and associated increase in expected revenue collected at the department head office Dog Licences reflects the transition to the GovPilot online licence payment system that is currently in the process of being beta tested.

Manpower

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, the department has 79 full-time equivalent posts as shown on page B-218 of the Approved Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure. This remains the same as for the original for last year's budget.

Currently the department has 10 funded vacancies. Priority to fill the following funded posts this year include:

- Fisheries Warden
- Accounts Assistant
- Administrative Officer
- Plant Protection Officer
- Veterinary Officer
- Marketing Manager [BIU—Agriculture Service Centre]
- Marine Enforcement Officer
- Environmental Engineer
- Agronomist
- Collector of Marine Specimens

The department is in the process of identifying a trainee agronomist to provide critical services to our farmers after the previous trainee resigned in November 2024. I also note that the department continues to modernise numerous job descriptions throughout the department's organisational structure to accurately reflect operational need and priorities.

Capital Development Expenditure

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, the capital expenditure budget for the department can be found on page C-6.

The department has two active capital accounts focused on minor works.

Project 75271, Minor Works for the Environment and Natural Resources is a capital minor works budget of $150,000 that will provide for the general maintenance and upgrading of the headquarters facility and plant protection laboratory located in the Botanical Gardens, the Coney Island Facility for marine resources management and enforcement, the Government Agriculture Service Centre in Prospect, the Government kennels, and improvements in the 200 acres of Government-owned nature reserves and associated buildings managed by the department.

Due to the need for specialised facilities and educational displays $100,000 has been allocated to the Bermuda Aquarium Museum and Zoo, for repairs to exhibits and life support systems. This is shown in Project 75236, Aquarium Refurbishment. This includes minor repairs to ensure the continued operation of the Zoo and Aquarium.

Mr. Chairman, I am pleased to announce that $2,500,000 has been allocated to continue the ground investigation work for the replacement Agriculture Services Centre. This is shown in Project 75367, [Agriculture Services Centre]. I can advise that at this time a new replacement centre has been designed and received full Planning permission. This funding will allow for the completion of the project's contract and preparation of the new site adjacent to the current facility. I look forward to briefing this Honourable House on this and other important agriculture-related projects that are aimed at providing important support to our farmers and bolstering the Island's food security.

Mr. Chairman, I am also pleased to announce that $1,750,000 has been allocated towards the implementation of the Master Plan 2025–2038 to improve and transform the Bermuda Aquarium, Museum and Zoo. This is shown as 75371, BAMZ Master Plan—Infrastructure.

[Crosstalk]

Hon. Jache Adams: One happy customer.

[Laughter]

Grants and Contributions

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, the department has traditionally engaged local entities to undertake specialised studies, such as the Ambient Air Quality programme through the Bermuda Institute of Ocean Sciences [BIOS]. The funding for the Ambient Air quality monitoring programme can be found on page C-19 as 7006, BBSR—Air/Water Quality Study.

The grant for $230,000 will enable the department to meet its monitoring requirements mandated by the Clean Air Act 1991. I can confirm that seven monitoring stations are currently being installed in areas around the Island, including in the vicinity of BELCO, to monitor the Island's air quality. I will elaborate on this in due course.

Output Measures

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, while a complete tabulation of the Output Measures for the Department of Environment and Natural Resources can be found on pages B-219 to B-221 of the Approved Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for 2025/26, I will endeavour to highlight some of the measures of note.

Business Unit 89000, Administration
Noted on Budget Page B-219

Hon. Jache Adams: Twenty-four protected species permit applications for research licences were issued to local and international researchers within five working days in fiscal year 2024/25. This is higher than the seven issued for 2023/24 and perhaps reflects the need for greater understanding of our local biodiversity.

Research topics included a wide gamut of interest including surveys for reintroduced captive-bred endemic land snails and Bermuda skinks, cave mapping as well as collecting and identifying marine cave-dwelling species, and surveys on non-native freshwater crayfish in local wetlands. Work continued to determine the status of our leafcutter bees, potential sea level rise impacts to caves, collection of terrestrial plant seeds, and rat detection in the landscape using artificial intelligence. All of these were paid for by our project collaborators at no cost to the Government. A number of invasive pest species continue to have a negative impact on Bermuda's ecology and farming sector, as well as being nuisances to the general public. These are predominantly bird species such as feral chickens, pigeons and crows. However, the department is also addressing increasing numbers of complaints from other species such as rabbits and guinea pigs that have been released into the wild. The department removed over 6,000 pest species for 2024/25 which is down on 2023/24 at 8,000 species.

Business Unit 89010, Marine Resources Noted on Budget Page B-219.

Hon. Jache Adams: Sustaining our local fisheries is paramount. In the fiscal year 2024/25, the Marine Resources Section continued to successfully manage the licensing of our commercial finfish and lobster fisheries, and the recreational lobster and spearfishing fisheries, as well as providing support to the Marine Resources Board and the Commercial Fisheries Council. Work also continued on data collection for the spiny lobster, guinea chick, and black grouper research programmes, including a pilot spiny lobster recruitment study. The section also maintained compliance with our membership to the International Commission for the Conservation of Atlantic Tunas [ICCAT], as well as providing support to the Sargasso Sea Commission.

Additionally, the Marine Resources Section served as the department lead for several specialised projects, including the Bermuda Ocean Prosperity Programme and the UK Blue Belt Ocean Shield Programme. Some of the achievements under these programmes during the past year are

- the completion of the final draft of a Blue Prosperity Plan for Bermuda, which includes a

Marine Spatial Plan and a Blue Economy Strategy; and

- the preparation of a Cabinet memo to seek Government approval for a Marine Development Act that will enable the Marine Spatial Plan and promote sustainable use of Bermuda's marine environment;

The Chairman: Minister—

Hon. Jache Adams: Yes.

The Chairman: I am actually very riveted in what you are talking about because in another life I wanted to be a marine biologist. However, it has been brought to my attention that we are approaching the 12:30 mark, so I will leave it up to you to find a place to leave off and then you can move the motion to take us to lunch.

Hon. Jache Adams: Thank you, Mr. Chairman. I will be one minute.

[Committee of Supply, continuing]

Hon. Jache Adams:

- the finalisation of a stock assessment for the red hind fishery;
- the development of a new online platform and mobile app designed to modernise fisheries data management in Bermuda;
- actioning of the 2024-25 workplan for the Blue Belt Ocean Shield Programme that is strengthening marine enforcement and compliance, alongside maritime domain awareness; and
- the development of data sharing protocols and a shiprider agreement with the U.S. Coast Guard to assist with monitoring Bermuda's waters for IUU [illegal, unreported and unregulated] fishing.

Mr. Speaker [sic], I think at this moment, I will—Mr. Chairman, I move at this moment . . . I will stop here for lunch, so I move that we break for lunch and return at 2:00 pm.

The Chairman: The motion has been moved that we go to lunch and come back at 2:00 pm. Any objections?

No objections. We will break for lunch.

COMMITTEE OF SUPPLY

ESTIMATES OF REVENUE AND EXPENDITURE FOR THE YEAR 2025/26

MINISTRY OF PUBLIC WORKS AND ENVIRONMENT

[Continuation thereon]

The Chairman: Good afternoon, Members. We are now in the resumption of the Committee of Supply for further consideration of the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for the year 2025/26.

I call on the Minister in charge to continue, and I do believe we are at Head 79. Am I correct, Minister?

Hon. Jache Adams: That is correct, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: Thank you, very much, Minister. Go right ahead.

HEAD 79—DEPARTMENT OF ENVIRONMENT AND NATURAL RESOURCES [DENR]

Hon. Jache Adams: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. Chairman, for the listening audience I am on the output measures for business unit 89020 Marine Conservation noted in the Budget Book on page B-219.

The Chairman: Thank you, Minister.

Marine Conservation

Hon. Jache Adams: In addition to its many other duties in 2024/25 the Marine Conservation Section reviewed 10 planning applications pertaining to the marine environment, presenting all of them to the Marine Resources Board within four weeks of receiving the application. This represents 100 per cent response target. This was down on the numbers of consultations received in 2023/24 at 17, but all were responded to within the Department of Planning in 2024/25. It is expected that in 2025/26 this may increase to 25 applications, but this is wholly dependent on development interest.

Mr. Chairman, 75 marine habitat assessments were conducted in the 2024/25 period. The majority of these were related to seagrass surveys. This was an increase from the 65 habitat assessments completed in 2023/24.

Marine Heritage and Health

Hon. Jache Adams: The Marine Heritage and Health, [which] is noted on page B-219. In 2024/25, the 14 marine heritage consultations were conducted by the section within 20 working days which was slightly down on the 2023/24 period of 17 consultations. It is expected that in 2025/26 dependent on development interest, the numbers will remain about the same as the original forecast with 12 applications being received, and 100 per cent being responded to within 20 working days.

Visits to protected dive sites and use of the Government-managed moorings by residents continue to increase as cruise ship and airlines visits continue to grow and more residents visit our reef. The percentage of the 40 protected dive site moorings being largely in place and operational for the summer of 2024/25 dive season represents 97.5 per cent of the total. These represent an increase from the actual number of dive site moorings available in 2023/24 of 35, representing 88 per cent of the required availability for the summer months.

In 2025/26 it is expected that there will be 40 dive site moorings in place for the whole summer season and 100 per cent will be assessed within 60 days and repairs made in readiness for the season. This coming season is expected to be very active as both tour operators and recreational marine users take advantage of this unique natural resource. The department has also recently improved the website that describes the wreck at each site location, including no fishing zones and other restrictions and protections.

The department and the Ministry are most grateful to the Stempel Foundation for its continued support of this important project.

The DENR Marine Heritage Section's boat Firefly was badly damaged in Hurricane Ernesto in August of 2024. Survey of the crash scene deemed it was unsafe to repair. Insurance claims were brought and paid to Government in January of 2025 and application for the 2025/26 budget has been made for a replacement research boat for the Marine Heritage section and to assist with various BOPP-driven [Bermuda Ocean Prosperity Programme] monitoring programmes.

Marine Enforcement

Hon. Jache Adams: Marine Enforcement is noted in the Budget Book on page B-220. In budget year 2024/25, there were 250 vessels were stopped and checked with particular attention to daily bag limits, fish size, and species restrictions. This level was below a typical season though an increase on 2023/24 at 215 vessel searches. This was due to personnel issues. I am happy to report that all patrol vessels are now in working order and efforts to synergise with the [Bermuda] Coast Guard Unit continues. Summonses for three cases of illegal fishing activity have been issued in the past 12 months with a further five cases due to lead to summonses shortly.

The DENR Coast Guard Unit and Marine and Port Services contribute to the witness statements for these cases with DENR leading on three and the Coast Guard Unit leading on five cases. It is noted that the current number of cases for prosecution are significantly up on the 2023/24 period of one. The department is also working with the Department of Public Prosecutions [DPP] to provide improved training on the importance of the fishery statutes in the context of protecting our marine environment against the ever-increasing stresses created by climate change.

Training of the judiciary is an important priority after a recent illegal fishing case resulted in a suspended sentence. The Marine Resources Enforcement Strategy is due for completion in June of 2025.

Terrestrial Conservation

Hon. Jache Adams: Terrestrial Conservation is noted in the Budget Book on page B-220. An important part of the Terrestrial Conservation section's mission is to provide environmental and habitat assessment advice to the Department of Planning and members of the public for all matters related to terrestrial conservation zones.

In fiscal year 2024/25, the section undertook 110 consultations on Planning applications, Environmental Impact Assessment Scoping Reports [EIAs], Conservation Management Plans, and proposed landscape schemes and 90 per cent were responded to within 20 days. This is slightly more than for the 2023/24 period at 109 consultations where 98 per cent were responded to within the 20 working day target. It is expected that similar numbers of applications will occur in this upcoming fiscal year.

The Terrestrial Conservation Crew continued their important job maintaining Bermuda's Government Nature Reserves, especially those used frequently by the public including visitors, such as Cooper's Island and Spittal Pond Nature Reserves. This work includes trail maintenance and control of invasive species such as Casuarina and Brazil Pepper, as well as replanting with native and endemic species.

The number of guided tours and talks provided by this section, especially to school and educational groups continues to be at normal levels of 49 for 2024/25 which is similar to 2023/24 at 50.

Veterinary Services

Hon. Jache Adams: Veterinary Services is noted, again in the Budget Book at page B-220. Activities of the Veterinary Services Section remained customer-focused on animal imports and re-visiting the conditions of entry for various species. However, a significant portion of activity focused on work in conjunction with animal control on animal welfare and judicial matters. As a result, lesser attention focused on farm production and animal welfare on farms over 2023/24 and 2024/25.

The additional Disease Response Plan that is currently being drafted for 2025/26 is to address avian flu if it reaches Bermuda. The resources required to meet the task listed in the plan in preparation for such a response will be discussed within the Ministry.

Animal Control

Hon. Jache Adams: Again, this is noted in the Budget Book on page B-220. During 2024/25, the percentage of dogs believed to be eligible for licensure and which were actually licensed was 30 per cent, which is a slight increase in 2023/24 at 26 per cent. This percentage is likely the result of multiple factors at play, including ongoing economic challenges in the community and the lack of awareness on behalf of dog owners. The department has set a forecast of a 40 per cent target for licensing for 2025/26 in anticipation of widespread publicity campaign and broadening enforcement tools. It is noted that the new online GovPilot licensing system is not for new licences, due to the various checks required for new pets, but for licence renewals. The total number of incidents and complaints investigated over 2023/24 was 1,027 and the average response time improved to one day. These numbers do not reflect the complexity of cases and the burden of housing and caring for the 387 animals taken in over the year.

Plant Protection

Hon. Jache Adams: Plant Protection is noted in the Budget Book on page B-220. There were 1,043,932 incoming items inspected for plant pests and diseases in 2024/25, with 9 per cent of those being found to be infested. This was a slight increase on the number of inspections for 2023/24 at 1,003,781 where typically 10 per cent were shown to be infested. It is expected that the trend for plant imports will remain steady in 2025/26. However, it is projected that the plant pest infestations may increase as a result of projected climate change which could lead to increases in pest populations and pest expansion into new geographical regions.

As in previous years, our plant protection biosecurity inspection process continues to be robust with high entry standards for propagation material and vigorous quarantine inspections taking place upon entry for all products that could pose a pest or disease risk to our environment. This includes mandatory inspections upon arrival of all floral and plant material: seeds, bulbs, fruits, vegetables, sand and potting mixes. Together these efforts continue to exclude the serious plant pests and diseases that would negatively impact our environment and our agricultural industry.

I am also happy to report that this year the Island received shipments of seed potatoes, strawberries plants and sweet potato cuttings for planting. These will be used to produce this year's crop and contribute positively to the Island's food security. The Plant Protection section continued its efforts to ensure that the importation process was smooth this year and reissued its guidance and regularly provided calendar alerts to importers as well as support at all stages. Further, all fees for regular inspections of food-related imports undertaken by the Plant Protection Laboratory continued to be waived in order to assist with keeping importation costs at a minimum.

A challenge that was addressed in 2024/25 was the unexpected arrival of lanternfly insects, a potential new pest to Bermuda that were littered over the outer surface of incoming cruise ships from the East Coast of the United States. Teams of DENR officers responded quickly to the situation, performing onboard quarantine inspections of arriving high-risk cruise vessels. In stating pre-arrival pest checks and carrying out follow-up inspections until it was clear that the lanternfly pest population no longer posed a risk to Bermuda.

It is noted that the many swarms of lanternfly insects currently in the US have arrived as invasive species from Asia.

The Chairman: Mm-hmm.

Agronomy

Hon. Jache Adams: Agronomy is noted in the Budget Book on page B-221. The Agriculture Service Centre is one of the main means by which the Government can provide direct assistance to our local farmers. The centre provides cold storage for local crops, ice for farmers and fishermen, packaging materials, banana ripening services, seeds, and chemicals.

In 2024/25, the Centre handled a total of $212,000 of produce, goods and services in support of the agriculture industry. This was similar; a slight increase in 2023/24 at $210,000. This general trend with a small increase is expected to continue through this year and in 2025/26. Similarly, I note that the economic embargos for locally grown vegetables are expected to remain consistent with 145 implemented in 2023/24 and 138 embargos issued in 2024/25. This confirms that our farmers are able to meet the local demand of certain crops for the entire Island for periods of time. Our consultant agronomist is working well with local farmers to help introduce more heat-tolerant varieties of certain crops in order to extend the growing season thereby extending the periods of the embargos.

I would like to extend a big thank you to all of our local farmers for all of their continued efforts with their hard work and their contributions to the improvement of the industry. Their produce continues to be of high quality and is therefore in high demand by the general public, restaurants and grocery stores. We look forward to seeing continued increases in the local agricultural industry and the Government will play its part to assisting and supporting our farmers to produce more good quality food for our Island. Increased local produce leads to increased food security. The availability of high quality, locally sourced fresh produce lends itself to healthier diets and improved well-being. We will continue to work with the Board of Agriculture and the Farmers Association to identify efficiencies and potential production cost reductions.

Pollution Control

Hon. Jache Adams: Again, noted in the Budget Book on page B-221. The Island's four main freshwater lenses remain at full capacity, but some allocated sectors continue to be underutilised causing the excess rainwater captured to overflow to the sea. Processes to fairly reallocate water rights to companies who will abstract fully the fresh groundwater that is available to them are being progressed. All reported spills of oil and fuel were monitored and cleaned up according to the Government guidelines. The progress made under the MOU [Memorandum of Understanding] between the Government and KBB [Keep Bermuda Beautiful] has resulted in 143 abandoned and derelict vessels being surveyed and advertised in The Official Gazette since 2021. Once suitably advertised, Government provides instruction to KBB for these vessels to be removed to the Airport Waste Management Facility using marine contractors who also drain fuel and oil and remove batteries as well. Working closely with the Bermuda Shipping and Maritime Authority and Marine and Port Services new regulations to address abandoned and derelict vessels are being considered that will help to address associated pollution and aesthetic issues with the goal of sharing these costs within the boating public.

Bermuda Aquarium, Museum Zoo Administration

Hon. Jache Adams: Bermuda Aquarium, Museum Zoo Administration [BAMZ] is noted in the Budget Book on page B-221. I am happy to report that the facility maintained its accreditation with the Association of Zoos and Aquariums and the facility continues to be one of the most popular attractions for both locals and visitors alike.

I would like to take a moment to thank the hard-working staff at the Bermuda Aquarium, Museum and Zoo for their dedication to all the animals in their care.

The Aquarium and Zoo

Hon. Jache Adams: Onsite veterinary examinations continued on a fairly normal schedule with over 250 animals in the Government collection receiving preventative veterinary care in fiscal year 2024/25. These numbers are a slight increase on 2023/24 at 232 animals receiving veterinary care.

Museum

Hon. Jache Adams: The Museum is again in the Budget Book at page B-221. The number of specimens, images and research papers added to the natural history collection was 5,076 in 2023/24 which is down on the target level of 4,000 due to the vacant underfunded librarian post.

MAJOR POLICY CHANGES AND ACHIEVEMENTS

Hon. Jache Adams: I will now provide additional details on the specialised projects that teams at the department had been working extremely hard on in addition to their regular duties.

Bermuda Ocean Prosperity Programme

Hon. Jache Adams: Firstly, Mr. Chairman, I would like to update this Honourable House on the Bermuda Ocean Prosperity Programme [BOPP]. As noted in previous years, the Government embarked on this programme in partnership with the nonprofit Waitt Institute and the Bermuda Institute of Ocean Science [BIOS] in June of 2019. The result of this programme will be the creation of an integrated marine spatial plan for the entirety of Bermuda's 200 nautical mile Economic Exclusive Zone [EEZ]. Also included in this initiative is a Blue Economy Strategy which will look into identifying ways to capitalise on numerous opportunities in our waters such as for fisheries, blue tourism, and ocean renewable energy.

In April of 2024 a finalised draft of the Marine Spatial Plan and Blue Economy Strategy, known together as the Blue Prosperity Plan was produced. The Minister of Home Affairs subsequently nominated an independent review panel to evaluate and respond to public submissions on the Blue Prosperity Plan's proposed marine protected area network and potential use areas. The panel provided its final recommendations to the Ministry later in 2024 and expressed strong support for the core objectives of the Marine Spatial Plan which included promoting the sustainable use of marine resources within the Bermuda's EEZ, protecting the marine ecosystems and enabling the recovery of fish and other marine populations to historically abundant levels.

In response to these recommendations the Ministry of Home Affairs committed to integrating a number of objectives into the final Marine Spatial Plan and it reaffirmed its commitment to adopting a phased implementation strategy of the plan to foster trust and ensure effective enforcement. Upon assuming my position as Minister of Public Works and Environment, I announced that the Government will be pausing implementation of new marine protected areas until an agreement was reached with local fishermen on better enforcement and fairer data collection rules to support any new marine protected areas. My Ministry recognises that collaboration and inclusivity are key to achieving the Blue Prosperity Plan's objectives and stresses that stakeholder engagement and partnership will be prioritised as the plan evolves.

Since taking office, I have met with and discussed the Blue Prosperity Plan with the Government's Statutory Board, the Commercial Fisheries Council, the Fishermen's Association of Bermuda and key personnel within the department, Bermuda Ocean Prosperity Programme and the Waitt Institute. As a reminder, the public can find all of the draft plans, background documents and consultation reports on the website www.bermudaoceanprosperity.org.

In addition to the progress made on the Marine Spatial Plan work also advanced on the Blue Economy Strategy. Particularly on the establishment of an Ocean Fund that will work hand in hand with the Marine Spatial Plan. As indicated by a press release on 3 February 2025, the Bermuda Ocean Prosperity Fund Limited has now been formally gazetted for incorporation. Once implemented, the Ocean Fund will drive financing into Bermuda projects and businesses to grow the economy in areas related to sustainable fisheries, sustainable tourism, marine technology, renewable energy and nature-based projects.

Mr. Chairman, another notable accomplishment under the Bermuda Ocean Prosperity Programme in 2024 was the finalisation of an assessment of the Red Hind population in Bermuda. In collaboration with the University of California, Santa Barbara's emLab, it is well known that the Red Hind is a key local commercial and recreational fish species and there have been a number of studies conducted on the Red Hind fishery over the years. The 2024 assessment leveraged data collected from the previous studies along with new data to evaluate the status of the Red Hind population in Bermuda.

It is worth noting here, Mr. Chairman, that while the Fishermen's Association of Bermuda disapproves of some aspects of the Bermuda Ocean Prosperity Programme, and have been quite vocal about that, commercial fishermen have largely supported research on the Red Hind population for decades, with several fisherman actively helping with the studies by taking researchers out on their boats and assisting with data collection. I would like to therefore thank all of those fishermen who have assisted the department with the Red Hind research programme and other research initiatives over the years. The results of the Red Hind stock assessment were positive and indicated that the stock is currently being fished within sustainable levels.

Mr. Chairman, with funding through the Bermuda Ocean Prosperity Programme partnership, the department worked with Shellcatch, an experienced developer of fisheries data management software to implement a new online platform and mobile app to modernise fisheries' data management in Bermuda. The system streamlines the licensing process, simplifies catch reporting for fishers and ensures that relevant information is easily accessible to support scientific research and enforcement activities.

Commercial and recreational fishermen have requested a user-friendly, app-based reporting system for many years. The department worked closely with experienced fishermen to gather input on the app's user-interface and functionality. By incorporating their feedback, this new platform aims to streamline the submission of the catch data which plays a vital role in guiding fisheries' management.

Better Marine Resources Enforcement

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, the Ministry continues to emphasise that effective enforcement is one of the most critical elements of effective marine resources management.

In 2024/25, the department continued its work with the United Kingdom on its Blue Belt Ocean Shield Programme. This work not only involves the Department of Environment and Natural Resources but also includes the Royal Bermuda Regiment's Coast Guard and the Department of Marine and Ports [Services]. This increased collaboration has resulted in a number of cases being prepared for prosecution. The evolving partnership with the US Coast Guard has led to signing of a shiprider agreement to allow the Bermuda Government officers to undertake patrols on US Coast Guard vessels in Bermuda's EEZ [Economic Empowerment Zone] as well as the surrounding high seas.

The US Coast Guard along with the UK Marine Management Organisation has also been providing regular intelligence feeds on international fishing vessels operating near our EEZ boundary which is allowing for a better understanding of the patterns of activity that could affect us.

I would like to thank the Government House and the US Consulate for their great support in these important initiatives. In addition to this work, a consultant was hired through the Bermuda Ocean Prosperity Programme to assist with finalising the Bermuda Marine Resources Enforcement Strategy. The consultant is providing targeted recommendations to enhance the strategy, aligning the strategy with emerging partnerships and initiatives and considering the recommendations made by the Marine Spatial Plan Independent Review Panel, particularly those reflecting enforcement concerns raised by the Bermuda community.

Animal Control and Dogs

Hon. Jache Adams: During 2024/25 the ad hoc Canine Advisory Committee examined the various issues surrounding dogs and presented its findings and operations to the Ministry for consideration. The department also presented options to the new Ministry and will be working to identify the preferred way forward to address public concerns around dangerous dogs, illegal breeding, irresponsible ownership issues and including some legislative amendments that are anticipated.

The Chairman: Mm-hmm.

Hon. Jache Adams: Advancements were made for an online 'GovPilot' dog licence renewal system which has undergone some beta-tests and the issues identified are currently being addressed. The final rollout is anticipated very soon following final testing to ensure accuracy of information available to the public, privacy of personal information, accuracy of fees and appropriate back-end handling of funds and financial reconciliation practices.

Management Services conducted a review of animal control and has offered its recommendations on the functions of animal control to create a more effective and efficient service. Animal Control officers received specialised training gaining knowledge needed in their daily activities to ensure the safety of themselves and the animals they handle.

Tackling Pest Species

Hon. Jache Adams: Work has continued in the monitoring and management of local pests, disease and invasive species that threaten the Island's economy, human health, and fragile environment. The department continues to control pest bird species mainly focused on feral chickens.

Our farmers continue to bear the brunt of the unwanted attentions of these birds that are seeing whole fields of crops decimated. Every effort is being made to remove as many birds as possible and the Board of Agriculture is currently considering additional recommendations to the Minister.

As provided in recent Ministry press articles, I would strongly encourage those members of the public to not feed feral chickens. And for those who have chickens to be responsible and not allow them to stray or to be dumped in public areas and fields. The discovery feral colony of non-native crayfish has prompted DENR to draft amendments to the Invasive Alien Species Act.

Establishment of Critical Habitat Designation for Nonsuch Island

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, the Department of Environment and Natural Resources is expected to make a case under the Protected Species Act 2003 to designate Nonsuch Island and other Cahow nesting islands as critical habitat. The successful establishment of viable populations of the endemic cahow or Bermuda Petrel and the endemic Greater Bermuda Land Snail on Nonsuch Island greatly improving the recovery of these endangered species.

In collaboration with overseas researchers, three new scientific publications on the cahow have been published or are in preparation.

Ensuring We Have Clean Air and Water

Hon. Jache Adams: The Pollution Control Section of the DENR has a major role in the maintenance and training of the National Oil Pollution Contingency Plan in addition to ensuring that the local spill emergency plans of Bermuda's licensed ports and oil-handling facilities are aligned to this National Plan.

The Chairman: Mm-hmm.

Hon. Jache Adams: This section also manages the spill response equipment in addition to maintaining links with various organisations that can offer overseas assistance in the event of a large spill.

The UK Maritime Coast Guard Agency recognises this effort and has committed over $343,251 over the past four years for ongoing training and equipment procurement including offshore oil spill response booms, dispersant and skimmer equipment. As a result, Bermuda is currently able to meet the demands of audits required by the International Maritime Organization [IMO].

The Chairman: Mm-hmm.

Hon. Jache Adams: The Pollution Control Section has continued to manage complaints by the public related to air quality issues from BELCO's large particle soot emissions, fumes from local tank vents and down drafting of exhaust fumes in addition to concern of these impacts to residential water tanks. Through the Environmental Authority the operating licence conditions for the BELCO control plants have been revised annually to tighten emission parameters and to increase oversight of these emissions.

Government-funded portable monitoring sensors have been installed at four locations with another three sensors soon to be installed. The operating licence requires BELCO to also maintain ambient air quality monitoring stations at Cemetery Lane and at the top of Langton Hill.

BELCO continues to select BIOS [Bermuda Institute for Ocean Sciences] for the independent water quality residential water tanks which is conditioned in their operating licence. Data for the 59 properties analysed to date since 2020 has shown compliance to the "primary" UK drinking water standards and World Health Organization [WHO] guidelines for fuel combustion-related contaminants.

"Secondary" standards for aluminium and iron have been exceeded in 12 properties to date, with the five iron exceedances possibly originating from the metal exhaust flues of the BELCO North Power Station when combined with the soot emissions. "Secondary” standards relate to the aesthetic qualities of water, including clarity and taste.

The Pollution Control Section continues to seek best regulatory practice from other developed jurisdictions to monitor and legislate such large particle soot emissions but to date this can only be described as an unacceptable nuisance. Details of the Clean Air Amendment Regulations are provided in the plans for the upcoming year.

Increased Food Security

Hon. Jache Adams: The department continued to provide its important industry support services at the existing 100-plus-year-old Agricultural Services Centre while preparing for a replacement centre. This facility will be critical for the Island’s food security. Consultations have continued with the Farmers Association and its members to identify and clarify the challenges and priorities for the industry. Accurate identification of obstacles to the sustainability and growth of the industry will ensure that departmental efforts are correctly prioritised and the industry is supported.

The consultant agronomist, Mr. Stewart Swanson, continues his valuable work supporting the agricultural industry on a wide range of agricultural issues with the goals of reducing costs and improving yields, providing specialised expertise in key issues such as soil management, pest and disease surveillance and the procurement of seeds and supplies.

In conjunction with the specialist, Mr. Swanson has coordinated a nematode survey of the Island’s agricultural field which has culminated in a report that has been shared with the agricultural industry stakeholders. Nematodes are microscopic worms that can be either beneficial or a major pest for crops. Information revealed through this study will help local growers to make informed pest management decisions.

Food security remains a key issue and one this department takes very seriously. DENR officers diligently work with farmers and other industry stakeholders to support and promote local food production while monitoring the equally critical supply of imported produce. There is exciting and welcome news as the realisation of a new purpose-built Agriculture Service Centre looms ever closer. This new facility will help enhance the local agriculture industry by providing greater storage and capacity for short- and long-term storage crops as well as provide other essential services to the industry.

PLANS FOR THE UPCOMING YEAR

Increased Food Security and Reduced Cost of Living

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, this year the department will continue to focus on its efforts on increasing local food production and assisting the agricultural industry in reducing local production costs whether that will be, for example, focusing on the reduction of feral chickens on agricultural land or through the improvement of the economic embargo system to better support the sale of local produce. These measures will translate into increased food security for the Island and reduced cost of living for our residents.

The department and the Board of Agriculture will continue to develop the integrated agriculture strategy which would include a review of the National Crop Strategy 2016–2021 and the draft Dairy Strategy and complete new Livestock/Poultry/Honey and Aquaculture components. Further, the Government will expand its direct support to farmers through continued services provided by the consultant agronomist who will prioritise the needs of the sector. He will continue to explore and promote strategies to increase food production through measures such as effective fertilisation and weed management as well as investigating ways to expand the growing season of crops presently being grown in Bermuda.

Plans for Long-Term Sustainable Use and Conservation of Our Marine Resources in Our Exclusive Economic Zones

Hon. Jache Adams: In the coming year, the department will seek permission from Cabinet for the Marine Development Act to be drafted. This Act provides the framework for the implementation of the Marine Spatial Plan and Blue Economy Strategy which will occur once agreement has been reached with local fishermen regarding better enforcement and fairer data collection rules. Further, the department will provide recommendation for a phased implementation approach for the Marine Spatial Plan to maximise buy-in for all stakeholders.

Mr. Chairman, with regard to fairer data collection, the Government is committed to ensuring that more data is obtained from other marine resource users in addition to the data provided by commercial fishermen as these are common property resources. In order to collect additional fish catch data and to better promote sustainable fishing practices, the department intends to amend the Fisheries Act 1972 and the Fisheries Regulations 2010 to require licences for recreational fishing activity from boats.

Current data collection programmes to inform assessments of important commercial fish and lobster stocks will continue as these will help inform potential changes to existing policy. The department will also assume control of the yearly maintenance and IT support costs for the new fisheries Shellcatch data base. Additionally, efforts will continue to protect our critical seagrass and mangrove habitats through better management of existing areas where these habitats are found and through new plantings.

Integrated and Effective Marine Enforcement of the EEZ

Hon. Jache Adams: Ensuring marine resources enforcement is essential and the marine resources enforcement strategy is being updated to show Government's commitment to addressing illegal fishing activity under existing national statutes. The enforcement strategy will also continue to be integrated with the Bermuda Ocean Prosperity Programme [BOPP] and the UK Blue Belt Ocean Shield programme to enhance the Island's marine domain awareness as well as its capacity and capability to effectively address offences over the entirety of our EEZ.

The Chairman: Mm-hmm.

Addressing Lost Seagrass Beds

Hon. Jache Adams: Following the significant loss of seagrass habitat in Bermuda over the past decade that coincided with a large population growth of green turtles, which subsequently crashed in 2020, measures are being taken to help the seagrass recover. In addition to expanding sites that exclude the pressures of turtle grazing, the Department of Environment and Natural Resources is working with other departments and private organisations to evaluate and promote environmentally friendly moorings.

Novel seagrass planting studies are also being monitored internationally.

Tracking Pest Species

Hon. Jache Adams: Work will continue in the monitoring and management of local pests, diseases and invasive species that threaten the Island's economy, human health and fragile environment.

A public awareness campaign will be developed to help the public and stakeholders better understand the recently passed Invasive Alien Species Act 2021 and Regulations 2022 as well as the listed pest species. Discussions with importers for the pet trade will be undertaken to better understand the species that could potentially become invasive to Bermuda which will lead to proposed amendments to the Alien Invasive Species Act. It is noted that controls will be applied during 2025 to address the recently discovered invasive population of crayfish in Devonshire Marsh.

Ensuring We Have Clean Air and Water

Hon. Jache Adams: The Clean Air Amendment Act 2024 has passed through the House and Senate to align with best practices to better manage pollution and to include nuisance events to advance higher standards and penalties for infractions. The Clean Air Amendment Regulations have been prepared and are due to be tabled and debated in the House in the near future.

Similarly, the Water Resources Amendment Act 2024 also passed through the House and Senate to improve upon controlling pollution to ground water and sea water. The Water Resources Amendment Regulations to address pollution to ground that presents a risk to ground water are being completed by Attorney General's Chambers ahead of being debated in the House in 2025.

Better Management of Animals

Hon. Jache Adams: I recognise that recently there has been an increase of irresponsible dog ownership and management incidents. I also note that the Animal Control Section has been working diligently to address these issues. But the responsibility cannot be shouldered by the Government. The management of dogs is a community issue. Dogs are supposed to be man's best friend, and we need to treat them as such. With that in mind, the previous Minister Roban reconstituted the ad hoc Advisory Committee under the leadership of Senator Lindsay [Simmons]-Wilson. The committee is made up of the stakeholder groups that have advocated for dog welfare. The output from the committee in addition to the considerations of the chief veterinary officer, are now being considered on what can be done to ensure Bermuda's dogs are more responsibly managed and the community kept safe from dangerous dog attacks.

The Animal Control Section will continue to implement the Dogs Act 2008 with a view to improve the keeping of animals and promote the prevention of bites and injury. This year the department will continue its work to implement the new ticketing and citation regulations that will provide more efficient enforcement and mandatory bite reports for better data collection and informed management. As noted, the department will also be implementing a campaign to increase public awareness of the Dogs Act and responsibilities of owners.

Increased Environmental Education

Hon. Jache Adams: Numerous improvements are also in process at the Bermuda Aquarium, Museum and Zoo [BAMZ] to ensure that safety of the animals enhance the enjoyment of our visitors to the facility and ensure that we retain the valuable AZA [Association of Zoos and Aquariums] accreditation that the facility has enjoyed these past decades. Additionally, as part of the Marine Resources Enforcement Strategy, the department will develop a new campaign to raise awareness of the rules and regulations governing youth and interaction with threatened marine resources.

Improved Visibility of Bermuda's Maritime Heritage

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, several significant film and television projects were initiated with notable international producers in 2024 and we expect to see several projects launched in 2025 that feature Bermuda's rich maritime heritage. A new website has been launched that highlights the location of the many historic wrecks, dive sites and no-fishing areas in addition to your current location through your mobile device.

Mr. Chairman, in closing, I would like to thank the hard-working and dedicated members of staff in the Department of Environment and Natural Resources, including Director Dr. Geoff Smith, Dr. Tammy Warren, Dr. Sarah Manuel, Dr. Philippe Rouja, Dr. Jonathan Nisbett, Dr. Mark Outerbridge, Dr. Ian Walker, Mr. John Edmunds, Ms. Claire Jessey, Mr. Jeremy Madeiros, and Ms. Alvona Wolffe and their very able teams. I hope to get to meet them all during my time at the Ministry of Public Works and Environment.

Mr. Chairman, this now concludes my presentation for the Department of Environment and Natural Resources, Head 79. I will turn to Head 81, Department of Public Lands and Buildings as found on pages B-222 through B-224 and C-6.

The Chairman: Thank you very much, Minister.

The Minister has certainly found his stride. The Minister just concluded Head 79, as he mentioned. And we . . . just to remind Members that we are in the Committee of Supply for further consideration of the Estimates and Revenue and Expenditure for the year 2025/26. This is under the Ministry of Public Works and Environment. It is under the direction of Minister Jache Adams.

Minister, you may continue on pages 22, 23.

HEAD 81—DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC LANDS AND BUILDINGS

Hon. Jache Adams: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Today I present the strategic role, responsibilities and planned activities of the Department of Public Lands and Buildings for the fiscal year 2025/26.

The department's guiding mandate, Mr. Chairman, is: To effectively manage Government property and provide national mapping to [enable] the delivery of effective public services.

This mandate may sound straightforward at first glance, but in reality, it encompasses a vast and multifaceted portfolio that supports nearly every aspect of government operations. The department is not just a custodian of land and property—it is a foundational enabler of service delivery, a facilitator of public access, and a steward of national infrastructure.

Mr. Chairman, the Department of Public Lands and Buildings is responsible for the administration and strategic oversight of more than 2,000 acres of Government-owned land and approximately 750 buildings across the country.

These assets are not abstract figures. They include a wide spectrum of property types, each serving a vital function within our national framework:

- Public Service Facilities: These include police stations, post offices, fire stations, customs facilities, and courthouses—sites where citizens interact directly with government services and exercise their rights.
- Educational Infrastructure: The department supports the Ministry of Education through the management and maintenance of primary, middle, and senior schools. These buildings must be safe, secure, and conducive to learning.
- Residential Properties: We manage several Government-owned residences provided to civil servants and essential staff, ensuring proper living conditions and maintaining fair rental arrangements.
- Heritage and Strategic Sites: The portfolio includes two national lighthouses, multiple farms, community beaches, and a number of government-owned islands—each representing both cultural value and strategic utility.

These properties must be well-maintained, fully compliant with health and safety standards, and adapted to evolving needs, especially in light of climate resilience and technological advancement.

In addition to the Government's own properties, the department is responsible for managing a significant number of lease agreements.

For the 2025/26 fiscal year, the department will oversee 75 active leases with private sector landlords and Government Quasi-Autonomous Non-Governmental Organisations (otherwise known as Quangos). These leases are critical for housing operations that cannot be accommodated within the Government's existing estate.

Mr. Chairman, the department plays a critical enabling role to all other ministries and public sector agencies. Our core function is to ensure that every Ministry—whether it is Health, Education, National Security, or Social Services—has the physical infrastructure it needs to fulfil its mandate.

Without reliable, safe, and strategically located premises, no Ministry can deliver its services effectively. That is why the department must act not only as a property manager but as a strategic partner, engaging with ministries early in the planning process, ensuring alignment between operational needs and physical spaces.

We also work to ensure compliance with building codes, accessibility standards, and health and safety regulations across the entire Government estate.

As detailed on page B-222 of the Estimates, the department's operations are structured into five core programmes, each representing a pillar of our service delivery model.

8100, Administration

Hon. Jache Adams: This programme encompasses financial management, human resources, strategic planning, procurement, and interagency coordination. It is the administrative engine that ensures the department runs effectively and remains accountable to the public.

8101, Buildings

Hon. Jache Adams: This programme is responsible for the maintenance, inspection, and renovation of Government buildings. This includes both preventative and responsive maintenance to avoid service interruptions. In 2025/26, we plan to modernise maintenance protocols, improve energy efficiency, and implement centralised tracking systems.

8102, Estates

Hon. Jache Adams: This programme manages land ownership, acquisitions, disposals, boundary clarifications, and lease administration. It ensures that Government land and foreshores are properly recorded, utilised efficiently, and safeguarded against encroachment or underuse.

8103, Land Surveys

Hon. Jache Adams: A vital programme providing national mapping services, geographic information systems (otherwise known as GIS), and land survey support to ministries and the public. In the coming year, we aim to digitise our mapping archives and expand online access to survey data.

8105, Project Management

Hon. Jache Adams: This programme oversees the delivery of capital projects and large-scale infrastructure works. It ensures that Government construction projects are completed on time, within budget, and to specification. For fiscal year 2025/26, several innovation projects and new public facility builds are scheduled to commence under this programme.

The Department of Public Lands and Buildings is far more than a property custodian—it is an enabler of public service, a guardian of national infrastructure, and a planner of our physical legacy. Through effective estate management, strategic lease oversight, and capital project execution, we ensure that public services are delivered from facilities that are safe, accessible, and fit for purpose.

With that said, Mr. Chairman, I am pleased to—

The Chairman: Mm-hmm.

Hon. Jache Adams: —for the fiscal year 2025/26, the department has been allocated a total budget of $22,469,000, reflecting an increase of $703,000 over the previous fiscal year as reported on page B-222.

8100, Administration and Training

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, I now turn to programme 8100, Administration and Training, which plays a central role in ensuring the effective operation and strategic direction of the Department of Public Lands and Buildings.

This programme has been allocated a total budget of $566,000 for the fiscal year 2025/26. Its core objective is To provide senior management leadership and administrative support for the Estates and Buildings sections. In essence, programme 8100 underpins the department's overall capacity to deliver its mandate by ensuring sound governance, well-coordinated internal operations, and a trained and capable workforce.

91000, [Administration]

Hon. Jache Adams: This cost centre is allocated $255,000 for the upcoming fiscal year. It supports the department's senior management team, administrative personnel, and internal operations. This includes human resources, financial oversight, communications, internal audits, and interdepartmental coordination.

Effective administration is not merely clerical, it ensures that planning is strategic, operations are accountable, and resources are optimally deployed. This team serves as the backbone of the department's structure, ensuring all programmes are properly supported.

91001, Training and Apprenticeship

Hon. Jache Adams: This cost centre has been allocated $311,000, reflecting the department's continued and growing commitment to skills development, capacity building, and the nurturing of local talent. This allocation supports

- technical and professional training for existing staff;
- apprenticeship programmes designed to prepare young people for careers in estate management, building maintenance, surveying, and project management;
- [certification] and continuing education initiatives; and
- partnerships with technical schools and local institutions to support practical on-the-job training.

These investments are critical in ensuring the long-term sustainability of the department's operations by cultivating the next generation of skilled professionals within the public sector.

Mr. Chairman, the total allocation of $566,000 represents an increase of $49,000 compared to the 2024/25 fiscal year. This increase is primarily driven by expanded investment in training and apprenticeship initiatives, reflecting our strategic priority to

- address current and anticipated skills shortages in estate and facilities management;
- ensure staff remain current with evolving industry standards, technologies, and best practices; and
- expand employment and learning opportunities for young people entering the workforce.

As we continue toward modernising Government property management, investing in our people—both current staff and future talent—is not a luxury, but a necessity.

8101, Buildings

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, I now turn to programme 8101, Buildings, which is a cornerstone of the department's operational framework and a critical component in ensuring the safety, functionality, and longevity of the Government's built infrastructure.

This programme carries the mandate To effectively manage the maintenance, repair, and renovation of all Government buildings.

This essential responsibility spans a diverse range of properties—from schools, police stations, and post offices to Government offices and residential buildings—ensuring that these assets remain safe, serviceable, and fit for purpose.

Mr. Chairman, the Buildings programme is organised into two dedicated cost centres, each with a distinct operational focus:

- Services Management, [91002]: Allocated $1,251,000 This cost centre oversees the strategic and technical coordination of all maintenance activities across the Government estate. It includes staffing, inspections, compliance with building codes and safety regulations, and centralised management of maintenance requests.
- Maintenance, [91003]: Allocated $8,713,000 This cost centre covers the direct costs of maintenance, including repairs, renovations, contracted services, emergency responses, and material procurement. It is the primary operational arm of the Buildings programme.

Together, these cost centres comprise a total programme budget of $9,964,000 for the fiscal year 2025/26.

Mr. Chairman, this represents an overall increase of $431,000 compared to the 2024/25 fiscal year. The increase is driven by three key factors:

1. Salaries and Wages Uplift as aforementioned. Adjustments have been made to reflect revised pay scales, union negotiations, and cost-of-living increases, ensuring the department remains competitive in attracting and retaining skilled technical staff.
2. Realignment of Work Units: Operational efficiencies and restructuring have led to a more strategic deployment of resources within the Buildings section, which is now better equipped to respond to service demands and implement preventative maintenance strategies.
3. Rising Material and Contractual Costs: Inflation and global supply chain pressures have led to increased costs for essential materials such as electrical components, plumbing supplies, HVAC parts, and roofing materials, as well as for outsourced labour and services.

8102, Estates

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, I now turn to programme 8102, Estates, which is a vital division within the Department of Public Lands and Buildings. This section is tasked with delivering comprehensive property and land management services to all Government ministries and departments, while also providing a range of services to the general public in matters relating to Government-owned land.

The core responsibilities of the Estates section include:

- property insurance management for Government-owned assets;
- land and building acquisition to support the expansion of public services;
- leasing arrangements, both inbound and outbound, ensuring efficient and lawful use of Government property; and
- oversight of Government-owned land, including licensing and leasing of strategic national assets such as islands, the foreshore, and the seabed.

As the official custodian of these critical national assets, the Estates section plays a key role in safeguarding the public interest and ensuring the responsible stewardship of land and property resources.

Mr. Chairman, programme 8102, [Estates], is structured into two distinct cost centres, each with targeted responsibilities.

- 91004, Property Asset Management: This cost centre focuses on the day-to-day and strategic management of the Government's property portfolio. It includes activities related to leases, licences, acquisitions, valuations, and ensuring compliance with legal and regulatory requirements.
- 91005, Insurance: This cost centre administers the insurance coverage for Government buildings and properties, ensuring that assets are protected against loss, damage, and unforeseen events. It also handles claims processing and insurance policy management.

For the fiscal year 2025/26, the Estates programme has been allocated a total budget of $10,828,000.

Mr. Chairman, this allocation reflects an increase of $229,000 over the previous fiscal year. This increase is primarily attributed to the recruitment of two additional Estate surveyors. These appointments are a strategic investment intended to strengthen the department's internal expertise and capacity to

- more efficiently manage the increasing volume and complexity of property transactions;
- accelerate processing times for leases and licences;
- enhance oversight and accountability in the use of Government land; and
- support ministries with timely advice on property matters as service needs grow.

These new surveyors will also contribute to long-term planning and help identify opportunities for better utilisation of Government assets.

The Chairman: Minister, you have about an hour and a half left. It is about that, yes. Carry on.

Hon. Jache Adams: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Land Survey Management

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, I now move to programme 8103, Land Surveys, which is administered under cost centre 91007—

The Chairman: And we remain on page B-222. Am I correct?

Hon. Jache Adams: Yes.

The Chairman: Thank you, Minister.

Hon. Jache Adams: For the fiscal year 2025/26, this programme has been allocated a budget of $385,000, which represents a decrease of $61,000 compared to the previous fiscal year. This reduction is primarily due to the completion of specific equipment upgrades and administrative needs.

Mr. Chairman, the Land Surveys section plays a vital role in supporting not only the Department of Public Lands and Buildings, but also the wider Government of Bermuda through the provision of specialised surveying, mapping, and spatial data services.

Key responsibilities of this section include:

1. Establishment and Maintenance of the National Control Monument Network. This network is a [geodetic] infrastructure that provides the foundation for all land-based spatial measurements in Bermuda. It ensures that both Government agencies and private land survey companies operate within a consistent and internationally recognised coordinate system, thus preserving the accuracy and integrity of land ownership and development data.

2. National Mapping and Geospatial Information Services. The section is responsible for the production, maintenance, and dissemination of Bermuda's official maps and geospatial datasets. These tools are essential for urban planning, infrastructure development, emergency response coordination, and environmental management across Government.
3. Hydrographic Surveying and Data Collection. In a significant cost-saving and capacity-building shift, the section has internalised hydrographic survey functions—tasks that were previously outsourced to overseas contractors. These include seabed mapping, coastal profiling, and other marine data acquisition efforts that support maritime safety, infrastructure planning, and environmental protection.

In addition to its national-level responsibilities, Mr. Chairman, the Land Surveys section also plays a direct, operational role in supporting engineering and construction projects managed by the Ministry. These services include

- boundary identification and topographic surveys for capital works;
- precise layout support for construction sites and support infrastructure projects; and
- verification of land measurements for Government buildings and facilities.

Such contributions are vital in minimising construction delays, ensuring legal compliance with land boundaries, and enabling efficient project execution.

Another critical responsibility of this section is the creation, assignment, and maintenance of primary civic addresses across the Island. This function underpins numerous public services—from emergency response systems and postal delivery to utility provision and voter registration. Maintaining a robust and accurate address database is foundational to effective governance and public safety.

[91008], Project Management

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, I now turn to programme 8105, Project Management, which has been allocated a budget of $726,000 for the fiscal year 2025/26. This represents an increase of $55,000 over the previous year. The increase is primarily driven by the rising cost of professional consultancy services and the growing number of capital development projects.

Mr. Chairman, this section plays a central coordinating role in the planning, implementation, and oversight of Government capital projects. Specifically, the Project Management Unit is responsible for

- managing capital development projects directly undertaken by the Department of Public Lands and Buildings; and
- ensuring that all facility modifications and property improvements align with service delivery objectives, safety standards, and long-term infrastructure planning.

Mr. Chairman, the work of this section is not simply technical—it is strategic. Through the effective management of facility upgrades and new construction, the Project Management Unit ensures that the built environment continues to evolve in alignment with the changing needs of public service delivery.

Subjective Analysis of Current Account Estimates

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, I now draw Honourable Members' attention to page B-223, which outlines the Ministry's Current Account Estimates for the 2025/26 fiscal year in detail.

Upon review, Members will note a collective increase of $132,000 in salaries and an additional $540,000 in wages. These adjustments again reflect this Government's ongoing commitment to fair compensation and investment in our public officers, particularly in recognition of their dedication and the increasingly complex demands of public service.

Additionally, Mr. Chairman, there is a $162,000 increase under the Rentals line item. This is for renovations to several Government rental properties to update the aging infrastructure.

Revenue Summary

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, the department anticipates generating $3,247,000 in revenue during the 2025/26 fiscal year mainly attributed to the renting of Government apartments to employees of the Government and leasing of Government foreshores.

Full-Time Equivalents (FTE)

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, the budgeted number of employees for the department is 162 as reflected, a decrease of five from the previous fiscal year.

To reiterate, the apparent reduction in staffing numbers is the result of a methodological correction, not a reduction in the total workforce. In previous years, all approved posts were counted—whether filled, vacant, or unfunded. This year, the figures more accurately reflect the actual staffing situation

Performance Measures

Hon. Jache Adams: As outlined on page B-224, the Department of Public Lands and Buildings has established a comprehensive set of Key Performance Targets for the 2025/26 fiscal year. These targets serve as a strategic framework to guide the department's operations, enhance the quality and consistency of service delivery, and ensure full compliance with relevant legislative and regulatory requirements.

These performance benchmarks have been carefully designed to support our overarching mandate—managing Government property and land assets with integrity, transparency, and efficiency—while also reinforcing our commitment to operational excellence across all programme areas, including Administration, Buildings, Estates, Land Surveys, and Project Management.

Capital Works Plans

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, as found on page [C]-6, there are several planned capital works that will take place across the various capital cost centres.

Mr. Chairman, the 2025/26 allocation for capital development cost centre [75112] for Major Buildings Upgrade Projects is $3,639,000. This account enables the department to carry out major works to improve and redevelop facilities to modernise and to make them fit for purpose and meet statutory compliance. Whilst the demand for work often exceeds the budget allocation. However, the department strives to prioritise works for the most effective use of the capital funds available.

The works under this account for 2025/26 include but not limited to the replacement and upgrade of the central air-conditioning system for offices in the Government Administration Building; improvements to several buildings in the Botanical Gardens; refurbishment of Gibbs Hill and St. David's Lighthouses; and exterior works to Prospect Depot.

Mr. Chairman, the capital budget for 2025/26 has $250,000 under cost centre 75298 as found on page [C]-6 for the Government Administration building bathroom upgrades and will be spent on renovating the bathroom around the two buildings.

Mr. Chairman, the capital budget for 2025/26 also has $2.9 million under cost centre 75309 for All Schools Maintenance and will be spent on annual scheduled improvements, repairs and painting works to our schools.

Mr. Chairman, school facility maintenance continues to be a priority for the department. The Buildings, Estates and Project Management sections are working closely with the Education Department on aligning school buildings with the longer-term Education Reform Plan for the Bermuda Public School System. Whilst the Education [Reform] Plan is underway the general infrastructure of all schools must still be maintained as part the Government Estate. The focus for works under 75309 will [be] scheduled external and interior painting and air conditioning improvements.

Mr. Chairman, capital budget 75327 has been allocated a sum of $50,000 for the completion of the sewage disposal infrastructure works at Horseshoe Bay Beach [House].

Mr. Chairman, in 2025/26 the Government remains committed under capital code 75357 to reduce our carbon footprint by installing roof mounted solar photovoltaic panels. However, we also need to allow for time to renovate the Government's assets as well. Therefore, $50,000 has been allocated to continue studies across the Government Estate in order to adequately prepare for this transition. However, I would like to note that multiple Government buildings already have solar panels installed including the Government Administration Building, General Post Office Building, the Department of Public Transportation Headquarters and the Transportation Control Department.

Mr. Chairman, a capital budget Account 75366 for 2025/26 in the amount of $300,000 for continuing with the installation programme for [Electric] Vehicle [EV] charging infrastructure required to support the Government's initiative to move towards EV's for the Government's fleet. Locations are being identified and infrastructure installed for charging stations ahead of procurement of EVs.

75099, Office Relocations

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, Office Relocations capital cost centre 75099, which is reported under Ministry Headquarters, has a sum allocated in the amount of $5,085,000.

This capital budget account allows for the planning and fit-out costs for moving and improving Government offices. For 2024/25 this budget account will enable the movement of the Registrar of Companies. There are planned improvements to offices at Global House and the Government Administration Building.

Mr. Chairman, in addition, the department takes the responsibility for the Design, Planning, Project Management and Capital Development Expenditure for [other] Departments Projects in Government Facilities, including, as examples:

- Education Reform Projects, [75360]
- Government House, [75340]
- Marine and Ports Workshops, [75351]
- Lefroy House Care Community, [75361]
- Parish Clinics Refurbishments, [75347]
- Royal Bermuda Regiment Coastguard Facility, [75362]
- Royal Bermuda Regiment Officers' Mess Bathrooms, [75363]
- Police Headquarters Prospect Refurbishment, [75103]

Mr. Chairman, as I conclude the Budget Brief for Head 81, the Department of Public Lands and Buildings, I would like to take this opportunity to recognise all the staff in the department and thank them for their hard work of maintaining the support facilities that enable the delivery of public services.

I will now move to Head 82, Works and Engineering as found on pages B-225 through B-231, C-6, C-7 and C-13, the last in my presentation.

The Chairman: Thank you, very much, Minister.

We are just reminded that we are in the Committee of Supply for further consideration of the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for the year 2025/26.

We are now going into Head 82.

[Inaudible interjection]

The Chairman: I'm sorry. Minister, go right ahead. You have about an hour and 15 minutes left.

Hon. Jache Adams: Thank you.

HEAD 82—DEPARTMENT OF WORKS AND ENGINEERING

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, the mission of the Department of Works and Engineering is To ensure the effective and prudent management of all engineering services related to the construction, erection, improvement, maintenance, and repair of Government infrastructure, as well as the operation of essential water and waste treatment services.

Mr. Chairman, the Department of Works and Engineering is a cornerstone of public service in Bermuda, delivering a wide range of essential functions that directly support the daily lives of our residents. The department is entrusted with the ongoing maintenance, repair, and improvement of Government infrastructure and the provision of critical services such as water supply, solid waste management, and environmental protection.

Our responsibilities touch nearly every part of Bermuda's physical infrastructure. From ensuring that roads are safe and passable, to maintaining clean drinking water and treating sewage, the department works tirelessly, often behind the scenes, to uphold the standard of living that Bermudians rightly expect.

To fulfil its mandate, the department is organised into seven operational programmes, each with its own specialised responsibilities. I would like to briefly outline these sections.

The Chairman: Go right ahead, Minister.

Hon. Jache Adams: Thank you.

1. Administration [programme 8200] provides for the salaried senior management staff of the department. The mandate of the senior management team is the efficient management of the seven sections of the department.

2. Engineering [programme 8201] provides quality electrical, mechanical and structural engineering services.
3. Highways [programme 8202] develop and maintain the public road infrastructure to ensure the safe passage of motorists and pedestrians.
4. Waste Management [programme 8203] arranges for the collection and safe disposal of Bermuda's solid wastes.
5. Quarry Transport [programme 8204] manages the fleet and equipment purchasing and mechanical maintenance for majority of the Government vehicle fleet.
6. Quarry Products [programme 8205] services the Government Asphalt Plant and associated paving operation products.
7. Water and Sewage [programme 8206] provided planning, design, construction, operation and maintenance of the Government water extraction, treatment and distribution systems and the wastewater collection and distribution systems.

As we look ahead to the fiscal year 2025/26, the continued investment in the department's programmes is essential to maintaining and improving the infrastructure that underpins Bermuda's economy and quality of life.

I now present the Department of Works and Engineering's budget estimate, which reflects our strategic priorities, operational needs, and commitment to delivering value to the people of Bermuda. However, before I begin, Mr. Chairman, it is important to distinguish between the Operational Budget and the Capital Budget when considering the funding of the department's work.

The Operational Budget covers the day-to-day expenses whilst in contrast the Capital Budget is dedicated to funding major infrastructure projects and long-term investments. These include large-scale road resurfacing, bridge rehabilitation, water and sewage system upgrades, heavy equipment purchases, and other construction or replacement initiatives that extend beyond routine maintenance.

Mr. Chairman, while the operational budget supports the foundational functions of the department, most of the department's major work is funded through the Capital Accounts. This is where the bulk of resources are allocated to support the planning, design, and execution of substantial [public] infrastructure improvements.

Mr. Chairman, I am pleased to present the department's operational budget.

2025/26 Operational Budget

Hon. Jache Adams: As detailed on pages B-226 and B-227, the estimated current expenditure for the Department of Works and Engineering for the fiscal year 2025/26 is $34,316,000, which represents an increase of $1.88 million from the 2023/24 original budget level.

8200, Administration

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, turning to Administration. Administration provides funding for the salaried senior management [team] of the department. As previously outlined, the mandate of this team is to ensure the effective and efficient oversight of the department's seven operational sections.

Mr. Chairman, an operational budget allocation of $312,000 has been designated for programme 8200 for fiscal year 2025/26. This represents an increase of $26,000 compared to 2024/25. The increase can be attributed to salary adjustments as previously explained.

8201, Engineering

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, the mandate of the Engineering Services programme is to provide quality electrical, mechanical and structural engineering services. Within this, there are three separate functions: Electrical/Mechanical, Electrical Support and Structures.

A budget of $1.685 million has been allocated for this programme, representing a $61,000 increase compared to the 2023/24 budget. This increase is owed to the salary uplift negotiated and increases in material cost for maintenance.

Mr. Chairman, with respect to cost centre 92002, Electrical, it has been allocated $605,000. This is no change to the previous budget.

8202, Highways

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, the Highways programme is entrusted with the vital responsibility of developing and maintaining the nation's public road infrastructure. Its core mandate is to ensure the safe, efficient, and reliable movement of both motorists and pedestrians across the country. This encompasses the full spectrum of activities related to the planning, design, and execution of road infrastructure projects, with a particular focus on the following:

- routine [road] resurfacing;
- installation and maintenance of drainage systems;
- erection and upkeep of signage and road markings;
- construction and reinforcement of retaining structures; and
- provision and maintenance of public bus shelters.

It is important to underscore, Mr. Chairman, that the provisions being discussed here fall strictly within the scope of the programme's operational budget. This means these allocations are intended for the ongoing minor maintenance, management, and support activities necessary to keep the road infrastructure functional on a day-to-day basis. These are distinct from capital investments, which relate to large-scale infrastructure development projects and new construction works which will be discussed soon.

Given the breadth of the programme's mandate and the critical importance of road paving in ensuring road safety and longevity, we have initiated an internal assessment to explore the feasibility of establishing a dedicated unit focused exclusively on road paving operations. This proposed restructuring is aimed at improving efficiency, enhancing project delivery, and ensuring more specialised attention to one of the most resource-intensive and high impact aspects of our work. We recognise that any such change must be carefully considered, and as such, consultations are currently underway.

However, Mr. Chairman, I am pleased to report that a $5,804,000 budget has been allocated to this programme, representing an increase of $466,000 as compared to the 2024/25 original budget. This increase is primarily due to the salary uplift negotiated and the hiring of additional personnel.

Mr. Chairman, the budget allocated for Management stands at $969,000 for the fiscal year, reflecting an increase of $51,000 over the original 2024/25 allocation. This increase is primarily due to salary adjustments arising from Government-approved wage uplifts.

Mr. Chairman, the budget for cost centre [92007] for Public Road Cleaning is $1,705,000, representing an increase of $296,000 over the previous fiscal year. This unit is tasked with the cleaning and maintenance of public highways, including tree trimming and vegetation control, and oversees the Solo Sweeper Programme.

8203, Waste Management

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, the mandate of the Waste Management programme is to arrange for the collection and [safe] disposal of Bermuda's solid wastes.

Mr. Chairman, a budget of $19[187,000] has been allocated to this programme for fiscal year 2025/26. This represents an increase of $644,000 as compared to the original 2024/25 budget. This increase represents additional staffing and maintenance costs for the Tynes Bay facility as well as the Waste Management Collection section. This increase also encompasses salary uplift negotiated.

Mr. Chairman, the budget for cost centre [92012] for Airport Disposal Facility is $1.237 million, an increase of $14,000 from last year's original budget. This increase is again attributed to salary uplifts.

Mr. Chairman, the Tynes Bay Waste-to-Energy Facility plays a critical dual role in Bermuda's national infrastructure by providing both refuse disposal and renewable energy generation. As the Island's primary waste management facility, it is responsible for the safe and environmentally sound [incineration] of household and commercial waste, significantly reducing landfill dependency and helping to manage the country's limited land resources.

Mr. Chairman, [cost centre 92016] Tynes Bay Administration is $724,000, reflecting an increase of $41,000.

Similarly, [cost centre 92017] Tynes Bay Operations stands at $5.9 million, representing an increase of $38,000 compared to the original budget of last fiscal year.

Mr. Chairman, I will turn to the Quarry Transport.

The Chairman: Mm-hmm.

8204, Quarry Transport

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, the mandate of the Government Fleet and Operations Section (more commonly known as the Quarry) is comprehensive and operationally significant.

Mr. Chairman, a $3,139,000 budget has been allocated to this programme, representing an increase of $453,000 as compared to the original 2024/25 budget. This increase is due to the hiring of additional personnel, salary uplift and increases in maintenance and parts budgets across the section.

Mr. Chairman, the budget for cost centre 92034. Quarry Receipts, is set at negative $5,500,000, consistent with the 2024/25 allocation. This cost centre functions as an internal recharge budget, where the negative value represents the recovery of costs for services provided by the Quarry programme to other Government departments and agencies. These services include vehicle repairs, equipment leasing, and mechanical maintenance, with expenses offset through internal charges applied to the users of those services.

8205, Quarry Products

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, a budget of $2.1 million has been allocated for cost centre [92023], the Asphalt Plant, representing an increase of $21,000 over the previous fiscal year.

In addition, a rechargeable budget of $3[140,000] has been allocated for quarry products under this programme for fiscal year 2025/26.

Mr. Chairman, I would also like to address a potential question regarding the purchase and production of asphalt. While this administration has consistently communicated that a new asphalt plant is on its way—which will significantly improve paving capacity—some may question why current production remains limited. The answer lies in the reality that the new plant is not scheduled to be operational until the first quarter of 2026. Until that time, we must strategically limit production to preserve the functionality of the existing ageing plant, as previously discussed in an earlier session.

8206, Water and Sewage

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, the Water and Sewage programme, on page B-227, was allocated a budget of $5.2 million. This represents an increase of $209,000 as compared to the original 2024/25 budget.

Subjective Analysis of Current Account Estimates

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, I now draw Honourable Members' attention to page B-227, which outlines the department's Current Account Estimates for the [2025/26] fiscal year in detail.

Revenue Summary

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, the department anticipates generating $11.4 million in revenue.

Full-Time Equivalents

Hon. Jache Adams: The number full-time equivalents is 308.

Performance Measures

Hon. Jache Adams: As outlined on page B-229 through B-231, the Works and Engineering department's performance across various business units for the period 2023/24 to 2025/26 demonstrates a consistent focus on operational efficiency, public service delivery, and infrastructure development.

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: Yes, Minister.

Hon. Jache Adams: Let me see how much more I have left.

The Chairman: We have about 65 minutes, Minister. (I am going to say) About 60 minutes left to this debate.

Hon. Jache Adams: Okay. I will . . . give me a few more minutes and then I will open the floor to question.

The Chairman: No, go right ahead, Minister.

75042, Road Works

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, the estimate for this cost centre stands at $5,000,000, which matches previous years. While this budget is certainly important for continuing major maintenance work, including road [re]surfacing, junction improvements, road widening, and the installation of new sidewalks, I must acknowledge that this amount is simply not enough to fully address the growing demands of our road infrastructure.

We are all acutely aware of the deteriorating state of our roads, and the concerns raised by the public are both valid and justified. The frustrations of the public are not lost on us, and we are committed to addressing these challenges.

Mr. Chairman, I will skip to Quarry Refurbishment.

The Chairman: Yes.

75264, Quarry Refurbishment

Hon. Jache Adams: The 2025/26 estimate for this cost centre, for the Quarry Refurbishment is $5,575,000. This funding will support critical infrastructure upgrades at the Quarry Depot, including the decommissioning of the existing asphalt production plant, and site preparation for the installation of the new asphalt plant.

In addition, a portion of these funds will be allocated toward the establishment of training and testing sites, which will enhance our operational readiness and support the development of a skilled workforce capable of operating and maintaining the new equipment efficiently.

Finally, Mr. Chairman, my last topic will be on vehicles.

The Chairman: Yes, sir.

76495, Vehicles and Equipment

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, since 2013, and well before my time in this Honourable House, budget constraints have significantly limited the replacement of vehicles and equipment, resulting in a fleet that is now, on average, over 10 years old. This has led to increasing maintenance challenges, particularly due to the difficulty in sourcing replacement parts [for] outdated models.

These limitations have had real and measurable impacts across Government operations. Although a 2015 report recommended a phased replacement strategy, it was unfortunately not implemented at the time due to a combination of ongoing budgetary pressures, management turnover at the Quarry, and the widespread disruption caused by the COVID-19 pandemic.

Mr. Chairman, under the 2025/26 budget, vehicle and equipment replacements will focus on units that have clearly surpassed their useful economic life, are in poor or unsafe condition, or are no longer suitable.

ble for their intended purpose. While many of these replacements will not yet be electric vehicles, they are being treated as “bridge vehicles,” essential interim solutions to support Government operations while we work toward our target of achieving a fully electrified fleet by 2035.

The estimate for this annual allocation is $5,181,000 and will be used to procure the following amongst others:

- replacement kettle trucks
- new drainage cleaning vehicles
- mild-hybrid diesel utility vehicles
- new bucket trucks
- replacement vans for community centres

76917, Electric Vehicles

Hon. Jache Adams: Mr. Chairman, this capital programme is aimed to have Government lead by example with the replacement of combustion vehicles [with] electrical vehicles. Using the data from our pilot study, we have identified areas within Government that provide the best opportunity for adoption based upon the upgradability of locations to provide the necessary charging infrastructure.

It is envisioned that as our charging infrastructure is established that this budget will grow to accelerate the transition to EVs. The 2025/26 estimate for this annual allocation is $150,000.

76764, Parks Vehicles

Hon. Jache Adams: And finally, Mr. Chairman, this cost centre is under the management of the Quarry, and some of their purchases include the ones mentioned before.

The 2025/26 estimate for this annual allocation is $625,000.

And so, Mr. Chairman, this concludes my presentation of the Department of Works and Engineering, and indeed, the Ministry of Public Works and Environment. I certainly open the floor to any questions.

The Chairman: Thank you, very much, Minister.

The Minister has concluded his brief, and we are still in the Committee of Supply for further consideration of the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for the year 2025/26.

Would any other Member like to speak on any of these heads?

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: Certainly, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: Thank you very much. I recognise the Honourable Craig Cannonier, Opposition Whip, Shadow Minister for Public Works and Environment from constituency 12.

And Mr. Cannonier, if you would just pause for a second as we have a transfer and change in the Chair to the Honourable Lawrence Scott, JP MP.

[Mr. W. Lawrence Scott, Chairman]

The Chairman: Good afternoon.

Honourable Member, you have the floor.

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: Yes, thank you. Thank you very much.

I must say I thought I was going to have more time. I have like 25 pages of questions here. And—

An Hon. Member: You have got about a half an hour.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: I couldn't help it. I was accommodating Government and all of its changes because we have so many Ministers out—not here!

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: Well, if you—

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: I'm here. I'm here to talk. I would have loved to have had more time but we—

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: Mr. Chairman—

The Chairman: You have the floor, Member.

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: Thank you. Thank you. Thank you very much. Be careful to chirp.

I have some serious concerns concerning this particular Ministry and I will start off by saying . . . and I want to . . . this has nothing to do with . . . our Public Works civil servants do a fantastic job at the work that they have to do. It has not been easy for them to work under the conditions that we have. But when I am told in the general statement that this budget represents 36 (through Public Works) a real investment going forward, all of the investments that I see thus far are because of salaries or employee cuts. So while they are saving money . . . so it increases the allotments, or we are actually not adding staff where we have to obviously pay a little more but the production is not showing that.

And so, my concern first of all is this here. If we look at on the general page, page B-201, if you go down . . . and I have to move quickly here. If we go right down to Capital Expenditure under Development, you will see an allotment there that says $50,492,000. Correct? Yes, Mr. Chairman?

The Chairman: You are—

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: Under Development—yes. If you move to your left and you look under 2024/25 original amount, you will see $35,697,000. Now that is quite a difference. And as the Minister was speaking, that's an incredible . . . that is beautiful to see that we have got this kind of development. However, I am going to table for this House from the budget of 2024/25, for everyone . . . I need somebody . . . Member, just take that up to the desk.

You will see that in actual fact under Development [Estimate] for 2024/25 budget, the allocation was actually $52,992,000. In other words, what I am getting at is, if the 2024/25 budget original amount was $52 million and here we are with 2025/26 with an amount of $50,492,000, that's a loss. That is not an increase in development. And so that number needs to be corrected in the 2025/26 budget amount. It has to be corrected to $52,992,000.

I can see how it would be a problem because now it basically . . . it looks like it is inflating what we are doing in development when in actual fact we are allotting less money to it. So, I have tabled that, and I am hoping as we go through this . . . I tend to . . . one of my pet peeves is to find some of the challenges in the [Budget] Book and comparisons and ensure that they make the changes in the future. So, I hope that this changes because I did bring this up before. So, we need to change the Development amount under the 2025/26 Budget Book. We need to actually change that now to $52 million.

The Chairman: Member, I do see exactly what you are talking about but . . . and I haven't done any deeper digging, but it does say right next to the $52,992,000 in 2024/25 "For details of scheme see section C, pages 4 to 16." Did we look into that as well just to see if that provided any explanation?

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: Yes. So what I am saying to you is that this actual amount, even if you go back to pages C-4 to C-16, you still have to make the correction, because you cannot have a revised amount to what basically is almost like we are saying we are putting the revised amount and when we do these calculations we always calculate between the 2024/25 original amount and the 2025/26 original allotted amount, which gives us disparity. Not between the revised amount.

So maybe there was a mistake there. I am not blaming anyone who was trying to do anything, but the actual numbers themselves reflect something completely different. And it is a major difference because as I go through the general statement, what we are talking about here is . . . you know, the Premier has said that the end of austerity has happened. But when I start adding up these total figures, it still feels like we are in austerity measures.

Where is the . . . the Ministry of Public Works, if we take a look over on page B-202, really under the department objectives and the mission statement, it says "To ensure the provision of sustainable infrastructures, systems and properties for the operation of public services." That is the bones of the country. Literally the bones of the country. And every other Ministry then puts its flesh on top of those bones because Public Works touches everything. And I know that, you know, you have been around for a while. It touches everything. Ministers in the House and in Cabinet when they are deliberating, they are coming to Public Works because, Listen, I want to do this stuff over here. Every single Minister is touched in Cabinet by this Ministry. So, I wanted to qualify that so that we are clear.

But if we also go back over to page B-201 (and I am going to move swiftly here), and we look under Revenues. If we look under Revenues under Environment and Natural Resources, I got to say this here. I feel for the Minister. Back in the day I remember Public Works only had three heads. Okay? I am saying back in the day . . . I shouldn't even say that. But I was debating only three heads, and they are huge heads. Right? [It was] 81, the Headquarters, 81, 82. But now we are . . . we are . . . I mean, the poor Minister. He is not even going to be able to have a cup of tea or coffee in the morning. This is incredible that we are adding this on.

I do not know how Public Works staffing is going to be able to keep up with this here because that Environment and Natural Resources is a huge thing. But if you look at it, I see revenue is $6 million and underneath [is] public lands and building revenues of $4 million. We are losing a little revenue under Works and Engineering. We will talk about that as we get into details. Hopefully we have the time.

My question on this page is, Is there potential to grow this? I mean, one of the things that I find when we are running government . . . in the private sector, we are always looking for an opportunity to grow revenue. But I have never heard . . . and even when I was in the Ministry, I wasn't really paying close attention, but we got a young, energetic Minister here and I am asking him the question, Can we look at how we can grow these revenues?

The challenge with growing the revenues is this: Revenue is driven by people. We got a problem there, right? We got to face up to the problem that we got less people here. So, we got to figure this out. But there is still opportunity to grow this revenue. So, I want to know from the Minister whether or not he will take a commitment to looking at how we can grow revenue. And we will get into that stuff as we go on a little further.

We need to spend more time than this. And I thank the Minister for reminding us on page B-201 in his general statement about letting us know that we got 600 roads and 80 public docks, and we got 2,000-plus acres and all of this stuff that we are responsible for, it is important that we look for every opportunity that we can to improve. I believe, on page B-201, under the current expenditure (at the top) for Heads 36, 68, 79, 81, and 82, we have a commitment of $4.4 million more.

If we truly are going to put investment into the country, the first complaint that comes out of everyone's mouth, Mr. Chairman, is, It's either the roads are messed up . . . this or that. The railings are not fixed. They have been down forever. This wall is down . . . And that type of thing. If we are truly going to invest, I would love to see, not 6 per cent, I would love to see a 10 per cent increase there which is a true titling on our commitment to the country.

This Ministry touches everyone. If Public Works messes up . . . and let's just say for instance the roads are messed up and we got all kinds of stuff going on. People are going slow. Then people get frustrated. Right? And now something simple that we are doing as far as allocations is affecting their real-life experience. If we have to . . . and in the general statement as he mentioned about roadworks, if we have to repave an area two and three times because we didn't get it right in the first place, imagine the frustration on the people trying to get to work, trying to get home and the like. So I will say that in general comment.

I want to move over to page B-202. And under the department objectives, number 1, to provide management oversight for Public Works, and I will let everyone read through the rest of it. I have a question. What are some of the Minister's policy objectives for 2025/26 that are going to allow us to see some progression here? What are some of those new policies that we are going to be putting in place that are going to make this whole thing more effective for Bermudians as they met out their everyday lives and we maintain a good bone structure?

The third objective here is to meet human resource needs. Now what I would like to do is . . . what . . . what . . . for human resources needs what have been some of those difficult areas that we have not been able to fill? I can say some of them off the top of my head, but we just heard, through the Minister's briefing where he talked about as we go further on down the line, we are trying to get an agronomist, we are going to have to get people . . . lifeguards and all these kinds of different things. And Estates as well. It is difficult to get qualified Bermudians because we have foreigners in those positions right now who are surveyors and the like. Some of those difficult areas, why are they difficult and what are we doing about it?

The former Minister did spend some time on talking about youth and training youth, so I want to get to that.

And then on page B-202, I will go down to number eight, to ensure that controls promulgated by code of practice and other associated policies as it relates to procurement of goods and services. I know that the Minister, like I said, he is a young guy, so I am sure he hit the ground running. What are the challenges and what opportunities can we identify where we can get better at this? Because the more that we put out to procurement the more work that is getting done, the more people who we can hire and hopefully better salaries. And more important than a better salary, or an increased salary, but work in and of itself, sustained work is how it works to maintain people in the position that they are in. So if they can give me some indication there on some of these things.

So now I am going to go over to some of the analysis on page . . . I've got page B-201 here. I have got a whole bunch of questions. I won't do those questions, though. I am going to move on because we need to get to some of this stuff. And we will get to it in the analysis.

So, on page B-203, what I would like to be able to do . . . (I'll just flip over to my notes here.) On page B-203, if we take a look at . . . we are still on Head 36, unit 3601 and 46111, Administration. The Minister mentioned . . . and we are looking at the numbers there. We are spending $41,000 more. The Minister mentioned new protocols in this particular area. I was curious as to what some of those new protocols might be.

Now, in addition to that, if you look at the actual estimate for 2025/26 of $2.4 million, I draw your attention across to the far left under the actual for 2023/24. Which has been a pet peeve for me for many years. We spent $5.9 million in 2023/24. That is double what we originally quoted for. That is double what the revised amount . . . more than double, three times the amount of the revised amount. And simply more than double the estimate for 2025/26. And we don't get these actual numbers until almost two years later. And it is bothering me because it is way over what we calculated for, so why is there such a huge difference?

If we go down to Finance Management, 3610, on page B-203, again we are under Head 36. I guess I was trying to understand what are we doing with the $119,000 more. I was trying to take note from the Minister on these particular areas here to just see . . . see . . . now this involves accounts payable, receivables, payroll and the like. So, I believe he said that it was staff adjustments that are counted for that. And that's fine. I get it. But again, if it is staff adjustments, then I understand that. Mr. Chairman, $119,000 I am not sure what particular position that relates to as far as staff adjustments are concerned. So, it would be nice to know what we are talking about there. I think last year there was some mention about truck fees and stuff like that. But I will leave that alone.

Let's go down to unit 36111. We are still on page B-203 under Purchasing. Again, as I was trying to take note of what was being said, I think this had to do with pay scale adjustments once again. And I am getting to a point here because, again, as I said in my general statement, all of these increases, really dollar allotments, are not because we are investing in infrastructure and the like. It is because of salary adjustments. I understand that the Minister mentioned that.

What I would like to know is . . . go down to Purchasing under 36111. I was just curious. When it comes to the wholesalers and retailers that we purchase from, do we get a bulk or a discount as government because of the volume of what it is that we are purchasing from the retailers and the wholesalers? It would be nice to know if we are doing that. I mean, certainly we want to buy Bermuda. And if we can strike up a relationship with whoever, it would be nice to know what kind of discounts we are getting in this particular area.

Also, if we look at Supply Stores. The Minister did give some word to that there, so I will leave that alone.

Under 3612, Telecommunications . . . let me just look through my notes here, what he said. Telecommunications. He said that this increase, $26,000, was due to . . . I believe he said higher fees. But what I wasn't quite sure of was the maintenance. I am not sure. What kind of fees are we talking about? That these fees are higher. Is that with the phone companies? I don't know.

The Chairman: You just have 30 minutes.

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: Yes. Okay. I am going to skip over all of that. I am going to move over to Parks because we just don't have the time.

What I would like to ask is if the Minister, if he is obliged . . . typically, Minister Burch would give me his briefing. I would be able to write it down as he was very kind. I didn't even have to ask for it. He just gave it to me. You know, I must not be in good with this particular new Minister.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: So, I am going to big him up a little bit.

[Laughter]

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: And I was also allotted the fortune of giving the questions that I couldn't get to him, and he actually answered the questions the following week. So, if I could submit those questions, because there are lot of questions. I won't look for it in a week but if I could submit those maybe the Minister would oblige in being able to get me some answers to those.

So, I think what I am going to do, and it is unfortunate that I do not have the time. You know, it is beyond some of the things. I would like to point out if I could, Mr. Chairman, move over to page B-211 under Head 68, Parks. I am going to jump ahead here because [there] is so little time.

[Inaudible interjections and laughter]

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: If I could jump . . . I am jumping over pages here, Whip.

Under page B-211, under Performance Measures, if I follow on down to Performance Measures under Government House. In the middle of the page, 78015. Is this . . . and go down two rows there. Total number of bedding plants installed. If you look at the revised forecast, it says [$]120,000. That has got to be an error. Correct? Because the original forecast $12,000, the target forecast $12,000. Now, unless we hired about a dozen people to help us with installing bedding plants and got some volunteer organisation, I would like to know if that is a mistake. If it is, again, I am a stickler about this stuff because this is records for the history. If it needs to be changed, please change it. It has crept up before in other areas under performance measures, if we could do that.

Under Maintenance and Development, 78020, Number of toilets serviced. I notice that . . . I don't know where we got all these toilets, but anyhow, 3,500 serviced toilets. Is that . . . does that mean all of our buildings and what not? Where are all these toilets?

An Hon. Member: Schools.

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: Schools. Yes, there we go. Schools as well. I don't know. I have no clue. Do you know?

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: I don't know. It would be nice to know. Sometimes these performance measures . . . what the heck is that talking about—3,500?

Now, the Government has . . . and it is saying that it is investing in infrastructure and building new buildings, well, that number should have gone up from 3,500 from two years ago. It hasn't. One of the issues also I do have is I need to understand why have we taken out of performance measures in most of the Public Works areas. Why have we taken the actual outcome out? There has got to be a reasoning behind why we have taken it out. But if you take out the actual outcome in 2023/24 and it is all zeros—this is the first time I have seen this in these slots—if we take that out it avoids the public from holding us accountable as Government and Opposition as to exactly what is going on. Now there has got to be a reason for that. I don't know what it is. Maybe it was a Cabinet decision. I don't know. I just don't know but it would be nice to find out.

The Chairman: I don't know the actual answer but just keep in mind that would be around the exit of COVID-19.

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: In 2023/24, we were well out of . . . we were still functioning. I mean, if you look at these, we were still cleaning toilets, Mr. Chairman. It is zero. We were still planting plants. It is zero. So, I am just . . . there has got to be a more philosophical, more strategic decision for it. I just don't know what it is because all these performance measures are at zero.

You know, again, over on page B-212 under Head 68, Parks. Total number of corporate events held at Fort St. Catherine. Now this is where I want to talk about revenue. Remember, as I said earlier about revenue? I mean, Fort St. Catherine is pretty popular. Are we actually working with like other ministries, like Tourism and the like? I know that that was mentioned that we do work with them in other areas in getting publication. But I mean, what a picturesque place to have a wedding there and have pictures and advertise around the world. Maybe that is something we can do. Maybe we are already doing it. I don't know. But this is an opportunity to increase revenue significantly because it is a public spot. It is beautiful. It would be nice to be able to . . . unless St. Fort Catherine is not being kept up. But I do know that we were spending time.

Now when it comes to Fort St. Catherine in this performance measures, and the other forts, I also know that historically we used volunteers. So, I would like to know if the volunteers still exist who are helping us run and maintain these forts. Are they still in place? Because we had quite a few. Maybe they are not now. It would be nice to know whether or not they still are. And if they aren't, you know, we can increase revenue. We got time. We get this thing up and going.

Now, I am going to quickly switch over and I pray that the Honourable Member will allow me to get all of these questions to him. He did mention about Professional Services that I thought was important that we get on with the work that needs to be done. I am concerned in a few areas, and I will point that out when it comes to Professional Services, as we move on. (Sorry. Here we go. Page 222)

I am going to now move over. On page B-216, under head . . . I am moving over to Environment and Natural Resources because I am trying to move through all of these things here because I really want to get to the capital development and stuff. Under Head 79, Environment and Natural Resources . . . let me first say this here. That was very in-depth. I have never had to look at Environment. In fact, I can tell you most things about most all other ministries. But Environment was one of those where I never really paid close attention, so I got to do better there.

So, I want to thank the Minister for the detail. It took up a bit of time, but it was very detailed and informative. So, I am grateful for that. Now I know how to debate it, and I will be much better prepared next year.

But what I would like to know—

[Inaudible interjections and laughter]

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: Yes, yes.

Under the mission statement, B-214. I will start there. Head 79, Environment and Natural Resources. Objectives: To increase Island's food security and local food production. That is something that has always been near and dear to many people's hearts, Mr. Chairman. I mean, I had a fantastic meal last night, local wahoo, with local pumpkin and local tomatoes. I mean, beautiful! Well-seasoned. I had a good time at that meal.

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: I cooked it myself. That's the thing.

[Inaudible interjections and laughter]

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: That's the thing. I cooked it myself and my wife said, My goodness, man. We need to open up a restaurant.

What I would like to know is this, under that objective . . . and we can't know . . . we . . . there ain't no food security at my house. I ain't got one garden. But under three, I was wondering if the Ministry would consider this here. You know, we have reclaimed land back in . . . years ago, back in 2012, 2013. We reclaimed land. Of course, we had America's Cup because they used that part that we reclaimed. But that was for essentially entertainment, investment as well. Would we consider, or could the Ministry consider an opportunity to reclaim land solely earmarked for agriculture? I think it would be a fantastic thing.

The challenge we have in Bermuda is everything has to be imported. And the Minister was very clear that we do have certain crops that we now . . . that we do, like potatoes. I was glad to hear about the sweet potatoes because I couldn't get sweet potatoes forever this year. I was wondering what in the world was wrong. But now we have an opportunity. We need to add more land for housing, quite frankly, and for agriculture. It is important because one ship during COVID-19, Mr. Chairman, we were struggling to get Bounty Scott towels, and different products. We can't afford that. We have got to be sustainable here. So I want Public Works to really consider this. Now that Environment has been enjoined into it, can we consider this here as potential for growing more agriculture land and earmarked for that?

Now, let me move over here. On page B-216, the Minister mentioned that we have got an allotment here under the Subjective Analysis. And where was the line item here? Under Professional Services, and the allotment there really had to do with overseas consultants. Further on he also mentioned about that we were going to have to hire an agronomist. Is that likely to be a local or is that likely to be a foreigner? I have no clue. I know what it is about basically, soil and understanding the challenges with it. But is that expertise on the Island or are we, if we are looking for that person, when are we likely to get it? Because if we don't have it now, then we got issues. Right? We are just not going to make it.

Again, if you look on page B-217, now Environment does a whopping well job with revenue. You can see there we have got revenue of about $1.374 million. It is extremely consistent. But I am wondering under all of these categories that we see here . . . Now I also understand under 8533, Lobster divers' licence, it is down by $21,000 [sic]. That is really not a whole lot. I mean, I don't know . . . I'm sorry. That is 21 licences. I don't know what that represents and what the average uptick is for a licence, per licence, how many lobsters they take up. How many . . . I mean, we are making the statement that we don't want to . . . we want to help the stock but what is the average? You know, per licence, what is the average amount of lobster that they pull? Because if it is not that much then I'm not sure it is going to be a helpful type of thing. So, it would be nice to understand that more.

I asked that question . . . I got . . . Oh, okay.

On page B-219, under Performance Measures . . . where is it? Where is the one about . . . Hang on a second here.

The Minister mentioned about the feral animals. Understood there. Public Outreach. The one just before it. Under 89000, Administration, the number of public outreach. That doesn't look like a whole lot when we see a target amount of 10. Especially when this is a very important area to get the public to understand that we got challenges. You know? I mean, chickens are walking into retail outlets right now. They are in town, you know. They were in Shade's and all kinds of stuff. We got to figure this out. Right? We either cull them for their eggs or say goodbye to them. Something has got to happen.

I wanted to get to where we were talking . . . marine conservation. I am trying to find the line item for it where we were talking about . . . oh, under number of feral animals removed, I wanted to ask this question. I have been out to the Pembroke Canal, Mr. Chairman, and I don't know. I go out there . . . I am an animal lover, right? I go out there and I get guppies. You know? To feed bigger fish that I have in the fish tank. Right? And there are millions of them there. Right?

But what I discovered in the Pembroke Canal, to my shock, there is literally . . . there has got to be, easy, 800 in just a small canal part, turtles. I have never seen that many turtles before in my life in one area. I am talking about hundreds and hundreds of turtles. Does that fall under the feral situation as well? Because somebody is dumping turtles and they are breeding. Maybe they aren't eating enough to keep all the grass from growing there but I think they might be a problem in some area. I don't know. But I can literally tell you that if you go over there, if it is not hundreds, it could be thousands. I mean, I just . . . the water is littered with them.

So, I think if we can get our conservationist people to go over there and check that out. Just don't take the guppies. Leave those. But we need to check out about these turtles because Bermudians are buying turtles, and they are dumping them. And that has got to stop. Okay? So, I will leave that one alone. I am going to move over.

I would like to know, on page B-220, on Head 79, Environment. I really would like to know what is going on. If we go down under business unit 89040, Marine Enforcement. Here we have a number of illegal fish traps—lobster [and] guinea chick traps. How do you even know where these things are? Like they are in the ocean. So how does that happen? How do you get 15 traps? Is somebody diving out there telling you? It is an interesting area, and I just thought, Well, it would be nice if the public could know. And if the public knows about traps, that the fishing line gets hooked on them, where they need to call and that kind of thing for that. So how does that process actually work?

The Minister also mentioned about lanternfly coming off of cruise ships. I am glad we got control of that. But under the Environment in and of itself, I was just curious as to whether or not, how do the farmers . . . how are they . . . are they making suggestions about how we can better deal with these pests and the like? Because I know some of these farmers, I have spoken to them. I mean, these guys are sharp. And they may not be doctors, but they know their stuff. How is that relationship going on with the farmers and the Ministry on how we can deal with some of these issues because usually the answer is right in front of us? So, I will move on from there.

Oh, under number of dogs licenced, business unit . . . on the same page, B-220. Business unit 89070, animal control. Number of dogs licenced as a percentage of eligible population. Now I think I know what that means. I did pretty good in problem-solving but I ain't sure when it says 26 per cent. Are we saying that in the actual outcome there that 26 per cent of the dogs on the Island are licenced? Is that what we are saying? It is kind of confusing. Right? Number of dogs licenced as a percentage of eligible population. So if we got 5,000 dogs, that is the eligible population. Are we saying that 26 of them are licensed? Is that what that means?

The Chairman: So, you are asking for actual outcome 2023/24?

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: Well, what I am saying is . . . yes, under actual outcome in 2023/24, it is 26 per cent. But the original forecast for 2024/25 is 40 per cent and we are still forecasting this year 40 per cent. There is a huge difference between the two, but I just don't understand the actual . . . percentage to what. That is what I would like to know. What is that percentage to? And as I said, is it to the total population of dogs that we have on the Island? Or . . . I just don't know. Or is it for re-licensing? I just don't know. I would like to know, understand more about that.

I am going to move on over to Public Lands and Buildings. I am just going to put my notes away. I have my [Budget] Book in front of me. Under Public Lands and Buildings, on page B-222. If we look at the general summary here, I am looking here and if we go to . . . under the general summary unit 81000, Administration.

And then Training and Apprenticeship, which the Minister talked about 91001, Training and Apprenticeship. Now, the Minister spoke quite eloquently about the fact that we are training, and we are doing these wonderful things but if you look at the revised amount for 2024/25 for Training, we didn't do squat. We didn't do anything. And then our forecast for this year is $311,000 that we are going to spend in training. And the 2023/24 actual amount, we didn't do any training. Maybe that was because of COVID-19, I don't know. But then we originally said $273[,000] for 2024/25. And then we didn't do anything.

So, I want to know, what were we doing? We weren't training anybody? It doesn't make any sense to me. But now we want to spend $311[,000]. Now, typically when you are forecasting you go over your history, the past. So, it has got to be a major reason why we didn't do any training for two years. Two years we didn't do any training. So, what is going on? That is hardly a commitment to getting us to where we need to be. And I was trying to problem-solve this thing here and then I said to myself, Maybe, you know what, I was going over and I was looking here, and I said, well, no, it can't . . . maybe. I couldn't figure it out. I could not figure out why. So there has got to be a reason for that.

I would like to . . . he did talk about buildings and the maintenance. Under 8101, Buildings, if we take a look at maintenance, unit 91003, under maintenance. Under the revised amount for 2024/25, we spent $9.3 million. We originally thought we were going to spend $8.3 million under 2024/25. So, we have spent over a million dollars in this particular area. That is pretty much, pretty close to the actual amount that we spent in 2023/24. So, I trust in these historical numbers because they are consistent. It is only unfortunate that we don't see these actual amounts until years later. So, I am trying to understand why when there is so much going wrong with our buildings and the like, how is it that we are only estimating $8.713 [million]?

The Chairman: [You have] 15 minutes.

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: Geez, man. Okay.

Insurance. Under Estates 8102. Insurance, 91005. If you take a look at the revised amount there it is $8.1 million. But if you look at the original amount for 2024/25 on page B-222, it is $5.8 million. Like that is $2.8 million, plus. Maybe a little bit more, increase. What was going on there? Or was that because we added the new Ministry of Environment or something like that? That could be the case. I don't know. But it is not making any sense. Unless a building . . . maybe it is because we have not done anything with the Allenhurst Building. Maybe we lost the insurance on that. I don't know. Because it has been sitting there for years, hopefully something is going to happen there. But we have not gotten to that. So, yes, I am trying to figure that one out.

If we also go down on that page B-222, 8104, Project Management. And I do believe that the Minister was talking about this as well with the allotment of $726,000. And I recognised that this had to do with hiring project managers on page B-223, at the very bottom where it says, Employee Numbers. So, I am assuming, he did give mention that that was probably the case. But what I don't understand is that we allotted $671,000 in 2024/25 for the same reason.

And if you look over at the employee numbers on page B-223, you will also see an allotment for five people, but then we didn't hire anyone. No one at all. And I would believe that the project management people are local. Because we do have the expertise here. So, were we having a challenge that we just decided that we are not going to do it after the case? Maybe. Something is happening there as to why we didn't do anything. But if you look now, we are hoping to have six. And I happen to believe that these project managers are actually . . . there are some working now.

So, when exactly . . . also, the second question is: When did we hire them? Because it is lost here in translation when we look at 2024/25. When we look at the revised amount, it is zero. It is completely lost so I am trying to figure out where in the world that goes. So, please, if you can figure that one out, I would appreciate it.

I am going to move on. Under page B-224, and then I am going to move onto . . . probably, [Head] 81. Under the performance measures, business unit 91000, the second line item there says, "Number of vacant Government owned buildings inspected and reports presented to the Minister on the options for the properties." So, what I would like done, I know we have . . . if you look at the outcome, 5, and you look at the revised forecast, 5, and the original forecast 5, I know we have more vacant buildings than that. So, is there a report that we are doing? And how are we acting once we identify these vacant buildings that we have, as I mentioned the Allenhurst Building?

You know, the old police station there. It has been flattened and it has been there for years and years and years.

Government is looking to put legislation in place that if your building is derelict or vacant for too long there may be tax implications, fees, because of that. Government can't own buildings in the city and put legislation in place like that there when they are their own offender. Right? That is prime real estate. I mean, if you put a coffee shop there for the civil servants. Do something. It is an eyesore coming into town. And the thing is just flattened. Just sitting there. Prime real estate. Or sell it.

As I have been saying already, should we consider . . . and that is a question. Should we consider selling Allenhurst Building? You will make some money off of that building. Sell it. We are not doing anything with it. There has been plan after plan after plan, you know. Arbitration Centre and the like. But we haven't . . . it has been years, Mr. Chairman. Nothing has been done there except there are wonderful trees growing. Right? Casuarinas are brilliant. Right? Nothing is happening at all. So, we need to move [swiftly]. And if there is one thing that bugs me and the Minister is going to soon find out, sometimes we can move a little slow. And I think we can do better in that area.

I know my time is dwindling down. So, I am going to move over to Head 82, under Works and Engineering. Where we start talking about on page B-228—sorry. Page B-226. We talk about Highways Management, on page B-226, Highways 8202. Listen guys, I am concerned because if I go over to it . . . and I might as well go over to it while I am here. I am extremely concerned because on page C-6, under Capital Development.

If we go down to 75042, Roadworks, we estimated $5 million that we were going to spend. And I want to say to preface this, we estimated $5 million for 2024/25 when we already knew we had problems with our asphalt plant. But we still estimated $5 million to spend. To spend in the revised amount it [is] $2.9 million. And so, we have slowed our production because we have an ageing plant but then we go again and say we are going to put $5 million back there when we already know we can't do it. It is not good forecasting. Right?

So, maybe a statement from the Minister of a realistic amount that is going to be done for this upcoming year. Because every time you go somewhere everybody, the first thing they start talking about it, I mean. Roads! You know, it has gotten so bad that unfortunately, and it is not the Minister's fault, that people are blaming their accidents, all kinds of stuff because of the condition of the roads. Now I ride on the roads. Mostly I ride on a bike, and I am going to tell you, mate, that is like going to Coney Island back in the day when they had a wooden roller coaster. That thing is rocky! I mean, those roads are rough.

And I know the Minister is doing the best that he can but maybe . . . Minister, question. I asked before about the asphalt machinery at the airport. And the reason we didn't use it was because it was in Spanish, the instructions. Do you know that you can scan those instructions in Spanish with AI and it comes out in English? What a wonder! Let's go to the airport and say, Listen, we need this machinery. We got to get up to date here. Let somebody give this some thought. I asked the Minister about it. He said, It is in Spanish. We ain't using it. How are you going to tell the public it is in Spanish and you can't . . .

An Hon. Member: Former Minister.

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: Yes, former Minister. Sorry. Former Minister.

I just sat there; Royal Gazette didn't even talk about it. I guess they didn't like that at all. But I know the Minister didn't.

But come on now. That machinery is there at the airport. I mean, that thing, that asphalt at the airport is handling planes jumping on it, not a car rolling on it. We need to do something about it. I am hoping that the Minister comes back and says, We are going to go down to the airport. So, please, if you could, go down to the airport and check that out.

So, I go back to page B-226, under Highways and Management. Look, signs are down all over the place. You need more than $2,000 to keep up. Under 92005, Roads Asphalt & Signs. Like, you are going to spend . . . all of us riding on the roads, you can see some of those signs are so old they are back from the old days. Right? You need to do something about that here. And then when it comes to the road maintenance, 92006, and the Minister did speak about what they were doing there but—

The Chairman: Member, you said they need more than $2,000?

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: Yes, there is a $2,000 increase.

The Chairman: Okay. You need more than a $2,000 increase?

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: Yes, man.

The Chairman: Okay.

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: Remember, I said 10 per cent is the key for Public Works. You would need a 10 per cent to catch up. I mean, we are behind. I must say I want to thank the PS, this was last year so he wasn't the Minister at the time, but the former Minister. A lot of railings were going up. I did notice that. It was really, really, really, really nice. But we are a long way from where we need to be.

So, I would like for a realistic update on how much more we need to spend to make sure that we get this plant. I mean, this plant has been years now waiting. I still do not understand. This boat is coming from China for sure because it is taking a long time to get this stuff here. I just don't understand why.

So, what I am going to do, Mr. Chairman, is I am going to over to page C-6 and I am going to talk about Capital Development because I know I only have a couple of minutes here.

The Chairman: Yes, you have got five minutes.

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: Yes, I've got five minutes.

Under Capital Development. What I would like to do is go down to Public Works Lands, page C-6, where it talks about Horseshoe Bay beach bathrooms. And last year we had a lot of complaints about this bathroom, maintenance of it, keeping up with it with the number of people who are going there. Have we done anything about that? Are we hiring people to get . . . just like we hiring people to sweep the roads now? We need more people maintaining the bathrooms. I recognise that you have done that, yes. I pay attention.

So, this is our number-one beach. And every year, we are going into a new season, holiday. Every year the tourists are complaining about lines. The bathroom [toilets] are not flushing properly. What exactly is going on? Can we please put some money in here to fix this thing? In 2024 the actual amount we spent was $4.2 million. And I remember what was going on then because [there were] major, major issues with the backing up. We need to spend way more money in that area.

I want to go over to under C-13 under Capital Acquisitions. The Minister talked about cars and electric cars and the like. We also talked about in Parks . . . sorry. In Parks, yes, that . . . sorry. Under Communications Equipment. (I'm sorry, I'm going too fast.) Mr. Chairman, 76868, Communications Equipment. Where exactly is the tower going in St. David's? Is it near the . . . are we talking about near the lighthouse itself? He never mentioned where exactly that tower was going. And if I didn't ask that question, I would not be able to go back down to my family to make sure that I got an answer for them.

The Chairman: Three minutes.

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: Yes. I am going over to . . . I want to go over to page C-28, under Head 81, Public Lands and Buildings. We are renting out a new building for almost $200,000 there, $198,000. The Paradigm Building in Hamilton Parish. It's new. Who is actually in that building? Who is . . . like what Ministry, or . . .? That is $198,000 for the year in new rent.—

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: I didn't . . . I didn't . . .

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: I do? Oh, from the—

An Hon. Member: Yes.

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: But who is in it? Is it—

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: Okay. That is the occupant. Okay. Good, good, good, Thank you.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: Thank you. Thank you. Thank you. I appreciate that. Well done. Well done.

The Chairman: It would be nice if the Chair was included in the conversation.

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: Yes, my apologies, Mr. Chairman. You told me three minutes, so I panicked.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: Yes, so I will go back to my original plea, because I am going to talk about this. I am giving fair warning.

On page B-218 under Ministry of Public Works for . . . for . . . where is my . . . Okay. Yes. For the Ministry we have, in my opinion, probably grossly miscalculated on page B-201, the actual development under Capital Expenditure. Development is $50,492,000. Yes, that may be what we want to spend but in actual fact the 2024/25 original amount, if you look at the Budget Book last year you will see $52,992,000. That is a decrease in development and that certainly does not speak to what I understand to be this year because we have a surplus in our budget that we are actually putting our money where our mouth is and investing in the fact that we want Bermuda to get better with these roads, and the like. That does not reflect investment at all. And if that number is correct, I am woefully disappointed that the Ministry was not allowed . . . it is not the PS's fault at all. Cabinet has to bear the responsibility for not making sure that more money was spent in this area.

The Chairman: Thank you, Member.

We have reached our time allotted. The four-and-a-half-hours has elapsed and that brings us to the end of this debate.

Minister, I will encourage you to move your heads.

Hon. Jache Adams: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

What I will say to—

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Jache Adams: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.
Any comments or just . . .

The Chairman: No time left. You can only move the heads.

Hon. Jache Adams: Okay.

I move that Heads 36, 68, 79, 81 and 82 be approved as printed.

The Chairman: It has been moved that the heads be approved.

Is there any objection to that motion?

No objection.

Agreed to.

[Motion carried: The Ministry of Public Works and Environment Heads 36, 68, 79, 81 and 82 were approved and stand part of the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for 2025/26.]

The Chairman: That now brings us to the conclusion of that debate for the Ministry of Public Works and Environment on Heads 36, 68, 79, 81 and 82.

Next on the agenda is the Ministry of Tourism and Transport. Something near and dear to my heart. It is going to be piloted through by Minister Owen Darrell. He will be taking on Heads 71, 34, 48, 35 and 30. This is a three-and-a-half-hour debate starting now at 4:46 pm.

Minister, you have the floor.

MINISTRY OF TOURISM AND TRANSPORT, CULTURE AND SPORT

Hon. Owen Darrell: Thank you, Mr. Chairman. Good afternoon.

Mr. Chairman, I move the following heads: Head 71, Ministry of Tourism and Transport, Culture and Sport, Headquarters; Head 34, Transport Control Department; Head 48, Transport; Head 35; Public Transportation; and Head 30, Marine and Ports be now taken under consideration.

The Chairman: Are there any objections to these heads being taken under consideration?

With their being no objections, Minister, you have the floor.

HEAD 71—MINISTRY HEADQUARTERS

Hon. Owen Darrell: Thank you, Mr. Chairman. (I'm getting myself situated here.) Mr. Chairman, thank you.

Mr. Chairman, I will start with Head 71, Headquarters. This is found on pages B-232 through B-236 of the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure.

Mr. Chairman, it gives me great pleasure to present the budget for Head 71, the newly combined Ministry of Tourism and Transport, Culture and Sport Headquarters, found on pages B-232 through B-236 of the Budget Book. The mission of the Ministry of Tourism and Transport, Culture and Sport Headquarters is To create a globally competitive, diverse destination that enhances visitor experiences, expands cultural and sports opportunities, and ensures safe, efficient transportation for all. That is found on page B-233.

The Chairman: My apologies, Minister.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Mr. Chairman, a total of $34,079,000 as found on page B-234 of the Budget Book has been allocated to the new Ministry of Tourism and Transport, Culture and Sport Headquarters, which represents the combination of the former Ministry of Transport, Head 48 and the former Ministry of Tourism, Culture and Sport, Head 71. The new Ministry Headquarters will now function under Head 71. The aforementioned budgetary [allocation] of $34,079,000 represents 34 per cent of the total budget allocation for the Ministry as a whole.

Mr. Chairman, the Ministry of Tourism and Transport, Culture and Sport Headquarters serves as the central hub for strategic leadership, policy development, and oversight across Bermuda's sectors of tourism, transport, culture and sport. It is responsible for setting the vision and direction that guides these sectors. By coordinating initiatives, shaping legislative frameworks and providing high level support to departments and agencies, the Ministry Headquarters plays a vital role in supporting innovation, enhancing service delivery, and promoting Bermuda's identity and competitiveness both locally and internationally.

This investment is essential to strengthen and modernise Bermuda's transportation infrastructure, including our ports and public transit systems. It also supports the growth of our sports and cultural sectors, enhancing the quality of life for our residents and enriching the experience for visitors.

Mr. Chairman, the departments which come under the Ministry Headquarters' remit include:

- Department of Sport and Recreations, Head 20;
- Department of Marine and Ports Services, Head 30;
- Transport Control Department (TCD), Head 34;
- Department of Public Transportation, Head 35; and the - Department of Culture, Head 52.

In addition, Headquarters maintains oversight of 24 authorities, boards, consuls and committees. Namely, the Bermuda Civil Aviation Authority, the Bermuda Shipping and Maritime Authority, the Bermuda Airport Authority; the Bermuda Tourism Authority; the Bermuda Arts Council; Golf Course Board; Liquor Licence Authority; National Sports Centre Board; the Bermuda Sports Anti-Doping Agency; nine parish councils; Naming and Recognition Committee; Public Service Vehicle Licencing Board; Ports Authority Board; Road Safety Council; Medical Reference Committee; and the Water Safety Council.

Revenue Overview

Hon. Owen Darrell: Mr. Chairman, it is anticipated that during the 2025/26 budget cycle, Headquarters will collect approximately $1,357,000 in revenue, found on page B-235. The revenue is mainly collected from vacation rental fees, hotel licences fees as well as liquor licencing fees.

Subjective Analysis Administration

Hon. Owen Darrell: Mr. Chairman, the estimated budget for the Administration Section will be $33,479,000. This represents an increase of $14,820,000 or an increase of approximately 79 per cent when compared to prior years, cost centre 81000, which did not include the two merged Headquarters. The increase mainly represents the transfer of the Administration Section, cost centre 58000, under the former Headquarters for Transport, Head 48.

Bermuda Airport Authority

Hon. Owen Darrell: Mr. Chairman, included in the administration budget is a grant to the Bermuda Airport Authority, an amount of $14,901,000 for year 2025/26, representing a $200,000 increase, or approximately 2 per cent over the 2024/25 allocation.

Mr. Chairman, the Airport Authority currently employs 61 full-time equivalent staff including vacancies. The mostly Bermudian, professional workforce has the mandate to provide essential retained Government services as direct employees of the Airport Authority. Part of the increased expense allocation will be used to fund essential overseas training for up to five Bermudian Air Traffic Controllers who joined in Quarter 1 of 2025.

Bermuda Tourism Authority

Hon. Owen Darrell: Mr. Chairman, also included in the Administration budget is a grant to the Bermuda Tourism Authority (known as the BTA) of $15,500,000 for 2025/26, representing a $540,000 decrease, or approximately 3.5 per cent compared the 2024/25 revised allocation of $16,040,000.

Mr. Chairman, the budget allocation to the Bermuda Tourism Authority reflects the amount requested in its grant application. Should I repeat that, Mr. Chairman? The budget allocation to the Bermuda Tourism Authority reflects the amount requested in its grant application. This budget underscores the BTA's continued commitment to reducing its reliance on Government funding. In keeping with the pledges made in the 2024 Throne Speech, the BTA has demonstrated a proactive approach through cost-saving measures and initiatives aimed at generating its own revenue to operate more independently and sustainably.

Mr. Chairman, our total income for the BTA is forecast to be $32,100,000. The balance of approximately $16,600,000 forecasted income is from fees paid by visitors staying in Bermuda's hotels, vacation rental units, and by cruise ship passengers. The vast majority of BTA funds are spent on selling and marketing the destination, the sales and marketing organisation, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. Chairman, the BTA operates as the Island's Destination Marketing Organisation, working diligently to advance Bermuda's economic prosperity through a robust and sustainable tourism sector. This Government remains committed to ensuring that every dollar invested in Bermuda's tourism industry delivers measurable returns, fosters job creation, and strengthens our economy.

Mr. Chairman, the tourism sector remains a cornerstone of Bermuda's economy, directly and indirectly impacting thousands of Bermudians. In 2024, the Bermuda Tourism Authority and the Bermuda tourism industry built upon previous successes, achieving substantial growth in key performance indicators.

Total visitor arrivals increased by 4 per cent to approximately 743,000, with air arrivals rising by 9.6 per cent to approximately 203,000, and leisure air arrivals up by 15.2 per cent to approximately 140,000. These results underscore the effectiveness and the strategic efforts to enhance Bermuda's tourism product and strengthen its global positioning.

Transportation Planning Team

Hon. Owen Darrell: Mr. Chairman, the Transportation Planning section sits within the Ministry Headquarters, cost centre 81060, includes one full-time equivalent employee and is allocated a budget of $147,000 and can be found on page B-234 of the Budget Book.

The Transportation Planning Section is responsible for managing all aspects of cruise ship operations in Bermuda, including contracts, logistics, regulations, and day-to-day coordination, to ensure continuous and efficient service delivery. It also leads key transportation projects and conducts policy research to support the Ministry's strategic priorities and long-term planning objectives.

Mr. Chairman, in 2024, the cruise ship season began with 190 scheduled calls and a projected passenger count of over 578,000 people. By the end of the season, 17 calls were unfortunately cancelled, 13 due to adverse weather conditions and four as a result of itinerary changes, resulting in 173 actual calls and over 535,000 passengers. This represented a reduction of approximately 43,000 passengers, or 7.4 per cent. Despite the cancellations, the 2024 season outperformed the 2023 season, which recorded a total of over 525,000 cruise passengers.

The economic impact for 2024 included: $24,500,000 in passenger taxes and $10,800,000 in transportation infrastructure tax. Additionally, other cruise ship revenue was estimated at $7,000,000 in cruise ship visitor fees; $116,500,000 in combined passenger and crew spending; and $9,300,000 in cruise line disbursement expenses locally.

This culminated in an estimated total of $168,100,000 in economic activity for 2024. Mr. Chairman, since the first published projections in December 2024 for the 2025 season includes 179 calls, there have been seven cruise ship cancellations. The new conservative projection at this time includes 172 cruise ship calls and approximately 475,000 passengers, based on a similar number of cancellations last year.

Regulatory and Policy

Hon. Owen Darrell: Mr. Chairman, the Regulatory and Policy Section sits within the Ministry Headquarters, cost centre 81065, includes four full-time equivalent employees and is allocated a budget of $453,000 and can be found on page B-234 of the Budget Book.

The Regulatory and Policy Section is tasked with managing the full lifecycle of the Tourism Investment Relief applications. This includes the receipt, timely processing, and thorough review of all submissions.

Once applications are approved, the section ensures they are efficiently advanced through the appropriate legislative and administrative channels to facilitate implementation.

Mr. Chairman, the section is also responsible for conducting compliance inspections for hotels and vacation rentals to ensure adherence to relevant standards and regulations. Based on the outcomes of these inspections, they are further responsible for issuing licences and certifications as required to support lawful and high-quality tourism operations.

Mr. Chairman, the 2024 calendar year marked the most active period since the enactment of the Tourism Investment Act 2017. A total of seven applications were approved for relief under the Act, all of which are now in operation. This represents a significant increase, Mr. Chairman, compared to previous years, which typically saw an average of just one or two successful applications annually. That shows, Mr. Chairman, massive investment in this space.

This notable uptick reflects a glowing level of investor confidence in the tourism sector and renewed interest in Bermuda as a destination for sustainable tourism development.

The Chairman: For the listening public, the Minister is speaking to Head 71, Regulatory Policies, mainly with the focus on hotels.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. Chairman, the 2025/26 capital budget is for the Bermuda Airport Authority, which totals $2,713,000, which is found on page C-7. These funds will be directed toward several critical, ongoing and new airport infrastructure projects. Mr. Chairman, as seen on page B-235, there will be a total of 13 full-time equivalent employees in the Ministry Headquarters, Head 71.

Mr. Chairman, I am pleased to report that the department's forecasted performance measures found on B-236 for fiscal year 2024/25 were achieved. Mr. Chairman, this business unit, cost centre 81000, is responsible for the strategic policy development, accounting support for the Ministry. The performance measures of 2024/25 include internal compliance reviews for heads within the Ministry, financial guidance or compliance training sessions for the year, percentage of payments accurately processed within the relevant deadlines and a percentage of ministerial policy priorities completed. All forecasted outcomes were successfully achieved.

Regulatory and Policy, Cost Centre 81065

Hon. Owen Darrell: Mr. Chairman, as mentioned previously, this business unit oversees the end-to-end handling of tourism investment relief applications from intake to implementation. It also carries out inspections of hotels and vacation rentals to make sure they have met regulatory standards and compliance requirements.

The performance measures for 2024/25 include ensuring hotel and vacation rental properties are inspected and licensed by the annual deadline of the 31st of March and the 31st of August, respectively. Hotel and vacation rental complaints are acknowledged within 24 hours of receipt. Hotel and vacation rental complaints are investigated within 48 hours of receipt and ensuring final report of hotel and vacation rental complaints are issued within 10 days of complaint. All forecasted outcomes were successfully achieved.

Plans for the Upcoming Year

Hon. Owen Darrell: Mr. Chairman, the Ministry Headquarters will continue to serve as a strategic and policy development hub for the Ministry. Mr. Chairman, a key focus remains the advancement of Bermuda's cruise industry. In collaboration with the Bermuda Land Development Company, now operating under the Ministry of Housing and Municipalities, plans to extend to the King's Wharf Pier by 200 feet will be implemented. Construction is scheduled to begin on the 2nd of October 2025 with completion expected by the 31st of March 2026. This extension will enable King's Wharf to match the size of Heritage Wharf in capacity. Larger cruise ships will be able to dock more efficiently and deploy additional gangways, improving both embarkation and disembarkation processes.

Mr. Chairman, looking ahead, the cruise ship schedule for 2026 currently includes 190 calls, while the 2027 season, still in early booking stages, already has confirmed 180 calls. These figures, though subject to change, demonstrate a strong and growing interest in Bermuda as a cruise ship destination.

Mr. Chairman, the Bermuda Airport Authority will continue to oversee several ongoing and upcoming infrastructure initiatives related to aviation weather services using the capital funding measured earlier. These include, but are not limited to the

- Aeronautical Information Services;
- Aeronautical Information Management;
- organisational transition;
- Bermuda Weather Service;
- Weather Radar;
- random refurbishment, or resealing;
- Bermuda Weather Service application programme interface;
- Air Traffic Engineering infrastructure upgrades;
- the Bermuda Weather Service website design;
- the Bermuda Weather Service hydrogen gas generator, phase one;
- cybersecurity systems infrastructure upgrades; and
- the air traffic controller simulator.

I am sure you know all of those well, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. Chairman, in the Tourism sector, the Bermuda Tourism Authority [BTA] will continue its efforts to diversify Bermuda's visitor markets. In 2025 market initiatives will expand, and they have already started to do so beyond the United States to include Canada and other international markets. Mr. Chairman, I am sure everyone has seen the video of the Bermuda Airport Authority at the opening day of the Toronto Bluejays, which seemed to get a lot of popularity. These efforts will be powered by digital campaigns, influence of partnerships and strategic media collaborations to position Bermuda as an aspirational destination for a wider array of leisure travellers.

The BTA will enhance the effectiveness of its partner marketing through BTACONnect, a platform that allows industry stakeholders to manage their presence on gotobermuda.com. This includes updating contact information showcasing amenities, uploading visuals, linking social media accounts and accessing key performance data. In 2024, the BTA consumer website, gotobermuda.bm, received over five million page hits, highlighting growing global interest in Bermuda. Ongoing optimisations to the platform aim to further boost traffic to help partners convert the interest into meaningful economic returns.

Mr. Chairman, you may recall that in 2025 the Throne Speech introduced a new initiative to broaden the Tourism Investment Act 2017 scope. I am sure this one would also interest you, Mr. Chairman. This expansion will extend eligibility for a full suite of concessions to other key sectors, most notably smaller guest houses, and health and medical tourism—facilities to further strengthen the impact and reach of the Act. I will point that out again, Mr. Chairman—smaller guest houses.

The Chairman: Thank you, Minister. Thank you, Minister. The Gold Coast of Bermuda will thank you.

Hon. Owen Darrell: There you go.

Mr. Chairman, I would like to thank the dedicated teams at the Ministry Headquarters and the Authorities under the Ministry for their hard work and solid commitment to the Ministry and its mandate. That concludes, Mr. Chairman, Head 71, the Ministry of Tourism and Transport, Culture and Sport Headquarters.

I now, if I may, Mr. Chairman, move on to Head 48, the former Transport Ministry's former Headquarters.

The Chairman: Thank you.

For the listening public, this is a three-and-a-half-hour debate. It has five heads. The Minister has just concluded Head 71 and is going on to Head 48.

HEAD 48—THE FORMER MINISTRY OF TRANSPORT HEADQUARTERS

Hon. Owen Darrell: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. Chairman, the budget for Head 48, the former Ministry of Transport Headquarters, can be found on pages B-256 to B-257 in the Budget Book.

Mr. Chairman, as previously stated, effectively February 2025, the Ministry of Transport and the Ministry of Tourism, Culture and Sport were formally merged to create the new Ministry of Tourism and Transport, Culture and Sport. This structural change reflected in the 2025/26 budget specifically on pages B-256 and B-257, where a zero budget allocation is shown for the former Headquarters. This is not an oversight, but rather a result of the consolidation with all relevant budgetary and programmatic information now centralised under the new combined Ministry of Tourism and Transport, Culture and Sport Headquarters, Head 71.

Accordingly, any past performance, ongoing initiatives and future plans related to the former Head 48 are now addressed under Head 71, which I have just presented, Mr. Chairman.

Thank you, Mr. Chairman. That concludes the brief for the former Ministry of Transport Headquarters, Head 48. And if you allow, I will move on to Head 30, which is the forgotten Department of Marine and Ports.

The Chairman: For the listening public, the Minister is piloting through his heads. We have done Head 71 and Head 48, and the Minister is now moving on to Head 30, Marine and Ports.

HEAD 30—MARINE AND PORTS

Hon. Owen Darrell: Mr. Chairman, it gives me great pleasure to present the budget for Head 30, Department of Marine and Ports found on page B-243 of the Budget Book.

Mr. Chairman, the mission statement for the Department of Marine and Ports is The regulation and safe operation of Bermuda's maritime affairs including Marine Board of Security, Search and Rescue and Public Transportation, found on page B-243.

Mr. Chairman, the Marine and Ports budget allocation of $23,787,000 represents an increase of $791,000, or an increase of approximately 3 per cent, over the 2024/25 budget, as seen on page B-243. This increase is due to approved negotiated salary and wage uplifts. Mr. Chairman, it is anticipated that in 2025/26 the Department of Marine and Ports Services will generate revenues of approximately $6,314,000, found on page B-244. The revenue is collected primarily through fees charged for the provision of ferry services, tug services, boat haulage, pilotage fees, boat moorings and port dues.

Mr. Chairman, the estimated budgets for the Department of Marine and Ports Services West End Dockyard operations are as follows:

- Navigational Aids cost centre 40040 for $853,000. This represents an increase of $55,000, or an increase of approximately 7 per cent over the previous year's budget to cover approved negotiated salary and wage uplifts;
- Tug Service cost centre 40140 for $2,137,000. This represents an increase of $93,000, or an increase of approximately 5 per cent, over the previous year's budget to cover approved negotiated salary and wage uplifts;
- Tender Service cost centre 40210 for $410,000. This represents an increase of $14,000, or an increase of approximately 4 per cent over the previous year's budget to again, Mr. Chairman, cover approved negotiated salary and wage uplifts;

- Dockyard Maintenance cost centre 4260 for $3,571,000. This represents an increase of $110,000, or an increase of approximately 3 per cent, over the prior year's budget to cover approved negotiated salary and wage uplifts;
- Ferry Service cost centre 40090 for $8,543,000. This represents an increase of $250,000, or an increase of approximately 3 per cent, over the previous year's budget to cover approved negotiated salary and wage uplifts;
- Mooring and Boat Regulations cost centre 40150 for $313,000. This represents an increase of $11,000, or an increase of approximately 4 per cent, over the prior year's budget to cover approved negotiated salary and wage uplifts;
- Administration cost centre 40220 for $3,052,000. This represents an increase of $130,000, or an increase of approximately 4 per cent, over the prior year's budget to cover approved negotiated salary and wage uplifts;
- Maritime Safety and Security cost centre 40100 for $2,632,000. This represents an increase of $45,000, or an increase of approximately 2 per cent, over last year's budget to cover approved negotiated salary and wage uplifts; and
- Pilotage Service and Offshore Search and Rescue cost centre 40180 for $2,276,000. This represents an increase of $83,000, or an increase of approximately 4 per cent, over the prior year's budget to cover approved negotiated salary and wage uplifts;

Mr. Chairman, capital development and expenditure for the department is set at $1,887,000. This could be found on page C-7. It has been appropriated for the ongoing Marine and Ports Dockyard Workshop Renovations. And a further $525,000 has been appropriated for the Floating Docks Refit project. Capital Acquisition is found on page C-14.

Mr. Chairman, Capital Acquisition Expenditure for the department is set at $9,598,000. Mr. Chairman, $815,000 has been set aside for navigational aids for the department's ageing ship navigation infrastructure. And a further $8,759,000 has been appropriated for the completion of the two 550-passenger ferries in the fourth quarter of 2025, which is currently on budget and on schedule. Mr. Chairman—on budget and on schedule.

Manpower, found on page B-245. Mr. Chairman, the 2025/26 budget estimates include funds for 46 . . . Sorry, that should be—I am going to check on that. But it says 46 full-time equivalent employees. Performance measures by business unit are found on pages B-246 to B-247.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE CHAIRMAN

HOUSE VISITORS

The Chairman: And the Chair would just like to recognise the technical staff who are here to support the Minister. They are making sure that, as he said, everything remains on time and on budget.

[Committee of Supply, continuing]

Hon. Owen Darrell: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

I am pleased to report that the department's forecast performance measures for fiscal year 2025/26 were for the most part fully achieved.

NAV Aids, Cost Centre 40040

Hon. Owen Darrell: The performance target of ensuring that all inshore and offshore lights and beacons were operational 99.5 per cent of the time was successfully achieved in 2024/25. This high standard of service is expected to be maintained in 2025/26 with the target outcome anticipated to be achieved. This continued success of this measure is supported by a well-managed inventory of replacing lights and captain's stock, ensuring quick response and minimal down time when maintenance or replacements are needed.

Tugs, Cost Centre 40140

Hon. Owen Darrell: The measure to provide tug services to international shipping without delay 100 per cent of the time was successfully achieved in 2024/25. This high level of reliability is expected to continue in 2025/26 with the target outcome anticipated to be met. This achievement is largely attributed to effective coordination and the provision of advanced notice for scheduling, shipping arrivals and departures which has helped prevent service conflicts and ensure timely assistance.

Dockyard Maintenance, Cost Centre 40260

Hon. Owen Darrell: The measure is to achieve full compliance with Lloyd's Register survey requirements by ensuring 100 per cent of the fleet is dry-docked annually, as well as maintaining 100 per cent vessel availability. To meet the published schedule was successfully achieved in 2024/25. This standard is expected to be sustained in 2025/26 with the target outcome anticipated to be met. The achievement was supported by an increase in staffing levels, Mr. Chairman.

Ferries, Cost Centre 40090

Hon. Owen Darrell: This measure to provide on-time ferry services to the public, ensuring sufficient vessels are available to meet the published schedule 99 per cent of the time, was not achieved in 2024/25, due to challenges related to an ageing fleet. However, efforts are underway to improve performance with a forecasted goal to reduce ferry service delays and cancellations by 10 per cent in 2025/26. While the target outcome will require significant effort, it is considered achievable. A key development supporting this improvement is the anticipated arrival of two new ferries in Bermuda during the fourth quarter of this year, which will enhance fleet reliability and service consistency, Mr. Chairman.

Boats and Moorings, Cost Centre 40150

Hon. Owen Darrell: The measure to process all mooring applications within six weeks 100 per cent of the time and to relicense all moorings by the published deadline of 31 May at least 90 per cent of the time was successfully achieved in 2024/25. Although the removal of illegal, unregistered moorings remains dependent on available manpower, overall service levels have improved. For 2025/26, the department aims to reduce mooring processing times by one week with the target outcome expected to be achieved.

Administration, Cost Centre 4220

Hon. Owen Darrell: The measure to ensure that 80 per cent of staff are standard of training certification and watchkeeping certified and 100 per cent of performance appraisals are completed by the deadline was successfully achieved in 2024/25. For 2025/26 the department aims to increase the number of standard of training certification watchkeeping certified staff by 15 per cent, with the target outcome expected to be met. This goal is supported by the full operation and on-Island Maritime Academy, which provides more accessible and timely training, helping to shorten certification timelines to enhance workforce readiness.

Maritime Safety and Security, Cost Centre 4100

Hon. Owen Darrell: This measure to respond to distress calls and deploy vessels to offshore search and rescue cases in a timely manner 100 per cent of the time, along with reducing the registration timeframe for the new distress beacons from 14 to 7 days, was successfully achieved in 2024/25. The high standard of service is expected to be maintained for 2025/26. The achievement was supported by enhanced radar capabilities and the use of long-range CCTV cameras, which have significantly improved response times and situational awareness during maritime emergencies.

Pilot Services, Cost Centre 4180

Hon. Owen Darrell: This measure to provide branch pilots for all arriving and departing international ships and ensure the availability of branch pilots and pilot boats 100 per cent of the time was successfully achieved in 2024/25. This level of service is expected to be maintained in 2025/26. The achievement was made possible by having two well-maintained pilot boats and a full complement of licensed, qualified pilots ensuring uninterrupted and efficient pilotage operations.

Mr. Chairman, the department will continue consulting with stakeholders to ensure the continued implementation of the Marine and Ports Services Act 2021 remains a smooth transition to the new legislation.

Plans for the Upcoming Year

Hon. Owen Darrell: Mr. Chairman, plans for the upcoming year will include the following:

- Training of departmental staff to international standards will continue to ensure the department meets its international obligations in line with safe manning requirements.
- Continue progress for the department's succession planning to ensure highly technical posts within the department are filled by qualified Bermudians with the relaunch of the department's training programme.
- Continue training for tug crews of the department's state-of-the-art tugs.
- Introduce two new 550-passenger ferries to the fleet in the fourth quarter of this year.
- Continue progressing the renovation of the Marine and Ports Workshop in partnership with the Department of Works and Engineering.
- Continue with the public-private partnership programme for the removal of all derelict boats.

Mr. Chairman, as mentioned in previous years, the Department of Marine and Ports Services represents one of the most critical operational arms of the Government of Bermuda. And it facilitates the movement of vital shipping commerce in and out of Bermuda's ports. The services of the department provide and include the public ferry boats, pilot boats, tug boats ship tender services, boats and mooring registration, and the Bermuda Maritime Operation Centre. Additionally, the department is responsible for the co-ordination of international search and rescue operations in this region of the North Atlantic. And retains oversight of overseas seaport security and marine border control in compliance with international standards.

Mr. Chairman, I conclude Head 30 by expressing my appreciation to the leadership and the staff of the Department of Marine and Ports Services for their ongoing dedication to providing consistently high-quality customer service. And if you will, Mr. Chairman, I now will move on Head 34, the Transport Control Department.

The Chairman: For the listening public, this is a three-and-a-half-hour debate on the Ministry of Tourism and Transport. We are just over half an hour into this debate, as we started at 4:46. We will end at 8:16. We have done four of the five heads, and the Minister is about to move the last head, which is Head 34.

Minister, you have the floor.

HEAD 34—TRANSPORT CONTROL DEPARTMENT

Hon. Owen Darrell: Mr. Chairman, thank you.

The budget head for Head 34, Transport Control Department, commonly referred to as TCD, can be found on pages B-248 to B-251 of the Budget Book.

Mr. Chairman, the mission statement for the Transport Control Department is To ensure the safety of all road users, which is found on page B-248.

Mr. Chairman, the TCD's budget allocation of $6,008,000 in 2025/26 is a $447,000, or an 8 per cent increase over the allocation for 2024/25, which can be found on page B-248.

Under the General Summary of Expenditure for business units, you will find that the estimates for 2025/26 of each business unit have slightly changed from the 2024/25 estimates. The core allocation of funds is not very much from previous years. The minor increase will primarily be applied to compensation, facility operations and maintenance.

Mr. Chairman, it is anticipated that during the 2025/26 budget cycle, the TCD will collect approximately $31,534,000 in revenue, found on page B-249. This represents an approximately 2 per cent increase over the 2024/25 total revenues.

Mr. Chairman, the estimated budget for the Administration section will be $2,523,000. This represents an increase of $237,000, or an increase of approximately 10 per cent over the previous year's budget to cover outstanding maintenance for equipment that requires assistance from overseas vendors.

Registration Section, Cost Centre 44040

Hon. Owen Darrell: Mr. Chairman, Registration section, which is cost centre 44040, processed 78,161 customer transactions in 2024. The estimated budget for this section is $1,077,000 for the fiscal year 2025/26. The additional $49,000 represents a 5 per cent increase over the 2024/25 budget. Again, Mr.

Chairman, this increase is attributed to salary increases.

Examinations, Cost Centre 44000

Hon. Owen Darrell: Mr. Chairman, for this fiscal cycle, the Examinations section estimated budget of $1,393,000 represents a $48,000, or a 4 per cent increase over the previous year. This is mainly attributed to salary increases.

Traffic Control, Cost Centre 4410

Hon. Owen Darrell: Mr. Chairman, the estimated budget for the Traffic Control section will be $747,000. This represents a $105,000, or a 16 per cent increase over the previous year's budget to cover costs attributed to the busy cruise ship season to ensure staffing at the piers and places of interest like Horseshoe Bay and are related to traffic control.

Road Safety, Cost Centre 44090

Hon. Owen Darrell: Mr. Chairman, the estimated budget for the Road Safety section will be $268,000. This represents an approximate 3 per cent increase, or $8,000 increase over the previous year's budget to cover additional media campaigns and the anticipated Project Ride enhancements. Of the $268,000 allocated to the Road Safety section, as seen on page B-248 of the Budget Book, the Road Safety Council will receive a grant in the amount of $80,000 for the Project Ride Programme, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. Chairman, the 2025/26 budget estimates include funds for 46 full-time equivalents (or employees), as seen on page B-250. Mr. Chairman, the department's forecast performance measures for fiscal year 2024/25 found on page B-251 were mostly achieved.

Administration, Cost Centre 44210

Hon. Owen Darrell: In 2024/25 the target to answer 60 per cent of incoming call centre calls within five minutes was successfully achieved. The target of 2025/26 will be maintained. This has been supported by the hiring of a second customer service representative, enabling the team to better manage the high volume of approximately 12,000 calls received each month. The customer service representatives play a key role in delivering timely responses by providing both general information and guidance on the new online services now available to the public.

In 2024/25, the goal of processing accounts receivable invoices within five business days was successfully achieved. Looking ahead, this level of performance is forecast to continue in 2025/26 with the target outcome anticipated to be met. This has been made possible by the hiring of an accounts clerk, completing the staffing requirements within the Accounts section. In 2024/25, the target of processing accounts payable invoices within five business days was successfully met. For 2025/26, the forecast aims to maintain the five business days with the expectation that the target will be achieved.

Registrations, Cost Centre 44040

Hon. Owen Darrell: Mr. Chairman, in 2024/25 the goal of servicing 75 per cent of customers within 30 minutes of ticket collection was successfully achieved. This level of performance is forecast to continue in 2025/26 with this target expected to be met. This is supported by successful recruitment efforts over the past year, which filled key vacancies in this section. Additionally, the implementation of a new customer management system has contributed significantly by distributing work evenly amongst clerks, resulting in a more consistent and efficient flow of customers.

Examinations, Cost Centre 44000

Hon. Owen Darrell: In 2024/25, the target of providing 90 per cent of requested driving test appointments within 10 business days was successfully achieved. This level of performance is forecast to continue in 2025/26 with the target outcome expected to be met. The achievement is largely attributed to the consistent staffing levels, with three examiners dedicated to conducting both driving and riding tests. This has significantly improved scheduling efficiency, reducing the average wait time for appointments within one week.

Examinations, Cost Centre 44000

Hon. Owen Darrell: For fiscal year 2025/26, the objective of keeping response times of 10 business days to abandoned vehicle complaints will remain. This target could not be met in 2024/25 because the section had to rely on external vendors to collect vehicles. The process to secure a vehicle with a lift, to collect cycles, has commenced. Therefore, it is expected that the performance measure will be met this fiscal cycle.

A new online reporting system is now in place to assist with the ticketing of vehicles, and the section will continue to work with the private sector to collect abandoned cars and trucks.

The Chairman: And for the listening public, the Minister is roughly 45 minutes into his three-and-a-half-hour debate. He has done four of the five heads. We are currently on Head 34 going through the performance measures.

Minister, you have the floor.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

In 2024/25, the objective of maintaining 90 per cent pass rate for Project Ride was not achieved. This is partly due to the increasing number of 15-year-old children who registered for the programme who had never ridden a pedal bike. To achieve this objective for the next fiscal cycle, instructors now request that parents enrol their children after learning to ride a pedal bike, which is a much safer approach. I think so, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: No. In my day, you just knew how to ride a pedal bike from the time you were three. So . . .

Hon. Owen Darrell: Okay.

In light of this new initiative, the success rate of 90 per cent is expected to be met this cycle. During the last fiscal cycle, a new instruction manual was produced. As a result, the on-road instruction and examinations component to enhance programmes are scheduled to commence later this year.

Plans for the Upcoming Year

Hon. Owen Darrell: Mr. Chairman, the Transport Control Department [TCD] continues to review its governing legislation with the view of modernising sections and regulations addressing modern vehicle trends and technology. A major project currently underway at TCD is to provide the option of submitting applications and requests online. Several of the application forms have already been placed online and more will soon follow.

The applications set for digitisation include a wide array of permits, licences and services including

- Project Ride instructor application;
- exemption application for tint, seatbelt, signage and licensing fees;
- importation and replacement of vehicles and vehicle parts;
- public service vehicle permit;
- sporting association trailer permit;
- change vehicle category for different use application;
- registration of a classic car;
- commercial vehicle permit;
- learner's permit;
- driver's licence; and
- the public service vehicle or heavy truck licence.

Mr. Chairman, this digital transformation began with the following three applications, which came into effect on March 30 of this year:

1. Project Ride instructor application;
2. exemption application for tint, seatbelts, signage and licensing fees; and
3. the importation and replacement of vehicles and vehicle parts application.

The next phase of the digitised applications is set to be launched this June, next month, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. Chairman, in November 2025, TCD will serve as the pilot agency for the Government's Digital Payment Initiative, acting as a prototype for the broader implementation across other public sectors. By transitioning its payment system to include a digital platform, the department will demonstrate the practical benefits of adopting cashless transactions such as improved efficiency, transparency and convenience for the public. This initiative will start with vehicle licensing fees. As the first point of contact, TCD's successful adoption will set the foundation for standards of future governmentwide digital payment solutions. And, Mr. Chairman, we saw the success of the conference that we just had just last week. So we are happy to be on board with this, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. Chairman, the Bermuda Road Safety Council will work in conjunction with the Road Safety Officer to continue the implementation of Operation Caution, the Government's five-year road safety strategy. From 2018 to 2023, Operation Caution has been extended now to 2025 to cover the time lost during the pandemic. One of the key deliverables of the strategy for 2024/25 was a recommendation to enhance the Project Ride programme for Bermuda youth licence applicants to undergo training and final practical exams on public roads. This enhancement is near completion and is expected to go live this fiscal cycle.

Mr. Chairman, I end Head 34 by thanking the leadership and staff of the Transport Control Department for their efforts and continuously delivering a high level of customer service. Thank you, Mr. Chairman. That concludes the brief of the Transport Control Department, Head 34, and I now move to Head 35, the Department of Public Transportation.

The Chairman: For the listening audience, the Minister is moving to Head 35, which will be the last of the heads that he has to move. This debate started at 4:46. We will end at 8:16. And we are currently just approximately just outside of an hour in.

Minister, you have the floor.

HEAD 35—THE DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC TRANSPORTATION

Hon. Owen Darrell: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

The budget for the Head 35, the Department of Public Transportation, is found on pages B-252 to B-255 of the Budget Book. Mr. Chairman, the mission of the Department of Public Transportation is Moving Bermuda with a quality public bus service, found on page B-252.

Mr. Chairman, a total of $25,279,000 has been allocated for this Head 35. This represents an increase of $1,439,000 over the previous year, or a 6 per cent increase. The increase will primarily be used to cover the salary increases. The department has five business units: Bus Operations, Repair Services, Inventory and Management, Administration and Management Support Administration.

The analysis by business unit is as follows:

Bus Operations, Cost Centre 45010

Hon. Owen Darrell: The current account expenditure for Bus Operations cost centre 45010 is estimated to be $13,203,000 for 2025/26 and represents an increase of $766,000, or an approximate increase of 6 per cent over the prior year's budget. This change is due primarily to an increase in full-time bus operator hours that will equip the department to further improve scheduled bus service.

Repair Services, Cost Centre 45090

Hon. Owen Darrell: The current expenditure for Repair Services cost centre 45090 is estimated to be $4,458,000 for 2025/26 and represents a decrease of $167,000, or 4 per cent under the prior year's budget. This change is primarily due to the electrification of the bus fleet and the reduction of reliance on diesel fuel.

Inventory Management, Cost Centre 45115

Hon. Owen Darrell: The current expenditure for Inventory Management cost centre 45115 is estimated to be $1,527,000 for 2025/26 and represents an increase of $64,000, or approximately 4 per cent over the prior year's budget. This change is primarily due to the planned maintenance of the buses.

Administration, Cost Centre 45120

Hon. Owen Darrell: The expenditure of Administration cost centre 45120, which accounts for salaries, utilities and shared services, is estimated to be $5,024,000 for 2025/26 and represents an increase of $677,000, or an approximately 16 per cent increase over the previous year. This change is primarily due to improvements to the bus service to create a more convenient experience for passengers.

Management Support, Cost Centre 45200

Hon. Owen Darrell: The expenditure for Management Support is estimated to be $1,067,000 for 2025/26 and represents an increase of $99,000, or 10 per cent over the budget of 2024/25. This change is primarily due to the increase in staff compensation.

Revenue

Hon. Owen Darrell: Mr. Chairman, the revenue for the department is estimated to be $5,551,000. This is an increase of $1,351,000 over the previous year's original budget found on page B-353. As the department continues to improve access to a more reliable and digitised service, revenue is reflected accordingly.

Subjective Analysis of Current Account Estimate

Hon. Owen Darrell: The subjective analysis of the current account estimate of the Department of Public Transportation is found on page B-253. I will highlight the material category increased and decreases:

- Training. The increase is due to planned development of staff.
- Communications. The increase is due to improved connectivity for facilities and telemetry boxes on e-buses.
- Professional Services. Increase in professional services is due to the increase in operational costs associated with achieving performance measure targets.
- Equipment purchase. Decrease is due to the prioritisation of other current expenditures.
- Other expenses. Increase due to bank charges and fees partially related to increased digital fare media and bank card sales.

Capital Expenditure

Hon. Owen Darrell: Mr. Chairman, the capital expenditure is found on pages C-7 and C-14.

Mr. Chairman, the capital development estimate for the department is estimated to be $1,600,000 to address the ongoing upgrades at the Fort Langton and satellite depots. The capital acquisition estimate for the department is estimated to be $5,054,000 for the acquisition of approximately 20 new electric buses. Twenty new electric buses, Mr. Chairman!

The Chairman: I remember when the first one came in.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Oh, I am sure you took a ride on them, too.

[Laughter]

Hon. Owen Darrell: The continued phased introduction of the new digital fare media system, replacement support vehicles, updated computer equipment and other necessary upgrades to the facilities, tools and equipment.

Mr. Chairman, the total complement of full-time equivalents is estimated to be 244 as recorded on page B-254 in the Budget Book. This is an increase of one full-time employee over the 2024/25 budget.

Mr. Chairman, I am pleased to report that the department's forecast performance measures for fiscal year 2024/25 were mostly achieved.

Bus Operations, Cost Centre 45010

Hon. Owen Darrell: Bus Operations coordinates the public bus service that is in operation 365 a year, 18 hours per day, Mr. Chairman, in order to provide the Island-wide transportation across 11 bus routes. Unlike most public transportation systems around the world, school bus service is coordinated during the school year with free transportation provided year-round to resident school students.

Reduction of complaints by 50 per cent was achieved. Improvements have been made in better tracking for passenger feedback, and number of passenger complaints through the Bermuda Government online Feedback form and Shorelink online contact form. The target of 30 per cent reduction of serious vehicle incidents was achieved. There was an approximate 35 per cent reduction in the number of serious incidents involving Department of Public Transportation vehicles.

Improved ridership. Passenger count by 5 per cent was achieved. Investments in improving the passenger experience, e-bus and Digital Fare Media app have led to increased fare media revenue, thus improved ridership. Further investments in technology-driven collection of ridership data are planned.

Repair Servicing, Cost Centre 45090

Hon. Owen Darrell: The department employs a team of professionals in repair servicing to maintain the fleet of public buses, support vehicles and equipment. Maintaining the number of buses in service daily at 80 per cent of the total fleet should improve with the retirement of the aged, old diesel bus fleet and the continued investment in electric buses, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: And for the listening public, the Minister is presenting Head 35, Public Transportation. Minister, you have the floor.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Inventory Management, Cost Centre 45115

Hon. Owen Darrell: Parts for vehicles and equipment were procured, stored, controlled and issued by the Storage section, which falls under Inventory Management. The department was able to achieve the target of 5 per cent or fewer average number of buses out of service due to parts. All planned maintenance was achieved due to maintaining the target of 80 per cent of the parts required for the plan presented to the Maintenance programme.

Administration, Cost Centre 45120

Hon. Owen Darrell: The Administration section is primarily responsible for developing department strategy, policy and procedures, ensuring that the people, processes and resources are available to deliver a quality public bus service. Mr. Chairman, 100 per cent of the identified occupational safety and health issues were addressed. Further alignment of resources will facilitate additional improvements and the delivery of training so as to meet the target outcome of 100 per cent of front-line staff completing customer service training. Six critical vacancies were noted at the end of 2024/25. Recruitment and training will continue with the aim of meeting the targeted outcome of zero critical vacancies.

Management Support, Cost Centre 45200

Hon. Owen Darrell: The Management Support team is responsible for selling and processing bus and ferry fares and providing administrative services for accounts, procurement and human resources. The department aimed to process vendor payments within five business days. However, Mr. Chairman, it unfortunately fell short of the target. Improvements are planned for recruitment of staff to address shortages and improvements in processing procedures to ensure that targets will be achieved.

Mr. Chairman, the Department of Public Transportation continues to build on recent improvements to the provision of the bus service. The department continues provision of scheduled bus service including school bus service without the assistance of mini-buses. With continuing investment over the year, the Department of Public Transportation fleet of buses will be over 90 per cent electric and without doubt be prepared to provide a reliable service for the people of Bermuda. The Department of Public Transportation has realised advances in technology in recent years and plans to maintain the positive momentum in tangible enhancements to the public bus service.

Mr. Chairman, the Department of Public Transportation aspires to be the mode of the transportation of choice for Bermuda residents and visitors. This year the final phases of digital fare media will be introduced as an easy and efficient way of paying bus fare. Passengers will be encouraged to download the mobile Shorelink app from the comfort of their home to purchase fare, plan trips and monitor bus schedules . . . oh, sorry, monitor bus locations, Mr. Chairman. We are getting like London.

One of the most impactful advantages of a digital fare media system implementation will be the ability of passengers to tap on their cell phone or tap their bank card on a device installed on the bus, which will automatically verify that the bus fare has been paid. Passengers using their mobile device to monitor the location of the next bus while waiting at the bus stop is a highly anticipated improvement to the customer experience.

Investing in talent within the department will be a continued focus. Training and experience will be afforded cheaply to those who desire and have capacity for investment. The team has once again exhibited the benefits of internal development by daily observation and continuing nominations for the Public Service Excellence Awards.

Mr. Chairman, I conclude Head 35 by expressing my appreciation to the leadership and the entire team at the Department of Public Transportation for their ongoing commitment to providing excellent transportation to the public. And, Mr. Chairman, I would also like to thank my Permanent Secretary, who is here in the Chamber today, Ms. Shivon Washington, for her leadership in the newly formed Ministry of Tourism and Transport, Culture and Sport. As well, one of her trainees who is with her today, and Mr. Mannard Packwood, who runs all things money-related in the Ministry.

So, thank you to that team, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. Chairman, that ends my presentation today for Heads 71, 48, 30, 34 and 35 under the remit of the Ministry of Tourism and Transport, Culture and Sport.

The Chairman: Thank you, Minister.

Are there any other Members who would like to speak to the Ministry of Tourism and Transport, [Culture and Sport], Heads 71, 34, 48, 35, and 30?

The Chair recognises Member Robinson.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: Thank you, Mr. Chairman. And thank you to the Minister for that comprehensive brief and allowing a good bit of time for questions.

Mr. Chairman, where would you prefer me to start? At Head 71 and work right through?

The Chairman: This is your response. So . . .

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: Perfect. Okay.

So, I will kick off at Head 71 then on page B-234. One of the first things that I wanted to highlight is that it is just a point really. We saw a 4 per cent increase overall in the Ministry, and that was kind of highlighted as almost an investment. But it seems, as we heard throughout the brief, that most of these increases and most of this investment has actually gone to salaries, so I just want to make sure that that is clear for the listening audience.

With the Professional Services, the Minister did speak about this. But I believe that the jump from a 2024/25 revised $50,000 in professional services overall under this subjective analysis of current account estimates to $804,000 in the 2025/26 estimate, those warrant a bit more explanation, I believe. So, if we could focus in a bit more on that line item and the cost and the reasons why that increase has come about overall for the entire Ministry, I would appreciate that.

Also, just moving to Other Expenses in that same—

The Chairman: Remember. This could be because they have combined multiple ministries together.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: Right. Yes. I just wanted to clarify that because it is a big jump. And we did see that in Administration as well there is almost a $15 million jump. So, you know, these are big numbers, and it would be remiss of me not to highlight them.

The Chairman: Yes. But I do remember the Minister's mentioning that in his brief.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: Yes. Yes. I just wanted to make sure that these increases were still mentioned.

So just going into Other Expenses, we have an increase here where it is budgeted at $4,000 pretty much throughout 2023/24 into the 2025/26 estimate, it jumps to $21,000. And I just wanted to get a bit of clarity on that because that is an increase in other expenses and not really defined in the Budget Book. And it was a pretty lengthy brief, so if I missed the definition of "Other Expenses" under that line item, I apologise. But I would like to get clarity on that.

Also, as far as Training, we see training is zeroed out here in 2024/25 revised. And there was a lot of mention of training throughout the brief. And now we have seen the estimate of training at $22,000 in the 2025/26 to return. So, I am wondering what caused that zero-out? And also, why was it only $1,000 spent in training in 2023/24? And in the original 2024/25, only $6,000? So, you know, those are some numbers there that are a bit conflicted in my opinion as far as how much training is actually being done. If we can get a bit of clarity on that.

Also, there was a lot of mention of . . . and I think this was repeated for emphasis, that the BTA is a marketing agency that is meant to sell the Island. And we see Advertisement and Promotion here in that same line item on page B-234. It was zeroed out in 2023/24 and has steadily increased to now being a budget of $15,000. So, what is that marketing going toward within the department and Ministry of Tourism and Transport, Culture and Sport? Because we just have a lot of emphasis on the fact that BTA is the main advertiser. I just want to make sure that we get a distinction between the Ministry's budget for that and the BTAs. And this is internal advertising and marketing for just the Ministry departments and not other things. (Let me just make sure I have got my notes here.)

Just jumping here to the Revenue summary on page B-235. We have the Vacation Rental Fee, which has been budgeted for $400,000 as a revenue source. And it has only hit 271. And I believe that this is a pretty paltry number when it comes to the massive budget given to this particular Ministry. However, it does represent a burden for those who are in the vacation rental industry. So, I just wanted to put it to the Minister if he would consider potentially repealing this vacation rental tax to further stimulate beds and capacity. Because obviously that is something that the parties have been divided on for a bit. And I just thought I would put that question, seeing as how the tax is not really yielding much in the grand scheme of things, but is causing hardship for folks who are relying on it for additional income.

And I also wanted to say I welcome the brief increase in cruise ship arrivals that I heard. That is good news, and I just wanted to make sure that it was not overlooked. That we on this side do support those increases and green shoots of growth in tourism. And that that was very welcome news.

I would not spend too much time on this particular head because it is an overarching HQ portion for the entire Ministry. So, I would like to just move to Head 30, which is Marine and Ports.

So 40090, Ferry Service, I just wanted to know if the two new ferries that are being built and purchased will alter these numbers in any way? Do these current estimates include the addition of these two new ferries? And this is page B-243 for the Chairman.

[Mr. Scott Simmons, Chairman]

The Chairman: Thank you very much, Honourable Member. Continue. Go right ahead.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: Thank you, sir.

The Chairman: As I catch up . . . but go right ahead.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: Yes. So, I just wanted to get clarification that if these two new ferries are being built, is that included in the numbers of 40090 under General Summary on page B-243?

The Chairman: Thank you.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: And also, looking at Dockyard Maintenance, this is a bit of a private interest here, being as that is where I grew up.

The Chairman: Yes.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: So, I want to just get a bit of clarity on the breakdown of what occurs in this Maintenance line item. And also, I understand that the increase is for salary uplifts. However, it is a fairly large increase, and I just would like to know what the folks of Dockyard are getting for that line item.

The Chairman: Right.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: As far as Maritime Safety and Security, I find this to be a very important topic, and I just would like to get a bit of insight into what is making up this particular line item. I heard a brief mention, but I am still not quite sure on exactly what this particular amount is covering. So, I would just like to get a bit of clarity on that because obviously this is a very important topic.

The Chairman: Mm-hmm. Go right ahead, Shadow Minister.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: Yes. And Mr. Chairman, just also bear with me. This is my first time in the House. So if I colour outside the line, I hope that you will . . .

The Chairman: Shadow Minister, we are taking all of that into consideration. In my humble opinion, you are doing a very good job.

[Laughter]

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: Thank you. Thank you.

The Chairman: Please do continue.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: So just jumping to page B-244, we have under Expenditure, Other Personnel Costs which seems to be coming in consistently over what is budgeted. So, we have a revised 2024/25 budget of $46,000, which is actually higher than the original estimate in that same year. And then we see that the estimated 2025/26 amount goes back to $34,000. Is this going to be achievable? What is this line item covering? And why is it that it has been re-budgeted down when we have exceeded that budget amount in previous years?

Also, in that Training section, once again, we see that that entire budget has been revised down. It was not utilised in 2024/25. There was a $335,000 budget original estimate, which was underspent. And then we see in 2025/26 that this is actually budgeted for more training. And I am wondering, is this to do with a particular initiative or does the Ministry believe that it will be able to overachieve what it has in training in the past? I just wanted to get a little bit more insight on that number. And if it is not utilised, maybe it could be utilised somewhere in another line item that may need it.

Of course, this is (I want to say) one of our favourite topics in this House, which is Travel. And we have here a budgeted increase 2025/26 estimate to $178,000, which I just wanted to get a bit of clarity as to the reason why this is increased and what this travel budget is going to be covering. And how will it benefit the people of Bermuda?

Also, just heading down to Energy, on page B-244, I am still in Subjective Analysis, the energy bill of the Marine and Ports is $2,933,000. And you know, this is a pretty monstrous electricity bill. And we hear a lot about the electric buses, and we hear a lot about solar panels and energy efficiency from this particular Government. I am wondering, is any of that being applied to this particular energy bill? Is this energy bill being racked up utilising effectiveness and solar panels and energy efficiency? And how will that number be improved or not improved by more electricity and more infrastructure when it comes to that sort of thing? So, I would just like to get a bit of clarity on that.

And a little bit of future planning as to whether or not this bill is that size because of a hindrance to advancement? Or is it that size because it has always been how we have always done it? Because obviously $2 million could go long a way in any other line item. So, I just want to get a bit of clarity on that, Mr. Chairman.

Also, my eyebrows always rise when I see Other Expenses in a line item. So just a bit of clarity here, because you have it zeroed out in 2024/25 in the original. But then a revised budget says $29,000 was spent and then we zeroed it out again in the 2025/26 estimate. Is this unbudgeted expenses, or a last-minute cause that came up? Or was this a cause that was just not anticipated by the Ministry? Could we get some clarity on what occurred there and what is going on in that particular line item?

My honourable colleague who spoke before me in another debate mentioned Government chasing revenue or gearing itself to, you know, be a bit more revenue-centred without compromising the people whom we all serve, but potentially offsetting some costs with what is going on in the global and international economy. So, we go down to the Revenue summary on page B-244. And there seems to be over a $1 million decrease in revenue from this particular line item from the 2023/24 actual to now. And I just wanted to know, Is this over $1 million decrease in revenue causing any sort of ripple effect in the Ministry? Has the Minister identified what may be the cause of this decline in revenue? Because it does look as though it could be due to fewer private boats and fewer . . . mostly population-driven things. So, this may be a signal or a symptom of our population issue.

The Chairman: Mm-hmm.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: And the fact that, you know, we are getting fewer people on the Island, with private boats and various things. And it is causing a decrease, and we have seen it here in this particular line item. Or it could be economic pressures or showcasing a struggling local economy where folks are not able to maintain certain benefits and goods that they once had. And this is now reflected in almost a $1 million decrease in this particular source. So just a little bit of clarity as to whether or not this impacted the Ministry or whether or not they are looking to remedy that going forward, because I see that in the 2025/26 estimate for that revenue, the goal is to increase it back to over $6 million where it was previously in 2023/24. And I would just like to also know how they intend to achieve that goal, how the Minister or his team intend to achieve that goal.

And we all welcome new ferries. I know my colleague catches the ferries quite often. And we want to see an increased and more effective ferry service going forward. So we welcome the purchase of new ferries.

And I would like to congratulate the Minister on that because it is something that a lot of my constituents and I am sure his have welcomed.

The Chairman: Mm-hmm.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: But as we to go to page B-245 under the Full-Time Equivalent, we see . . . I want to say a decrease of one person. But the decrease of one person in the Ferry Service is not the thing that catches my attention. It is the fact that the budgeted amount is 72 full-time equivalents, or full-time staff. So, it does not seem like we have actually hit that 72 full-time staff even going back to 2023/24. And if we are now decreasing and we are still budgeting for 2025/26 to hit 72, how will two new ferries impact this? Because if you have under the budgeted amount, or as I would assume, the Ministry's aimed amount, Mr. Chairman, where that is what they are looking to have for what I would say . . . I guess we could work it as the Ministry's function and number for an effective ferry service. It says 72.

You are adding two new ferries to that. So, is that going to cause an impact on the current folks who are working there to be able to utilise and to provide that service? Because we can get two new ferries. But if we do not have the people to operate them, if we are putting extra strain on the workforce, how does that affect things going forward? So, I just want some clarity on that number and whether the Ministry has set a hard target to do 72 full-time equivalents, or whether that is just number that is put in the Budget Book as a placeholder? And if there are any issues of hiring as well. You know, like what may be some of the issues that they have come across when hiring? Or what has been the hold-up there when it comes to that?

I am jumping over here to Performance Measures. This is page B-247. The Minister did a comprehensive job of speaking to most of these. But the one that is still sticking out to me is this removal of 500 illegal and unregistered moorings by year-end. The actual outcome for 2023/24 was 20 per cent. And the target outcome for this fiscal year is 40 per cent. And the reason given was it could not be done due to available manpower. So how much available manpower is required for us to get that number to even about 50 per cent? And how long does the Minister intend for this removal to take? Because we are getting a lot of talk about addressing problems, long-standing issues. This seems to be something that could drag on for a while and affect people. Because we are setting the bar at 40 per cent because we do not have the available manpower.

So, I would go now . . . I am going to get through and then I will make way for anyone else. But I just want to get through all of these heads with all of my questions, and then we can circle back. If that is fine with you, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: That is fine. Continue on. Go right ahead, Shadow Minister.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: So, I am going to Head 34 now, which is Transport Control Department.

The Chairman: One moment, please, unless the Minister wishes to reply.

No, Minister, you do not wish to reply?

Just tell him to continue on.

[No audible response]

The Chairman: That is fine. All right. Go ahead.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: Thank you. I appreciate that.

So, we are on page B-248. And I just wanted to speak about the department objectives because as the Shadow Minister I have received a few concerns about the data collection and data maintenance of the TCD when it comes to how many taxis and vehicles are on the road and information being requested to assist with certain business decisions. And I see that it is an objective here. So, I just would like for the Minister to speak to, How is the data management? How has digitisation potentially affected and improved? And will we see a bit more collaboration with the private industries like the BTOA [Bermuda Taxi Owners and Operators Association] and others who may require that for their future planning and also to service their membership?

The same thing in Department Objectives. To review and modernise the motor car and road traffic legislation. Now, I have not been in this Honourable House for a long time. But I have not seen a lot of modernisation of our road laws as of yet. So, I would just like to ask for any progress on this. And if there is any legislation in this fiscal year that we can expect from the Minister and this department when it comes to modernising our laws to not only make things easier for folks who are operating in our transport industry to operate, but also to provide a much better service to those who will utilise it? And I know that that is a goal that the Minister has listed, and I support him in that goal, the Honourable Minister in that goal. But just to get a little bit of clarity on what legislation may be coming down the pipeline that the people of Bermuda can look forward to [that] say, This is an objective, but this is also something tangible that will change in this next fiscal year.

Now, moving to the General Summary, the line item 44090, Road Safety.

Page B-248, Member. Thank you.

The Chairman: Shadow Minister, you are where?

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: Page B-248. And I am at 44090, Road Safety.

The Chairman: Thank you. Mm-hmm.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: This is a huge line item here for many Bermudians who are either listening, those in the Chamber as well. You know, we have all seen and grieved, some of us, unfortunate losses on the road, critical accidents, things that impact all of us. And not to be critical, but I do believe that if there is one thing I would like to see increased in this budget, it would be the funding going toward road safety. It has increased from 2023 to 2024. But it is budgeted in 2025/26, estimated to be $268,000. And personally, I feel like we need to find a way to increase that number because I just feel like it is a critical thing, and it is very clear that what we are doing currently is not working. You know, we are not quite breaking that systemic root that is causing a lot of these poor driving habits.

And of course, it is not all on Government. And you cannot police behaviour. You cannot apply a policy for behaviour. But I do believe that we can push a little bit harder in this area to try and support the folks who are, even if that means applying a bit more collaboration with Project Ride and looking at different ways in which we can strengthen the training process before folks get on the road. So, I really do not think that $268,000 in the light of what is budgeted in this particular ministry is enough for that. So, I just would like to understand what is being done in this particular line item, 44090, and whether or not that budget is deemed suitable by the Ministry to cover what the goal is supposed to be achieving.

(Let me see. I have got a lot of notes here. So forgive me.)

The Chairman: No, go right ahead.

Members, we are in the Committee of Supply for further consideration of the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for the year 2025/26 in the name of the Honourable Minister for Tourism and Transport, Culture and Sport. That will be covering, if I am correct, [Heads] 71, 34, 48, 35 and of course where the Shadow Minister just was, and that was in Head 30.

Shadow Minister.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: Thank you, Mr. Chairman. I appreciate that.

So, we are on page B-248, and I just wanted to ask here under the Transport Control Department header if there is any update on the ridesharing project that was slated to be brought forward? I believe it was mentioned last year March. What is the update on that? Has the Minister or the Ministry been able to get the buy-in and support from the BTOA [Bermuda Taxi Owners and Operators Association] who has made their opposition to this quite public? And also, we are talking about a lot of things for digitisation and all of that. How are we doing with the ridesharing project? I did not hear an update in the brief. And along with this, when will we anticipate to see regulation come down when it comes to these ridesharing and also certain unregulated applications that are providing ridesharing services, or at least were? I am not too sure if they are now.

[Inaudible interjection]

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: Well, you know, Island: GO!, Minister. You are aware. You haven't. Oh. The local news network took a ride in Island: GO! So, it was operating. Somebody picked them up.

[Laughter]

The Chairman: Shadow Minister, I just want to just let you know just so that we are clear and as it relates to most of the Shadow Ministers who do provide opportunities for us, for the House—

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: Yes.

The Chairman: —to go into Committee and debate these different heads. I believe Head 74 is not part of what you asked for us to have a look at and ask the Minister to review. I do believe, and I stand corrected should that be the case, that we are looking at Heads 71, 34, 48, 35 and 30. And I do believe the Road Safety Council, Traffic Control and all of the rest fall under another head. Now—

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: No. I am on Head 34.

The Chairman: As I said, you are on Head 34, correct.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: Yes.

The Chairman: You did not ask us to review that. Head 34 is not one of yours, is it?

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: Yes.

An Hon. Member: Yes.

The Chairman: Let me make sure.

[Pause]

The Chairman: Okay, great. Carry on. It was not on my list, but go ahead.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: Oh, Mr. Chairman, you almost got my Whip in trouble!

[Laughter]

The Chairman: Just carry on. I am just making sure that I was correct and making sure that [the Honourable Member] was on those heads.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: Thank you.

The Chairman: Is that correct?

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: I appreciate it. Yes.

The Chairman: Okay. Carry on. I apologise for the interruption.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: No, that is okay. Thank you so much, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: Thank you. So, carry on.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: And I just wanted to see if we could get some regulation or some idea on when these potential apps. So, I guess I will ask a series of questions on this.

The Chairman: Sure.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: Number one, is the Ministry or Minister aware of any unregulated dispatch apps currently operating? What was the resolution of the Island: GO! inquiry in which the last I heard, the former Minister asked for a legal inquiry? And also, what is the future planning to make sure that this does not occur and that we can see some dispatch legislation and regulation for that? Because that is a big issue because it is money leaving Bermuda's shores and undermining the current regulated industry that is doing things the right way.

The Chairman: Right.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: And so, we want to make sure that in this fiscal year the Ministry and Minister can provide some sort of clarity and support for those who are following the rules. You know, rule-breaking and unregulated dispatch and applications will be snuffed out, cracked down on and dealt with in an effective way.

The Chairman: Mm-hmm.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: So that is one part.

And also under the line item Examination 44000, there were a few complaints made to me as the Shadow Minister regarding the timing of vehicle inspections for taxis and minibuses during peak travel hours or peak arrivals or cruise ship arrivals. And I just wanted to put this question to the Minister and to the Ministry: How does that process go when you are asking for taxis and minibuses to be relicensed and to be inspected? Because we all want to see a thriving tourism industry, and we all want to make sure that everything is done in a way that supports that. So, if you have occasions where taxis and minibuses are not available for folks when they get off of a cruise ship because they have been called to do a vehicle inspection, that is not necessarily optimal for a first impression to tourists and also for returning visitors. So, we want people to have a good impression and come back and continue to come back to Bermuda.

So, could the Minister and the Ministry let me know if they have any knowledge of that occurring? If it has occurred, how can it be prevented? And do we have an examination schedule for taxi drivers and minibus drivers that is collaborative with what we know to be peak season? Because I am sure the Ministry and Minister who deal with tourism know when the peak arrivals are and what the cruise ship schedules look like. So how can we make sure that those examinations and inspections do not occur during times where we need to provide service to visitors and locals alike who may require it?

Just jumping to page B-249 under Wages. And I just found it peculiar here that wages are zeroed out. And I just wanted to get some clarity on that line item and why the wages have been zeroed out in the 2025/26 Estimate.

And coming down to Professional Services, once again we see an increase here in professional services, and this has been a theme throughout multiple sections of the Budget Book. So, I just would like to know, what is the reasoning for the increase here in professional services up from $411,000 in 2024/25 revised to $623,000 in the 2025/26 estimate?

The Chairman: Right.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: And what are the details of this particular line item when you say professional services? And how does that apply to the Transport Control Department?

And just moving to Repair and Maintenance in this same area on page B-249 in Subjective Analysis of Current Account Estimate. It is budgeted there for $481,000 for repair and maintenance. And I recall in the brief the Minister did mention that there was planned maintenance, certainly, but I am not sure this was the section. So, I would just like to ask because we see in 2024/25 revised when it was $219,000 spent. So, we have budgeted almost double that in the next year. So, is that because of some planned maintenance? Are there more things that require repair? I would like to just get a bit of insight on that.

Equipment and Minor Capital Spending in that same box originally was zeroed out in 2023/24. It seems to be added to the budget for an original estimate of $3,000. However, in the 2024/25 revised, it was $8,000. So, we have a zeroed-out amount added here in 2023/24, and it has gone over what was budgeted in that line item. And then in 2025/26, we anticipate that it will go back to $3,000. And I just want to know, What was the overage there for that line item in Equipment and Minor Capital? And why do the Ministry and the Minister believe that $3,000 is suitable when we went over that in 2024/25?

And we have another line item directly underneath that, same page, Other Expenses. Again 2023/24 was a $775,000 budget there that in the revised 2024/25 original was $10,000. A big disparity. Only for it to be revised to $678,000. So, you have a $678,000 spend. But in 2025/26 it is only $10,000 budgeted there. So, what is the disparity in that number? And what is the line item of other expenses on page B-249? Because it is a very large . . . I do not want to use the word "overspend"; I will wait until I get the explanation. But it is a very large discrepancy there in what was spent and what was budgeted.

So, I also heard in the brief that there was an increase here in revenue by (I believe it was) 2 per cent. Do not let me quote it; I am sure I can be corrected. But in this revenue summary it is an increase, and the Government is correct, and the Minister is correct to say that. But it is key to note that it still comes under what Government has budgeted for that revenue in 2025/26. And it came under as well in 2024/25. So, we have to be careful when we tell the people of Bermuda that there is an increase. It is, but it is not what the Ministry's and the Minister's goals were set for in that particular time. So, I think it is key. I wanted to make that [distinction] there and to ask, How do the Minister and Ministry intend to reach that set goal? They are heading in the right direction, but it is crucial to paint the whole picture for Bermudians to know that the actual budgeted amount was not reached in the last year. So how will we reach it this year?

The Chairman: Carry on.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: Right. So just heading over to Performance Measures. It is a bit of a discrepancy between the percentages that are showing and not. Because in the business unit 44090 on the Road Safety, we do get a percentage of 90 per cent as the target. But not all of the percentages are presented in these performance measures, especially when we get into 44110, Traffic Control. Sorry, not that one. In the 44000 Examination where we do not get a percentage here, but I think it was listed in the brief.

The Chairman: Mm-hmm. You are on page B-251; am I correct? Yes.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: Yes.

The Chairman: Right. Go right ahead, Shadow Minister.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: So, I am just wondering why is it a . . . not all of the percentages where they apply are being displayed in that particular performance measure. Because it is easy to say Achieved, Expected to achieve, but what number are we working with? And also, on the same page. I just wanted to ask, regarding the cost centre 44040 Registration and the 44210 Administration, are these particular percentages due to increase due to potential digitisation of TCD? Will we see a higher standard being set with more things being offset now by the improvement of the digitisation at TCD? Does the Ministry expect to set a bit of a higher benchmark than 60 per cent and 75 per cent, to serve 75 per cent of customers within 30 minutes and answer 60 per cent of incoming calls within five minutes?

Understanding and appreciating the work that folks do at TCD and understanding it is a large volume, as the Minister spoke about in his brief. But I just wanted to know whether or not they anticipated that that will be aided by digitisation where more resources may be allocated to this? And we might be able to get that increased.

The Chairman: Mm-hmm.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: And I would be remiss [not] to ask when we talk about digitisation, and TCD is a holder of data and many people's personal data that I ask and inquire of the Minister and the Ministry, How have they considered cybersecurity when it comes to this particular digitisation process? Because as we know, we did have a very crippling cyberattack. And it will be nice to reassure the members of the public and also the Members of this Chamber that if we are moving to a digitised TCD that there are stringent and effective measures in place to protect the personal data of the folks who are using it and also the personal data of those who are working there as the civil service. So, I just would like to get a bit of insight on whether or not that cybersecurity component has been paired and considered along with the digitisation of TCD.

Now I will move to Head 35. (I will just sort out my notes here, Mr. Chairman.)

The Chairman: No, go right ahead.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: All right. I will say I feel for the Minister in this regard because it is a very large ministerial load to carry. So, I am sorting through, and I will be right with you.

The Chairman: Just for the benefit of Members, as I mentioned before, we are in the Committee of Supply. We are looking through heads for the Ministry of Tourism and Transport, Culture and Sport, Heads 71, 34, 48, 35, 30.

Shadow Minister, go right ahead.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Just looking at page B-252, which is under General Summary, looking at line item 45000, Auxiliary Bus Services. And we see here in 2023/24 an actual that was $238,000 budgeted here spent. In the 2024/25 original revised, it zeroed out. In the original it zeroed out, and then in the revised of that same year, it was $163,000. And then it zeroed out again in 2025/26 estimate. And I just want to be sure that this is . . . Like what are the particulars of this line item? Why is it zeroed out and then spent? Why not have a standing budget for it if it is going to be utilised? And why are the amounts fluctuating? Because it seems like the Government is intending to not budget for it in 2025/26, and that seems to have been a mistake made in the previous years because it ended up being a spend under that line item.

So, Bus Operations. There is an increase in the operations here most likely due to salary uplift. But we are seeing a bit of a decrease in staff here. So, I just wanted to get a bit of clarity on the correlation between the decrease in staff and the increase of salaries seeming to offset and increase that number. That just has me a little bit perplexed.

[Inaudible interjections and laughter]

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: Yes, you like that word?

The Chairman: I reluctantly accept it, but go ahead, Shadow Minister.

[Laughter]

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Just moving down to Maintenance. It would be nice to know just under 45090 Repair Services and under 3502 Maintenance, how many buses are actually in need of repair? How many buses are currently being repaired? How many are in need of repair? What is the state of our fleet when it comes to repairs and maintenance? Because, you know, we see that even though there was not over $4 million spent in 2024/25, we do see that in the 2025/26 estimate, that is budgeted for $4,458,000. So there is intent for repairs to be done. And I just would like to know how much of our fleet requires repairs.

And this is for one of my constituents who requested that I mention the need for more buses for the disabled, more disability inclusive buses where folks who are disabled or have mobility issues can utilise the buses. And I just wanted to know whether or not the Ministry is looking into that and whether or not all of these electric buses that are being ordered are also wheelchair-accessible for disabled folks and providing a bit more accessibility for people who may need it. So just general comment if they can answer that.

And when the Minister mentioned 20 new electric buses, is this correlating with the capital acquisitions of new buses, that is the number of new buses that are being purchased? I just want to be sure because it does not have the number of buses in the line item. But I just want to know if that is the number of new buses that are being purchased with that capital acquisition.

And what is the Ministry's working number for an effective fleet? How many buses do we need in operation to say that we are fully covered and all of our routes are fully covered? So just the working number from the Ministry would really help. And also, to let us know how many buses we have when it comes to comparison to that working number. So, if it is 450, do we have 300? You know, just give us a bit of an insight into where we stand as far as a fully operational, fully covered bus fleet and what that number is.

Just jumping to page B-253, going to Transport, there is a sharp increase here in Subjective Analysis and Current Accounts Estimates where you saw in the actual 2023/24 there was $92,000. And it moved to $79,000 in the original 2024/25. But that $79,000 was revised in that same year to $200,000—or $203,000. That is a very big revision. And I would like to just get a bit of clarity on that number and line item and why that revision occurred and why we budgeted in 2025/26 an estimate at $80,000 when the amount spent last year was far more than that.

And just moving down to Professional Services again, I would just like to get a bit of insight on this particular line item when it comes to an original budget in 2024/25. We actually came in under that at $788,000 in the revised. But we budgeted to increase back to $1,228,000. So, if we came in on the budget, what is the reason for such a large increase? And are we anticipating an increase in that line item? So, if I can get a bit more clarity on what that line item is servicing for Public Transportation and how that improved this budget?

The Chairman: Mm-hmm.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: And with Repair and Maintenance, we also see here a $675,000 number for the 2024/25 original. And that revised amount in that same year went up to over $1 million in Repair and Maintenance. So, what exactly occurred here that caused that amount to jump up like that in the same year? You know, was there an increase in collisions or were there more damages at that particular time? And we see in the 2025/26 estimate that it is actually budgeting to go down to $729,000. And how feasible is that when we know we spent $1 million last year? Is there a reason behind that? Is there perceived savings that are going to occur? And if so, I would like to just get a little bit more insight on that.

Materials and Supplies. In the same Subjective Analysis of Current Account Estimates, we see almost a consistent kind of overage here in this particular line item. In 2023/24 it was $2,186,000, which dropped in the following year but by $1 million. But I would like to know, what was the cause of that spike in 2023/24's actual? And also, how have we anticipated that we will be able to keep that number down underneath $1 million that we have budgeted in 2025/26's estimate, knowing that we have consistently spent over $1 million on supplies and materials? So, I just would like a bit of clarity on that as well.

And just moving over to page B-254, which is Employee Numbers. As I mentioned previously, we have seen a slight increase in employees from 2023/24 when it comes to bus operators. And this is 45010. But we are still under the Ministry's target of 168. And we are ordering 20 new buses. So, we are running into the same issue that I mentioned previously in the ferry services. You know, we are ordering 20 new buses, but we are under what our set goal is for the number of posts in bus operations. So, I just want to know from the Ministry and the Minister whether or not this 143 number is workable when it comes to the addition of 20 new buses or whether or not that number is needing to increase? How will the Minister achieve the 168 necessary bus operation staff? And whether or not there will be effective coverage for all routes, especially if this results in decreased hours, which was mentioned in the brief, increased hours for operators? And is that sustainable for the operators if they are required to have an increased workload for them?

And digital fare media, which I think all of us would welcome Bermuda stepping into the 21st century. What are some troubleshooting measures for that should it have some issues? Because I do recall . . . I do not know how credible it was, and the Minister can correct me if I am wrong. But there was a post done where it was apparently in French.

[Inaudible interjection]

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: Well, you know. Yes. You enjoy Twitter too, Minister. Why, yes.

The Chairman: Everything to the Chair. Do not leave me out of it. Do not leave me out of it.

[Laughter]

The Chairman: I wish to be a part of this. Speak to me.

[Inaudible interjections]

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: Yes. No problem, Mr. Chairman.

[Inaudible interjections]

The Chairman: The Minister I am sure is going to sort this in a moment. Go right ahead.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Yes. Of course, yes.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: You know, I am sure. So, I am just wondering with that issue that came up, what are the troubleshooting measures for some of our more senior, seasoned members who may have issues with using the digital media? And how will that be dealt with on the fly, especially if it is being utilised away from the central hub, the central bus station and is just being picked up on, let us say somewhere far from where the central hub is? So, I just would like a little bit of clarity on potential troubleshooting that may happen.

Okay. Heading over to page B-255, looking at the Performance Measures, seeing on-time delivery of all scheduled services a discontinued measure. And I just would like to know for that line item why this particular measure was discontinued? As on the face of it, for someone who obviously is just reading it, it seems like a measure we would like to keep to have on-time delivery of all scheduled services. So, I would just like to get a little bit of clarity on that.

Number of passenger complaints, minus-50 per cent, Mr. Chairman. As a measure to what? What was the number of complaints? What is the minus-50 per cent? What is the current number? And what are we measuring that minus-50 per cent off of? The reduced number of serious vehicle incidents, again a minus-30 per cent off of what? So, we are looking at performance measures that are giving you the deduction of what happened, and we do not have the base numbers to measure whether or not that is at a sustainable level or not. So, I would like know what number that minus-30 per cent is based off of?

Improved ridership passenger count. Again, this one was not really included in 2023/24 actual outcome, but we see a 5 per cent, which I assume is wanting to be a 5 per cent increase as opposed to what? What number? So I would like to see what number they are aiming for and I am sure that we will be able to rustle that up.

Moving down to, Maintain the number of buses in service daily at 80 per cent of the total fleet. The revised forecast in 2024/25 was at 68 per cent. And if am reading this correctly, and I beg the indulgence of the Ministry and the Minister to correct me if I am incorrect. But it seems as though this particular performance measure is letting us know that in 2024/25 on a daily, only 68 per cent of the operational bus fleet was in service on any day-to-day. If that is the case, why is only 68 per cent of the bus fleet available? Is it because they are getting scheduled maintenance? Is it because they are unavailable?

[Inaudible interjections and laughter]

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: Is there a breakdown of infrastructure when it comes to the electric buses' infrastructure to charge and different things? Because I know that this has been an ongoing issue that Bermuda's infrastructure has not really matched yet the required output for this particular fleet. Just my inquiry. I stand to be corrected if I am incorrect. And just maintain buses according to preventative maintenance programmes. And the forecast, the aim was 90 per cent and it was only 73 per cent achieved. And I just want to know if there is any issue with maintaining buses and provided maintenance. Is it the transfer from diesel to electric that may be causing a bit of issues when it comes to having available mechanics? Like what is the reason we cannot achieve? Because the Ministry believed—it set the number at 90 per cent. So that was estimated as to what we could have gotten to. And unfortunately, we only reached 73 per cent. Which is a pass. So I do not want to come across like I do not appreciate the work that is being done in the Ministry. But it is not where the Ministry had set itself up to be. So I just wanted to get a bit of clarity on that as well.

The Chairman: Mm-hmm.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: And this number here, Average number of buses out of service due to parts. I just would like a little bit of a dive into what exactly—are these parts that are not available or sourced easily on-Island? And also, how is it that it is 5 per cent—but we know that the original forecast had 68 per cent on the road and we only have 5 per cent not on the road due to service of parts. But just a little correlation of that particular number.

The reduction of inventory levels, what was this in reference to? It was a pretty fast brief, so I might have missed it. But it is a discontinued measure in 2025/26, and I just wanted to know why that measure was discontinued. I did not mean it in any disrespect for you, Minister, about indeed a fast brief. I actually appreciate that. I just mean maybe I might have missed something that was said. Because, you know—

[Inaudible interjection]

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: And yes. I am on Twitter, so you know—

[Laughter]

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: Address identified occupational, safety and health issues under business unit 45120. This measure is discontinued in 2025/26. So, address and identify occupational, safety and health issues I think is a performance measure we want to keep as well. So, I just wanted to know why that was discontinued and if it was anything to do with staff or anything like that. And I would appreciate some insight in that.

And also the percentage of identified occupational safety and health issues addressed seems to only have kind of started in 2023/24. Was that happening previously, or is it that just because it doesn't go past 2023/24? And I just want to get that clarity as to the track record of that.

Complete customer service training for front-line staff. Well, we started at 1 per cent in 2023/24. It is just concerning. But even more concerning is that we were unable to achieve 50 per cent. I say "we" because, you know, we all have to stand up in front of our constituents and explain these sort of things. But I would like to get some clarity onto why we seem to be unable to achieve 100 per cent front-line training for staff and what the hold-ups might be for that?

And last, one of the last ones I would say, is Produce Performance Report Analysis and Confirmation by the Budget Office deadline. This is a discontinued measure in 2025/26. And I just would like to know why? Because I think a performance report analysis and confirmation by the Budget Office deadline sounds important. But I would leave way to get clarity from the Minister and the Ministry.

The Chairman: Mm-hmm.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: I think I will pause there. And if you would give me leave for the answers to some of these questions or to—

The Chairman: No. I think let us yield to other Members to see if any other Member wishes to speak on these particular heads. That would be Heads 71, 34, 48, 35 and 30. Let us see if any other Member.

Does any other Member wish to speak?

I recognise the Honourable Member.

Mr. Swan, you have the floor.

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: Go ahead.

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: Just ever so briefly as it relates to the head pertaining to ferries.

The Chairman: Yes. And recognising that there is about an hour and 15 minutes left. So go right ahead.

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: That is quite some time.

The Chairman: Yes, it is. Go right ahead.

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: I thank the Minister for being so generous with his time to allow other Members to contribute to the debate.

I communicated this to the Minister that as it comes to public transportation that with the difficulties that we have on the roads—just a little preamble to my question—that we need to get as many people using public transportation, particularly on the water, as possible. And I know we did have a commuter ferry service in St. George's at one time that went to Hamilton. I have always felt that an integrated ferry and bus . . . And just recently the Minister did a wonderful initiative in Cut Road. There are other areas that could be integrated, Ferry Reach, for instance. I declare my interest. I happen to be a Member of Parliament for that area.

But it could very well be integrated with the ferry service in the commuter and in the evening time to allow persons in some far-reaching communities . . . and I do not want to take the liberty to speak for others, like Spanish Point and others. But there could be areas in which we can encourage people to use public transportation and to get more people on the water. And even maybe as a test case integrating that. And then in these smaller areas, maybe initially it might be something like a minibus size.

But I would think with the commuter service, that could be something. Because we have got to do something about the road. And the Junior Minister who was the Road Safety Chairman for many years did an outstanding job as a young MP, having held that role as Chairman of Road Safety now some, I dare say, 40 years ago. I know he did a wonderful job.

The Chairman: Right. Right.

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: But we still have many people succumbing to, and condolences to the family of persons just as recently as this week who lost their life on the road. We have got to do more to get people off of the road. And I believe the water, particularly with commuters in the evening, and my community in St. George's and constituency could very well be the pilot case. And I would take an undertaking to help the Minister communicate that to people to be able . . . Because it is going to take a campaign.

The Chairman: Right. Right. Okay.

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: So that is my contribution at this time. Should there be any other time I would like to do. But I appreciate the Minister for allowing me to make a contribution in the time that he afforded that allows a little country backbencher to jump in today.

The Chairman: Not a problem at all. We would like to thank you very much, Mr. Swan.

I recognise the Shadow Minister for Finance.
Mr. DeCouto, you have the floor.

[Mr. Scott Simmons, Chairman]

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

I was not sure I caught the page number and the line number for those prior remarks—

[Laughter]

The Chairman: I gave him a slight bit of . . . he said he was going to speak ever so briefly. And I was about to break in when he finished his remarks, and I allowed him to continue. So, I recognise that he did not mention . . . On the record, I would certainly state to Members that when you are getting up, please give us the line item for which you are speaking—

[Crosstalk]

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: I was admonished—

The Chairman: —sticking with the numbers that we are—

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: I was particularly admonished—

The Chairman: I don't want to take too much of your time.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: —to be careful of that, and so I turn to page B-235.

The Chairman: Your point is taken.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Page B-235, Head 71, Revenue 8090, Vacation Rental Fees.

The Chairman: Sure.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: This was budgeted last year for $400,000, came in at $271,000 and it was budgeted again for $400,000. And I am trying to understand what will change this year that they will actually achieve that revenue.

And if I recall, I believe there was some [reluctance] by those who are operating vacation rental properties to in fact pay those fees. So perhaps the Minister could comment on their approach to that situation.

Turning now to page B-244, I will probably echo my colleague's comments. As you may know,

Mr. Chairman, I am a boater. So, I pay close attention to things like mooring fees, this being the time of year to have completed your mooring registration (anyone listening). And I notice that it is the same question as before because last year line 8173 under Revenue, last year was budgeted for $900,000 or $901,000. It came in at 746 and again was budgeted at $901[,000]. So obviously we would like to understand what the decline was and what is changing this year.

And now I turn to page B-247, and I am actually sticking on the theme of moorings, removal of illegal moorings. And it is a question regarding boating registration, actually, mooring and boat registration. So, you could perhaps also stick to B-244, 8169 if you prefer. And we have heard in other ministries about the derelict boats. And of course, there is always a cost to pick these boats up and remove them. And that is one reason they remain derelict, as boat owners cannot afford. And has the Ministry considered requiring insurance? Just like when you drive your car you have to have insurance. Should you not, in order to license your boat, have insurance both for the protection of injury and damage to other boaters and for the unfortunate situation we have when after a hurricane.

The Chairman: Mm-hmm.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Thank you. Those are my three questions, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: Thank you very much, Honourable Member.

Does any other Member wish to speak to these particular heads?

I recognise the Shadow Minister.

Honourable Member Fahy, you have the floor.

Mr. Michael Fahy: Thank you. Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. Chairman, I have a number of questions across a number of different heads. I will start first with Head 30 and in particular will look at the Capital Expenditure on page C-14. It is noted in line item 76540, which is Ferries and Pilot Boats. And I think what we would like is confirmation that the new ferries are not electric. Because in the previous debate we were told that we are hearing electric ferries. I thought that is what the Member from St. George's was going to ask about. But I think if we could get some clarity on that.

In addition, for the two new—

[Inaudible interjections]

Mr. Michael Fahy: I thought you would comment. I thought the Member would comment, Mr. Chairman.

In relation to the two new ferries, which I understand are going to replace two older ferries, the previous Minister (to the current Honourable Minister) had made mention I think in 2024 that there was a possibility that the old ferries would be sold. And I would like to understand if there is any progress, any potential sale of those two ferries. And if so, will they be possibly sold locally or would they be sold overseas? And in addition to that, has there been any interest expressed to the Bermuda Government and these particular departments under this head for the purchase of those two vessels? They are still operational. They are not languishing in Dockyard. So, one presumes that they are viable, and viable for that matter. So, I would like some clarity on that.

As well, we have heard an awful lot across these debates, Mr. Chairman, about digitisation. We heard it in debates on Monday. We have also heard the digitisation of the bus fares, et cetera, which I think is fantastic. And I agree. I am going to say that because I know it is something that . . . Interesting. When I held the role of Minister of Transport and tourism this was something that we had urgently begun to explore and ran out of time. But with that said, I am glad to see progress made on that. So, can the Minister advise if there is intent in the next year or two to digitise the ferry fares like the bus fares? I think that is important. And why is that?

When you in fact turn to Marine and Ports, and I think that is under page B-244 (in my notes). Let us just take us to that. You can see under Ferry Receipts 8187 that ferry receipts have consistently been, well, $630,000 for 2023/24. The original estimate then in 2024/25 was $100,000 in terms of revenue for ferry receipts, which then declined on the revised 2024/25 to $545,000. That is quite a decline in terms of what was estimated to what in fact was collected. Given that the Minister in his brief made it clear that it is the Government's intent that the public transportation network should be the primary transportation of Bermudians, that is not a good number. It is not a good look.

The Chairman: Mm-hmm.

Mr. Michael Fahy: When you compare, Mr. Chairman, the takings in respect of the various ministries or the various departments, what is interesting when we look at public transportation, and if you look at Head 35, because I just want to bring a comparison to it (you will see on page B-253), there is quite a significant revenue source breakdown for the bus service between passes, tickets, cash, media fare for passes, tickets and tokens. And it is broken down quite significantly so you can get a good understanding of how the fares are collected and how they are being used. What you do not see in respect of the ferries is a similar breakdown. And I think it would be very helpful going forward, since in fact some measures are not measurable anymore in the bus service, that maybe we can have some extra measurables in the Marine and Ports Services.

Now, I do have, Mr. Chairman, a real interest in this. As my colleague, the Shadow Minister for this portfolio, mentioned, I am a very regular user of the Pink Ferry Route, being a resident of Hinson's Island. So, I am very dependent on that ferry service. And I do want to, with your leave, Mr. Chairman, thank the staff of the Department of Marine and Ports, who, despite some of the bad rep, do a good job. And I have said it consistently. And when they do, I do acknowledge that and write the director and say, They've done an amazing job. They are out there in 40-knot winds sometimes, okay? Even though it gets cancelled and people say it is inconvenient, there is now a WhatsApp group and people are communicating. So, the ferry is something that I would encourage people to use.

The Chairman: Right.

Mr. Michael Fahy: I really do, and I have been absolute about that.

So, any encouragement that we can give to get people to use the ferries will increase revenue, which is something that, again, another Shadow Minister spoke about in a previous debate, is finding revenue sources. It seems to me that that is a great opportunity because there are wide gaps here. If there is $800,000 estimated and we are only collecting $545,000, there is a big gap. Okay? So perhaps we can see some improvements next year.

Sticking now or jumping to page B-253, which is Head 35 on Public Transportation. I am not sure where this fits. I am going to assume on page B-252 the Department Objective says, To deliver a convenient and cost-effective daily bus service. Has there been any progress made since it was last announced by a previous Minister, the Honourable Minister from constituency 29, about a revised bus schedule? It has been outstanding for some time. And I did not hear any mention of it in the Minister's brief. It is a sad thing, and there are a number of things that then flow from that. And those who are in the department will know what I am talking about, and I hope it is not actually the case anymore.

With that in mind about a bus schedule, perhaps the Minister can advise how many Grey Routes there are. And can the Minister explain what that means in due course? But how many Grey Routes exist, if any? Is there intent that at the Headquarters . . . again, I am just going to go with Head 35 in a general sense at HQ for that or it can also fit under the HQ for the Ministry, I suppose. Is there proper digitisation at the actual headquarters for the buses? And is there still relative manual dispatching? And in addition, are the bus driver schedules still done by hand in booklets? Because they were eight years ago. I would like to know if this progress, again, given that there is a drive across the Government to have digitisation . . . it certainly will improve, I would imagine, some of the performance measures.

Having another look, Mr. Chairman, in respect of buses generally, just looking at line item 45010. (I did not write the page number down on that.) Yes, that would be on pages B-252 and B-254, I think.

The Chairman: Page B-252.

Mr. Michael Fahy: Mr. Chairman, we do see that there are issues obviously with bus repair and maintenance, and the figures have increased. I am not following why that is the case if we are having an improved bus fleet.

If we are moving toward electric buses, which are more efficient, are newer, presumably the money is being spent on those buses that are old and decrepit and do need replacing. And again, I pose the question: On those buses that are being retired, is there an intent to sell? I believe at one point we sold buses to Cuba, I think, a number of years ago. So, I think that happened quite some time ago. But again, it is something that I would like some clarity on. On page B-255, line 45090, and that is . . . again I thought the repair and servicing, which I have said.

Under business unit Bus Operations 45010, improve the ridership passenger count, the Shadow Minister has already made comments about 5 per cent increase. It does not seem like a lot actually if the desire, again, is to increase ridership for a 5 per cent increase. It just does not seem like very much.

One of the things as well perhaps the Minister can add some clarity to, is that there was a time, certainly a number of years ago, when, sadly, there were quite a number of assaults on bus drivers. And it was abhorrent. And I remember a number of incidences when I was Minister that we had to really, unfortunately come to the House (and to another place, certainly) and speak about these acts. And I am wondering if the Minister could shed some light on improved safety for the drivers themselves and what measures have been taken to see that happen. Because again the drivers are on the front line and are driving on very dangerous roads. I do not think they should ever be in a position where they are facing possible assault from passengers.

If I may, I will just quickly go to page C-14. (I just had some notes.) Oh, yes. Generally, and I am just sorry. I should have mentioned this under Head 30 again on Marine and Ports and ferries generally.

The Chairman: It is fine.

Mr. Michael Fahy: And I put it under HQ.

Under New Ferries, can the Minister shed light on whether or not there will be vendor opportunities on board the ferries for Bermuda businesses? And for ferry riders, you will often see vendors at the various ferry stops selling different sundries and things. Whether that is kosher or not I do not know. But we encourage it. But again, there are opportunities on these ferries in relation to that.

The other point that I would like to make here, and a question that arises is we do spend an awful lot of money on these ferries. I would be very interested to know what the daily breakdown is per ferry. Because a lot of times in the off season you see some of the very large ferries running very empty, which is very costly. And it always seems to me that it would be a useful thing . . . and again I need to preface this. When the Opposition was Government we negotiated a deal with Norwegian Cruise Lines for a ferry. And the Honourable Member from St. George's will be well cognisant and recognise that ferry that did service and ran service and continues to run service.

The Chairman: I am giving you the same latitude that I gave the Honourable Member from St. George's.

Mr. Michael Fahy: Thank you. Thank you very much. I do appreciate it, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: The time is running out. Carry on. Go ahead.

Mr. Michael Fahy: Yes. No line on those ferries, from St. George's to Dockyard. And it seems to me there must be opportunities again for some arrangements to be made.

The Chairman: Right.

Mr. Michael Fahy: Because a lot of the times the ferries that are servicing Dockyard to Hamilton are primarily, during the day, tourists. That is not servicing locals. So, are we getting value for money in respect of that given the low ferry receipts (which I identified that line item already), those ferry receipts, $545,000 last year, given the massive numbers of people who are travelling on these ferries? It does not seem to me that we are getting the revenue that we should be getting. If these ferries have 550 seats each . . . what are we . . . do the numbers. The numbers do not make sense on the revenue. So perhaps we could get clarity and even consider getting at least some estimates as to how many of the users are guests to Bermuda rather than locals. Because I think people do want to understand where their tax dollars are going. And who it is servicing.

So, I know the Shadow Minister has asked a number of questions. As I said, forgive me. I have a particular interest in some of these, and I may make more contributions.

Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: You join Mr. DeCouto in having an interest.

Mr. Michael Fahy: Correct.

The Chairman: Very well.

Does any other Member wish to speak to these heads?

I recognise the Deputy Opposition Leader. You have the floor.

Mr. Ben Smith: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. Chairman, I just have a couple of quick questions.

The Chairman: Sure.

Mr. Ben Smith: On page B-252 under Transportation, Head 35, specifically under 45010 for Bus Operations, just wondering if there has been any consideration for extending the time period of buses running during the night hours? The reason I ask that is because we have a lot of people in Bermuda who work shift work and would probably be looking for transportation in hours that a lot of us are probably sleeping.

At the same time, we also know that we have issues in the Island with people consuming alcohol. And we know that even when we give people notice, they still continue to get pulled over for drink-driving. We have dangerous issues on our roads. Could this be an opportunity for us to provide a cheaper solution rather than taxi fares, which sometimes make people make a choice to go get behind their wheel when they could be taking a cheaper way of transportation?

So, I am just wondering if there has been any consideration, any thought on what that would look like. Obviously, you are talking about increasing shifts. So, I know there would have to be a lot of consideration on the labour side. But considering some of these issues, it could be something that could help us in two specific areas: one for those shift workers; and, two, to try to get some of our people off the road when they have been consuming.

Mr. Chairman, the other one that I was looking at is under the Maintenance section, on that same page B-252. My question really is, If the Minister could give us an idea whether some of these buses that have to get maintained are being damaged on our roads because we have had lots of foliage in the road which has caused some of our cars to actually go over the line. So, is this an issue that is causing a knock-on effect which is causing damage to maybe the sides of our buses that are now having to be repaired?

So, if you could give us some information about some of those repairs that are having to happen that are different from what I would call the maintenance on, you know, the engine of the vehicle, more in the structure of the vehicle that potentially is happening because of some of these other issues?

So, with that, I will take my seat. Thank you.

The Chairman: Thank you very much, Deputy Opposition Leader.

I will recognise any other Member who wishes to speak on any of these heads.

[Pause]

The Chairman: I recognise the Honourable Member Mr. Robinson.

Mr. Robinson, do you have another?

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: Thank you.

The Chairman: Go right ahead.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: Yes. Just really quickly, I just wanted to get a quick update on the licensing issue for and whether or not there will be any sort of legislation, amendments coming down the line to ensure that they are supported as they have the first Bermudian pilot. And I am sure the Minister also supports that venture.

So, I just wanted to know if there are any amendments because there was a bureaucratic snafu where, unfortunately, we are operating without. So, this is on Head 71 and mentioned in the Minister's brief. He mentioned the BTA.

[Inaudible interjections and laughter]

The Chairman: Let us not take too many liberties on that.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: Yes.

The Chairman: I mean, keep it in my direction, but let us not go too far into the Tourism Authority.

[Inaudible interjections]

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: They are not sure now, Mr. Chairman. Unfortunate.

Unfortunate.

It is a lot of chatter. But I believe that we are allowed to ask questions on the brief, and I just wanted to note—

The Chairman: No. I prefer more . . . no, one moment. One moment, Mr. Robinson.

I prefer, more, frankly. And I allowed Mr. Swan, and I allowed the Honourable Member Fahy and Honourable Member Swan to have some latitude. However, there will be an opportunity to discuss the BTA, and there will be an opportunity for us to do that, but not under the heads that we are currently being charged with today.

I appreciate the fact that you said the Minister mentioned it. I got that. The Minister is saying that he did not. I would rather, if you do not mind, err on the path of sticking to the brief.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: No, that is fine. But—

The Chairman: If you do not mind.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: What I was referring to—

The Chairman: Go right ahead. Yes.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: What I was referring to, Mr. Chairman, is we are dealing with the head Ministry of Tourism and Transport, Culture and Sport, Head 71. And underneath that, you know, you can make policy proposals. And that is budgeted in there that in the brief things were mentioned underneath that head that I am just asking if there is any legislation regarding tourism—because this is a Tourism and Transport sort of question.

[Inaudible interjections]

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: You know . . . Yes.

The Chairman: I recognise you have done Head 71. I am satisfied that we have covered it and let us keep it at this level. I would rather you did not.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: Okay. No problem, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: Mr. Robinson, you have done well thus far. So, I would like to keep along that lane. And if you do not mind—

[Laughter]

The Chairman: The Minister is opposing vociferously. So, I would ask that you would stick with that and then we can go right ahead.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: Yes, Mr. Chairman. And then I can make way for answers.

The Chairman: Thank you very much.

Minister, you have about 55 minutes left. But before you do, is there any other Member wishing to speak on this on any of these heads?

No other Members wish to speak.

The substantive Minister, you have the floor.

[Crosstalk]

Hon. Owen Darrell: Mr. Chairman, thank you very much.

The Chairman: Minister.

Hon. Owen Darrell: And I just want to thank the Shadow Minister. I want to thank his colleagues, the Honourable Member from constituency 20, the Honourable Member from constituency 8. Anybody else? I just want to say thank you. Because I did not hear them; you know they like to chirp (I think one said) about the time that they do not have. But I gave them a solid two and a half hours.

The Chairman: You did provide sufficient time, Minister.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Solid two and a half hours, they used quite a bit of that.

The Chairman: A good time.

Hon. Owen Darrell: But with that, I want to thank my team who have been listening. And I hope they were listening a little bit more than the Shadow Minister. But I did not mention once BermudAir in my brief, not once. And I think the Honourable Member was trying to connect BermudAir to Transport, not Tourism.

But with that said, we will get to that when we get through with the answers. But I do want to go through a comprehensive answer session because as a former educator, as you would know, Mr. Chairman—

The Chairman: I do.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Question and answer sometimes is where individuals learn the most. So, I am pleased to provide some of these answers.

Honourable Member? Yes?

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Owen Darrell: Okay, great. I am just making sure that we are good.

So, we will start with Head 71. And there were some questions asked on Headquarters. And it was page B-234 I believe that this question came from. And they asked about the 4 per cent increase in the Ministry. And the Honourable Shadow Minister from the other side questioned about the investment and how I had highlighted the investment. Then it sounds like the Honourable Shadow Minister took a little bit of a swipe at me because he said that it was not an investment; it was mainly on salaries.

But I will tell the Honourable Shadow Minister this: Any good manager knows that an investment in your team—and that solid team that you see right here and the ones whom you may not see—everyone knows that that, Mr. Chairman, is a solid investment. I will start there. There is no greater investment than the team of workers whom we have in the Government of Bermuda, our public officers.

An Hon. Member: Hear, hear.

Hon. Owen Darrell: And that is why, Mr. Chairman, we have taken great steps and gone to great lengths to further invest in the money that they take home so they can continue to give quality service and service to the people of this country, Mr. Chairman. So I will not agree with—

[Inaudible interjections and laughter]

The Chairman: Speak to the Chair.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Oh, I am just waiting. You hear a lot of chirping.

The Chairman: Yes, you said that.

Hon. Owen Darrell: You know, I had fun with this one, Mr. Chairman.

So, I would reiterate that I do not know if that was a little bit of a dig or a little bit of a slight. But that investment—

[Inaudible interjections]

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: Point of order, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: Minister, just take your seat just for a minute.

I accept. Go ahead. The Honourable Member Robinson, you have the floor.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: The Honourable Minister—

The Chairman: You should wait for me to speak first. Mr. Robinson, you have the floor.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: Thank you, Mr. Chairman. I appreciate it.

The Chairman: Right.

POINT OF ORDER
[Imputing improper motive]

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: The Honourable Minister is presenting improper motive here, right?

The Chairman: Ah.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: I at no time wanted to criticise the raises that the public servants were getting. And I respect their work, and I want to clarify that to the listening audience, Mr. Chairman. Thank you.

The Chairman: That is fine. You have done so. I got it. You have done so.

Honourable Minister.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Thank you, thank you, Mr. Chairman. Mr. Chairman, I just want to reiterate that that investment is an investment well spent. So, thank you, Mr. Chairman. I thank you for pointing that out from the other side.

The Chairman: Yes.

Hon. Owen Darrell: But to—

[Laughter and inaudible interjections]

The Chairman: Do not take it, Minister. Do not take it, Minister. Go right ahead. Speak to the—

Hon. Owen Darrell: Investment in people, Mr. Chairman, is very, very important.

The Chairman: Resist the temptation, Minister.

Hon. Owen Darrell: No, no, I am good. I am good.

The Chairman: Okay, good. Carry on, Minister.

Hon. Owen Darrell: I just . . . you know me. [I am a] Cleveland County boy. I bat and bat well; and bat long.

So, the second one, Mr. Chairman.

[Laughter]

The Chairman: Yes.

Hon. Owen Darrell: As the Vice President from Cleveland County looks on, I see.

The Chairman: He is taking notes.

Hon. Owen Darrell: I see.

The second question was on Professional Services, and again, Mr. Chairman, this was on page B-231 around Professional Services. And the question was that there seemed to be a jump in 2024/25 of $50,000 for the overall current estimates. And the Honourable Shadow Minister asked for further explanation. And he just wanted to focus on that line item and what was the reason for that increase. I am happy to report, Mr. Chairman, that that increase is due to the combined Ministry HQ of the two former Headquarters, and we put it together. And that is why the Professional Services was increased. So, it is pretty, pretty self-explanatory there, Mr. Chairman.

As far as Other Expenses, which was another line item, that question was asked by the Honourable Shadow Minister. [He] asked about an increase of $4,000 previously, but then it jumped to $21,000. The Honourable Shadow Minister wanted me to clarify because it was not defined in the Budget Book. And the clarification, simply, Mr. Chairman, is that the increase was again due to the combined Headquarters.

Further question on Head [71] regarded training. Again training, also investment in people. It was zeroed out in the 2025/26 returns. The Honourable Shadow Minister wanted to know what caused the zero-outs. And it seemed only $6,000 seems . . . I am not sure about the question. How much training is being done? The answer is the Government provides internal training at no cost. So internal training is encouraged before external training, which costs. So that is the explanation there. And this one I know the Honourable Shadow Minister has in previous times had a lot to say on the Bermuda Tourism Authority. He has had a lot. And he has asked me to break my silence a few times. Then he has asked me to stay out of it. And then he has asked me to dig into it. So, I am a little confused as to whether [he wants] the Government to get involved in the BTA or he wants the Government to stay in the—

[Crosstalk]

Hon. Owen Darrell: —of the BTA.

The Chairman: Right. I understand.

Hon. Owen Darrell: But nonetheless, Mr. Chairman, I will . . . I will . . . I will, Mr. Chairman—

[Inaudible interjections]

The Chairman: Temptation as well.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Absolutely. I will endeavour to dig into the Bermuda Tourism Authority and break my silence.

The Chairman: Yes. Yes.

[Inaudible interjections]

The Chairman: You are doing well, Minister.

Hon. Owen Darrell: But, Mr. Chairman, I could tell you this. I do not think I have seen this many on the other side for a Budget-Committee-of-Supply debate in a while. But I am honoured, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: They were waiting for something—

Hon. Owen Darrell: And I will continue on. Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: They were waiting for such a time as this.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Owen Darrell: I have sat and watched others before. Come on! Stop it.
All right.

The Chairman: Speak to the Chair. Thank you.

Hon. Owen Darrell: I will continue on, Mr. Chairman—

The Chairman: Thank you.

Hon. Owen Darrell: —with the Bermuda Tourism Authority. And I would just like to reiterate—

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Owen Darrell: —and I would like to follow on, Mr. Chairman. And I will go and talk about the Bermuda Tourism Authority. And I would like to reiterate at this time, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: Please go ahead.

Hon. Owen Darrell: That the Bermuda Tourism Authority is a marketing, a sales and marketing agency. And that is the investment that I think another party at some other time decided to take it away from Government to make it independent. And I am happy that the Bermuda Tourism Authority are doing good work in this aspect of sales and marketing Bermuda.

The Chairman: Yes, yes.

Hon. Owen Darrell: [The Opposition] asked about advertising and promotion being zeroed out in 2025 but is now a budget of $15,000. Okay. So, the marketing I think that they are looking at in Head 71 is not detail of the Bermuda Tourism Authority. It is important to understand that once we give the grants to the Bermuda Tourism Authority, the Honourable Shadow Minister would be happy to know that I have no involvement as to how they spend their money and what they do as far as operations.

[Inaudible interjections and laughter]

Hon. Owen Darrell: A lot of hypotheticals being thrown out over the other side, Mr. Chairman.

But the BTA budget, again I will reiterate, is not detailed in the [Budget] Book. So again, I think the Honourable Shadow Minister, in all due respect, is not clear as to how government grants actually work and how they are actually indicated in the Budget Book. We give the grant to the BTA. The BTA do all of their own operations. And you will be happy to hear, Mr. Chairman, that I have zero operational control as to what they do over there.

The Chairman: There you are. There you are.

Hon. Owen Darrell: So, the distinction here is that the line item that [the Honourable Shadow Minister] saw on Advertising and Promotion has nothing to do with the Bermuda Tourism Authority.

There was a question here about the vacation rental fee, and it was a budget of revenue of $400,000 as a revenue source. And I think two Members from the other side mentioned that the $271[,000] that we did receive, falling short of the $400,000, seems paltry (in their words) for a massive budget, but represents a burden for those in vacation rental industry potentially. The suggestion was that we should repeal this.

A revenue of $400,000 reflects the actual units available. And I will concede, Mr. Chairman, that the collection is lower, however. And we are working to work on ways that we can get collection. There is a commitment . . . I am sure the Honourable Shadow Minister will be happy to hear this. There is a commitment to review this legislation as was laid in the platform. It was laid out. And again, this question is very important for the other side because they asked it multiple times. So, I am happy to give that answer.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Owen Darrell: I would like to point out and say thank you to the Honourable Shadow Minister for his recognition that he appreciates the cruise increase. So, I was very happy to see that. And another one . . . So yes. That is Head 71. So, I am happy to give those answers for Head 71, Mr. Chairman.

And I will move on to the questions that we received for Head 34, which is the Transport Control Department. And this question, I believe, came from page B-248 regarding the objectives. I guess this was a comment that the Honourable Shadow Minister had received concerns regarding data collection and maintenance, the number of taxis and vehicles on the road. And he has asked me if I can speak to how data management affected and improved, and will we see more collaboration with (I guess) private operators and the Bermuda Taxi Owners and Operators Association [BTOA].

So, the department and even myself, Mr. Chairman, have met with several industry stakeholders to address this issue. In fact, we met with the BTOA very recently to strategise. And I know the department has been meeting with them on efforts that will benefit the department and the industry. And I would like to take time, Mr. Chairman, to speak on the transportation of Bermuda. And as the Minister now responsible for Tourism and Transport, I will tell you that speaking to the stakeholders about transport is something that they have been long concerned about. And it is very important that we have these meetings, we have these collaborations so that we can get it right in the name of service, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: Right.

Hon. Owen Darrell: So, I am glad that this was raised. And these collaborative efforts are going to benefit all stakeholders. In tourism, they are going to benefit locals because when you want to move, Mr. Chairman, you want to move when you want to move.

The Chairman: Correct.

Hon. Owen Darrell: So, thank you for pointing that out. And the data management basically leads these discussions and these agenda items when we are trying to make things better for the user, the local user as well as the visiting user. So, I am very happy to be able to be in the room as one Ministry now and be able to see these issues that affect both sides of the aisle. So, we are happy to continue on with this collaboration.

Another question under the Transport Control Department. Will we review and revise the motor car legislation? I will tell you this, any good government continues to review legislation, and if it is continuing to be effective to the people whom we serve. So, legislation, especially this one, goes way back to years and years gone by. So as much as we would like to go out and canvass and change everything tomorrow, there are some things that take some time. Changes that will positively affect one group of individuals may negatively affect the others. So, the answer to that question is that we do continuously review that legislation and happy to report that there have been updates to the Motor Car Act. Examples are the classic cars.

The Chairman: Oh, absolutely!

Hon. Owen Darrell: I know some of the friends of individuals of those on the other side have these classic cars. And they take . . .

[Inaudible interjections]

An Hon. Member: No, no, no, no, no.

The Chairman: Friends are taking advantage. Yes, Minister, go ahead.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Yes, yes. They are happy to have these classic cars.

The Chairman: Yes. Oh, absolutely.

Hon. Owen Darrell: And so that is one example that I could give. That is one example that I could give of classic car legislation.

The Chairman: That is correct.

Hon. Owen Darrell: How we have looked at it and we have tried to make it better for individuals in the community.

I will tell you that the Transport Control Department has worked with the Office of the Tax Commissioner on legislation. And you will see that collection on these taxes and fees has done very well in other areas, mainly tax season, minibuses. Because we notice that the way the legislation was set up was not really conducive to collecting these fees. So yes, we look at this Motor Car Act. We link with other ministries, other departments. And there are several matters still in Chambers that are being drafted. Example as was raised before could be the Project Ride programme.

So yes, I am happy that the Honourable Shadow Minister pointed out that the Motor Car Act is a piece of legislation that we are continuously looking at reviewing and making changes to in the betterment of the individuals whom we serve, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: Exactly, Minister.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Thank you.

So, another question, and this is again under . . . well . . . this one again is under . . . Head 34. Sorry. I lost my place there. There was a question on Road Safety. And this came from page B-248. And they rightly point out that it is a huge line item, and that is important because road safety is very important. And as the Honourable Shadow Minister has pointed out that he would like to see an increase in funding, a comment there he made was that what we are doing is not working. The approach of Road Safety is shared between the Transport Control Department and the Bermuda Police Service, as well as Public Works. Each play a respective part to educate the public and enforce laws. So, what you may see there may not encompass everything that is happening in Road Safety.

And I would just like at this time, Mr. Chairman, to point out the new Chair of the Road Safety Council, Mr. Altonio Roberts. And he jumped in with two feet a couple of weeks ago with the Road Safety Week.

The Chairman: Yes.

Hon. Owen Darrell: And I am sure . . . I am disappointed that if road safety is such, such a big deal and they would like to see more money to it . . . I am really disappointed, Mr. Chairman, that not one from the other side showed up to Road Safety weekend, the launch of it, to support the new Chair, to support those from the hospital, to support the young people.

The Chairman: Aah. Aah.

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Owen Darrell: Pardon?

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Owen Darrell: That is the question that I am answering that comes. And I am so glad that the Honourable Member asked that, Mr. Chairman, because I think that comes—

[Inaudible interjections]

The Chairman: Continue to the Chair, Minister.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Thank you. I tell you, one thing I will give a thorough approach—

The Chairman: You know that the line items are necessary.

Hon. Owen Darrell: —because as we started, as an educator, if there are students who do not get it, Mr. Chairman, I will gladly go over it so that they can get it. That is called reinforcing the message. I do that very well. So, I will go over it again since they asked, Mr. Chairman. I tell you. Do it again.

So, they were asking about on page B-248, I think that is where it was where they mentioned road safety.

The Chairman: Yes.

Hon. Owen Darrell: So, again I will get back to it. The Road Safety Council had an opening and a launch. And it is great to get up in this place and speak about what we should be doing more. But as I say, every time I get in front of the media, that support comes in many different ways, Mr. Chairman. And I am disappointed, I must say, that the support of the Junior Road Safety Council, the new Road Safety Chair, the outgoing chair did not seem to be appreciated by those on the other side. But I am glad that they pointed—

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Owen Darrell: I am sorry, Mr. Chairman. It sounds like the other side wants me to do their administration for them.

Mr. Scott Pearman: Point of order, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: One second, Honourable Minister, yes. Thank you.

I recognise the learned Member from constituency 22.

Mr. Scott Pearman: Thank you. Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: You have the floor.

POINT OF ORDER*[Misleading]*

Mr. Scott Pearman: I think the Minister might be inadvertently misleading the House. He may not have been present in the Chamber during the debate when his colleague on those benches, who was chairing the Road Safety Council, was commended by me for doing so. That debate occurred only two days ago.

Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: A friendly reminder, Minister. Minister, continue with your brief.

[Inaudible interjections]

An Hon. Member: We have the Hansard.

The Chairman: Resist the temptation, Minister.

Hon. Owen Darrell: No. I am good. I am glad. I am glad we got that out of the way because in my notes it says that road safety is very important. And, Mr. Chairman, I agree that it is very important.

The Chairman: It is.

Hon. Owen Darrell: And I look forward. I look forward to seeing more participation from all sides and all benches as the Honourable Member pointed out.

We are going on to page B-248. Is there an update on the Ride Sharing project mentioned last year in March? Does the Ministry have buy-in from the BTOA? This is a new transportation initiative. Therefore, legislation is being drafted to create the new category. We are continuously meeting with the drafters to go over the legislation to make sure that it is correct and right so when we do produce this legislation that they have asked us to look into, that it is fine-tuned, it is user-friendly for everyone. And as of right now, Mr. Chairman, a timeline has not been set. However, I can tell you that every single day we strive to make the user and the transportation experience in this Island better than the day before.

When do we anticipate seeing regulation, consequences for unregulated persons or dispatchers such as Island: GO!?

The Chairman: Right.

Hon. Owen Darrell: I think the Honourable Shadow Minister said he saw that on the app on Twitter.

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Owen Darrell: Oh, oh, sorry. No, sorry. I do. I will retract that. I think I did.

[Inaudible interjections and laughter]

Hon. Owen Darrell: I thought maybe that is where it was.

But the Island: GO! app, as I understand it, is not a local product. As I am sure the Honourable Shadow Minister will understand more than me, it is difficult for us to address its use until we find someone who is actually using it and receiving money for its service. So, if the Honourable Shadow Minister feels that that is such a concern, we would love to get his sources as to the illegal activity that he may know about when it comes to transportation services in Bermuda.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: Point of order, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: Yes. Mr. Robinson, go ahead.

POINT OF ORDER*[Imputing improper motive]*

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: Yes, thank you.

I just think the Honourable Minister is inadvertently imputing improper motive, right? The Island: GO! App was reported by Bermuda Broadcasting, and that is public record. So, it has not been doing any illegal sources.

The Chairman: Right. Right. Right.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: Minister.

Hon. Owen Darrell: I would accept that. I would accept that.

The Chairman: Fine

Hon. Owen Darrell: But it goes to my point. So, I will retract the statement about their possibly knowing.

The Chairman: Well, we do want to remind the public that if you see something to say something.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Yes. But I will say the answer to the question, the original question, is that it becomes very difficult for us to really go after and enforce or check what is going on. We do not know where it is operating from and who is operating it.

The Chairman: Correct.

Hon. Owen Darrell: There were complaints made regarding the timing of vehicle inspections. I want to take some time to talk about this. It is very important that we go through this in detail. I think the Honourable Shadow Minister misunderstood the line item of which he was referencing. So, the Honourable [Shadow Minister] did talk about examinations on four, 44

... and then the question came about examining vehicles at a time when it may be busy, or something like that. I think that the Honourable Shadow Minister is speaking about traffic officers. And traffic officers and their role are not examinations, two different things.

Examinations as we know, I will just remind you, Mr. Chairman, is when the year comes to an end and you actually have to physically take your vehicle to the Transport Control Department and go through the process. You know, there are some workers who are there, the ones whom we have invested in. And they come out, and they ask you to line up and drive your car in. And they actually inspect your vehicle, also known as examine your vehicle. So that is what that line item is when it speaks to examinations. The taxi industry has asked, because I would know, I have some interest in that.

The Chairman: It is a matter of public record.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Yes. And it is a matter of public record that once upon a time taxis used to be examined in January of the year, early. And you had to register by, I think it was, January 31. It was the industry that came to Government and said, This is not the ideal time to examine and relicense our vehicles because it is the slowest months of the year. So in listening to the taxi industry we actually took those examinations—I do not think those were the ones that the Honourable Shadow Minister was talking about—but the Government took those examinations and moved them closer to the busy season so that operators and owners could have, you know, a little bit more money in their pocket to take care of any examinations, any repairs or the registration.

The Chairman: Yes.

Hon. Owen Darrell: So, it is important to know that the times of these examinations have been adjusted because we look, Mr. Chairman—

The Chairman: Mm-hmm.

Hon. Owen Darrell: —to serve it the best that we can. And I think that it is important to point that out. Although, the examinations, I think, that the Honourable Shadow Minister was talking about were not that. It is the work of traffic officers who actually do traffic enforcement.

The Chairman: Right.

Hon. Owen Darrell: So, I would go back to a previous question, where he said, Well, there are people using these illegal apps and things like that and the other. Sometimes when you have these traffic officers, enforcement needs to be done sometimes when you least expect it so that you may be able to catch some wrongdoing.

The Chairman: Hmmm.

Hon. Owen Darrell: So, we cannot have it both ways, Mr. Chairman. You cannot say, Well, look, let us be hands-off on this enforcement, let us let people do whatever they want because it may not be convenient for us to enforce the laws that come under the Motor-car Act that they have asked us to look at. But if we want to get it right, sometimes the traffic officers have to enforce those laws at times. But that is not, and I want to point that out, the examination line item of which the Shadow Minister was speaking on.

Wages. Why are wages zeroed out? The answer to that is a just a simple clerical one: wages were moved to salaries.

The Chairman: Mm-hmm.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Professional services. What is the reason for the increase? And the details of the line item for TCD. The increase of $150,000 which represents overseas vendors, visiting to assist with the commissioning of new examination equipment.

We will go to Repair and Maintenance. The budget is $481,000. What is the cause of this large increase? The increase is actually $62,000, which represents replacing security systems such as barriers, outfitting satellite centres with additional cameras, safety measures and upkeep of the facilities that were built in 2007. I can tell you from being at the Transport Control Department, there are some areas that are definitely showing their age and, you know, are looking a little long in the tooth as they say, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: Mm-hmm.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Equipment. The Honourable Shadow Minister—

The Chairman: Yes.

Hon. Owen Darrell: —and I am just going to attribute most of these to the Honourable Shadow Minister because I am sure his team would not mind.

The Chairman: He did have help.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Yes, he did have some assistance.

The Chairman: Yes.

Hon. Owen Darrell: And I am so glad I could give them so much time so I can take their questions.

The Chairman: And Members, we are in the Committee of Supply for further consideration of the estimates of revenue and expenditure for the year 2025/26. We are discussing Heads 71, 34, 48, 35 and 30. The Minister with responsibility for Tourism, Transport, Culture and Sport, the Honourable Owen Darrell, has the floor.

And Minister, I am looking at about 25 minutes.

Hon. Owen Darrell: If that is what you say, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: If I am correct. It is about 25, 26 minutes left. But go right ahead, Minister, I do not want to hold you up.

Hon. Owen Darrell: All right. As they say, on February 18, they elected me to speak, and I will do so.

[Laughter]

Hon. Owen Darrell: As much as you allow me to.

[Laughter]

Hon. Owen Darrell: So, if I only have 25 minutes, I will guarantee that I will do the best I can to make sure that the listeners of this country, and individuals of which I serve, can get all the answers to the questions that the Honourable Opposition has asked.

Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: You are welcome. Go ahead, Minister.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Absolutely.

[Inaudible interjection]

The Chairman: Resist the temptation and go ahead.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Everything is good. Me and my colleague next to me, he got something, my mate right here.

The Chairman: Yes.

Hon. Owen Darrell: So—

[Laughter]

The Chairman: Take your colleague's example.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Thank you, thank you, thank you.

The Equipment. $3,000 in 2024/25, they said, $8,000? Has that gone over? In 2026, they see it goes back to $3,000, what is the overage? Why do they believe (I guess "they" meaning the Government) believe that $3,000 is suitable? Replacing computer equipment that was damaged in a particular cyberattack had to be replaced. So, question: other expenses, $775, the budget revised was $10,000, big disparity. What line item—and we are talking about B-249—it is a very large; bank commissions and fees due to the increase in credit card use in vehicle registration. The expenditure will be covered by savings in other budget areas.

The Chairman: Mm-hmm.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Revenue increased, but it comes under what Government budget? It is 2025/26.

The increase does not match the goals. How does the Minister plan to meet the goal? An additional private car category with a higher licensing fee was introduced.

Question on page B-251, Performance Measures. There seems to be a discrepancy between percentages as a target, but not all percentages are present. Some measures, as I said in other things, sometimes support is not measured always in numbers.

The Chairman: Correct.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Sometimes measures are not numerical. So, there will be other performance indicators that may not be numerical. And we have to point that out.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Owen Darrell: I do not write the Budget Book. Page B-251.

The Chairman: Resist the temptation, Minister.

[Laughter]

Hon. Owen Darrell: The registration and administration, are these percentages due to potential digitisation at TCD?

The Chairman: Yes.

Hon. Owen Darrell: The answer is yes.

TCD holds personal data. Have they considered cybersecurity? The answer is yes. All projects are overseen by the Government's Computer Security team at IDT. And I think that comes under my honourable colleague, the Minister of Cabinet and Digital Innovation, who is here.

The Chairman: Aah.

Hon. Owen Darrell: So, I want to thank him. I am sure he also has invested in people. As we know, good managers invest in people, and that is why the salaries there are probably—

The Chairman: There you are.

Hon. Owen Darrell: I am talking to—

An Hon. Member: Answer the question.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Now, hold on. I am going to tell you. I am going to tell you.

The Chairman: The Minister is entitled to some, just some leeway. But he is doing fine.

Hon. Owen Darrell: All right. So that is that.

I am going to move on now. Mr. Chairman, I am going to move on to the Department of Public Transportation.

The Chairman: Mm-hmm.

Hon. Owen Darrell: The Wyatt does not have a standard budget for the auxiliary bus service. This line item is used for charters and site-seeing. That has been discontinued for a number of years. Bus operations increased due to salary uplift, decrease in staff, so please explain. There has been an aggressive recruitment process currently happening and therefore the budget reflects anticipation of filling these posts.

Maintenance. How many buses need repair? What is the state of the fleet regarding repairs and maintenance? Approximately 25 per cent of the existing fleet are 20-plus years old and they are requiring extensive maintenance just to meet the daily schedule. Buses for the disabled, more inclusive of mobility issues—is the Ministry looking into this? Are they wheelchair accessible? Several of the new buses are wheelchair accessible.

Electric buses. Does the capital acquisition amount and these buses, do they align? Yes. This is represented in the 20 buses. How many buses do we need to complete a fleet? How many do we have versus how many we need? The fleet consists of 110 buses, which will be maintained. Transport has a sharp increase, 92 to 79 in the original. Why? I will get back to that one.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Owen Darrell: What caused the increase—we are talking about repair and maintenance—increase in collisions? There continues to be increasing costs associated with maintaining the diesel buses that we do have left. As the old buses are replaced, this will reduce the need for excessive repair costs.

The Chairman: Mm-hmm.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Materials and supplies. How can we keep the number down in 2026? In 2023/24, the aged diesel fleet was largely still in service. This is very expensive to maintain. Additional bus purchases in 2024/25 were paused and the electric bus purchases that are coming in 2025/26 will resume. And this will result in a lower budget material and supply cost.

This question comes to page B-254. Employee numbers—they have seen a slight increase in employees but still under the Ministry's target. As we are ordering new buses. Is 143 full-time employees workable? And how will the Department of Public Transportation achieve 168 bus operators, and if there will be enough coverage for all routes? A new bus purchase will also facilitate the retirement of the older, expensive, difficult-to-maintain diesel buses remaining in the fleet. And I think that speaks to maintenance guys.

What are troubleshooting measures, what is the issue? This was the one where I think the Honourable Shadow Minister had seen a post somewhere, I will not go to say where I think he may have seen it. But he saw a post somewhere and it was in French. We will have to acknowledge that in any new implementation there are teething pains. However, the department has been swift to correct the issue as they have been presented, and we have corrected them in real time.

Performance measures, on-time delivery of scheduled services—why was this a discontinued measure? Why was it discontinued? There will be a new system planned for the delivery of timing data. Once this process is established, the measure will be reintroduced. Maintain 80 per cent. It seems as though the performance measures are 68 per cent. Are there charging infrastructure issues? The number of buses in service is a fluctuating measure depending on the number of variables that kind of go up and down, minute to minute. Is there an issue with maintaining buses? What is the reason we cannot achieve 90 per cent maintenance levels? There are various reasons for the level of maintenance achieved on buses, such as staffing levels, supply chain difficulties, necessary parts as well as unfortunate accidents. Which, just by design, Mr. Chairman, are unexpected.

The Chairman: Mm-hmm.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Average of buses that are out of service due to parts. The parts ordered for the various series of buses are susceptible to supply chain issues and the parts available. Reduction of inventory levels—what does this refer to?

Give me a second.

As the diesel buses again are discontinued, the relative parts are no longer needed in supply inventory. Is this new? This is a question about safety and health. It was discontinued in 2025/26, was it dropped? This measure was discontinued and replaced with a more productive one relating the percentage of issues addressed and resolved.

Customer training and front-line staff. Only 50 per cent was achieved. Why were we unable to achieve 100 per cent training? The shortfall in bus operators prevents the robust administration of training needed. Bus service is a function that must happen, movement of people. When operators are in training, the work must be covered by another and with the insufficient numbers, the core delivery of service takes precedence. The recruitment for bus operators is a rolling one, meaning as soon as one recruitment process ends another one commences to fill the vacant posts. So, if you know any of your constituents, Mr. Chairman, please encourage them to become a bus operator.

The Chairman: Mm-hmm.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Lovely.

Produce performance and reports. I am sorry. A question on page B-252 talks about cost-effective bus service. Any work on a revised bus schedule? I think this came from the Honourable Member from constituency 20.

The Chairman: Mm-hmm.

Hon. Owen Darrell: It has been considered. It will take us a considerable level of negotiation and coordination, which will be more manageable with the new scheduling software. Feedback will be sourced by the travelling public before any significant changes are implemented. The current process for amending the bus schedule right now, speaking to the other question, is manual, and this software design is going to effectively enhance this service. It will be procured in this fiscal year. The data gained from passengers will also be used to develop schedules that are more convenient and responsive to passenger needs.

How many Grey Routes are there? A Grey run is defined as work that is provided to the public in addition to the public schedule. There are no listed Grey runs. However, many passengers expect and look forward to these additional runs. There are approximately 35 Grey runs per week. Seven per week-day, with no additional runs on weekends. But I would like to take time to talk about a very important initiative that we did when it comes to bus routes. Every once in a while we look to put measures in place that will serve the public. And you would have seen in recent publications just along this line item of Bus Operations that when the call comes from certain segments, we try to put on temporary routes or trial runs to see if they will work.

Mr. Chairman, you may know of a particular Honourable Member of the west, you may know him well—

The Chairman: Absolutely.

Hon. Owen Darrell: —who reached out and asked about a particular trial run.

The Chairman: Yes.

Hon. Owen Darrell: And you know, it is a lot of consultation that has to go into that. Including the bus operators, including safety, including feasibility of the existing schedule and workers' time. So, we do take those under consideration as you would have seen.

The Chairman: Absolutely.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Some we are able to accommodate. Some may take a little longer, especially when that schedule comes online, to actually bring to fruition.

The Chairman: And we appreciate that. It is appreciated, Minister.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Thank you. Thank you. I am sure you would appreciate that. Thank you.

The Chairman: Mm-hmm.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Bus Operations—improve ridership passengers by 5 per cent increase does not seem like a lot. I will leave that as opinion-based. I do not think that one warrants an answer. Page B-252, we see that there are issues. Why have they increased when we have more efficient buses? Retired buses, is there an intent to sell them? I think this also came from the Honourable Member from constituency 20.

The Chairman: Yes.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Or maybe it was [constituent] 25. I am not sure. But the business unit relates to bus operations in full-time equivalents, which includes bus operators, dispatch inspectors, traffic supervisors and the management of the staff section. So, it might have been a misunderstanding as to what that line item actually referred to.

Assaults on bus drivers, asked if the Minister [would] shed light? When I heard this question, I raised an eyebrow because I think that was . . . and you know, knock on wood that we do not have any, but it has been a while since we have had these types of reports. So, I would say that the Government has done good work in securing the safety of our bus operators.

And this Government takes very seriously the safety of all workers. There is currently an initiative, development of a policy and review of legislation to strengthen the safety and security for all public servants. So not just bus operators but again these individuals in the public service whom we have invested in. Going back to the top, we are definitely taking steps to making sure that all public servants are indeed safe in their workplace. I thank the Honourable Member from the other side for raising that, and I think it was a backhanded compliment to the Government for making sure that safety is important; thank you.

The Chairman: Minister, just take a seat just for a minute.

The Honourable Member, Mr. Fahy. You have the floor.

Mr. Michael Fahy: Point of clarification, if I may, and it is brief.

The Chairman: Yes.

POINT OF CLARIFICATION

Mr. Michael Fahy: In no way was it a backhanded compliment. It is a compliment. Because I was being absolutely serious that bus operator safety is of prime importance.

The Chairman: Yes.

Mr. Michael Fahy: And it was something that was of concern to me as Minister, and I know it is of concern to the current Minister. Really, I was just trying to bring it to public's attention that that is something I think we both would quite happily stand here and know that is a matter of national importance. Thank you.

The Chairman: Thank you, Mr. Fahy.
Minister.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Thank you, Mr. Chairman, and I do retract the "backhanded compliment."

The Chairman: That is fine.

Hon. Owen Darrell: And I do appreciate the Honourable Member for getting up and explaining that.

Just to add to that on safety, specifically on the buses. These new buses that were ordered by another Honourable Member some time ago—

The Chairman: Yes.

Hon. Owen Darrell: —do come with cameras and recording devices.

An Hon. Member: Ooh!

Hon. Owen Darrell: So maybe that has been a deterrent for the users. And it also makes the operators feel safer. So, thank you for raising that.

Maintenance. Are some of the buses being damaged due to the foliage on the roads? The department is continuing with communication with my colleague who sits to my right in the Department of Parks and Ministry of Public Works to address areas that may pose a problem for buses to safely travel without damage. I can tell you that the increase—I would like to say thank you to the Minister.

The Chairman: Mm-hmm.

Hon. Owen Darrell: The increase of the working crews that you see out, whether it be solo workers or entire teams, that you see will take chunks of this foliage out to not only make it safer for the buses but for all road users to go through these roads. With that said, I think I will move to the final head that they raised, which was Head 30. And that was Marine and Ports.

The Chairman: Looks like about eight minutes, Minister. About eight minutes left in your brief.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Thank you. I think I will get through this in about seven and a half minutes, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: Minister.

Hon. Owen Darrell: So, I am going to get through that. That was good, those were good questions. I am happy to give that time because this is important stuff.

Marine and Ports. So, on page B-243, Ferry Service, does it include two ferries? Yes, the cost does include the new ferries. There is a question about dockyard maintenance. They want clarity on the breakdown of the maintenance line item, increased salary uplift; however, it is really large. What are we getting for that line item? This will be a combination of the compensation uplift and the increased inventory purchases to serve the ageing fleet.

Marine time safety and security. There is a very important insight; what makes up this line item? This budget represents the Bermuda Harbour Radio section, which as the Honourable Shadow Minister will know, is housed at Fort George, which covers a 24-hour shift. It is the basis of border control and security as well as our rescue operations. Our search and rescue. It is a very important part of being part of a maritime jurisdiction.

Page B-244. We have expenditure other than personnel cost consistently over the budget. Is this going to be achievable? Yes. Other personnel costs generally consist of acting pay, some overtime pay, but these are generally controllable expenses, Mr. Chairman. The Training section was revised down, it was not utilised in 2024/25, understand, but not budgeting for more training—is it a particular initiative?

More insight to that number? Happy to provide that, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: Mm-hmm.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Our new, more modern vessels will require operational training for the crews prior. A year of training related to the new tug-boat, and introduction of the two new fast ferries later this year will require additional operator training. Training is also seasonal. We can only train staff during the off season. Also, the mechanical staff needs to be trained on the new machinery for repairs.

This one always seems to get people excited when they see—Travel. So, I am happy to explain this one. Budget increase in 2025/26 was established at $178,000 and wants to know why the increase and what does that cover? How will it benefit the people of Bermuda? I am happy—

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Owen Darrell: I am just happy to explain that because the Honourable Shadow Minister made a point to point that out, I am going to be as detailed as possible when it comes to this. The travel budget incorporates certification that has to be taken overseas as highly technical officers, such as ship pilots.

The Chairman: Yes.

Hon. Owen Darrell: And I am happy to report, Mr. Chairman that I happen to know a few branch pilots. And I also went down to Seatrade at the beginning of this year. When you go to Seatrade, you have these cruise ship companies and they have these new boats, and the boats are getting bigger and bigger. Anybody who has been on a cruise recently knows that the boats are not getting smaller. They are getting bigger. I can name one company, Royal Caribbean, that has this Oasis Class that they have been trying to get to Bermuda for some time. That is the more modern boat and that is the one that most people, when you go on royalcaribbean.com, the first one you want to click on is what? The new boat.

So, the training is important because you will recall some years ago there was a storm that happened. The pilots could not see, and the boat went off course a little bit. This increased training makes sure that our pilots are certified in these new classes of ships so that they can go out and make sure that our reefs remain safe, the passengers on board remain safe and the Bermuda jurisdiction is known as a safe jurisdiction for these companies to bring their billion-dollar boats into. So, I am happy to say that these pilots often talk about the simulators that they go up to. Unfortunately, where we are, Bermuda does not have these very expensive and important stimulators—simulators, sorry.

The Chairman: That is fine.

[Laughter]

Hon. Owen Darrell: And you have to go—

An Hon. Member: I knew what you meant.

[Laughter]

Hon. Owen Darrell: You knew what I meant? Thank you, thank you.

The Chairman: Your colleagues are saying there are sufficient stimulators. Yes.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Thank you, thank you, thank you. Got them excited there, I see.

The Chairman: I tell you.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Owen Darrell: I tell you.

An Hon. Member: That is what they tell me.

Hon. Owen Darrell: I tell you.
And only basic training is available on Island.

The Chairman: Yes.

Hon. Owen Darrell: So, it is very important that we continue to train up our staff right. And with these boats coming, part of it is sea trials and tests. And unfortunately, you cannot trial and test a new boat when it is not in the jurisdiction. That is why the travel is very important because we would not want our users and individuals whom we serve to step foot on a new boat if it has not been deemed safe. So that training and those international standards have to be done.

So new ferries increased for more effective service going forward. How will the two new ferries impact this? There will be no new impact on the new ferries because these are replacement ferries, not additional ferries. So they will have no impact on the current manning or levels. Are there any issues with hiring? What is the hold up? There are no issues with hiring in Marine and Ports. We have a large staff, and there is a high turnover due to retirement. We are in the process of filling all vacant funded posts.

The Chairman: Mm-hmm.

Hon. Owen Darrell: I am going to skip the questions that my colleague asked. I think the Honourable Member from constituency 25 asked about moorings. Illegal boat registration. Has the Ministry required insurance for the removal of these illegal boats? We are consulting with Chambers and stakeholders for possible legislation to making private boats' insurance mandatory.

Confirmation that new ferries are not electric. Correct. The new ferries of which we have mentioned in this Budget Debate are not electric. However, the team are conducting reviews on future electrification of ferries. I think those would include the smaller ferries on the Pink Route that the Honourable Member from constituency 20 has expressed his approval with, which one he uses every morning. Or afternoon, I am not sure.

The Chairman: Minister. Minister, you are just about expired.

Hon. Owen Darrell: You are waving me off, Mr. Chairman?

The Chairman: I will give you 60 seconds.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Okay, thank you.

The Chairman: Absolutely.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Well, Mr. Chairman, I would just like to take this opportunity to thank all Members who come under the Ministry, and the portions of this Ministry that come under Transport. I know we will have another chance to talk about the other two departments in this Ministry next weekend. I look forward to that debate. I would also like to thank the Opposition, the Honourable Shadow Minister and his colleagues, for bringing these well-thought-out and well-communicated questions. And we are happy to stand on our feet and speak as we have been elected, so that the public can get the answers to which are seeking. And I will end where I started.

The Chairman: Yes.

Hon. Owen Darrell: There is no greater investment, Mr. Chairman, than people. Thank you.

The Chairman: Thank you, Mr. Minister.

That ends and the time has expired in the Committee of Supply for further consideration of the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for the year 2025/26. And the heads, which were Heads 71, 34, 48, 35, 30, have been debated and the time has expired.

I would like to take this opportunity, as the Minister has done, to thank the Minister and the Shadow Minister and those who have contributed to the debate here this evening.

Minister, if you would move? Your heads.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Absolutely, Mr. Chairman, I would be happy to do that.

Mr. Chairman, I move that Heads 71, 34, 48, 35 and 30 be approved as printed.

The Chairman: It has been moved that Heads 71, 34, 48, 35 and 30 be approved. Is there an objection to that motion?

There is no objection.

Agreed to.

[Motion carried: The Ministry of Tourism and Transport, Culture and Sport Heads 71, 34, 48, 35 and 30 were approved and stand part of the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for fiscal year 2025/26.]

[Crosstalk]

The Chairman: Yes. You can [move to] rise.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Mr. Chairman, I move that the Committee rise, report progress and ask for leave to sit again.

The Chairman: It has been moved that the Committee rise, report progress and ask for leave to sit again.

Is there any objection to that motion?

There appears to be no objection to the motion.

It is agreed to. Thank you very much.

[Motion carried: The Committee of Supply agreed to rise and report progress and sought leave to sit again.]

[Pause]

House resumed at 8:19 pm

[Ms. Lovitta F. Foggo, Deputy Speaker, in the Chair]

REPORT OF COMMITTEE

ESTIMATES OF REVENUE AND EXPENDITURE FOR THE YEAR 2025/26

The Deputy Speaker: It has been moved that the Committee rise, report progress and seek leave to sit again. And that motion was approved.

So, Members, that brings us to the next part of the day, and as I understand it, I believe that all [other] matters have been carried over. So, all matters have been carried over.

So that leaves us to . . . I call on the Minister for Cabinet Office.

Minister.

ADJOURNMENT

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Madam Deputy Speaker, I move that the House do adjourn until Friday, May 16, at 10:00 am.

The Deputy Speaker: It has been moved that the House adjourn until Friday, May 16, at 10:00 am.

Does anyone wish to speak to this motion?

There is no one who wishes to speak to this motion.

The House has adjourned.

[At 8:20 pm, the House stood adjourned until 10:00 am Friday, 16 May 2025.]

APPRENTICESHIP PROGRAMME: THE INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY DEVELOPMENT PROGRAMME

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

Madam Deputy Speaker, this Government recognises the critical role that a robust and skilled Information Technology workforce plays in the future prosperity of Bermuda. In today's rapidly evolving digital landscape, the demand for experienced IT professionals is significant, and like many jurisdictions, Bermuda has faced challenges in recruiting and retaining this vital talent. Competition to attract and retain knowledgeable and qualified professionals is fierce; Bermuda competes not only in local circles for this talent but also globally.

Madam Deputy Speaker, to proactively address this need and cultivate a pipeline of Bermudian expertise in this crucial sector, I am pleased to announce an exciting new initiative: the Information Technology Development Programme (ITDP). This comprehensive three-year apprenticeship programme, led by the Department of Information and Digital Technologies (IDT), is strategically designed to equip Bermudians with the diverse technical and essential soft skills needed to excel in today's IT environment.

Madam Deputy Speaker, the initiative began in February of this year, with two candidates selected with the assistance and guidance of the Department of Workforce Development. A third apprentice was identified in April and brought into the programme immediately. The ITDP offers apprentices a unique and immersive learning experience.

Madam Deputy Speaker, during the programme, each apprentice will complete rotations of at least three months across 10 key areas within IDT.

This extensive exposure will provide a well-rounded understanding of the multifaceted nature of government IT operations. These core areas include:

- Service Desk: Gaining foundational skills in user support and issue resolution.
- Devices: Developing expertise in hardware management and maintenance.
- Networking: Understanding the architecture and operation of critical network infrastructure.
- Infrastructure (VMware & iSeries): Acquiring knowledge in server virtualisation and core business systems.
- Project Management: Learning the principles and practices of successful IT project delivery.
- Unified Communications: Understanding and supporting modern communication technologies.
- Portals: Gaining insights on the development and maintenance of online government platforms.
- Administration: Developing essential organisational and support skills.
- Business Services: Understanding the alignment of IT with broader government objectives.
- Digital Services: Exploring the development and delivery of citizen-centric digital solutions.

Madam Deputy Speaker, to ensure practical application and reinforce learning, apprentices undertake a capstone project at the end of each rotation. This provides a valuable opportunity for them to demonstrate their acquired knowledge and contribute meaningfully to IDT's ongoing work.

The ITDP represents a significant investment in the future of Bermuda and its people. By providing comprehensive training and hands-on experience, we are addressing the immediate need for skilled IT professionals within government and creating pathways for rewarding and sustainable careers for Bermudians.

Madam Deputy Speaker, this programme underscores this Government's commitment to digital transformation and empowering Bermudians to participate fully in the opportunities of the digital age. We are confident that the IT Development Programme will cultivate a new generation of talented IT professionals who will contribute significantly to our public services' efficiency, security, and innovation.

Now, Madam Deputy Speaker, please allow me a few minutes to read from participants' submitted testimonies:

From Kyla: "My experience working in the department of IDT, and specifically the portal team has been extremely eye-opening. Going into this programme as an apprentice, I had a few goals but one stood out more than the others. I was hoping to be exposed to the versatility of working in IT and all the opportunities that it held beyond what I can imagine. I can wholeheartedly say that that goal has been fulfilled, I will be leaving this apprenticeship with more knowledge of my opportunities as well as a [far] clearer direction of where I want to take my career!"

And from Armari: "It has been great to be involved in this programme and work in an exciting field with amazing [colleagues]. The entire IDT staff has been supportive and helpful throughout my entire time here; from the people I've worked closely with to others who I only passed by. I have thoroughly enjoyed the work I have been doing and find this job a perfect fit for me. On top of gaining valuable work experience, I've been learning nonstop about technical and non-technical work such as public service and user support. I very much look forward to the coming weeks."

Madam Deputy Speaker, we look forward to continuing to recognise the accomplishments of our first cohort of apprentices as they advance through the programme and to welcoming the next cohort in due course. I would like to thank the Acting Chief Information Officer, Ms. Gina Benjamin, and her team for their outstanding efforts in bringing this programme to fruition.

Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Minister.

I call on the Minister from Youth, Social Development and Seniors.
Minister.

OUT OF SCHOOL PROGRAMME ADVENTURE DAZE! 2025

Hon. Tinee Furbert: Good morning, Madam Deputy Speaker.

I am pleased to rise this morning to inform Honourable Members of this House and the Public about the Out of School Programme "Adventure Daze! 2025," which is being organised by the Office of Youth Affairs as a complement to our governmental run summer programmes for children.

Madam Deputy Speaker, the Office of Youth Affairs (or TOYA) remains committed to empowering our young people, their families and our community, which is reflected in the various programme offerings that are designed and planned. The programmes, whether held before school, after school or during the school breaks are available for all youth ages 4 to 12 years old.

Madam Deputy Speaker, these specific programmes have been accredited through the Bermuda National Standards Committee and for more than 30 years supporting parents and guardians by providing activities in safe spaces facilitated by TOYA's programme workers who are dedicated to the development of our youth. All programme workers are SCARS and CPR certified, and SunSmart trained. The programme workers who will be operating the out of school programme are currently participating in training to update their skills and knowledge in preparation for the start of the upcoming “Adventure Daze! 2025” programme.

Madam Deputy Speaker, although the out of school “Adventure Daze! 2025” programme has been promoted in the media and on TOYA social media platforms, such as, Instagram (toyabda), I just wanted to ensure parents and guardians are aware of the availability of this engaging programme. Adventure Daze! 2025 is designed specifically for children who have completed preschool to Primary 6 providing them with an enriching, fun and safe environment to explore, learn, and interact with their peers.

Madam Deputy Speaker, this programme will operate from 8:00 am to 6:00 pm for five weeks commencing Monday, 30 June and concluding on Friday, 1 August 2025. The out of school “Adventure Daze! 2025” programme will be offered at our two community centres operated by TOYA—at the Western Zone Community Centre, located at 13 Kitchener Road, Sandys and the Eastern Zone Community Centre at 6 Old Military Road, St. George’s. The Western Zone Community Centre has a capacity for 36 [children], while 48 children can be accommodated at the Eastern Zone Community Centre.

Madam Deputy Speaker, the cost of the out of school programme is $60.00 per week or two service vouchers, which can be purchased at any post office. To reserve a space for a child in the programme, parents and guardians must pay $60.00 for the first week during online registration at ospbermuda.bm.

Madam Deputy Speaker, the out of school “Adventure Daze! 2025” programme will provide engaging and educational activities that align with the eight goals outlined in the National Youth Policy. The activities have already been creatively developed around weekly themes, such as:

- Treasure Island,
- Life is a Beach,
- Bermuda Shorts, and
- Splash into Cup Match.

These weekly themes aim to encourage our youth to have an appreciation for Bermuda’s local culture and environmental awareness. The themes also promote teamwork and creativity of our youth while fostering their personal growth and social skills through unique experiences. “Adventure Daze! 2025” ensures young people will leave the programme at the end of the five weeks with not just memorable experiences but with an enhancement of their personal skills and knowledge that will last a lifetime.

Madam Deputy Speaker, some of the personal skills and knowledge our youth will acquire are:

- learning how to tie basic knots, an essential skill for an aspiring sailor;
- making local flavoured ice cream;
- engaging in interactive sessions highlighting the importance of marine conservation and Bermuda’s unique marine environment;

- having group discussions focused on the importance of communication and respect when interacting with peers; and
- engaging in cultural discussions about the history and significance of Cup Match, Madam Deputy Speaker, highlighting both the Somerset and the St George’s Cup Match teams.

Madam Deputy Speaker, the online registration for the out of school “Adventure Daze! 2025” programme opened this morning. I encourage parents and guardians to register their children soon for this one-of-a-kind school experience, as spaces are limited, if they are not gone already because it is past nine o’clock.

Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Minister.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES

The Deputy Speaker: There are none.

QUESTION PERIOD

The Deputy Speaker: No Member indicated that they wanted to ask questions, so there is no question period today.

CONGRATULATORY AND/OR OBITUARY SPEECHES

The Deputy Speaker: I recognise the Member from constituency 25.

Member you have the floor.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Good morning, Madam Deputy Speaker. Thank you.

I would like to congratulate all the graduates of the Bermuda College and commend them on their educational journey. Those who know me know I am a big fan of higher education and I wish them continued further success.

I would also like to send my condolences to the family of Minna Scott, particularly her son, R. Wayne, and her daughter, Gina. And R. Wayne Scott, as many of you know, is a former MP from this Chamber. So I send my condolences to them.

Thank you.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Member.

Does anyone else wish to speak? I recognise the Member from constituency 13.

Member, you have the floor.

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

Madam Deputy Speaker I would like to join in with the congratulations to the nearly 100 graduates that walked across the stage at the Bermuda College. It was . . . I will add it was the new president Dr. [David] Sam's first graduation ceremony and he certainly did make it a memorable one. For the first time that I can remember I observed the president leaving the stage to walk down and walk amongst the students and actually called them out by name and actually get them stand up to raucous applause. So, it was really a different feel to this year. I mean it just felt a little bit, you know, it was just different. It was just different the way it felt. Also, it was emotional as well. There were two students who graduated posthumously. (I think that is how you say it.) And that is the first time I had seen that as well. Those students had gone before, they had satisfied all the criteria for graduation but unfortunately lost their lives before they were able to cross the stage.

In addition to that, Madam Deputy Speaker, the APACE department of the Bermuda College also holds their graduation after the graduation. So, some people do not hang around, but I did hang around to see that. And they had nearly 234 graduates that went through APACE, through that. It was particularly rewarding to hear that the most popular course this year in the APACE department was the AI course. And so we do have persons of all ages now embracing this technology and going up there and learning more about it. And so, congratulations to those 234 students as well that got certificates yesterday.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Minister.

Does anyone else wish to speak?

I recognise the Member from constituency 4. Member, you have the floor.

Hon. Tinee Furbert: Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

You brought tears to my eyes, Minister Diallo, in regard to the congratulatory remarks for the Bermuda College graduates, particularly Damitri Edwards who had passed . . . and I just want to thank the Bermuda College for acknowledging that. But I also want to acknowledge the graduates of . . . well, all of Bermuda College graduates. I want to be associated with that. And then also the graduates of our TOYA programme. Our supervisors in the out of school programmes participated in a management course with the Bermuda College and they received certificates: Renee James, Jamari Smith, Jahni Williams, Capri Dill graduated yesterday with the American Management Association Management and Supervision certification. So congratulations to you.

I also want to congratulate—I do not know if we did it in the House already, but MP Leroy Bean who received a degree. Is he—oh, he stepped out?

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Tinee Furbert: I just want to send congratulations to him. If he was here, I am sure he would tell us, what that degree was. But congratulations to you.

I want to send condolences for one of my constituents, Mr. Alexander Livingston Douglas, known as “Timmy” from Harlem Heights area. I want to send condolences to his family, his children, his wife . . . and just to let them know that we are thinking of them.

Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Minister. Are there any other Members who wish to speak?

I recognise the Member from constituency 20. Member, you have the floor.

Mr. Michael Fahy: Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

Madam Deputy Speaker, we have all now heard about the very sad passing of Counsellor Larry Scott and I am sure the House would be enjoined in condolences to his family. Larry and I had a great relationship over the years, had many, many robust discussions politically and would often meet at Bermy Cuisine over coffee and chat. But I became very acquainted with Larry during my time as Minister responsible for Municipalities. When Larry was a source of great advice, counsel, and you will have seen remarks in the paper as well from the Corporation of Hamilton where the mayor and his other colleagues also said very similar things—

[Timer chimes]

The Deputy Speaker: Keep going.

Mr. Michael Fahy: Thank you.

Obviously, his brother Randy has been in the House assisting over the last little while now and I am sure Michael as well is devastated. I did not know the rest of his family. I am sure others did know his family very well. But it is a sad day. He had a wonderful career as an attorney and also sat in another place. I think from what, 1993 to 1997. And was a well-respected member in another place many years ago.

So again, condolences to his family. He will be greatly missed.

[Inaudible interjection]

Mr. Michael Fahy: I associate the whole House. Thank you for that. Yes.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you.

Are there any other Members who wish to speak?

I recognise the Member from constituency 22.

Mr. Scott Pearman: Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

I would like to convey formal condolences to the family of Wayne Cromwell Simmons. I attended his funeral yesterday and I also note that the Honourable Attorney General who sits in another place was also at the funeral. I would like to express my sadness to his wife Antoinette, his son Samuell and his daughter Waynae. He was a lovely, lovely man and died far too soon. He was not even 60 and those who know him know he was a great lover of dogs. He was, in fact, a trainer of dogs and loved all things dogs and had dogs everywhere, as I understand it from many of the tributes that were given. He was a resident in Somerset, I believe he was a resident of the Speaker and I know that he was very close with the Speaker. And I am sure the Speaker would wish to be associated with my observation, as would the Attorney General.

If I could also just add a quick word on the passing of the former Senator Larry Scott. I knew Larry also . . . well, everyone knew Larry. But I also knew him in a professional capacity and I had the pleasure of working with him, alongside him. We were on the same team as it were, albeit for different parties in a case. He was a pleasure and a joy, and he managed to approach the world with a cheerful sense of keeping everything in perspective, and sometimes in that profession, the strains of work can bear down on you, but not with Larry. He was always smiling, always happy and [approachable]. And I see a nod from the Minister Kim Wilson, across the aisle, who of course is also learned counsel, but just a lovely, lovely man and I personally will miss him.

Thank you, Madam [Deputy Speaker].

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you.

Are there any other Members who wish to speak?

I recognise the Member from constituency 2. Member, you have the floor.

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: Yes. Good morning, Madam Deputy Speaker.

I would like to be associated with the condolences to family member Larry Scott from Somerset, who was one of those many former Southampton Glebe, now Dalton E. Tucker [Primary] students that served in the legislature. Larry served in the other place and aspired to get here in Sandys South, a constituency that I once ran in as well. Following me, I think he ran maybe in the 1980s and early 1990s. I remember him being the executive director of the United Bermuda Party. And I remember him being very outspoken critic throughout the years. But finally, I know his family and we are part of that St. Kitts connection, and I know he'll be sadly missed, particularly by his siblings.

I would also like condolences to be sent and acknowledged to the family of the late Dennis Madeiros, who has not been living here. But he comes from, as we knew it Cedar Hill, Southampton, Granaway Heights, Coral Acres community. I grew up running in and out of his parent's house, the late Emery Madeiros, Sr. and his mother and his brother Emery Jr., who now lives in Boston, sent me a message that Dennis had passed away overseas. That family was a prolific cricketing family associated with BAA and a footballing family as well. But an entrepreneurial family; his brother would have run Lines' Supermarket up there on Ord Road and the like, where his parents worked for him. I am going back to this back to the late 1960s, early 1970s now, Madam Deputy Speaker.

Those my condolences for today.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Member.

Are there any other Members who wish to speak?

I recognise the Minister from constituency 15. Member, you have the floor.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Thank you and good morning, Madam Deputy speaker.

Madam Deputy Speaker, I would like to rise this morning to offer congratulations to one of our public secondary schools, CedarBridge Academy. I had the opportunity to attend CedarBridge Academy yesterday in celebration of their multicultural day and it was fitting as I did say in my remarks that they are holding their multicultural day during Heritage Month, as we are preparing for Heritage Day, which is one week from today. And I just want to send congratulations to, first and foremost, the Principal, Mr. Kenneth Caesar; also, the Deputy Principal, Ms. Natasha Thomas, who actually pulled this together. They had an excellent display from Mr. Showande Butterfield. Many of you will know from H&H Gombey Group, Showande has been around to many schools recently, giving history and an historical account of the Gombey tradition here in Bermuda and what the intricate details of the Gombey costume, their steps and their rituals actually mean. They also had the Filipino Association, the staff had a full lunch celebrating the different cultures that are there actually at CedarBridge Academy.

As you would know as a former educator yourself, Madam Deputy Speaker, that our school systems are full of educators from many different parts of the world. So it was good. I did have a chance to have a nibble at some of that lunch before going in for that. So I wanted to start there and congratulate all of them, because not only did they put it on, but you can see the enthusiasm of the teachers to share their dishes and the cultural dress that they were in and the enthusiasm of the students to actually take part in that. I'm not sure if they were really, really interested in culture or they just were happy to have a couple of moments out of the classroom. But as you would know, Madam Deputy Speaker, I did start my career, my professional career as an educator at CedarBridge Academy many, many years ago, and it was really, really rewarding to get back and to see that culture and social studies is still alive and well at that institution. So I just want to say that.

On a sporting front, I want to go back a couple of weeks and congratulate one of our National Sports Governing Bodies, the Bermuda Squash Association. They held their squash Bermuda Open Championship a couple of weeks ago and I want to congratulate the President, the organisers at the Bermuda Squash Club for putting it on and hosting. I also want to congratulate a company, a local company, IQUW that sponsored this and brought in many squash players from around the world. So, I was happy to attend. My son now just keeps asking me, Daddy when can I play squash? So, we can tell it was successful.

Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

[Timer chimes]

The Deputy Speaker: Just on the bell.

Is there anyone else who wishes to speak?

I recognise the Member from constituency 12. Member, you have the floor.

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: Yes, thank you.

First of all, I would like to be associated with the remarks concerning the passing of Larry Scott. I had the opportunity many times to have political debates with him and was part of a group and still part of a group that meets on a regular basis and he would always send messages about what he thought, where Bermuda should have . . . the direction that it should have gone and it was quite amazing, he held his middle ground there. You were not quite sure . . . you did not want to assume that he was PLP just because and so he always held this up. A very objective approach to things and I really, really appreciated about that and it is sad to see that he has passed on, and to the family, Honourable Members said his brother and the like, condolences there.

I would also like to give condolences to a good friend. I did not . . . it has been a while now—two weeks. But Leslie Holder, senior . . . I had . . . I just did not know he had passed. And that is going to be another big funeral at the Adventist Church, quite frankly. He was he was an educator as well. Two well-known sons. And so, to the family, I would like to just give my condolences to his two sons and his wife in passing. Thank you.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Member.

Are there any other Members who wish to speak?

I recognise the Member from constituency 9. Member, you have the floor.

Mr. Vance Campbell: Thank you, Madam. Deputy Speaker.

I would like to send out congratulatory remarks to Shequita Parson (with no “s”). She went 50 yesterday. She's an educator. She's not in the classroom right now, but I believe she is still having an extreme influence on education in Bermuda. She also was a star on the soccer pitch in the Women's Football League playing for what was known then as Rude Girls, Devonshire Rec. But she's a rising star off the pitch for soccer as well in the CONCACAF region, in particular, and also is getting noticed by FIFA.

So, congratulations to her. She's a former constituent of mine and a friend. So, congratulations to her.

[Inaudible interjections]

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Member.

Mr. Vance Campbell: So, we like to associate the entire House with that. I think most people in here know her or knew of her.

Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Member.

Are there any other persons who wish to speak?

There being none, we move on.

ORDERS OF THE DAY

The Deputy Speaker: Which now brings us to the Orders of the Day for the resumption in Committee of Supply for further consideration of Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure.

Minister, Acting Premier, you have the floor.

Hon. Kim N. Wilson: Good morning, Madam Deputy Speaker. I move that the house do now resume in Committee of Supply to consider the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for 2025/26.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you.
Is that approved by Members? Yes.

House in Committee at 10:35 am

[Mr. Christopher Famous, Chairman]

COMMITTEE OF SUPPLY

ESTIMATES OF REVENUE AND EXPENDITURE FOR THE YEAR 2025/26

The Chairman: Good morning, Honourable Members, and to the listening public. We are now in Committee of Supply for further consideration of the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditures for the year 2025/26.

This morning's first debate will be on the Ministry of Education and the former Minister of Education, now present Minister of Cabinet Office, the Honourable Diallo Rabain shall give his brief.

Minister, you have the floor.

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, I move following heads: Head 16, Ministry of Education Headquarters; Head 17, Department of Education; and Head 41, Bermuda College now be taken under consideration.

The Chairman: You may proceed, Minister.

MINISTRY OF EDUCATION

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, on behalf of Senator, the Hon. Crystal C. Caesar, JP, Minister of Education, I will now present the budget for the Ministry of Education, which comprises the Ministry of Education Headquarters (Head 16), the Department of Education (Head 17), and the Bermuda College (Head 41). Following a change in Ministerial portfolios as a result of the 2025 General Election, the Department of Libraries and Archives (Head 18), now rests with the Cabinet Office.

Mr. Chairman, the 2025/26 budget for the Ministry of Education is $149,190,621 and is found on page B-133 of the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for the year 2025/26. This represents an increase of $9,849,120.

The current account 2025/26 estimated revenue for the Ministry of Education is $248,000. This budget represents the cost of running and funding the existing public education system; whilst simultaneously investing in the transformation for the present and the future.

Mr. Chairman, the Capital Expenditure estimates for acquisitions and development increased from $7,883,000 to $8,187,953 in 2025/26. The number of full-time equivalents [FTEs] for the Ministry has increased by 35, from 1,053 to 1,088 employees, working across Heads 16 and 17.

Mr. Chairman, almost half of the increase in the overall budget is primarily due to the recently finalised union-negotiated pay uplifts. These necessary adjustments, which resulted in a $4.567 million increase from the initial budget, underscore our commitment to fair compensation for educators, paraeducators and all of our staff members.

Mr. Chairman, moments ago, I referred to changes in ministerial portfolios following the 2025 General Election. While Ministers have changed, the Government and the Government's priority to transform the public education system for children and families remains the same. And while Education Reform is the Government's highest education priority, there are also others.

The following remarks will detail the continuing commitment to Education Reform, and the other investments being made not only to public education, but to post-secondary and continuous learning via Bermuda College and scholarships and awards.

HEAD 16—MINISTRY OF EDUCATION HEADQUARTERS

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, I would like to begin the budget speech today by detailing the expenditure of the Ministry of Education Headquarters (Head 16).

The Chairman: You may proceed, Minister.

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: The mission of the Ministry Headquarters [HQ], which is found on page B-134, is to provide strategic leadership and policy direction for education and lifelong learning. The objectives of the Ministry Headquarters have been outlined accordingly on the same page.

Today, we will focus primarily on Government's commitment regarding (1) Education Reform, and, (2) the expansion of funding for post-secondary scholarships and awards either directly to students via scholarships or through existing programmes such as the College Promise.

Mr. Chairman, the hard and focused work to reform our public education system continues to be led by the Education Reform Unit (ERU), under the direction of the Minister of Education and the Permanent Secretary. Education Reform is a broad, complex, strategic and operational multi-year transformation agenda.

Progress comes as a result of the [herculean] efforts of the ERU, and collaboration between the Department of Education, schools, educators, support staff, other ministries and departments, Learning Partners, and other community volunteers, all of whom share the common aim of transforming the public education system to meet the needs, interests and aspirations of every child.

Mr. Chairman, while there are many areas to acknowledge and celebrate, I would like to highlight, but three successes at this time, noting that more information on the delivery of Education Reform at the school level will be provided under the Department of Education (Head 17).

The first success to speak of are Learning Partnerships, which provide students with opportunities to engage in real-world, hands-on, applied learning experiences that help them to develop industry-specific knowledge and skills. In many ways these are a modern advancement on work release programmes of our day, and are only possible because caring and willing individuals, companies and organisations have stepped forward and stepped up to invest in young people and Bermuda's future economy. By co-designing projects, mentoring students, and offering hands-on experiences, they help young people to experience and see the relevance of their education and the discovery of future pathways.

The participation of Learning Partners sends a powerful message: education is also a community responsibility, and when the whole community invests in the growth and potential of our students, we not only raise achievement, but we can build a stronger, more connected Bermuda.

The ERU co-designed a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) to develop Learning Partnerships with the BPSS that contribute to teaching and learning in all schools. To date this has culminated in 14 signed MoUs, serving CedarBridge Academy, the Berkeley Institute and our third signature school, Sandys Secondary Middle School. To date, our Learning Partners have supported:

- Signature Discovery and Signature Immersion Fairs (or Taster Programmes)
- Lunch and Learns
- Co-teaching
- Curriculum co-design
- Professional Learning, and
- Real-world project co-design and delivery.

Learning Partnerships also help motivate teachers and improve teaching by providing continued professional learning experiences for educators. In the coming months of the new fiscal year, the Signature Taster Programme will continue to engage and motivate Year 7 learners to chart their future career journeys.

A framework will also be co-designed with school leaders to support experiential learning for Year 12 and Year 13. This model will support learners through potential employment contracts, work placements and internships.

In order to ensure sustainability of the Learning Partnership Programme, efforts are continually underway to attract and sign new participants. Many Learning Partners have found the experience to be deeply rewarding, and anyone interested in being part of this programme should contact the ERU for information on how to get involved.

Mr. Chairman, I would now like to bring attention to completed and ongoing capital works and investment in our schools under Education Reform. It should be noted that minor works, including those for Education Reform fall under the Department of Education [and will be highlighted under the Department of Education, Head 17].

Mr. Chairman, as many of us who have had involvement with any aspect of construction know, capital works are challenging and often affected by unknown and unpredictable factors. However, with much effort, attention and collaboration with the Ministry of Public Works, we have expanded and improved, built learning environments for better curriculum delivery and learning experiences for our students.

I would now like to provide an overview of the works undertaken in 2024/25 and those planned for 2025/26, noting that major works starting in the current fiscal year will be phased in over time.

- At Purvis Primary Parish School, in 2024/25, the new building containing Year 7 and Year 8 classrooms was completed. Each classroom was fitted out to support new curriculum and approaches to teaching and learning. The library and resource centre were also refurbished.
- In 2025/26, the admin area will be relocated to create appropriate spaces for school counsellors to work and provide services to students. Furniture and equipment in classrooms and other learning environments will continue to be upgraded.
- For the Francis Patton Primary Parish School, 2024/25, the new building to house Year 2 students was completed. It was also fitted out to support new curriculum and new approaches to teaching and learning.
- In 2025/26, furniture and equipment in classrooms and other learning environments will continue to be upgraded.
- At Elliot Primary School, in 2024/25, planning took place to identify critical requirements for its opening in September 2025 as a parish school.
- In 2025/26, storage rooms will be transformed into working space for school counsellors and multiple teacher workstations. Changes will also be made to several classrooms to improve learning environments, for STEM, and other subject areas. A lower school book room will also be created and the staff room upgraded.
- At Harrington Sound Primary School, in 2024/25, planning took place to identify critical requirements for opening in September 2025 as a parish school.
- In 2025/26, renovations will include: converting the principal's office into a new classroom and relocating the principal's and secretary's office to the ground floor; transforming a large storage area into a counsellor's office. Minor works will also open up spaces for teacher offices. Public Works will also investigate the need for new air conditioning and efforts will be considered to increase parking at the school.

Mr. Chairman, changes to facilities are in process and will be phased in over time at Sandys Secondary Middle School will open as a senior signature school in September 2025. In 2024/25, preparations were made for three major works projects. Progress is steadily being made towards redeveloping and refurbishing the old library to create a new library and media centre equipped with integrated cutting-edge [learning] technologies. Learners will be provided with a dynamic and immersive learning environment to foster information, media and digital literacy. It will also serve as a specialist training facility for the Education Services Signature Learning Programme.

The reception area of the school will also be redeveloped and refurbished to double as a Bermudian-style hotel foyer and serve as a real-world learning environment for students in the Hospitality and Tourism Signature Learning Programme.

Finally, the cafeteria will also be renovated to double as a modern, flexible learning space for students to work individually and in small groups.

Mr. Chairman, continuing with Education Reform, I would like to provide a brief update on the introduction of the Education Authority.

I would be remiss however, if, on behalf of the Minister of Education, I did not first thank Mr. Philip Butterfield who led the Education Authority Working Group (EAWG), tasked with submitting specific recommendations for an Education Authority. As the Chair of BermudaFirst, Mr. Butterfield was instrumental in recommending that an Education Authority be established and getting it onto the national agenda. His commitment to shaping the future of public education was demonstrated again and again as he led the EAWG with focus and purpose. With diligence and fidelity to the Government's promise, the EAWG produced detailed policy recommendations for an Education Authority, which provided a critical resource for the forthcoming legislation.

Although the timeline to bring forward the legislation has been longer than anticipated, it is still a major priority under Education Reform. The time and effort invested during unforeseen delays will help produce sound legislation that will meet the vision and requirements for the future governance of the public education system. This work is being advanced to ensure a phased and measured approach to the development of this legislation. In that vein, the Minister has committed to stakeholders that they will be informed and engaged, with views considered, before legislation is tabled.

Mr. Chairman, before I turn to post-secondary funding, including scholarships and awards, I would like to make a few more comments on Education Reform. The first flows from the knowledge and experience that change and transformation are not easy, and in fact to be more explicit, it can be messy, challenging and exhausting, not only for those in leadership and support roles, but also for the beneficiaries. There are also always lessons to learn and there have been many learning curves, some of which resulted in immediate shifts, and some that were much more difficult to handle. Going forward, the [Minister] will work to strengthen successes and apply learned lessons for the continuous improvement of Education Reform.

The health of the Education Reform programme and project will be tracked by embedding key performance indicators in all workstreams to monitor progress of the stated scope of work and to measure the return on public investments. The results will also be made public in line with transparency and accountability for the expenditure of public funds.

Earlier and ongoing work will be augmented by the development of a supporting financial plan and an infrastructure plan to ensure that all planning for Education Reform is coherent, transparent and sustainable in the medium- and long-term.

1601—General

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, I will now turn to page B-134, where you will see that the Ministry of Education Headquarters has been allocated a budget of $7,515,152 for the 2025/26 fiscal year. Within business unit 26000, General Administration, $1,100,616 will support the operational and administrative functions of the Ministry.

Mr. Chairman, under business unit 26140, $3,924,511 represents operational expenses for the Education Reform Unit which includes $761,442 for general office operations and supplies and approximately $3.2 million for consultants for media and other professional support services for professional learning, meetings and events, and professional technical services required for systems and school building infrastructure changes that form part of Education Reform. Of the $3.2 million, $1.9 million is set aside for the Innovation Unit's consultant contract and additional funding for anticipated consultancy for the next phases of the reform process.

The contract with Innovation Unit will for the time being provide guidance, support and direction during the change process, and the Ministry of Education will transition away from overseas consultants to have future Education Reform work carried out locally.

Mr. Chairman, business unit 26080 increased to $725,000. These funds are allocated to the Bermuda College Promise merit award programme and external grants such as the Reading Clinic, WindReach, and The Menuhin Foundation.

Mr. Chairman, $1,765,025 has been set aside for business unit 26090. This business unit manages the administration of the Ministry's annual Scholarships and Awards programme, which supports students in their pursuit of tertiary-level education.

Mr. Chairman, these awards are in place to improve Bermudians' access to education and training beyond senior school. As most of the scholarships and awards have a financial need criterion, most recipients would have had difficulty realising their post-[secondary] education goals if not for scholarship funding. Our scholarships and awards give countless opportunities to students to help them achieve academic and career success for the benefit of our economy and community, and the individual growth and development of recipients.

Mr. Chairman, last year, the Ministry received a total of 559 student application submissions. This is a decrease of 79 applications compared to the 638 received the previous year, when we provided funding for 84 students across 10 different scholarships and awards.

Mr. Chairman, I would now like to share specific outcomes of past scholarship and awards recipients. The 2022 Non-Traditional Student Awardee received a scholarship for $20,000 for up to four years to study at the Toronto Metropolitan University. This student has recently graduated with a Bachelor's Degree in Human Resource Management.

Mr. Chairman, further, the 2022 Bermuda Government Scholarship recipient was awarded a $35,000 scholarship for up to four years to study at Northeastern University. He has since graduated from the programme and obtained a Bachelor's of Science in Industrial Engineering.

Mr. Chairman, on page B-135, the Subjective Analysis of Current Account Estimates are shown for the Ministry of Education Headquarters. Line one, Salaries stand at $677,000 and show a minimal increase of $33,000 when compared with 2024/25.

Mr. Chairman, this year $45,000 has been budgeted for transportation. This was a new expenditure for the Ministry in 2024/25 with a modest increase of only $1,000 from the budget year 2025/26. The [transportation] is for students to and from Signature Learning Programme's Taster events, where students get exposure to details of all the Signature Learning Programmes available to them.

Mr. Chairman, the travel expenditure line item of $97,000 increased by $3,000, due to travel expenditure for education reform. This funds the attendance at conferences and engaging other jurisdictions that have implemented education reforms.

Expenditure for grants and contributions increased by $315,000. The full breakdown of the $2,453,000 budgeted for grants and contributions, can be found on page C-18 of the Budget Book.

Mr. Chairman, $3,378,000 has been budgeted for professional services. This reflects a decrease of $307,000 for consultancy services previously provided to the Education Reform Unit.

Mr. Chairman, on page B-135, the number of full-time equivalents or employees in the Ministry of Education Headquarters remained the same as last year at six FTEs and funds all posts except for the Permanent Secretary.

Mr. Chairman, finally, on page B-136, performance measures for the Ministry Headquarters are outlined. The targeted outcomes for last year were either achieved or are in the process of being completed. I would like to highlight performance measures for business unit 26080 Grants to External Bodies, as all grant applications to recipients were processed by the target date of 31 July and all grant financials and stated outcomes were reviewed by 31 March.

For business unit 26090 Scholarships and Awards, the Scholarship and Awards Committee made recommendations for recipients to the Minister by the deadline of 31 July and the Ministry HQ ensured that scholarship funds were disbursed by 31 October of last year.

Mr. Chairman, the Ministry Team comprises the Permanent Secretary, our Senior Policy Analyst, the Ministry Comptroller, the Scholarships and Awards Programme Manager, a Trainee Policy Analyst, the Administrative Assistant/Accounts Officer and the Executive Assistant to the Minister.

Mr. Chairman, each team member has contributed to the success of the Ministry's work programmes and I thank the Ministry Headquarters, the Education Reform Unit team, and the working groups for their continued support and diligence.

Thank you, Mr. Chairman. This concludes my presentation of the budget for Head 16, the Ministry of Education Headquarters, and I will now move to Head 17, the Department of Education.

HEAD 17—DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, I now present the budget for Head 17, the Department of Education.

Mr. Chairman, the primary purpose of the Department of Education is to establish, maintain, and advance high-quality education systems that fosters the intellectual, social, and emotional development of all students. The department is also responsible for setting educational standards, developing policies, and ensuring that schools operate efficiently and equitably.

The department works to promote access to education, support professional development for educators, and allocate resources effectively to meet the diverse needs of learners. By overseeing curriculum development, enforcing compliance with educational laws, and [encouraging] innovation, the Department of Education plays a critical role in preparing students to contribute meaningfully to society and the economy.

Mr. Chairman, at the heart of the work for Head 17 is a clear and inspiring vision: to build an education system where all young people are educated to lead personally and professionally, compete locally, and contribute globally. This vision is grounded in our mission to provide every student with equitable access to holistic, high-quality instruction that is culturally relevant and empowers them to reach their full potential. To actualise this vision, the department has five strategic priorities:

1. increasing academic rigour and student engagement;
2. ensuring career, college, and workforce readiness;
3. enhancing the quality of teacher practice and system leadership;
4. improving infrastructure and instructional resources; and

5. ensuring system success.

Mr. Chairman, as shown on page B-140, the Department of Education has been allocated $126.1 million for the fiscal year 2025/26, an increase of $8.59 million over last year's budget.

1701—Central Administration

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, the upcoming budget for business unit 27000 General Administration will provide for the purchase of educational and office supplies needed throughout the school year. For the fiscal year 2025/26, expenses are planned to be increased by $95,000.

27001—Office of the Commissioner

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, the Office of the Commissioner, which includes the Commissioner of Education, the Director of Academics, the Director of Educational Standards and Accountability (ESA), and an administrative assistant, has been allocated $821,000, an increase of $136,000.

The Office of the Commissioner [of Education] provides strategic leadership and oversight for the Bermuda [Public] School System (BPSS) and is responsible for setting educational direction, ensuring policy compliance, maintaining standards, implementing reform initiatives, allocating resources, and driving continuous improvement.

The Executive Leadership [Team], consisting of the Commissioner and Directors, manages the operational functions of the public education system. The Commissioner leads on protocols and strategy, while Directors oversee the Academics and the Standards and Accountability Sections. This team operates through evidence-based and collaborative decision-making to address challenges, ensure accountability, and to promote innovation to achieve system-wide educational outcomes.

The Office of the Commissioner of Education also funds a Communications Consultant to strengthen engagement with school communities. Over the past year, the Consultant has led several key initiatives, including the development of a Media Relations Strategy Proposal, analysis of staff feedback on staffing processes, and the launch of the first annual BPSS communication performance survey.

27030—Human Resources

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, this business unit, Human Resources, has been allocated a total of $655,000 to fund the salaries of administrative staff; for expenses to advertise and recruit staff; and for the provision of annual long service awards to teachers and other employees who are members of the Bermuda Union of Teachers.

Mr. Chairman, this year, the Staff Development budget has increased to $782,000. This funding supports the salaries of four mentor teachers, the addition of a staff development officer and enables a range of local and overseas training and professional development activities to take place during the fiscal year.

Mr. Chairman, in alignment with the Government's priority to develop the capacity of employees, extensive, varied and personalised online and in-person professional development and learning took place throughout the current fiscal year. These sessions were delivered by Department of Education Officers; mentor teachers; school principals; instructional leaders; the Education Reform Unit (ERU) staff; and local and overseas trainers and facilitators.

27090—Educational Standards and Accountability

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, the funds allocated to this business unit 27090 is $1,011,000, with an increase of $335,000 over last year's budget.

Mr. Chairman, the Educational Standards and Accountability (ESA) Unit plays a pivotal role in overseeing the quality and performance of our school leaders and teaching staff at 15 primary schools; two parish schools; three middle schools, and two senior schools.

During the current fiscal year, the ESA team was led by one Interim Director and one Assistant Director who focused their efforts on supporting primary, parish, middle and senior school leaders and education reform efforts. The Assistant Director also provided support and guidance to parish school leaders and transformation teams for the Purvis Primary Parish School, Francis Patton Parish School, Elliot Primary School and Harrington Sound Primary School; and direct supervision and support of the department's team of four mentor teachers.

Mr. Chairman, all efforts undertaken by the ESA Team have the ultimate aim of fostering improvement and change in instructional and leadership practices.

27095—Attendance

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, the budget for the Attendance Unit supports the salaries for the Registration and Attendance Coordinator and four School Attendance Officers.

This team ensures daily school attendance compliance for children of compulsory school age by working collaboratively with school staff and parents/guardians. The Attendance and Registration Coordinator manages the annual school registration and transfer processes for all public schools, from pre-school to senior school.

27160—Substitutes

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, the funds allocated to this business unit 27160 is $4,466,000. Substitute teachers are essential for maintaining educational continuity at [our] schools. They step in when regular teachers are unavailable due to illness or leave. The department employs both allocated substitutes who report to their assigned schools each day; and day-to-day substitutes who cover daily, short-term, long-term, and extended leave.

Mr. Chairman, substitute teachers are also afforded the opportunity to engage in professional development offered by the Department of Education and schools; and they are [also] required to maintain the requirements for a Bermuda Educators Council (BEC) licence.

Mr. Chairman, the overall budget for the Central Administration programme is $8,287,000 for the 2025/26 fiscal year, which is $1,759,000 more than the previous year. This increase in funding will enable the department to secure additional substitute teachers; to fill two vacant Assistant Director posts for Educational Standards and Accountability; and to fill the Staff Development Officer post.

1702—Student Services

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, the Student Services business unit provides a comprehensive range of services and supports aimed at addressing students' academic, behavioural, psychological, physical, and social-emotional needs to ensure their success in school and life. Funding for this unit enables critical and vital services for students, including Behaviour Management and Alternative Education, School Psychology, Adapted Physical Education, and services for students with autism spectrum disorder (ASD) and hearing or vision impairments. Additionally, it provides counselling, learning support services, and administrative coordination.

Mr. Chairman, these programmes collectively enhance students' abilities to thrive within inclusive educational environments, promote positive behavioural and mental health outcomes, support personalised learning pathways, and ensure that all students—regardless of ability or background—have equitable access to the resources and opportunities needed to reach their full potential.

27061—Behaviour Management

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, the funds allocated to the business unit 27061 are $1,834,000. Mr. Chairman, led by an Education Officer for Behaviour, this business unit provides targeted behavioural support across the school system. The Education Officer supervises Educational Therapists (ETs) and Educational Therapist Assistants (ETAs) in implementing Individualised Classroom Management Plans (ICMPs), Behaviour Intervention Support Plans (BISPs), Functional Behaviour Assessments (FBAs), and Behaviour Intervention Plans (BIPs).

Mr. Chairman, the Officer also provides support and guidance to school multi-tiered system of support (MTSS) teams and plays a key role in multiple interagency and internal committees, including THRIC (The High Risk Intervention Committee); IGET (Inter-agency Gang Enforcement Team); the Psycho-Educational Committee, and the Clinical Advisory Team (CAT). In addition, the Officer supports students placed in alternative education settings such as CARE, Adult Education, and maintains weekly consultations with key community partners like the Department of Child and Family Services (DCFS), Child and Adolescent Services (CAS), Mirrors, the Family Centre, and MASC to ensure coordinated support for shared clients.

Mr. Chairman, this business unit also funds Educational Therapists in preschools and primary schools, and supports two Alternative Education Programmes that serve students with significant behavioural challenges, contributing to safer and more supportive learning environments. Educational Therapists learned evidence-based interventions to support student regulation, examined escalation and de-escalation strategies, and developed proactive behaviour support plans through case studies and role play. They also completed the Crisis Prevention Institute (CPI) Nonviolent Crisis Intervention.

Throughout the 2024/25 school year, Educational Therapists and Assistants participated in professional development focused on trauma-informed approaches to behaviour and classroom support. Mr. Chairman, the Officer for Behaviour, all Educational Therapists and all Educational Therapist assistants are now certified in Crisis Prevention Nonviolent Intervention, a notable achievement for this business unit. Additionally, 100 per cent of the Behaviour Intervention Plans (BIPs) were developed, with fidelity, for all students receiving services; and all Behaviour Intervention Plans (BIPs) and Functional Behaviour Assessments (FBAs) are now included in our online student management system, PowerSchool.

Mr. Chairman, for the new fiscal year, this business unit will focus on the recertification of staff with Crisis Prevention Intervention (CPI) and collecting evidence of direct teaching of replacement behaviours with students, as we continue efforts to ensure safe learning environments for all staff and students.

27062—Success Academy

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, the funds allocated to the business unit 27062 are $28,000. Mr. Chairman, when a student in mainstream education has exhausted all available interventions and supports, the school can apply for that student to be placed in an alternative education setting. As part of the application process, the school is required to present the student's case—including documented supports, interventions, and outcomes—to the Clinical Advisory Team (CAT). This team carefully reviews the information and provides a recommendation.

Mr. Chairman, the department currently offers two alternative education programmes: Success Academy [Primary] Programme (SAPP) and Success Academy Middle and Senior (SAMS). These academies are specifically designed to support students whose social-emotional challenges significantly interfere with their learning and the learning of others. Students admitted to the Success Academies receive targeted emotional and behavioural support, including instruction in coping strategies and self-regulation skills, along with academic programming. Once students achieve the goals outlined at admission, they transition back to a general education environment.

For senior-level students, SAMS offers access to recognised certification pathways, including City & Guilds, the General Education Development qualification (GED), and the Penn Foster programme, affording students the opportunity to complete their secondary education at the alternative placement site.

Mr. Chairman, Success Academy celebrated several key accomplishments during the 2024/25 academic year. A standout event was Men's Night, held on 16 April 2025, which welcomed influential male figures from the community to engage with students in an evening of mentorship, inspiration, and connection. With a high student attendance, and approximately 50 men in attendance, the event featured distinguished guests from our community. This event reinforced SAMS's commitment to building positive relationships and community ties.

27063—School Psychology

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, this year, [$1,295,000] has been allocated to support this business unit which supports psychological services for student success across academic, social, emotional, and behavioural areas. School Psychologists also work closely with teachers, families, and school teams to assess learning needs; provide educational evaluations; and to recommend strategies and interventions to promote student growth. They also play a key role in promoting mental health, consulting with staff and families to strengthen classroom support, and developing programmes that enhance school environments. In addition, School Psychologists support crisis prevention and response efforts.

Mr. Chairman, School Psychologists are integral to the Multi-Tier System of Supports (MTSS) framework, as they consult with school staff during school team meetings where student concerns are discussed, interventions are recommended, and progress is monitored before considering formal assessments.

Mr. Chairman, this year School Psychologists presented over 30 professional development workshops to staff and parents which included topics such as “Understanding and Supporting Students Affected by Trauma” and “Stress Management Techniques for Children” integrating greater use of digital technology in assessment practices, increasing efficiency and enabling cost savings.

Mr. Chairman, the performance measures for this business unit focuses on the number of referrals completed in one calendar year. Mr. Chairman, 95 per cent of psycho-educational assessments were completed within the fiscal year against a target of 100 per cent. In the upcoming year, School Psychologists will further streamline assessment and referral forms to enhance accessibility for parents and teachers.

27064—Adapted Physical Education

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, this year, a total of $332,000 has been allocated to support the Adapted Physical Education (APE) Programme. This essential initiative is delivered by highly trained and dedicated specialist educators. These teachers play a critical role in ensuring that students with diverse physical, cognitive, and developmental needs can access and meaningfully participate in physical education activities alongside their peers.

The APE teachers work closely with school staff, therapists, and families to design and implement individualised modifications that are directly aligned with each student's Individual Education Plan (IEP). Beyond facilitating physical participation, APE teachers also foster social inclusion, motor skill development, and self-confidence among students with disabilities. Their work not only supports physical education and wellness but also plays an integral part in the broader educational and emotional development of these students. The continued investment in this programme reflects our commitment to inclusive education and the belief that all students deserve the opportunity to thrive in every aspect of school life, including physical education.

Mr. Chairman, the APE team also organises the annual Department of Education Adapted Physical [Education] National Track and Field Invitational in partnership with Special Olympics Bermuda. This event welcomes students from P1 to S4 with special physical needs, including those who have moved on to the K. Margaret Carter Centre and other facilities. This programme has been successful in identifying future Paralympians and Special Olympians.

27065—Hearing

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, $207,000 has been allocated to support the Deaf and Hard of Hearing Programme. This funding supports the employment of a specialised teacher for the deaf and hard of hearing. This teacher provides tailored academic instruction and works closely with classroom teachers to ensure that all students' needs are met effectively during regular classroom activities.

27066—Vision

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, a budget of $49,000 has been dedicated to the Vision Programme, focusing on supporting students with visual impairments. This funding ensures the provision of a Specialised Vision Teacher for the remainder of the school year and the necessary technical services, materials in accessible formats (including braille), and technology to guarantee these students have equal access to educational curricula.

27069—Gifted and Talented

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, the business unit 27069 Gifted and Talented has been allocated a budget of $125,000. These funds cover the cost of the salary for one officer who will support activities and events that will supplement the learning experience for students identified as gifted and talented.

27071—Office Support

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, the business unit 27071 Office Support has been allocated a budget of $611,000. This business unit serves as the secretariat for the Student Services Section and funds the salaries of one Assistant Director of Student Services, two Administrative Assistants, and four learning support teachers who provide services to students with special education needs.

27072—Counselling

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, this fiscal year, the Counselling Programme has been allocated $3,201,000 to support a comprehensive and developmental approach to student counselling. This programme is modelled on international standards and encompasses four key areas: classroom guidance, individual planning, responsive services, and system support. The aim is to foster academic, personal, social, emotional, and future career success for students, integrating preventive and developmental strategies into the school's educational mission.

Mr. Chairman, a key achievement for the 2024/25 school year has been the successful certification of 31 out of 39 school counsellors in adolescent mental health first aid, made possible through collaboration with the Department of Health and support from both local and international trainers. The training enhances their ability to identify early signs of mental health issues—such as anxiety, depression, trauma, and suicidal ideation—and equips them to provide immediate support and connect students to professional care. This accomplishment strengthens the counselling team's capacity and demonstrates a strong commitment to student well-being and proactive mental health intervention [in schools].

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE CHAIRMAN

HOUSE VISITOR

The Chairman: Pause please, Minister.

The House would like to recognise Senator Crystal Caesar, Minister of Education, her PS and one other lady. Welcome, ladies. Respice finem.

Sorry, you can continue. He did not understand that. You can continue.

[Committee of Supply, continuation thereof]

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, another notable achievement for the 2024/25 school year was the strengthening of partnerships with local mental health service providers through professional learning days. These sessions gave school counsellors direct engagement with agencies such as FOCUS Counselling; the Coalition for the Protection of Children; the Department of Child and Family Services; and MASC; to enhance their understanding of available services and referral processes.

Mr. Chairman, for the 2025/26 school year, a key priority is to continue to strengthen the connection between School Counsellors and local mental health service providers through ongoing participation in professional learning days.

These sessions are critical as students increasingly face mental health challenges such as anxiety, depression, trauma, ADHD, and other social-emotional difficulties that impact their school success. A significant concern raised by counsellors is the limited availability of mental health providers on the Island, making it even more vital for counsellors to have a thorough understanding of the available services. By enhancing these connections, we can ensure that students are effectively referred to the right resources, addressing their unique needs and promoting their overall well-being.

27073—Summer Programme

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, the business unit 27073 Summer Programme has been allocated a budget of $18,000. These funds are used to cover the costs for summer programmes at the senior schools and Dame Marjorie Bean Hope Academy. This funding supports ongoing learning and support for students at DAME during part of the summer months.

27074—Learning Support

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, this year's Learning Support budget of $4,465,000 supports the crucial work of three Education Officers for Special Education and Learning Support and 38 Learning Support Teachers. These professionals provide special education services across the educational spectrum, including preschools, primary and middle schools, the Dame Marjorie Bean Hope Academy, and our trauma-responsive programmes at our Success Academies. This budget allocation also covers essential assessment materials for accurately diagnosing students with special education needs.

Mr. Chairman, during the reporting period, learning support teachers received targeted training in writing for Language Arts, alongside the implementation of project-based learning as a core instructional strategy. Additionally, the Multi-Tiered System of Supports (MTSS) framework was effectively utilised to support smoother transitions of students from M3 to S1 and notably, six students successfully transitioned from more restrictive to less restrictive learning environments, marking significant progress with inclusive education practices.

In the new fiscal year, Learning Support Officers will prioritise instructional support, student accommodations, and collaboration between educators and parents. Additionally, a universal screening process will be implemented for all Year 1 students and training will be provided to equip paraeducators with additional skills to better support teachers, and to reinforce student learning, especially in the core area of mathematics.

27076—Early Childhood Education

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, Early Childhood Education has been allocated $137,000, which reflects the funding for the salary of the Education Officer for Early Childhood Education and funding for supplies to support the early childhood education programme.

27079—Paraprofessionals

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, the Paraprofessionals business unit has been allocated a budget of $7,332,000 for the upcoming fiscal year—an increase of [$948,000] over the previous year. This increased funding is vital to sustaining the essential services provided by paraprofessionals and educational therapist assistants, who are integral to the success of our students. Paraprofessionals support classroom instruction, promote student well-being, and ensure that students with diverse learning needs—including those with physical disabilities, hearing or vision impairments—receive the tailored support they require to be successful.

27083—Autism Spectrum Disorder

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, this business unit has a budget of $926,000. This funding covers salaries for teachers and paraprofessionals working in ASD programmes across three primary schools, one middle school, and one senior school, with a total of 24 ASD students at the Primary School level; six at the Middle School Level and five at the Senior School level.

27084—Alternative Education

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, this business unit has a budget of $1,153,000. Mr. Chairman, this budget supports the Success Academy Middle Senior (SAMS) and additional alternative education placements for students who cannot be accommodated at SAMS.

Mr. Chairman, Student Services Section provides an extensive range of educational services for our students with exceptionalities. The total budget allocation for Student Services Programme 1702 for the 2025/26 fiscal year is $21,713,000.

The performance measures for this unit indicate varying levels of success in meeting the established targets. While the goal was for 100 per cent of schools to implement the MTSS process with fidelity, only 90 per cent met the criteria. Behaviour Intervention Plans (BIPs) exceeded expectations, with 100 per cent completion compared to the 80 per cent target. The IEP process was carried out with 78 per cent completion, slightly surpassing the 75 per cent goal. The percentage of Individual Planning Meetings completed by counsellors was 85 per cent, below the 90 per cent target. On a positive note, psychoeducational assessments exceeded the goal, with 95 per cent completed [between September and August] compared to the 90 per cent target. These outcomes suggest overall strong performance, with room for improvement in school-wide MTSS implementation and counsellor-led planning meetings.

1703—Finance and Corporate

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, business unit 27002, Finance and Corporate Services, with an allocated budget of $798,000, is responsible for managing the financial operations of the Department of Education. The unit is staffed by a team of 10 personnel, encompassing a variety of key roles essential to the effective delivery of financial services. These positions include a Departmental Comptroller, a Trainee Departmental Comptroller, a Financial Services Manager, a Payments Supervisor, a Salaries Supervisor, a Salaries Clerk, three Accounts Clerks, and a Messenger.

Under the leadership of the Ministry of Education's Comptroller and the Financial Services Manager, this team efficiently and reliably handles the payment of salaries for over 1,000 educators and staff; processes payments to suppliers and vendors; and ensures the accurate reconciliation of leave entitlements. They are instrumental in identifying cost-saving opportunities and advising on financial efficiencies to support the department's mission of educational excellence and equity.

27003—Office Accommodation

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, this business unit has a budget allocation of $1,035,000 that funds the salary of the office receptionist and covers costs for the annual rent, office maintenance, electricity, and communication costs for the department's physical offices.

27040—Educational Stores

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, this business unit has been allocated a budget of $566,000, which supports salaries for seven personnel and other expenditures such as rent, inventory freight costs, and gas/diesel. The Stores Section provides centralised purchasing, inventory management and distribution services to the Ministry and Department of Education, all public schools, Bermuda College, and other Government Departments such as the Department of Youth, Sport and Recreation . . . Youth and . . . Department of Youth—that department does not exist anymore.

27041—School Transport

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, this business unit has been allocated a budget of $508,000 to fund the salaries of three bus operators and two bus attendants, whose responsibilities are to ensure the safe transport and direct supervision of students who attend Dame Marjorie Bean Hope Academy, to and from school every day; and the safe transport of students in ASD programmes in other schools, to and from their off-site learning activities which take place across the Island. Two groundsman who maintain school sports fields and one Labour, Transport and Safety Officer are also funded from this budget. The Labour, Transport and Safety Officer's main responsibility is to oversee and supervise the work of school custodians to ensure clean and healthy school facilities.

27042—Buildings, Grounds and Equipment

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, for the current fiscal year, the budgetary allocation for the maintenance of public school buildings, grounds, and equipment is set at $1,396,000. This reflects an increase of $284,000. The allocated funding remains vital to the department's capacity to perform essential maintenance operations across all public school facilities.

This funding enables the Facilities Manager to uphold the functionality, safety, and compliance of critical infrastructure systems, including life safety mechanisms, elevators, fire alarm systems, water dispensers, and HVAC units. Additionally, it facilitates the provision of pest control services and the oversight of security arrangements at both middle schools and the alternative education institutions.

Facilities upgrades significantly enhanced educational environments and accessibility. Four student hoist lifts were successfully replaced at Dame Marjorie Bean Hope Academy, ensuring safe and modern support for students with physical disabilities. At Purvis Parish School, Year 3 through Year 6 classrooms and the art room were reconfigured with innovative glass partitions to support flexible, 21st-century learning spaces. Additionally, the refurbishment of Lyceum Preschool was completed as part of the transformation of Francis Patton into a parish school, with temporary relocation managed efficiently and at no cost to families. These improvements reflect a commitment to inclusive, modern, and student-centred learning environments.

Mr. Chairman, this business unit has identified two strategic priorities for the upcoming fiscal year:

Upgrade of CCTV Systems Across All Schools

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: This initiative is aimed at significantly enhancing campus security. It includes the integration of advanced features such as facial recognition technology, licence plate readers, and the establishment of centralised CCTV monitoring from the department's central offices.

Ongoing Support for Education Reform Unit (ERU) Initiatives

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: The Facilities Unit will continue to play a central role in supporting the vision for education reform and school transformation, particularly in executing refurbishment projects for parish schools.

Mr. Chairman, this business unit has three performance measures which all focus on school safety. The target set at 100 per cent for the performance measure for conducting annual safety inspections was achieved and the outcome for school fire drills was exceeded by 25 per cent, reaching a 100 per cent success rate. The outcome for compliance with Safety and Health Committee regulations was 80 per cent against an expected target of 100 per cent, with improvement needed with the submission of Safety and Health Committee minutes.

Mr. Chairman, the department remains steadfast in its commitment to ensuring safe school environments and strengthening the operational infrastructure of the public education system recognising that safe, functional, and future-ready learning environments at current and transformed schools are fundamental to delivering quality education and improving student achievement outcomes.

27050—IT Support

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, for the fiscal year 2025/26, the Information Technology (IT) section has been allocated $2,698,000. This budget supports the salaries of key IT personnel, including an IT Manager, Computer Services Officer, Management Systems Officer, and IT [Support] Officers, who are accountable for defining and delivering IT strategy and capabilities for the Ministry [of Education] (MOE) and the Department of Education (DOE), and the Bermuda Public School System (BPSS). These responsibilities include data analytics and business intelligence, development and support, infrastructure, security and technical services to support and enhance user experiences. The department's IT [Unit] is also responsible for giving oversight and direction to IT and business leaders on strategy, standards and opportunities for shared services and economies of scale.

This fiscal year, the IT Unit made significant strides in modernising and enhancing the technological landscape to support system priorities. Enhancements were made to the telephone system network with the pilot launch of a mass notification system designed for emergency and daily communications and the data centre continued its evolution towards a hybrid and distributed computing model, creating a more robust framework for educational services. Additionally, Wi-Fi 6 upgrades began at Victor Scott and West Pembroke Primary Schools, with broader enhancements improving connectivity in low coverage areas. Wi-Fi 6 is the next generation of Wi-Fi, which improves the network, ensuring the support of faster, more efficient, Internet speed for multiple devices used for instruction and assessment.

The IT Unit also continued to configure and distribute laptops to authorised users across BPSS, supporting instructional and administrative needs. Also, in support of Signature Learning Programmes, training on the PowerSchool Naviance platform was maintained and expanded.

Security also remained a top priority, with continued upgrades to enterprise IT security services and ongoing user awareness training. Online services were enhanced through the implementation of user account management tools and automated patching systems, bolstering operational efficiency.

Mr. Chairman, this unit had five performance measures assigned, and all outcomes were achieved.

Looking ahead to 2025/26, the IT Section will prioritise supporting the Education Reform Unit, Parish Primary Schools, and Signature Learning Programmes, while initiating a transformative [shift] in IT support personnel roles—from break/fix responsibilities to becoming education solution enablers. The team will continue with the distribution of Chromebooks to students and laptops to department and Ministry staff to reinforce a connected and mobile learning model. A strong emphasis will be placed on maturing IT operations, refining service delivery and monitoring tools, and further integrating the PowerSchool ecosystem, including increased enterprise reporting and the introduction of AI tools. Wi-Fi 6 upgrades will expand across additional locations, and an enterprise backup system will be implemented as part of a broader disaster recovery strategy. The department will also extend pilot programmes for digitisation and the mass notification system, furthering its commitment to modernisation and operational resilience.

1704—Preschools

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, moving onto page B-139, the total budget for our 10 preschools for the fiscal year 2025/26 is $5,001,000. A significant portion, 94 per cent, is allocated to staff salaries. The remaining 6 per cent covers essential operational costs such as resources, training, development, electricity, part-time cleaning services, telecommunication, office equipment, and drinking water.

For the 2024/25 academic year, early childhood [education] efforts focused on strengthening teaching and learning through the full implementation of the Creative Curriculum Kindergarten (CCK), targeted professional development, and enhanced use of student data to inform instruction. Educators received comprehensive training on curriculum delivery, assessment tools, inquiry-based learning, and classroom management strategies to support school readiness and diverse learning needs. Notable achievements included increased educator proficiency, improved student engagement, and the successful reintroduction of the Preschool Summer [School] programme, providing both educational support and afterschool care for families.

Mr. Chairman, our preschools focused on improving student proficiency in literacy, math, and developmental goals, with many preschools showing strong student progress toward curriculum targets. Family engagement was strengthened through initiatives such as home-learning programmes, garden projects, and school events—all implemented with minimal cost and strong community support. Schools also emphasised wellness, sustainability, and curriculum fidelity, supported by staff development and creative use of resources. Additionally, several preschools reallocated funds and formed partnerships to expand programmes in music, physical education, and health, enhancing both equity and the learning experience for students.

Mr. Chairman, [I am pleased to report on] the performance measures related to early childhood education and instructional quality. The [percentage] of preschool students who met established standards for literacy and numeracy exceeded expectations, with an outcome of 95 per cent against a target of 90 per cent. Similarly, 92 per cent of preschool children met the system standards for social, emotional, physical, and cognitive development, surpassing the target of 90 per cent. With respect to instructional quality, 80 per cent of classroom [lessons] observed during system instructional rounds met the established indicators and criteria, achieving the targeted performance level. These outcomes reflect the effectiveness of current strategies and the dedication of our educators in delivering high-quality early learning experiences.

The 2025/26 academic year will prioritise the strategic strengthening of Early Childhood Education (ECE) through targeted reorganisation, expanded early intervention services, and leadership development. Key initiatives include introducing wraparound support services for preschool-aged children, improving inter-departmental collaboration, and enhancing communication across ECE teams. Emphasis will [also] be placed on increasing curriculum fidelity through continued professional development, improving classroom observation and documentation practices, and formalising leadership succession planning to build capacity and sustain school improvement efforts.

1705—Primary Schools

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, continuing on page B-139, the budget for our 15 primary schools for the fiscal year 2025/26 stands at $32,151,000.

Mr. Chairman, this academic year, primary schools across the Island demonstrated notable achievements through strong community partnerships, service learning, and high levels of student engagement. Schools engaged in meaningful outreach—such as homelessness education, support for seniors, environmental initiatives, and charitable giving—while fostering academic and personal growth. Highlights include award-winning gardening and woodworking projects, literacy improvements, successful sports performances, and vibrant cultural celebrations. These efforts reflect a growing culture of compassion, innovation, and community connection, with students applying their learning beyond the classroom to make a positive impact.

Mr. Chairman, I would like to present the performance measures for primary level student achievement in reading, writing, and mathematics. For students in Year 4 through Year 6, 60 per cent achieved the targeted growth in reading, meeting the established benchmark. In summative writing assessments, 55 per cent of students from Year 3 through Year 6 achieved a score of three or higher, slightly below the target of 60 per cent. Similarly, in mathematics, 65 per cent of Year 3 to Year 6 students achieved a score of three or higher, falling short of the 70 per cent target. Additionally, data is currently being finalised for the percentage of students from Year 2 through Year 6 in each school who achieved at least one grade level of growth based on the common system math assessments, with the target set at 70 per cent. These results provide valuable insight into areas of progress and those requiring continued intervention, focus and support.

The Chairman: For the benefit of the listening audience, we are now in the Committee of Supply for further consideration of the Estimates and Revenue and Expenditure for the year 2025/26. Honourable Minister Diallo Rabain is delivering the budget for the Ministry of Education.

He is now on Head 17.

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

1706—Special Schools

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, continuing on page B-139, business unit 27120, Dame Marjorie Bean Hope Academy (DAME), provides dedicated educational and therapeutic services to students with severe and profound learning disabilities and complex care needs. Our only special school provides students with an enriching education and developmental support, increases student independence, and helps students to achieve their full potential.

In response to increasing student needs, a major achievement was the formation of an Educational Therapy Team in October 2024, initiated by Student Services, which provides evidence-based interventions. DAME also reinstated staff coaching and strengthened their decision-making process through reliable data collection and intervention fidelity.

A vital ongoing achievement for DAME was the continued partnership with Friends of Hope Academy, Charity 722, which generously supported the school's Arts Education programme. This initiative plays a critical role in nurturing cognitive and creative development among students. Arts Education at DAME flourished through key collaborations. Mr. Jahbarri Wilson, in partnership with Solstice, led weekly art sessions using a compassionate and inclusive approach. His guidance not only met diverse student needs through adapted media and techniques but also contributed to students' success in the Primary School Art Exhibition. Further artistic success was demonstrated at the Annual Exhibition, where students earned multiple awards including 1st, 2nd, 3rd place, and Highly Commended recognitions.

The Dance Therapy Programme, in collaboration with the Bermuda School of Music, thrived under the direction of Dance Movement Therapist, Mrs. Hannah Walters. Her sessions supported students' emotional, social, cognitive, and physical development and culminated in student participation in the Spring into the Arts performance.

Professional development for the staff at DAME focused on several key areas. Staff received training on writing effective incident reports and understanding mandatory reporting procedures. Crisis Intervention Plans were reviewed and refined to better meet current needs. Additionally, staff participated in Crisis Prevention and Intervention Training designed to build the necessary attitudes and skills for managing challenging behaviours and maintaining a safe learning environment. A strong emphasis was placed on ensuring that all staff were either newly trained or received refresher training to respond effectively to the nuanced behavioural needs of students. DAME will continue to focus professional development efforts on addressing the diverse needs of students in the upcoming school year.

Mr. Chairman, the performance measures for this unit relate directly to the IEP (Individual Educational Plan) process, which maps out individualised and personalised goals for students. Both targets for performance measures were achieved at 100 per cent.

Mr. Chairman, a total of $1,166,000 has been allocated for DAME, an increase of $588,000 over the last fiscal year.

1707—Middle Schools

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, we now turn to page B-140 for our Middle Schools. The 2025/26 budget allocation for [the operation of our] three middle schools is $13,568,000, reflecting a decrease of [$1,110,000]. This decrease is due mainly to a reduction in the remaining positions at Clearwater Middle School.

Mr. Chairman, for the reporting period of 2023/24 the target for M1 to M3 students achieving targeted growth in reading was set at 60 per cent, with an actual outcome of 55 per cent. Improving reading proficiency remains a key priority across all grade levels. Targets were also established for [M1 to M3] student performance in end-of-year mathematics and writing assessments, aiming for 60 per cent of students to achieve a score of three or higher in each subject area. The actual outcomes showed that 55 per cent of students met this benchmark in both math and writing. The department, in close collaboration with schools, remains committed to strengthening instructional practices and interventions to improve student outcomes in these critical subject areas.

Mr. Chairman, selected students at the Middle School level are taught the City & Guilds curriculum. A target was set for a 90 per cent pass rate for students sitting the City & Guild [assessments]. Mr. Chairman, 85 per cent of the students taking the City & Guilds assessments at the middle school level passed the English and math assessments.

Mr. Chairman, some middle school students also take the IGCSE examinations early. They take these international examinations towards the end of their M3 year rather than at the end of their S2 year at our senior schools. Mr. Chairman, the target of 85 per cent of these students passing the IGCSE examinations for English and mathematics was achieved.

1708—Senior Schools

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, continuing on page B-140, Senior Schools provides grants for CedarBridge Academy and The Berkeley Institute. The total budget allocation for 2025/26 is $31,370,000.

Mr. Chairman, each senior school is provided with an annual grant for the operational management of their respective school. For the fiscal year 2025/26, CedarBridge [Academy's] funding increased by $911,000. The Berkeley Institute's total budget has risen by $1,572,000. These increases are to fund salary uplifts and additional posts at both schools to support Signature Learning Programmes.

I am pleased to report that The Berkeley Institute successfully passed its Mid-Term Accreditation Report with the Middle States Association (MSA) in December 2024. This achievement was a direct result of the dedication, hard work, and commitment of the entire Berkeley team, especially the Internal Accreditation Coordinators. Passing this critical milestone affirms that the school remains steadfast in maintaining the standards of excellence expected by Middle States, while continuing to meet the needs of their students.

Mr. Chairman, CedarBridge Academy is currently in the process of collecting and preparing accreditation documentation for the Middle States Association and we anticipate their success as well. Additionally, in the 2024/25 academic year, CedarBridge Academy demonstrated a strong commitment to professional learning through two major initiatives aimed at enhancing teaching and learning. One of the most impactful efforts was a four-month professional learning series titled Supporting Struggling Students.

In response to data highlighting academic and social challenges among students, 30 teachers participated in this targeted professional development. The series was based on the work of educational expert Robyn Jackson and focused on Tier 1 interventions in relation to the MTSS Framework, to proactively support all learners. Throughout the programme, teachers engaged in reflective discussions and adopted evidence-based strategies that they successfully integrated into their daily teaching practices. As a result, participating educators reported noticeable improvements in student engagement and achievement.

Another significant milestone was the launch of the Creation Station, a cornerstone of the school's ongoing School Transformation initiative. This dynamic facility brings together the school's Library, Multimedia Centre, and an innovative MakerSpace designed to transform classroom learning into hands-on experiences. The MakerSpace serves as a collaborative environment where students and teachers work together on real-world projects that bridge theory and practice. Supported by a dedicated MakerSpace [Resource] Teacher, [faculty] design learning experiences that involve modern tools such as 3D printers and a variety of crafting materials. Students create meaningful artifacts that reflect their learning and deepen their understanding through practical application. The Creation Station exemplifies the school's vision to inspire creativity, critical thinking, and innovation across the curriculum.

Mr. Chairman, the performance outcomes for Senior Schools reflect a mix of achievements and areas requiring targeted improvement. Students scoring three or higher on writing assessments reached an outcome of 45 per cent, [slightly] below the target of 50 per cent. The target for students achieving expected growth in reading was 45 per cent, which was met. College acceptance rates surpassed expectations, with 65 per cent of students gaining admission compared to the 60 per cent target. In the City & Guilds assessments for English and math, students performed above target with a 91 per cent pass rate versus the 90 per cent goal. However, only 45 per cent of students earned the City & Guilds Employability Skills Certification, falling significantly short of the 100 per cent target. For IGCSE subjects, students met the targets in English, math, and science, each achieving the respective 60 per cent, 50 per cent, and 50 per cent benchmarks.

Advanced Placement (AP) exam performance was notably below expectations, with only 4 per cent of students scoring three or higher compared to the 80 per cent [target]. On a positive note, 97 per cent of students graduated with a Bermuda school diploma, exceeding the 92 per cent target, and the cohort graduation rate from S1 to S4 was 91 per cent, surpassing the 85 per cent goal. While 85 per cent of graduates earned an external or internationally recognised credential—slightly below the 90 per cent [target]—the same percentage also graduated with one or more industry-recognised credentials, again just under the 90 per cent benchmark.

1709—Curriculum and Assessment

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, staying on page B-140, the Curriculum Assessment section covers funding for the Cambridge International Curriculum, City & Guilds, Penn Foster, System-Wide Reading Assessments, Career Pathways, the Dual Enrolment Programme, and all related [curricular] resources. The Department of Education annually invests in the Cambridge International Curriculum, enabling Primary 6 and middle school students to undergo checkpoint diagnostic assessments and sit the International General Certificate of Secondary Education (IGCSE) exams, the last of which are required for obtaining the Bermuda school diploma.

Mr. Chairman, student performance on diagnostic and standardised assessments provide critical data that informs instructional planning, highlights areas requiring targeted intervention, and supports the continuous improvement of teaching, learning and service outcomes.

27020—Assessment and Evaluation

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, we are in our 11th year of administering Cambridge assessments and examinations. All Cambridge assessments, City & Guilds Assessments and Reading assessments, are funded from business unit 27020 (Assessment and Evaluation). The allocated budget for the continued delivery of assessment and evaluation is $513,000.

27520—Design, Development and Implementations

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, through the Design, Development and Implementation (business unit 27520), the Department of Education is dedicated to enhancing educational outcomes through comprehensive programming and skilled officers. This unit, focusing on Mathematics interventions, Language Arts, Science, Social Studies, Foreign Languages, the Arts, ICT, and Physical Education and Health curricular deliverables, ensures consistent curricular delivery.

Mr. Chairman, the budget for business unit [27520 Design, Development and Implementation] is $2,135,000 and includes the funding for seven substantive Curriculum Officer [posts]. Mr. Chairman, each officer and programme plays a crucial role in our mission to provide a well-rounded and effective education system. Their work supports academic achievement and prepares our students for personal growth and global citizenship.

During the 2024/25 academic year, key subject areas advanced through curriculum alignment, student engagement, and targeted professional development:

- Science focused on standardised assessments and centralised tracking of student unit assessment results. Inquiry-based learning experiences were implemented across the system on World Water Day. Inquiry-based instruction will be further expanded in 2025/26.
- Social Studies promoted real-world application and civic engagement via community partnerships and events. Future plans include cross-departmental environmental themes and piloting hybrid assessments.

- The Arts saw high [student] participation and national recognition, raising over $11,000 through Spring into the Arts.
- Instructional Technology enhanced digital literacy and teacher effectiveness with Schoolology modules, AI and cyber hygiene education, and expanded access to coding and robotics.
- Physical Education and Health launched revised standards and integrated technology through delivery of the SPARK PE curriculum and wellness partnerships.
- Reading implemented the University of Florida Initiative phonics [programme] system-wide and used Gates-MacGinitie pre and post assessments to measure progress on student growth.
- Foreign Languages focused on professional development and adopted the Conti pedagogical method to strengthen instruction.

Together, these achievements reflect a comprehensive effort to modernise education and support holistic student development.

27524—College and Career Pathway

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, business unit 27524 College and Career Pathway has been budgeted at $453,000. This business unit funds the Employability Skills programme, the Certified Nursing Assistant certification, and the EMT certification at Bermuda College. This cost centre covers the cost of the leadership management of two College and Career Pathways Officers. In addition, this cost centre covers the salary of the Applied Science Technology instructor for our dual enrolment students in the trades and STEM programme at the Bermuda College.

Mr. Chairman, I am delighted to share an exciting initiative reflecting our commitment to enhancing education in Bermuda. In early 2025, the Department of Education partnered with the Bermuda Chess Association to launch a long-term Chess in Education strategy aimed at empowering educators to use chess as an effective teaching tool.

The skills attained emphasise critical thinking, communication, creativity, and collaboration. Alongside these skills, chess fosters essential life skills such as impulse control, perseverance, empathy, and the ability to foresee [consequences].

In March 2025, the Bermuda Chess Association hosted 24 dedicated educators from 14 primary and middle schools for their inaugural "Chess in Education" seminar from 3-5 March. All participants successfully earned a School Instructor designation from FIDE, the world chess governing body.

These schools have successfully established chess clubs and they have begun integrating chess into classroom activities. Looking ahead, our schools are committed to achieving accreditation from the FIDE Education Commission, with the goal of being recognised as gold, silver, or bronze chess schools.

Mr. Chairman, this programme is not just teaching chess; it is fostering critical thinkers and problem solvers.

1712—Early Childhood Education

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, on page B-140, business unit 1712 Early Childhood Education (ECE) has been budgeted at $2,744,000. This business unit also covers the Child Development Programme and After [Preschool Care].

Early Childhood Education is a foundational pillar in shaping the future learning and development of our children. This section includes Early Childhood Special Education and Quality Assurance, reflecting our unwavering commitment to transforming early childhood education through innovative strategies. It also underscores our dedication to ensuring that every child is afforded the best possible start in life.

Early childhood education is vital for lifelong learning and development, as it builds foundational cognitive, social, emotional, and physical skills. High-quality early education fosters curiosity, language, numeracy, and social competence, helping to reduce educational disparities through equitable access. Research shows it delivers long-term benefits, such as better health, higher graduation rates, and increased economic productivity, making it both a moral and economically sound investment.

Mr. Chairman, business unit 27175 Child Development has been budgeted at $2,617,000. The Child Development Programme (CDP), under business unit 27175, continues to serve as a vital pillar of support within our early childhood framework. This programme provides essential funding for the dedicated professionals who work diligently to uphold accreditation standards and enhance the quality of services offered to the parents of Bermuda's youngest children. Despite existing human resource constraints, the programme successfully served 569 children and their families during the past fiscal year. Services provided ranged from developmental screenings to early intervention support, underscoring the programme's comprehensive approach to child development. CDP continues with its efforts to recruit staff to deal with the extended waitlists resulting from the growing demand for these critical services.

In 2024/25, key priorities focused on improving service delivery and operational efficiency. Efforts included maintaining accreditation, reviewing and updating job descriptions, and recruiting for five vacancies—one filled in July 2024 and another expected by August 2025. To meet rising demand, the Developmental Assessment Service was expanded by contracting three psychologists, and counselling services were strengthened through strategic partnerships to ensure quality support for children and families.

The Child Development Programme advanced its commitment to Performance Quality Improvement (PQI) during the reporting period by enhancing service delivery and client outcomes. Key achievements included training staff and implementing updated Individualised Family Service Plans (IFSPs), revising all client forms, and improving data collection and reporting methods. Audits of referrals and waitlists were conducted to improve service access and timeliness. New file audit metrics and screening policies were introduced, and a structured Annual Screening Registration process was implemented. Collaborating with the Digital Transformation Team, the CDP digitised several key forms via the Government portal, improving efficiency and accessibility for both clients and staff.

The Child Development Programme conducted targeted internal staff training to support professional development and enhance service quality. Training topics included boundary setting, accreditation standards, brain development, prenatal trauma, client journey mapping, IFSPs, client observation, and risk prevention. These sessions strengthened staff skills, resulting in better alignment of practices with best standards, and the improvement of effective support for children and families.

Mr. Chairman, during the reporting period, the CDP continued to demonstrate strong outcomes in developmental screening services and family intervention services for behaviour. A total of 366 children between the ages of 18 to 48 months received developmental screenings, enabling the early identification of potential developmental concerns. Although this outcome is under the expected target of 200 screening for 2.5 officers, it reflects good progress is being made. Additionally, CDP maintained a high standard of service delivery in early intervention for behaviour, with 100 per cent of clients who were assigned or deemed eligible successfully receiving early intervention services.

Notably, 100 per cent of these clients demonstrated measurable progress toward their early intervention goals, reflecting the effectiveness of the programme's tailored, family-centred approach. The performance measure for the percentage of families participating in parent education classes and groups is on pause while CDP prepares to shift to a more personalised approach with different levels of parent support.

Mr. Chairman, for the 2025/26 year, CDP's priority areas will be recruitment for current vacancies, especially for the critical post of an Early Intervention Case Manager, fulfilling the responsibilities of accreditation and continuing with the Performance Quality Improvement (PQI) process.

27700—After Preschool Care

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, business unit 27700 After Preschool Care has been budgeted at $127,000. This budget covers the payment cost for After Preschool Care workers and the afterschool care programme for Dame Marjorie Bean Hope Academy.

Mr. Chairman, I now refer you to page [B-141], the Subjective Analysis of Current Account Estimates for the Department of Education. This page provides an aggregate of the detailed line item expenditures previously mentioned. The variances of significance for the categories are as follows:

1. Overall salaries [and wages] increased by $2,019,000 (105 per cent);
2. Training costs are $111,000 (27 per cent) higher and travel costs increased by $47,000 (261 per cent);
3. Transportation costs increased by $10,000 ([26] per cent);
4. Communication costs increased by $102,000 (17 per cent);
5. Professional services increased by $1,587,000 (113 per cent) due to a big portion of increases in funding for School Psychology, Dame Marjorie Bean Hope Academy and the Child Development Programme.
6. Rental costs increased by $434,000 (62 per cent) due to a significant portion of the funds allocated to the Department of Education relocating to a new office [space], separate from the Ministry of Education;
7. Repair and Maintenance costs increased by [$234,000] (13 per cent) due to an increase in building repairs and maintenance;
8. Energy costs increased by $325,000 (35 per cent) due to an estimated cost of electricity for the new office location;
9. Materials and Supplies expenditures are $373,000 (23 per cent) higher due to increases in the purchase of inventory, educational supplies, and office/stationery supplies;
10. Grants and contributions increased by $3,254,000 (11 per cent), due to support for schools in transition and transformation.

Mr. Chairman, pages B-142 and B-143 show 1,082 FTE posts, an increase of 35 FTEs compared to 2024/25. Most of these relate to the increase in paraprofessionals, substitute teachers and education officers.

Mr. Chairman, pages B-144 through B-147 list the performance measures for the Department of Education. These measures reflect the priority areas that will be monitored and for which school and department staff will be held accountable during the school year.

Mr. Chairman, I wish to express my appreciation to the Department of Education and all school staff for their contributions to both education reform and school operations over the past year. As we move into the 2025/26 fiscal year, we look forward, with optimism to the continued progress and achievements that will advance our collective vision of establishing a 21st century, world-class public education system that serves the needs, passions and aspirations of Bermuda's children.

Mr. Chairman, this concludes my presentation on Head 17, the Department of Education. I will now move on to the Budget Estimates for Head 41 Bermuda College.

The Chairman: Thank you, Minister. For the benefit of Honourable Members and the listening audience, we are now in Committee of Supply for further consideration of the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for 2025/26.

Minister Diallo Rabain is giving a report on the budget for the Ministry of Education. He has just concluded Head 17. This debate started at 10:36. It will conclude at 4:06. And he is now on to Head 41.

Minister, you may resume.

HEAD 41—BERMUDA COLLEGE

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, Bermuda College's mission is to provide the community with innovative programmes, training, support services and access to partnerships that lead to local and global success. It demonstrates its commitment to the success of its diverse student body by offering transfer programmes leading to success at the university level, professional and technical training leading to success in the workforce, and preparatory programmes leading to success in the classroom.

Mr. Chairman, as found on page B-148, for the 2025/26 financial year, Bermuda College has been allocated an annual grant of $15,573,410 by the Ministry of Education as last year, with an additional capital grant of $500,000 for campus maintenance and upgrades.

Mr. Chairman, the College is led by President [Dr.] David Sam and a Board of Governors chaired by Mr. Nasir Wade. It maintains high standards as an accredited institution by the New England Commission on Higher Education (NECHE) and is working towards re-accreditation in 2026 to continue offering top-notch education.

Mr. Chairman, notable achievements for the past year include the success of the Dual Enrolment Programme, with 41 participants this past year with seven dual enrolment [students] graduating from the College before earning their high school diplomas in May 2024. Four "students of excellence" accepted the invitation and were [inducted] into the Phi Theta Kappa Honour Society, joining the other 67 who have been inducted since the College's Chapter was established in 2019. The College also partners with organisations like BEST for environmental sustainability initiatives and hosts influential events like the Annual Roche Science Week to engage the community in science and conservation.

Mr. Chairman, significant educational milestones were celebrated, including the graduation of 93 students across various disciplines. The College also graduated four students with Bachelor's Degrees in Business Administration in partnership with Mount Saint Vincent University.

Mr. Chairman, in May 2024, the Athora Professional and Career Education Division awarded 149 professional designations and workforce development certificates that included nine public high school students who received their Certificate for Nursing Assistants as part of the Department of Education's dual enrolment programme with the Bermuda College underscoring the College's role in workforce development.

Mr. Chairman, financially, the College's revenue comes from government grants, student tuition, and other sources, totalling approximately $19 million. Salaries and benefits are the most significant expense, accounting for 66 per cent of the budget. The College also invests in campus improvements and educational resources, supported by the Bermuda College Foundation, which contributes to scholarships, programming, and sustainability projects.

Mr. Chairman, the Bermuda College Foundation plays a critical role in supporting and enabling the College's efforts to modernise its campus and programmes. Bermuda is grateful to the donors who have supported the current Bermuda College Foundation Fundraising Campaign and shown their commitment to ensuring that all Bermuda residents have access to quality, relevant, tertiary education right here at home.

Mr. Chairman, Bermuda College's 50th Anniversary has truly been a remarkable celebration of a proud milestone in our Island's educational journey. The College launched its commemorative activities in July 2024, beginning with the placement of a commemorative stone in the courtyard and the raising of a newly designed Bermuda College flag to mark this historic occasion. To further honour its legacy and national significance, the College also commissioned a special 50th anniversary postage stamp.

The highlight of the anniversary year was the Bermuda College's 50th Anniversary Gala, held at the Hamilton Princess Hotel and Beach Club under the theme "50 Years: Transforming Lives and Imagining the Future." This event brought together alumni, students, faculty, and community stakeholders in celebration. During the Gala, 10 distinguished alumni were honoured—two representing each decade of the College's history. Former Presidents of the institution were also recognised, and Mr. Craig Simmons and Mr. Frederick Ming were officially conferred the title of Professor Emeritus.

The celebrations continued with the publication of The Royal Gazette commemorative supplement, showcasing powerful stories of impact and achievement over the past five decades. Additionally, the College was featured in the Spring 2025 issue of

The Bermudian magazine's "Crow's Nest" section, offering a reflective and celebratory article on its journey.

The College also hosted a 50th Anniversary Golf Tournament, which brought together friends and supporters for a day of fellowship and fundraising. Mr. Chairman, the celebratory calendar will be rounded out by an Alumni Entrepreneur Fair—a fitting tribute to Bermuda College graduates' innovation, creativity, and economic contributions.

Let us all take a moment to salute Bermuda College for 50 years of excellence, impact, and transformation—and to wish it continued success for the next 50 years and beyond.

Mr. Chairman, this now concludes my remarks for Bermuda College, and my overall presentation of the 2025/26 Budget for the Ministry of Education, consisting of Heads 16, 17 and 41.

The Chairman: Thank you, Minister.

Minister Diallo Rabain has concluded his presentation for the Ministry of Finance. The Chair now is asking if anyone else would like to speak.

Member from constituency 8, Smith's South. Benjamin Smith, Berkeleyite, Shadow Minister of Education you now have the floor.

Mr. Ben Smith: Thank you, Mr. Chairman, and good morning. Good afternoon, I should say.

The first thing I would like to do is actually take this opportunity to thank the Minister that just finished reading that brief and to the Minister of Education, because last night they actually sent me the brief in advance to give me an opportunity to read through it.

That opportunity really works towards the collaboration that it takes for us as a community to prioritise that education is extremely important for us to move forward. I really appreciate it. Thank you to the Minister and thank you to Minister Rabain. I also would like to take this opportunity to say special thanks to Minister Rabain who stood in this position as the Minister of Education for a significant amount of time. I believe he might actually have been the longest-serving Minister of Education of all time. That was not an easy role for him to hold for that amount of time.

It is appreciated that he did that and continued to show the importance of education to our community and in that position he took hits several times for being in a position to stand up. Because when the One Bermuda Alliance was the Government, they started to talk about closing certain schools and that same kind of venom that comes from people, just from tradition of certain schools. But this Minister was able to continue to stay there, and I just wanted to make sure that we showed appreciation for what he continued to do. And thank him for representing that position the way he did.

An Hon. Member: Thank you, Ben.

[Inaudible interjection and laughter]

Mr. Ben Smith: So now, Mr. Chairman, going toward the questions that arose from listening to the brief that was presented this morning, I would like to start off with Head 16, Ministry of Education Headquarters.

We will start with . . . on page B-134. Just skimming through cause some of my questions were obviously answered in the brief. So under Scholarships and Awards . . . we do acknowledge that the Government has continued to make sure that they are putting money aside for scholarships, knowing how important it is (especially in today's society) to get further education and giving the support to people that need to have that [which] has allowed many people to have opportunities that they would not otherwise have been able to have without having that financial support.

So, we appreciate that the Government has continued to increase the level of support for scholarships. I know that the people who have been able to get achievements through that are very appreciative. But has the Ministry had ability to track the success of scholarship recipients post-graduation to evaluate the success of the programme? As we continue to support our students, you give the financial backing, but do we have a way to assess whether there is a success that is coming from that investment?

Can the Minister please provide the breakdown of the numbers of students receiving scholarships? It would be important for us to have a breakdown of the different areas that people are reaching the point to get these awards, so what is the number that's coming from private schools? What is the number that's coming from public schools? What is the number that's coming from home schooling? And then what is the number of recipients that are (what I would call) "senior students" who potentially are getting further education awards in order . . . who potentially are coming out of that same award process. So, if the Minister could give us a breakdown of that, I think it would be helpful.

And one of the reasons that I think that is important is that we have education that happens in Bermuda, both private and public, and the Minister has rightly said several times that sometimes the private school children get a certain pass where public schools have to take on a more general part of the populace, and sometimes that has an impact on the need that is coming from that area. I think it's important that we identify that and potentially what that means is that in the future it allows the Minister to maybe ask for even more financial support so that we can get more of our young people who need that financial backing to receive financial backing.

Mr. Chairman, still on page B-134, Education Reform Unit. So obviously this is an area that tends to pop up controversy because there's some issues that people believe when you were doing a reform—anybody will tell you that when you are making major changes, not everybody is going to be in agreement, which causes some pushback.

I will say that I have had the opportunity to meet with the Reform Unit. I thank the Ministry for giving myself and Senator Victoria Cunningham that opportunity. We had the opportunity to ask any question that we wanted to. They gave us some detailed information on what has been happening. And some of the issues when you are going through the reform are multiple layers that have to be supported in order for those changes to happen. And some of the delays are because parents might not be taking on the information.

In some cases, there are people within the department that do not actually want to progress some of these things. And it's not a blame issue. It is really about, as you are going through change, that teething period sometimes causes delays that you cannot really explain how it happens. But I know that through that conversation that we were able to have and I know by some of the conversation that I have had with the Minister that this has been a frustration that because not everybody understands all of the steps and I do have to take this opportunity to say that the information has been sent out. Right? So, they have done several, I want to say there's been ads, they have had meetings, they have done multiple opportunities. But the truth is if you want to get that information, you're going to have to go through the details to get to it.

So, with that, on the education reform specifically, Would the Minister be able to provide the specific deliverables that are expected for the education reform? So, obviously what happens is . . . as you are going through it, people want to know what's happening each step of the way. And that sometimes is the piece that causes the frustration. So, if we could get a little bit more detail on how those assessments are happening each year and how we will be able to get the information on those assessments of the reform, and in what methods that will be done so that some of the anxiety that I think has been kind of in the community can be levelled out.

The other question would be . . . because I know that there has been this engagement with public stakeholders. What has been that feedback from the public stakeholders that might not have matched where the reform has been moving? And with that feedback that has been given, what changes have been made actually been made with the reform based off of the feedback? Because as you are making these major changes, sometimes you have to change.

I think the Minister has actually said it several times here. You know, you have to make sure you've measured a few times before you cut. And this problem in education hasn't . . . it did not just start, so this has been a long process up to this point. And honestly, it's going to be a long process going forward. And as you're going through it, obviously these frustration points, these hot points are going to happen.

But as we are going through it, we have to make sure that we are communicating every way that we can so that the students, the parents and the community at large are going along on this journey in a way that they feel that it is being collaborative. And I make that statement not saying that it hasn't been collaborative, but the more detail we can give in this situation, I think it will be even more helpful to the community . . . because I will make a comment that it is interesting because the Minister's actually made this statement more than . . . the previous Minister has made this statement a couple of times when it comes to the consultancy. Right? This is another one of those topics that comes up.

You have to get expert advice sometimes in order for us to do something at the vast scale of this reform. So, knowing that you have had that expertise, you would not expect to take the information and then never speak to that group again. It is going to have to be something that they are going to continuously be a part of. There is going to be a cost associated with that.

But in our conversation with them, one of the things that was brought up that this is actually a group that is a charity. And I had that conversation with them. And it is interesting because I am pretty sure that even though the Minister's repeated it, most of the community probably haven't taken that part in. This is about them working towards helping education, helping young people and the more that we can get this information out on how this reform is going to work and how we can get to the best results for our young people, for this point . . . and really when it comes to education, Mr. Chairman, you would have heard me say before, it's not about putting politics when it comes to education. We need to figure out: How do we get to the best result for the next generation?

We have had the ability to go through what I would say was a period of world-class education and we want to ensure that the future generation gets the same opportunity.

So, Mr. Chairman, on page B-135, there is under Grants and Contributions. I am just looking at the difference between . . . so the original for 2024/25 was $2,138,000, but the revised is $3,000,130. So, although there has been an increase from the original to what we are estimating for 2025/26 of $315,000, it doesn't actually match how much was needed in this past year. So, I'm just wondering, if that is a gap that was necessary, why don't we try to get the finances to the level that was needed in 2024/25 and 2025/26? Or has something changed which means that they do not need the same amount of support? So, if we could just get some clarification on that, that would be helpful. Thank you.

Mr. Chairman, I am going to now go on to Head 17, Department of Education.

Mr. Chairman, I'm going to start on page B-138 under 27095, School Attendance. So, Mr. Chairman, in the 2022/23 numbers it was $381,000, but the budgeted number was zero. And then for 2023/24 and 2024/25, there seems to be a discrepancy between what we budget and then what happens. There's a cost that happens afterwards. So, I'm just trying to figure out why is it that we budget for a low number and then the actual . . . there is a cost. Is there something that's changed in there that we could get some clarification on why that happens?

So, in that specific area, can the Minister give us some details on the employees who are involved with following up with attendance breaches? And the reason I asked that specifically is because if the budget number is zero and then the budget number happens, what is that difference coming from? Is it that these people are only hired on a part-time basis? If we could just get some clarity on what is causing that.

If the Minister could provide how many students in the last year were on . . . I guess what we would call prolonged absence, they were away from school for a significant amount of time. I don't know what the gauge is to make it an excessive absence, but if we could get some details on what that is and if there was a problem in primary and in secondary and middle school numbers that were impacted by students being away from school for a significant amount of time.

And what is the process for dealing with a student who is absent for a long time? Is there a check-in phase? Is this when we have these employees go out and knock on doors and actually find out where this student is? So, if we could get some details on that. And if they find that there are students who are absent on an ongoing basis, what is the way to resolve that? And if that is the case, how often are we able to resolve it?

Considering that it is mandatory for students to go to school, do we find that there is becoming more of a kind of grey area because there are students who are leaving school and going into home schooling and there are students who are leaving school and taking their GED? Has that caused a bit of difficulty for the system to be able to gauge where these students are and whether they are actually attending school? And when they transition away from what would be much easier to monitor to these other agencies, is that causing a significant increase in what is necessary for finding out where they are?

So, Mr. Chairman, the next area that I would like to look at is under Substitute Teachers. And that is 27160 still on [page] B-138.

Obviously this has been an issue that has been big for quite a few years now. We have had issues where there were not enough substitute teachers. I see that the Government is now giving money towards substitute teachers. But there seems to be an issue because each year there seems to be an increase in the amount of substitute teachers who are necessary. We have had several school closings, so you would think that now we would have more teachers who are potentially available as they shift from one school to the other. So, is there some issue within that transition that is causing a lack of teachers being available?

In 2023/24, Mr. Chairman, the original was $3,640,000 for this line item and then it was revised to $4,000,071. But the actual in this year's [Budget] Book shows $6,894,000, which is a significant difference from the original budgeted amount. And this is why I am bringing up the fact that there seems to be a significant need for substitute teachers compared to what I guess would be planned for. So, something has caused this this large increase.

I know that at one point part of it was changes in needing teachers who were going to be participating in some of the reform, but I believe that some of those changes happened last year so that there would not be as much strain. But with that said there's a significant increase in the budget from the original budget for 2024/25 and for 2025/26. Over $1 million is a significant number, but the actual revised number was $9 million.

Once again, we're budgeting for a lower number than what the actual is. So, I'm just looking at it and saying if that's the case, should we be anticipating that we are going to need more money, more support for substitute teachers? And although I would say everybody in education is going to be happy that there has been an increase, if the increase is not going to match the demand we're going to be in the same situation a year from now. And what I know is that all of us don't want to hear the stories of certain classes not having the actual amount of teachers who are necessary while we're going through the school year.

Continuing on with the thoughts on the substitute teacher, is there an opportunity to have a bigger reserve pool of substitute teachers? And if that is . . . it's difficult because you have to have the reserve pool so that if we run into this critical situation . . . but it would mean that you would have to have budgeted for this because it is going to happen. Teachers are human. So, they are going to fall sick. They're going to have to go on leave for certain things, and in that context, you keep ending up with this number.

So, I'm just asking if we could get some clarity on that and if the Ministry has thought about ways to solve this problem. Because this is not the first time that we've had this conversation and until we come up with something that's going to be able to resolve this, we probably will continue to be having this particular conversation.

So still under Substitute Teachers, 27160. I am going to ask a question on whether we are seeing more teachers on administrative leave, which is also impacting the number of substitute teachers who are needed. And in that context, giving us some clarity on what would cause that administrative leave. And if we are seeing teachers in that category, which is increasing the demand for substitute teachers, who's responsible for the investigation of a teacher being on administrative leave? What is the length of time? What is the, I guess, average length of time that an investigation has to go on?

For me, I do not want to be the . . . I don't want to say that I know the detail, because the information that I have is only based off of what some teachers have said is happening in certain schools, where teachers are out on administrative leave while that investigation goes on. We have to have a substitute teacher for an extended period of time in that classroom, which obviously impacts the students in that class because they are having to have a different teacher. And it causes that interruption. If there is a way for us to speed up that process, is that something that's being looked at so that we can make sure that our teachers . . . especially if at the end of the investigation the teacher is going right back into that classroom, is there a way that we can prevent long periods of time from the teacher being impacted and the students in that classroom being impacted and having to have a substitute teacher there during that period of time?

Mr. Chairman, I think it has become the buzzword now: "mental health." So, this is another one of those areas that potentially is what is impacting the need for more substitute teachers. We have just come through the COVID-19 period which would have had a significant impact not just on our students but also on our teacher population.

It was remote learning. It was learning completely different ways of being able to teach and then coming back from that period with real changes in the student population. There have been significant changes in how students behave coming out of that COVID-19 period. It has impacted society as a whole, but specifically, a lot of the children were impacted.

And then we are moving forward with an education reform, which also is causing interruptions—not just to the students, but also to teachers and teachers' lives, so that mental health impact potentially is another one of those issues that is causing teachers to be absent from school.

So if the Minister can give us some information on whether that is potentially one of the areas that he's seeing an increase in and I'm going to bring this point up that the services that they have to go to try to help them when they're going through this kind of issue, there is funding that comes under the government health that gives them a certain amount of detail. I think it's $97.00 is what they get.

The Chairman: Shadow Minister, I am going to pause you right there.

We are now at that hour where—

[Inaudible interjection]

The Chairman: —you are not recognised. Hold on.

We are now at that hour where it's now 12:30. For the benefit of the listening audience and Honourable Members, we are now in Committee of Supply for further consideration of the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for the year 2025/26

Shadow Minister of Education Ben Smith has been giving some very clinical questions to the Minister and shall resume after lunch.

So, I now . . . the Minister has to move.

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, I now move that we break for lunch and resume at 2:00 pm.

The Chairman: Thank you.

Proceedings in Committee suspended at 12:32 pm

Proceedings in Committee resumed at 2:04 pm

[Mr. Scott Pearman, Chairman]

COMMITTEE OF SUPPLY

ESTIMATES OF REVENUE AND EXPENDITURE FOR THE YEAR 2025/26

[Continuation thereon]

The Chairman: Good afternoon, Members.

We are in the Committee of Supply for Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for the budget year 2025/26.

Before the short lunch adjournment we heard from the former Minister of Education who was kindly presenting the heads for the Ministry of Education for the Minister of Education who sits in another place, namely Heads 16, 17 and 41. We then heard from the Honourable Shadow Minister for Education, the Member for constituency 8, Ben Smith, MP who was on his feet when we broke for lunch.

Does anyone wish to speak?

MP Smith, I recognise MP Smith.

Mr. Ben Smith: Thank you, Mr. Chairman, and good afternoon. I hope everyone had a good break away from the House.

When I left, I was continuing on with some discussion around substitute teachers on page B-138. It's 27160.

The Chairman: Thank you.

Mr. Ben Smith: And where I was leaving off was that there is a potential need for teachers to receive some assistance due to some kind of strong issues that happen within that particular job. It can be a stressful job, and we've had some added pressures with what has happened with COVID-19, and now we have education reform. There's been a change in the student population. There's been some negative interaction with some parents. These are all things, factors, that would have been impacting our teachers.

So my questioning was around the mental health side and the help that is provided for teachers who might need that help. And what I was discussing was the fact that under GEHI [Government Employee Health Insurance] they get 12 appointments for the year to receive something for mental health services. And it's about $97.00 that is provided, but the cost is approximately $250 per session. So considering that it is going to be difficult for somebody to be able to get the kind of support that they might need, I'm just wondering whether there has been any thought in moving to increase the amount of coverage that teachers, specifically, would have because of the changes in that specific job.

I know that the Fire Service and Police Service have a higher amount covered for these issues because they are in what is called kind of a high stress environment. So [I am] just looking to see if the Minister would be able to provide any details whether there's been any thought of increasing that specific help considering that it could be one of the factors that is leading to us having to rely so heavily on substitute teachers.

Mr. Chairman, my last question on substitute teachers is whether we can get some overall data on the usage so that we have an understanding of where this demand is coming from the most. Is it in our primary schools? Is it in our middle schools? Is it in our secondary schools? If we could get the numbers of how often substitute teachers are needed in each of these schools, I think it would give an indication of whether this is a bigger problem. And I asked before lunch whether there's been a plan put in place so that we can start to try to resolve this considering this has been a situation that has meant even when budgeted $3,000,000 we have spent up to $9 million to cover this specific line item.

So, Mr. Chairman, still on page B-138 I'm going to now move on to student services. And the first line that I'd like to look at is 27061, which is Behaviour Management. So I think all of us would agree that there has been, at least publicly, some issues of negative behaviour from some of our students. The shame of it is that a lot of times that's the piece that gets the headline instead of the fact that we have so many other students who are actually performing well and doing great things in their community. But when we do have issues with behaviour, I just want to make sure that we're doing everything we can to support these students. And my question is, we see there is additional funding, could we get some detail on what that additional funding will specifically help? Is that simply part of the increase in the salaries?

I think all of us would agree that teachers getting more money to do their job is something that all of us can applaud. And I think most people in this Chamber would agree that teachers probably deserve to get more than what they just received. But, obviously, we have to fit within the budget. But in saying that, wanting to know whether this increase is actually going to be supporting, making changes to that behaviour, or is it simply going to be just the financial change for the salaries in that area?

The next one that I'm looking at is going to be under Paraprofessionals. So that is 27079.

The Chairman: Yes.

Mr. Ben Smith: So, Mr. Chairman, there seems to be an increased use of paraprofessionals. I think it would be important for the listening public to understand what the difference between a paraprofessional and a teacher is, what the qualification difference is, what the expected support level is for paraprofessionals, and how we got to a situation where we need more in this particular area. And with that increased demand, what is the increased support training and maybe giving more qualifications to paraprofessionals if we are going to be relying more and more on them?

And, Mr. Chairman, still on the same page, 27066, which is vision. The Minister gave some specific answers in the brief regarding vision, but I have a question regarding . . . sometimes you're going to have a young student that potentially is having some issues in the classroom that are related to maybe needing some glasses, maybe not being able to see the board, maybe not being able to read the information that's provided for them. And we have to accept that in today's Bermuda sometimes their parent might not have the ability to go out and purchase glasses.

So, if the Minister can give us some information on whether there is a support system in place [and] what that process is. Because there are potentially some parents who are listening that could figure out how they might be able to help their child. And in that case, we want to make sure that we are giving them all the tools that it's going to take to have their best performance in the classroom.

Mr. Chairman, also on 27065, I went down one line. I should have actually dealt with this one first. Which was—

The Chairman: Which is Hearing.

Mr. Ben Smith: Which is Hearing.

The Chairman: Yes.

Mr. Ben Smith: I just have a question because I know specifically that Gilbert Institute was a school that actually had quite a bit of sign language that was happening in the school. There were some programmes there, specifically. And considering that that school is closing, if we could get some indication of whether that support that was in that specific school is now moving to a different school. And the teachers who would have had that extra expertise to sign, whether that has now been moved to a different school and potentially allows for the support of those students in that new school.

Mr. Chairman, there are several areas here that deal with students who have different learning abilities, different learning styles. We have autism here. We have learning support. There's a lot here to deal with students who might need extra support. The question that I ask is, from a data perspective, have we been recording the data? Do we see an increase in the need for this kind of support? It connects to what I was saying earlier about more paraprofessionals. So, are we seeing that our community is needing more support in these areas? Are our children are needing more support in these areas? Which obviously is an increased cost because the government schools are the ones that are really supplying this specific support to students.

Mr. Chairman, it's also an area where I'd like to know whether there are cases that happen where the government system potentially isn't able to provide the kind of support that is necessary for certain students. Some of this is going to be a behaviour issue, some of it is going to be specific learning areas. In that context, when that happens, what is the system to allow that child to get the level of support that is needed for them to progress?

And the reason I ask that is because there are a lot of cases where you find that parents are being burdened with heavy costs because they have to go and find that level of support. Sometimes it's because they are not comfortable with the support that's provided, but in some cases it's because the support isn't available at the amount that is necessary for that child to progress.

And this connects the dots to what I was talking about earlier when I said absenteeism. So if a child is pulled out of school to get this kind of support and they are no longer going to their regular classroom, is there a system in place to continue to follow that progress along that child's journey? Checking in with them to make sure that it isn't a child that's being left behind because they needed more support.

Still on the same page, B-138, I just have a quick question. Under 27040, Educational Stores.

The Chairman: Yes.

Mr. Ben Smith: So, I see the funding that is there for Educational Stores, which is going to be an area where teachers would be able to go and get their supplies for their classroom. I think all of us have heard times the teachers talk about not having certain supplies. There are cases where parents are actually pitching in in order to make sure that the class has the supplies that are needed. I guess the question is, is this a situation where the stores needs to have a bigger budget in order to cover these costs for the teachers? Because the demand on the teachers has gone up. Yes, it is good that they are getting an increase in their salary, but if they are also still continuing to spend money on supplies, it seems that that would not be a fair exchange. So if there is any indication that we can give, that, potentially, there needs to be more funding given to stores so that those supplies are available to the teachers, I think all of us applaud parents who are helping and giving in paper and supplies. But should it really be [their] responsibility?

Mr. Chairman, I'm moving on to page B-139. I'm going to start with 1704, which is Preschool. I just have a question. Because during the transition that's happening as we move from a three-tier system to a two-tier system and signature schools and parish primary schools, some of these changes are meaning that certain schools are closing and people are transferring. I was just wondering if the Minister can give us any feedback on St. Paul's Preschool, specifically, because I believe there is . . . as we move towards a parish primary school which will be working toward having a preschool attached to the parish primary school, is there going to be impact to that specific preschool? And if that is the case, when do we anticipate that happening?

So, Mr. Chairman, moving on to 1705, which is Primary Schools. In the next few weeks we will be seeing two more of our primary schools close, which will mean that there will be students who are transitioning to other schools. Would it be possible for the Minister to provide some details into where those students have moved? So, obviously, there would have been an application process for parents to choose different schools. There was quite a bit of, kind of, anxiety around certain students not being able to get what would have been their first choice.

So, with that being said, it would be important for us to have some details on that so that we have clarity whether all of those situations have been resolved. So that if a student has moved from one school to the next, are we seeing students moving from the closed primary school, public school, to another public school? Are we seeing them move to private school? Are we seeing them move overseas? Just if we could get some details on that data because at this point, we should probably have a good idea where those students are transitioning to.

Mr. Chairman, still on that same page, B-139. I'm looking at 1706, Special Schools. There was a bit in the brief about the Dame Marjorie Bean [Hope] Academy. There was a significant increase in the budget, which was 102 per cent. If we could just get a little bit more detail of the breakdown of what those expansions are. There was some information in the brief, but a little more detail on what that major increase entails.

And, Mr. Chairman, now we're going to move on to page B-140. And I'm looking under 1707 which is Middle Schools. So, there is, what I'm going to say is a bit of an anomaly. We know that we have schools that are closing. We know that we have schools that have closed. I think one of the things that becomes important when we're in the budget part of the debate is figuring out what happens when you close a school.

So, one of the major factors is that a lot of the finances for schools are going to be based off of teachers. So, when you close the school, a large amount will move out of that particular budget line. But there will be some residual which will be based off of the school facility, maybe some clean up. There is that part. But the part that I'm querying is that within 1707, Middle Schools, we have T. N. Tatem. So, Mr. Chairman, I could be corrected but I believe the T. N. Tatem closed in 2020. So, looking at the previous Budget Book in 2023/24, there was zero budgeted for T. N. Tatem, which would have made sense because it was closed. And then there was zero revised in the 2024/25 Budget Book.

The Chairman: Mm-hmm.

Mr. Ben Smith: But the actual in this year's [Budget] Book shows $1,723,000.

The Chairman: Right. That's page B-140 under 1707 and it's T. N. Tatem, line item 27590.

Mr. Ben Smith: Yes. Correct.

The Chairman: Yes. Okay. I'm with you.

Mr. Ben Smith: So we went, zero-zero, and then $1,723,000. Okay. So then that makes me then look at what happens next. So in 2024/25—

The Chairman: Mm-hmm.

Mr. Ben Smith: —there was also zero budgeted.

The Chairman: Right. The original.

Mr. Ben Smith: But the revised shows $1,361,000. So once again this is a closed school. Zero is budgeted. And then later on we are seeing a significant number being added to the budget. So, if we could get some clarity. And the reason that that would be important is because in the 2025/26 budget, it is estimated at zero again.

The Chairman: Yes. I see that.

Mr. Ben Smith: So, if you follow the way it has happened up until now, potentially, in next year's Budget Book, we're going to see a significant number that was not budgeted that appears for a school that's closed. So, I think we really need to get some clarity on how that happened because all indications that one of the major reasons that that facility closed was because of the health risks to students. So, there hasn't been an announcement that it's continued to be a school, so when we see a number of close to $2,000,000 being spent out of the Education budget in that facility, I think we need some clarity of how that happened.

So, Mr. Chairman,—

The Chairman: I see the point.

Mr. Ben Smith: —looking at Clearwater Middle School, which has obviously had its budget reduced, because that facility is closed. And it is $497,000 so I guess the first step would be, Can we get some clarity of what the $497,000 is in relation to when it comes to Clearwater Middle School? I would understand that the big number once again would have been moved out of that budget line because the teachers would not be there. The reason I'm asking that question is because if it phased down to zero, are we then going to see the budget change later down the line for that facility? And if it's being utilised for a different reason, I guess my question is, Should it be moved to a different Ministry rather than be sitting under the Ministry of Education?

The Chairman: And that's the $497,000 on page B-140 at line item 27530 for Clearwater?

Mr. Ben Smith: Yes, correct.

The Chairman: Okay. Thank you.

Mr. Ben Smith: Mr. Chairman, I'm moving on to 1708 which is the Senior Schools. So at this time, really what I'd like to see is, How are we assessing the data that is being collected from our senior schools? We have a significant budget. You've seen the budget increase for both schools. Obviously, there is need. But will we see the information made public? Right? So we need to improve our transparency. We need to understand that parents are making decisions on what school they are going to want to send their child to. And in this structure, it will be important for us to know what is happening in these particular schools. What is the data that allows you to know that your child will have a successful path in going to one of our senior secondary schools.

So, Mr. Chairman, still on page B-140, I'm moving on now to 1709 which is Curriculum and As-essment. So, given the increases in spending, I guess the question I would ask is, When will the national data assessment be made public to schools? Like, what is happening? If you do an assessment, is that information going to be made public so that people know what they're getting out of the assessments? And the reason for this is as we are going through the transition and trying to build confidence in the public education system, the more that we can show the improvement of the assessments, show the growth, I think builds that confidence in the community that things are moving in the correct direction.

Still on page B-140, I'm moving on to 1712, Early Childhood Education. Child Development [27175]. And there is an additional budget given to this area. We on the Opposition have full agreement that we should be putting more finances on the early development of our children. So we have no argument on increasing the budget for this area, but if we could get some details on what that increase is going to give us. Once again, a lot of times the increase within this budget seems to have been linked to increases in salaries. So, what we want to make sure is, is this also something that is going to increase the support, increase the programmes, and allow us to make sure that our students have everything that they need, necessary?

Mr. Chairman, moving on to page B-141. I'm just going to point out that there's a couple of pieces in here that I just wanted to know whether we could get a little more detail on. So Professional Services, the Minister gave a couple of headings that would be fitting in there. But there is an increase of $1.5 million. So, I am just wondering if we could get a little more detail of what that increase will actually be connected to.

And also, under the line of Energy, the increase, and once again, this is looking at it, there was the original of $920,000 under Energy.

The Chairman: Mm-hmm.

Mr. Ben Smith: But then you look at the revised, it was $764[,000] and now we are budgeting at $1.25 [million].

The Chairman: Yes.

Mr. Ben Smith: So the question is, If we were able to reduce the energy significantly in this last year, why are we budgeting such a higher number this time around? And if that is the case, are we looking at any ways of adding renewable energy to try to reduce this cost going forward?

Mr. Chairman, I'm now going to move on to page B-144, which would be the Performance Measures.

The Chairman: [Page] 144, B-144?

Mr. Ben Smith: [Page] B-144. Yes.

The Chairman: Thank you.

Mr. Ben Smith: So, starting at the . . . we're going to start at 1702, Student Services.

The Chairman: Mm-hmm.

Mr. Ben Smith: And the percentage of students for whom intervention plans were created with fidelity is 100 per cent. That's what the performance measure says here. So can the Minister please provide how many students required . . . Right? Because it's 100 per cent but 100 per cent of what? What was the total number that led to the 100 per cent who received it?

So now, 1704, which is Preschools.

The Chairman: Yes.

Mr. Ben Smith: Can the Minister provide details on the assessments that were done in preschools? Because the indication is that 90 per cent met the established standards for literacy and numeracy.

The Chairman: The target outcome.

Mr. Ben Smith: Yes.

The Chairman: Right.

Mr. Ben Smith: So this seems to indicate that there was only a small percentage of the preschool population that was flagged for needing interventions. Right? So, if the starting point of our education process is doing really well, at this 90 per cent rate,—

The Chairman: Mm-hmm.

Mr. Ben Smith: —it would determine that once they are handed off to primary school, we are actually in a good position. Because this assessment is saying that. So, if we can get some more detail on what that assessment is. And if it is, in actual fact, getting us that level of detail so that we know who is going to need more help, more support, more intervention when they get into the primary school.

Now, Mr. Chairman, moving on to primary schools. So now we are on page B-145.

The Chairman: Yes, page B-145.

Mr. Ben Smith: Yes, for Primary Schools, 1705.

The Chairman: Yes.

Mr. Ben Smith: The measure[/indicator] says P4 to P6 achieving targeted growth for reading. Only 60 per cent achievement after a target of 65 per cent.

The Chairman: Mm-hmm.

Mr. Ben Smith: So can the Minister please give an indication of the numbers? The assessment is looking at three or higher. So what is the number? Like, explain to us what one is, what two is, what three is, how high up does it go? So that we have an understanding. Because the number just says “3”, we don't really know. And I think for the listening audience it would be important to know what that “3”—

The Chairman: What “3” is out of.

Mr. Ben Smith: Yes. What does that mean?

The Chairman: I understand.

Mr. Ben Smith: And then what percentage is reaching the highest number? What percentage is reaching the lowest number? Because this is simply talking about what is reaching what was the target? And the percentage of people reaching the target was 60 per cent. So, what are those other indicators so that we have the data to assess how the primary schools are actually moving towards the target growth in reading? Which I think all of us will agree is extremely important.

Mr. Chairman, now on to Middle Schools, 1707, still on page B-145.

The Chairman: Yes, the bottom box.

Mr. Ben Smith: So, in here it talks about students who have taken the IGCSE [International General Certificate of Secondary Education] at this stage at Middle School. And it says “Students passing IGCSEs (English and Math),” and it is at 85 per cent.

The Chairman: Mm-hmm.

Mr. Ben Smith: My question is, What percentage of students in middle school are taking these exams so that we have an understanding of what portion of the student population is in this category that is getting to this level early and being able to get there at this 85 per cent mark? And at the same time, would it be possible for us to get what percentage took the City & Guild's assessment in middle school. So, once again, it gives us an idea of what percentage of the student population in middle schools are actually taking these exams. Because the performance measure is only on the people in that successful area.

The Chairman: Yes.

Mr. Ben Smith: So now we are going to turn to page B-146, and we are moving on to secondary schools. So this is 1708, Secondary Schools. And following on the same kind of line that I was on previously, you know, it says Students passing IGCSE. So, what percentage of the student population is taking the IGCSE?

The Chairman: So we are now at page B-146? Yes?

Mr. Ben Smith: Yes, correct.

The Chairman: Unit 1708, this is unit 1708?

Mr. Ben Smith: Yes.

The Chairman: Okay.

Mr. Ben Smith: How many IGCSE exams are available to the students? Right? Because some people would have taken those exams in middle school in English and math, so if we could get an indication whether there are multiple other subjects that would then be available to them in secondary schools so that they can continue on that path of success. So, if we could get some more details on that I think that would be helpful.

There's also a line in here that talks about students in Advanced Placement Exams. So, if we could get an indication of the percentage of students in secondary school that are able to take these Advanced Placement Exams, because we have the indication of what happens once they're there, but what portion of the student population is actually having access to these?

The Chairman: Mm-hmm.

[Pause]

Mr. Ben Smith: Give me a minute.

The Chairman: Yes.

While the Honourable Shadow Minister is looking at his notes, just to remind the listening public that we are in the Committee of Supply for Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for the year 2025/26. This afternoon's debate, continuing from this morning, is on the Ministry of Education. Specifically, Heads 16, 17 and Head 41 for the Bermuda College. We are currently hearing questions from the Honourable Shadow Minister for Education, Ben Smith MP, of constituency [8], who was asking questions of the Honourable Minister and former Minister for Education, Diallo Rabain.

Shadow Minister, you have the floor.

Mr. Ben Smith: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. Chairman, I'm now going to move on to [page] B-147, Early Childhood Education. It is 1712. So considering the increase in resources that has been given, why is the forecast of assessments dropping from 600 screenings in 2024/25 to 400 in 2025/26? I know that we have a declining birth rate. Is this an indication that we don't have as many students? Or is it that we found that we cannot reach that higher number, so we've reduced the number that we are actually going to try to get the assessments on?

Can the Minister provide details on . . . even for this past year it was that the target of 600 ended up being revised. So obviously there was a target of 600, it's moved down to 352, and now the new target becomes 400. So just if we could get some information on why those changes happen and what does the Minister think that indicates?

Mr. Chairman, I would also like to know . . . there is a performance measure here for Targets of gaining knowledge at 50 per cent. Could the Minister let us know whether this is because there's fewer people that are participating, or they're not completing it. Like how, why is that number at 50 per cent for gaining the knowledge that is being provided? If you could give some clarity on what that is.

The Chairman: This is still a page B-147, business unit 1712, the second box down?

Mr. Ben Smith: Correct.

The Chairman: Yes.

Mr. Ben Smith: And considering that early intervention is going to be really important in making sure that we are giving the support to students on their educational journey, the number seems to be low for the people that are receiving the intervention. I could be wrong, so if the Minister could give us kind of information on that. I know that there have been issues in the past where not everybody is doing the follow-up on the parent's side. And I know that that has been a frustration.

It's part of the overall conversation where even in the meeting that we had with the Reform Unit, you know, we can talk about trying to get our students to the level that is necessary . . . Just a few minutes ago I was talking about the IGCSE. And I know that the Ministry provided information to parents, and I believe it was 120-something people who it should have been available to, and the number of people who actually participated was significantly lower than that number.

So even though part of what we are talking about is trying to give an increase of support, an increase financially, trying to do everything that we can, it is important that we understand that there are multiple steps to this. Our community has to be in agreement and, specifically, our parents are going to have to make sure that they are doing everything they can to help their student to reach the levels. It is not going to just be the responsibility of the parents . . . I mean of the teachers. It is not going to just be the responsibility of the principals. And it cannot only be the responsibility of the Minister of Education. Everybody's going to have to be part of this. So, as we ask for more support, part of it is that people are going to have to ask for the support and then participate when the support is given.

So, Mr. Chairman, I'm now just going to go to Capital Estimates, so page C-4.

The Chairman: Yes.

Mr. Ben Smith: And it's going to come under . . . it's still under the head of Education—

The Chairman: Mm-hmm.

Mr. Ben Smith: —but line item is 75008.

The Chairman: Education Minor Works.

Mr. Ben Smith: Minor Works.

The Chairman: Yes.

Mr. Ben Smith: So, would the Minister be able to give us a breakdown of the schools that would be receiving and just an indication of what potential Minor Works are going to be needed at these facilities? You know, as the school year goes through there are certain things that would have been noticed, brought to everyone's attention that certain things are breaking down. It would be just good to have an idea of what are the items that are going to have to be fixed, corrected, so that when the new school year starts those things have happened.

Line item 75152, which is School Safety. Just [that] there seems to be a reduction in this particular number, and I'm not sure whether that's because the funding is actually in a different line item. I just want to know, considering that I think the Minister in another part, another line, actually talked about how we are beefing up cameras and all the rest of it. This looks like it's not giving the support. So, I'm just trying to figure out, is it that . . . Listen, I think that everybody here would agree that we want to make sure that our students and definitely our teachers are feeling safe when they're at school during the day. And so anything that we can give from a technology standpoint, I fully support what the Minister said in the brief about some of those technologies that are being brought in to make sure that our students are safe. But just here, seeing that reduced number, maybe there is something that I'm missing in why that particular piece has happened. And have all schools received updated safety audits? If the Minister can let us know that.

So, line item 75284, School Bathroom Renovations.

The Chairman: Mm-hmm.

Mr. Ben Smith: Now which schools will have renovated bathrooms with the $125,000 that is allocated? Is this a situation where these are problems that have been kind of brought to everyone's attention this year? Or is this just scheduled that happens on an ongoing basis? Are these major problems? I know that one of the schools that is closing had a major bathroom issue which now obviously doesn't become a problem because the school will be closed. But is the Minister aware that there are any issues like that in some of these other schools, and whether a higher number of resources have to be given to make sure that our schools are up to the level that is necessary for our students in the upcoming year?

So, Mr. Chairman, I'm now going to move on to Head 41, the Bermuda College. As the Bermuda College is . . . I think we learned in a debate quite some time ago they are self-sufficient. And it's important they are self-sufficient. And I believe that that's one of the reasons that the Minister did not give a lot of detail on it. And it's not because he doesn't believe in the College, it's simply because it's . . . they are an independent and it has to be that way for a lot of reasons. And especially when we're talking about finances. We went through this process about the auditing process. In order for them to reach certain certifications, they have to be independent from, kind of, government interference. And for that reason, I believe that's why we are where we are with that.

So just looking at a couple of items that potentially we could get some, just some information on, I think some data would be helpful. Which is, are we able to get some kind of performance indicators from what's coming out of the college? We are all excited that we are having our young people have an opportunity to go to Bermuda College. Bermuda College is now . . . it has opportunities for people to get degrees here. And it's lined up with, you know, colleges and universities all over the world now that are allowing our students to continue their education journey. But if the Minister can give us some detail on students entering Bermuda College so as a graduating year goes by, we will see enrolment in the Bermuda College coming out of our private schools. They will be coming out of our public schools. They will be coming out of our home schools. So, if we could get some numbers on where they are coming from into Bermuda College, specifically.

And then if the Minister can give us some information on whether the Bermuda College has put in a system for remedial courses to actually get some of our students on track so that eventually they can go overseas. Because, once again, it's all about how do we move our students from each step to get them to the end destination?

One of the major factors in the discussion that we had with the Reform Unit was that it's about kind of cutting down on the number of transitions that a student has to go through, through their career. And that is one of the major reasons why the Government is moving towards phasing out middle schools. Because it cuts that down. And when you look at the private education in Bermuda, a lot of times everything is done in one facility. Right? They move from one to the next. So, they've cut down on those transitions. Everything that we are doing right now should be leading to that.

But I think a major question that is going to come out of this debate—and I am going to put this under the general education line—is going to be: What is the estimated timeline for this reform to be completed? I know it's a moving target. I understand it's a moving target. But as we are going through it, our students are having to go through the journey with us. So every time an interruption happens . . . I just stated that you're cutting down on transitions. But we're moving students as you close a school which means that sometimes they've added a transition. So understanding that that could have an impact on that student's journey, it would be important for us to do everything we can to clarify, communicate to the population that things are being put in place to cut down on the number of times that that happens.

With that, Mr. Chairman, I'll take my seat and get some responses from the Minister.

The Chairman: Thank you, Honourable Member for constituency 8.

Minister, do you wish to address some of those questions, or should I see if other people on the floor have questions first? I'm happy to be guided by you.

[Inaudible interjection]

The Chairman: Yes, please. Please proceed, Minister, you have the floor.

[Crosstalk]

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: I will endeavour to answer now. I'm looking at the . . . this technology is just so wonderful.

[Laughter]

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: I'm looking at the 50 questions that have come from here, from this session this morning. And I will begin.

Mr. Chairman, a question asked was, Has the Ministry tracked outcomes from investments in scholarships? And the answer is, the Ministry tracks completion and graduation of students who receive scholarships. Longer term outcomes tend to be anecdotal and could be better measured. There was a programme review previously which resulted in refocusing on areas of greatest need. Most of our scholarships are of financial need; however, as the post-secondary landscape and opportunities for students evolve, a fresh programme evaluation is due.

The next question I have here is, Can the Minister provide the breakdown of the number of people receiving scholarships and the different areas to get these awards from? And it has their number from public-private home schools, mature students, et cetera. I do know that there is a very specific scholarship for . . . it used to be called the Mature Student . . . I can't remember the name of it. They changed the name, but it used to be called the Mature Student, and you have to be over a certain age to get that. So that's definitely one specifically for students.

And I will recognise in one of my last acts as the Minister, we put in place the ability for further education awards. We set aside 10 of them to go towards master's degrees, so that was an older cohort of students as well. We also did open that up to students who were doing online studies. So there is, as it is stated there, there is a need to do some more evaluation, probably revised evaluations on that. But here the answer, specifically to your question is, at this time the information is not categorised that way, but it will be passed on to the Minister and that could be part of the evaluation review. It could be an indicator for the demographics, exactly as I just said.

The next question, What are the specific deliverables required for education reform? There is a wide scope of deliverables and the statement of work, inclusive of deliverables, can be found on the MOED [Ministry of Education] website on the Ministry tab and reports. I will say that I was made aware of this just earlier this week. And I was surprised that that had been posted up. So, if you did want to go there and look, the actual IU deliverables and their assessment of what needs to happen within the department, within the Ministry, within our schools to actually move the process of reform ahead, it is actually all listed there. And so, I would encourage [you] to actually just take a look at that.

What feedback has been given and [what] adjustments have been made? A review audit process has been underway now for the last few months. The co-leads of each work stream have presented to the Minister and the permanent secretary, summarising what work has been accomplished to date, acknowledging achievements, identified risk, impact statements for students and teachers, and identifying next steps.

In addition to the presentation from the ERU [Education Reform Unit] co-leads, the Minister is meeting with school transformation teams to gather more insight on what has gone well, what can be improved, and lessons learned. The Minister has also met with school boards and PTA presidents to gain invaluable insights from their vantage point. Principals and DoE [Department of Education] staff will also be provided with similar opportunities to provide feedback. Once this assessment is complete and analysis completed, adjustments will be made.

Grants. Does the revised figure for grants on page B-135 mean that there is a gap or is less support needed? The revised, robust figure of $3,130 [million] provides additional funding for critical partners of education. External grants ensure that lifelong learning is embedded in the community for our residents.

And the next question is about school attendance. Why was a low number budgeted for? And the answer here: The officers are sitting in business unit 27095 but budgeted for in 27090. This needs to be transferred to the latter business unit. I want to say I think I remember this happened last budget. And so, as you know, sometimes the [Budget] Book will take, I believe, three cycles to catch up fully.

School attendance. How many students had prolonged absences last year? It says here: The information is collected; however, we don't have it at our fingertips. But I am sure that that could be provided at some point in the future, perhaps a ministerial question to the Senate.

Attendance. What is the process when dealing with students with prolonged absences? The first line of contact is the school as they know the students and there is follow-up by attendance officers. School counsellors engage parents to determine underlying problems. Long absences are often as a result of complex issues such as mental health, trauma, family problems, learning difficulties, et cetera. The Ministry is working with the department for an improved strategy, but a holistic approach is needed including with Financial Assistance and DCFS [Department of Child and Family Services]. The issue is beyond just an attendance issue.

Substitute teachers. (Everyone's favourite topic.) Is there an issue in the transition of schools leading to the lack of substitutes available? Teachers who are working in the closing schools are reallocated to fill vacancies across the system. Substitutes are hired to cover long-term absences due to acting positions, reassignments, long-term sick, administrative leaves, and maternity leaves, et cetera. So I believe what we are saying is, those teachers are being allocated to positions. And you would have heard me say numerous times in the past, that although we have . . . education is different now, and it requires much more support. And some of these positions . . . and part of the reason—contrary to popular belief of saying that we just have too many schools—is because it creates so many gaps for so little . . . we have so little students it creates gaps that we cannot fill. So those teachers would have been taken to fill gaps that currently existed so we can provide better services for the students who are within the schools.

So, again, substitute teachers. As funds for [substitutes] increase every year, should it be anticipated that more money is needed for substitute teachers? And the answer we have here: Staffing schools that have closed or which are closing have been placed in schools where vacancies, and at parish schools that have expanded their staffing. Yearly staffing vacancies are a result of mandatory retirements, early retirements, and resignations. Substitutes are deployed to meet the demand for coverage for reassignments, staff vacancies, staff who are on leave, and to cover staff using negotiated leave entitlements. I'm not sure if . . . again, if you recall when the CBA [collective bargaining agreement] was renegotiated, teachers actually have more personal leave now built into that. And they actually get to carry personal leave over . . . that they don't use.

Substitute teachers. Should there be a reserve of substitute teachers? There is a reserve of substitutes, and these substitutes are either allocated subs, reporting to school on a daily basis, short-term subs and/or day-to-day substitutes.

Again, substitute teachers. How is the substitute problem going to be resolved by the Ministry? The Department of Education is working to minimise the use of long-term [substitutes] by reducing the number of assignments and acting positions. This will essentially free substitutes to be available to use as day-to-day substitutes to provide coverage for schools.

Next question. (I just see the section here.) Are more teachers on admin leave creating the need for more substitute teachers? What would cause admin leave and can admin time be sped up? There is no knowledge that says the demand for substitutes is due to admin leave. And where such issues arise, they could be for a myriad of issues. Administrative leave is a personnel matter and so it would be inappropriate for me to comment on the exact reasons of why persons would be on admin leave. Investigations for admin leave are external and conducted by the Department of Child and Family Services. The time frame cannot be defined, and it all depends on the circumstances of the investigation. I would get that because it was a constant frustration. Some things go really quickly, some things take an extended period of time, unfortunately, depending on the circumstances.

Is mental health of teachers impacting the number of substitute teachers? As a community we need to reduce the stigma for mental health issues. But as mental health is a health issue, this is sensitive, personal information and staff are not required to disclose this information to the department. That being said, staff who need access to services may access services at EAP [Employee Assistance Programme] at no cost.

Substitute teachers. How often and at what level [are] substitute teachers most needed so that a plan can be put in place to resolve these issues? Because absences occur daily, substitutes can be used every day. Additionally, per the collective bargaining agreement, there has been an increase in the number of personal days (which I mentioned) and leave entitlement that teachers are entitled to, resulting in an increase in the need for more substitutes.

Question: Is there any move to increase health insurance coverage for teachers? It has: EAP is at no cost.

Behavioural management. What are [the] additional funds for? Is this [for] salaries only? The additional funds are for training and development for staff and teachers, additional personnel for ET services and salary increases.

A question here on paraprofessionals. What are the differences between a teacher and a paraprofessional? Why do we need so many more paraprofessionals? The difference between a paraprofessional and a teacher is that a teacher has a degree and certification to teach. Paraprofessionals are used to support children. Paraprofessionals are not responsible for teaching but get direct instruction from the teacher on how to support students with what is to be taught.

Paraprofessionals, again. Is there more training for paraprofessionals if they're going to be relied on more and more? Again, paraprofessionals are not responsible for teaching and learning and their role is to provide support for students.

Vision. What supports are provided for students with visual impairments, et cetera. For example, glasses. The system has a peripatetic vision teacher who services students. And for the listening public, peripatetic just means a teacher who moves from school to school.

Hearing. Gilbert [Institute] was the designated school for deaf and hard of hearing. Is the support moving to another school along with teachers with skills such as ASL? The designated teacher provides services for students throughout the system. Again, peripatetic who would move from school to school.

Is there an increase in the areas of disability? There is not an increase in the areas of disabilities, but an increase in the number of students who are being identified with disabilities.

Are there any cases where the Government cannot provide sufficient assistance, and if so, what is the system to allow that child to get the support to allow them to progress, i.e., parents being burdened with heavy costs? Student needs are increasing due to more students being diagnosed, especially students with developmental delayed disabilities. Well, I think we will be able to get back to that one. I see that there's some typing going on there.

Educational stores. Does stores need a bigger budget to supply schools? Stores's existing budget covers basic supplies. As new items are requested, they will . . . the budget will need to be increased. Okay.

Preschool. What is happening with St. Paul's Preschool? Will it be attached to a parish primary school? St. Paul's Preschool will be relocated to Paget Primary in September 2025.

Primary schools. Three school closures. Can the Minister provide details on where those students have moved—another public school, private school or overseas? Most of the students are being transitioned to their choice of school within the BPSS. Only two students have confirmed at this time for private school from the total enrolment at Gilbert and Prospect. Not bad.

Dame. There was a 100 per cent increase in the Dame budget. Can we please get a breakdown of these increases? The increase in this budget will be allocated for consultant services for training and development.

Middle schools. Why are there dollars now for T. N. Tatem when it is closed—$1.7 million. Page B-140. (A question I used to ask on a regular basis.) This represents staff whose salaries are attached to T. N. Tatem [though] they are no longer [there, they are] in other schools. Just as a quick explanation to the public, Government processes sometimes don't go as fast as we think . . . as we would like them to . . . And there are still . . . [when] you think of it, there are still salaries attached to that line item although those teachers are working in other places. And it's a matter . . . it's literally a paperwork exercise to move them from that line item to the schools they are at now. And until that process is completed, that will continuously show up there. I'm surprised we don't have a . . . still have a Heron Bay one there.

Middle schools. Why was there a half a million dollar budget for Clearwater when the school is closed? Same, that would be the same answer for that.

(Let me see if there was anything else added.)

Senior schools. Are we collecting and assessing data from our senior schools? We collect data via PowerSchool, our student management system. Data [is] collected for grades, courses, credits, GPA, attendance, behaviour, and signature of choice. (And then I have another note here.) Data is being collected via the PowerSchool-related modules, i. e., Attendance in PowerSchool Attendance module. Some senior school data is tracked in PowerSchool Naviance, as well as PowerSchool SIS. We are currently engaged in [PowerSchool] Enterprise reporting and for every building and every student within the BPS.

Currently, reports are being generated on an ad hoc basis, as-needed basis. I can say, if I . . . a point of personal privilege, I can say that as I have a student at CedarBridge. Literally, my phone buzzes if she's tardy, if she's late for class, on a real-time basis. And then it would update and say, Oh no, she is in class. Because if you're not there within five minutes, then you get marked automatically. But there could be something going wrong with the scanner. So, I find that really, really useful that it tracks in real time and I'm able to view that. It also tracks assignments, whether they have been handed in, whether they're late. It updates grades on a regular basis. So, it actually is a really powerful tool that I encourage all parents to take advantage of. Especially on your phone, and you're able to check and see what's going on, on a real-time basis like that.

The Chairman: I was just going to ask, Minister, that's just something you have as a parent, not something you have as the former Minister of Education.

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Yes. It is something that I have as a parent—

The Chairman: Yes.

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: —and all parents have access to PowerSchool, to Schoology and the like. And you actually get that access when your child starts at the . . . I want to say the preschool level. And that will follow you through until the end of your school . . . your child's enrolment.

CNA. When will national data assessment . . . Okay. I'm still waiting for that one.

CDP, [Child Development Programme] early years. Can we get details on what the increase will give us? Will it increase supports and programmes? There are several key positions that are vacant including supervisory posts of psychologists, screening, programme manager, and early intervention supervisor. These positions are required to lead developing coach staff in the early intervention programme, development screening programme and the assessment programme. Additional personnel are needed to address the existing wait-list for developmental assessment and early intervention. This will increase support, help develop programmes and maintain accreditation standards.

Professional Services. What is the increase for professional services connected to? A big portion of funding for this is for school psychology, Dame, and [the] Child Development Programme [CDP].

CDP Professional Services include outsource services for family counselling and developmental assessments for young children on the wait-list to determine what conditions and diagnosis may present to provide individualised interventions, family support, and future school needs.

CDP Professional Services also include social media campaigns to inform public about services and educate community about developmental milestones, early intervention and CDP services.

The question is: Why is there such an increase in energy? Are we looking at renewable energy to save dollars? A significant portion of the estimated cost is for the Department of Education's new office location.

On page B-144, Performance Measures. How many students required intervention plans? There are currently 162 students who have an intervention plan across the Bermuda public school system.

Please give details on assessments for pre-school and what level of detail goes into about what students need for interventions? Utilising the Creative Curriculum Assessments, 92 per cent of preschoolers met the standard for assessments for social, emotional, physical, and cognitive development.

Primary schools. What percentage of students are reaching the highest and lowest numbers for primary school? And that data can be shared later. It's not something that we can pull together right now. (Okay, the answer just disappeared.)

Middle schools. How many students took the City & Guilds in middle school? The number of students in middle school who took City and Guilds for English is 314 and 338 took math.

Secondary school. What percentage of student population is taking IGCSEs? An estimated 80 per cent of our students at the senior level are taking IGCSEs. This will also vary 80 [per cent] to 90 per cent across the three required disciplines in math, language arts and science. And just as a quick add on to that, a requirement for graduation is a pass in math, English language, and science of an international exam. So, it may be IGCSE, it maybe City & Guilds, or maybe something else, but that is a requirement for graduation.

How many IGCSEs are available in secondary school? The IGCSE offerings include English, math biology, chemistry, physics, geography, global studies, French, Spanish, information technologies. And I will add one here because my daughter is sitting her IGCSE in history today.

[Laughter]

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: The required IGCSEs are math, language arts, and science.

Secondary schools. What is the percentage of students who are able to take the AP exams? What percentage of students have access to AP exams? The percentage of students who take AP exams are generally those selected in the top 10 per cent. Once again, access to AP exams are for all students who demonstrate proficiency in AP. Those students are generally those students who are in the top 10 per cent of their chosen AP subject. Again, my daughter just sat her English Literature AP exam.

Early Child Education. Why does the forecast of assessments drop? And we're talking about early child education. Regarding development screenings, the target is 200 per year per individual early childhood screening specialist. The forecast changed due to the decrease in staff halfway through the year. Additionally, CDP relocated twice in the last fiscal year and the space for providing services to the public has decreased. This performance measure is on pause due to staffing vacancies. And I do think I recall mentioning that it had dropped to 2 ½ versus three in the brief.

If you can provide details on why the target of 600 keeps changing. The 600 is based on 200 screening per staff member. In the early beginning of the year, we had three.

Early childhood screening specialists. One staff member left in the middle so the target was changed. Additionally, our service space has been temporarily changed and has decreased in available spaces from four to two rooms.

Capital estimates. What are the minor works needed for and which schools? We are replacing existing wax floor finishes on non-skid, non-wax vinyl flooring which will reduce operational costs and ensure safety. Ceilings that have also been deemed defective will be replaced with new ceiling grids and ceiling tile. These works were identified during our school building inspections.

Is there a reduction in safety audits? Safety audits are currently being undertaken by the Bermuda Police Service and existing cameras are dated and require updating.

Which schools will have bathrooms renovated? Are these new issues or scheduled improvements? Paget Primary infant block bathrooms to be renovated to accommodate St. Paul's preschool students for September 2025. These issues are improvements.

Bermuda College. Are we able to get some performance indicators for the Bermuda College? Yes, we can have that information. That information can be provided on request.

Are there remedial steps, programmes, at Bermuda College to enable students to get better prepared to go abroad? Yes. Bermuda College has always offered college prep courses across mathematics, English, and the pure sciences to prepare students to engage at college-level coursework needed to complete the associate's degree study.

Since 2020, the college has implemented corequisite courses in mathematics and English. Corequisite courses support acceleration through the prep stage by incorporating preparatory instruction on the college coursework. And just as an add-on to that, all students who attend the Bermuda College are required to take what they call the CD . . . it's an entrance exam that they take which measures your math, how . . . your ability for math and English. And then you would be categorised based on that. And that will determine whether you go into, say, remedial English before you do college work. Or if you go directly into college work. So, they always have that in place to ensure that you are not overwhelmed and you are at the grade that you should be at at the college. Again, I know I've . . . I know someone who just had to take the test.

[Laughter]

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: And it's . . . because it is also for the dual enrolment programme, because they are coming in younger, they are required to do that as well.

And I believe that was it. I'll scroll back up. I think there was one thing.

[Pause]

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Mr. Chairman, I believe that is it for all of the questions. Ah, wait a minute. Here this one this hasn't been turned to green.

Are there cases where Government cannot provide sufficient assistance? Students' needs are increasing due to more students being diagnosed . . . oh no. That's . . . we are still waiting for the typing on that.

But thank you, Mr. Chairman. I will take my seat—

The Chairman: Thank you, Minister.

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: —and if anyone else—

The Chairman: We have been hearing from the Honourable Minister Diallo Rabain, former Minister for Education.

There is about 45 minutes left in the debate. Does any Member have . . . I see the Honourable—

[Inaudible interjection]

The Chairman: Oh, okay.

Yes, I see the Honourable Member for constituency [10]. MP King, you have the floor.

Mr. Robert King: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

I just have a couple of questions as relates to the performance measures, page B-141, Current Account Estimates. There is . . . it's documented that the salaries have increased by $2,287,000. And rightly so. Teachers should be compensated for the hard work that they do to ensure that our children have the best possible education to become productive citizens in the future. I say that to compare the increase in salaries with the performance measures on page B-145, Head 17, business unit 1707, performance measures as it relates to middle schools. The performance measure target is 60 per cent. And I'm having a hard time reconciling that 60 per cent would be their target when we are trying to challenge the children to do the best that they possibly can. So, I'm wondering how we arrived at 60 per cent instead of a higher number.

The Chairman: And MP, that is page B-145—

Mr. Robert King: That's correct.

The Chairman: —business unit 1707, [regarding] middle schools. And the target outcome figure on the right-hand side. Is that correct?

Mr. Robert King: That is correct.

The Chairman: Thank you. Please continue.

Mr. Robert King: I'll draw your attention as well to page B-146, Performance Measure, business unit 1708, Senior Schools. Target outcome [is] 55 per cent. Student scoring is three or higher for writing. Target growth [is] 50 per cent. So, if we are trying to challenge our children, as I said before, to improve, to excel, I'm not understanding how the performance measures would be lower and not, you know, be raised to 75 per cent or something higher so that we are ascribing towards excellence as opposed to mediocrity. Especially when people are being properly compensated.

I draw your attention to page B-147, business unit 1712, Early Childhood—Families who gain, knowledge, skills and tools through participation in Parent Education Classes/Groups. Understanding that these groups and classes are to address the criminogenic risk needs of at-risk families, I'm not understanding why actual outcome [for] 2023/24 is 82 per cent and then drops to 50 per cent for the target outcome for 2025/26, understanding that this is a critical area of need and will impact on the success of children either, you know, being exposed to increased risk of entering the criminal justice system, or excelling and being free of it. Those are my questions and submissions.

Thank you.

The Chairman: Thank you, Honourable Member.

Does any other Honourable Member wish to contribute to the debate?

I recognise the Honourable Member for constituency 8.

MP Ben Smith, you have the floor.

Mr. Ben Smith: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

And I thank the Minister for the answers he provided. To this point, some of the answers made me think of follow-up questions to some of those answers. So, on page B-140, I'm just going to circle back to my question on those T. N. Tatem numbers.

I understand that the Minister pointed out that this seems to be an admin with the book issue and moving the cost, but the school has been closed since 2020, so when can we expect for this to be cleaned up? It shouldn't still be showing up in a book five years later. If that number belongs somewhere else, then it should be moved to that area. It is . . . we're here to go through these numbers and for T. N. Tatem to have numbers in the millions attached to it, does not make sense in this debate.

So, really, even if we can't . . . to me, either we are going to have a date of when we should see it removed from the [Budget] Book, but I also think that there should be an opportunity for us to know when that money was spent, where is it? If it's not in T. N. Tatem, where is it? Right? Like, we have to be able to reconcile when you spend $1.3 million, $1.7 million and the budget line was zero, where did that money go? Like, it is impossible for us to not know where close to $2,000,000 one year and close to $1.5 [million] another year has gone. There is no possible way that's in the best interest of the community for us to not be able to know where that money is.

Mr. Chairman, also on page B-140, I just want to follow up on my questions on child development. It seems like the response from the Minister indicated that there were several key positions that are not filled. If the Minister could give us some clarity when the expectation of these positions being filled will be. Considering that this seems to be a critical role, and to not have the people in these positions . . . I believe one of them was a psychologist and, you know, people for the assessments. This leaves a gap that we can't afford to have.

And when you look at the fact that the number was 600 and it was 200 people per person, I guess my next question is, Is that a good number for one to have to deal with 200? Or should we really be trying to move the number, which is now reduced below three, to a number more like five or six so that the workload can be spread, increase the speed of the assessments, so that we can provide what is necessary to these students as quickly as possible so that their pathway to success happens faster. There's no way that we should be talking about that many people missing in such a critical area.

And I know that I've had this debate with the Minister before when it comes to the assessments. I think there is this early intervention that will help a child on its pathway. And one of the things, and this is a bit of a public service announcement, these assessments are available to babies for free. And multiple parents are not taking this opportunity up.

Once again, if the Government is providing the service and the service is free, understand, if your child does not get assessed, they are not getting the support that is necessary. And the earlier the assessment happens, and the earlier you find that the intervention is needed, the support can be given. You can't then blame the system that your child didn't get the support if you didn't participate in the assessment. There are too many times that the child shows up in primary one and they should have been assessed three years earlier and now the work that that teacher has to deal with is significantly higher. And that child now is set up in a negative spot when really they should have been prepared better if that assessment had been done.

But, Mr. Chairman, one of the questions that I've always asked is . . . that a lot of times those early assessments come under Health. I understand that they come under Health because it's a baby and it's that health issue. But the education outcome is so connected to it, my suggestion, I believe that [at] some point we are going to have to look at making that mandatory. We are . . . we say that it's mandatory for a child to go to school. And we actually mandate what age they have to go to the school up until. But considering that this is having a major impact on a child's development going forward, and now we are finding out down the road that a lot of our young men who are being incarcerated had learning disabilities. They had issues that were . . . that if they had been identified earlier, they might have had the support which might have put them on a different trajectory.

So this could be our opportunity to say, you know what, if parents are not going to be responsible for going in and getting the assessment so that the help can be given, and the country is going to be impacted down the road, we should mandate that they have to get that assessment so that we can give that child the best opportunity for success.

Thank you.

The Chairman: Thank you, Honourable Member.

Is there any other Honourable Member who wishes to contribute to the debate?

Honourable Member DeCouto, I actually saw someone standing behind you first. I apologise.

So, it's MP King, Honourable Member for constituency [10], you have the floor.

Mr. Robert King: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

I just have one more question that follows on from what my colleague was expressing about assessments. Page B-147, Performance Measures, Head 17, Department of Education. Percentage of clients assigned to or eligible for early intervention who receive early intervention services. Actual outcome [for] 2023/24 [was] 100 per cent. Target outcome for the 2025/26 is 50 per cent. And as my colleague said, early childhood education and development is critical. So, I want to understand, and the people of Bermuda want to understand why the target would be less by 50 per cent, understanding that this is a critical area of need.

Thank you.

The Chairman: Thank you. And that's in relation to page B-147 of the Budget Book under business unit 1712, Early Childhood Measures.

Yes, Minister, would it be convenient if we take a further question and then . . . Yes.

Honourable Member for constituency 25, you have the floor.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Yes, thank you, Mr. Chairman.

And certainly, like my colleagues, I am very grateful for this good briefing by the Minister. And it's been very informative. Page B-134, the Educational Reform Unit is budgeted for $3.925 million. But then if we go over to the analysis on page B-135, we see that professional services is only $3.378 million. So I'm scratching my head because my understanding was the Reform Unit was in fact consultants. So I would have thought we would have seen at least that much in the professional services. Well, perhaps you could just remind us what the gap in that is, please, Mr. Chairman.

Turning forward to page B-141, the Department of Education has had quite a large jump in the professional services from last year's budget of $1.4 [million] to $3.0 million. And if we could just provide a high-level view of what that change is.

Sorry, I'm just doing my flipping around here.

The Chairman: Thank you, Honourable Member. If you pause and keep flipping and I'll just address the listening public.

We are in the Committee of Supply for Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for the year 2025/26. Namely, the Budget Debates. This afternoon's debate is about the Ministry for Education, and we have been covering Heads 17, 16 and 41, albeit not in that order. And we have heard from the Honourable former Minister, Diallo Rabain, and we have heard questions from a number of Members.

And now I give you the floor. The Honourable Member for constituency 25.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

I turn to page B-138 and I noticed that the budget for school psychology is going up 50 per cent from . . . or $449,000. But I noticed that the staff number or the FTE has only gone up by plus one. So again, I would like to understand how those bits connect. And then later down the page, under 27003, Office Accommodation. Again, that number is doubled and I'd like to understand the additional office requirements.

If I turn now, Mr. Chairman, to page B-144—

The Chairman: [Page] B-144.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: —the performance measures. And I note the compliance with the fire drill under 1703, and of course, I know when I was in school, we all loved the little fire drill. So if not for the benefit of the students but having had experience with an actual fire and an actual building, I tend to take these things quite seriously. And I hope that . . . I don't really know what the answer is, but I hope that they can take care of that everybody gets the adequate fire drills so that nobody is injured or worse.

Turning ahead to page B-146, the City & Guilds employability skills certification, under business unit 1708. And I see that the forecast for this year is 80 per cent. I would really love to see the target of 100 per cent. And, you know, we like to think that anybody finishing high school can come out and get a job and, you know, [has] employability. We know employers often talk about interviewing people who don't seem to have the most basic skills for a basic job. Perhaps a short explanation of why that was not 100 per cent.

I appreciate not everything is in the control of the Education Ministry. And then later in that table is students passing Advanced Placement exams with the score of three or higher, which is a pretty reputable score. If I think back a while, 30-plus years, the forecast is 80 per cent. I'm going to assume that that's of students taking the exams. Or is every student at the school's taking Advanced Placement exams? But perhaps the Minister could comment on how many students are in fact taking at least one Advanced Placement exam in the public school system. And I think my other comments were addressed by prior questions.

Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: Thank you, Honourable Member.

Does any other Honourable Member wish to contribute to the debate?

I recognise the Honourable Shadow Minister Ben Smith, MP.

Mr. Ben Smith: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. Chairman, I believe there were a couple of questions that I asked that might not have been answered before. I asked a question about what that number "3" means in the performance measures, just so that we have an idea where it says that . . . in the scoring and it says "3." So just [if] we can have an indication of what that means so that we understand it.

And there was a question about the performance measures under preschool which indicated that most of the students seemed to be prepared. Right? So, it would indicate that [the] majority of the students going from preschool into primary school are at the desired level. And then when you look at the performance measures in primary school, there seems to be a drop off. So is this a difference between preschool to primary school? And we would get that by having a better understanding for that performance measure under preschool.

And just quickly on page B-145, just looking at primary schools again. There was in 2023/24, there were some performance measures that would . . . there was percentage of schools achieving their school improvement objective in reading. And at the time it was 23 per cent. And this was the actual outcome. And then, percentage of schools achieving their school improvement objective for mathematics. And the number was 41 per cent. And then percentage of schools achieving their school improvement objectives for writing was 11 per cent.

But since that point these performance measures have been removed. So, if we could get an indication of how we would get this information now and whether these percentages have actually improved since this actual for the 2023/24. Because these are the questions that parents are going to want to know. They want to know whether they are sending their child to a school in the improvement level that is put as a target. And in a lot of cases there has been frustration that some of the targets seem to be quite low.

But having a low target and having an even lower actual is concerning. So, if we could get some information on whether that data is still collected and, if so, what are these actuals for the last couple of years? And what is being done to make sure that we are doing everything we can to support these students so that these numbers change? Not having them in the [Budget] Book is concerning.

Thank you.

The Chairman: Thank you, Honourable Member.

Minister, would you like to address a few of those or should I see if there are further questions out there? I'm in your hands.

[Inaudible interjections]

The Chairman: Okay. So we'll now hear from the Minister for the Cabinet Office who is the former Minister of Education and is fielding the brief today for the debate on these heads. Thank you.

Minister, you have the floor.

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Who knows, I might answer some questions that are out there already.

[Laughter]

The Chairman: Yes.

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: MP Smith, there is another question that was missed that I see here. What is the estimated timeline for reform being completed? As there is a multi-year process, following the review and assessment that I referred to earlier, the Minister will provide more information on that in the future.

[A] question was asked, Why is 60 per cent the target and how did we arrive at this? The answer is, 60 per cent is not the target for student performance. The 60 per cent refers to the percentage of students across schools reaching their goals for reading.

The next question is, Why is the target so low? And answer: our senior schools are comprehensive schools. Comprehensive schools serve a diverse population with a wide range of abilities, backgrounds and needs. Performance measures may vary based on many contextual factors. And I believe it was Mr. King, MP King, that asked that question. I just want to add some additional context. Inside of a school you may have . . . you will have students. You have the high achievers, you have students, and you may have also functioning academics, functioning skills programmes, et cetera. So it would be, in some cases you couldn't just say 100 per cent because students would be in different programmes and some of them it may not be an apples-to-apples comparison when you are talking about just, you know, achievement of the IGCSE sitting. So, I hope that does kind of put some colour to that particular one there.

Families who gain knowledge and skills and tools from participating in educational classes and groups. This performance has been discontinued for two years. We deliver education, knowledge and skills through one-on-one sessions through our home visits programme, at the end of developmental screenings, and through family counselling. There is no staffing dedicated to the parent education classes group. I'm assuming that was a question about CDP.

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Follow-up from MP Smith. When is T. N. Tatem going to be cleaned up? [It being] five years later.

The amounts of $1.7 [million] and $1.3 [million], as we talked about, are for teacher salaries that have been reallocated to other schools. But for whatever reason, the paperwork says they are still employed under that cost centre. And so, they know where they are, but I'm assuming they won't . . . we can't just pull that out and say, Well, one teacher . . . because it may be 10 teachers and they may be at 10 different schools at this time. But I'm sure that is something that could be . . . that information could be provided. Perhaps a parliamentary question could get that for you.

CDP. When will the vacant positions be filled since this is a critical role? This is our priority to fill these critical positions. We have conducted three rounds of recruitment for the early intervention supervisor over the last 18 months. The role is challenging to fill because it requires clinical experience, intervention experience, and supervisory experience. We will continue to conduct recruitment efforts for these key roles.

Again, CDP. Should the number of assessments be spread across existing staff? And the answer here is: A developmental assessment is different from a developmental screening. A developmental screening is conducted by an early childhood screening specialist for children 18 to 48 months. The screening is designed to determine how a child is developing, strengths, delays, and what intervention supports they may need. The screening also allows us an opportunity to see if families need some support.

Additionally, the screening covers a longer age range so students can be screened up until the age of 4. A development assessment is conducted by a psychologist to gain a better understanding of the function of the child strengths, weaknesses and personalised recommendations. A developmental assessment is provided if the standardised screening indicates further assessment is needed or if there is a referral from a paediatrician.

On the early childhood, again. Percentage of persons eligible for early interventions. Why is this decreasing? The target has decreased because of staffing vacancies; however, CDP staff are working diligently to meet child and family needs. The hope and intention is that the target will be exceeded once vacancies are filled.

CDP. There is only one staff member providing early interventions. Full staffing will be one supervisor and three team members. And I believe you did, when you talked about this, you talked about mandatory screening and the like. And I know this is something that I've heard conversations around. And you know, it comes into this ethical thing of, Can you force someone to take a medical procedure that they may not want? So, it's a . . . I believe it's a conversation worth having, but there could be some tricky minefields to go through that.

Again, early childhood. (Where am I? Okay.) Student services. Why the change of funds for student services? Training and development for mental health support for teachers and staff, for example, CPI and restorative practice training for entire school staff and schools. Also, student services will begin SCERTS training (That is S-C-E-R-T-S. I can't remember what it stands for.) for preschool to senior schools for our students who have ASD and developmental delays.

The question is: Why is the budget for school psychologists doubled but the FTEs have only gone up by one? There has been an increase in consultant services, the ability to get additional services assessed at the senior level. And I know if we go back to the mid—

[Crosstalk]

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: If we go back to—

[Crosstalk]

The Chairman: While the Minister's just double checking that answer, we have about 25 minutes or so left in this debate.

Yes, Minister.

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Yes.

The Chairman: You have the floor.

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: I was waiting for the answer to be here but apparently, I know the answer.

[Laughter]

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: The ERU—and this I believe was MP DeCouto. The ERU is actually made up out of staff members. And so, it's become a . . . it is made up out of staff members who have been transferred into the ERU section so that would cover them. The consultant budget is the actual consultants who are helping them with the work. And so, we split up between whatever the Ministry needs for consultants, plus whatever is there for the Innovation Unit. The Innovation Unit is not the ERU. The ERU is an actual entity—

The Chairman: And for the benefit of the public, the ERU is the Educational Reform Unit.

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Thank you.

Why is the budget for school doubled? Oh, and I was going to mention also, MP DeCouto, if you remember back to the mid-term budget adjustments, some of those funds were to go and find external resources because we just couldn't find . . . could not hire fast enough for some of these things. And some of them, MP Smith, was specifically for CDP so they could speed up assessments by going external to find people to do that work. And some of it was school psychologists as well. And also, that covered services that [were] needed at Dame, such as physical therapy, occupational therapy and speech language pathology. So, they can go to external sources for that.

City & Guilds employability skills. The forecast shows 80 per cent of the target. Should be 100 per cent. The current 80 per cent forecast reflects a realistic projection. Again, if you go back to what I said about schools, there might be some students who are not, you know, they're not eligible to take the exam based on the programme that they are in at the particular school.

Students passing AP with a score of 3 [or] higher. The forecast is 80 per cent. I think that was a question of what the number "3" stands for. The number 3 stands for, represents a reading score proficiency.

The Chairman: Three out of . . .

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Three out of . . .

The Chairman: Maximum of five, is it?

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: I believe it's three out of five.

The Chairman: Yes.

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: The 2023/24 SIP objectives. At the time it was 23 per cent and schools for math was 41 per cent, 11 per cent, and now those have been removed. How would we get this information now and whether it has improved since time? It says: A school may set a goal and not achieve that goal; however, they would have missed the goal by 1 per cent or 2 per cent and that will be recorded as not achieving the goal. Schools are . . . (It kind of stopped there.) Schools are focusing on tracking progress.

I will just skip back up to, How many students are taking AP classes? Currently CedarBridge Academy has 30 students taking AP classes. And Berkeley . . .

[Pause]

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: We're searching for the number for Berkeley. The number of students taking AP classes at Berkeley.

Mr. Chairman, that is the answers that I do have now. And I'll take my seat unless someone wants to—

The Chairman: Thank you, Minister Rabain.

Does any other Member wish . . . I see the Honourable Member for constituency 8, MP Ben Smith.

You have the floor.

Mr. Ben Smith: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. Chairman, I just go back to page B-141. From the answer that the Minister gave on the increase in energy was based off of an increase of the office building. Just if we could get an indication, is the office space significantly bigger? Is it housing more people? If we could get some clarification of that. Just because of how significant the increase is in the energy bill.

The Chairman: This is page—

Mr. Ben Smith: This is page B-141.

The Chairman: —B-141. And it's the energy line item—

Mr. Ben Smith: Yes.

The Chairman: —for expenditure. And it was the point that the estimate is $1.245 million now.

Mr. Ben Smith: Correct.

The Chairman: —Up from revised of $764 [thousand].

Mr. Ben Smith: And the response that the Minister just gave me, up from page B-145, for primary schools 1705.

The Chairman: Yes.

Mr. Ben Smith: The questions that I asked about those actual outcomes. So, the answer is that they were coming up 1 per cent short and that is what was causing the issue. The question is, If the target was already low and they were coming in 1 per cent short, this number is still just as concerning. And if that is the case, how are we collecting that data? And when will that information be provided to the public? Because these are some of the things that parents are using to make decisions of [the] school that they want to take their child to.

So that indication of how the school is performing, the target that's being set, are they making the target? If you're looking for improvement from one grade to the next, and there is an expectation that they are going to reach that certain level, if they are not reaching that target and what we were seeing in the Budget Book was that they were not reaching that target, not being able to see that information now . . . Once again, I'm going to say is concerning. That data being transparent on what is happening in each of our schools that allows parents to make informed decisions about what school they want to send their child to, I say is extremely important.

On the answer that the Minister gave, and I'm going to go back to B-140, child development 27175. The Minister said that some of the cost is separated because they had to go out and get outside expertise. So, I guess the question right now is . . . While you are still going through this process of trying to find the people to fill the roles, we will continue to have to use outside expertise so that these children are continuing to be assessed and continue to have the services that are necessary. I think you are going to . . . we are going to be in that balancing role until those roles are filled. If the Minister can just clarify whether that will be the case.

Thank you.

The Chairman: Thank you, Honourable Member.

Are there any other Honourable Members who wish to contribute to the debate?

I see the Honourable Member for constituency 9 [sic]. MP Robert King, you have the floor.

Mr. Robert King: Constituency 10, sir.

The Chairman: My apologies. I think I got that wrong last time as well. Yes. It's MP Campbell in [constituency] 9. Isn't it?

Mr. Robert King: Yes, yes.

The Chairman: Sorry.

Mr. Robert King: No worries.

[Inaudible interjections and laughter]

Mr. Robert King: Regarding page B-147, performance measures. If I understand the Honourable Minister properly, he was saying that the families who gained knowledge, skills, and tools from participation in parent education classes and groups, that was as a result of the different types of students that were in the learning environment. And so that the 50 per cent was basically a measure of . . . Is that what you were saying?

[Inaudible interjections]

Mr. Robert King: Okay, well, I'm glad I'm asking then. That's good. Okay. Good. I'm glad.

And to the second part, percentage of clients assigned to or eligible for early intervention who receive early intervention services. If I understand the Honourable Minister correctly, that had been discontinued. I'm hopeful, understanding that it is a critical area of need, that consideration will be used to re-sourcing that. Thank you.

The Chairman: Thank you, Honourable Member for constituency 10.

Are there any other Honourable Members . . . I see MP Smith, again, for constituency 8. Shadow Minister, you have the floor.

Mr. Ben Smith: Thank you Mr. Chairman.

Mr. Chairman, I'm just going to go back to page B-146, Secondary School. I asked those questions about IGCSE and I'm very thankful that the Minister gave those responses about the breakdown on what the students are able to take from IGCSEs. And it was a significantly broader range of subjects. So I'm just wondering if the Minister would undertake to elevate how the community sees what is available. I think that sometimes there is a . . . there is misinformation in the community about what is available. And because of that, it sometimes creates maybe a mind-set that is incorrect. So, I asked that specific question because a lot of times it is portrayed that . . . exactly what you see in the [Budget] Book, it looks like it is only math, English and science. So, as the Minister pointed out today, that there was . . . I think his daughter was taking history and had taken English literature.

The Chairman: Yes.

Mr. Ben Smith: I just think it's important that if that is the case that we do all that we can to highlight those subjects so that, once again, it's also about perception. We never want to be standing to our feet and making our young people feel that they are lesser than. This reform is about giving them the best opportunity. That process, on both sides of the aisle, we are going to work together to make sure that we get to that result. We don't always agree on the journey to get there, but we have to make sure that our young people feel supported, that we all want them to get to that destination.

So, Mr. Chairman, just before I take my seat and allow the Minister to answer those questions, I would just like to take the opportunity to thank all of our educators in the Island for the hard work that they have continued to do. I know most of them are looking to the end of this year to take a well-deserved break. But our educators are the ones who create the opportunity for everything else that's going to happen in this country. We wouldn't have lawyers and doctors and plumbers and electricians if we didn't have fantastic teachers in our schools. And for that reason, I'd like to make sure that we always put them first and appreciate them.

Thank you.

The Chairman: This is not commendations, but no doubt the whole House would be associated with that one.

But does any other Member wish to speak in the debate? We have about 10 to 15 minutes left in the debate. Any other Member wish to put questions to the Minister?

I see none. So, Minister, over to you to finish off with the answers. Thank you. Minister Diallo Rabain, of the Cabinet Office and former Minister of Education.

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

MP Smith . . . because I can never remember the numbers.

An Hon. Member: Constituency 8.

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: MP Smith, constituency 8. The . . . here . . . it is an addition here, the . . . Wait a minute I was just about to say it and then it got highlighted. So, I want to make sure.

You are speaking of the school data that you were referring to, the 2341. It says the school data is shared internally, but the suggestion that you came up with will be passed on to the Minister for her consideration. Perhaps making that . . . figuring out how that could be disseminated even more widely.

There was a question about . . . And this actually came from MP DeCouto, originally. Why the large increase for the electricity? It says here, the new office space is significantly larger and allows the department to bring the majority of office staff into one location. I know at one point there was some staff complaining that they actually didn't have an office and they were working out of their car. They would visit schools but when they needed to be somewhere and do something, they actually didn't have anywhere to go. So I'm assuming their . . . the location they moved into—which I don't know where it is. I'll correct that.

[Laughter]

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Finding people to fill roles will need outside expertise balancing. Yes, it is correct. Many of these roles are hard to fill due to international shortages and may require ongoing contracting services. I can say as the former Minister, CDP has for years been trying to fill these roles and it's just been, you know, interview, interview, interview . . . not suitable, interview, interview . . . not suitable. So the addition of giving them additional funding to, you know, find external sources, you know, it also comes down to—

[Laughter]

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Please elevate what the community sees and knows available in reference to IGCSEs and other external exams. I couldn't agree with you more. One of the things that we . . . I believe we do a good job on, but we could do a better job, is actually showcasing what it is that our students are doing within the schools. I was surprised, you know, I always speak about my own personal experience. So my . . . at the end of S2, my . . . my . . . the person I speak of. Because . . . would have sat math, English, physics, Spanish, history, AP English, and then next year she will be doing AP . . . she'll be finishing AP calculus.

And so it is possible to do these things within the public school system, but it's just not something we get out there and people know. But it is possible to do these things. And perhaps we should look at how we can advertise that better. That it is actually there to be done. I mean, when I took a look at the number of courses because . . . and the department does have this list of possible courses. It's huge, you know, of IGCSE-type courses that you could, that you actually can take. And so I would encourage persons to investigate.

And one other thing that I would add as a personal privilege is we also need parents to advocate as well. You had mentioned that during your earlier brief when you talked about, it's not just the teachers it's our parents as well. Any of you [who] have been around education as long as I [have], it didn't start when I became Minister. Because I was a Shadow Minister of Education back in when I was a Government Senator. I was the Junior Minister for Education. I've been on the Education Board, the Bermuda College boards and stuff. You'll see our parents are there at the preschool level. They are there at the primary school level. They wane out at the middle school level. They barely show up at the high school level. And we have to continue to encourage our parents and figure out ways to encourage them to just be more involved in the actual process of moving education along.

Mr. Chairman, I'm not sure . . . I'll take my seat and allow any additional questions because we do have time.

The Chairman: I think you were still to identify the number of AP students. You did CedarBridge and you were going to come back I think for Berkeley. But maybe you—

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: No, I said I would await. And it says here we are awaiting their final count so—

[Crosstalk]

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: —that would probably be something—

The Chairman: —I will see if anyone has any —

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: —reached out to—

The Chairman: Thank you, Minister.

Does any other Member wish to contribute to the debate?

There being none, Minister, I think that that will therefore conclude the debate. We'll finish a touch early. And if I can invite you to move that your heads be taken under consideration.

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. Chairman, I would be remiss if I did not thank all of the persons who contributed to providing these answers. We have Ania Gilbert; Dr. Llewellyn Simmons; Dwayne Caisey; Giovanni Joseph, the Commissioner sitting with us today; the Policy Analyst Kimberley McKeown; Lisa De Silva, head of the ERU; Ms. Lisa Swan; Sue-Ann Smith; Taneesha Ottley; Terry Cox; Dr. Terrylynn Tyrell; and the Permanent Secretary Ms. Lisa Smith[-Clarke]. Thank you, everyone for assisting us to bring these answers. I think this was a fulsome debate. I look forward to Education continuing to move and go to higher heights as the reform process continues on.

So, Mr. Chairman, if it pleases you, I move that Heads 16, 17 and 41 be approved as printed.

The Chairman: It has been moved that the following heads, Head 16, Ministry of Education Headquarters; Head 17, Department of Education; and Head 41, Bermuda College be now taken under consideration.

Is there any objection?

Those heads will now be taken under consideration.

Minister, if you will now move that the heads be approved as printed.

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: I just did.

The Chairman: You did. I'm sorry. Well, you are ahead of me.

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: I was ahead of you. Okay.

The Chairman: You were ahead of me.

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: I will do it again.

The Chairman: Well, if you do it again. Thank you. Thank you.

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

I move that Heads 16, 17 and 41 be approved as printed.

The Chairman: It has been moved that Head 16, 17 and 41 all relating to the Ministry of Education be approved as printed.

Is there any objection to that motion?

There being none . . . Heads 16, 17 and 41 shall be approved as printed.

[Motion carried: The Ministry of Education, Heads 16, 17 and 41 were approved and stand part of the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for the year 2025/26.]

The Chairman: Thank you, Minister. Thanks to the Shadow Minister and to all the other MPs who contributed to the debate.

And I see that MP Famous is now here to take the Chair, and I will bid you all a good afternoon.

MP Famous.

[Mr. Christopher Famous, Chairman]

The Chairman: Good afternoon to the listening public [and] Members in the House.

We are now in Committee of Supply for further consideration of the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for the year 2025/26. We are going to be debating the Ministry of Finance, Heads 10, 11, 12, 28, 38, 39 and 58. The Honourable Premier Minister of Finance shall be doing the talking.

Hon. E. David Burt: Good day, Mr. Chairman. How are you?

The Chairman: I'm blessed.

Hon. E. David Burt: That's good.

My flight was delayed so I am fresh off the plane right into the House of Assembly.

The Chairman: Jet lag?

Hon. E. David Burt: We'll make it work.

Mr. Chairman, I move the following heads, Head 10, Ministry of Finance Headquarters; Head 11, Accountant General; Head 12, Customs; Head 28, Social Insurance, Head 38, Office of Tax Commissioner, Head 39, Registrar of Companies; and Head 58, Debt and Loan Guarantees be now taken under consideration.

The Chairman: You may proceed.

Hon. E. David Burt: And, Mr. Chairman, if I may note, I will not be doing all the talking as the Junior Minister of Finance will also be presenting some of the heads. So, it will be a joint effort from the Ministry of Finance.

The Chairman: Okay. Great collaboration.

Hon. E. David Burt: That is what we are doing.

The Chairman: The time is now exactly 4:00 pm. This debate is scheduled for four hours of debate.

You may proceed.

Hon. E. David Burt: Thank you, very much, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. Chairman, I will start with Head 10. And then I will defer to the Junior Minister for Heads 11 and 12.

MINISTRY OF FINANCE

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Chairman, the 2025/26 Budget Estimates for the Ministry of Finance are found in section B of the Estimates Book on pages B-106 through B-132 and in section C on pages C-4 (Capital Development), C-11 (Capital Acquisitions), and C-17 (Grants).

The Finance Ministry comprises seven departments led by the Ministry of Finance Headquarters (HQ) and includes the Accountant General, Customs (in relation to Revenue), the Department of Social Insurance, the Office of the Tax Commissioner, the Registrar of Companies and Land Valuation. Allocations to cover the interest on government debt, guarantee management, the Bermuda Public Accountability Board, Gaming Commission and the Corporate Income Tax Agency are also included in the Ministry of Finance budget.

Mr. Chairman, the Ministry has a total staffing establishment of 188 posts, an aggregate current account budget of $266.6 million and is responsible for collecting $1.31 billion, or 91.6 per cent of all government revenue. Of the $266.6 million in expenditure,

$127.1 million (or 47.7 per cent) is for interest charges, $100.2 million (or 37.6 per cent) for costs associated with pension and health care for all government workers and war veterans. Leaving $39.3 million (or 14.7 per cent) for the actual operational spend of the Ministry. So, of course, the budget is very large but most of those things are for interest and also overhead for government employees. A snapshot of key information for the Ministry of Finance is shown on page B-106 of the Estimates Book. Department current account allocations are as follows:

- Head 10, Ministry of Finance HQ—$11.820 million, an increase of $4.640 million or 65 per cent. All of this is operational spending.
- Head 11, Accountant General—$106.5[52] million, an increase of $24.800 million or 30 per cent of which $6.310 million is operational and the rest of course is due to the overhead budget falling inside of that line item.
- Head 12, Customs—The Customs Expenditure budget sits under the Ministry of National Security, although the Ministry of Finance maintains responsibility for the Customs Tariff and revenue collections.
- Head 28, Social Insurance—$2.894 million, a decrease of $106,000 or 3.5 per cent. All mandated costs for war veterans. And that is the reason for the decrease under that head.
- Head 38, Office of the Tax Commissioner—$4.3 million, an increase of $252,000 or 6.2 per cent. And these are all operational overheads.
- Head 39, Registrar of Companies—$12.52 million, an increase of $474,000 or 4 per cent. And these are all operational overheads.
- Head 49, Land Valuation—$977,000, an increase of $54,000 or 5.9 per cent. This is all due to operational overheads.
- Head 58, Debt and Loan Guarantees—$127.53 million, a decrease of $250,000 or 0.2 per cent, of which $127.10 million is mandated interest on Government debt.

Mr. Chairman, the Finance Ministry plays a pivotal role in the work undertaken to ensure the ongoing stability and prosperity of Bermuda, particularly given the serious local and [global] economic uncertainty currently faced by our country and others around the world. Over the past eight years since this Government took office, you would have noted a recurring theme; that is, the Government's resolve to develop and implement a consistent and considered strategy to diversify and strengthen Bermuda's economy and to support its people, while executing a sound and prudent fiscal management strategy. It is noteworthy, of course, Mr. Chairman, that after many years of deficit budgets, this budget follows last year's budget by delivering a budget surplus. The second one in a row and, of course, last year's was the first to be achieved in 21 years.

The Ministry of Finance has been a key player in overseeing the execution of this Government's fiscal strategy. The key areas of focus in this strategy are (i) targeted investment and tax policies to enhance economic growth by attracting investment that creates jobs and also reduces the cost of doing business. And you know we have a very successful record of reducing taxes for workers and business in this country.—

The Chairman: I couldn't hear you, Minister. Would you repeat that, please?

Hon. E. David Burt: Yes. Mr. Chairman. I am happy to repeat that because we speak about targeted investment in tax policies to enhance economic growth and I wanted to repeat that this Government has a considered record of reducing taxes for workers in this country and also for businesses, especially small businesses, as there was some commentary that there was nothing in this budget for a small business which would of course forget the fact that this Government has reduced payroll tax on small businesses multiple times since returning back to office.

(ii) making Bermuda's tax system fairer while reducing the tax burden for workers (iii) modernising Bermuda's regulatory regime, which of course we can see has demonstrated success with a continued growth of digital finance and the continued expansion of our international business market. Something that, of course, is not attributed to the Government by the Opposition but without the regulatory planning and the sound work that takes place in the Ministry of Finance, those things would not happen. (iv) maintaining fiscal discipline by meeting, and in many cases exceeding, budget targets as we have done year after year after year after year. (v) and developing and finalising the Corporate Income tax Regime in support of Bermuda's continued commitment to global compliance and transparency.

Mr. Chairman, we have a responsibility to the people of this country to provide the best fiscal and economic management possible. To this end, we will continue to make the necessary decisions—sometimes these decisions are not easy, Mr. Chairman, and also, they are not always politically expedient. But they are required to sustainably grow Bermuda's economy in the long term, reduce the tax burden on workers, and provide the necessary support and services to make Bermuda a quality place to live and also to work.

Mr. Chairman, Bermuda continues to be faced with significant challenges which, if not appropriately managed, can damage our long-term economic security and stability. To that end, the Ministry of Finance budget has been carefully constructed to ensure that the Ministry's in-house team, supported by various external stakeholders and consultants (we will certainly ly provide more on this later), are able to lead the Government's fiscal and economic policies aptly and responsibly. Given the ever-increasing threats and expanding obligations which Bermuda must address on the international front, ensuring that the Ministry is appropriately resourced and structured continues to be a priority. I am sure I will get to it later in the brief, but it is important to note that recently the Ministry of Finance Headquarters was restructured and previous briefs which would have covered to make sure that we are appropriately resourced to meet all of the various threats and assessments that the Ministry of Finance must do on an annual basis.

To this end, during the past year, reviews of resources in key areas were undertaken, and active steps are already being taken to address identified gaps.

The additional funding required has therefore been included in the cost estimates for the relevant units and departments, contributing to notable increases in some areas, with appropriate reductions in other areas. Key initiatives which will have to be progressed in this year include:

- Banking, tax and pension reform. Something that forms a very important part of the work of the Ministry of Finance. Certainly, we know the work which we are doing on banking reform. We clearly understand and note the work that is being done on tax reform. And you will recall, Mr. Chairman, the Budget Statement spoke very specifically to the matters related to pension reform.
- More targeted debt collection. It is also something of which we have seen recent success and we are going to continue to expand that across the Ministry.
- Enhanced compliance and regulatory oversight, and enhanced adherence to international requirements.
- Enhancing Bermuda's reputation as a global leader in FinTech, digital assets and digital finance by maintaining and developing our robust regulatory framework for digital assets. And you know the success, Mr. Chairman, of what we have seen inside of that area. Of course, in expansion of international business, a responsibility or in response to what this Government has put in place, that has been recognised internationally. And of course, Mr. Chairman, we are regularly treated to provide the Opposition saying that the Government has nothing to do with the growth and expansion of international business; however, if we do not put in place these new policies and frameworks this growth would not happen. (Continuing on that.)
- Support the international work required to strengthen the Financial Literacy of our population. This is something that we have committed ted to in previous budgets which will help empower people to take ownership of their finances and make well-informed financial decisions.

- Support the work of the Tax Reform Commission to recommend a revised tax framework for Bermuda.
- And finally, the Registrar of Companies will advance implementation of a central register for beneficial ownership, in line with Bermuda's international commitments.

The Ministry of Finance will also continue its internal structural reform for more effective collaboration, operation and management. Within the past budget year 2024/25, the Ministry appointed two Deputy Financial Secretaries, one of which is focused on domestic and economic matters, and the other on international and regulatory matters. The various units and departments of the Ministry will fall under one of these divisions. These divisions are supported by a central unit which assists with finance, administration, and policy support for the Minister. The final structural change is to appoint an internal Director of Policy and Legal Affairs to support the Ministry in all related matters. And there is a significant amount of legal work of course which takes place inside of the Ministry of Finance.

Mission Statement and Key Goals and Objectives Mission Statement

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Chairman, the Ministry of Finance's mission statement can be found on page B-107, and it is very simple. Achievement of economic prosperity and to ensure the financial security of Bermuda.

A very simple mission. In line with this, the Ministry's objectives can be found on page B-107, and they are broadly in line with the objectives from the previous year.

During the past year—Mr. Chairman, can you just excuse me for one second?

The Chairman: For the benefit of the listening public and the Honourable Members we are now in Committee of Supply for further consideration of the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for the year 2025/26. We are debating the Ministry of Finance. The Honourable Premier, Minister of Finance, is giving the brief. He has started off on Head 10. And this debate began at four o'clock exactly and will end at 8:00 pm exactly.

Hon. E. David Burt: Thank you, very much, Mr. Chairman. I appreciate that.

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. E. David Burt: Sorry?

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. E. David Burt: We are not in a swamp. I have been flying all day. My feet, you know. Come on now. See.

[Laughter and crosstalk]

Hon. E. David Burt: We were being nice. You are taking up Doug's time. Be nice. Sorry. The Honourable Member's time. Be nice.

Mr. Chairman, in line with this, objectives can be found on page B-107 and they are broadly in line with the objectives from the previous year. During the past year we were able to move forward in a number of key areas and in this brief, we will highlight the key accomplishments. These include improvement in the collection of tax and pension arrears—(We want to highlight that.)—totalling $29.5 million, the development and implementation—I should repeat that again. Collection of tax and pension arrears in the amount of $29.5 million, the development and implementation of landmark corporate income tax legislation, the provision of additional relief to the workers and businesses in Bermuda. As we remember, two years ago we cut payroll taxes for 86 per cent of Bermudians and every single local business, continued compliance with international requirements, the maintenance of strong credit ratings. As we know, our credit ratings continue to be affirmed and continued successful implementation of a sound and prudent fiscal management policy resulting in achieving an estimated surplus in 2024/25 of $20 million compared to the original budget surplus that was projected of $210,000.

As we go forward into this coming year, we will continue to build on the strong foundation that has been established with focus on economic growth; maintaining Bermuda's positive reputation as a responsible and reputable international financial centre, executing a prudent fiscal strategy balanced by our commitment to appropriately meeting the needs of the people of Bermuda, while seeking to build a more fair and just society.

I will now speak to the various units and departments that comprise the Ministry of Finance starting with Head 10, Ministry of Finance Headquarters. And as I said, Mr. Chairman, I will defer to the Junior Minister for Heads 11 and 12.

HEAD 10—MINISTRY OF FINANCE HEADQUARTERS (HQ)

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Chairman, the Ministry's Headquarters core functions are conducted under Head 10, Ministry of Finance Headquarters which can be found on page B-108. The work undertaken by the Ministry Headquarters is carried out through the following units:

- Policy Planning and Management

- Fiscal Planning and Control
- International Affairs and Regulatory
- Domestic Affairs and Economic Policy
- Office of the National Anti-Money Laundering Committee (NAMLC)

In addition, grants and support are being given to the Bermuda Public Accountability Board, the Tax Reform Commission, the [Casino] Gaming Commission and the Corporate Income Tax Agency.

The Ministry of Finance Headquarters' mission, which is different from the overall Ministry of Finance, of course. But for the Headquarters it is: Achievement of economic prosperity and to ensure the financial security of Bermuda.

In discharging its functions under the overall policy direction of the Minister of Finance, the Ministry of Finance HQ seeks to achieve the following outcomes:

- A Bermuda that maintains its position as a domicile of choice for international business. Something that clearly, we have been successful in doing.
- A Bermuda where citizens have confidence in Government's stewardship of the public purse. Two consecutive balanced budgets, I think meets that objective.
- A Bermuda where funding and resources are available for key programmes and initiatives. It would see the expansion of funding for health care, investment in social services, security and others. Making sure those resources are made available to the Ministers to execute what the citizens of this country voted for in February.
- Also, a Bermuda where citizens regard Government's policy responses to economic and financial challenges as appropriate and in the national interest.

Mr. Chairman, in seeking to fulfil this mandate, the Ministry of Finance HQ has a [staff] establishment of 19, which is up one from 18 in the prior year, permanent full-time posts as per page B-109 of the Budget Book. Its total budget for the current fiscal year 2025/26 is $11.82 million, split between operational costs of $6.20 million and grants of $5.58 million. Total costs have risen by $4.20 million, or 64.6 per cent against the original budget but decreased against the 2024/25 revision of $12.70 million, as you will see in the Budget Book by $850,000. The noticeable increase in spend from the original budget to the revised estimate is due to an additional $3.50 million being granted directly to the Corporate Income Tax Agency and an additional $993,000 being issued to the Policy, Planning and Business Units.

The main driver for this increase is now that the matters related to cyber insurance are also found in this particular head in the amount of $560,000. A further $427,000 is to cover the union negotiated wage increases plus the additional head to enable guarantee management being bought in house. The remaining difference is predominantly due to global tax advice being budgeted within consulting, whereas in the prior year this cost was allocated within the corporate income tax expense. Within the department $450,000 has been allocated to fund the Tax Reform Commission (via multiple object codes). Funding for the following entities remains the same as the prior year: Bermuda Public Accountancy Board, $400,000; Gaming Commission, $800,000; Corporate Income Tax Agency, $4.78 million; and the Pension Commission, no funding, grants from the Ministry of Finance as they will continue to draw on their cash surpluses.

Revenue Projections

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Chairman, a revenue summary for the Ministry of Finance Headquarters can be found on page B-109 of the Budget Book. I am pleased to announce that $187.5 million has been budgeted within 2025/26 for the first instalment of the Corporate Income Tax which is expected to be received by the Ministry of Finance within the 2024/25 revised estimate. There is an additional $6.85 million of revenue as the Bermuda Monetary Authority achieved a significant surplus through higher fees and stringent cost control and, of course, more businesses being registered in Bermuda, Mr. Chairman, which of course increases their revenue which means that more revenue can be returned to the public purse to support the ongoing work of the Government.

And therefore, this significant surplus which has been achieved at 50 per cent of the operating surplus net of fines is remitted to the Consolidated Fund. Further, Mr. Chairman, the $2.6 million in 2023/24 as can be seen . . . it can also be broken down into $917,000 in re-imbursement costs related to the Morgan's Point project and $1.7 million relating to legal costs within . . . for the Fairmont Southampton hotel negotiations. And those costs are within Head 58.

Was that clear? You got that, Shadow Minister? Because I just want to make sure you got that.

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. E. David Burt: Okay. Guess he is good. I will move on.

Capital Spend

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Chairman, the capital spend for 2025/26 can be found on pages C-4 (capital development) and C-11 (capital acquisitions). There are no capital developments for the Ministry of Finance in 2025/26; however, capital acquisitions are budgeted at $160,000, down from $866,000 in 2024/25. The majority of this reduction is due to the Ministry not funding the CITA (the Corporate Income Tax Agency) via a capital grant. Funding for the Corporate Income Tax Agency is via an operational grant which will be supported from income generated from interest on collections and in the short term a loan against this future revenue.

Key Performance Measures

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Chairman, the Key Performance Measures for the Ministry of Finance can be found on page B-110 of the Budget Book.

Bermuda's Gross Domestic Product [GDP], the main measure of economic growth, is estimated to have expanded in real terms between 4.5 per cent and 5.0 per cent in 2024. It is important to note, Mr. Chairman, that follows on the growth that we saw in 2023 which is the highest economic growth of any country in North, South, or Central America. This positive momentum reflects the strength of our international business sector and the continued recovery in tourism, supported by robust job growth, rising employment income, increased visitor arrivals and spending, and continued strong foreign currency earnings.

Looking forward, the Government is prudently budgeting growth of 3.5 per cent in 2025/26, this together with projected revenues from the corporate income tax, will see important metrics for debt and interest ratios reducing in 2025/26, and even further reductions in 2026/27 when at least $500 million of Bermuda's long-term debt is expected to be paid off and we will see what pans out insofar as collections going forward to see whether or not we will be able to increase that figure to the full $605 million that comes due.

Cost Centre 20000, Policy Planning and Management

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Chairman, the 2025/26 budget estimate for the Policy, Planning and Management unit is $3.67 million, an increase of $993,000 or 37.1 per cent over 2024/25. This unit, under the leadership of the Financial Secretary provides advice and support to the Minister of Finance, as well as overall strategic direction, oversight and management of Ministry Headquarters and the departments that comprise the Ministry of Finance.

In addition, this unit manages the administration and other activities associated with the daily operation of the Ministry of Finance Headquarters. It plays a key role in financial accountability of the various quangos, as well as overseeing the general financial and fiscal oversight and accountability throughout the Government. The total staff in the unit is eight persons, one up from the prior year.

The $993,000 proposed increase in expenditure is primarily related to the points already mentioned being insurance, headcount and global tax advice.

The Tax Reform Commission continues to be funded in full by the Ministry in 2025/26. This entity comprises of participants from both political parties, the trade unions, business communities and the third sector. In 2025/26 they will deliver their final report which will be focused on three key areas:

1. Reviewing the implications of the Corporate Income Tax for local and international business. They also have a broader remit to recommend a framework to encourage investment and economic activity in Bermuda through appropriate incentives.
2. Developing a strategy to reduce the cost of living and business operations in Bermuda. This includes evaluating the social and economic impacts of proposed reforms on various demographics and modelling the impacts of revising two larger cost categories—payroll tax and health care—for both individuals and companies.
3. Educate, inform and engage stakeholders to develop their policies and strategies.

Key Highlights for 2024/25 for the Ministry of Finance

Hon. E. David Burt: Key highlights for 2024/25 for the Ministry of Finance are included as follows:

- Coordinating the activities of the International Tax Working group, culminating with the introduction of the matters related to the Corporate Income Tax Agency and additional revisions to Corporation Income Tax legislation that has taken place in the last fiscal year.
- Working with teams to ensure enhanced debt collection. I had spoken about the debt collection metrics earlier.
- Supported the Tax Reform Commission.
- Ensuring more effective administration and coordination of financial and administrative matters in the Ministry.
- Working to ensure even more effective quango and guarantee oversight, which is an important point, Mr. Chairman, that we want to make sure is strengthened.
- Oversight of the Fairmont Southampton [Princess] deal, which was finalised in October 2024, to bring additional beds back to the Island, which will substantially increase tourism revenue. And one thing I would like to point out, Mr. Chairman, is that the Opposition continuously says we spent money on the matter related to the Fairmont Southampton. I think it is important to note that most of those costs were reimbursed and every year the Government is collecting $750,000 in the form of a guarantee fee which of course is recorded in the Ministry of Finance Headquarters revenue. So, it is important to note that this transaction not only will boost tourism, create jobs, but it is also earning the Government money. Not the other way around. An important fact that we need to note.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Point of order, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: Do you yield?

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: It is a point of order, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: Yes, he yields.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Thank you.

POINT OF ORDER

[Misleading]

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: I believe the Premier is inadvertently misleading the public when he says that the Opposition stated that the Government spent money on various things with the Fairmont issue. I believe the Opposition's key concern was that the company that the Government has chosen to support was not able to spend money to pay for the staff layoff costs.

Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: I am sure there will be robust debate this evening.

Hon. E. David Burt: Far be it from me, Mr. Chairman, to point out that is not a point of order. The Honourable Member will have plenty of time to go ahead, but it is clear that that Member and other persons in the Opposition have said the facts of give away, money spent, different things and all the rest. It is important for the public to know and Honourable Members that $750,000 a year will be coming into the Government treasury every year as a part of this deal, which was well negotiated with some of the best advice from lawyers in the jurisdiction and also from other jurisdictions and it is also important to note that most of the costs that were spent were reimbursed as we have seen, as I have just covered inside the Statement. So it is important to note that this is beneficial to the economy and the words around giving away and all the rest are not correct.

We will press on and if the Honourable Member wants to press on with that point, I give him advance warning that I will find the quotes from his Honourable Members on that side to make sure that the record reflects exactly what they have engaged in.

We will continue, Mr. Chairman, to talk about things that are being done in 2024/25.

- Managed relationships with sovereign tax rating agencies and assisted in ensuring that Bermuda kept its key sovereign [credit] rating of A+, a key driver of success for the international business sector.

- Continuing the work of implementing PIPA compliance inside of the Ministry of Finance.

I would like to express my sincere thanks to the team who have supported both myself and the Financial Secretary, Mr. Chidozie Ofoego, who joined the Ministry in April 2024 and has successfully navigated the first year in office. Of course, in the Ministry of Finance oftentimes you feel like you are drinking from a firehose, but that is just the nature when you happen to manage an economy that has the best economic performance in the entire North, South and Central America, Mr. Chairman.

For the upcoming year, key projects will include:

- Continue advancement of the Corporate Income tax regime both internally and in partnership with the Corporate Income Tax Agency.
- Work with quangos to further strengthen financial accountability and governance.
- Work with teams to assist in the analysis of costs and to assess the financing options for major projects including health care reform, education reform, and the Tynes Bay Waste-to-Energy Facility replacement.
- Work with the Bermuda Monetary Authority and industry stakeholders to review home insurance regulations and explore policy reforms, a key plank of the Progressive Labour Party's election manifesto.
- Support Chambers to strengthen laws to protect mortgage and lending customers facing financial difficulties, ensuring that banks treat Bermudians fairly in their borrowing practices.
- Continue support for the Tax Reform Commission.
- Support and establish a Sovereign Wealth Fund, an independent body that will invest excess proceeds from the corporate income tax to benefit future generations [of] Bermudians. I would like to repeat that because that work is going to happen.
- Cut red tape by streamlining business setup and operation processes while finalising a "one-stop shop" for registration and licensing to encourage entrepreneurship and local businesses. And of course, Mr. Chairman, that just deals with going to one place rather than having to go to social insurance and payroll tax and somewhere else in order to set up your company.
- Support the Cost of Living Commission and the Ministry of Home Affairs to implement a grocery pricing app to give Bermudians full visibility of the cost of essential goods pricing across the Island while also supporting the Cost of Living Commission with analysis on reducing the cost of living in Bermuda.

- Manage the budget effectively in light of additional revenues that are forecast from the corporate income tax.
- Streamline customers' requests for duty relief. This is an important mission which I have mentioned previously, Mr. Chairman, because we do pass lots of customs duty reliefs, but these customs duty reliefs can be quite complex for persons to achieve. They often require applications and then gazetting of various notices and we look to streamline that to ensure that the reliefs that we have legislated are more easily able to be accessed. Part of our red tape reduction throughout the Government.
- And also support the important work required to strengthen the financial literacy of our population, helping to empower people to take ownership of their finances and make well-informed financial decisions which is something that I would like to have particular focus on this year.

Cost Centre 20010, Fiscal Planning & Control

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Chairman, the budget for the Fiscal Planning and Control unit [in 2025/26] is $589,000 [a 4 per cent increase] which is marginally up on the prior year due to wage increases. Salaries make up over 80 per cent of the Budget Team's allocation [for 2025/26] and provides for a four-person team led by the Budget Director. Congratulations must be offered to our long-serving Budget Director Tina Tucker who after many years as Budget Director has stepped up into the role of Acting Deputy Financial Secretary handling economic and fiscal affairs.

Mr. Chairman, the Budget Team has continued its significant work to manage overall Government expenditures and increase revenues. This work has resulted in the reductions of budget deficits over the past years and enabled the Government to provide additional support to Bermudians and their families. Notwithstanding, we also have been able to maintain or exceed our targets as we move forward in achieving budget surpluses in the future.

Mr. Chairman, the Budget Statement detailed the final performance in 2023/24, which resulted in a $29.5 million deficit, a $14 million reduction in the original deficit projection of $43.5 million.

During last year, in the Budget Statement, of course, Mr. Chairman, you note that I announced that the Government was expecting its first balanced budget in 21 years. And as we stated during the budget presentation the estimate is for a $19.7 million Consolidated Fund surplus which is $19.5 million higher than the original projection.

It is important to note, Mr. Chairman, that the 2025/26 budget marks a turning point for Bermuda. For the first time in over two decades, our fiscal planning is no longer going to be consumed by managing deficit after deficit. Instead, we stand today with a budget surplus, a strengthening economy, and later this year, we will expect to receive the first revenue inflows from Bermuda's new corporate income tax.

Continuing to move on and I know that on a broad measure we are dealing particularly with the Ministry of Finance, but I know there were some questions regarding budgeting overall when we are talking about fiscal management and control and budgeting throughout all particular ministries when it comes to matters related to salaries and wages. And it is important to note, Mr. Chairman, that it was erroneous statements in the Budget Reply which spoke to the fact that we are including money in salaries and wages to be spent elsewhere. That is not correct.

In fiscal planning and control, money that is assigned for salaries can only be used for salaries. It cannot be used for anything else. So, money that is assigned and budgeted for salaries does not all of a sudden get used in another place and another space. That is the reason why we have been able to maintain a strict budget control and beat our financial target year after year after year. So it is important to note, Mr. Chairman, that was another misrepresentation by the Opposition. But I am sure that the Shadow Minister may have something to say during his particular comments. But it is important that I point out the facts.

Mr. Chairman, this 2025/26 budget of course consists of further tax reductions to provide relief to taxpayers and increased expenditures to support health care investments for Bermuda's residents. And of course, the main highlights for the budget estimates are that the revenue is expected to reach $1.43 billion, which is 16.0 per cent or $198 million above the original estimates for fiscal year 2024/25. And we note the $118 million increase in current account expenditure.

Mr. Chairman, with all those matters particularly being stated, we are expecting a second projected Consolidated Fund surplus of $43.3 million which is more than double the surplus that we were expecting for fiscal year 2024/25.

The Budget Team will continue its work to achieve and maintain budget surpluses, through fiscal discipline and financial management. And during the 2025/26 year the unit has set the following objectives:

- Provide support for the open/participatory budget process. This was something that was inside of our election manifesto which I am looking forward to advance this year. And when we talk about participatory budgeting, it is allowing persons in the public to have more say into the budget priorities which form the budget on an annual basis.
- Continue development of budget preparation methodology site. This is a separate website that has been set up to assist various departments in their budget prep and also by making sure that those particular zero-based budgeting and other things can be entered into this system to make the production of budgets easier.

- Succession planning in the Fiscal Planning and Control Unit which of course is very important, Mr. Chairman.

Cost Centre 20020, International Affairs & Regulatory

Hon. E. David Burt: The budget estimate for the International Affairs and Regulatory Unit is found on page B-108. The budget estimate for this unit in is $738,000 an increase of $55,000 or 8.0 per cent over the prior year.

The International Affairs Unit is the lead policy division within the Ministry of Finance Headquarters in relation to the financial services sector and the corporate sector. The International Affairs Unit is organised into two units and one department. The International Affairs Unit primarily formulates policy while the Office of National Anti-Money Laundering and the Registrar of Companies manage aspects of Bermuda's compliance with international standards.

The International Affairs Unit is accountable to the Financial Secretary for the effective discharge of the unit's functions and through the Premier and Minister of Finance to Cabinet and Parliament. The head of the unit, the Deputy Financial Secretary (International Affairs and Regulation), carries out financial services policies primarily through the Ministry of Finance; coordination with the Bermuda Monetary Authority and also with the Attorney General's Chambers and the National Anti-Money Laundering Committee; the Bermuda Public Accountability Board; the Chartered Professional Accountants of Bermuda; the Registrar of Companies; and specialist domestic and global partners. In this way, the International Affairs Unit works to strengthen the financial services supervisory framework and key institutions that enables access to the domestic economy and also the global economy.

Mr. Chairman, the International Affairs Unit operates in response to a broad range of opportunities and risks, which allows the Ministry to contribute actively to a continuous flow of information on potential threats and opportunities to Bermuda and its reputation. Those opportunities and risks are constantly changing.

The International Affairs Unit's plan responds to these challenges through various goals focused on advancing the unit's priorities and reflecting the outcomes the people of Bermuda deserve.

I will now cover those goals:

- Goal 1: To ensure and support the fair, impartial, efficient, and transparent development of regulation at the national and international levels.

- Goal 2: To strengthen capacity and to secure regulatory solutions to economic security issues.
- Goal 3: To strengthen public diplomacy and support bilateral and multilateral engagement.

Mr. Chairman, the International Affairs Unit is involved in a variety of policy and management areas from regulatory reform and financial stability to anti-money laundering and market access issues at home and abroad. Globally, the International Affairs Unit contributes to international meetings either in person, via the Registrar of Companies or the Office of the National Anti-Money Laundering Unit.

The scope of the International Affairs Unit's activities are as follows:

- to support the Minister of Finance and the Financial Secretary in coordinating the financial services regulatory policy initiatives of the Government;
- to oversee the Ministry of Finance component of the financial services legislative programme together with the Bermuda Monetary Authority and the Ministry of Justice
- to provide policy and strategic advice to the Minister of Finance and the Financial Secretary on anti-money laundering policy initiatives together with the National Anti-Money Laundering Committee, pursuant to Section 49 of the Proceeds of Crime Act [1997];
- to provide policy and strategic advice to the Minister of Finance and the Financial Secretary on matters related to transparency, together with financial services and related directives issued by the European Union together with the Cabinet Office, the Brussels Office, the London Office, and EU Specialists; and finally
- to provide policy and strategic advice to the Financial Policy Council together with other domestic agencies and or committees regarding matters related to financial services.

Measures and Indicators of Success

- Full implementation of Budget Statements and Throne Speeches.
- Pledges, promotion of policy approaches at home and abroad that foster a level playing field in the area of financial services.
- Regular and normalised sharing of information affecting the financial services sector at home and abroad.
- Improved processes for registering corporate entities in Bermuda.

Full Implementation of Recommendations made for the Financial Policy Council, and the Fiscal Responsibility Panel Where Appropriate (And I am sure we will get to debate that a little bit later, Mr. Chairman.)

- Improved quality of finance market analysis.
- Timely completion of international assessments, and timely publication of international assessments, where required.

Mr. Chairman, in order to achieve its priorities, and pursuant to the Ministry of Finance's Business Plan, the Unit will undertake the following key strategic ownership goals in 2025/26:

1) Matters Related to the European Union

Hon. E. David Burt: The International Affairs and Regulatory Unit will work with the Cabinet Office, the Bermuda Monetary Authority, the Brussels Office and EU Counsel to coordinate Bermuda's compliance with various EU directives.

This will include the provision of technical and strategic advice on legislative and policy matters. This work also includes preparation for regular visits by the Minister of Finance to meet with key EU stakeholders.

2) Matters Related to the National Anti-Money Laundering Committee and Compliance with the Financial Action Task Force International Standards on Combating Money Laundering and the Financing of Terrorism and Proliferation

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Chairman, the International Affairs Unit will contribute to and support the implementation of Bermuda's Anti-Money Laundering Strategy together with the National Anti-Money Laundering Committee (NAMLC). This work includes the provision of strategic and technical advice regarding matters related to the Bermuda's compliance with the standards set down by the Financial Action Task Force.

3) Matters Related to the United Kingdom

Hon. E. David Burt: International Affairs Unit will work with the Cabinet Office on matters related to the financial services sector together with the Bermuda Monetary Authority, the London Office and specialist partners. This work includes the provision of technical and strategic advice on matters related to equivalence and transparency including [public] registers of beneficial ownership and the legitimate interest access in accordance with international standards.

4) Matters Related to the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (the OECD)

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Chairman, the International Affairs Unit will work with the Registrar of Companies to coordinate the Ministry of Finance response to OECD assessments as and when required. This includes providing technical and strategic advice on all aspects of Bermuda's corporate and regulatory framework.

5) The Gaming Commission

Hon. E. David Burt: The International Affairs Unit will work with the Gaming Commission to further assess the supervisory framework. As for other sectors, this work is expected to include the provision of technical and strategic advice on the relevant aspects of the regime in Bermuda.

6) The Bermuda Deposit Insurance Corporation

Hon. E. David Burt: The International Affairs Unit will work with the Bermuda Monetary Authority and the Bermuda Deposit Insurance Corporation to continue with the development of Bermuda's bank resolution framework.

Mr. Chairman, in [these] ways, the Regulatory Unit helps supervisors and businesses articulate the regulatory, market access and related challenges they face to the Government and to the public.

Mr. Chairman, looking back to 2024/25, the International Affairs Unit was primarily focused on technical and strategic assistance regarding the financial services sector. Additional milestones achieved by the International Affairs and Regulatory Unit in the prior fiscal year included:

- Maintained regulatory stability by ensuring the completion of the Ministry of Finance component of 10 financial services sector Bills and/or statutory instruments including but not limited to banks; investment business; currency/coins and the corporate framework.
- In collaboration with the Ministry of Finance colleagues, provide strategic advice on supervisory assessments and in sovereign rating meetings. This includes participation in technical meetings with rating agencies, government to government meetings with other Overseas Territories together with participation in meetings with the Financial Policy Council.
- As appropriate, the International Affairs Unit provided technical advice on relevant UK, US and European Union matters, as well as assisted in advocacy and domestic and external engagement initiatives. This includes participation in monthly executive and technical meetings with the Bermuda Monetary Authority, quarterly meetings with the Financial Policy Council, or as I said, meetings three times a year with the Financial Policy Council and annual meetings with the Fiscal Responsibility Panel.

Mr. Chairman, the unit's primary role going forward in the next year will be to continue to work with the relevant Finance teams; the Cabinet Office; the Attorney General's Chambers; the Bermuda Monetary Authority; the Gaming Commission; the Bermuda Deposit Insurance Corporation and the Bermuda

Public Accountability Board to meet Bermuda's domestic and international commitments and to continue to implement the structural adjustments to the International Affairs Unit as outlined earlier in this particular statement.

Mr. Chairman, the salary provision of $433,500, accounts for 59 per cent of this unit's allocation which covers three posts, an increase of $19,000 which is due to Union mandated pay increases. The remaining $36,000 increase in expenditure is necessary to support the cost of external specialists required to assist the Ministry in accomplishing its financial services mandates.

Cost Centre 20030, Domestic Affairs & Economic Policy

Hon. E. David Burt: The budget allocation for this unit is $306,000. This unit is led by the Deputy Financial Secretary, Domestic and Economic, where, as I mentioned earlier the Budget Direction Ms. Tina Tucker, who leads the Budget Office is currently acting as the Deputy Financial Secretary in this role. This will provide leadership and oversight to the Accountant General's Department, the Department of Social Insurance, the Office of the Tax Commissioner and Customs (as it relates to revenue matters). The team also provides research and analysis of economic and international conditions to help facilitate sound decisions on public policy, fiscal, debt and guarantee management. The unit also manages relationships with credit rating agencies.

Of course, Mr. Chairman, I am pleased that this unit has supported the assessment of several rating throughout 2024/25 and has resulted in Bermuda's ratings continuing to be affirmed by Standard & Poors, Moody's and KBRA. Standard & Poors issued their 2025 report only this week and they have re-affirmed Bermuda's A+ long-term rating and A1 short-term rating with an outlook of Stable. Equally of note we are hopeful that Bermuda's already impressive standing will be further upgraded if the economic targets that have been set with the implementation of corporate income tax do manifest as expected.

Once the budget is complete, the Deputy Financial Secretary can turn her attention to the post of successful oversight of domestic and economic matters, support the tax reform work and enhance financial reporting.

Other key initiatives of this particular unit include:

- Continuing to improve the sustainability of the government's pension funds, particularly the Public Service Superannuation Fund (PSSF) and the Contributory Pension Fund (CPF) in an updated framework that allows for progressive contributions. In addition to the proposed change in the contribution structure, adjustments will also have to be made to the other levers, namely the time that persons can receive or the age of which persons can receive social insurance benefits and also, as we said, contributions as well.

- Working with a leading audit firm who has provided a draft scope designed to assist the Accountant General's department in bringing the outstanding audits of the Pension Funds up to date. We recognise the importance of these particular efforts as part of the wider work on pension reform and sustainability and have taken the decision to enlist additional resources to address both challenges within the current fiscal year.
- Continuing to work on the development of economic models for the forecasting of key economic indicators and Government medium term fiscal data to, among other things, enhance the execution of the government's fiscal and economic management strategy and considerations for the reform of the tax system. We do have very complex models inside the Ministry of Finance, Mr. Chairman, but we are going to look to update those particular models. And we update those models every year in line with the projections that are made and the actual outturns to make sure that those things can be better fine-tuned to give better projections going forward.
- Working with the relevant teams to ensure a more coordinated and effective approach to debt collection. We have stated the successes of which we have seen in this area.
- In conjunction with the Ministry of Public Works, I am sure that the Shadow Minister for Public Works who is not in the Chamber currently, which is fine, but something that he would certainly want to know, is completion of the long-overdue plan for the formation of a Government-owned captive insurance company to further reduce costs and create efficiencies in relation to the provision of insurance for Government assets. Something, Mr. Chairman, that I am particularly bothered that we have not been able to advance to completion but we are going to continue to press to try (hopefully) to get that done this year.
- Working with the teams in the division to effectively progress systems upgrades and digitalisation work to promote more effective provision of tax and pension collections and government services. And of course, the Budget Statement mentions some of the progress that is being made in certain areas of the Ministry on that.

Cost Centre 20100, Office of the National Anti-Money Laundering Committee

Spend Analysis and Employment Numbers

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Chairman, the Office of NAMLC's budget for the fiscal year 2025/26 is $936,000, an increase of $57,000 from the previous financial year. The increase is in part due to the increase to accommodate the union agreed pay increases but also to allow for more necessary travel in 2025/26. This budget represents the minimum level of funding required to successfully provide core secretariat services to NAMLC, including Bermuda meeting its financial obligation to the Caribbean Financial Action Task Force [CFATF]. A separate grant of $415,000 was received in 2024/25 from the confiscated assets fund to progress a range of national initiatives in preparation for Bermuda's upcoming mutual evaluation in 2025/26. The balance as of 31 March 2025 is $242,243. This balance will be spent in 2025/26. And that balance, Mr. Chairman, represents out of the $415,000 that was used from the confiscated assets fund to support the work of NAMLC through various ministries as is allowed under the Proceeds of Crime Act.

The salary provision for the Office of NAMLC in 2025/26 is $536,000, represents 57.28 per cent of the total cost and covers three posts. This is in line with the 2024/25 budget. Mr. Chairman, you will note that on page B-109 the revised headcount stands at two. Recruitment for the post of Junior Legal is now closed and we are assessing the suitability of the candidates who applied. It is hoped that this position can be filled in short order. As already mentioned, the NAMLC office has an increased travel budget of $30,000 in 2025/26. This is to facilitate participation in several critical overseas conferences and training sessions which will enable the Office of NAMLC to prepare for Bermuda's forthcoming mutual evaluation. Notably the CFATF plenaries in May and November 2025. Provision is also made for Bermuda's annual membership contribution to the CFATF of $100,000.

Mr. Chairman, the purpose of the Office of the National Anti-Money Laundering Committee (Office of NAMLC) is to provide secretariat support to the National Anti-Money Laundering Committee, and to enable the Government to advance its anti-money laundering, anti-terrorist financing and counter proliferation financing policy initiatives thereby ensuring an effective regime. You can see the detailed objectives on page B-107 (objective 10).

NAMLC ensures that Bermuda has a strong and effective regime to combat money laundering, terrorist financing and the financing of proliferation; and the competent authorities within NAMLC assist international counterparts in the effort to address these issues on a global scale through its established coordination, cooperation, and accountability mechanisms.

Hon. E. David Burt: During the prior fiscal year the Office of the NAMLC has continued its critical focus on maintaining and, where needed, enhancing the effectiveness of Bermuda's AML framework through the progress of several initiatives geared towards ensuring that we are technically compliant with the revised FATF standards and ensuring our preparedness for the 5th Round Mutual Evaluation which is scheduled to commence in October 2026. The 5th Round is focused on the effective implementation of AML/ATF and counter proliferation laws.

It is in this vein the following actions were undertaken by NAMLC in the previous fiscal year:

(i) Due to the changes in the FATF standards and also some deficiencies highlighted in our 2020 Mutual Evaluation Report, NAMLC completed a technical and operational gap analysis which sought to identify any gaps within our legislation and operational frameworks.

(ii) NAMLC has also organised and managed the review of the updating of Bermuda's National AML Policy to reflect Bermuda's updated understanding of money laundering and terrorist financing and proliferation financing risks, as well as to reflect the changes to the international standards and best practices. Updates to this policy were approved by Cabinet in November 2024.

(iii) Further, NAMLC has coordinated, managed and updated Bermuda's understanding of its money laundering and terrorist financing risks and the financing thereof are documented in the 2024 Money Laundering and Terrorist Financing National Risk Assessment report. This risk assessment is completed and will be subjected to ratification by Cabinet prior to publication.

(iv) NAMLC procured technical assistance for conducting Bermuda's first Proliferation Financing National Risk Assessment which commenced in January 2025 with work being undertaken with AML/ATF supervisors and competent authorities. The expected completion date is 2 July 2025.

(v) In preparation for the 5th Round Mutual Evaluation NAMLC secured training from the Caribbean Financial Action Task Force (CFATF) for all competent authorities on the revised FATF standards. This training was conducted virtually on 6 February 2025.

(vi) NAMLC developed an internal assessment which focused on the FATF's immediate outcomes and revised technical standards to ensure that Bermuda identifies any gaps within its AML/ATF framework and corrective measures are undertaken prior to Bermuda's upcoming evaluation. An independent reviewer was contracted to ensure Bermuda's written submissions are reviewed against the standard followed by an onsite which took place last week, 5 May through 9 May) which probes further into our AML/ATF framework. The reviewers will then provide their findings to AML/ATF competent authorities, permanent secretaries and heads of agencies.

Key Initiatives for Upcoming Financial Year

Hon. E. David Burt: NAMLC's focus continues to be to ensure that Bermuda maintains its position as a global leader in the fight to combat money laundering, terrorist financing and proliferation financing. Of critical importance is our 5th Round Mutual Evaluation scheduled to commence in October 2026. This evaluation will focus on technical compliance where deficiencies were identified and those standards with significant revisions which are termed Recommendations Under Review [RUR]. The evaluation is primarily one of effectiveness which requires Bermuda to demonstrate how effective it has been for the last five years since its mutual evaluation in implementation of the FATF standards.

Mr. Chairman, the key national initiatives for which the office will provide support to NAMLC during the financial year 2025/26, the majority will be funded by a grant in accordance with section 55A of the Proceeds of Crime Act 1997, are as follows:

- i. Agencies are required to develop an action plan to ensure that all gaps identified are remediated prior to the end of this year to allow time to demonstrate effectiveness. The identification of technical and effective compliance gaps was completed last week for which the final report was produced.
- ii. Continue to coordinate, manage and provide technical leadership in the publication of the 2024 Money Laundering and Terrorist Financing National Risk Assessment and ensure the proliferation financing risk assessment is completed within the timeframe.
- iii. Continued training of NAMLC's senior executives, technical officers, public service executives and responsible Ministers in relation to the revised FATF Standards and Methodology, as well as to expose them to the new procedures that will apply to Bermuda's 5th Round Mutual Evaluation.
- iv. Providing of technical support to the supervisors for the Designated Non-Financial Business and Professions (lawyers, accountants, real estate, high-value dealers and dealers in precious metals and stones) through secondment of supervisory expert to the Office of NAMLC.
- v. Keeping abreast of any further revisions to FATF standards that may impact Bermuda's 5th Round Mutual Evaluation which may require legislative changes to ensure technical compliance.
- vi. Organise and manage NAMLC's review of Bermuda's National anti-money laundering policies to propose updates for the consideration of Cabinet and to ensure that Bermuda's national policy is updated to reflect Bermuda's updated understanding of money laundering and terrorist financing and proliferation financing risks which arise out of the aforementioned risk assessments.

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Chairman, in order to progress all of these initiatives, and you can see there are quite a few, especially running up to a mutual evaluation, the Chair and Office team will continue to work closely with the National Anti-Money Laundering Cabinet Committee, NAMLC member agencies and other stakeholders.

I wish to at this point in time thank Ms. Cheryl Lister, OBE, who after her time as Acting Financial Secretary and advisor to the Ministry of Finance returns to the position of Chair of the National Anti-Money Laundering Committee. Equally, I would like to thank Ms. Kozel Creese, our national co-ordinator who since joining in January 2024 has significantly advanced the department in our coordination work in this particular area.

Cost Centre 20070, Pension Commission

Hon. E. David Burt: Grant of zero, which is a 100 per cent decrease. Mr. Chairman, as a result of significant cash reserves held by the Commission which have grown over the last few years due to the increase in regulatory fees and effective cost control, no grant was allocated to the Pension Commission for this upcoming year.

As we know, Mr. Chairman, the Pension Commission is a corporate body established under the National Pension Scheme (Occupational Pensions) Act 1998. The Commission has responsibility for the administration of the Pension Trust Funds Act 1966 and pension trusts established and administered under this Act.

In 2024 the Commission provided policy advice and guidance to the Ministry of Finance relating to the capping of administration fees charged by pension plan administrators, providing for greater domestic investment opportunities for plan members and first-time homeowner refunds.

With respect to the capping of fees, the Commission is working to introduce the regulations later this year. Government has announced and we of course legislated the fact that there will be limits for defined contribution employer plans, that the fees should not exceed

- 1.25 per cent per year for members with balances over $50,000
- 0.75 per cent per year for balances between $25,000 and $50,000
- 0.5 per cent per year for balances less than $25,000

With respect to first-time homeowner refunds specific legislation commenced in December 2024 in which members or former members of a defined contribution pension plan or local retirement product who has not attained normal retirement age may apply to the Commission for a first-time homeowner refund for the purchase of a principal residence in Bermuda, by themselves, husband, wife or child.

An applicant under the age of 45 years of age may receive a refund of up to 30 per cent of their pension plan account balance and an applicant who is 45 years of age or older but has not yet attained the age of 65 years of age, may receive a refund of up to 15 per cent of their pension plan account balance to be applied directly toward a downpayment further boosting all the work, Mr. Chairman, that this Government is doing to promote home ownership and as the Junior Minister of Finance said in his presentation last week, Let the numbers speak for themselves.

With respect to other areas of responsibility, the Commission experienced a significant year over year increase in the following:

- fielding queries and providing assistance via email;
- 25 per cent lump sum refund applications;
- financial hardship refund applications;
- financial hardship withdrawal meetings; and
- meetings with plan members;

During 2024 the Commission

- approved 409 lump sum refunds compared to 321 in 2023;
- wound-up 54 plans compared to 69 in the prior year;
- registered 117 plan amendments compared to 157 in the prior year;
- approved zero plan trustees in comparison to 15 in the prior year;
- initiated 6 civil actions against delinquent employers and their directors and officers compared to 15 in 2023;
- conducted 365 compliance meetings with employers and plan members compared to 176 in the prior year;
- held 4 compliance meetings with plan administrators compared to 10 in 2023;
- participated in 27 public and/or advisory [committee] meetings compared to 9 in 2023; and
- Completed 6 transactions under the Pension Trust Funds Act 1966 compared to 16 in 2023.

As of 31 December 2024 (based on estimates), Mr. Chairman,

- The National Pension Scheme contained 47,455 Plan Members/Formers Members.

- There was a total of 3,255 Employer Plans, of which 3,240 of them were Defined Contribution and only 15 Defined Benefit.
- The total value of assets under the National Pension Scheme is estimated at $4.36 billion, Mr. Chairman (that is billion with a “B”).
- There were 498 Self-Employed Plans; and
- $87,108 of plan assets were transferred to Overseas Retirement Vehicles, compared with zero dollars in 2023.

Mr. Chairman, the National Pension Scheme (Financial Hardship) Regulations 2010 allows Bermudians with a demonstrated financial need to get access to a portion of their private sector pension funds, based on prescribed criteria for hardship. Every year I do provide statistics on this and I will provide these as well as follows.

As noted for 2024:

- Total applications received—169;
- Approved applications—120;
- Declined applications—32;
- Applications pending and/or withdrawn—17;
- Total amount approved for withdrawal from pension balances was $2,056,304. Which, of course, is a small amount when compared to the $4.6 billion amount that is there.

Applications Approved by Type:

- Eligible Educational Expenses—69;
- Imminent Threat of Loss of Principal Residence—10;
- Imminent Eviction from Home for Rental Arrears—27;
- Eligible Medical Expenses—10;
- Funeral Expenses—4.

The Chairman: Please hold there, Minister.

For the benefit of the listening public and Honourable Members, we are now in Committee of Supply for further consideration of the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for the year 2025/26. We are now debating the Ministry of Finance. The Honourable Premier, who is also the Minister of Finance, is giving the presentation on Head 10. This debate began at four o'clock exactly. It is now five o'clock, so we have exactly three hours remaining.

Sometime thereafter, and within those three hours, the Shadow Minister of Finance will be given clinical questions.

Minister, you may resume.

Hon. E. David Burt: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Looking ahead to the current fiscal year with regard to the upcoming fiscal year, the Pension Commission has a number of goals:

1. to continue to review issues and challenges facing the occupational pension plan sector in Bermuda in order to make recommenda-

- tions to the Minister of Finance on further legislative and/or policy adjustments;
2. to improve the understanding and compliance by regulated entities with key regulatory issues;
 3. to introduce a financial awareness campaign on the importance of saving and retirement planning and the important role occupational pension plans play in achieving successful outcomes;
 4. to continue to enhance the Commission's financial independence and sustainability via the identification of additional sources of revenue;
 5. to further the completion of the aforementioned regulations to ensure that the matters that have been legislated by this House are able to be put in effect, specifically with the caps on pension plan balances; and finally
 6. to continue to complete outstanding audits.

2025/26 Projected Revenue and Expenditure Items

Hon. E. David Burt: The Commission's projected revenue for 2025/26 is $1,350,000, primarily from regulatory fees and collections. The projected total expenses for the year is $2,000,000, which is salaries for 10 staff members and makes up $1.6 million of the budget.

The 2024/25 cost estimate is $1.52 million, an increase of $540,000. An increase in salaries, and headcount from seven to ten, accounts for $380,000 of the increase.

The resulting projected position is a net deficit of $710,000, which will be funded from cash reserves.

Before I move on, Mr. Chairman, I would like to extend my thanks to the staff in the Pension Commission for their continued work in the past year.

Now, Mr. Chairman, I will move on.

Cost Centre 20110—Gaming Commission

Hon. E. David Burt: The budget estimate for the grant contribution for the Gaming Commission is $800,000. This represents partial funding for the Commission. The remainder of their income will be generated by the collection of external fees, primarily from cruise ship operators who apply for permission to open their casinos whilst in port in Bermuda.

The total projected expenditure of the Commission for 2025/26 is $1.5 million, which is a significant reduction from the 2024/25 budget of $1.9 million, and a reduction from the 2023/24 budget of $2.4 million.

The funding will support the Commission in executing the programmes set out in the 2025/26 workplan, which includes continuing to support the resolution of banking services being provided to casino operators and exploring potential new lines of business for the jurisdiction to ensure that the Commission can be self-funding.

During fiscal year 2024/25, the Commission's focus has been on investigating new lines of business and matters related to corresponding banking challenges. And those new lines of business of course, Mr. Chairman, revolve around sports betting, national broader lottery issues and matters related to online gaming as well.

I would like to express my sincere appreciation to the team at the Commission who have generally exercised significant fiscal prudence. We know they come under a lot of criticism. And of course we understand that it is politically difficult to have a Gaming Commission that regulates the gaming sector in Bermuda. But recognising that there are no operating casinos in the country due to the banking challenges, we are continuing to work through these particular matters. And we recognise that they are being funded at a bare level to continue their particular operations and have worked downsized or reduced, including moving officers and making sure that they are being fiscally prudent in that regard.

Cost Centre 20120—Corporate Income Tax, Grant

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Chairman, in late 2023, as we all will know, we passed the Bermuda Corporate Income Tax Act 2023. We know that it was a significant achievement representing strong and positive collaboration and consultation with our international business sector. The genesis of this initiative and subsequent work was Pillar 2 of a global agreement reached in 2021 under the auspices of the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development [OECD] and signed by more than 140 countries. This agreement requires a 15 per cent tax to be levied on a jurisdictional basis for in-scope entities and is commonly referred to as the Global Minimum Tax (GMT) Agreement.

The OECD has issued model rules as part of this framework for the implementation of the GMT, and these rules were the foundation for the development of Bermuda's regime to be considered compliant with these requirements. The Act imposes a 15 per cent corporate income statutory tax that will be applicable to Bermuda businesses that are part of a multinational group with annual revenue exceeding €750 million. The Corporate Income Tax legislation came into effect on the 1 January of this year; that would be 2025.

In formulating its position and moving forward with legislation, Bermuda held multiple consultations on corporate income tax administration. The two public consultations held this year (2025) have focused on enforcement and broader provisions relating to the administration of the Corporate Income Tax Act 2023.

Under the new legislation, Mr. Chairman, full-year tax filings for the 2025 tax year will be due in 2026. The first instalment of tax is due for payment in August 2025. As per page B-109 of the Budget Book, this is estimated at $187.5 million for fiscal year 2025/26.

The administration of the regime will be the responsibility of the Corporation Income Tax Agency [CITA]. This entity was created and enacted in July 2024 after the implementation of the Corporate Income Tax Agency Act 2024. The aim of the agency is to continue to develop and implement an appropriate and effective corporate income tax regime to meet the changing global tax environment. Operationally its primary functions include taxpayer services, return filing and processing, audit and compliance, enforcement and collections, dispute resolution, and law interpretation and International Tax Cooperation.

CITA is being developed on the basis of incorporating the appropriate key structural elements of our well-respected financial services regulator with modified characteristics to take into account the difference in responsibilities between a regulator and a tax authority.

As we know, Mr. Chairman, the Corporate Income Tax Agency has hired an experienced tax professional as CEO at the beginning of 2025. His task is to build out and deliver the strategy for the Corporate Income Tax Agency, which includes the hiring of other employees required to build out and operate the agency.

The Corporate Income Tax Agency has been granted an operational grant of $4.78 million in 2025/26 (a $3.5 million or 274 per cent increase) which is in line with the current year spend. Further funding will be required in the current year to support successful implementation of the IT systems and infrastructure and to ensure there are the required staff and related resources. It is envisaged that the Corporate Income Tax Agency will be self-funding in future years through the interest from revenues that they collect, and any additional funding for this year will likely be as a loan against that future expected revenue.

I wish to, Mr. Chairman, thank all of the team in the Ministry of Finance Headquarters, which has been led by Financial Secretary [Chidozie] Ofoego, who as mentioned took on the role in April 2024, and all of the deputy financial secretaries and the staff in the Ministry of Finance, for their remarkable work in supporting the Minister of Finance and the Junior Ministers of Finance in ensuring that we continue to execute these items for the benefit of the citizens of this country.

Mr. Chairman, this concludes remarks for the Estimates of Head 10.

I shall happily defer the podium or microphone to the Junior Minister of Finance for Heads 11 and 12.

The Chairman: Thank you, Minister of Finance.

The Chair now recognises the Junior Minister of Finance, Wayne Furbert.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Thank you, Mr. Chairman. I am carrying the baton on for the Premier and Minister of Finance for Head 11 and Head 12.

HEAD 11—ACCOUNTANT GENERAL

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Mr. Chairman, I now present the budget for the Accountant General's Department (Head 11) which is found on pages B-111, B-115 and C-11.

The Accountant General's Department was established under section 4 of the Public Treasury (Administration and Payments) Act 1969. The department has responsibilities for the administration of the Consolidated Fund, and accounts for and reports on the other public funds which are all subject to their own legislations. The functions and responsibilities of the Accountant General's Department are critically important in the role of governance. The department is key in helping to undergird the financial controls and processes that are in place with respect to the public purse.

The department's mission statement is, To develop and maintain quality financial reporting, employee health insurance, treasury function, internal control and effective use of technology to aid in decision-making.

The department is divided into two programme centres, as follows:

1101—Consolidated Fund Administration, which oversees all of the activities of the Consolidated Fund. This is further broken out into six sections:

- Policy Planning and Management—developing long-term goals and strategies in alignment with governmental priorities and general administration of the department;
- Financial Reporting—accounting for and reporting on the Consolidated Fund and the other public funds;
- Compliance and Disbursement—execution of payments for purchased goods and services;
- Revenue Receipting and Treasury Management—collecting and recording of Government revenues including fees and taxes, cash management and forecasting, administration of the investment of the pension funds under management and risk management, and insurance. The total pension funds' investments under management are $2.76 billion, broken out as follows: PSS Fund—$613.2 million, and CPF—$2.16 billion;
- Bank Reconciliation—reconciliation of all Government's bank accounts;
- Financial Systems—management of the Enterprise system supporting the Government's accounting platform; and

- The department also has legislative responsibility for benefits (employee pension deductions) administration.

1102—Fund Administration, which represents the Government's share of employee benefits programmes, namely,

- Public Service Superannuation Fund (PSSF);
- Contributory Pension Fund (Social Insurance) (CPF);
- Government Employees Health Insurance Scheme (GEHI) and administration of the scheme and payment of health claims; and
- Ministers and Members of the Legislature Pension Fund (MMLPF).

The department continues to operate at staffing levels below its total complement. Forty-one posts are budgeted in 2025/26, an increase of three heads from the 2024/25 budget. The increase is predominantly down to full year impact of staffing, following recruitment of two key posts to support the audit process. Currently there are five vacancies within the department. Notwithstanding the vacancies, the department persists in efforts to identify efficiencies within its approved organisational structure.

General accomplishments in fiscal 2024/25 are as follows:

- Completion of the online payment portal, one of the first revenue stream utilising, is for the payment of parking tickets.
- Worked with several government departments to increase automation/digitisation of financial processes.
- Worked closely with the Office of the Auditor General and Ministries to complete the annual audit of the Consolidated Fund and progress the audits of the other public funds.
- Delivered scheduled Financial Instructions training in conjunction with the Department of Employee and Organisational Development.
- The Compliance and Disbursement section continues to make vendor payments timely and accurately notwithstanding staffing challenges.
- Treasury functions and other operational service levels were maintained throughout the year.
- As well as these accomplishments, as you will see from the KPIs on page B-114, the department has managed to succeed in 17 of its 18 measures, or a 94 per cent success rate. The only measure that was not achieved was timing of year-end files. This was due to a labour shortage which has now been rectified by the recruitment of two management accountants.

Mr. Chairman, the Accountant General's Department has been allocated a total budget of $106.7 million for the fiscal 2025/26 year which is broken out as follows:

- Consolidated Fund Administration estimate—$6.31 million;
- Fund Administration estimate—$100 million; and
- Capital estimate—$153,000.

This budgetary allocation represents an increase of $20.15 million, or 23 per cent above the 2024/25 original estimates—which is primarily due to the additional $19.3 million of Government's contributions to the GEHI scheme of which $18 million is part of the Government's investment in health care and a start in funding the recent years of shortfalls from the GEHI Fund. Also, to support the shortfall GEHI rates will be increased for public sector employees and the remainder of the increase is due to the Government's matching contribution.

The 2025/26 Revenue estimate is $500,000, a decrease of $1.4 million, or 75 per cent, below the 2024/25 original estimate. This revenue primarily relates to interest earned on the investments in the Sinking Fund.

The Current Account Estimates can be found on pages B-111 and B-112.

Explanation of Significant Programme Expenditure Changes

1101 (PAGE B-111): CONSOLIDATED FUND ADMINISTRATION

($6.31 million—Increase of $342,000, or 6 per cent)

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: The current year's request reflects an increase of $342,000, which is primarily reflective of the uplift in salaries from the recently concluded salary negotiations and increases in staffing level from the recruitment for two vacant posts. It should be noted that the items that drive the department's overall expenditures are salaries, technical support maintenance fees for the various software systems used by the ACG and rent for premises occupied at 51 Church Street.

1102 (PAGE B-111) FUND ADMINISTRATION ($100.24 million—Increase of $19.8 Million, or 25 per cent)

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: This programme represents the Government's cost for employees' benefits. These costs are a function of the number of Government employees and the rates relating to the respective benefits (Employer Overhead). For example, Contributory Pension (Social Insurance) is directly related to the national Contributory Pensions rates of contribution.

As the employer, the Government ordinarily matches its employees' contributions to the PSSF, Social Insurance contributions (CPF), GEHI contributions (premiums), except for Police, Corrections, and the Regiment, for which the Government pays both the employer and employee share, and the Ministers' and Members' contributions to the MMLPF. Contributions made into the PSSF and CPF are invested to fund future pension payments to vested retired Government personnel. The increase in the 2025/26 estimates for the Government's cost for employees' benefits is primarily reflective of the additional overheads expected from funding increases for PSSF and GEHI contributions and the additional $18 million being provided to fund the annual GEHI deficit.

The GEHI Scheme has experienced annual deficits in recent years. This year the estimated deficit of $31 million will be partially funded by an additional $18 million from the Consolidated Fund. As part of the agreement with the Unions for public sector employees the GEHI contribution rates will be increased by $600 per year over the next three years to close this shortfall. The Minister of Finance will also continue to review further options for delivering value for money to GEHI to protect the public purse, including the recent measure to ensure that the lowest cost is paid to pharmacies for identical medication.

Capital Estimates

PAGE C-11: CAPITAL FUNDING
($153,000—A Decrease of $127,000)

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Technical support and ongoing maintenance will be required in the 2025/26 fiscal year as the Oracle E1 System is continually enhanced to improve the business processes and other important services provided. The department's focus remains on leveraging the latest advancements in JDE E1 to optimise financial operations and drive continuous improvements.

The 2025/26 capital allocation will be used to progress the following projects:

- Implementation of a purge and archive solution for JDE Enterprise I;
- JDE Enterprise One 9.7 update. This update promises enhanced user experience and performance and expanded cloud capabilities; and
- Replacement of office equipment, photocopiers desktop PC, et cetera.

Mr. Chairman, the key initiatives planned for the Accountant General's Department for fiscal year 2025/26 are to,

- continue working with the Government departments to automate/digitise their financial process;
- review and update financial instructions to align with current needs and priorities;
- complete the Audited Consolidated Fund Financial Statements for the year ending 31

March 2025 no later than 14 November 2025; and the

- March 2021 PSSF and July 2021 CPF statements have been submitted to the Auditor General for a full audit. The Financial Reporting Section within the Accountant General's department which is currently staffed with four full-time employees continues to work to progress the backlog on the other funds. The status of the public funds are as follows,
 1. Government Reserves Fund—2024;
 2. Unemployment Insurance Fund—2020;
 3. Government Borrowing Sinking Fund—2016;
 4. Ministers and Members of the Legislature—2015;
 5. Government Employees Health Insurance—2012; and
 6. Confiscated Fund—2010.
- continue to deliver scheduled Financial Instructions training in conjunction with the Department of Employee and Organizational Development;
- timely processing of outgoing vendor payment; and
- 100 per cent of clean health insurance claims paid within 30 days in line with legislation.

Mr. Chairman, I would like to extend my appreciation for the work undertaken by the management and staff of the Accountant General's department under the leadership of the Accountant General, Mrs. Dionne Morrison-Shakir.

HEAD 12—BERMUDA CUSTOMS

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Mr. Chairman, I will now speak to Bermuda Customs Department Revenue, which is included under the Ministry of Finance. Customs expenditures are included within the Ministry of National Security which will be debated on Monday, 26 May.

Total 2025/26 budgeted customs revenue, shown on page B-116, is $220 million. This is a decrease of $18.8 million, or 8 per cent, on the prior year budget of $239 million. Compared to the 2024/25 revised estimate the 2025/26 budget is a reduction of $9.8 million, or 4.4 per cent.

Mr. Chairman, world conditions in recent years have caused inflation rates to climb and Bermuda is not immune from its effects. We all know only too well how the cost of living has risen and the anxiety that comes from the economic uncertainty that these conditions foster, and the distress caused when families are forced to make hard choices between one necessity and another. The pain is felt by all but those who can least afford it are hit hardest.

Consequently, it is this Government's goal to lower the cost of living for Bermuda. In doing so, we are confident that we will not only ease the daily burden of making ends meet but also offer new opportunities for our economic development. One of the major tools that we have at our disposal in achieving this aim is by reducing the costs of selected imported goods by lowering rates of customs duty.

During the 2024/25 financial year, we responded to the cost-of-living crisis by introducing a reduction in the [customs] duty due on fuel used in the production of electricity by 60 per cent. This relief came into effect on 19 July 2024 and from that date up to March 2025 this relief has lowered the fuel cost on the Bermudian electricity bill by $9.2 million.

During the 2025/26 financial year, we will offer additional wide-ranging reliefs and concessions with respect to parts for motor vehicles, air conditioners, building materials, and further concessions on the fuel used in the production of electricity.

Analyses of the major revenues are as follows.

Customs Duty

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: The customs duty forecast for 2025/26 is $214.0 million which is $19.0 million, or 8 per cent, lower than the 2024/25 original forecast of $233.0 million. You will also note, Mr. Chairman, that the forecast of customs duty collected for 2024/25 has been revised down by $9.0 million to $224.1 million, based on more recently available information on actual collections of customs duty for 2024/25.

It is expected that customs duty collections will decrease during 2025/26, which compared to the revised estimate of 24/25 is a reduction of $9.8 million. This reduction is due to an increase in several reliefs which I will outline. Broadly, these reliefs will fall into four main categories designed to lower the cost of living and stimulate economic growth,

- We shall raise the duty-free travellers personal allowance for returning residents from $200 per person to $300 per person. Based on prior years' travel, this is expected to ease the collective tax burden on returning travellers by an estimated $2 million;
- We shall provide wide-ranging reliefs on parts and supplies for motor vehicle repairs, including but not limited to: engines, transmission shafts, gaskets, electrical, glass, belts, tubing, and interior furnishings. We will amend from 35.0 per cent to zero per cent, the customs duty rates associated with 43 tariff codes providing cost reductions of an estimated $2.5 million; from 25.0 per cent to zero per cent, the customs duty rates associated with 20 tariff codes providing cost reductions of an estimated $176,000. It is estimated, based on prior years' data, to reduce the cost of repairing Bermuda's motor vehicles by a total of $2.7 million;

- We shall provide wide-ranging reliefs on selected building materials, including but not limited to: block, stones, glass, plastics, fabrics, wood, metal, chemicals including glues, resins, and paint. Pre-fabricated supplies as well as raw materials for both interior and exterior work. We will amend: from 25.0 per cent to 10.0 per cent, the customs duty rates associated with 429 tariff codes providing cost reductions of an estimated $4.9 million; from 25.0 per cent to zero per cent, the customs duty rates associated with two tariff codes providing cost reductions of an estimated $41,000; from 15.0 per cent to 10.0 per cent, the customs duty rates associated with eight tariff codes providing cost reductions of an estimated $293,000; from 12.5 per cent to 10.0 per cent, and the customs duty rates associated with 44 tariff codes providing cost reductions of an estimated $325,000. It is estimated, based on prior years' data, to reduce the cost of construction and building repairs by a total of $5 (I assume that is million);
- We shall also provide reliefs on the imports of air-conditioning units and parts. We will amend from 35.0 per cent to 10.0 per cent, the customs duty rates associated with six tariff codes. It is estimated, based on prior years' data, to reduce the customs duty cost on these items by over $1.8 million;
- Finally, we shall provide further customs duty reductions on imported fuel used in the production of electricity. It is estimated, based on prior years' data, that this will cut the Bermudian electricity bill by $1.7 million in addition to the concessions introduced during 2024/25.

You will note that the sum of these reductions is $13.8 million, compared to the overall reduction of $9.8 million to the revised forecast. Therefore, within general customs revenue due to inflation and economic growth the department is expecting an increase of $4 million in total across all areas.

Other Revenue Sources

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Forecasted revenue sources other than customs duty, are expected to contribute a total of $5.9 million during 2025/26 which, based on our forecast, would equate to 2.7 per cent of the revenue collected by Customs. There is little indication that receipts in these areas will change significantly from the revenue levels received during the 2024/25 fiscal year to date.

Also, within 2025/26 the department of Customs will work with the Cost of Living Commission to analyse duty on essential commodities to look at what else could be added to the Essential Commodities Schedule of their Act, thereby reducing customs duty that can provide price reductions of those goods to the consumer.

Most importantly within 2025/26 the Customs Department will work to streamline the process to obtain duty relief by making the process more efficient by aligning with industry best practice which will also strengthen compliance. The aim of the project is to ultimately support economic growth.

The customs team will review the administrative burden and processing time regarding duty relief and improve transparency and accountability within the process, all with the aim to reduce the red tape, time, and cost for both customs and the entity requesting the relief.

Customs will therefore be looking at the following;

- Implementing a trusted trader programme—This will enable certain entities to have priority processing, reduced paperwork and lower inspection rates. Eligibility for this programme will be based on historic compliance, volume and financial stability.
- Develop the digital platform for duty relief—This will be a secure, user-friendly portal for applications, with the functionality to track status, enable two-way communication and allow digital signatures.
- Develop delegated approval authority—At present a certain number of requests are approved by the Minister. Customs will seek delegated authority to senior members of the Ministry's headquarters so that routine cases can be handled efficiently. Develop a digital platform for duty relief. Ministerial involvement will be limited to large, strategic, complex cases.
- Simplify paperwork and pre audit requirements—In line with industry best practice Customs will move to post clearance audits for low-risk traders.

Mr. Chairman, the above is, as already stated, expected to reduce clearance times and reduce costs for businesses, large and small, whilst improving government efficiency.

Mr. Chairman, sincere thanks to the Collector Lucinda Pearman and the Customs team for their work in support of Bermuda's economy in this area.

I will now turn this back over to the Premier and the Minister of Finance.

The Chairman: Thank you, Member from constituency 6, in the Bible Belt.

Premier, you now have the floor.

Hon. E. David Burt: Thank you.

I thank that Honourable Member from the Bible Belt for his assistance, Mr. Chairman.

I am going to cover Head 28, which is social insurance, before I turn it back over to the Junior Minister for Head 38, which is the Office of Tax Commissioner, which he is well familiar with. I will then take the Registrar of Companies and the Head 58 to close out this particular section of the debate.

HEAD 28—DEPARTMENT OF SOCIAL INSURANCE

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Chairman, the Department of Social Insurance's Current Account Estimates are shown on pages B-117 to B-119 of the Budget Book. The estimate for 2025/26 is $2,894,000 which is $200,106 or 4 per cent less than the original 2024/25 budget. This budget is solely for War Pensions and Gratuities.

Mr. Chairman, the Department of Social Insurance and its staff administer the Government of Bermuda's Contributory Pension Fund and benefits to the Second World War veterans.

- War Pensions and Gratuities are 100 per cent funded by the Consolidated Fund;
- Contributory Pension operations within the department are 100 per cent funded by the Contributory Pension Fund (CPF). Expenditures are paid through the Consolidated Fund (CF) and recharged to the CPF in accordance with Section 3(3) of the Contributory Pensions Act 1970.

Mission Statement

Hon. E. David Burt: The mission statement for the Department of Social Insurance is: We are committed to serving current and future generations by ensuring compliance with the legislation, collecting contributions, and paying benefits timely and accurately, through education, best practices, and the use of technology.

Department of Social Insurance Vision

Hon. E. David Burt: And the vision for that department is: To be a trusted and essential source of financial security for all beneficiaries.

Core Functions

Hon. E. David Burt: The department operates under two main Acts of Parliament to administer the Government of Bermuda's Social Insurance Programme as well as the War Pensions and Gratuities.

1. The Contributory Pensions Act 1970—This is for all employed and self-employed individuals over age of 18 or under the age of 26, in the instance of full-time students who work for more than four hours per week and are required to pay contributions.

There are two major classes of benefits paid out of the fund:

- a) Contributory benefits for old age pension and gratuity, widow's and widower's allowance and gratuity, and disability benefit; and
 - b) Non-contributory benefits for old age pension and disability benefits.
2. The War Pensions and Gratuities (War Service) Act 1947—Under this Act benefits are payable to Bermudian war veterans (or their surviving spouses) who served during World War II. There are currently 58 veterans or their surviving spouses in the programme.

Highlights for 2024/25

Hon. E. David Burt: Moving on, Mr. Chairman, to the highlights for 2024/25.

- The department completed the actuarial review for the CPF in June 2024. The actuarial review is required every three years per section 35 of the Contributory Pensions Act, and that was tabled in the House of Assembly on 21 March 2025.
- In September 2024, Contributory Pensions (Amendment of Benefits) Order 2024 was tabled in this House, increasing pension benefits by 2.4 per cent effective 16 August 2024.
- The department adopted recommendations of the Management Consultant Services (MCS) section review and began to implement the following review in the last financial year:
 - o reviewed and updated the documentation of our systems and processes;
 - o reviewed all updated all job descriptions;
 - o began the recruitment process to fill vacant positions to serve the population better; and
 - o these measures have assisted in the improved pension administration and collection of outstanding debt, streamlined operations, and improved the execution of the Department of Social Insurance's mandate.
- The department has continued to maintain effective working relationships with the Debt Enforcement Unit of the Attorney General's Chambers, Department of Public Prosecutions, Department of Immigration, Office of the Tax Commissioner, and the Transport Control Department with respect to efforts to assist in debt collection;
- As part of the Government of Bermuda's commitment to modernise public services, the department successfully launched the following two online services:
 - o In May 2024, the launch of the online service that allows contributors to search for their social insurance number so they no longer have to call the department; and

- o In February 2025, online applications and requests from employers or contributors for services [was launched]. This initiative has streamlined processes, improved efficiency by serving the public through this digital site. This [digital site] can be found at: <https://socialinsurance.gov.bm>.

Expenditure Overview

Hon. E. David Burt: The department operates with five main cost centres. The first is:

38000—Senior Management & Administration

Hon. E. David Burt: The Administration Section provides overall direction and management of the department.

The budget estimate for this cost centre is $2,270,500 which is an increase of $148,800 from the 2024/25 original budget. This increase is due to the planned go-live in Quarter 2 for our new pension administration system that has been implemented for quite some time, PX3000.

38010—War Pensions & Gratuities

Hon. E. David Burt: The War Pensions section (Budget Book page B-117) administers the benefits to war veterans under the Pensions & Gratuities (War Service) Act 1947.

The budget estimate is $2,894,000, which is $106,000, or 4 per cent less than the previous year. The budget is based on 58 war veterans (14 less than the prior year).

Currently, the significant benefits provided under the programme are:

- All veterans or spouses receive a monthly pension of $1,000.
- Medical benefits are 100 per cent covered. The benefits covered are FutureCare insurance premiums, hospital visits, hospitalisation, all tests at KEMH, air ambulance, and prescription drugs over the $3,000 covered by FutureCare, moving up to $5,000 this year.
- Palliative and long-term care are covered up to $7,000 per month and a $5,000 funeral grant is refunded to their estate.
- Regular and specialist doctor visits have small co-pays, which are reimbursed by the programme.

38025—Benefits

Hon. E. David Burt: The Benefits Section is responsible for the administration of benefits to members of the Contributory Pension Fund under the various Acts.

The budget estimate is $499,000, which is an increase of $9,200 over the original budget for the year, which is mainly just due to salary increments.

Total benefits paid for August 2023 to July 2024, which the Contributory Pension Fund's financial year was $211,392,900 compared to $204,408,600 in 2022/23, which is an increase of $6,984,300 or 3.4 per cent.

In 2023, the total benefits paid were $175.8 million, or 83 per cent, was paid for Contributory Pensions, $14.4 million, or 7 per cent paid on Widows' and Widowers' Allowances, Gratuities of $10.9 million (5 per cent) were paid and $7.3 million (4 per cent) was paid on Non-contributory Pensions. The remaining $3.0 million (1 per cent) of benefits paid for the period was for Contributory and Non-Contributory Disabilities.

Those are the items which make up the $211,392,860 payments from the Contributory Pension Fund.

38040—Compliance

Hon. E. David Burt: The Compliance Section monitors the compliance of employers and employees in accordance with the provisions of the Contributory Pensions Act.

The budget estimate for this cost centre is $918,900 which is $114,600 less than the original budgeted estimate for the prior year. This decrease is related to the expected reduction in the number of debt collector local consultants planned for the Department of Social Insurance in the coming year. This is because of work that is going to take place between the Debt Enforcement Unit at the Office of Tax Commissioner working together with the Debt Enforcement Unit in Social Insurance, combining the efforts across these departments in the Ministry of Finance to enhance debt collection with reduced use of external debt collection assistance.

The total debt owed to the CPF as of 31 July 2024, was $71,478,100 which is a $36,400 decrease from the prior year. There has been a staff shortage that has impacted on the department's ability to further reduce the debt owed to the Contributory Pension Fund. As I said, we are not only filling those posts but having a better working coordination between the sections in the Office of the Tax Commissioner's Department.

It is important to note that the Attorney General's Chambers Debt Enforcement Unit (DEU) works in close collaboration with the department to assist in the collection of outstanding contributions for Department of Social Insurance. In most cases, the employers at the Department of Social Insurance is unable to contact those who are delinquent over 120 days are then referred to the Debt Enforcement Unit.

38045—Contributions

Hon. E. David Burt: The Contributions Section is responsible for the administration of records and accounts for employers and employees participating in the Contributory Pension Fund under the Contributory Pensions Act 1970.

The budget estimate for this cost centre is $565,900, which is $7,000 more than that of the original budget, mainly due to salary adjustments and expected overtime for the implementation of PX3000 pension management system expected later this year.

Total contributions received from August 2023 to July 2024 is $117,322,000 compared to $112,622,600 in the prior fiscal period, which is an increase of $4,699,400 or 4 per cent. It is important to note that contribution rates were not increased. Which means the additional funds is due to the growth of jobs in the local economy.

Comparative Analysis of Current Account Estimates— 2024/25 vs 2025/26

Hon. E. David Burt: This is found in the Budget Book on page B-118.

- Salaries and Wages—An increase of $138,000 reflects the salary increments across the department.
- Professional Services—The decrease of $100,600 is primarily due to a decline in war veteran's medical claims and war pension awards due to a reduction in the number of veterans expected to be serviced.
- Receipts Credited to Programme—This amount represents the cost to operate the Contributory Pension Fund initially paid through the Consolidated Fund. As stated earlier, a recharge to the Contributory Pension Fund is made in accordance with the Contributory Pensions Act 1970, Section 3(3). The recharge for 2025/26 is budgeted at $4,254,300, which is an increase of $50,300 in the original budget for the CPF over the prior year. As stated, this increase is mainly the result of increased expenditure related to the implementation the new pension administration system.

Activities/Plans for Fiscal Year 2025/26

Hon. E. David Burt: Moving on to the following activities and plans for the upcoming year.

- Continue to develop a portal to allow employers to view their accounts, pay invoices and submit starters, terminations, and unpaid leave adjustments online.
- The department will continue to participate in various workshops and presentations where they are able to provide clarity to attendees regarding pensions, benefits, and contributions managed by the Department of Social Insurance.

- As mentioned, the implementation of the updated pension administration system, which is of course necessary to support future social insurance changes which may be implemented.
- Strengthen cross-ministry initiatives to develop supportive strategies to close gaps in legislation to make sure that we better and coordinated debt enforcement across the Ministry of Finance.
- The department is also partnering with the Department of Employee and Organisational Development to encourage persons in the financial industry by creating opportunities in the Department of Social Insurance through the Government Bursary and Trainee programmes.

Significant Process Changes or New Initiatives

Hon. E. David Burt: I have highlighted the significant process changes and new initiatives.

1. The Department of Social Insurance will collaborate with the Ministry of Finance and other agencies to leverage technology for the government's digital transformation, and better aim to identify employers who owe funds to the Contributory Pension Fund and to ensure effective and consistent management of these debts across the government;
2. We are also going to be engaging in a succession planning exercise where current employees will be given the opportunities to be professionally developed and cross-trained. Succession planning will facilitate smooth transitioning when staff terminate service or retire.
3. Further modernisation of the departments technology and operations to better serve the public.

The Public Officers in the Department of Social Insurance are to be commended for their commitment to providing valuable service to the local community and beneficiaries.

I will now, Mr. Chairman, defer to Head 38, Office of the Tax Commissioner, to Junior Minister Furbert.

The Chairman: Thank you, Minister.

The floor recognises Junior Minister Wayne Furbert from constituency 6.

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

HEAD 38—OFFICE OF THE TAX COMMISSIONER

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: It gives me great pleasure to present the budget for Head 38, the Office of the Tax Commissioner (OTC), found on pages B-120 to B-124 of the Budget Book.

Mandate or Mission

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Mr. Chairman, the mission of the OTC is to leverage modern technology to ensure taxpayer compliance through quality service and effective enforcement.

Expenditure Overview

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: A total of $4.638 million has been allocated for this head across both cost and capital. This represents an increase of $87,000, or approximately 1.9 per cent higher than the budget for 2024/25 and constitutes 1.6 per cent of the budget allocated for the Ministry as a whole.

Mr. Chairman, the OTC is strategically divided into four cost centres, as follows:

- The Administration Team (48000) provides the overall direction and management of the office, which includes strategic planning, staff development, training, and general office support. The budget allocation for the Administration team in 2025/26 fiscal year is $1.27 million.
- The Stamp Duties Team (48050) is responsible for the administration and collection of stamp duties under the Stamp Duties Act 1976. This includes the adjudication and processing of a variety of legal instruments including, but not limited to, conveyances, transfers, leases and mortgages as well as administering the Primary Family Homestead Designation programme. The budget allocation for the Stamp Duties team for 2025/26 is $356,000.
- The Audit and Compliance Team (48070) is responsible for ensuring that taxpayers are compliant with the Taxes Acts throughout the life of the taxpayer, starting with their initial registration. The team conducts audits and inspections of taxpayer books and records and is responsible for knowledge management and taxpayer education. The budget allocation for the Audit and Compliance Team for fiscal year 2025/26 is $912,000.
- The Operations Team (48080) is responsible for collecting and reporting on all taxes under the remit of the OTC. The team maintains taxpayer accounts receivable balances, levies penalties for late and insufficient payments, and is responsible for debt collection and enforcement. The budget allocation for the Operations Team for 2025/26 is $1.76 million.

Subjective Analysis

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: The Subjective Analysis, Mr. Chairman, is found on page B-121. I will highlight the material object code changes.

- Current Expenditure—$4.3 million for 2025/26;
- Capital Expenditure—$335[,000];
- Revenue—$827 million.

In 2024, we can compare:

- The Current Expenditure was $4 million, a difference of $252,000, or a difference of 6 per cent;
- Capital Expenditure—$335[,000] compared to $500[,000] in 2024/25, a difference of $165[,000], or down 33 per cent;
- Revenue—$827 [million], as I said before, for 2024/25 was $792 [million], or a difference of $34 [million], which is up 4 per cent.

Current Expenditure

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Increases in Current Expenditure. The OTC's current expenditure is estimated to be $4,303,180. This represents an increase of $252,000, as I mentioned earlier, 6 per cent higher than the budget for 2024/25.

The increase is primarily due to the creation of a Temporary Additional Department Comptroller position which is essential to address the increasing complexity of tax reporting and the resultant workload within the department. The efficient running of OTC is critical in the collection of a significant portion of the Government's revenue and this role will ensure that financial operations are managed efficiently, compliance with regulatory requirements is maintained, and strategic financial planning is enhanced.

Capital Expenditure

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Decrease in Capital Expenditure. The capital expenditure allocated for the department in 2025/26 was $335,000, down $165,000 compared to the 2024/25 year.

The capital expenditure budget will be dedicated to advancing modernisation and efficiency initiatives within the OTC—especially with respect to the continuing focus on reducing the level of accounts receivables. This includes upgrading the SmartCase debt management tool to enhance debt collection outcomes, streamline year-end reporting, and to develop performance management tools. These investments aim to optimise operational effectiveness and accurately measure operational activity.

Revenue Overview

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Increase in projected revenue. As I mentioned, the revenue is expected to be $827 million for 2025/26, an increase of $34.9 million from 2024/25, which is 4 per cent. The material differences in projected revenue are as follows:

- Payroll Tax Revenue is anticipated to increase by 7 per cent to $621 million. This is expected to increase due to the increase in expected employment numbers—especially in the International Business Sector.
- Corporate Services Tax is projected to increase by 10 per cent to $5.8 million based on current activity in this industry.
- Financial Services Taxes are projected to increase marginally by 4 per cent for both Bank Services and Insurance Services taxes to $8.6 million and $6.1 million, respectively.
- Money Services Tax is projected to rise by 22 per cent to $435,000.
- Land tax revenue is expected to decline by 5 per cent to $87 million. As you are aware, Mr. Chairman, we would be reducing the annual base rate from $300.00 to $150.00. That is the reason for the decline.
- Projections indicate a 6 per cent increase in the Foreign Currency Purchase Tax to $32.9 million, attributable to an anticipated rise in foreign currency purchase transactions by residents.
- The Hotel Occupancy Tax has been raised by 29 per cent to $7.1 million based on industry trends.
- Transport Infrastructure and Cruise Ship Departure tax estimates have been reduced by 9 per cent and 12 per cent to $10.9 million and $23.2 million, respectively, based on expected cruise visits this year.
- Stamp Duty on Land Conveyance on sales is projected to decrease by 12 per cent or $16.8 million based on anticipated activity.
- The outlook on all other miscellaneous taxes remains stable.

Manpower

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: The budget allocation for salaries for the department in 2025/26 is $3.17 million, an increase of $247,000, or 8 per cent from 2024/25. This salary increase represents 98 per cent of the department's budget increase.

- The OTC had 33 full-time equivalent (FTE) staff budgeted in 2024/25, which will increase to 35 FTEs in 2025/26.
- The two additional positions include the previously discussed Temporary Additional Comptroller and the recruitment of the currently vacant Administrative Support Clerk post. The admin section supports a busy office with many daily demands and the Admin Support Clerk will work with the Office Manager to ensure that the office runs smoothly.

Performance Measures by Business Unit

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Mr. Chairman, I am pleased to report that the department's forecast performance measures, on page B-123, for fiscal year 2024/25 were substantially achieved, and this has led to increases in performance measures for the 2025/26 in several areas, as the department remains committed to continuous improvement. In particular:

Business Unit 48050—Stamp Duties

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: In 2024/25, the Stamp Duties section had a target of 90 per cent for completing the late stamping of instruments that are less than six months out of time within 60 days of receipt. In 2025/26, the section expects to increase its performance for stamping such instruments to 100 per cent.

Business Unit 48080—Operations

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: In the 2024/25 fiscal year, the target was to have 75 per cent of Payroll Tax returns filed electronically. For 2025/26, we are hoping to increase that to 80 per cent of Payroll Tax returns filed electronically.

In 2024/25, the target for the Operations section was to reduce the Accounts Receivable by $10 million. The section exceeded this goal by collecting $227 million in tax arrears by continuing taxpayer education, managing payment plans and escalating matters for collection through the courts. It is worth noting that this is a sizeable increase from the prior year where a target of $7.5 million was set and the department collected $15.6 million. A most noteworthy increase.

Plans for the Upcoming Year

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Mr. Chairman, in fiscal year 2025/26, OTC will continue its efforts to modernise its technology, to enhance its reporting capabilities and operations to support effective debt collection, improved customer service and successful resolution of taxpayer non-compliance.

In addition, the OTC will implement the following initiatives:

- Reduction of Land Tax for all categories—which I mentioned earlier, from $300 to $150, which is a 50 per cent reduction.
- Elimination of the Employee Portion of Payroll Tax on Redundancy and Severance Payments—In line with the 2024 Throne Speech, the Government will eliminate the employee portion of tax on severance and redundancy payments, which demonstrates the government's commitment to supporting long-serving employees facing unexpected unemployment and income loss.

Conclusion

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: Mr. Chairman, I would like to thank the staff of the Office of the Tax Commissioner, and in particular the Assistant Commissioners; Ms. Kim Richards, Ms. Joelene Lindsay and Mr. Antoine Lightbourne. These individuals have been overseeing the Tax Office for the last year and their dedicated service to the Government and to the people of this country should be recognised.

I would now like to move to Head 39.

The Chairman: For the benefit of the listening audience we are Committee of Supply for further consideration of the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for the year 2025/26. The Honourable Minister of Finance has taken to his feet and will present this budget. Debate began approximately two hours ago, and we have approximately two hours to go.

Hon. E. David Burt: All right. Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. Chairman, I will close out this section of the debates on Head 39 and then I will do Head 58.

HEAD 39—REGISTRAR OF COMPANIES DEPARTMENT

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Chairman, I now present the budget for Head 39, the Registrar of Companies Department, found on pages B-125 to B-128 of the Budget Book.

The Registrar of Companies has been allocated a total budget of $12,517,000. This is up $474,000 (4 per cent) from the previous year.

Mandate or Mission

Hon. E. David Burt: The Registrar of Companies is the Government's third largest revenue generating department and is projected to collect approximately $75 million of revenue in fiscal 2025/26. Its operations are regulated by several legislative mandates, including, but not limited to, the Companies Act 1981, the Limited Partnership Act 1883, the Exempted Partnerships Act 1992, the Limited Liability Company Act 2016, Overseas Partnerships Act 1995 and Government Fees Regulations 1976. These provide the framework for maintaining the Register of Companies and the timely collection of associated registration fees.

The department is also responsible for the administration of liquidations and personal bankruptcies as well as the regulation of Bermuda's real estate and dealers in high value goods sectors. The legislative framework for the Registrar's mandate in this capacity is the Companies (Winding-Up) Rules 1982, Bankruptcy Act 1989, Bankruptcy Rules 1990, Real Estate Brokers' Licensing Act 2017, Real Estate Brokers' Licensing Regulations 2017 and the Registrar of Companies (Supervision and Regulation) Act 2020, respectively.

Bermuda continues to be impacted by ever-increasing pressures and imposed requirements from other jurisdictions or regions, mounting challenges from our competitors and increasing scrutiny from global and regional standard setting and oversight bodies, such as, the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD), the Financial Action Task Force (FATF), the Caribbean Financial Action Task Force (CFATF) and the European Union oversight bodies. This changing landscape has driven the Registrar of Companies' evolution as a regulator and this legislative mandate has been underpinned by the Registrar of Companies (Compliance Measures) Act 2017 and the Economic Substance Act 2018. Indeed, Bermuda's implementation of the Economic Substance regime is closely monitored and reviewed on a regular basis by both the European Union and OECD. Similarly, FATF and CFATF have looked to the Registrar of Companies to enhance its AML/ATF compliance framework with respect to Legal Persons, as well as in the Real Estate and Dealers in High Value Good sectors as the Competent and Supervisory Authority charged with their oversight.

Still in the regulatory lane, Beneficial Ownership (BO) is another evolving space with policy positions emanating from the UK, the European Union, the OECD, and International Monetary Fund and Financial Action Task Force, commitments having been made to both the European Union and United Kingdom. Beneficial Ownership also features prominently in Bermuda's AML/ATF and Economic Substance regimes of which the Registrar of Companies has been designated to oversee.

The Tax Treaty Unit that was in the Ministry of Finance has been fully incorporated within the Registrar of Companies to take advantage of obvious synergies with the Registrar of Companies' economic substance regime as both economic substance and Bermuda's tax treaty and information exchange regimes fall within the broader scope of the OECD's BEPS framework (that is Base Erosion and Profit Shifting) for addressing international tax concerns.

For fiscal year 2025/26, the Registrar of Companies will continue to prepare for the pending implementation of the Crypto-Asset Reporting Framework (CARF) following Bermuda's commitment to commence exchanges under the CARF in accordance with the generally expected timeline of 2027, or if unforeseen challenges arise with commencing exchanges under the CARF in 2027, to commence exchanges under the CARF in 2028.

Mr. Chairman, the Registrar of Companies has embarked on striking defunct companies from the Register in accordance with Section 261 of the Companies Act. Simultaneously, Bermuda continues to attract new businesses with continued registration of new companies and partnerships throughout the past year. It is projected that the total number of companies and partnerships on the register will remain consistent at approximately 16,000,000.

Mr. Chairman, the Registrar's mission is to leverage technology, enhance the user experience and facilitate regulation, accurate data collection and analysis.

The department's mission and objectives can be found on page B-125 of the Budget Book. Objectives can similarly be found on that page.

Expenditure Overview

Hon. E. David Burt: The expenditure overview, as I mentioned, Mr. Chairman, is up $474,000 from last year, to $12,517,000.

The budget for the Registrar of Companies is set out under the following seven cost centres:

- Policy, Planning & Administration
- Finance & Revenue
- Entity Registration
- Insolvency & Liquidations
- Real Estate & Licences
- Treaty Management & Administration
- Compliance

The total current account expenditure, found on page B-126, is as mentioned. The increase of $474,000 is predominantly due to agreed pay increase. It is important to note that although the overall headcount is increasing from 50 to 59, this cost has been offset by a reduction in professional services as the Registrar of Companies moves toward full implementation of its revised staff structure. As a result, there is no significant change between the budget estimates for the 2024/25 and the 2025/26 fiscal years for the overall department.

Cost Centre 49000—Policy, Planning and Administration

Hon. E. David Burt: Policy, Planning and Administration can be found on page B-126. Estimates of $5,244,000 is down $859,000 (14 per cent) from the previous year.

This cost centre includes planning, strategic direction, administration and other activities associated with the daily operation of the Registrar of Companies Department. Information technology, financial and administrative support, budget development, accounting, personnel administration, and general office administration are also included in this cost centre.

The budget decrease of $859,000 for this cost centre is the result of a reduction in the cost of engaging consultants as the new staff positions are filled.

With the continued increase in personnel, the Registrar of Companies has outgrown its current office space, located at the Government Administration Building. The Estates Section of the Ministry of Public Works has assisted in identifying alternative location for the Registrar's offices, which they are expected to move into within the next few months. It is important to note, if we look back over a few years, there has been a significant expansion of the size and remit of the Registrar of Companies for all the reasons which I have mentioned before, and some of which I will continue to get into as I cover the brief for this particular head.

Cost Centre 49010—Finance and Revenue

Hon. E. David Burt: Finance and Revenue can be found on page B-126. This expense estimate of $692,000 is up $27,000 (4 per cent) from last year. And of course, under this is revenue of $74,866,000 which can be found on page B-127.

Mr. Chairman, the Finance and Revenue cost centre is responsible for the collection of the annual fees submitted by companies in accordance with the Companies Act 1981, the Segregated Accounts Companies Act 2000, the Partnership Act, the Limited Liability Company Act 2016 and the Real Estate Brokers' Licensing Act 2017. The Registrar of Companies collects approximately $75 million in revenue annually. To ensure adequate controls around completeness, accuracy and timeliness of collecting revenue the section, staff and processes come under the direct oversight of the departmental comptroller.

The estimated revenue for this cost centre, as stated, is $74,866,000 or 99 per cent of the total revenue of $75,186,000 anticipated for the department. The balance of the revenue, the 320,000 outside of those particular matters is derived from Licence(s) General in the Licencing and Insolvency cost centre, which I shall discuss shortly.

Cost Centre 49020—Entity Registration

Hon. E. David Burt: Found on page B-126, the Expense estimate is $1,904,000 which is up $572,000 (43 per cent) from the previous year.

This cost centre includes persons involved in the registration of companies and the processing and maintenance of statutory and legal documents which must be registered and available for public inspection in accordance with the prevailing legislation.

In 2025/26, the Registrar of Companies will take responsibility for managing and maintaining the Beneficial Ownership Register. The budget increase will be used to pay for salaries of staff currently being recruited for this new activity.

Cost Centre 49040—Insolvency and Liquidations

Hon. E. David Burt: Insolvency and Liquidations, found on page B-126, $697,000 up $229,000 (49 per cent) from the previous year, and revenue, as I previously mentioned, $320,000.

This cost centre is responsible for the execution of court orders to administer liquidations in accordance with the Companies Act 1981, the Winding-Up Rules 1982, and personal bankruptcies in accordance with the provisions of the Bankruptcy Act 1989 and the Bankruptcy Rules 1990. Expenses under this cost centre primarily encompass the salaries of five full-time staff. Other expenses include costs of various professional services (e.g., legal, accounting, contractors, et cetera) in administering court-appointed corporate liquidations and personal bankruptcies. The budget increase will be used to pay salaries of staff who are currently being recruited.

As stated, the estimated revenue for this cost centre is $320,000.

Cost Centre 49050—Real Estate and Licences

Hon. E. David Burt: As noted on page B-126, $599,000 up $27,000 (5 per cent) from the previous year.

This section is responsible for the processing and issuance of licences and permits to exempted, local and overseas companies to carry on business in Bermuda, the processing and issuance of licences to, and the regulation of, real estate brokers and agents, and ensuring industry compliance through active monitoring and enforcement. Expenses under this cost centre include the salaries of six persons.

Cost Centre 49070—Treaty Management and Administration

Hon. E. David Burt: Cost centre 49070 is found on page B-126. This is $1,503,000 down $70,000 (4 per cent) from the previous year

Budgetary responsibility for the Treaty Unit was transferred from the Ministry of Finance to the Registrar of Companies effective 1 April 2024. The budget for this unit, as mentioned, is $1.5 million. This represents a nominal decrease of $70,000 or 4 per cent.

The work of the unit continues to diversify from the original core activity that led to its creation which was "the negotiation and processing of international tax cooperation on the 'by request' basis."

Mr. Chairman, the Treaty Unit is responsible for ensuring that Bermuda operates in keeping with the common reporting standard for the OECD (known as CRS), the Country-by-Country Reporting (CbCR), standard of the OECD and the tax information exchange of information on the by-request basis of the OECD, the Global Forum's Crypto-Asset Reporting Framework (CARF) once implemented and any new tax reporting standards of the OECD. The unit negotiates and administers agreements related to the Bilateral Tax Information Exchange with member countries of the European Union, G20, Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development [OECD], and other key countries. The staff of this unit routinely participate in OECD peer reviews of Bermuda's tax-related legal and regulatory frameworks and contribute to the peer review processes of the OECD by reviewing the legal and regulatory frameworks of other jurisdictions and their implementation in practice.

Mr. Chairman, the Treaty Unit in addition to negotiating and managing Bermuda's international tax treaties has also increasingly worked with Bermuda's international business stakeholders to address international tax policy threats. The international business sector continues to be the bedrock of our economy and therefore the work of the Treaty Unit is critical to the protection of this significant sector.

Mr. Chairman, as noted earlier, the Treaty Unit's main achievement in the current fiscal year was to play a key role in Bermuda's response to the emerging OECD global tax standard. The Treaty Unit provided policy advice for Bermuda's input into the G20 and OECD Inclusive Framework work on the Two Pillar Solution and the negotiations which have been occurring on the administrative rules and guidance.

Mr. Chairman, the Treaty Unit's management of Bermuda's compliance to the OECD and European Union international tax policies has become the majority component of the Treaty Unit's work, although the unit continues to negotiate and manage tax treaties and updates to Bermuda's tax treaty relationships when required. The unit is also involved in managing aspects of the threat posed by the EU listing process, which represents a constant but formidable threat.

Mr. Chairman, there are at least five separate but equally volatile doors to EU listing, and those are:

1. EU Economic Substance and Corporate Income Tax regime;
2. OECD Common Reporting Standard;
3. OECD Country-by-Country Reporting Standard;
4. OECD Tax Information Exchange Agreement for exchange of information on the by-request basis standard; and
5. Participation in the OECD Multilateral Tax Treaty.

Mr. Chairman, the Treaty Unit will continue negotiating Tax Information Exchange Agreements and other agreements relating to Tax Information Exchange and associated agreements or negotiate revisions to existing tax agreements so as to maintain Bermuda's tax agreement relationships with member countries of the EU, G20, OECD and other countries.

Hon. E. David Burt: The estimate is $1,878,000 up $548,000 (41 per cent) from the prior year.

The Compliance cost centre, found on page B-126, is responsible for ensuring compliance, via powers executed through the Registrar of Companies (Compliance Measures) Act 2017 with other relevant Acts (most notably the Companies Act 1981 and the Economic Substance Act 2018) including ensuring adherence to the filing, registration and other corporate governance requirements of the relevant Acts; to inspect registered entities for the aforementioned purposes and to investigate instances of a registered entity's failure to comply with the provisions of the Registrar of Companies (Compliance Measures) Act 2017 and/or any other relevant Acts.

The Compliance Unit is being enhanced as a consequence of requirements placed on Bermuda by the European Union and the OECD. It is the expectation of these international bodies that Bermuda not only have sufficient people resources to fulfil its compliance requirements but that those people resources have adequate prerequisite skills and training. Consequently, the organisational structure provides two lanes, domestic compliance and international tax compliance with the existing compliance posts being amended along with new posts created to recruit an increased number of technically proficient individuals in both areas. The budget increase will be used to pay salaries for staff currently being recruited.

In relation to training [initiatives] on tax-related matters, there are two that I will cover, Mr. Chairman.

- In fiscal year 2024/25, the additional officers successfully completed assessment training on Beneficial Ownership and Exchange of Information on Request delivered by the Global Forum on Transparency for Tax Purposes (Global Forum). One of these officers is scheduled to assess another jurisdiction's legal and regulatory framework along with other experts in 2025/26.
- For fiscal year 2025/26, two officers are already enrolled in a training programme for the Administrative Compliance Framework for the Common Reporting Standard (CRS) delivered by the Global Forum, while one officer is scheduled to participate in the first in-person Workshop on the Global Forum's Crypto-Asset Reporting Framework (CARF) commitment process and implementation of the requirements.

With this experience and training, Bermuda will continue to build and strengthen its capacity to prepare, respond and adapt to the evolving regulatory environment.

Revenue

Cost Centre 49080—Compliance

Hon. E. David Burt: Revenue is found on page B-127. These figures note that the department is forecasting overall revenue of $75,186,000. This is a decrease of $1,322,000 or 2 per cent in projected revenue over the original revenue estimate of $76,508,000 from the prior fiscal year.

Capital Funding

Hon. E. David Burt: I would now wish to turn to the new Electronic Registry System. In step with this Government's modernisation effort, the department introduced its online economic substance declaration platform in May 2020 and implemented its full online registry system June 2021. This system now provides real-time access to publicly accessible company data and has streamlined the registration process.

The Registrar of Companies, as per page C-11, was allocated $1.2 million in capital funding for expanding the functionality of the system to include the Beneficial Ownership Register, and to provide for other improvements in system efficiency. These improvements were initially expected to be completed in the past year 2024/25. However, some development work has been deferred and the previously approved funding carried forward to 2025/26.

Additionally, $300,000 was allocated to enhance the functionality of the Treaty Unit's tax reporting portal to include adding fields for customer date of birth and tax identification number.

Manpower

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Chairman, the department's budget supports an establishment of 59 full-time equivalent positions as found on page B-127. This reflects more than a 200 per cent increase from the 18 estimated FTEs in fiscal year 2017/18. It is important to note that the department itself has more than tripled in size due to the increasing requirements, whether it is economic substance, various matters that are related to keeping up with the standards for our mutual evaluation and now going forward to matters related to tax treaty. And also the matters that are related to the establishment of the Beneficial Ownership Register.

The importance and need for further increases in resources to meet the increasing external threats has already been highlighted. Addressing these threats is critical to protecting key sources of revenue for the Bermuda Government, which in turn allows us to provide services to the public. The department must have the resources to ensure that Bermuda's corporate citizens are in compliance with Bermuda legislation relating to the carrying on of business in Bermuda and from within Bermuda. Additionally, roles that were previously performed by consultants in managing insolvencies and liquidations were converted into substantive posts to generate greater operational oversight, efficiency and cost savings.

Plans for the Upcoming Year

Hon. E. David Burt: I will note, Mr. Chairman, there are a lot of plans for the upcoming year for the Registrar of Companies.

The department manages and responds to international pressures being exerted on our jurisdiction from various regulatory and other bodies. This has meant that the department had a need to review its organisational structure and resources with a view of staying ahead of various international sanctions that could have detrimental impacts to our local economy.

Moving on to legislative matters, the department is reviewing the legislative framework around several key initiatives with a view to making enhancements. These include:

- Amendments to section 129A of the Companies Act 1981 to remove the requirement for a licence for a Digital Asset Business Act [DABA] licensed companies so as to hasten the incorporation process for select digital asset companies, and amendments to apply penalties for carrying on business without a 129A or 114B licence.
- Second phase modernising amendments to various pieces of legislation administered by the Registrar to accommodate the electronic registry so as to ensure that the legislative framework reflects the department's ability to work in a paperless virtual environment.
- With respect to Bermuda's Economic Substance Regime the department plans to continue their engagement with both the OECD and the EU with respect to level-setting amendments to the Economic Substance Act. Additionally, the department is reviewing possible amendments to the Registrar of Companies (Compliance Measures) Act 2017 with a view to streamlining the enforcement processes.
- Amendments to the Real Estate Brokers' Licensing Act 2017 to strengthen the AML/ATF framework, streamline the licensing process and ensure a high level of competence amongst licensed brokers and agents by increasing the minimum experience requirements and imposing continuing education requirements to create greater efficiencies, as we want to make sure that we minimise the risk of money laundering through real estate transactions.
- Overhaul Bermuda's bankruptcy legislation to bring the following in line with current international standards: the Official Receiver obligations, reduction of administration of debtor's and bankrupt's estates and the period spent in bankruptcy for debtors and bankrupts before being eligible for discharge.

Further amendments, it continues. As I warned, the list is long.

- Amendments to the International Cooperation (Tax Information Exchange Agreements) Act 2005 and the International Cooperation (Tax Information Exchange Agreements) Common Reporting Standard Regulations 2017 to include the expansion of the competent authority's access to powers to self-identified non-reporting financial institutions to ensure completeness of filing population; to enhance enforcement powers and also to make consequential amendments in line with the amendments to the OECD's Common Reporting Standard.
- Enactment of new regulations under the International Cooperation (Tax Information Exchange Agreements) Act 2005 to codify the Crypto-Asset Reporting Framework.

Still dealing with the workplan for this upcoming year: The Registrar of Companies has laid out strategic initiatives aimed at advancing the real estate sector and ensuring robust compliance standards. An outreach and awareness strategy will be implemented to deepen the sector's understanding of its AML/ATF obligations, coupled with timely licensing reminders to support regulatory adherence.

Preparations for the Caribbean Financial Action Task Force Mutual Evaluation in 2027 are underway, with targeted outreach efforts to ensure the sector is well-prepared for the evaluation. These forward-looking plans underscore the department's commitment to fostering transparency, efficiency and compliance across the industry.

Additionally, the Registrar of Companies has been tasked with designing and implementing the Beneficial Ownership Register and Disclosure framework transitioning the existing register and process from the Bermuda Monetary Authority (BMA) to the Registrar of Companies during 2025/26. This is to end the infamous double-vetting that is taking place in one place in the Registrar of Companies.

The Registrar of Companies will also review and enhance the existing legislative requirements to support these commitments and to ensure alignment with changed FATF recommendations relating to beneficial ownership whilst also building out an Electronic Portal which will allow entities and external stakeholders to access relevant information where appropriate.

These enhancements will streamline the legislative regime through the harmonisation of existing relevant Exchange Control and Beneficial Ownership obligations that reflect the most current FATF recommendations. This will also result in increased disclosure requirements among registered legal entities in the new Electronic Beneficial Ownership Register Portal (eBORP).

Finally, dealing with the work plan for this year, additional technological enhancements are expected to be rolled out by the department by

- the establishment of a new website that will improve user experience and additional automation of applications and requests;
- implementation of the liquidation/bankruptcy module of the registry system which will facilitate online processing of corporate insolvency transactions;
- development of an electronic platform for the receipt of real estate licence applications to enhance efficiencies and streamline processes; and
- effect recommended upgrades and refinements to IT systems to support functionality of the tax information portal and ensure continued compliance with international standards.

Mr. Chairman, I would like to extend my appreciation for the work undertaken by the Registrar of Companies, and the entire management and staff of the department—led by the Registrar, Mr. Kenneth Joaquin. They have made significant progress over the last year for Bermuda on the international front.

Thank you, Mr. Chairman, this concludes my remarks on the Registrar of Companies and I will now move onto the final head for the Ministry of Finance.

HEAD 58—INTEREST ON DEBT AND GUARANTEE MANAGEMENT

Cost Estimate

5801—Debt & Loan Guarantees (Page B-132)

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Chairman, the 2025/26 budget allocation for interest on debt (Head 58) is $127.5 million. Of this estimate, $127.1 million represents ongoing debt service costs for the various debt instruments held by the Government of Bermuda, while $400,000 is allocated to facility fees and other related costs.

This does represent a reduction of $250,000 (0.2 per cent) from the prior year. That $250,000 reduction is due to the bringing of guarantee management in house, which was now recorded in the Ministry of Finance Headquarters Budget, as the Fairmont Southampton agreement was concluded in October 2024. Now, important to note: education time, Mr. Chairman. The issuance of guarantees by the Government is not a cost, nor off balance sheet debt, merely a contingent liability. The Ministry only supports a guarantee if its in line with its prudent economic strategy which will advance the economy of Bermuda whilst ensuring there is no cost to the government.

If anything, the issuance of a guarantee can result in additional revenues for the government. Within the terms of the Fairmont Southampton Princess guarantee, Government will receive an annual fee equivalent to 1 per cent of the outstanding balance of the loan. Hence the $750,000 revenue projected for 2025/26 listed on page B-132 of the Budget Book. The project is well underway and Bermuda can expect reopening of this iconic building in April 2026 and opening throughout the year.

Mr. Chairman, within the cost estimate on page B-132 you will note that there is nil cost budgeted for Morgans Point and Other Guarantee costs. Any costs that are incurred will be recharged to the relevant entity. (In this case, the Morgans Point Development Company.)

Mr. Chairman, a key achievement in 2025/26 was the launch of a $50 million mortgage guarantee scheme—well, that was actually launched the prior year, but I am happy to give the updates. At the start of April 2024, Mr. Chairman, 26 mortgages, with a value of $4.1 million, was covered under the guarantee scheme. As of today, as I think I reported in the House last week during Premier's Question [Period], we have up to 74 mortgages either being closed on, or on their new homes or having receiving approvals as they look for a home. Of the $50 million facility, $11.1 million has been utilised to support these 74 applicants. So there is still considerable guarantee headroom left to support Bermudian homeowners, and we can accommodate just shy, if current trends go forward, an additional 300 homeowners. That is right, Mr. Chairman, this Government is delivering on its pledge to build a nation of owners and doing it through the Mortgage Guarantee Program and other matters which were mentioned by the Junior Minister when discussing the Office of the Tax Commissioner. Because it should be noted that we eliminated the Stamp Duty on the mortgage transfers.

Mr. Chairman, there is no further refinancing of the $3.2 billion of debt until January 2027. However, with the increased revenues from CIT, the Ministry of Finance is looking to reduce the Government's debt position. Within page A-1 of the Budget Book you will note that within the estimate for 2026/27 a repayment of $500 million is included which will reduce the annual interest rate charge by circa $18.6 million. Of course, Mr. Chairman, that is a prudent estimate that is put inside there. But if the collections are better than expected we will expect to retire the full $605 million, and we will conduct a debt management strategy going forward. If it is prudent and makes sense, if there is excess revenues to purchase that on the open market which makes perfect sense, we will go ahead and do that as well. But that will come in due time and possibly things we will be discussing next year during this budget debate.

Mr. Chairman, work is continuing to ensure that entities with loans or credit facilities guaranteed by the Government, are effectively managing their obligations and are appropriately managing their financial affairs. The diligent execution of work in relation to the establishment and oversight of guarantees is consistent with this Government's commitment to ensuring appropriate and effective risk management, the maximisation of economic benefit and prudent economic and fiscal management while supporting economic growth. And one thing I must note, Mr. Chairman, is that for matters that are related to government guarantees, the Ministry of Finance is currently undergoing an exercise which is similar to the exercise that was undertaken by the former Minister of Finance in 2021, ensuring that government guaranteed debt is given at preferential rates and not at regular commercial rates. And we will be doing the renegotiation of those rates with local banks; in which case they do not wish to reduce their rates we will be seeking and extending the option for external financing as it is important and vital that the government of Bermuda and entities that are being guaranteed by the government of Bermuda are getting the competitive rates, as that is the purpose and portion and appropriateness of a government guarantee.

Conclusion

Hon. E. David Burt: In conclusion, Mr. Chairman, that concludes my presentation on Head 58. I wish to thank all the teams who are part of the Ministry of Finance for their dedication and professionalism. I am ably supported in the Ministry of Finance by the Junior Minister of Finance, Minister Wayne Furbert. And also the Financial Secretary, Mr. [Chidozie] Ofoego.

There have been many challenges faced over the past year but they, the team, have persevered. We continue to press forward, enhancing the number of things the Ministry of Finance is responsible for. This submission today has highlighted the various threats and challenges facing Bermuda. The Ministry of Finance will continue to proactively address these matters to ensure Bermuda's continued stability and security. We remain committed to serving and protecting the people of Bermuda through fiscal prudence and effective management of our resources and extending economic relief where possible.

Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

[Mr. Scott Pearman, Chairman]

The Chairman: Thank you, Premier and Finance Minister.

Honourable Members, we are now in the Committee of Supply for further consideration of the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for the budget year 2025/26. This is the debate on the Ministry of Finance and specifically Heads 10, 11, 12, 28, 38, 39 and 58. We have had the pleasure of hearing from both the Premier and the Junior Finance Minister, Wayne Furbert.

I will now open the floor for anyone else who may wish to speak in this debate.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE CHAIRMAN

HOUSE VISITOR

The Chairman: But before I do, I will recognise the Financial Secretary, [Chidozie Ofoego,] who is in the Chamber today. Good to see you. Thank you, yes.

[Committee of Supply, continuation thereof]

The Chairman: The Honourable Member for constituency 25.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: You have the floor.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Very much appreciated.

And I certainly appreciate the Premier and Finance Minister ensuring we have enough time to ask questions.

The Chairman: We have one hour and 30 minutes left.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: That is well appreciated. And I know that other Ministers have certainly also done that. It gives us a chance to have a robust debate as the prior Chair indicated.

I will probably start with the Head 58, Debt & Loan Guarantees. I did note that the Premier said that the guarantees are at no cost to the government. But of course, some of them we are earning money on, and I can assure you, Mr. Chairman, no one is paying us money and not getting something in return. And that something is a guarantee of the risk behind those guarantees. It is okay as long as we are taking that risk to attain legitimate policy objectives of the Government. So, I just wanted to provide that gentle correction for the Premier there.

The $500 million debt refinancing on page C-30. Perhaps the Government, the Minister can explain exactly how that is going to work? Because my understanding is that the debt outstanding, the bond outstanding, in that time is going to be around $600-and-something million. Are they able to do a partial payment of that? Do the terms allow that? Will there be a penalty? Will they have to refinance the extra $100 million so they can pay down the whole $606 [million]? Some detail on how exactly they plan to do that repayment would be welcome. Very much appreciated.

While I am on that page C-30 here, I am also looking at the . . . excuse me.

The Chairman: [Page] C-30?

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Yes, page C-30.

The Chairman: Yes. Debt & Loan Guarantees.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: I am also looking at the hospital guarantee. I appreciate that that number looks very big. If I recall from previous debates, it is not just the principle underlying the loan to the private organisation that built the hospital which we pay. It is also for the stream of all of the interest payments. Perhaps the Minister could refresh us as to exactly what that guarantee is guaranteeing, both the principle and the interest payments being made. Who the guarantee is actually to? Who the interest payments are actually to and who is paying them? That would be much appreciated.

The Chairman: That is the $696 million figure on [page] C-30.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Yes, under the Bermuda Hospitals Board.

Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: Thank you.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Okay. Since we are over in the “C”s, page C-30, same page. I notice between this Budget Book and some prior Budget Books, I believe the Sinking Fund decreased during 2023/24 by $58 million. And in 2024/25 it is projected to decrease by $42 million. Could the Premier and Finance Minister give us a description of what is the cause of those decreases in the Sinking Fund? That would be appreciated, Mr. Chairman. So, there is that question.

And I might now actually flip and go back to the front of the HQ, Head 10 on page B-107. While I flip through my book, I need to find the appropriate page. I am going to look on the Objectives on page B-107, Mr. Chairman. I notice that one of the objectives of HQ is to develop the framework for the Corporate Income Tax and support and guidance for the Corporate—slight misprint here—but the Corporate Income Tax Agency, I assume (or CITA as we have now taken to calling it).

The Chairman: This is Point 11 in the box of page B-107?

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Yes. That is Point 11 in the box on page B-107.

The Chairman: Right.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Could the Minister help elucidate the difference of responsibilities between the Ministry of Finance and CITA when it comes to setting our CIT [Agency] policies? Because from my understanding, we are going to fill that organisation, in fact, with tax experts. If anything, I feel like the guidance would be going the opposite direction, where the tax experts at the CIT Agency would, perhaps, be informing the Ministry.

I am now going to turn the page over to page B-109.

The Chairman: Yes.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Looking at the revenue. Thank you for the explanation of the BMA profits, Mr. Premier. That was much appreciated.

I am looking at the Corporate Income Tax revenue of $187,500,000.

The Chairman: Mm-hmm.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Could the Premier and Minister of Finance provide an explanation of how that number was derived? I know in the past he has referred to different estimates. For example, have we obtained multiple estimates to challenge that number so we can stress test it? Because the strength of this budget really depends on the quantity of that number. He did mention payment, I believe in August if, I have got that right, for paying the Consolidated Fund. I also know that in the CITA legislation, the CIT legislation, there is a provision for the Agency to hold back some money for reserves. So, my question to the Premier and Minister of Finance would be, if the $187.5 million is the amount we are receiving, what is the estimated actual amount that taxpayers are paying? Because it sounds like the Agency is going to hold some funds back.

And I am actually going to refer back to page B-107 and the Objectives, about guidance around the CIT. I know some prior legislation made reference to how the Agency would allocate these payments between a refund reserve fund and the Consolidated Fund. So, perhaps we could be informed if the CITA (I am going to have to get used to saying that now, Mr. Chairman) has perhaps set a specific policy.

The Chairman: It sounds perilously close to the same name for the Cayman Regulator: CIMA and CITA, I think, C-I-T-A might be better.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: The CIT Agency. Perhaps I will go with that.

The Chairman: Yes.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: I would like to know if, in fact, the CIT Agency has put in place a specific policy to follow around how to allocate any incoming CIT funds between the Government's Consolidated Fund and refund reserve fund.

Going back to the revenue page B-109.

The Chairman: Right.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: If they do answer how much of the total paid, that would answer my question of how much of that money is being held back for the refund reserve.

I asked about the policy. I will follow up on that policy. Is there some approval? Is it something that is going to be circulated within the Ministry? Some review of that policy, will it be made public? I would like to know that.

Of that number . . .

The Chairman: The number being the $187 million?

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Yes. Of that number, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: Yes.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: How many registered taxpayers are there? Because my understanding is by the legislation the taxpayers are supposed to register that they intend to be paying tax. And perhaps the Finance Minister and Premier can provide some indication of how concentrated the payers are in that number. For example, what fraction of that number will be paid by the top 10 payers? That would help us understand how robust we should feel about that number.

The Chairman: Top 10 payers.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Okay. I feel like Columbo up here, Mr. Chairman, with all of these papers. Okay.

The Chairman: Well, you have some time.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Yes, I know. Okay.

I am going to turn now to Head 11. Actually, I am going to stick on Head 10, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: Yes.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: And we are going to look on page B-108.

The Cyber Incident. Could the Finance Minister and Premier provide a breakdown of where those funds were paid? Who were they paid to and in what amounts? We would appreciate that.

The Chairman: That is line item 20996?

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Yes, 20996, Cyber Incident 2023.

The Chairman: In the sum of $3 million and change.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Yes.

The Gaming Commission Grant. Which I guess is now nice and steady. We certainly appreciated the Premier's comments about it. I think I heard that there is actually gaming happening on cruise ships, so perhaps the Premier and Finance Minister could confirm that I heard that right, that there is actual gaming happening on cruise ships.

My understanding is that there is not any sports betting currently on the Island. We have had some shops, and they have closed. I guess what we want to clarify is . . . we are hearing about plans for future sports betting but otherwise there is no other gaming actually happening on the Island. Just to clarify our understanding there.

The Chairman: That is in relation to the $800,000?

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Yes. To the $800,000 that is funding the Gaming Commission.

The Chairman: At 20110, page B-108.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Yes. 20110.

The Chairman: Okay.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: The following item on page B-108 is Corporate Income Tax, 20120. If we could have an overview of what it is being spent on. Again, I am just a little confused. The Premier was speaking very quickly, and I could not quite follow everything. If I heard correctly, in the future the CIT Agency will be funding itself. But there was something about a loan. So, should we consider this $4.8 million that is budgeted a loan that is then going to get back? Or is that perhaps some of the future amounts that are in the budget? That would be good to [get] clarified, exactly which part is going to be a loan, when the loan is being made and when it is going to be made back.

The Chairman: And that is line item 20120 on page B-108.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: That is correct, Mr. Chairman. Thank you.

The Chairman: Okay. Thank you.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Remaining on page B-108 and moving down to the Subjective Analysis. I see that the salaries for the HQ are up 20 per cent, but the headcount is only up plus-1 per cent. I do know that there have been the salary raises, we have heard quite a lot about that. But that does seem a little bit out of whack. So again, if we could have some clarification on that.

[Inaudible interjection]

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: That would be the page B-108, Junior Minister, the Salaries line.

The Chairman: So the top line of the Subjective Analysis box at the bottom of the page.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Yes. That is right. It is the top line.

The Chairman: Yes.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: I thank the Honourable Premier for his brief because I was certainly wondering what this special insurance line is here. Because we also have some insurance lines in other places of the Budget Book, and he has clarified that was for cyber insurance. I think we can all appreciate the importance of that. Could we get an overview of the coverage that we are getting for that? How many limits? How much is the limit that we are getting? How many events might be covered and what is scope of the coverage? What types of cyber losses or risks it would be covering?

I know when you buy this kind of insurance you often get access to some kind of risk engineering from the insurance company, it would be a value add. Could the Honourable Junior Minister or the Honourable Premier and Finance Minister—whoever is going to be picking these up—let us know, are we getting access to any of that? So, for example, has the insurance company sent somebody in to audit? Sent professionals in to, perhaps, audit the Government's IT estate and provide tips and techniques or feedback on how we can harden our cyber posture, as they say? And also, you sometimes have access to event response services that the insurance company will facilitate for you.

The Chairman: And that is the line item four from the bottom on page B-108?

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Yes, we are still referring to insurance, because my understanding from the brief was that was cyber insurance.

The Chairman: Yes. Understood. And that is the sum of $560,000.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: That is correct.

The Chairman: Yes.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: I am going back to CIT numbers in the revenue. page B-109.

The Chairman: Yes.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: And of course we have the Corporate Income Tax on $187,500. The Premier may not wish to answer this, but if they wanted to give us a preview of what these payments might look like over the next three or four quarters, that would certainly help us understand and draw conclusion about how confident to be about those payments.

The Chairman: I will defer to your math. I am just a lawyer, but I am guessing $187,500 is one-fourth of $750,000.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: I only say, Mr. Chairman, because if I turn to page A-1, I can see there is a line, line 1(a) for Corporate Income Tax. And there is an estimate of $600 million in the 2026/27 and the 2027/28.

The Chairman: That is [page] A-1?

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Yes. Hopefully the Government could give us some indication of how those might break out by quarter, because that would help us figure out how much would get into . . . as you know, our budget years are not aligned on the annual year. So that would help us understand that.

The Chairman: Hmm.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Okay. Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Still referring to the Corporate Income Tax income on that same line. What risk factors has the Government considered around the robustness of that estimate? We know that there has been some feedback from the OECD about our particular CIT legislation. We know that under the Trump Administration to the West there has been a pretty radical adjustment in their stance towards these global minimum taxes. Does the Government have contingency plans in place? How are they thinking about these changes and how should we consider when we try to decide how confident we should be about the estimates for the Corporate Income Tax year.

Still sticking with the HQ, I turn now to the Performance Measures on page B-110.

The Chairman: Yes.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Is the Government considering adding any other performance measures here having to do with fiscal guardrails? There could be some appetite for that from the public. Especially the management of the Corporate Income Tax.

Turning forward to page B-111 under Head 11, the Accountant General—

The Chairman: Before you proceed, may I just check with the Junior Minister whether you would wish to reply head by head or have all the questions?

Hon. Wayne L. Furbert: I will take all the questions.

The Chairman: Fine. Duly noted.

If you could just continue with your questions, then. Thank you.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: You have the floor.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: I can be flexible so if there is a change of heart we can deal.

Right. Where were we? Page B-111.

The Chairman: Yes.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: The total expenditure has a 23 per cent growth of $20 million. I know that some of that was covered. The GEHI, the increase in debt was covered. I would like to get the answers to the prior questions about the Sinking Fund because I think some of that was spent on the GEHI. And that would kind of lead me to a question, which is: Why in those years the GEHI shortfall was paid out of the Sinking Fund but in this year the GEHI shortfall is being paid out of a cost centre in the Budget Book. Perhaps if there is some policy that the Junior Minister could refer to, or some evolution of thinking, we would love to understand, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: That is line item 21030 on page B-111?

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Yes, 21030, Government Employee Health Insurance. Thank you.

The Chairman: Ok. Yes.

[Inaudible interjection]

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: I did hear something in the corner. I know that some people think the legislation is the reason. I note that there is some legislation in place they might be referring to. But this year we have chosen to pay it above the line and so I would like to understand what happened. Yes, I would like them to explain their choice. This is what we are here for. And if they cannot explain their choice, I would find that disappointing, Mr. Chairman. Disappointing.

Let us turn to the Mission [Statement] and [Department] Objectives, page B-114. I am looking at 21001, Financial Reporting. I noted in the prior two Auditor General reports that she was not able to provide a clean opinion.

The Chairman: Right.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: And so I would like to understand what the Government is doing to fix that problem so that the Auditor General can have the confidence to provide an unqualified opinion on the reports.

[Inaudible interjection]

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Well, I have a very specific question with regard to the Auditor General's specific comments about the asbestos and underground tank liabilities not being able to be supported. So, I guess my specific question would be how is the Government going to support those so that going forward they can get a clean audit on our Consolidated Fund? I think that would be a pretty important objective.

Then I noticed that in 2023/24 under business unit 21001 the Auditor statements were not achieved. And in 2024/25, I am presuming that is not a question of time. I am presuming that is a question of this issue with the Auditor General's opinion there.

The Chairman: That is the top box there?

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Yes.

The Chairman: The "Not Achieved."

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: That is right, Mr. Chairman. The second row down on page B-114.

The Chairman: Yes, I see it. Thank you.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Okay.
Now I turn back to page B-111.

The Chairman: Yes.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Sorry.
Financial Reporting, unit 21001—

The Chairman: Yes.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: —was budgeted for $580,000 originally last year but only came in at $329,000. But this year is budgeted to go up to $713,000.

The Chairman: Mm-hmm.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: There was quite a lot in the brief but perhaps the Junior Minister could narrow down precisely what was driving those changes, Mr. Chairman, because it does seem quite volatile.

I see 21008 under Financial Systems. Again, quite a lot of movement year on year. I think that was kind of covered in the brief about the various systems and so forth. Clearly, we support anything that helps this department do its job better.

Mr. Chairman, I am remaining on the same page. I am looking at 21100, Consolidated Reporting.

The Chairman: Yes. Still on page B-111.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: That is correct.

The Chairman: Yes.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: If I understand correctly, that is the initiative to ensure that we can not only get accounts for the Government's Consolidated Fund, but we can get accounts for all of the various quangos and bodies and so forth that are sort of related to the Government. So, we get a true, all-in picture of our Government's finances. I know that has been an outstanding goal for a long time. I was glad to see $62,000 last year. I am not sure what that was spent on, on this item 21100.

The Chairman: Mm-hmm.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: And now it is going down to $7,000. I guess I should feel glad there is some money in there that I imagine would be to move this initiative along. But I see one headcount on page B-113, again, for 21100. So, I do not understand how $7,000 is going to pay for one headcount and how that is going to be enough to move this project along? Could the Junior Minister help us understand what initiatives are being taken to arrive at some full consolidated reporting?

The Chairman: Right.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: That would be appreciated.
Thank you, Mr. Chairman.
Remaining on page B-111.

The Chairman: Mm-hmm.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: The Superannuation Fund. I have to say, I know that the staff and employees of the Government have received raises. We have heard a lot about that. So, I am little confused why we do not really see material increases in the contributions to the public sector superannuation fund. That being item 21010 there.

The Chairman: Yes.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Because I was expecting to see that go up along with the salaries, Mr. Chairman. I think I have an inkling, but I just want to make sure I get that right. So can the Junior explain that?

I also see a slight decrease in the Contributory Pension contributions. Could the Junior Minister tell us about that? Thank you.

Remaining in the same panel, item 21030, we have the Government Employee Health Insurance. We did hear quite a lot about the increase in costs. I will repeat a question I had a little bit earlier which is . . . Okay.

I do note that we did hear some intimation from the Premier about the cost controls around GEHI. We have heard a lot about the pharmacies and programmes like CORE that have been cut. I guess the question would be, is the GEHI approach to the prescription costs fully fixed and finished now? Or is there perhaps some evolution that we might see on that? Because I think there might be some kinks for them to work out.

Okay. We discussed the Performance Measures. If I turn to the Performance Measures again, Mr. Chairman, on page B-114 I would suggest . . . actually, page B-115 under GEHI business unit 21030, that there might be a performance measure as to the sustainability of the GEHI fund. Because that seems to be a pretty important outcome that we need to ensure here. So, of course, if you do not measure or follow up you will not get the results, Mr. Chairman.

I think I am ready to move on the next head, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: Right. Okay.

We are in the Committee of Supply for consideration of the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for the budget year 2025/26. I think we are doing all the heads in the Ministry of Finance, given how many are on the page. I believe it is all the heads.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: We are not doing . . . Mr. Chairman, we are skipping Land Valuation.

The Chairman: Oh, we are skipping Land Valuation. All right.

In which case, we are doing Heads 10, 11, 12, 28, 38, 39 and 58. We have heard from both the Minister of Finance, who is, of course, the Premier, and from the Junior Minister of Finance. And we are now hearing from the Shadow Minister, Dr. Douglas De Couto of constituency 25.

I think the preference from the other side is for you to continue with questions.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: And we have one hour left.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Perfect. Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

All right, so we are on page B-116 and we are looking at Head 12, Customs. We heard a lot about the customs duty costs, customs duty cuts. Probably there could be instances there where perhaps the Government could consider giving even larger cuts, let us say for low-cost housing. That would be, for example, under revenue item 8007 on page B-116. I would urge the Government to consider that.

I am looking at Yacht Arrival and that would be revenue source 8053. It is not a big number, but we do know that when yachts come in that they are not just spending on port fees, they are also in St. George's, the Town of St. George, they are going out to restaurants, they are buying fuel, they are stocking up on provisions, things like that. I did see that in 2024/25 that that was budgeted at $82,000, and then it came in at $4,000, and is now budgeted for $12,000. So, I do not understand what is going on with that. Any insight would be welcomed from the Junior Minister, Mr. Chairman.

Moving down to 8115, Customs Service Charges. Again, in 2024/25 this was budgeted at $852,000, but came in at $642,000. So that was a pretty large reduction. So, I would welcome some context or information on that, Mr. Chairman.

I am going to move on to Head 28 at this time, Mr. Chairman, [page] B-117. I am looking at the Department Objectives, item 7, To review legislation, make recommendations for modernisation to the Ministry of Finance. Have any specific recommendations for modernisation been made? And can we be informed of what those are? Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

I am not going to . . . I have to be honest. I got a little lost here because the brief started covering quite a few items and I was starting to not necessarily find all of the line items on here. For example, I am looking on page B-118, and there are five different cost centres that have staff, but on page B-117 under expenses, none of those costs have been listed. I do not know if that is just a glitch, perhaps there is an erratum to come for the Budget Book. I know that the Budget Book teams work very hard and are under pretty tight time pressure. So, that is something that I noticed there, Mr. Chairman.

If I do turn to page B-118, and I look under Professional Services, and I look at Salaries, could we be reminded as to what the professional services are, and why they are so high, relative to salaries? I am thinking it was for debt collection that was discussed, but if we can get a specific answer that would be much appreciated.

Speaking of collection, I am going to turn to page B-119, Mr. Chairman, and I am looking under the Compliance Unit, 38040, and their objective is to collect $4.6 million of debt annually that is more than 90 days late. And the forecast was for $3.1 million, and revised forecast was $2.2 million. And their budget forecast is $3.1 million.

The Chairman: Yes, I see that.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Can we have an explanation as to what changes have been made to let them actually achieve that $3.1 million? Also, if the objective is $4.6 million, I am not sure why they are budgeting $3.1 million. Perhaps the subjective should be $4.6 [million].

Remaining under that business unit, Compliance, 38040, on page B-119, I think it is pretty viable that they are out there inspecting because we often hear of employers who are not making the deductions. We have heard about that. Or they are making the deductions, but they are not sending money for social insurance, and this is a valuable and important thing, and I would urge all employees out there to check their paperwork and to make sure that the right payments are being made on their behalf. And, certainly, any employers who are not doing right by their employees I would ask them to sort themselves out and make all of the right payments so that their employees are not left up the creek later on.

But I see the target here, Mr. Chairman, on page B-119 is for 2,600 routine inspections per year. And they forecast 1,800 last year but achieved 1,400. And then they forecast 1,800 a go. The note there says 10 inspections per week per inspector. And I looked at the headcount under Compliance and I have to be honest, that doesn't make sense to me because it only makes sense if never took any holidays. And the actuals came in at about half, so, again, I feel like they almost have to double the number of inspectors if they want to achieve that goal. So again, any commentary from the Junior Minister would be welcomed.

Again, I am sticking with the performance measures, and I think it would be . . . I made the same comment about the GEHI. It would be useful to have a performance measure about the stability or health of that fund. And I think it would be good to have a performance measure for the health of the CPF or Social Insurance Fund here to create the accountability for that.

Mr. Chairman, those are my outstanding questions for Head 28.

The Chairman: Thank you, Shadow Minister.

We are moving on now to Head 38, are we?

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Yes. Flipping a page to B-120.

The Chairman: Office of the Tax Commissioner.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: That's right. We are glad to hear about the various initiatives in the Office of the Tax Commissioner. I certainly had to interact with it a few times over the years, and they are often very helpful. One thing that we can say about Government departments is that people often do like to complain, but they have often been very helpful and some departments doing interesting and innovative things. I think we did hear in the brief about some examples of that. So, I would like to thank them for applying some creative thinking and initiatives there.

Remaining on page B-120, and looking at the objectives, the objective was to reduce receivables by $15 million, and we would like to know how that particular number was arrived at. And then looking at the expenditure summary on page B-120 under Operations, 48080, there is a 12 per cent increase, but no increase in headcount. And I suspect that the answer is going to be about fewer consultants, or something like that. But I would like to have some specific answers on that, Mr. Chairman.

I am turning now to page B-122, Mr. Chairman, and I am looking at the Revenue Summary. I might have some particularly detailed questions here. The Premier did talk quite a lot about the Government's initiative and changes to the payroll tax structure. I think it would be interesting for the Government to consider moving around some of the payroll tax bands, for example, raising up some of the bands because, as we know, the cost of living is going up. Some people are lucky enough to get salary increases to cover their cost of living. But then it may cause their salaries to go into a higher band. For the employers, certainly, if they are good employers and they are raising their payments with the cost of living, they can actually be penalised by having those raised salaries go up into a higher percentage band. So, I think it would make sense to consider adjusting the bands with the cost of living on an occasional basis.

Another example, Mr. Chairman, to consider. Another huge cost, of course, is insurance. And we know that health insurance costs are going up very, very fast. So, again, here is a case of an employer, let's call it a good employer. The [employer] says, I want to make sure my employees are not losing money because of the health insurance costs. So, I have grossed up their salaries, so that at the end of the year they are taking home the same amount even after we have paid the increased health insurance cost. But now that employer is being hit twice; both by covering the cost for the employee and by the taxes on that grossed-up amount. So, again, what the Government might consider, if they are really serious about impacting how these tax . . . and, by the way, Mr. Chairman, information for the people out there, it was the One Bermuda Alliance that first put in place the progressive table of tax system.

So, here is another innovation that I would like the Government to consider. Perhaps look up the net pay that employees are taking, because that would de-couple it from these health insurance rises and things like that. Again, also with the structure, another way that those bands impact us, as many people may know if the employers pay costs at a certain band over $1 million, then their overall tax rate goes up. So, they are disincentivised across that band and it may cause them to not hire that additional person. Or, if their cost per person goes up, they might fire a person, because, ultimately, they are going to end up paying a lot more tax. So, again, that is another reason why I would urge this Government to consider re-examining the bands. And I do see the Minister of Home Affairs here, so I hope she is taking notes on that.

But let me get back to the payroll tax and my specific . . . that was a suggestion related to comments in the brief. So, my specific question is can the Junior Minister . . . we hear quite a lot about this growth, the $41 million of growth in the payroll tax. Can they tell us which industries this is being driven from? How much of that is due to estimated number of employees growing versus wage growth? I would be very interested to know what fraction of that dollar growth is coming from exempted companies—

The Chairman: And that is in respect of the $621 million-odd at page B-122?

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: That is right. It is revenue source 8017, Payroll Tax.

The Chairman: Yes. I see that. So, where that is coming from.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Yes.

Following on, Mr. Chairman, we hear a lot about the CIT. And one of the tenets of the CIT is a thing called “qualified refundable tax credits.” And I am not going to bore everybody with that here. But, companies are going to be paying more tax. And they are looking at that number and they are going to see what are some other things that they might . . . I do not want to say get in return, because that is not how it works, but certainly you know that they might be hoping that payroll tax will go down and there may be some government policies that reduce payroll tax. So, are there any policies like that they are considering in the budgeting of the Payroll Tax numbers, both on page B-122, Mr. Chairman, but also if we turn to page A-1—

The Chairman: Right.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: —and you can see the Revenue Estimates out through 2026/27 and 2027/28.

The Chairman: So, top of page A-1? Right at the top.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Yes, projected revenue over the next two years. So, your medium-term outlook, you might say.

The Chairman: Yes.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Okay, remaining on this page, back to page B-122, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: Yes.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: I note that Bank Services Tax is going up $311,000. And I would like to understand what the driver is for that.

I also see the Corporate Services Tax is going up 10 per cent. I think I know what the answer will be, but again, if the Junior Minister would confirm their views on how they arrived at that 10 per cent.

The Chairman: So, those are the two line items immediately following Payroll Tax, 8018 and 8019?

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Yes, my apologies, 8018, Bank Services Tax, and 8019, Corporate Services Tax.

The Chairman: I'm with you. I just wanted to make sure I am following. Yes.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: And I also see the Insurance Services Tax's budget is going up to $51,000, or 4 per cent.

An interesting note here, of course, Mr. Chairman, is when there is inflation, especially insurance inflation, or inflation linked rises in pay, of course the Government gets better revenue, and it is a little bit off the backs of . . . if you think about the rise of insurance costs, it is a little bit off the backs of employees who are paying these higher costs.

In fact, now I am turning to Insurance Services Tax, 8020.

The Chairman: Yes.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Of course, if you buy insurance, you pay a 3.5 per cent tax on that. So, as your insurance rates go up you are also paying more tax to the government.

I see, now going down that same table, 8029, Foreign Currency Purchase Tax, and the Government is forecasting a 6 per cent increase, or $1.9 million. We would like to understand the drivers of that, Mr. Chairman.

Remaining with this table, we go down to revenue item 8049, Cruise Ship Departures. It was budgeted for $26.4 million, came in at $25 million last year, and is now budgeted at $23.2 million, or a reduction of $3.2 million, or -12 per cent. Is that fewer ships? Is that fewer cruise passengers? And I see a similar reduction on the 8034, Transport[ation] Infrastructure Tax. If I am correct, I feel that is connected to cruise passengers. But I would like the explanation from the Government.

[Inaudible interjection]

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Yes. But now we are looking at the detailed revenue.

[Inaudible interjections]

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Yes.

These are questions I could have sent to the Premier early. I did certainly . . . I know some Ministers have been quite friendly and allowed . . . we have had some collaboration, and they have gotten back. And I did write to the Premier a week ago, Mr. Chairman, but he wrote me back about 2:00 pm today, so unfortunately, we were not able to have meaningful collaboration.

[Inaudible interjection]

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: I appreciate that he was busy travelling.

[Crosstalk and laughter]

Hon. E. David Burt: You could have still sent me your questions.

[Laughter]

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Now, 8061—

The Chairman: Members.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Mr. Chairman, 8061, Land Conveyance—

The Chairman: Still on page B-122.

[Inaudible interjections and laughter]

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Yes, we are right on the Revenue Summary. Land Conveyance on Sales. Again, those are predicted down -12 per cent. So, I would appreciate an explanation for that, Mr. Chairman.

Now, we are going to turn to the Performance Measures on page B-123.

The Chairman: Yes.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: I am looking at 48080 . . . actually, that is page B-124, and the percentage targets for the various electronic filing. I just want to repeat my appreciation for this department and all departments that are taking initiatives on electronic submissions and stuff. This is more of an observation. I can see, for example, the Percentage of Payroll Tax Returns e-Filed is looking pretty sticky at 75 per cent to 80 per cent. I know that there are some people who will never move forward. That is just how they are. But that remaining 20 per cent to 25 per cent could probably consume a lot of time from the staff.

I am remaining on this cost centre and looking at the effectiveness of collection. And I see the target for monitoring debt payment plans under Effectiveness of Collection Process, 100 per cent of debt payment plans electronically monitored. And it was zero per cent, I guess, this year, but set to 50 per cent. Perhaps that was an initiative that did not quite get off the ground last year. But we will look forward to it.

Remaining within this table on page B-124, the last row, To increase the number of accounts forwarded to the Director of Public Prosecutions [DPP] for non-compliance. The forecast for this past year was 10. Of course, we are glad to see that people who are not paying their taxes are being held accountable. I see the target outcome is 100. I hope that the DPP is going to be adequately able to take on that value. And again, if the Junior Minister or the Honourable Premier and Finance Minister could comment on that, hopefully we will have some good cross-department collaboration.

Mr. Chairman, I think that concludes my questions on Head 38.

The Chairman: Thank you, Shadow Minister. You have approximately 40 minutes left in the debate.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: We still have two pages to get there.

The Chairman: Two more heads, yes?

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Mm-hmm.

Okay. We are looking at Head 39 now, Mr. Chairman, and, again, I certainly was appreciative the Premier's brief. It is really important, and the international situation around the world. I mean, we may be a small place, but we have to have this international level of competence here. And I know that the people within that department are working quite hard. And the Premier alluded to . . . not alluded to, referred to the various amounts of training and education and skill-building and investment there. So, I am very glad to hear that.

I am turning to page B-1—

The Chairman: Mr. Joaquin runs a tight ship.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Mr. Joaquin. We must remember Mr. Joaquin.

And I am turning now to page B-126.

The Chairman: Yes.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: And I know that the brief was pretty comprehensive, so I am just trying to make sure that I do not ask a question here that was already answered.

I have a general question. It was alluded to in the brief. I know that we still have exchange control on the books, and that if a certain company fails explicit permission must be sought, and that can sometimes be a little bit of a snag and make their deal-making slow. So, if the Junior Minister, or the Premier and Finance Minister, whoever is going to actually answer the questions, could comment on if they are considering adjusting those laws and regulations to remove that little speed bump.

I am turning now to page B-127, Mr. Chairman, and I am looking at the revenue, and I see that the exempted company tax is budgeted to go down by $2 million.

The Chairman: Yes. Top of page B-127.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Yes. That would be item 8035. And I would see 8041, Non-Resident Company Tax, which is also going down by $500,000. So, if can they comment on the sources of those decreases, Mr. Chairman, I would appreciate that.

I am actually going to flip back to page B-125 and the Department Objectives.

The Chairman: Yes.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Item 5 referred to providing technical advice to Ministry of Finance and other government departments. Is there any specific advice that was given which they can provide an example of? I am also referring to item 11 on the same page. We heard quite a lot about the various tax reporting and the various compliance reporting. Have we actually carried out any country-by-country reporting? Have we submitted any country-by-country reports for this regime yet, Mr. Chairman?

Now I am turning to page B-126 and looking at the Subjective Analysis.

The Chairman: Page B-126?

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Page B-126. I see that the salaries are plus 28 per cent. But the FTE is only 18 per cent. Again, this is an example of where I see the gap in those. It does not quite align with my understanding of the amount of the pay rises given to people. So, maybe they would like . . . for example, sometimes I know that we get in a more senior person to fill the role, or people are getting promoted, and they get a higher pay band. I would like to know about that, Mr. Chairman.

Travel. I think we heard a lot about that. And I think we heard about office space, so I would have had a question about rentals. But I think that was answered by the brief. So, I am happy for that. Actually, I will ask this question, because the Rentals line on page B-126 under Subjective Analysis was budgeted for $250,000. It came in at [$300,000] and is budgeted for $430,000 next year. I guess they were supposed to perhaps move into a bigger space or didn't make it and are now moving into a bigger or more expensive space. So that would be my question as to what is going on there, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: Yes.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: And now I am going to turn to Performance Measures, page B-128. I am looking at 49080, Compliance. And I am looking at the number of inspections. The original forecast for 2024/25 was 240 inspections. And they arrived at 200 inspections. And if I have got my math right, they did that with 7 staff (turning back to page B-127). But now they are going to 16 staff, but they are only going to go up to 240 inspections. So, some commentary on that mismatch would be appreciated, Mr. Chairman.

I know I have quite a lot of questions out there, and it might take some time for the answers to come to be read out, so I want to make sure we leave time for that, Mr. Chairman.

The Chairman: Yes, you have 35 minutes left in the debate. And I think you have only one head outstanding that you have not asked questions on.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Well, if there were any of the answers available, I would love to hear them.

I am turning now to the Debt and Loan Guarantees, Mr. Chairman.

[Inaudible interjection]

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: I will take my seat; I still have more questions.

[Inaudible interjections]

An Hon. Member: No, no. Don't take your seat.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Okay.

I think we discussed . . . we actually started going a little bit backwards, so we discussed the guarantees.

The Chairman: We are at page B-132 now?

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Yes. And I am actually going to flip over to the back of the [Budget] Book. I am looking at page C-4, Capital Developments of the Bermuda Infrastructure Fund. It had $2.9 million up until the year end 2024. Can we get a description of what that capital funding was for, Mr. Chairman?

Now I turn forward, still on the red pages. Page C-11, Ministry of Finance, and the top group 76921, Corporate Income Tax, capital grant.

The Chairman: Page C-11, yes.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: If we could have a brief description of what that is for please. I think I had some other questions, but they were well covered in the brief.

The Chairman: Corporate Income Tax, capital grant, 76921, page C-11.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Yes, that is correct, $750[,000] originally and then $1.75 million last year.

Social Insurance, the debt management system, 76925, was $249,000 estimated, and then came in at zero. There were different things mentioned in the brief, and I probably have got them muddled, so if they could just specify exactly what happened there.

Going back to Registrar of Companies, under the OECD Common Reporting, 76867, the $300,000 estimate for 2025/26, frankly seems quite reasonable for this kind of stuff. So, is there a standard package that we are just buying? Or a piece of software that you buy off the shelf for that? You know, what are we getting for that money?

Turning forward now, Mr. Chairman, to page C-17.

The Chairman: Yes, Grants?

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Grants. I think I did ask about the Corporate Income Tax Authority grant before and how that was going to . . . 6965, and the details about how that was going to operate with the loan.

The Chairman: You did.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: I did start with my questions about the refinancing. I did start with my questions about the Sinking Fund. I did start with my questions about the BHB [Bermuda Hospitals Board]. So, at this time I think I will yield the floor if there is anyone else with questions, or there are things to come in.

The Chairman: Yes.

All right. Before we move to the Finance Minister, or Junior Finance Minister, is there anyone else who wishes to participate in the debate?

There being none, Premier, do you want . . . or, Junior Finance [Minister].

[Pause]

The Chairman: Thank you.

Finance Minister, you have the floor.

Hon. E. David Burt: Mr. Chairman, I am going to try my best to cover the questions that have been asked by the Shadow Minister and maybe we can have time for follow up.

It has been through $500 million, debt re-finance, explains how it will work, partial payments in terms of well, remember, the debt comes due, you repay the debt and if you have to refinance any portion of it, it is so there is nothing.

A question in regard to penalties, our debt is on the open market as well so it can be repurchased at any time and that is just a determination as to whether or not it makes good financial sense or fiscal sense of which to do so.

There was a question related to the Hospital Guarantee. There was a change with regard to accounting standards which is the reason why, as I explained previously, that number has gone up significantly over the years and they have asked us to include all of the stream of interest payments rather than just the principal amount. So that is the reason why that figure is there.

Matters related to the Sinking Fund, I think the Junior Minister of Finance provided a very wholesome response to that during last week's general economic debate. So, I am not certain what further questions there are to answer on that one.

On page B-107, speaking about objectives in regard to framework for the corporate income tax and corporate income tax agencies, regarding differences between one and the other insofar as setting policy and guidance. CITA [Bermuda Corporate Income Tax Act 2023] recently let out administrative penalties and associated administrative regulations put out by the Government and the international tax working group that speak to guidance on administrative penalties and associated administrative regulations. CITA will be responsible for future setting policy direction and guidance for the collection of revenue for in-scope entities which will require close liaison with the Government to ensure that the work is aligned with the Registrar of Companies . . . of in- and out-of-scope companies with the Ministry of Finance Headquarters to ensure compliance with our international obligations.

The question comes back to the $187.5 million, which I have explained on multiple occasions, but I will try to explain again. The estimate that we have for corporate income tax is $750.0 million and the estimate which has been associated with this year's budget is a quarter of those collections on average. As we know, the matter has been said when we first reported this number that was in last year's Budget Statement. It is an average estimated on the take over 10 years. We take in $750 million and, of course, we are just coming into a space with this regime so we said that a quarter of those particular funds will accrue to the Government for use. You will see in future years we are putting $600 million as a figure in those future years. However, it is expected that those figures may be higher, but we are just using conservative estimates inside of the Budget Book and future-looking statements.

There was a question in regard to the Reserve Fund, et cetera. This gets rather technical. I think, Mr. Chairman, it would be far better for us that when we bring the reserve fund legislation to this Honourable House a little bit later that we can get into a discussion on the mechanics of the Reserve Fund, et cetera. So, I hope that is helpful enough for the Shadow Minister, understanding where the $187.5 [million] comes from. But again, it is a quarter of the $750 million figure, that is the figure that is being placed in there, so we will see what then obtains.

I think I have also given an answer to the $187 [million] and what those payments look like for the next three or four quarters. As a reminder, I think 50 per cent of estimated tax is due in August. And then 90 per cent of estimated tax is due in December.

And then the final amount is paid, reconciliation and whatever, is paid at tax filing and persons have up until October 2026 to finalise their tax filing for the tax year 2025.

There was a question with regard to risk factors were robust in the estimates. Has there been feedback from the OECD? The OC was compliant with the OECD framework. We do not envision that there is material risk of this number arising from any ongoing international discussions related to Pillar 2.

There was a question regarding registered tax payers there for CIT. Is it possible to break the amounts down by quarter? Filing for Bermuda constituent entities have until ten days before initial payments to register. And, of course, those initial payments are not expected until August. So, we do not have a figure until . . . we will have a better figure closer to the time. The agency will be able to provide a figure at that point in time, certainly subject to confidentiality. And we are unable to provide information on the concentration of payments at this time.

I think it is important to note that we always regard Bermuda's international sector as just insurance, but we are far wider with shipping and other types of various items. So, we recognise the total muddle that we are modelling at $750 million, which is an average that is conservative. But we will see and have better data to match with the actual filings that come in when they commence in August of this year.

In regard to payments related to the previous year on the cyber incident, that was to Palo Alto Networks.

Gaming Commission is responsible . . . the question you asked is there gaming on ships. Yes, that was in the Cruise Ships (Casinos) Act 2013, which was passed by the former Government. And regarding other items, there was a Gaming (Transfer of Functions) Act 2021, which governs cruise ship gaming, which is not new. It has been happening since 2013.

In regard to matters related to the betting framework, yes there are changes that are being processed there insofar as a new way to charge taxes rather than the way which is a relatively old-fashioned way where we put a charge on the initial bet. I think this is . . . we are going to change it so that it is done in a different fashion that is like other jurisdictions, which is expected to bring more persons in casino . . . sorry, the Gaming Commission currently has two matters from international companies related to the provision of sports betting under a regulated framework here in Bermuda, partnering with local companies which is something that the Ministry of Finance has stated is necessary as we will not be giving 114B licences for overseas companies to operate gaming on Island and on things because we want to ensure that we actually have local companies who may have been involved in this before to be a part of this. So that is the stuff that is taking place with the Gaming Commission.

The question in regard to $4.78 million in regard to the CIT grant, that is a full grant. That is not a loan. In the Budget Statement and also the brief spoke about additional funding that will be necessary in the coming year. And that funding is going to be done from the interest on deposits that the body is going to get. So that is going to be an ongoing revenue stream for them. That is how they are going to fund it. But that $4.78 [million] is not a loan; it is a grant located inside of this budget.

There was a question in regard to salaries going up, and I do not remember what particular page this was, but it was a question of salaries up 20 per cent in $427,000—

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. E. David Burt: Sorry?

The Chairman: Page B-108.

Hon. E. David Burt: Page B-108. Thank you for that, Mr. Chairman.

That is one additional position together with salary pay award increases.

There was a question about coverage we have for cyber insurance, has anyone reviewed the IT estate to improve cyber policy. Our reviews are ongoing. I can look to get specifics in regard to our coverage, but certainly coming off the recent cyber incident it clearly was not the easiest thing to procure such. But we continue to upgrade and you will recognise there is record investments insofar as the IT estate for the Government of Bermuda in addition to various funding for national resilience in cyber which will be inside of the Ministry of National Security, and also when we debate Cabinet Office heads you will see additional increases in the IDT budget.

There was a question about whether or not the Government is considering adding any KPIs regarding fiscal guardrails. Those are matters that we will discuss in the future that will come from the Tax Reform Commission. Remember, the Tax Reform Commission was charged specifically . . . and, of course, the Honourable Member will be aware, as he did sit on that particular Commission. But one of the things was to recommend guardrails. And we will wait for the recommendations that will come.

There were also a number of various things and suggestions in regard to changes to payroll tax. And, again, the Government has stated that we are not doing any meaningful changes to the payroll tax structure until we receive the report from the Tax Reform Commission, which is expected next month. So, at that point in time it will be tabled here, and we will have plenty of time to debate those particular matters prior to the Government deciding which recommendations it may wish to take forward.

There was a question regarding GHI, and GHI not being paid out of the Sinking Fund. This is a possible misunderstanding around this issue. The increase is certainly to the Government's portion of the funds of which we are going to pay. It is important to note that as I mentioned it came to the attention of the Minister of Finance the challenges that were being experienced with GHI when we were comparing Sinking Fund balances and something was not necessarily adding up directly with the matters. Upon examination those matters were being funded out of the excess borrowing account, which is allowable under the law to cover shortfalls in the Consolidated Fund operations. Therefore, those matters are being addressed and are now fully inside of the budget.

The matter related to the Auditor and the clean audit opinion regarding the accounts, I think it is important to note that these matters have changed. We are not the only jurisdiction that has had this particular challenge—there are providences in Canada as well—due to this change with these particular matters. However, the Government has partnered with an external subject matter expert to gain an understanding of further work that is required for this new accounting standard. And working with the external expert we were able to develop a comprehensive model for the estimate of future costs of the extra retirement obligations. The Accountant General has met with the Auditor General to confirm our understanding of the concerns which led to the qualification and the additional work required to address. We prepared a comprehensive plan to address and will continue to work with external experts. The implementation is planned to remove this qualification. But it is important to note this is only on asset retirement obligations for asbestos and other related items. And the challenges that we are experiencing in Bermuda are no different than what has been experienced in Canada where accounting standards, which the Auditor General used, have come from, where there are similar qualifications which appeared in national and provisional accounts in Canada as we try to make sure that we get up to this particular standard.

There was a question of other audited funds not being done, and we have finally onboarded additional management accountants which will help the Accountant General in bringing some of those funds up to date.

There was a question about financial reporting. Original $580[,000] then came down to $300[,000] and now up to the original $580[,000] included a six-month salary for two vacant positions. Recruitments were not completed until close to the end of the fiscal year. For 2025/26, the estimates include the full year salary for those two staff along with the uplift in salaries.

I do note the question about the consolidated fund reporting. That is something that has been a long-established goal. I cannot state when we will actually achieve that goal, as you will recognise from this budget brief the Ministry of Finance has a significant amount of matters of which they are working on. And although that is a priority for some, we want to make sure that we can get our financial systems up and running and expand matters related to our E-1 system as well. But it is a long-term goal and something that hopefully we will achieve at some point in time during this particular Parliament.

There was a question why the funding has not gone up with the Superannuation Fund as much as other areas with the pay rise, the uptake in government pensions as well as the number of employed as the estimate is based off of the current numbers that are employed. And, of course, new persons as well.

The decrease in the contributory pensions 2024/25 estimates for the PSSF and CPF came in below estimates. These estimates in 2025/26 were built out using the 2024/25 actual spend with projected increases for headcount and salary increases.

There were questions that related to GEHI. I want to start with the first rebutting of a falsehood which I know continues to come from the Opposition. CORE was not cut. I want to repeat that again, core was not cut. Thank you. That is the first instance.

Secondly, on the matters that are related to what is happening with costs for prescriptions, it is important that GEHI manages other health insurance plans. Members will remember that there was a commitment to amalgamate the administration of GHI, HIP and FutureCare into one to streamline those administrative processes. And what we found with GHI is that there are not the cost control measures that you would find in traditional insurance systems. This particular thing insofar as prescriptions is just one of them. The manager has a number of various recommendations and it is also important to note that GHI is not managed purely by the Minister of Finance, though the Minister of Finance has responsibility. There is a GEHI management committee that has representatives from all of the public sector unions which are part of that and the changes for GHI are discussed with that committee prior to any form of implementation to make sure that they understand because, of course, their employees—oh, sorry, their members are the ones who are primarily affected by changes to GEHI.

There was a question in regard to yacht revenue to Customs. Why is it budgeted at 70 and now dropped if yachts are coming, if not so, why? Yachts are coming, revenue is included in other more specific object line including SRVs, Ships, Customs Service Charges, and like tolls.

Modernisation of social insurance legislation, what is happening? Various pieces of legislation are under consideration to update the Act. Also, the department is working closely with the Ministry of Finance to stop loopholes to protect the fund from exploitation until full contributory pension fund legislative changes are completed which we are expecting to advance significantly this year.

On the matters related to understanding costs and headcount for social insurance, I think the Shadow Minister asked that. As I explained in the brief, the expenses are there. However, remember, these things are met from the consolidated . . . not the consolidated fund, the Contributory Pension Fund and they are re-charged. And that is why those amounts are stated at zero.

There was a question that was asked in regard to why is the Professional Services amount so high. Those professional services, though imperfect, are all for war pension benefits. So that is where they are reported, under the Professional Services line item. They are not seen as professional services, but that is just the allocation when you are being paid to external persons or service providers. So that is why it is there under Professional Services. And that is for $265 million.

Questions in regard to the target with debts and numbers, how are we going to get back to the target? The department is in the process of filling vacant posts in the last year. The compliance section is looking to collaborate with other Ministry of Finance departments, as I stated inside of the brief, to better identify delinquent employers. As you know, inside the Cabinet Office, and others we brought on additional data science experts that will be able to link the two systems together by using advanced IT systems which do not require what used to be done where there was significant work that was done. We can now take these data sets and look across the two particular main departments, Office of the Tax Commissioner and Department of Social Insurance, to better identify those persons as well.

A question was in regard to 2,600 inspections per year not managing to hit budget. It doesn't add back to that number, how is that derived? We need to double compliance officers. It is 10 inspections a week, and for 47 weeks, plus an estimate of 250 other investigations times five inspectors takes us to that 2,600 figure that has been mentioned.

Moving on to Head 38, reduce receivables by $50 million. How is this arrived at? OTC currently has three debt collectors with the estimate of $5 million collected per debt collector.

In regard to . . . I will get back to you on the question on 48080, a matter related to operations, where it says 12 per cent increase, but no increase in headcount. I just want to make sure I get a correct answer for that to reply back to you, Shadow Minister.

I will just ask for clarification on your question for 48080. Was that specifically just for that line item, and you are asking for the increase? Or was it an overall item? I am happy to yield.

The Chairman: Thank you.

The Finance Minister is yielding, will the Shadow Minister wish to clarify the question posed?

I call on the Honourable Member for constituency 25 to clarify, if you wish.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: No. I am mindful of time, so he can continue.

The Chairman: Duly noted.

The floor is yours, Finance Minister.

Hon. E. David Burt: All right, thank you. I will press on.

In regard to change the payroll tax structure, moving the bands, et cetera, we are going to wait for the report from the Tax Reform Commission.

Which industry is this being driven by, and how is this put out? When we talk about payroll tax it is important to note that the $41 million increase is an increase over the original estimate from last year. But if you look at the change between the revised estimate and the current one, it is a lot smaller figure than the change to the original estimate from last year where our collections were higher than expected.

There was a question in regard to a breakdown in regard to this. Typically, international business receipts form about (let me try to give a figure) . . . international . . . exempted undertakings, not just international business, because they are exempted undertakings. Overall [they] contribute to about 40 per cent of total tax take ups. And then it of course it depends on quarters. Some quarters were higher. Other quarters are typically in line. So, I will call it around between 40 per cent and 50 per cent of payroll tax collections come from exempted undertakings.

There was a question about payroll tax moved forward, why reduction in future years. That was done as stated in the Budget Statement a provision for the Government's stated position that companies that are inside of the framework for corporate income tax will likely have some form of remuneration on those particular matters.

In the matters related to banking, service tax and other types of taxes, those were just on a 2.5 per cent increase based on inflation. Their increase is based on revised figures, not the original figures. So, it can be sometimes confusing when you are looking at the changes from last year to this year, the original figures. But I would encourage the Shadow Minister to also look at the changes to the live figures. They were done on the 2.5 per cent increase which was basically overall inflationary increase there.

I answered that on foreign currency purchase tax. Insurance tax, we had spoken about cruise ship departures King's Wharf is being repaired, and there is less availability for cruise ships to dock. And same thing on transport infrastructure tax, and land conveyance was dropping, estimates were lower based on actual collections based off 2024/25 of $16.5 million. But it is also important to note that we have removed the, expanded greatly the first-time homebuyers and also the tax on mortgage transfers. So, in that case and instance that is going to see some money coming out of the stamp duty, but that is fine because we think that the overall economy will benefit due to more activity that is taking place.

There is a section of taxpayers particularly the older [ones] who prefer to pay their taxes ACG cashiers. So, that is why it is being stuck at 75 per cent. I understand we want to continue to move that and over time as we make things easier, we hopefully will see better on that.

Payment plans 100 per cent electronic monitors, what KPIs the actual plan numbers mean. When the Smart cases was live payment plans can be monitored electronically using the AS400 system which is 30 years old. Tax accounts have been reviewed manually reducing effectiveness.

The question in regard to question 44, in regard to increased amounts for public prosecution, target outcome 100 can be . . . you deal with that number, the DPP advised they can manage 10 accounts per month. It is a new undertaking. Will monitor progress and amend if necessary.

Moving on to Head 39, still have exchange controls for company sales and permissions required can be a snag on deals that consider these requirements and laws to make the project more efficient. Change control falls within the preview of the Bermuda Monetary Authority acting as an agent for the Minister of Finance. Permission is required. No change to the control framework is contemplated other than changes for accommodate the transfer of the beneficial ownership register for BMA to Registrar of Companies. It is important to note that permissions underpin our international commitments depending on the nature of business, mergers may require additional reviews and approval by supervisory teams.

Exempted revenue dropping, why? A minor decrease in total numbers of companies some what struck from the Register, the overall percentages in decreases of material. Non-resident tax dropping minor decrease in the overall numbers, some are struck from the register. The overall percentages decreases in material.

What specific advice did the ROC offer regarding given to and . . . the Registrar of Companies oversees the entire corporate registration framework together with various e-compliance frameworks and the Registrar of Companies may provide advice to any matter underneath its remit.

Question 49, tax reporting and compliance will be done on a country-by-country reporting. Country-by-country reporting is not done by us, it is done by the individual companies that form part of this particular thing submitted to the portal and this has been taking place since 2017.

Salaries increased by 28 per cent, but FTIs are not increasing as much, but why? This is due to headcount that was budgeted last year but no vacancy for budget were not in as they were done by professional services and consultants. So it just means the fact that the activities that were taking place . . . I know there was another question in regard to inspections, and we are raising headcounts, but we are not raising the number of inspections. The reality is that those inspections are done by persons who are contracted by Professional Services but will now be done by persons who are in situ inside of the particular Ministry.

Question 51 was a question about rentals and moving, the plan was to move last year. It did not happen, but we are looking to have that done this year.

There are no questions on loan guarantees. We know we have a history of the Bermuda Infrastructure Fund—

The Chairman: Premier, we are in the last five minutes.

Hon. E. David Burt: Okay, I am trying to . . . he asked a lot of questions.

The Chairman: He did. He did. He did, indeed.

Hon. E. David Burt: I am just trying to go—

The Chairman: Inquiring minds.

Hon. E. David Burt: Ah!

I just want to go through . . . then there was a question in regard to the infrastructure or the capital grant. That capital grant was given last year for a start-up, and additional needs will be met through the borrowing facility that we had mentioned.

There was a question, question 57, in regard to e-initiatives on the Registrar of Companies with capital. The software is already being used. The e-initiative will fund the Beneficial Ownership Register. And enhancements to the real estate liquidations, $300,000 is budgeted for OECD reporting software upgrades.

And there was a question in regard to the grant for CITA. And that work is going to go to CITA, but also to support for the MOF for work to progress the corporate income tax regime.

The Chairman: Thank you, Honourable Finance Minister and Premier.

I see that the Honourable Member for constituency 25 is on his feet. I think, realistically, you are not going to get any more questions and answers in, but if you want to have a valiant try—

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: For the record, Mr. Chairman, I would like to get my question in. I did ask about the number of payers for the corporate income tax, who is registered . . . so I am a bit flummoxed because the Government is very confident in the amounts it is getting but does not seem to be able to tell anybody how many payers there will be. And he also was not able to answer how much of the funds they are expecting will be held off in the reserve.

I do also have a question to ask. He indicated that we, and I am assuming he is speaking of the Ministry, Mr. Chairman, have set the amount that the CO would forward to the Consolidated Fund, but if I understand correctly that is actually under the purview of CITA to actually set. So, if he could perhaps clarify who is making that decision, I would appreciate that, Mr. Chairman.

Thank you.

The Chairman: Honourable Finance Minister and Premier.

Hon. E. David Burt: I answered the question. I will repeat it again so that the Honourable Member can hopefully get it this time.

The people do not have to register until 10 days before tax filing. That will be in August. At that point in time, we can provide an accurate number based on the question of which he asked.

In regard to estimates which have been made, it is important to note that country-by-country reporting, which has been taking place since 2017, is reported to the OECD. The OECD has these figures. The OECD has shared these figures with us. Those figures have been shared with the Tax Reform Commission. That is the reason why we are confident in regard to projections which have been made.

I would hope the Shadow Minister would stop trying to undermine this matter related to the conservative estimates that have been made—

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Point of order, Mr. Chairman.

Hon. E. David Burt: —there has been significant—

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Point of order, Mr. Chairman, point of order.

The Chairman: What is your point of order?

POINT OF ORDER

[Imputing improper motive]

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: The Honourable Premier is imputing improper motive, Mr. Chairman. Thank you.

The Chairman: All right.

Well, I thank you both. To the Honourable Finance Minister and the Honourable Shadow Minister. And, indeed, the Junior Minister as well, MP Furbert.

That concludes our debate on the Ministry of Finance.

Honourable Finance Minister, if you would like to move your heads, please.

Hon. E. David Burt: Thank you, very much, Mr. Chairman.

I move that Heads 10, 11, 12, 28, 38, 39 and 58 be approved as printed.

The Chairman: Thank you, Minister.

Honourable Member it has been moved that Heads 10, 11, 12, 28, 38, 39 and 58 be approved.

Is there any objection to that motion?

There being none, Heads 10, 11, 12, 28, 38, 39 and 58 are approved.

[Motion carried: The Ministry of Finance, Heads 10, 11, 12, 28, 38, 39 and 58 were approved and stand part of the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for the year 2025/26.]

The Chairman: Honourable Finance Minister, would you like us to rise and report progress?

Hon. E. David Burt: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

I move that the Committee rise and report progress and ask for leave to sit again.

The Chairman: It has been moved that the Committee rise and report progress and ask for leave to sit again.

Is there any objection to that motion?

There being none, we shall rise and report progress and ask for leave to sit again.

[Motion carried: The Committee of Supply rose and reported progress and asked for leave to sit again.]

REPORT OF COMMITTEE

COMMITTEE OF SUPPLY

ESTIMATES OF REVENUE AND EXPENDITURE FOR THE YEAR 2025/26

The Deputy Speaker: Good evening, Members. It has been reported that the Committee [of Supply] rose and reported progress and sought leave to sit again.

Were there any objections to that?

There being none, we shall move on with the Orders of the Day. I understand that we are doing Orders 2, 4, and 5. And so, with that said, I call on the Minister of National Security to present his Bill.

Minister, you have the floor.

Hon. Michael A. Weeks: Good evening, Madam Deputy Speaker.

Madam Deputy Speaker, I move that the Bill entitled Explosive Substances Amendment Act 2025 be now read for the second time.

The Deputy Speaker: It has been moved that the Explosive Substances Amendment Act 2025 be now read for the second time.

Are there any objections?

There are none. Continue, Minister.

BILL

SECOND READING

EXPLOSIVE SUBSTANCES AMENDMENT ACT 2025

Hon. Michael A. Weeks: Madam Deputy Speaker, I rise today to present for the consideration of this Honourable House the Explosive Substances Amendment Act 2025, a Bill that seeks to modernise our legislative framework to reflect the practical realities and professional standards of today's pyrotechnics industry in Bermuda.

Madam Deputy Speaker, under the current provisions of the Explosive Substances Act 1974, fireworks display permits may only be granted to public officers acting in their official capacity, municipal corporations or hotel managers. While this structure was originally intended to ensure proper oversight and safety, it has become outdated and unnecessarily restrictive in practice. In effect, trained and certified pyrotechnicians must rely on eligible third parties, such as a government official or hotel manager to apply for and collect a permit on their behalf. This introduces unnecessary bureaucracy and inefficiency into what should be a straightforward process. It also places an administrative burden on public officers who are required to perform duties unrelated to their primary responsibilities such as collecting and relaying permits.

Madam Deputy Speaker, the amendment proposed in this Bill will allow for fireworks permits to be issued directly to trained and certified pyrotechnicians who are employed by licensed pyrotechnic companies.

An Hon. Member: Good idea.

Hon. Michael A. Weeks: This adjustment preserves the existing oversight mechanisms. Permits will still be issued only after the Commissioner of Police consults with the Chief Fire Officer and coordinates with the relevant agencies, such as Air Traffic Control, Marine and Ports, and the Environment and Natural Resources [Department] will continue as required. This is not a change in safety policy. It is a change in administrative efficiency that removes intermediaries from the process while maintaining all existing controls.

Madam Deputy Speaker, this amendment enables a more streamlined and modern permitting process. It reduces the Government's administrative burden and supports the responsible professional operation of the pyrotechnic industry. At the same time it allows individuals and event organisers greater flexibility in contracting services for public and private celebrations such as weddings, community events and national holidays.

Madam Deputy Speaker, Honourable Members are advised that as part of the consequential amendments the fee for the issuance of a fireworks permit has been revised from $300 to $500. This adjustment reflects the need to more accurately cover the administrative costs associated with the review, approval, and oversight processes which are critical to maintaining public safety and regulatory compliance. This is the first rate increase for fireworks permits since the fee was implemented in 1976.

Madam Deputy Speaker, these amendments are modest, sensible updates that reflect the evolving needs of both the public sector and private event organisers, while supporting the safety and professionalism that the use of fireworks demands. I therefore commend the Explosive Substances Amendment Act 2025 to this Honourable House for Honourable Members to debate.

Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Minister.

Are there any other Members who wish to speak to the Bill entitled Explosive Substances Amendment Act 2025?

I recognise the Member from constituency 10. Member, you have the floor.

Mr. Robert King: Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker, and Members of this Honourable House and the listening public.

Myself and Members of the Opposition wholeheartedly support this legislation. We think it is a good piece of piece of law, and it can actually pave the way for some employment, future employment, for Bermudians in this field.

A couple of questions or concerns that I have with the legislation as drafted, understanding the nature of the explosive substances, it being inherently dangerous, I am wondering if there is a consideration of provision for indemnity insurance in the Bill and also some considerations in respect of environment to ensure that the environment, both land and sea, is protected.

Thank you.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Member.

Are there any other Members who wish to speak to the Bill?

I recognise the Member from constituency 22. Member, you have the floor.

Mr. Scott Pearman: Thank you, Madam Speaker.

I just have one question arising from the Bill and I actually took the liberty of raising it with the Honourable Minister in advance. The question is really this: The fee is going up for the permit. And, obviously, we know about this new fireworks business and we all want it to succeed. Why do we want it to succeed? Because when tourists come to Bermuda what better thing to have as an event than fireworks? So, we want to see this Bermudian business get off the ground and succeed and flourish.

So, with that in mind, my question to the Honourable Minister is this: If the fee for the permit is going up from $300 to $500, what are we going to do about whether he has to have a permit, or the business has to have a permit, each and every time? Because the legislation as currently drafted in section 10(3) of the primary Act suggests that there has to be a new permit issued every time with the date and the location of the fireworks. And I hope that is not the case, because if we are really going to a business off the ground where we see fireworks three, four, five times a month, maybe more during the high season, I think it would be prohibitive for the business to have to meet a cost of $500 on each and every occasion.

So, I did ask the Honourable Minister if he could confirm that there will in fact just be a fee for this business, and not a recurring fee for each and every event, and I welcome the clarification.

Thank you.

The Deputy Speaker: Member, do you want that question answered in Committee? Yes?

Mr. Scott Pearman: I am entirely in the hands of the Minister as he prefers.

The Deputy Speaker: Okay.

Are there any other Members who wish to speak to this Bill?

I recognise the Member from constituency 12. Member, you had the floor.

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: Yes, and thank you, and good evening to colleagues and listening Bermuda.

Just one basic comment. Just the other day I got home, and I heard fireworks going off. And I was not quite sure where it was coming from at first, which led me (when I was reading through this particular Bill here, this amendment) . . . I was just wondering . . . there is no line item here so in Committee it would not make any sense, but it is a question of . . . are they with fireworks licences, let's say to a hotel, are they required to gazette the fact that they are actually going to have fireworks?

The reason I asked that question is that my neighbour has a dog. When those fireworks go off, he went foolish. All right? And I thought what in the world is going on? And I could hear this thing, bang-bang-bang—I didn't know it was fireworks going off. I guess, God forbid, if someone may have a pacemaker or something that shocks them and pushes that thing off, well, it would be nice if it was gazetted.

But I did not see anywhere in the legislation that it requires a gazetting or making an official notice that there will be fireworks in, I don't know, Tucker's Point or up at South P, when it gets up and going, or Hamilton P, for that matter. So, it would be nice to be able to know. I couldn't find it anywhere in the legislation at all were it mentioned that.

But I will say again that from the last time the legislation came, I am so happy to see that. That we have the opportunity and our young local who is responsible . . . pyrotechnics and making sure that this stuff is well organised. So, we are all behind this. I guess just what we want to make sure is that the red tape is being cut out here. That is an extremely important thing, and I see the sense of what the Minister is attempting to do.

So, we are in full support. We do not want to belabour it. But maybe just have a few questions out.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Member.

Are there any other Members who wish to speak to the Bill?

I recognise the Member from constituency 15. Member, you have the floor.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

I would just like to take a small moment to speak in support of this Bill that my honourable colleague the Minister of National Security has brought.

This Honourable House will recall that maybe about a year ago when I sat in another place that we actually brought forward, obviously it came to this place as well, a Tourism Investment Order. And this was the very first, this particular business. Well, I do not think we are talking about a particular business, but there was a particular business. I think it's the only one in Bermuda that does that—

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Owen Darrell: Yes, Swan Pyrotechnics. It's the only business that we bought a Tourism Investment Order. And it was the very first in the category of attractions. And it was supported by both Houses at the time.

And I know that the way it was written previously is that every single time that he wished to put on a fireworks display at any establishment he had to . . . I think the law was written where it had to be an MP, or it had to be some . . . somebody . . . it had to go through a manager. It was a very arduous process, and very long.

So, I just want to speak to this Bill and show the support that this Government continues to have in this area because it does come under attractions. And as we are trying, then you will see in what is to come later this evening, as we are trying to further invest in the tourism product in Bermuda, I think that anything we can do to make this process smoother for the entrepreneur, as well as the individuals who want these fireworks, is definitely a positive thing. So, I'd like to speak in support of my colleague.

Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Member.

Are there any other Members who wish to speak to this Bill?

Recognising no others, Minister, you may reply.

Hon. Michael A. Weeks: Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

I would like to thank all of the Members who have participated, in particular the Member from constituency 15 who ably supported me and the Government's initiatives.

Madam Deputy Speaker, if I may, the first question from the Member for constituency 10, I think it was about insurance. For clarity, all pyrotechnic companies have to have insurance. So, they have to have insurance for their business.

The second question for . . . and actually the second question [asked by the Member for] constituency 10 about the environment and whatnot, as I said in my brief, the Police Commissioner confers with the Fire Chief and Marine and Ports and other relevant agencies. So, all of that is covered in the exercise of the Commissioner of Police dealing with the Fire Chief and the other . . . and whoever else.

For the Member from constituency 22, he asked about the fee. First of all, when he said that the fee hasn't been increased since 1976, so it is going from $300 to $500, what I must say is that the fee that the pyrotechnics people charge for their service, this fee is a relatively minimal administrative fee.

So having said that, Madam Deputy Speaker, if no one else has any questions or comments, I move that the Bill be committed.

The Deputy Speaker: It has been moved that the Bill entitled Explosive Substances Amendment Act 2025 be committed.

I call on the Member from constituency 22 to take the Chair.

[Pause]

The Deputy Speaker: I do not—

House in Committee at 8:17 pm

[Mr. Scott Pearman, Chairman]

COMMITTEE ON BILL

EXPLOSIVE SUBSTANCES AMENDMENT ACT 2025

The Chairman: Members, we are now in Committee of the whole House for consideration of a Bill entitled Explosive Substances Amendment Act 2025.

I call on the Minister in charge to proceed.

Minister, you have the floor.

Hon. Michael A. Weeks: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. Chairman, I would like to move all four clauses.

The Chairman: It has been proposed that the Minister move all four clauses at once.

Any objections?

No objections, please do.

Hon. Michael A. Weeks: Clause 1 provides the citation for the Bill.

Clause 2 amends the principal Act by repealing section 10(1) and replacing it with provision to allow for a new category of person to whom a fireworks permit may be granted—certified [and trained] pyrotechnician employed by a pyrotechnics company—and to allow for consultation between the Commissioner and the Chief Fire Officer regarding the grant of fireworks permits.

Clause 3 amends the principal Act in section 11(8) by deleting the reference to the Government Fees Act 1965 and substituting it with the Government Fees Regulations 1976, so as to provide a more accurate reference to the Statutory Instrument wherein the fees payable for a licence or permit are prescribed.

Clause 4 provides for the consequential amendment to the Government Fees Regulations 1976 increasing the fee for a fireworks permit from $300 to $500.

The Chairman: Thank you, Minister.

Is there any Member who wishes to speak to the Bill in Committee?

There being none, Minister.

Hon. Michael A. Weeks: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

I now move that the preamble be approved.

The Chairman: Yes. If you would move the clauses first.

Hon. Michael A. Weeks: I would like to move that clauses 1 through 4.

The Chairman: It has been moved that clauses 1 through 4 of the Bill be approved.

Is there any objection?

There is no objection. Clauses 1 through 4 are approved.

[Motion carried: Clauses 1 through 4 passed.]

The Chairman: Would you like to move the preamble?

Hon. Michael A. Weeks: I move that the preamble be approved.

The Chairman: it has been moved that the preamble be approved.

Is there any objection?

There is no objection. The preamble has been approved.

Hon. Michael A. Weeks: I move that the Bill be reported to the House as printed.

The Chairman: It has been moved that the Bill be reported to the House as printed.

Is there any objection?

There is no objection. The Bill will be reported to the House as printed.

[Motion carried: The Explosive Substances Amendment Act 2025 was considered by a Committee of the whole House and passed without amendment.]

House resumed at 8:20 pm

[Ms. Lovitta F. Foggo, Deputy Speaker, in the Chair]

REPORT OF COMMITTEE

EXPLOSIVE SUBSTANCES AMENDMENT ACT 2025

The Deputy Speaker: It has been reported that the Bill be accepted as printed and that there were no objections. There being none, that takes us on to the next Bill.

I call on the Minister for Tourism and Transport, Culture and Sport.

Minister, you have the floor.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker. Good evening.

Madam Deputy Speaker, I move that consideration be given to the draft Order entitled the Tourism Investment (Hillcrest Boutique Hotel) Order 2025, proposed to be made by the Minister responsible for Tourism under section 3 of the Tourism Investment Act 2017, together with the written agreement of the Minister of Finance in exercise of the power conferred by section 5 of the Tourism Investment Act 2017.

The Deputy Speaker: It has been moved that the [draft Order entitled] the Tourism Investment (Hillcrest Boutique Hotel) Order 2025 be considered.

Any objections?

There being none, Minister.

DRAFT ORDER

TOURISM INVESTMENT (HILLCREST BOUTIQUE HOTEL) ORDER 2025

Hon. Owen Darrell: Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

The purpose in bringing this Tourism Investment \(Hillcrest Boutique Hotel\) Order 2025 before this Honourable House is to enable the grant of tax relief to the developer investing in the tourism product, Hillcrest Boutique Hotel, Hillcrest Boutique Hotel, Ltd., which is in the national economic interest of Bermuda.

Madam Deputy Speaker, I am pleased to invite this Honourable House to take this Order under consideration. The Hillcrest Boutique Hotel Ltd. is a Bermuda company incorporated on 8 October 2024. The hotel is the former Aunt Nea's Inn, which was built in the 1770s and was the first guest house in Bermuda to accept non-White guests during the period of segregation. It was purchased in July 2023 and was renovated and redesigned to create 14 suites, nine king suites, one additional king suite, one bachelor suite, two queen suites, and one cottage suite. The new amenities include a heated saltwater pool, a six-person hot tub, sauna, indoor and outdoor lounge with firepit, gym and a massage room.

Madam Deputy Speaker, in February of 2025, the Hillcrest Boutique Hotel came into the hotel inventory, and was placed on the tourism accommodation inventory as an inn with, as previously mentioned, a total of 14 units accommodating a maximum of 37 guests on any given night.

Madam Deputy Speaker, the staffing model of this inn includes housekeeping services provided by a local company, a hotel operations and distributions manager, an experiences manager, and a live-in maintenance manager.

Madam Deputy Speaker, Honourable Members will note that the Hillcrest Boutique Hotel has been awarded the full terms of relief allowed by the legislation, which is, full relief from customs duty for 15 years from the operative date of the Order; full relief from hotel occupancy tax for 15 years from the hotel's opening date; and full relief from the employer's share of payroll tax for 15 years from the hotel's opening date; full exemption from land tax for 10 years starting from the sixth anniversary of the hotel's opening date.

Madam Deputy Speaker, Honourable Members will note that exemptions from land tax is subject to the hotel's confirming in years 6 through 15 that 70 per cent of the hotel's staff must be Bermudian. Further, Madam Deputy Speaker, exemption from the employer's share of payroll tax is subject to a management training programme for Bermudians that is in operation at the hotel which is verified by the Department of Workforce Development.

Madam Deputy Speaker, the Hillcrest Boutique Hotel pairs timeless elegance with modern sophistication. It offers guests a private, tranquil, deeply comfortable home away from home with every modern amenity at affordable prices.

Madam Deputy Speaker, I conclude as I began, this Government's support of this tourism product is in the national economic interest of Bermuda. Madam Deputy Speaker, I am pleased to recommend this Order for the support of this Honourable House. Thank you.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you.

Do any other Members wish to speak on this Order?

I recognise the Member from constituency 30. Member, you have the floor.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: Thank you so much.

Right off the top, obviously, I want to extend our support from the Members of the Opposition for this historic property.

[Desk thumping]

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: I do not support the East End for Cup Match, Madam Deputy Speaker, but I do support economic activity and tourism investment for them, and I hope to see this stimulate more activity in the East End of the Island.

We also want to take time to note the history of the property and how important that is for the tapestry of Bermuda and for the tapestry of the East End.

I just have two small questions: Obviously, this will have to be done in collaboration with multiple ministries, but I would just like to know if we can get a bit of an update on the multiple moving parts of getting Bermudians into hospitality. So, we see the 70 per cent requirement for Bermudians, and I just know that we have a signature school, or a signature programme that does hospitality. We have seen some Workforce Development moves that have gotten some folks in. But if the Minister could endeavour to just get a bit of information for us at a later time (I don't expect him to have that tonight)—

The Deputy Speaker: You have to speak to the Order.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: But just to see how we can ensure that that 70 per cent is able to be covered by every hotel that is getting that particular stipulation because we have passed a few in this Honourable Chamber, and every single one is going to have to have 70 per cent and eventually we need to make sure we have the Bermudian workforce to accommodate that.

Also, along with the Workforce and Development checking the management programme, just a bit of clarity on that. How will that check be done? And how can we verify that Bermudians have been given a chance. Not necessarily specifically for this hotel, but just to that stipulation in general.

With that, you have our support, Minister.

Thank you.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Member.

Does any other Member wish to speak to the Order?

I recognise the Member for constituency 2.

Member, you have the floor.

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: Yes, Madam Deputy Speaker. I am very happy for the Minister to present this Order today. I am in 100 per cent support of the Hillcrest Boutique Hotel coming onstream. It is a property that I am very familiar with from Mrs. Trew Robinson, who I happen to know. And when I came to St. George's to open the golf course in 1985, Trew Robinson's guests used to come up to that property, our property, to enjoy our amenities. And Ms. Robinson was a very consummate hotel proprietor, and a very elegant person she was.

I want to also . . . when her son, a former Member of Parliament, Deloy Robinson, took the property. He was a former chairman, I believe, of the Bermuda Tourism Board when he was a Member of Parliament at that time. Nothing that was unprecedented, because I think I have mentioned before that persons in the House like DeForest Trimmingham and other Members, Kitson, I think, and other Members of Parliament were also chairmen of the Tourism Board as well over the years. So, there is nothing uncommon because we have an interest in the hotel industry and have a contribution to make in the industry that they are familiar with and that makes ever so much sense.

The history of Aunt Nea's Inn, dating back to [Sir] Thomas Moore, the great poet, and all of the stories that one could tell that inspired that poet's work lent its name to the romance of St. George's which is filled with it. And what a wonderful area it is, if anybody is familiar with Old Maids Lane. If you are not, I suggest you take a walk through those alleys and experience the wonderful aura that it presents.

Certainly, the history of the connection between persons who owned the property and politics is not lost on me. Ms. Trew Robinson, as I said, had a son who was in this very House. But before him, she had a son that sat in this House as well, Cecil Clarke for the Progressive Labour Party, her son also.

And it is not lost on me that the current proprietor's mother was a Premier of this country who actually introduced me to the other House in 1998. And her aunt as well sat in this very House. So, there are certainly connections with that property, and it certainly speaks to why it would be ahead of its time and open its doors to all and sundry and lead the way to make sure that fairness existed even when it was not legislated as so.

And while I am speaking about the amenities, the great addition to St. George's, let me just remind everyone in this country that St. George's is leading the way in hospitality. I have written papers in recent years to tell you that in St. George's we are the complete destination. And I am going to go as far as to say [that] anyone that knows St. George's knows that Tucker's Town is in St. George's. So, [it is] in St. George's Parish, and we claim parts of Hamilton Parish as well—

[Inaudible interjections]

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: —because when you look from The Loren and you work your way past Tucker's Point, which is Rosewood, when you go to Mid Ocean Club (you have got two golf courses there), when you go around the corner you pass Tom Moore's Tavern (not so dissimilar to the Tom Moore that would have written those poems inspired by Old Maid's Lane), and you would hit Grotto Bay. I have hit four hotels already, and I am coming across the bridge.

You have an airport that you rely on in the parish of St. George's.

[Desk thumping]

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: Right? You would go a little bit further if you ventured over to St. David's. You would get lost in another world. But you go across that wonderful bridge that soon will see pavement—beautiful pavement from the Minister of Public Works and [Environment]. He has promised that before Cup Match we are going to get some beautiful asphalt there to lead us into St. George's when we claim the Cup. And I am here to tell you—

[Crosstalk]

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: —that in St. George's now—

[Crosstalk]

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: —in St. George's now you have three hotels—three hotels on St. George's island. Three hotels in greater St. George's. That is six hotels, three golf courses because—

[Crosstalk and laughter]

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: —they renovated—

An Hon. Member: And no Cup.

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: —because they renovated St. George's golf club with the building of St. Regis hotel. And I—

An Hon. Member: Where's your Cup, Kim?

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: —I am getting to that.

[Laughter]

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: And I am here to say you have got the flagships of forts in Fort St. Catherine. And you have the greatest example of volunteerism in this country taking place with the restoration of the different forts, like in St. George's—Fort Albert, Fort Victoria and the like.

And I want to say a special thank you to friends of St. George's for that work of volunteerism, clearing out that debris. It is easy to blame the Government for all the casuarina trees that occupy all the forts, but it takes a great spirit of people to go and roll up their sleeves on weekends, give up their time to make it possible for us to have greater tourism products. Let that be an example up and down this country for people to roll up their sleeves and be volunteers to help us get better. And in St. George's, we are leading the way with those six hotel properties east of—

An Hon. Member: Thank you, OBA.

[Crosstalk]

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: Thank you, Bermuda! Because we could have done like the OBA did when a contract was given to develop the waterfront. That same Minister that said, "Thank you, OBA," was the first person to come and pass a Bill to do retroactive. We did not do that on the airport. And we did not do that for St. Regis. We embraced it notwithstanding the concerns we raised. And that is the difference [with] this responsible, elected-three-times PLP Government that I am proud to have been a part of.

[Desk thumping]

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: Now let me just say this. Because so much good is happening in the east, it is only fitting that my new skipper who we have leading St. George's will bring the Cup, so all those visitors will come in greater numbers this July to see us lift this Cup.

[Crosstalk]

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: Yes. But on a serious note—

[Laughter and general uproar]

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: —on a serious note, you know, persons tease me because I talk about golf.

An Hon. Member: No, you do not.

Another Hon. Member: No, no.

[Inaudible interjections]

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: —and I make no apologies for talking about golf, as I do sailing, because I come from a sailing family as well as golf. And I come from a fishing family. And I come from a farming family—all parts of making Bermuda what it is. And it ties into that beautiful spirit that we see demonstrated down there at the new Hillcrest Boutique Hotel, another example of a Bermudian-owned product in St. George's, just like Grotto Bay—Bermuda-owned. This property is Bermuda-owned.

You know you talked about that beautiful pool that they have there. Those young people who swim, who represent Bermuda, may have had an inspiration in that because the children of the proprietor are some of our top swimmers. I believe my cousin Ben Smith can attest to that. That would inspire. So, as we go there with our Minister responsible for sports and culture and the like to inspire these young people, this is what the investment in Bermuda's youth does. It inspires those with resources.

So, I am encouraging all in Bermuda who have the money, stop complaining about what we do not do and roll up your sleeves like the friends of St. George's to make it possible for greater investment to happen around the country like it is happening in St. George's. It just cannot happen in the old capital and our greater St. George's community. We are glad it is. And that is the spirit that is going to bring us the Cup because we have a winning combination going.

[Laughter and inaudible interjections]

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: And let me tell you this. When those owners of the superyachts that have come to Bermuda in greater numbers—

[Inaudible interjections]

An Hon. Member: We knew it was coming. We knew it was coming.

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: —when those owners of superyachts decide that they are going to come and spend a couple of days, there is a good possibility that they might take up all of the rooms of that one property because they can walk right down. And if they put their superyacht in the harbour or if they leave it at port and be a part of that experience and go back up there . . .

And you know what? When people come in that atmosphere, they can enjoy not only the property that they are staying on [but] the wonderful people that make St. George's. They might see a Neil Paynter having a birthday party and stuff as the last captain of Legend did—Black Pearl, actually. Or they might see Brutus and have little cocktail. Or they might see me and go down to Wahoo's and see Alfred and Geza. That is the beauty of St. George's. That is why it is showing the rest of Bermuda the way to go. We have got it all—

An Hon. Member: Except the Cup.

[Inaudible interjection and laughter]

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: Except the Cup. And just like when we did . . . And just like . . . And . . .

[Inaudible interjections]

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: But I just want to say how proud I am to be here today to support the Minister in this historic boutique hotel which adds to . . . In that St. George's island . . . again we have three hotel properties. The St. George's Club Hotel, the St. Regis hotel, and the Hillcrest Boutique Hotel—and right at the foot of the hill, those beautiful steps that lead up to another hotel, not too dissimilar to what would have happened 100 years ago when we certainly lead the way in tourism. And it is starting to lead the way because you are seeing it right there in St. George's. I just named it.

I did not even tell you that we have the capacity to hold the boutique cruise ships. There aren't as many. Many did not believe 20 years ago that we needed those cruise piers up in Dockyard because the ships were getting bigger, but they are starting to bring out some nice smaller boutique ships.

So right there in St. George's where this boutique hotel, this investment, is taking place, there is still room for other persons to follow suit of this wonderful entrepreneur and their family that have invested in St. George's. And thank you to the Government for being a part of helping them. And if there is anything more we need to do, I want them to know that they can reach out to their Member of Parliament, [the] wonderful lady or myself, or in fact you Madam [Deputy] Speaker because I think some of those names I may have mentioned might have been related to you in some sort [of way]. So that is my contribution for today to support this wonderful order.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Member. I could have let you go on all night because you were speaking about the best of Bermuda, St. George's.

[Laughter]

The Deputy Speaker: But even though I did not have the clock on, I was watching was watching the clock. I do want you to know that.

[Laughter]

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Member, for your contribution.

Are there any other Members who wish to speak?

I recognise the Member from constituency 9. Member, you have the floor.

Mr. Vance Campbell: Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

Madam Deputy Speaker, I was the Minister when the current owners first came to the table, and they only had a plan. But they clearly expressed that they were looking to act on this plan immediately. So, we were more than pleased to support it then, and we are more than pleased to support this Bill that follows from their actions to complete this project.

It was built in 1770s, as the Minister said. It is now rejuvenated into a 2025 property that fits in with the elements of St. George's. It is much needed in the area of tourism in Bermuda. Madam Deputy Speaker, 37 guests does not sound like much, but it is 37 more guests that we can host than before this property was finished. It is also presenting jobs, which is important as well.

And so, I support this, and I do have a couple of questions for the Minister. And if the Minister knows, I would like to know the percentage of staff currently who are Bermudian and whether there are plans to have a management trainee programme in place if there is not one in place already.

And there is always a risk following the previous speaker, but for those who do not know where the Hillcrest Boutique Hotel is located, I am in agreement with the previous speaker in that when St. George's wins the Cup, I think we should march it from the field to Hillcrest Hotel.

Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

[Laughter and crosstalk]

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Member.

Are there any other Members who wish to speak to the Order?

I recognise the Member from constituency 12.

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: Another East Ender.

The Chairman: Member, you have the floor.

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: Another blue and blue.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: I am going to lead off from the Honourable Member from constituency 2 in saying that it is great to see investment into the hospitality industry, as the Shadow Minister also said, and that they just might run into the Honourable Kim Swan. I believe that they will be aptly appreciative of a gentleman like this with a lot of history. One thing I can say [is] he has his history down. He does not forget it. And that is a gift, definitely a gift.

What I will say is I have not always been complimentary to the 15-year concession. And as we move on in time, I must say when I look at this property, Hillcrest, and when I look at the new owner—and I do not mind saying her name, Veronica Daley [Gordon] . . . Of course, as the Minister said, [the] Honourable Member from constituency 2, this is the former first female Premier in Bermuda, Pamela Gordon Banks. And so, the investment in this property is huge, actually. It had some troublesome times.

To see what has been done with it, I would encourage every single Member in the House that we, and maybe jointly . . . Let's go down and enjoy the facilities there. You know many times we are looking for somewhere to go, and we can find ourselves easily at Hamilton Princess or some of the other places, The Loren and the like. But let's go down now and support the Gordon family. Let's go down and support them with this here and enjoy some of those facilities.

I must say—I will say—I hope that the Honourable Member Kim Swan might even encourage them to some kind of miniature golf there. He loves his golf.

[Laughter]

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: And I will concede and say that maybe the concessions of 15 years are working, you know. I always get worried about the government coffers and whether or not when we are giving these concessions that we are actually going to see some benefit from it. But for this young lady to come home, because I know she was living abroad—I have had chats with her before—and to see that she has come home to . . . And I believe [she is] a former attorney, in fact, who is changing careers now to go into the hospitality industry. That is huge. That says a lot. And I am grateful that probably we have one less lawyer on the Island because we have so many now.

[Inaudible interjections and laughter]

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: But again, I want to say that St. George's actually . . . And I want to agree with the Honourable . . . the Junior Minister for Tourism that the East End is flourishing when it comes to the hospitality industry as he mentioned. We have got the St. Regis going, [a] brand new hotel. We have got The Loren—brand new. We had the renovations at Tucker's Point Club. Even Grotto is doing massive renovations, and we will be talking about that in the next Order that will come up.

But I want to go back to the fact that this is a local family who is taking the time to invest its time and money into something, which I cannot give enough accolades to.

And we, 36 of us, all of us, should find a way to the east. I know for you Somerset people it is a problem, but you know we drive up to Somerset. I . . . You know what? [Madam] Deputy Speaker, the first time that I went to Somerset I was six years old. I knew about it, coming from St. David's. Heard about it, but I had never been up there. And the only reason I went up there was because my dad was playing Cup Match. Right? That was the only reason I wound up in Somerset because otherwise everything was in St. George's. All the shops that were in town were in St. George's. When I was a kid, I did not have to come to town. And the fact is, St. George's people are very respectful, meaning St. David's as well. When we went to town. You know it, Madam Deputy Speaker. You had to dress up even when we went [to] Somerset. We used to go up to the beach in Somerset. We had to dress up. So, I am saying to you for this Cup Match, you Somerset people, when you come down St. George's, Dress up!

[Inaudible interjections and laughter]

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: Okay? Because I want you to know what it feels like to lose. The last time that we had a back-to-back win, it was because we had a Cannonier, St. George's Cricket Club, coach. Go back and look at it. All right?

Now, I know that Hillcrest will be excited. And what I want to say about Hillcrest is this. When you come down from Somerset—because we already live in St. George's—you had better find yourself a room down at Hillcrest for the weekend. Support this woman because [of] the money that she has put into this; we need to support it. Okay? We need to support it. So, you Somerset people, do the right thing. Rent a room.

I do not even think the Minister has rented a room from there. Yes, he did say that the beds were comfy and all of that. I know. I do not think he has been in one yet, but he did say it. I want to know that the Minister has taken a couple of his ministerial salary dollars and entertained a room at Hillcrest.

Thank you, Madam [Deputy Speaker].

[Laughter]

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Member.

Are there any other persons who wish to speak to the order?

I recognise the Premier from constituency 18. Premier?

Hon. E. David Burt: Madam Deputy Speaker, I am mindful that you are in the Chair, so I will do my best to not get thrown out. But there is a whole lot of delusion inside of this Chamber today. And I do not know how we got from—

The Deputy Speaker: You definitely need to be mindful.

[Laughter]

Hon. E. David Burt: And I do not know how we got from Hillcrest to all you perennial losers lamenting the fact that you might lose again this year. However . . . Sorry.

[Laughter and inaudible interjection]

Hon. E. David Burt: No problem.

But allow me to speak to the particular topic at hand. And clearly as Tourism Investment Orders are given jointly between the Minister responsible for Tourism and also the Minister responsible for Finance, it is important that I certainly speak. It goes without question that, clearly, I support this. Or else it would not have made it through the Cabinet to be here. But the reality is, Madam Deputy Speaker, that everything that has been said thus far in relation to Hillcrest—not in relation to delusions from persons who want to talk about Cup Match—are spot on, Madam Deputy Speaker, because I know that I was at the official opening with you and other Members. And the reality is that the transformation that Ms. Veronica Gordon has managed to make at that particular property is incredible.

Now, I happen to have the fortune of knowing Ms. Gordon for quite some while, and I know about her ability to transform projects into things that look extraordinary. And there is no question that what has been done at Hillcrest is extraordinary. It is a beautiful property. It is without question an addition to the Olde Towne, but it is also the recognition that if you put in place the types of legislation that are necessary to support investment, investment will come. And so, I know that he is no longer the Shadow Minister of Tourism, but the Shadow Minister of Public Works and Engineering, the former Premier from constituency 12, MP Cannonier . . . I will take it as saying that he has now admitted that he was wrong in opposing the extension from 10 to 15 years.

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: Point of order. Point of order. Point of order.

The Deputy Speaker: Your point of order, Member?

POINT OF ORDER
[Misleading]

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: Yes. I gave admittance to the fact that it might be working.

[Laughter]

Hon. L. Craig Cannonier: He is misleading the House. The verdict still stands as to whether or not it is working.

The Deputy Speaker: Okay. Thank you, Member.

Hon. E. David Burt: Madam Deputy Speaker, there is no misleading! He said, Yeah, you know, I was not on board with this 15 years; but now, you know, it might be okay.

[Crosstalk and laughter]

Hon. E. David Burt: But it is interesting.

I want to remind [us of] the history because it is important. And as of course as you know, Madam Deputy Speaker, I do not intend, you know, to be at this place for much longer. But the reality is that there are going to be Members who are here longer than us. And it is important that they remember the lessons of history. And as was stated in the Tourism Investment Order debate or when we amended the Tourism Investment Act 2017 to increase the maximum concessions to 15 years, I gave persons the history of that.

And the history of that was that we were at five years for hotel concessions. The Bermuda Tourism Authority in 2017 had recommended us going to 15 years, and through the regular process of institutional inflexibility and worry inside of the Ministry of Finance in regard to tax concessions and funds not coming to the Government, the decision was made to go to 10 and not to 15. And as I said at that point in time when we debated that Act, it was a mistake. And having to do it again, we should have gone with the full 15 years that was the recommendation at that time. And I just mention that to state that it is important as there will be persons here. I know the Shadow Minister, you know, who did . . . you know, hopefully hangs on to his seat next time around, but he might be around for a bit

[Inaudible interjections and laughter]

Hon. E. David Burt: No, but I am being honest because I am not trying to be pejorative, but he is a young Member. And I am sure that he intends on being in politics for a while, and what I am saying is these are important lessons. It is important that we recognise and understand.

So that was an error from the Finance Ministry's perspective that has been rectified now currently. But I think that it is also important that we recognise and understand that if we do not put the incentives in place that persons will have in other jurisdictions . . . And again, I remember here we are fighting over 10 or 15 years when other countries have 20 and 25 and some higher. So, it is important that we keep that in context.

Now back, of course, Madam Deputy Speaker, to Hillcrest. The work that Ms. Gordon has done is exquisite. It is a wonderful property. I will echo the sentiments of other Members who said people should go visit it, take it in. It is truly a sight to behold, and of course, I had already inquired and asked about their bookings over the Cup Match holiday. As you know, I always have people who are visiting. And apparently, they are already booked out and full, but you may be able to inquire still. But it is an absolutely beautiful property. And congratulations to Ms. Gordon.

I will say one thing. I do apologise that this has taken the amount and length of time that it did. The Minister may not have stated that there were some administrative challenges in pushing this ahead. This is not the standard of which we should be about. And so, I know I have expressed my apologies to Ms. Gordon directly. I know the Minister has also expressed her apologies. I want to make sure I say this in this public space. Nonetheless, the Tourism Concession Order will pass today. It will go to the Senate; it will pass there. And the just due for the investment of which has been made in beautifying that project will be rewarded with the support of Honourable Members in this Chamber and in the other place.

Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Premier.

Does any other Member wish to speak to the Order?

No other Members?
Minister.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

I would like to just thank the entire House for their comments and support on this Tourism Investment Order for the Hillcrest Boutique Hotel.

And if I can just add a bit to that, I have been to Hillcrest twice now and met with Ms. Veronica Gordon. I have had two tours of the property and, No, to the Member from the other side. I have not spent any time there overnight yet.

However, I will say this that just this week we got confirmation that the Secretary General and CEO of the Caribbean Tourism Organization had confirmed her visit to Bermuda to experience our Cup Match. So, she will be coming. And the next question when individuals say that they are going to make a visit to Bermuda is, Do you have any recommendations? And immediately we did reach out to Ms. Veronica Gordon just to ask and say, you know, Is there any availability? because as you would know everyone has been talking about Cup Match. It is the ideal location to just walk across the street and enjoy the Cup Match Classic to watch the Cleveland County players who play for St. George's do well.

[Inaudible interjections]

Hon. Owen Darrell: Like that. There you go, Mr. Vice President. I got that one in.

But with that said, we did get word back from Ms. Gordon that, you know, she does have availability, and she would love for the Secretary—

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Owen Darrell: Pardon?

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Owen Darrell: And she would love for the Secretary General and CEO of the Caribbean Tourism Organization, who we have a very good relationship with, to come and experience this property.

And so, it is a beautiful property especially, as I said in the brief, the amenities that have gone into that and every single detail. I do encourage everyone if they get an opportunity to make an appointment with Ms. Gordon so that you can see the pride that she has in the work that she has put in and the planning and, you know, as they call it, a labour of love into what she has put in this property. So, I am happy to hear that it has the support of all and just to answer some of the questions that were asked by the Honourable Shadow Minister of Tourism, the Honourable Member.

One of the questions was about how will we know that there is a management training programme for this and other properties? The Government's Tourism Regulatory and Policy Unit that does come under the Ministry HQ will work with the Department of Workforce Development and with all hotel representatives to determine the components of such a plan. So that is a relationship that is very much tied when it comes to these.

How will Government know that 70 per cent employment is achieved? Each hotel under this is required to submit a complete list of people employed at the hotel. This list includes details regarding the number of Bermudians versus the number of non-Bermudians employed, and from this the percentage of Bermudians employed will be determined. And the Office of the Tax Commissioner is required to verify this submission. And I have had word that as of current right now, 100 per cent of the employees at Hillcrest Boutique Hotel are indeed Bermudian.

[Desk thumping]

Hon. Owen Darrell: So, I would just like to put that on the record for this debate, Madam Deputy Speaker.

So, we are again happy to hear the support of the entire House for this. And as has been said by the Honourable Premier and the Honourable Member from constituency 12, we do wish Ms. Gordon much success in this endeavour.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Minister. Would you like to . . . ?

Hon. Owen Darrell: Madam Deputy Speaker, I would move that the said Draft Order be approved and that a suitable message be sent to Her [sic] Excellency the Governor.

The Deputy Speaker: His Excellency.

Hon. Owen Darrell: His Excellency the Governor.

The Deputy Speaker: Yes, Minister, it has been moved that the Draft Order be approved.

Are there any objections?

No objections, so a message will be sent to the Governor of its approval.

Thank you.

[Motion carried: The Tourism Investment (Hillcrest Boutique Hotel) Order 2025 was approved.]

The Deputy Speaker: Minister, I think you have a second Order to do.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Absolutely—

The Deputy Speaker: You have the floor.

Hon. Owen Darrell: —Madam Deputy Speaker. Thank you very much.

And this one is along the same line and length, since we are talking a lot of cricket this evening. And this one—

The Deputy Speaker: It's not in St. George's.

Hon. Owen Darrell: And this one is the Tourism Investment (Grotto Bay Resort and Spa) Order 2025.

Madam Deputy Speaker, I move that consideration be given to the Draft Order entitled the Tourism Investment (Grotto Bay Resort and Spa) Order 2025 proposed to be made by the Minister responsible for Tourism under section 3 of the Tourism Investment Act 2017 together with the written agreement of the Minister of Finance in exercise of the power conferred by section five of the Tourism Investment Act 2017.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Minister.

It has been moved that the Tourism Investment (Grotto Bay Resort and Spa) Order 2025 be considered.

Are there any objections to that? There being none, Minister, continue.

DRAFT ORDER

TOURISM INVESTMENT (GROTTO BAY RESORT AND SPA) ORDER 2025

Hon. Owen Darrell: Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

The purpose in bringing this Tourism Investment \(Grotto Bay Resort and Spa\) Order 2025 before this Honourable House is to enable the grant of tax relief to the developers investing in the tourism product Grotto Bay Resort and Spa, Grotto Bay Properties Limited, which is in the national economic interest of Bermuda. I am pleased, Madam Deputy Speaker, to invite this Honourable House to take this Order under consideration.

Madam Deputy Speaker, a key element of success in business is investment in the product to ensure it is always fresh and serves to meet the demands of customers that the business aims to serve. Madam Deputy Speaker, the hospitality business is no different. Destinations, hotels and attractions that seek to trade only on reputation can often lose their edge proving to be more of what they were than what they need to be. Success in this aggressive and competitive tourism marketplace demands that every affiliated tourism business consistently stays at the cutting edge. Madam Deputy Speaker, the Order before the Honourable Members represents that kind of investment in a product proposed to be made by a key tourism site in Bermuda.

As I indicated to this Honourable House on tabling this Order, the Grotto Bay and Resort and Spa is an iconic property located in the east end of the Island. The current owners have taken the foundation laid by their predecessors and have determined to grow the status of the hotel to meet the true luxury standard befitting its location. There have been upgrades to the property already, and I am pleased to have had the opportunity to visit the hotel on more than one occasion on the invitation of J. P. Martens, the Managing Director of the resort.

Madam Deputy Speaker, you would have noted that I actually did an international radio show from the panoramic views of the Grotto Bay just this week.

Madam Deputy Speaker, phase one of the two phases of development began in September 2023 and was completed in November of 2024. It included expansion of the Hibiscus [South] Dining Room and Palm Court, creation of the new Hibiscus [East] Dining Room, the new Panorama Lounge—a rooftop lounge located on top of the Hibiscus East Dining Room—and an expansion of the resort's beach via the creation of a new beach terrace, which has seating for an additional 100 guests. Phase two will consist of the construction of 53 additional guest rooms, expansion of the hotel kitchen, and the construction of a new sewage treatment plant to meet the demands of the larger hotel.

Madam Deputy Speaker, Honourable Members will note that the terms of the Order are consistent with the Tourism Investment Act 2017 and provide the relief sought for a period of 15 years. That relief is set out in clause 3 of the Order and again is consistent with the principal Act.

Madam Deputy Speaker, I would like to invite the attention of the Honourable Members to clause 4 of the Order that sets out the important means by which hotels qualify for the exemption from the employer's share of payroll tax and the exemption from land tax. Respectively, a management training programme and 70 per cent Bermudian workforce is required.

Madam Deputy Speaker, I hereby advise the Honourable Members that currently at Grotto Bay, 73 per cent of the workforce is indeed Bermudian.

Madam Deputy Speaker, I would echo comments I have previously made in this House with respect to [the] Tourism Investment Act [2017]. The relief provided by the Act is not just available to hotels. The schedule to the Act sets out how new and existing restaurants can qualify for relief and likewise how an attraction, which we spoke about earlier, can also qualify.

Madam Deputy Speaker, the Government's goal is to create the conditions that inspire investor confidence at every level of the tourist economy sparking a desire to invest and reinvest as we continue to see the recovery of tourism for Bermuda.

Madam Deputy Speaker, I am pleased to recommend this Order for the support of this Honourable House.

Thank you.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Minister.

Would any other Member wish to speak on the Order?

I recognise the Member from constituency 30. Member, you have the floor.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: Thank you, [Madam] Deputy Speaker. I appreciate it, and I just also want to say we also welcome and support this—

[Inaudible interjection and laughter]

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: We welcome and support this, and you know—

[Inaudible interjections]

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: —it is something that I think unifies both sides of the Houses—that we want to see the tourism industry grow. We want to see investment in tourism attractions and properties.

And I have to say that hearing the Minister read that brief, it is very great news to hear [there are], as you know, 73 per cent Bermudian workers and also 53 new rooms. Any increase in rooms is a benefit to not only the economy but also to airlift and to all manner of things that benefit Bermudians who are working in the industry. So, the more people we can service, the more people we can house, is a benefit to the economy.

So, I want to congratulate the owners, and also, I think it shows a good amount of faith in the owners of this particular property to reinvest in their property, to expand it. And you know, we have to give kudos where kudos are due. You know, when you see an expansion like that, it does show confidence, you know, in the industry.

[Inaudible interjection and laughter]

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: So, I will say, as the Minister well knows, I do not mind bowling pace, but sometimes you have to bowl a little spin. Right? And this is why Somerset keeps the Cup. Right?

An Hon. Member: Yes.

[Laughter]

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: So, just letting you know. So—

[Inaudible interjection]

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: [Madam] Deputy Speaker, I will state . . . I will leave that there because I know where you . . . I know.

The Deputy Speaker: Yes.

Mr. Dwayne Robinson: With your indulgence.

We had a robust debate on [an] additional Order before this that is pretty much identical in the concessions. We have had the debate on that, so I will not rehash it. [I] just [want] to say that we support that. Well done to the owners, and good luck going forward.

Thank you.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Member.

Are there any other Members who wish to speak to this Order?

I recognise the Member from constituency 2. Member, you have the floor.

[Inaudible interjection]

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: Thank you.

Just as I adjust my St. George's blue-and-blue colours here on the microphone, let me just comment by acknowledging the fact that Grotto Bay, for more than 50 years, has been Bermuda-owned. I know I used to hear tidbits about Grotto Bay. Many folks would know that I grew up around the family of the late Ralph Owen Marshall who was a director there. I do know that the uncle of the Member sitting next me was a director there, Mr. Dowling. And I was trying to think of Mr. . . . We know him as "Buster."

An Hon. Member: Randolph Dowling.

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: Randolph Dowling was the director there. His son is "Dr. D". Right?

The Deputy Speaker: Henry, Henry.

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: He carried forth the family interest. I can recall in my early days going to St. George's when I came back to Bermuda working in Tucker's Town that his nickname (because St. Georgians have a lot of nicknames across Bermuda) . . . Mr. Bourne, Puzzy Bourne was very much involved in the property development in St. George's. There is a street named after him in my constituency, Bourne Drive, connected there as was my mentor. The Honourable late Terrence Brannon from the 40 Thieves Club was very much connected with the development in the earlier days of Grotto Bay. It has remained Bermudian owned and operated and has grown in strength to strength.

Before I had medical issues over the past 13 months, [I] brought a group of influential people in the golf business. And one of the five hotels that I brought persons from the UK to stay at the Grotto Bay—these group of ladies from the UK. One of them actually just came back again and spent 10 days. [She] just left today on the flight there.

And I have been told by other hoteliers that Grotto Bay has a tremendous reputation in the United Kingdom. Many people come to Grotto Bay from the UK because it has developed a reputation. And that is important, you know. People talk about orders, different types of marketing here and there, but there is no marketing like good word of mouth. When you have a good reputation, people who like you go back and tell their friends.

And I have said it more than once because I have lived it. I worked it. I am old enough to be able to speak from a historical practice of the industry to know that relationships are the cornerstone of tourism. And, you know, I knew Grotto Bay when Mr. David Boyd was the general manager in the early 1980s when I first came back and worked at Castle Harbour under Pierre Rollinger, one of my mentors. But before that at Belmont under Peter Rosary.

And the one thing that the current principal managing director has done . . . I saw it. About a year ago, I drove up to Grotto Bay in the morning to pick up one of my friends who was a guest there. And who was out front sweeping the cigarette butts? The managing director. Now, in modern day . . . What did they used to have up at the Princess that I objected to vehemently? That profiling thing, that test you used to take to get a job at hotels. That profiling test—

[Inaudible interjection]

The Deputy Speaker: Member, speak to the Chair, please.

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: I was just seeking some guidance. Sorry, Madam [Deputy Speaker]. I should have asked you, because I am sure you would have known the answer. But the Honourable Member worked there. It was a test that you had to take to get a job in the hospitality industry. And there were persons who spent their whole life serving who would not pass it because it was a profiling test.

I am telling you, that manager at that property that we are providing concessions for was operating old-school style. He saw something there. He did not wait to find a manager or whoever was out front to admonish them. He made sure . . . Did what? It disappeared first before he dealt with it—old school. I took a picture of him. You know what I shared? Another general manager friend of mine. I shared. I said: That is old . . . That is how I learned. That is the answer I would give. Solve the problem first. Right?

And when we are looking to give concessions, it is no wonder that persons are raving about Grotto Bay because of that panoramic dining room they built up above. You can look over St. George's. That is enough for a person to want to come on a vacation right there to have a view looking right down into the town of St. George's and the town clock, all the way up in Hamilton Parish. Hamilton Parish never looked so good until they got a perfect bird's-eye view of St. George's.

An Hon. Member: Hmm.

[Inaudible interjections]

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: And then you can turn around and look the other way and look across at Dockyard.

I am here to tell you that the investment that was put into Grotto Bay has been incremental. You cannot do it all at once. But you see the growth. And the beautiful thing, one of the pillars of the National Tourism Plan—AGILITY is the acronym—is local involvement. One important key of the “L” in the AGILITY, local involvement, is the local participation and buy-in into properties.

Grotto Bay operates on what I call a quasi-all-inclusive where persons . . . I put persons there. And we are going to play at St. Regis. And I am picking up people at Cambridge Beaches. I am picking them up at Newstead, and we are on our way down. And the Grotto Bay people said, Look. Don't come before I can get my breakfast because they have that beautiful all-inclusive breakfast. It reminded me of the days when you had the MAP plan that included your breakfast. And they do a great breakfast. But try to get up there on a weekend.

That is a property where now I see the tennis courts have car parks. That car park is not for the visitors, you know. And the hotel is packed too.

And do you know the beautiful thing about the hotel and the additional rooms? When Howard University came to Bermuda in January of 2023 into 2024 to train the aquatic team at the pool that was very controversial, which Minister Glenn Blakeney and Premier Ewart Brown saw to it that it went through, they stayed there. And they travelled throughout Bermuda. And they participated in sports tourism.

I remember the Minister hosted them up at Bermuda National Stadium for a reception and embraced them. And I think a few—one or two—Howard University alumni (here, you know) may have come and seen him. [They] probably [have] got the largest alumni association in Bermuda. And so, when you talked about sports tourism, when you talked about cultural tourism, you saw Howard University. They embraced Grotto Bay to be able to go up to National Stadium.

The Walk to Calvary just took place in St. George's (right?) over Good Friday and has now become a very cultural tourism type of event—over 30 years there. Mrs. Furbert and those who cultivated that. I mean, just by coincidence she worked at Grotto Bay in the concierge area for decades [and] now is doing the Walk to Calvary, and what hotel did they partner with? Oh, Grotto Bay.

Grotto Bay has a reputation already in Bermuda and around the world. And so, as a consequence, they get a good report from persons who are already familiar. And as I mentioned, the report that they get in the UK is already speaking volumes for itself. So, I think it is outstanding that we see this type of investment.

And you know, once again we are in the east, and I am telling you. We might have to go independent down there because we have got it all. We can fly in. We can cruise out. We have a great selection of hotels in St. George's in the greater East End. We have got three golf courses. We have got tennis. We have got it all.

[Inaudible interjection]

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: We have got the wonderful restaurants. And you know, we can play Cup Match against St. David's because a lot of them play for Somerset anyway.

But in all seriousness, this is outstanding. It is really outstanding, and I think that the fact that these two properties, these two Orders are from Bermuda-owned companies

An Hon. Member: Now you are talking.

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: We have heard people come here in this budget say, you know, Bermuda companies. What are you doing for Bermuda companies? Tonight, these Orders are two Bermuda companies that have been around.

I know that a lot of my friends, Bermudians, have got some capital. You know, we can make our fortunes happen. It is time to invest in Bermuda, too. And I am calling on folks to follow the example lead by those pioneer Bermudians who made it possible for Grotto Bay to be here in the first place.

Those who may have left the hotel industry to move into the condominium industry, because I have said many times, I can name the hotels from all the way up in Somerset to St. George's, [the] properties that were once Bermuda-owned and Bermuda-connected that went (and some of them not) that went towards the businesses and office space and condominiums.

[Inaudible interjection]

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: Not tonight. But you know they exist. And some of them, like a Lantana, like a Sonesta—

[General uproar]

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: —like an Elbow Beach, are still there for us to realise even greater investment.

And whilst I finish on this particular topic, let me say this. For those persons who are out there saying that there is nothing happening when we are talking about hotel concessions, I was here when we introduced ones for what? A hotel built on some of the property that my family once owned that was compulsory acquired, the Southampton Princess—the largest investment in a hotel property in Bermuda's history. Right there where the cycle shop was, was owned by Emily Burrows Hall, my great-grandmother, my grandmother's mother. And I am here to tell you that in the interest of why that property was compulsory acquired in 1969 thankfully she was represented by the late Lois Browne-Evans. And she said to me: You know, I went 'round to those boys down there and told them, Now you guys know a lot better than that to take that poor widow's money. And she got them seven times the amount that they were trying to offer. She told me that. And of course, she had seven children—seven, eight children—so they had to split it up.

And I am just here to say that that property I think is about $400 million. Do you know when I first came to this House, Madam Deputy Speaker, the budget in 1998/99 was about $400 [million] to $500 million, the budget that we made then? I have got the [Budget] Book right here. I have got it right here.

The Deputy Speaker: Tie it back to Grotto Bay, Member.

An Hon. Member: I am. We are talking about Grotto Bay during the budget.

[Laughter and inaudible interjections]

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: And so, the investment that is taking place here today some 26 years later (right?) ties into the fact that this PLP Government—

Some Hon. Members: Yes! Yes.

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: —is still making it happen.

[Desk thumping]

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: So, I am here to support the Order that has been brought by the Honourable Member from up there in constituency 15 here for the Grotto Bay hotel in the national interest. In the national interest. It is not just for those persons in his constituency who may work there. It is not just for the constituents of mine who work there. It is in the national interest. It is for the good of all of us. And so, when we say out there that people read that Bermuda is going to [do] this and that and some type of Aunt Myrtle's handbasket, it is not true—

[Inaudible interjection and laughter]

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: —not when you can see that Bermuda-owned properties are invested, not when you can see that there are Bermudians who care enough to clear out the forts, not when you can see that this Government can see to it that the Southampton Princess is being renovated, not when you can see that [The] Waterlot is getting reservations throughout the Island and overseas for people to be there. You are seeing Bermuda on the up and up. The glass is half full now. And Cup Match is coming back to St. George's this year.

An Hon. Member: Yeah!

[Desk thumping]

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Member.

Are there any other Members who wish to speak to the Order?

I recognise the Member from constituency 9. Member, you have the floor.

Mr. Vance Campbell: Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker. On this side of the aisle when the Government does a good job—

[Inaudible interjection]

Mr. Vance Campbell: That is right. We share the responsibility on this side.

An Hon. Member: That is right.

Mr. Vance Campbell: When the Government does a good job, we are not afraid to compliment them.

[Crosstalk]

Mr. Vance Campbell: This is a Bermudian-owned property as has been mentioned. It is a personal favourite of mine. I spent quite a few vacation times down there celebrating my kids' birthdays. The last of those was last July when we celebrated my daughter's quinceañera, which is a big deal on her Latin side.

This is a continued evolution of that property. I was the Minister when they first brought those plans, so it is great to see those plans continue. The first phase is done, and they are moving on to the second phase. This brings additional rooms—much needed rooms—additional amenities, [and] jobs. That terrace bar has a fantastic view. It is, I believe, going to be difficult to get reservations up there, particularly during the summer months. You may be having to book six months out, which is great for them. This is a great improvement of our local offerings in the tourism area, and it is something not only for our visitors to enjoy but locals as well.

And my final point is this wonderful escape that Grotto Bay is and will be as a result of this recent spell of renovations and additions. It shows the flexibility. This and the previous Tourism Order, show the flexibility of the Tourism Investment Act [2017]. And that it is not just for larger properties. It is for medium sized and smaller properties as well. So, I am pleased to stand here today and support this in support of our Shadow Minister. And I thank the Minister for bringing this to the House.

Thank you, Madam [Deputy] Speaker.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Member.

Are there any other Members who wish to speak to this Order?

I recognise the Premier from constituency 18.

Hon. E. David Burt: Thank you very much, Madam Deputy Speaker.

Of course, as the Minister said, this here required concurrence from the Ministry of Finance. The Ministry of Finance supports this. But let me just add a few more items of context because I think it is important that you recognise the significant sweeping measures of which Grotto Bay is doing—the expansion of rooms, the significant renovation. I was there this past weekend for Mother's Day with my mother and my wife and family, and it was lovely to see what they have done there. Others have commented on the new upstairs, the terrace, the different things. And so, I echo what the Honourable Member from constituency 2 has said, that we are supporting our tourism products. We are seeing the investment. We are seeing the confidence in our tourism product. And this is the result of the work of which Government has done, pressing ahead despite challenges including those that may come from the Opposition of warnings. The reality is that we are on the right path, and we are seeing the benefits of this.

I want to echo one further thing that the Minister has said for those persons who are listening because it is important to recognise that the Tourism Investment Act [2017] does not just apply to hotels whether large or a small. It also applies to restaurants and other matters. And so, it is a challenge for us as I know that we continue to promote that. We continue to work the BEDC, the Chamber of Commerce, and others. And it is a challenge that we have not seen many of those come through. The reality is for restaurateurs that if you are upgrading, building something new, you do get customs duty concessions. You do get payroll tax concessions in the exact same way because we want to create additional activities, and we have put those things in place to ensure that the investments can be made, so that we can see more of those things come to fruition and those investments happen.

So, I would like to congratulate the Minister again, [to] congratulate the team at the Grotto Bay hotel. I know I saw one of the shareholders on my flight out on Tuesday, and they were asking, Well if you are not in the House, how is my Tourism Investment Order going to get passed? And I said, Well I will be back on Friday, and I know we are doing it that day.

So, the reality is we will continue to work to support our tourism industry just as we will work to support our other industries in the country. But it is fantastic what they have done there, and of course, this has the full support of the Ministry of Finance.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Premier.

Are there any other Members who wish to speak?

There being none, I recognise the Minister.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker. And I would like to say thank you to all who have spoken in support of this Order.

I would just like to add to the experience that I have seen. When I first became Minister of Tourism a few years ago, one of my first engagements was actually at the invitation of the Managing Director, Mr. J. P. Martens. And we went down, and there was a lot of construction going on. He said, Listen. This is the plan that we have. And he showed all of the construction that was going on. And I mean, it was . . . There were people everywhere, whether it be carpenters, whether it be masons, you know, interior decorators. It was a beehive of activity.

And to go back over the months, many people, more and more individuals, are having Christmas parties there. I know the Bermuda Hotel Association had their Christmas lunch there. All of the general managers of the hotels get together up on that panorama view. There were individuals getting what they call consultations about weddings that were going to happen. I dare go as far as to say that although this is definitely going to be an upgrade to the tourists who come and stay at Grotto Bay, I can tell you that as far as the local events space that might be the place to be this summer for weddings, for different smaller conventions that are happening.

And I walked through there just this week. As I did say, I had an engagement there speaking on an overseas radio station, and even though I had been there a couple of months ago, every time I go you see the investment has gone a step further as to what they have opened up. I mean, it is fresh. It is modern. And it is definitely the place to be. Apparently, Monday nights are the time to be down there at the Grotto Bay resort.

I am not sure if the Honourable Member from constituency 2 has been down there yet. He is not paying attention to me.

An Hon. Member: Twelve.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Oh, [constituency] 12. Sorry. [Constituency] 12 has been down there yet on a Monday night, but it is definitely the place.

But with that said, [I am] happy to see that this and these Tourism Investment Orders are doing what they were intended to do. And that is to invest in new properties. And the definition of a new property is if 50 per cent of the overall investment or the value of the hotel is going into the renovation, then you call it a new property, so—

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Owen Darrell: —there are many more to come.

[Inaudible interjection]

Hon. Owen Darrell: There are many more to come. You can see up and down this Island what this Tourism Investment Order has done to many of the hotels that are here, many of the hotels that are doing renovations, and some future hotels that will be doing building starting from scratch.

So, with that said, Madam [Deputy] Speaker, I move that the said draft Order . . . do I move it now?

The Deputy Speaker: Yes.

Hon. Owen Darrell: I move that the said draft Order be approved and that a suitable message be sent to His Excellency the Governor.

The Deputy Speaker: It has been moved that the draft Order be approved, and a message be sent to the Governor.

Are there any objections to that?
There being none, so approved.

[Motion carried: The Tourism Investment (Grotto Bay Resort and Spa) Order 2025 was approved.]

The Deputy Speaker: I believe that those are all of the Orders that we are doing for today, so I do think that we have to have the third reading of some of the Bills that we did today, or the one Bill we did.

Minister for National Security.

SUSPENSION OF STANDING ORDER 21

Hon. Michael A. Weeks: Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

I move that Standing Order 21 be suspended to enable me to move the Bill entitled Explosive Substances Amendment Act 2025 be now read the third time by its title only.

The Deputy Speaker: Any objections?
There being none, so moved.

[Motion carried: Standing Order 21 suspended.]

BILL

THIRD READING

EXPLOSIVE SUBSTANCES AMENDMENT ACT 2025

Hon. Michael A. Weeks: I move that the Bill be now read a third time by its title only and passed.

The Deputy Speaker: Are there any objections?
No. It is indeed passed.

[Motion carried: The Explosive Substances Amendment Act 2025 was read a third time and passed.]

The Deputy Speaker: I believe that that covers all matters.

Premier.

ADJOURNMENT

Hon. E. David Burt: Thank you very much, Madam Deputy Speaker.

Madam Deputy Speaker, I move that this Honourable House do adjourn until Monday, May 19 at 10:00 am.

And I am informed that one of my Members wishes to speak.

The Deputy Speaker: It has been moved that we adjourn until Monday, May 19 at 10:00 am. Are there any Members who wish to speak to the motion [to adjourn]?

I recognise the Member from constituency 11, I believe it is. Member, you have the floor.

POPULATION SIZE

Mr. Christopher Famous: Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

With your permission, Madam Deputy Speaker, I would like to read something from The Royal Gazette.

An Hon. Member: Oh-oh!

The Deputy Speaker: Permission granted.

Mr. Christopher Famous: And I quote, Madam Deputy Speaker. "Here is the short version—you can't grow the economy with a shrinking population; you can't reduce the cost of living with a shrinking population; and you can't properly fund healthcare and pensions with a shrinking, [ageing] population." Honourable Doug DeCouto.

[Crosstalk]

Mr. Christopher Famous: All right. Madam Deputy Speaker, Dr. DeCouto seems to be echoing a lot what others in his party and other entities are saying repeatedly, We have to increase the population.

[Inaudible interjections]

Mr. Christopher Famous: Can I finish?

The Deputy Speaker: Speak to the Chair, please.

Mr. Christopher Famous: Yes, please. That is not the argument right now, Madam Deputy Speaker.

Madam Deputy Speaker, the Bermuda Chamber of Commerce recently had their AGM where the talk about population was brought up. Recently this week the Bermuda Economic Development Corporation in collaboration with the Urban Development Authority held the first Bermuda Infrastructure and Development Summit where again population came up. So, here is my thing, Madam Deputy Speaker. As a country, we have to have a serious, a sincere, and an honest conversation about population because you cannot just come to people and say, Yeah, we need to increase the population, when a vast majority of your population is struggling to pay mortgage, struggling to pay increasing rents. We cannot tell—I do not know—great stories and say why increasing the population is going to lower the cost of living because it is not. All right?

We also have to ask ourselves, Where are these people going to work? We cannot just say we need a population increase. Well, where are they going to work? They are not just going to fly in and say, Hey, we are here. Are they working in hotel? Are they working in IB? Where are they working? There has to be that serious conversation.

Madam Deputy Speaker, most importantly, the question is, Where are they going to live? Presently anyone can go on FaceBook or PropertySkipper or anybody, and you see the (I am going to use the word) near extortionist rates that some landlords are charging. So where is this increase in population going to live? If we bring in 5,000 more people, first of all we have got to figure out where they are going to work. Once we figure that part out, where are they going to live? And that is the conversation that we all have to have. Separate the partisanship. Separate the he said, she said. Where are they going to live?

So, I will put it to the Honourable Members within this whole House that with balance in our caucus in your caucus, we need to have this conversation because our people, no matter what their melanin count is, are suffering from extortionist rates when it comes to rents, number one. So, if and when we have a significant population increase, they are going to suffer more. That is the reality.

The Government has recently in the budget dropped the construction tariff down to 10 per cent. That is a necessary thing because in order for people to build, the price has to come down. The only way the price is going to come down, Madam Deputy Speaker, is . . . I should not say the only way. One of the main ways for the price to come down is for people to go away and buy their own stuff.

I had to buy a part for a shower, Madam Deputy Speaker, earlier this week for one of my tenants. I went there. They said: Okay, look. Here is the part. It is $160, but we will give you a break, drop it down to $132. Something told me, Look it up online. That same part cost $27 away. That is 400 per cent to 500 per cent increase that some items are being put on building properties.

So again, I say thank you to the Premier and others who have dropped down construction-related costs, duties, because back to the point that Dr. Doug DeCouto and others have said, if and when we have a population increase, we have to figure out where [they can] live.

Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Member.

Does anyone else wish to speak?

I recognise the Member from constituency 2. Member, you have the floor.

TOURISM OPPORTUNITIES FOR BERMUDA

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: Thank you, Madam [Deputy] Speaker.

Ever so briefly, Madam Deputy Speaker, I appreciate what my colleague just had to say with regards to population, but there is a way that we can create increased population in Bermuda. And I am going to share it. Between October 15 and May 15 each year, hotels are collectively probably less than 50 per cent occupied. That is opportunity. That is perishable inventory, just like if you do not eat your bananas and you do not make banana bread, you have to discard those bananas. We have unsold inventory, and when the Southampton Princess is completed, we will have more rooms to contribute to that unsold inventory.

I am here to say that the opportunity for Bermuda in tourism is not in the months between May 15 and October 15 that are relatively already doing well. That time period could very well be saturated with the right efforts. But I am here to tell you the opportunity. And how do you get more people here? You replicate things that take time.

I mentioned on more than one occasion the Howard University coming here with their team to swim. I have mentioned before the century-old Newport Bermuda Race. Those came out of relationships, not government relationships, you know, relationships with interested organisations and individuals in Bermuda that carry forth. I know from what I speak because I have lived long enough to have started several events that continue on today, and some of them involve the same people loving Bermuda enough to make sure that they kept them going. Those do not happen immediately. You have to work at it. I mentioned the Walk to Calvary that took place over the Easter vacation. That event now is starting to bear fruit as [a] cultural tourism event. Cup Match and County Games present opportunities albeit in the summer months.

We cannot allow ourselves to just say and be negative about the period between October 15 and May 15. I have certainly done enough research and been around, been mentored by people who would be 115 years or 120 years [old] today, to know that Bermuda was once a winter destination.

I know that Bermuda was built on the backs of very solid relationships between persons at the top of the economic food chain and policymakers around the world. There is no secret why Bermuda would have been chosen around the time of World War II to host some of the shakers and movers with Churchill and Eisenhower choosing to be in Bermuda. Long before then they would have known about Bermuda because what? William Taft, a president of the United States would have been in Bermuda. Woodrow Wilson would have been a frequent visitor. Samuel Clemons would have been a frequent visitor. You know, places like Newstead and the like have history. You go there. You will see the pictures on the wall depicting those times.

The St. George's Club Hotel, just above the St. George's Hillcrest Boutique Hotel that just got opened, would have been there in 1917. The golf course would have been built in 1920 and 1924 to provide tourism operations. The golf courses would have been there in the 1800s, brought here by the military. We have been a participant in sports tourism.

People used to come to Bermuda. Bermudians used to travel over there and make relationships. Fairylands had a golf course back in 1927. The first pro that came there came from Vancouver. How would someone way out in Vancouver know to come to Bermuda? Because people in Bermuda had relationships with people in Vancouver. There was no tel-ex machine. There was no telegraph; there might have been a telegram back then. There was no iPhone. There was no WhatsApp. There was none of that. It was relationships.

And I am here to tell you there are some things that are the old-fashioned way because you can use all the digital things you could want, [but] once they get in Bermuda, it is the relationship between those of us here in this Island, whether they come from somewhere else to work here . . . And that is a story for another day of how we can educate people, and we are trying to educate people on what is it [like] to be in Bermuda. Right?

We have to ensure that they are met and treated really well. We have to make sure that we have transportation available when they leave that restaurant at night, have a wonderful meal, and do not wait 40 minutes. We have to make sure that we provide the service. We have to make sure that we can communicate around the industries to make sure that people are here. And the same ones of us that may have criticised building a cruise pier in Dockyard 20 years ago are certainly happy we have one today.

[Inaudible interjection]

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: I hear the Honourable Member talking about overruns, but I do not hear the Honourable Member saying thank you for having the cruise piers in Dockyard, for having two cruise ships in there because persons would want to be proud of saying when I am talking about being for Bermuda. I have said in this House long before that Member came in this House that we all are here and love Bermuda.

An Hon. Member: Correct.

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: We all love Bermuda, but sometimes you have to learn how to give Jack his jacket. And I know the Jack I refer to. I know the Jack, the Jack whose shoulders that you stand on, Jack Tucker. That party over there stands on the shoulders of Jack Tucker. I have no qualms talking about Jack Tucker. I actually presented the National Hero. I was the one that presented the national hero in honour of Jack Tucker. I knew his secretary who came here and then owned a hotel. Oh yes. Been trained by a lot of folks.

But I am here to say is that sometimes we have to learn how to operate outside of our innate partisanship for the national interests as was said when it came to Grotto Bay, for the national interests when it came to the Hillcrest, for the Southampton Princess, in the national interests when persons were trying to tickle us up and tell us we should not invest in it, that concessions were this, that, and the other. For the national interests, this Government is doing its utmost to make sure this country is workable for all people in it. That is why you can have this young Premier today invite people around for the digital conferences that take place and be invited overseas to give input, because this Government is working in the interests. And that is why that Opposition has gone to the polls and finds itself in Opposition—

An Hon. Member: Yes.

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: And it has to learn. I am going to invite it to do what I did.

[Inaudible interjections]

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: No. I am going to tell you. When I became a UBP Senator for the first time having been up in this House for over 25 years pining about being here, when I was an Opposition Senator for nine years, the first thing I did was study the only Opposition that existed in this country, the Progressive Labour Party. And I studied the speeches of Dame Lois Browne-Evans. I studied the speeches of L. Frederick Wade. I studied the speeches of Austin Thomas. I studied the speeches of Eugene Cox. And I learned how to provide budget debates that did what? What my friend Brutus You would know Brutus, the Honourable Member who said to me: Come with solutions. Do not come every week criticising the Government. Come with solutions. I learned that from the PLP. I learned sitting opposite to Cal Smith in another place.

[Inaudible interjection]

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: No! I am telling you come and be truly Bermudian by sometimes learning that the PLP is not the enemy when it comes to doing financial things for the betterment of the country. That is what I am telling you.

[Inaudible interjections]

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: No.

[Inaudible interjections]

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: No. I . . . You know, sometimes disingenuous people are blatantly obvious.

[Crosstalk]

The Deputy Speaker: Members, I cannot hear the person who has the floor. Thank you. Turn it down.

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: I will . . . I just want to say in the spirit of that. I want to say thank you to the Opposition tonight for embracing the hotel investment [Order] that came forward. I want to say thank you, but in the spirit of—

[Inaudible interjections]

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: But in the—

[Inaudible interjections]

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: Honourable—

The Deputy Speaker: Honourable Member, I cannot hear the Member on his feet speaking, so . . .

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: Thank you—

[Inaudible interjection]

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: I think—

[Inaudible interjection]

The Deputy Speaker: Let's keep the undertones to a minimum, the lowest decibels possible.

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: I am here to say that it is easy to see the disingenuous actions—

[Inaudible interjection]

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: —because, you know . . . No, I was not able to make a contribution earlier in the debate. I do not play at that that sometimes your part is a little bit dry so that you can make a contribution at the right time. But I am here, and I am talking about earlier in the week.

[Inaudible interjection]

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: I am here to share with you, Madam Deputy Speaker, that you are seeing a Bermuda where people overseas are looking at Bermuda with a lot more optimism than we are prepared in amongst ourselves because we are too busy being partisan. All right?

If we want to see hotel properties developed in Lantana, as I do, if we want to see the development of Morgan's Point that was left to us on the eve of an election of 2017 like I do in the community that I grew up, we can do it together. There are persons over that side that walk with people who I know that have money. If you are out there saying everything on a Friday of how Bermuda is bad, you are going to feel somewhat off if you are staying around . . . When I first came, Milton Scott always used to say a lot can slip between the cup and the lip at the cocktail parties. But if you spend your time talking bad about the Government: The Government is this. The Government is that, you might turn off a potential investor in one of those properties in Sonesta, at Lantana, at Elbow Beach. Well, Elbow Beach is now looking a lot better than it did before. I forgot about Elbow Beach, you know. Oh my, my, my.

And I am here to say that an Opposition can be responsible. And I am trying to help it because you know before I close my eyes and go to sleep for the very last time, I want to see a buoyant Bermuda right across the board. And it matters not to me if the Honourable Member from constituency 12 is the one who is hobnobbing with someone and causes a property to be developed under this Government. It matters not to me if it is the Opposition finance spokesperson who says something positive about Bermuda in a circle that he might be in that causes someone to invest in a property like Morgan's Point.

[Inaudible interjection]

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: Well, I live in hope that maybe, that it may happen because the same Bermuda that we all profess to love is going to take some love for Bermuda to be able to put aside the partisanism to be able to talk in your circles that can cause Bermuda to have some investment. We cannot—

An Hon. Member: Practice what you preach.

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: Practice what you preach? I practice what I preach every single day. I will use my last dollar as I have done to help this country. If anybody wants to go and audit my accounts, I have invested in this country with money I do not have and I cannot . . . you know . . . I should. But I do because I love this country, and I am causing you to do likewise. Yes, and that is good if you do.

And I am here to say this. People talk about the housing problem in Bermuda, and I have talked about volunteerism tonight. If we can pass concession orders (not reflecting) in this House for two Bermuda-owned properties . . . I am old enough to remember when the Condominium Act came to Parliament for the very first time in the early 1980s. No, I was not in Parliament. I was going to a caucus every week, listening. I ran in 1983. The Condominium Act came in 1981. Around that time is when you start seeing people move away from having hotels and turning them into condominiums up and down the country. That was the type of exodus away from the hotel industry. And the same persons who are saying, We need more people . . .

What I am here to say is this. If you want more people, invest more money into more houses for Bermudians, too, because when I was coming up, the people who were in the housing business were not the Government although Quinton Edness and Colonel Burch are the two leading builders of housing on the Government. Right? Two separate Governments. But before that Benny Rego and John Swan were leading the charge and building private housing up and down this country. And they were not building from the Government perspective. They were doing it for the private sector, private industry.

So, the private industry does not want to invest in Bermuda like a Grotto Bay and Mrs. Daley has done so, Gordon Daley has done so. But yet, we are complaining that the Government is not doing it with everything.

And like I said, when I came to this House in 1998, the Government budget was about $490 million in expenditure. And now we have returned to a situation where the Government has now committed to earning more than it is spending, which is a good thing. But the money invested in the Southampton Princess today far exceeds or is equivalent to what the national expenditure budget was in 1998/99. Yes, it is called inflation, but you cannot sneeze at $400 million in 2025. You cannot sneeze about it, but there are those of you who wish that it never happened because it happened under this Government, and that is the problem.

An Hon. Member: Nonsense.

[Inaudible interjections]

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: It is not nonsense. Let your actions—

Mr. L. Craig Cannonier: Point of order, [Madam Deputy] Speaker.

The Deputy Speaker: Your point of order, Member?

POINT OF ORDER

[Misleading]

Mr. L. Craig Cannonier: I am not sure if the Honourable Member really intends to mislead the House, and I do not know exactly who he is talking about. But he certainly is not talking about anyone in this Honourable House.

The Deputy Speaker: Okay. Thank you, Member. Member, you have two and a half minutes.

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: Thank you very much. I did not call any names, but I see a lot of people getting exercised.

[Laughter]

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: I mean, I did not . . . I did not see any Honourable Member Jache [Adams] getting exercised. I heard Members calling a point of order. I did not call any names, you know. But you know, if the shoe fits, you can wear it.

[Inaudible interjections and laughter]

[Crosstalk]

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: I am not saying be nice. I am not saying be nice. I am not saying be nice.

This is the amount of time I got when I was doing a Budget Reply in 2007. I got two minutes, so I understand two minutes very well.

Dr. Brown, I feel like they are listening. I remember two minutes very well. I did not give them that.

I would just like to say, Madam Deputy Speaker, I believe truly that this country can grow tourism in the winter. It is an opportunity begging. It is an opportunity that is real. You do not have to build another hotel in order to . . . You just have to make people realise the potential this country has in our winter months. And it is going to take those of us on both sides.

And especially as an industry person, there is nothing better than to be directing visitors to where they need to go, helping them get to the restaurant and the like, helping them to navigate around Bermuda. We can do more of it in the wintertime, but we have to believe that Bermuda is a great place to be in the winter. And there are many people that do not. It is easy to gravitate towards what is easy. It is hard to do what is necessary sometimes. It is hard. But we can do it. We have what it takes to do it. And that is why I will continue to talk about 15 October to 15 May. Because now is the time to be promoting for 15 October to 15 May of the following year and beyond that.

Thank you and have a blessed evening.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Member.

Are there any other Members who wish to speak? I recognise the Member from constituency 10. Member, you have the floor.

DOING MORE FOR BERMUDIANS IN A MEANINGFUL WAY

Mr. Robert King: Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

I rise for no other reason but to give the listening public some variety based on what is being said here this evening. For no other reason than that.

I thought we were going to go home early. But that is not going to happen, unfortunately.

[Inaudible interjections]

Mr. Robert King: No, no, no.

So, we are asked to consider that the glass is half empty or mostly full or that we have a glass in fact. But the point is that yes, we are very happy about the hotels that . . . well, Southampton Princess is going to be built. I am not sure when, because when you drive past, you don't actually see anything that's being done.

An Hon. Member: Drive up the hill.

Mr. Robert King: Yes, if you can get there, right?

[Laughter]

Mr. Robert King: I don't see any construction vehicles on either side, but it is going to happen. I mean, the paperwork's being signed, and we are happy about that.

Grotto Bay and Hillcrest, absolutely, we are happy about those things. And on the other side of things, it is a fact that we need more people here. And we need to take care of those who are already here as well. How do you grow a population if people are leaving because of the cost of living? These are facts.

The Minister of Labour and Economy, accepts that we need to create 8,000 more jobs so that more is being paid into the economy than is leaving. Permanent resident's certificates are not going to create generations of Bermudians—status or otherwise. But it is going to be a step in the right direction. Because basically we have two crises. One speaks to the issue of young persons dying, by knives and by guns, and we also have a population crisis which has a direct impact on the cost of living and the trickle-down effect for, you know, life in general here.

When we are talking about the ability to go ahead and provide housing for this community, absolutely, we need to take into consideration the needs of the haves and the have-nots, the two Bermudas, three, whatever it is because of the vanishing middle class that has been created under the current administration.

What we have to do is accept responsibility for the part that we have played and as the Government of the day for . . . ever since 2017 and before, played a big role in the reason why we are in the state that we are today. Not all of it bad.

[Inaudible interjections]

Mr. Robert King: Not all of it bad. But the point is when you are looking at . . . from the part that I am especially concerned about is the crime and the deaths of young Black Bermudian males. And what is being done to reduce that in a meaningful way.

We have had discussions in the budget debates about education and the need to provide for our kids. But we are also seeing measurements that do not actually relate to success. They are just numbers on a page which do not actually inform the decisions that are being made about the current generation and the generation afterwards.

We spend so much money on professional services, but not on the kids themselves who require the help.

Hon. E. David Burt: Point of order.

The Deputy Speaker: Your point of order.

POINT OF ORDER

Hon. E. David Burt: I know that the Honourable Member has a challenge listening, but I know that we had an entire debate presented by the Minister for the Cabinet Office. Questions from that side talked about professional services and the professional services line items—particularly in regard to counselling, intervention and all the specific things of which he is talking about.

So he cannot say that we are spending money on professional services and then complain that the money that is being spent on professional services is to do the exact intervention items of which he is lamenting that the Government is not doing. He cannot have his cake and eat it too.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Member.
Member, you may continue.

Mr. Robert King: Thank you for that.

So, the point is kids need a solid education, and we are spending a lot of money on recommendations made by consultants and these signature schools—eventually they will be built. Eventually the people will be moving into them.

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Point of order.

The Deputy Speaker: Your point of order, Minister?

POINT OF ORDER

[Misleading]

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: The man is absolutely misleading!

The Deputy Speaker: “Member,” Member.

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: The Member is absolutely misleading.

We opened two signature schools at the Berkeley Institute and CedarBridge Academy and we will be opening a third one at Sandys Secondary School. He cannot say . . . he cannot stand there and say eventually signature schools will be open. It is absolutely false, and he needs to withdraw that remark.

The Deputy Speaker: Member, I think you have heard the Minister say that signature schools have actually been opened.

Mr. Robert King: Multiple.

The Deputy Speaker: Yes.

Mr. Robert King: So the educational system is humming along nicely, and the kids are all right. That is not the case. But I will continue.

So, there are some steps being made in the right direction. Absolutely. There is much work to be done.

When we are talking about housing, how do you explain that statements were made about that place in South Shore by the former Minister of Public Works, who said Black folks . . . they don't want to have Black folks on South Shore. Then it is going to be a hotel. And then they say, Well, those houses aren't gonna be for you. But that is okay. That is okay. When it was supposed to be affordable housing—

Mr. Christopher Famous: Point of order. Point of order.

The Deputy Speaker: Your point of order, Member.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. Christopher Famous: There is no discrimination. If you've got the money, you can rent it.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Member.
Member, you have the floor.

Mr. Robert King: There is no discrimination. And yet, when we look at the history of that property . . . statements were made that one would consider would be prejudicial, based on race, and that certain folks should not be on South Shore. Essentially what has happened is the current policies under this administration have effectively ensured that not too many Black Bermudians will be there.

[Inaudible interjection]

Mr. Robert King: No, it is a fact.

[The Premier rose]

The Deputy Speaker: Is this a point of order, Premier?

An Hon. Member: What is wrong with you?

The Deputy Speaker: Yes.

An Hon. Member: Jesus.

The Deputy Speaker: You have the floor.

POINT OF ORDER

Hon. E. David Burt: I will offer the Honourable Member a chance to withdraw, because, by implication, he is trying to say that Black Bermudians cannot afford these things, which is not correct. And he needs to withdraw it.

I know he is trying his best. But he might not actually realise how offensive and prejudicial that very statement is, precisely the fact when there are Black Bermudians who have come to me and who are renting places at Bermudiana Beach. Taxi drivers and others.

The man needs to withdraw his remarks.

The Deputy Speaker: The Honourable Member.

Hon. E. David Burt: The Honourable Member is crazy—

The Deputy Speaker: Yes, Member, I would ask that you withdraw that comment, please.

Member, I need you to withdraw that comment.

Mr. Robert King: Fair enough. I withdraw that comment.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you.

Mr. Robert King: What I will say, though, is that it was meant to be affordable housing, and then it changed to a hotel and now it is a place that is—

[Inaudible interjections]

Mr. Robert King: —luxury apartments.

The Deputy Speaker: Talk to the Chair, please.

Mr. Robert King: Luxury apartments, which when we were hearing about the extortionist rents that were being charged, that is exactly what is happening there on the South Shore. There—

Hon. E. David Burt: Point of order.

The Deputy Speaker: Your point of order.

POINT OF ORDER

Hon. E. David Burt: I think the Honourable Member should look up the definition of extortion—and stop referring to market-based rates and the definitions and reasons why those things were stated, unless the Honourable Member would like us to underwrite further monies from the Consolidated Fund for that place.

The Honourable Member needs to understand what the definition of extortion is, please.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Member.

Please use consideration in how you phrase some of your comments. Thank you.

Mr. Robert King: Oh. Absolutely. No problem at all.

[Inaudible interjections]

Mr. Robert King: Indeed, right? And that is why we are here today.

So the point is: many good things are being done, especially with the hotels that are coming online with the refurbishments and stuff, absolutely. And we also need to understand that in terms of the social problems as it relates to, as I said, crimes—serious crimes—need to be addressed in a meaningful and strategic way.

Many promises are made in this House about doing certain things and then when you drill down trying to get specifics on what the strategic plans are with timelines, deadlines and specific allocations of resources . . . well, you know, it is under consideration. These are things that are going to happen in the future, but nothing specific and tangible in terms of how we are going to achieve these aims.

How do you explain that we are paying $16,000,000-plus for a Casino Gaming Commission and we still do not have a casino? That money would be better spent to perhaps offset the cost of the Bermuda College or some of the other areas of need.

[Inaudible interjections]

Mr. Robert King: So basically, it is just a cost centre that we are paying for people to work and nothing substantive has come out of it.

We need to do better for the people of Bermuda. We need to do it in a meaningful way because they deserve it.

Thank you.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Member.

Are there any other Members who wish to speak to the motion [to adjourn]?

No other Members? I recognise the Premier who wishes to speak.

Premier.

Hon. E. David Burt: Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

I have no comments for this evening. I think we can adjourn.

The Deputy Speaker: Oh. Thank you.

The House is now adjourned.

Hon. Diallo V. S. Rabain: Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

Madam Deputy Speaker, I would like congratulatory sentiments sent to the Loyal Hill Community Committee. Yesterday, we had the pleasure of their annual Bermuda Day celebration that happens the Sunday before Bermuda Day. The Loyal Hill community came together during the COVID-19 crisis to celebrate Bermuda Day when things were disrupted during that time. And since that time, it has grown from strength to strength.

Madam Deputy Speaker, anyone that did join would have been celebrating with the rest of them as they have a parade, they had some young ladies dancing. They had music playing. They also gave out prizes. You had the Mr. and Mrs. Loyal Hill and congratulations to Mr. Delroy O'Brien and Joan Elizabeth Davis who were Mr. and Mrs. Loyal Hill. You also had the Queen of Loyal Hill, Miss Helene Benjamin. I also want to say thank you to all of the persons who participated. The Devonshire Ultimate Star Twirlers, Wolves Sports Club, One Body in Christ Movement, Place's Gombey's and of course the highlight of the event is the annual go-kart race off the top of the hill—which thankfully we did not see anybody crash as we have seen it in the past. But we—Josh Masters, George Benjamin, Kareem Easton, Desmond Woolridge and Marvin Woolridge who participated in the go-kart race. Live entertainment was by the Working Title Band, and we also had music by DJ Peppy.

So, hats off to the organisers George and Renee Benjamin, Dennis O'Brien, Shannette Easton, Juanita Easton, Carla Emery, Tianna Stevens, Oshandah Lightbourne and Desta Ascento. So, congratulations to all of them for continuing to keep that alive and well up at Loyal Hill again.

Secondly, Madam Deputy Speaker, I would like to give congratulations to Dellwood Middle School for their performance of Chosen. It was last week Friday and last week Saturday at Dellwood Middle School cafeteria. It was a performance written and directed by the principal Trina Cariah and anyone that did attend, you would have seen some phenomenal performances by our middle school students as they did a dance and song display representing all that is good about what is happening with our youth. And I had encouraged anybody who could have attended to absolutely go and see that when it did perform last week, Friday and Saturday.

Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Member.

I recognise the Member from constituency 33. Member, you have the floor.

Mr. Jamahl S. Simmons: Good morning, Madam Deputy Speaker.

I rise today to pay tribute to Hilton Wingood, who passed recently. A historic figure for his being a part of helping to integrate the Bermuda Police Service and all the Sandys MPs and I am sure many other Members would like to be associated with these remarks. A trailblazer, a ground breaker, a person who served this country and his community with distinction. And I think as a constituent it was interesting because I first met him as a constituent and one of the things about Mr. Wingood he loved to share history. He loved to talk about his experiences. So you had to dedicate at least an hour if you were going to sit down and talk with him. But it was always an hour well spent because you came away learning more about the things that those who came before us sacrificed and what they did to get ahead, particularly serving the Bermuda Police Service. My condolences to . . . his family.

On a more positive note, I would like to wish a happy belated birthday from 17 May to the former Premier of Bermuda, the Honourable Dr. Ewart F. Brown, JP, MP. I am sure many Members would like to be associated with that. I wish him peace, long life, happiness and justice.

Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Member.

Are there any other Members who wish to speak?

I recognise the Member from constituency 25. Member, you have the floor.

Dr. Douglas DeCouto: Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

I just wanted to congratulate Mr. Donville Yarde, on his retirement from the bailiff's service. I had the distinct pleasure of joining Mr. Yard, his family, his church family and his colleagues at the Church of God of Prophecy this Sunday, where he was celebrated. Mr. Yarde . . . I obviously won't be able to do it justice in this brief moment, but he had a long career as a police officer. He had been a boxer and had a long and impactful career as a bailiff. And he was lauded. He was particularly called out for his professional, steady way dealing with people. You know, you could imagine, Madam Deputy Speaker, a bailiff's job is a tough job, and you are working with people in some tough situations, and he was lauded for how he approached that. He had a fabulous turnout, and I think that speaks to how he was respected by his colleagues. And so, normally Madam Deputy Speaker, retirement is thought of as time to rest and put the tools down and it was made quite clear by Mr. Yarde that he would just be taking a water break and moving on to some other work that is very important to him. So I would like to send my congratulations to Mr. Yarde. Thank you.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Member.

Are there any other Members who wish to speak? I recognise the Minister from constituency 15.

Hon. Owen Darrell: Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

I would like to rise this morning to offer congratulations to one of my constituents. He goes by a government name of Wayne Raynor, [Jr.] but his stage name is Fire Wayne. And just recently Fire Wayne received continued international recognition for the work that he is doing in the music industry, especially in the in the genre of Soca music. Fire Wayne was recognised on an international radio show, the Greg Hill (morning) Show, which is broadcast to millions of listeners in the New England area. And while they were in Bermuda, we did have the opportunity to go on their radio show, and they asked about music in Bermuda. And one of the former Super Bowl champions Jermaine Wiggins recognised Fire Wayne for his music. He said he's been listening to Fire Wayne quite a bit and he said that he was going to make his other 100 visitors to the Island also listen to that music.

So, I just want to congratulate Fire Wayne. Most of you would know. He comes from the H&H family, lives there at Granny's House on Glebe Road. And, you know, he said in the social media post as well that you never know who is listening to your music, and you never know how far your work is going to go. And I think it's fitting to congratulate him in this Heritage Month as we lead up to Heritage Day this Friday to congratulate him and all other local creatives that are doing work in this Island and putting Bermuda on the map. And I want to encourage him and others to continue and that even when they think they may have saturated a market that their music is going far and wide and putting our Island on the map.

So, congratulations again to Wayne, Fire Wayne, and thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Member. Is there any other Member who wishes to speak?

I recognise the Member from constituency 10. Member, you have the floor.

Mr. Robert King: Good morning, Madam Deputy Speaker, and Members of the House and the listening public.

First of all, I want to associate myself with the comments made by Minister Diallo Rabain regarding Loyal Hill. They do an incredible job there. The sense of community spirit and they definitely demonstrate the best of Bermuda. It was unfortunate that I wasn't able to attend this year with my 92-year-old father-in-law who went last year and had an absolutely incredible time. So, excellent job and I hope that that continues.

On a sombre note, I offer condolences to the family of Vera Ellison, who died peacefully in her home on 12 January, and there's going to be a home-going service on 28 May at St. Mark's Church. It's understood that she touched many lives in the 98 years that she was on this Earth. Thank you

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Member.

Are there any other Members who wish to speak?

I recognise the Minister from constituency 4. Member, you have the floor.

Hon. Tinee Furbert: Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

I would like to take the opportunity to send congratulatory remarks to the students at Francis Patton School, who last week I had the opportunity to attend their Leadership Day—and I will associate Minister Diallo [Rabain] with these remarks. Every year Francis Patton has a Leadership Day. This year's theme was "Leadership Through Collaboration" and so collaboration with community stakeholders. And so, they invited persons from the community to come and see how they run their leadership programme. And they are actually the only school in the Caribbean who has been recognised by the Franklin—I might get the name wrong. Minister? Covey?

An Hon. Member: FranklinCovey.

Hon. Tinee Furbert: Yes. FranklinCovey in their leadership skills being, I think, accredited as part of that programme. And what . . . I had the opportunity to see with each and every year level and interesting Francis Patton being one of our parish schools going up to Year 8, which was interesting to see, but they all had the opportunity (each class) to come up on stage and share what their educational goal was. There was a class goal that each class had and how they were going to accomplish it. And also, the outcome of that particular goal. They also gave us the opportunity to go around the school and visit the classrooms. It was definitely an open book, an eye opener for those persons who were visiting to see how the school has been situated and operated and changed differently to accommodate for Year 8 students. But also, the engagement of the students in the classroom. And so, I encourage if anyone has the opportunity to attend France Patton's Leadership Day that you do so. It was a great collaboration, and I want to thank the staff and the students of Francis Patton for offering the opportunity and congratulations to Francis Patton for their Leadership Day.

Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Minister.

Are there any other Members who wish to speak?

I recognise the Member from constituency 2. Member, you have the floor.

Mr. Hubert (Kim) E. Swan: Thank you and good morning to you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

Madam Deputy Speaker, I would like for a suitable congratulatory letter, if possible, sent to the East End Ministerial Alliance on the annual Walk to Calvary, which is held at the Good Friday, but it's turned into a week-long cultural tourism event. It has been established now over 30 years. I would like to single out, in particular, Ms. June-Ann Furbert, Mr. David Trott, who appeared on two occasions on the radio with me on "Tourism in Focus" because they get many folks coming here from overseas, now interested and staying at Grotto Bay where they are partnering. And they are very thankful to the Minister responsible for Culture for participating in that as well. And Reverend Joyce Hayward, whose commentary during the event is outstanding. And of course, the role which Reverend Cyril Simmon has taken over my dearly departed friend Brother Wainwright out there. He does a great job. So, kudos to them.

And also like to congratulate the great snooker team from RAA and I know I have . . . there are one or two snooker players that hail in this Honourable House. I am sure they would want to be associated with me singling out Kenya Trott. I think that Member Deputy Leader De Silva is a very accomplished snooker player and would recognise the greatness that is coming out of St. George's with Kenya Trott, Kyle Williams, Keino Zuill and Aaron Bean winning the Keen Cup. And may that be another signal that victory is in the air for us in St. George's as we move towards those months and looking forward and encouraging all to participate in the upcoming long-distance race. And I am singling out ahead of time . . . I am sure my bias for Gladwin Lambert up there and that the Melody might be successful. Thanking him in advance for his participation in sailing. I do support my cousins from Somerset Bridge and Death Valley all day, every day and—Whale Bay.

Thank you.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Member.

Are there any other Members who wish to speak?

I recognise the Member from constituency 26. Member, you have the floor.

Mr. Neville S. Tyrrell: Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker, and good morning, colleagues.

Madam Deputy Speaker, I would like to send congratulations to the Bright Temple A.M.E. Church of Warwick. I had the privilege yesterday of attending their concert which was the theme . . . a Heritage Day theme, in fact, "Take Me Back." It was a very enlightening concert. They actually also honoured three ambassadors . . . music ambassadors of Bermuda in the like of Ms. Olney Bean, Calvin Busby and Mr. Keith Lee, who we all know are strong advocates of gospel music in Bermuda.

Now Madam Deputy Speaker, I am a continued spectator of concerts and in fact, my favourite concert is Beres Hammond's concerts. But this concert in particular yesterday left me very high and blessed, so it started my week off well and I certainly feel that we should send congratulations to the Bright Temple because it's something that I think they will continue on an annual basis during Heritage Month.

Thank you very much.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Member.

Are there any other Members who wish to speak? I recognise the Member from constituency 11.

Member, you have the floor.

Mr. Christopher Famous: Morning, Madam Deputy Speaker.

I want to associate firstly with the remarks for Loyal Hill, Devonshire. We always stick together.

Madam Deputy Speaker, unfortunately, over the last two weeks, we have lost two young Bermudians through . . . one through an industrial accident and one through something else. I want to firstly give condolences to the family of Thomas Jones of—I will associate Paul Wilmot, sorry, Honourable Member, Paul Wilmot and Honourable Member Tyrrell.

Mr. Jones was an electrician by trade, but he was a fun guy that everybody loved. I want to give condolences to his mother, Ms. Pinky Bailey, his father, Mr. Kevin Bailey, and the Bailey clan altogether and the Jones' clan. I associate Minister Diallo Rabain. For others of us who were—I must associate the whole House . . . because Dr. Doug DeCouto wants to be associated.

The other young man, Madam Deputy Speaker, was Miguel Walker. Some people may not know him, but they would know his stage name. His stage name was "Pepsi." He was one of Bermuda's foremost DJ selectors for Genesis and Magnum Force, part of our culture is dancehall music and he was one of those who put his heart and soul into entertaining our people at peaceful parties. The weekend before we pass all the "sound boys" in Bermuda, they came together to put together a benefit to raise funds for him. Unfortunately, he passed. But it speaks to the ethos of . . . part of who, as we celebrate Culture Month, we have to understand—associate Reverend Dr. Bishop MP Leroy [Bean] and Paul Wilmot, again. But it speaks to who we are as a people, dancehall or reggae, is part of our culture. And Pepsi was an integral part of that culture in Bermuda.

Thank you, Madam Deputy Speaker.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you, Member.

Are there any other Members who wish to speak?

I recognise the Member from constituency 27.

Mr. Paul Wilmot: Good morning, Madam Deputy Speaker.

The Deputy Speaker: Member, you have the floor.

Mr. Paul Wilmot: I—

The Deputy Speaker: Member, can I ask you to do one favour? Can I ask you to switch to—

Mr. Paul Wilmot: Not a problem.

The Deputy Speaker: Yes.

[Pause]

Mr. Paul Wilmot: My apologies.

The Deputy Speaker: Thank you.

Mr. Paul Wilmot: I would like to certainly give my condolences to the Wilson family on behalf of constituency 27 for Earlston Malcolm Eugene Wilson, [Jr.], a good friend of mine who has passed.

[Timer chimes]

The Deputy Speaker: Continue. That's it? Oh, okay. Thank you.

Mr. Paul Wilmot: Yes, Madam.

The Deputy Speaker: Okay, right.

Are there any other Members who wish to speak? There being none . . . I think that finishes congratulatory and obituary remarks.

COMMITTEE OF SUPPLYESTIMATES OF REVENUE AND EXPENDITURE FOR THE YEAR 2025/26

The Chairman: Good morning, Honourable Members and members of the listening audience. We are now in the Committee of Supply for further consideration of the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for the year 2025/26. Heads 44, 14, 27, 29, 60, 94 and 99 are now to be debated. I call on the Minister in charge, the Honourable Jason Hayward, JP, MP, Minister of the Economy and Labour, to proceed.

Minister, you have the floor.

*[Desk thumping]MINISTRY OF ECONOMY AND LABOUR

Hon. Jason Hayward: Madam Chairman, I move Heads 44, Ministry of Economy and Labour Headquarters; 14, Department of Statistics; 27, Immigration; 29, Registry General, 60, Workforce Development; 94, Economic Development; and 99, Department of Labour be now taken under consideration.

The Chairman: Please proceed, Minister.

Hon. Jason Hayward: Madam Chairman, before I commence, I would just like to thank the Ministry of Economy and Labour team and all the department heads and public officers who have diligently worked to execute on the agenda of the Ministry of Economy and Labour and the departments underneath that department.

I believe that the Ministry has served the community well. We have a proven track record of execution on an annual basis. We publish the work that we have actually done to progress the lives of businesses and Bermudians as a whole and improve the quality of life of those individuals. And so, I will go through the budget heads. I will outline the work that has been done but also outline the work that will be done with the allocated funds that we have been provided within the Ministry.

Today I had to determine what was the tack I was going to take regarding this particular debate. I was wondering whether or not I take a page out of the previous Minister's book and read extremely slow for four hours and leave him with two minutes to answer questions, or whether I engage in a fluent debate. My style is to engage in a very flexible, fluent debate. And so, to the Honourable Member, I will leave sufficient time to ask questions. If I am unable to answer the question I would like for the Minister to indicate which questions were not answered after the debate, so I can provide them with the relevant information.

The Chairman: Okay. Thank you.

HEAD 44—HEADQUARTERS

Hon. Jason Hayward: Mr. [sic] Chairman, I am pleased to present the budget for the Ministry of Economy and Labour for the upcoming fiscal year 2025/26. I am sorry, Madam Chairman.

Madam Chairman, the overarching mission of the ministry is To drive economic growth and job creation. The Ministry seeks to achieve this mission through its six departments, which are the Departments of Statistics, Immigration, Workforce Development, Economic Development, Labour and the Registry General. The Departments are led by the Ministry Headquarters, or Head 44, whose mission is: To establish effective policy that helps foster the expansion of jobs and economic growth.

Overall, a total of $27,585,000 has been allocated to the Ministry for the upcoming fiscal year, which represents an increase of $1,891,000 from the previous year. The increase is due largely to the addition of the Registry General to the Ministry of Economy and Labour.

I will begin today's budget presentation with the Ministry Headquarters, Head 44, which is found on pages B-171 through B-174 of the Budget Book.

Expenditure Overview

Hon. Jason Hayward: Madam Chairman, a total of $1,075,000 has been allocated for Head 44 (Headquarters) for the 2025/26 fiscal period. This represents a reduction of $126,000 or 10 per cent compared to the previous year. The Headquarters budget is 4 per cent of the Ministry's total budget.

Madam Chairman, Head 44 is comprised of two business units: 54060 Administration and 54210 Immigration Appeals Tribunal. In fact, the bulk of the Headquarters' work is funded under Administration, which drives policy and legislative developments, and oversees the Ministry's six departments. Specifically, Headquarters' objectives are to provide oversight of

- the Department of Workforce Development for the implementation of the Youth Employment Strategy and Workforce Development Strategy;
- the Department of Labour to promote harmonious labour relations;
- the Department of Statistics for the timely distribution of data and other relevant statistics;
- the Economic Development Department to implement economic growth initiatives and the Economic Development Strategy;
- the Registry General in the accurate recording of vital records and the protection of intellectual property, and
- to continue to implement immigration reform by providing oversight of process improvements, policy and legislative changes, and information technology system upgrades and enhancements.

In addition, the Ministry Headquarters manages the Office of the Minister, provides strategic leadership to departments, and appoints and oversees 10 boards and committees.

Madam Chairman, this work of the Ministry Headquarters is conducted under business unit 54060 Administration. In the upcoming fiscal year, this will be $1,055,000. This represents a decrease of the business unit's budget by $121,000 compared to the previous fiscal year. This reflects the discontinuation of funding associated with the cost-of-living responsibilities of Consumer Affairs—a section which was briefly part of Ministry Headquarters in 2024/25.

Manpower

Hon. Jason Hayward: Madam Chairman, the Headquarters has a staff of five: a Comptroller, an Office Manager, a Policy Analyst and two Special Advisors to the Minister. The team is led by the Permanent Secretary (however, the Permanent Secretary's salary is accounted for underneath the Cabinet Office budget). Due to the nature of Headquarters' work in supporting the Minister and researching and developing policy, the bulk of this Head's budget is dedicated to salaries. Overall, salaries account for $575,000. Other significant items of expenditure are professional services at $260,000, travel at $121,000, and advertising and promotion at $60,000.

Business Performance

Hon. Jason Hayward: Madam Chairman, enabled by this team, in the past year the Ministry Headquarters met the majority of its performance objectives and delivered numerous policy and legislative initiatives. Specifically in 2024/25, the Ministry completed a number of strategic and Throne Speech initiatives that together improve the lives of Bermudians and set the Island up for greater economic development.

Madam Chairman, in the upcoming fiscal year 2025/26, the Ministry is set up to deliver on the Throne Speech initiatives that advance the Government's agenda to enhance the lives of the people of Bermuda. With the Ministry's priority being to "drive economic growth and job creation," continued progress on the initiatives of the Economic Development Strategy will be equally the driving force behind our work programme working in conjunction with other Government departments and agencies.

In fulfilment of the Throne Speech and Strategy initiatives, we anticipate the development of a National Entrepreneurship Strategy, launch of a new Job Board, and continued execution of action plans to support economic diversification and sustainability.

Madam Chairman, I want to end my presentation by thanking the staff of the Ministry Headquarters who were all instrumental in the delivery of the Ministry's priorities and initiatives. The Ministry of Economy and Labour has a small but excellent team of professionals and our achievements this past year are a testament of their hard work.

Madam Chairman, that ends my presentation on Head 44, Ministry Headquarters.

The Chairman: Thank you, Minister.

And we now proceed to Head 14.

HEAD 14—DEPARTMENT OF STATISTICS

Hon. Jason Hayward: Madam Chairman, it gives me great pleasure to present the budget for Head 14, the Department of Statistics, found on pages B-175 through B-178 and C-12 of the Budget Book.

Mission

Hon. Jason Hayward: Madam Chairman, the mission of the Department of Statistics is: To produce and provide statistical information for data-driven decision-making for Bermuda. The department seeks to fulfil its mandate by delivering quality data that aligns with international standards and best practices, to facilitate a culture of evidence-based decision-making for policies and programmes. As such, the Department of Statistics' objectives are as follows:

- raise the Department of Statistics profile through improved accessibility to statistical data and information utilising innovative digital tools;
- ensure the collection, compilation and production of statistical outputs are based on the most current international statistical methodologies, standards and best practices by using data quality frameworks;
- operate a transparent and citizen-centric department by improving the understanding and use of statistical data and information; and
- engage in targeted external and internal training and development to build the statistical capacity required to sustain a high-performing department.

Expenditure Overview

Hon. Jason Hayward: Madam Chairman, a total of $3,358,000 has been allocated for this head, which represents an increase of $816,000 from the previous year and constitutes 12 per cent of the budget allocated for the Ministry as a whole. This change is due primarily to an increase in the amount budgeted for salaries and wages, and for professional services required for the processing of the 2024 Household Income and Expenditure Survey and preparations for the 2026 Population and Housing Census.

Madam Chairman, the Department of Statistics comprises six business units as listed on page B-175:

- 24010, Censuses and Special Surveys
- 24015, Administration
- 24020, Core Statistics & Publications
- 24025, Core Annual Surveys
- 24055, Census and Survey Research
- 24065, Household Expenditure Survey

Madam Chairman, in the past year, the Department of Statistics had nine vacancies due to retirements and officers pursuing other opportunities. The department has updated the job descriptions and working with the Department of Employee and Organisational Development to fill the vacant positions. Recruitment for two Statisticians is in progress and the recruitment for three Assistant Statisticians and four Statistical Officers is anticipated to begin in May of this year.

Madam Chairman, the Subjective Analysis of the Current Account Estimates of the Department of Statistics is found on page B-176. Please allow me to highlight the material [object] code increases and decreases:

- Salaries—increased by $388,000, or 20 per cent, because of an increase in the number of full-time equivalents (FTEs) after adjusting funding in line with the 2022 Management Consulting Services operational review recommendations and the negotiated salary uplifts.
- Wages—increased by $139,000 due to hiring temporary in-office staff to assist with the 2026 Population and Housing Census preparations.
- Advertising and Promotion—increased by $10,000 to fund advertising via newspaper, radio, online and other promotions for the 2026 Population and Housing Census.
- Professional Services—increased by $270,000 to hire interviewers for the 2026 Population and Housing Census pre-test and a consultant to assist with processing the 2024 Household Income and Expenditure Survey.
- Materials and Supplies—increased by $7,000, or 12 per cent, due to an increase in office supplies and printing costs associated with preparing for the 2026 Population and Housing Census

Performance Measures by Business Unit

Hon. Jason Hayward: Madam Chairman, I am pleased to report that most of the revised forecast performance measures for 2024/25 were achieved.

Madam Chairman, before commencing my analysis by business unit, it is important to note that comparisons are not like-for-like for the following reason: Funding for the Labour Force Survey was shifted from business unit 24055 to 24025.

Madam Chairman, I will now present my analysis of expenditure by business unit.

Business Unit 24010—Censuses and Special Surveys

Hon. Jason Hayward: This business unit is responsible for conducting the 2026 Population and Housing Census.

A total of $152,000 has been allocated to Business Unit 24055—Census and Survey Research Unit which represents an increase of $152,000. Within this business unit, the greatest absolute increase was for Object Code 4275—Temporary staff with an increase of $139,000.

Business Unit 24015—Administration

Hon. Jason Hayward: This business unit is responsible for the management and administration functions of the Department of Statistics.

A total of $839,000 has been allocated to Business Unit 24015—Administration which represents an increase of $204,000, or 32 per cent, from the previous year. Within this business unit, the greatest absolute increase was for Object Code 4110—Salaries—Bermuda Public Services from the previous year due to the negotiated salary uplift, partial funding of the Statistical Systems Manager post and additional funding allocated to the Senior Statistician position where a job description review anticipates a salary uplift.

Regarding progress on the performance measures, indicators. The indicator to raise the profile of the Department of Statistics with improved accessibility to statistical data through innovative digital tools:

The revised Target (2024/25):

- i. One monthly social media post
- ii. One monthly messaging apps
- iii. One quarterly online news ad
- iv. One annual newsletter

I am pleased to report the outcomes for 2024/25. The outcomes are actually:

- i. Twelve monthly social media posts
- ii. Twelve monthly messaging apps
- iii. One online news ad per quarter
- iv. One newsletter per year called “By the Numbers”

Business Unit 24020—Core Statistics and Publications

Hon. Jason Hayward: This business unit is responsible for providing economic statistics relating to the growth of Bermuda's economy, retail sales and the production of goods and services via monthly, quarterly and annual surveys.

A total of $910,000 has been allocated to Business Unit 24020—Core Statistics & Publications which represents an increase of $72,000, or 9 per cent, from the previous year. Within this business unit, the greatest absolute increase was for Object Code 4110—Salaries—Bermuda Public Services from the previous year due to the negotiated salary uplift and converting one Census and Survey Clerk position to a Statistical Officer position.

Regarding progress on the performance measures, the indicator was 100 per cent of all outputs will undergo a formal review to ensure that the collection, compilation and production are based on the most current international statistical methodologies. The revised target was 100 per cent and the outcome, I am pleased to report, is 100 per cent.

Business Unit 24025—Core Annual Surveys

Hon. Jason Hayward: This business unit is responsible for providing employment statistics, labour force [statistics] and inflation rates via monthly, semi-annual and annual surveys. A total of $584,000 has been allocated to Business Unit 24025—Core Annual Surveys which represents an increase of $218,000, or 60 per cent, from the previous year. Within this business unit, the largest absolute increase was for Object Code 4110—Salaries—Bermuda Public Services from the previous year. This budgetary increase was due to the negotiated salary uplift, a net gain of one partially funded Assistant Statistician post and the Census and Survey Clerk position being converted to a Statistical Officer position.

Regarding progress on the following performance measures, the indicator: Target response rates for major statistical surveys.

The revised target for 2024/25:

- i. Labour Force Surveys (Spring/Fall)—80 per cent;
- ii. Economic Activity Survey (annual)—72 per cent;
- iii. Balance of Payments (quarterly)—93 per cent; and
- iv. Household Income and Expenditure Survey (ad hoc)—24 per cent

I am pleased to report that the outcomes were that the Labour Force Survey exceeded its target at 86 per cent; the Economic Activity Survey was on target at 72 per cent; the Balance of Payments was on target at 93 per cent; and the Household Income and Expenditure Survey exceeded the revised target at 46 per cent.

Business Unit 24055—Census and Survey Research Unit

Hon. Jason Hayward: This business unit is responsible for maintaining a core level of research capability for the department. It also provides data from population and housing censuses, trade statistics, environmental statistics, vital statistics (births, deaths, marriages and divorces) and population projections. In addition, this business unit conducts ad hoc surveys and produces reports on the survey results.

A total of $551,000 has been allocated to Business Unit 24055—Census and Survey Research Unit which represents a decrease of $4,000 or 1 per cent. This reduction was due partly to the Labour Force Survey budget being shifted from business unit 24055 to 24025 and the budget transfer being offset by salary increases and the negotiated salary uplift.

Within this business unit, the greatest absolute increase was for Object Code 4110—Salaries—Bermuda Public Services from the previous year because the business unit had a net gain of one partially funded Assistant Statistician post, the Census and Survey Clerk position was converted to a Statistical Officer position and the negotiated salary uplift.

Regarding progress against performance measures, I report that the indicator Process International Trade Statistics on a monthly basis for use in the production of key economic indicators such as the Gross Domestic Product and Balance of Payments.

The revised target (2024/25) was data processed monthly. The outcome was: Processed 11 months of data by the end of the fiscal year.

Business Unit 24065—Household Expenditure Survey

Hon. Jason Hayward: This business unit is responsible for conducting the Household Income and Expenditure Survey.

A total of $322,000 has been allocated to Business Unit 24065—Household Expenditure Survey which represents an increase of $174,000 or 118 per cent compared with 2024/25. Within this business unit, Object Code 5265—Consultancy Services—Overseas accounts for $208,000. This is for professional services for processing the 2024 Household Income and Expenditure Survey.

Madam Chairman, the 2024 Household Income and Expenditure Survey is of national importance because it is the only statistical activity for collecting private households' expenditure and income patterns and levels. This data is used to update the "market basket" of goods and services and household expenditure weights to compile the Consumer Price Index. It also will indicate the overall living standards of Bermuda's residents.

Madam Chairman, the 2024 Household Income and Expenditure Survey was launched in January 2024. The Department of Statistics disseminated letters, brochures and pamphlets to each sampled household outlining the importance and scope of the survey. Data collection was expected to last for one year to capture variations in seasonal expenditure patterns and income levels. Due to a poor response rate, the Department of Statistics is continuing data collection for the 2024 Household Income and Expenditure Survey until December 2025. It is important to note that for the selected households, participation is mandatory, and the department looks forward to the cooperation of participants this year.

Achievements

Hon. Jason Hayward: Madam Chairman, despite resource constraints, the 2024 Household Income and Expenditure Survey began on schedule. I would like to thank Dr. Jahni Smith, Senior Manager and Statistician and the Household Income and Expenditure team for their dedication and unwavering commitment to the survey's successful launch.

Throughout the year, the Department of Statistics continued to produce its standard publications and produced the first issue of "By the Numbers" newsletter in March.

Capital Expenditure

Hon. Jason Hayward: Madam Chairman, if we look at the Capital Acquisition for the Department of Statistics on page C-12, we will see an amount of $198,000 which has been apportioned in this year's budget. These monies will be used to support the online 2026 Population and Housing Census preparations and to replace a desktop computer.

Manpower

Hon. Jason Hayward: Madam Chairman, as seen on page B-176—Employee Numbers, there are a total of 27 FTEs in the department for the upcoming fiscal year, which is an increase of five from the 22 FTEs in the current year.

This enhances the department's capacity to perform effectively and in a timely manner. These FTEs are for the positions of one Statistical Systems Manager, two Assistant Statisticians and two additional FTEs are for temporary staff who are required to assist with preparations for the 2026 Population and Housing Census.

Plans for the Upcoming Year

Hon. Jason Hayward: Madam Chairman, for the upcoming year, the department will continue the data collection for the Household Income and Expenditure Survey and preparations for the 2026 Population and Housing Census. In addition, the department is committed to leveraging technology to develop standardised and streamlined solutions to automate and validate labour-intensive processes. This will improve timeliness of reporting.

Madam Chairman, the department will conduct the necessary censuses and surveys and collect administrative data to produce the following core publications in the upcoming fiscal year 2025/26:

- Monthly: Retail Sales Index and Consumer Price Index;
- Quarterly: Balance of Payments and International Investment Position; and Gross Domestic Product by Expenditure;
- Semi-Annually: Labour Force Survey Report, and,
- Annually: Bermuda Digest of Statistics; Bermuda Job Market Employment Briefs; Employment Survey Tabulation Set; Annual Gross Domestic Product; Information, Communication and Technology Profile; Environmental Statistics Compendium and Tourism Satellite Account Report.

Madam Chairman, the department conducts ad hoc surveys, provides survey samples and undertakes in-depth research and analysis of data. In addition, the department provides statistical advice and professional consultancy in the collection, processing and analysis of data for Government departments. Furthermore, the department fulfils statistical data requests from local and international organisations.

Madam Chairman, let me take this opportunity to thank the dedicated staff at the Department of Statistics under the leadership of Director, Mrs. Melinda Williams, for their continued commitment to the Department's objectives.

Madam Chairman, that ends my presentation on Head 14—Department of Statistics.

The Chairman: Thank you, Minister.

Just to remind the listening audience that we are now in Committee of Supply for further consideration of the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for the year 2025/26 and the Minister in charge, the Honourable Jason Hayward JP, MP, Minister of Economy and Labour, is outlining the heads for us. And we will now move on to Head 17 [sic], which is Immigration.

Please proceed.

Hon. Jason Hayward: Madam Chairman, I believe that is Head 27.

The Chairman: I'm sorry. Head 27, yes. Sorry.

Hon. Jason Hayward: Thank you.

HEAD 27—IMMIGRATION

Hon. Jason Hayward: Madam Chairman, it gives me great pleasure to present the budget for Head 27, the Department of Immigration, found on pages B-179 through B-183 and C-12 of the Budget Book.

Mission

Hon. Jason Hayward: Madam Chairman, the mission of the Department of Immigration is: To facilitate economic growth and to protect the future of Bermuda for the benefit of Bermudians, residents and visitors while protecting our borders.

Expenditure Overview

Hon. Jason Hayward: Madam Chairman, the total projected expenditure for the Department of Immigration for 2025/26 is estimated at $6,867,000, reflecting an increase of $629,000, or approximately 10 per cent, compared to the 2024/25 budget. This increase is primarily attributed to the regrading of several job descriptions within the department, as well as an increase in the software maintenance contract for the border management system.

Madam Chairman, the material changes of the Subjective Analysis of the Current Accounts Estimates, as compared with the 2024/25, can be found on page B-180 and are as follows:

- Salaries—increased by $679,000 (18 per cent), primarily due to the re-grading of several vacant positions necessary to facilitate the recruitment and filling of roles.
- Professional Services—decreased by $713,000 (75 per cent) due to the reduced need for contracted consultants, which addressed the backlog of applications and other staffing requirements; and these consultants are being replaced through recent recruitment efforts.
- Repair and Maintenance—increased by $639,000 (63 per cent), primarily due to the higher cost of the annual software maintenance contract for the border management system, which is essential for the protection of Bermuda's borders.

Revenue Overview

Hon. Jason Hayward: Madam Chairman, the total revenue for the 2025 fiscal year is projected at $18,627,000, which represents a decrease of $3,023,000 or 14 per cent.

The most notable revenue changes compared to the original 2024/25 estimates are detailed on page B-180. These changes are as follows:

- 8285 Work Permits—Work and Reside: based on actual revenue collections from the past two fiscal years, the revenue projection has been revised downward by 64 per cent to provide a more accurate and realistic forecast.
- 8286 Work Permits—Appeals: the projected revenue from appealed applications has been aligned with actual revenue collected in the past two fiscal years; with an increase of 67 per cent estimated to collect $120,000 in revenue.

- 8287 Work Permits—General: recent trends show a higher revenue collection of general fees, including those for add-ons such as advertisement extensions, permit amendments late fees and others. As a result, the estimated revenues increased by 56 per cent.
- 8293 Residence Fees—revenue estimates were reduced by $59,000 compared to 2024/25 [projections], reflecting actual revenues collected during the same period. Additionally, the dissolution of the One Year Work from Bermuda residential permits, effective 28 February 2025 is expected to decrease revenue for the 2025/26 fiscal year.
- 8301 Status and Naturalisation[—Other]: as the anticipated changes to the Bermuda Immigration and Protection Act 1956 (BIPA) regarding Permanent Residence Certificate applications were not finalised, the estimated revenue has been reduced by 63 per cent or $1.5 million, which was the predicted revenue for the previous fiscal year.

Capital Expenditure

Hon. Jason Hayward: Madam Chairman, funds allocated for Capital Acquisitions for 2025/26 totalled $379,000, as detailed on page C-12. This amount will support the initial phase of work to towards digitalisation of Immigration systems and application processes, as well as the replacement of small office furnishings.

Manpower

Hon. Jason Hayward: Madam Chairman, the Department of Immigration resources will be used to effectively and efficiently deliver the day-to-day operational requirements of the business and key policy priorities. The department has a team of 50 staff carrying out its four major areas of work, as follows:

Section	People
Corporate Services	12
Personal Services	12
Compliance	18
Finance and Administration	8
Total	50

Hon. Jason Hayward: I should note this team processes more than 14,000 applications annually, of which approximately 70 per cent are related to work permits. The department handles over 100 different types of applications of varying complexity. I highlight this, Madam Chairman, as the extent of the volume of work handled by the department is often lost on the public. We are committed to digitising and automating all of our processes which will improve service output and add transparency, reflecting a win-win for our clients and the department.

Business Unit Performance

Hon. Jason Hayward: Madam Chairman, the department's performance outcomes against the performance measures are listed on pages B-182 and B-183 of the Budget Book.

37010 Corporate Services

Hon. Jason Hayward: This business unit is responsible for processing 14,000 applications, referenced earlier. The Corporate Services Manager, Industry Relationship Officers and Customer Service Representatives liaise directly with employers to review and make recommendations for each application. While the backlog of applications was reduced in 2024/25, delays continue to occur with respect to issuing work permit documents. The section continued to provide timely notifications of approvals and on the occasions when work permit documents were required to assist with travel, i.e., for first-time applicants and visa controlled nationals, permits were immediately printed and issued.

37020 Personal Services

Hon. Jason Hayward: As its name suggests, this business unit liaises directly with the individual customer for applications relating to travel documents, the acquisition of Bermudian Status, Naturalisation as a British Overseas Territories Citizen, Permanent Resident's Certificate applications, issuance of related certificates, permissions to reside, seek employment and attend school, and letters for spouses of Bermudians. Key staff in this area include the Personal Services Manager, Client Services Officers, and Customer Services Representatives.

The volume of passport applications continues to be high with peak periods resulting in larger volumes. Generally, applications were processed between 11 and 20 weeks. Of significance, with the reinstatement of the BMU code in April 2024, there was little to no uplift in passport applications by existing passport holders who wished to obtain a new passport with the BMU code.

The temporary staff continued to provide invaluable assistance for the processing of spousal letters, and Permanent Resident's Certificate applications. Naturalisation as a British Overseas Territories Citizen saw a significant decrease in the processing timeline—from six to nine months to three to six months. The new targeted processing time for 2025/26 is six months (page B-182). In 2024, the department, in conjunction with the Deputy Governor's Office, processed over 550 Naturalisation applications, an increase of approximately 316 from 2023.

37030 Compliance

Hon. Jason Hayward: Under the leadership of the Compliance Manager and two Principal Compliance Officers, Senior Immigration Inspectors in the unit are assigned to both Immigration headquarters in Hamilton and the L. F. Wade International Airport. The unit continued to undertake investigations for potential breaches of Immigration law, regulations and policy. The penalty process for breaches against the Bermuda Immigration and Protection Act 1956 follows the guidelines in sections 71A and 71B.

The unit also began random assessments on Permanent Resident's Certificate holders to ensure that holders were not absent from Bermuda without the permission of the Minister, for a period of two years or more; this is in accordance with the section 31D of the Bermuda Immigration and Protection Act 1956.

The unit also began random assessment on Permanent Resident Certificate Holders to ensure that holders were not absent from Bermuda without permission of the Minister for a period of two years or more. This is in accordance with section 31D of the Bermuda Immigration and Protection Act 1956.

During the past fiscal year, the following cases are on record: as it pertains to General investigations, there were 104 new general investigations of which 61 were completed.

As it pertains to Civil Penalty investigations, there were 60. There was one that has actually been completed and seven which are awaiting a decision for civil penalties. Enforcement Site Visits—we conducted 30 site visits. And when we say site visits, this is where a complaint may come in, in terms of somebody working not according to policy or working without the relevant applications. And so, you can see that once those complaints are made, we do make on-site visits to make sure that persons are in compliance.

And then Deportations—there were actually nine deportations which were executed in the last fiscal period. And deportations can arise from a number of circumstances. One may be where an individual has been incarcerated for criminal activity and upon incarceration the department works with the prisons and the Governor's Office for immediate deportation of that individual so that they are not reintegrated back into our economy. And the other would be pertaining to persons who may be residing in Bermuda illegally and there is a reluctance for them to leave on their own.

As it pertains to Permanent Resident's Certificate Holders' absence . . . absentee assessments—there were 220 assessments conducted. Less than five were absent for two years or more without the Minister's permission. And so, Madam Chairman, there is a requirement in law that if one obtains a Permanent Resident Certificate, they must not have periods of absence from Bermuda without the permission of the Minister. That is because we do not want to issue people residency who are not actual residents in Bermuda. And they may be using the residency for other purposes. And so, we had been doing ongoing assessments, not just for Permanent Resident Certificate holders, but also for Resident Certificate holders and we found for the most part, persons are compliant. Where persons are not compliant, the department will write a Natural Justice letter to that individual and ask for clarification as to why they may be absent. We may have had somebody who has also passed away overseas and as a result are no longer in Bermuda. But those occurrences are extremely rare.

37040 Finance and Administration

Hon. Jason Hayward: This business unit is responsible for the department's accounts, budget, financial records/reporting, annual budget preparation, administrative support services, personnel administration functions including recruitment, and Work from Bermuda applications. The unit is overseen by the Finance and Administration Manager.

In the past fiscal year, there were 18 vacant posts. Recruitment was the main focus throughout 2024/25 and prior to the end of the fiscal year, of the 18 vacant posts, 12 suitably qualified applicants were selected. Given the need for approvals by the Public Service Commission and the Governor, contracts were issued and signed on 30 April 2025.

Major Policy Changes

Hon. Jason Hayward: Madam Chairman, the following policy changes have either already been made or will be made before the end of fiscal 2025/26.

Prohibition of Entry Order

Hon. Jason Hayward: Madam Chairman, as a reminder, the Prohibition of Entry Order seeks to ensure that tourist visitors and residents of Bermuda have ready access to the US, UK, and Canada through commercial air service. During the past fiscal year, the Order was updated twice. As the requirements by the UK, in particular, continue to evolve, amendments to the Order are highly likely. In addition to this, the Department of Immigration will continue to enhance local visa requirements, ensuring there is a reasonable balance between securing our borders and the ease by which travellers can be landed in Bermuda.

Work From Bermuda Initiative

Hon. Jason Hayward: This initiative concluded on 28 February 2025, after allowing remote workers (which we also refer to as digital nomads) and university students to work and study remotely from Bermuda for four years. Since August 2020, the programme attracted approximately 1,800 participants, with around 250 individuals applying to extend their stay.

Notwithstanding the cessation of the Work from Bermuda initiative, applicants can transition to a multi-year residency permission which, if granted, will give them the ability to remain in Bermuda for up to five years. Applications for residency must be submitted between one and two months prior to the expiration of the Work from Bermuda certificate.

Plans for the Upcoming Year

Hon. Jason Hayward: During fiscal year 2025/26, the Department of Immigration will progress key action plans

Digitalisation. Madam Chairman, work is well underway to implementing a system that ensures that digital transformation is a reality for all of the department's applications. In March 2025, the Senior Management Team visited Bahamas Immigration for the purpose of gathering information about their Identity Document Management System (IDMS). A possible vendor has been identified to carry out the work and a formal proposal, including costs and timelines for key deliverables is expected by June 2025. Following approval of the proposal, work to design the new system will begin in earnest. It is expected that the design and implementation will be done in phases with the first phase comprising work permit applications. Key elements of the system will include: a dashboard that will be accessible by employers and individuals, so that they can readily see where their applications are in the process; tracking of email communications between the department and clients; and a seamless payment gateway, to name a few.

Work Permit Policy. The timely processing of work permit applications is vital to business sustainability for many companies throughout Bermuda. Equally, a clearly defined Work Permit Policy makes processing almost effortless. To this end, the Work Permit Policy is currently being enhanced so that it is clearer, leaving little room for erroneous interpretation, and more user-friendly. The new policy will be implemented by summer 2025.

Madam Chairman, in conclusion, I would like to thank the dedicated members of the staff at the Department of Immigration under the leadership of Dr. Danette Ming, Chief Immigration Officer and Ms. Marita Grimes, Assistant Chief Immigration Officer, as well as the Chairman of the Board of Immigration, Mr. Scott Simmons, and the Immigration Appeal Tribunal headed by Ms. Charlene Scott.

Madam Chairman, the H. M. Customs Department continues to work closely with the Department of Immigration to administer border controls at the L. F. Wade International Airport and at our seaports. As such, I would like to thank the Collector of Customs, Mrs. Lucinda Pearman and her team for the work they carried out for the Department of Immigration during 2024/25.

Madam Chairman, that ends my presentation on Head 27, the Department of Immigration.

The Chairman: Thank you, Minister.

Do you want to take a little break for some water? And then we can proceed to the next head, which is Head 29, Registry General.

Hon. Jason Hayward: Thank you, Madam Chairman.

HEAD 29—REGISTRY GENERAL

Hon. Jason Hayward: Madam Chairman, it gives me great pleasure to present the budget for Head 29, the Department of Registry General, found on pages B-184 through B-187 and C-12 of the Budget Book.

The Registry General is responsible for maintaining civil registrations and providing public access to such records. Under the [general] direction and control of the Minister of Economy and Labour, the Registrar General exercises his statutory functions and is assisted by such public officers as may from time to time be authorised by the Legislature.

Mission

Hon. Jason Hayward: The Department of Registry General ensures the preservation of vital and general records and the protection of intellectual property rights. This is achieved via the maintenance of a reliable system for the storage of public records, access to those records and provision of an efficient registry service which supports the registration of every birth, death, adoption, domestic partnership and marriage in Bermuda. The Registry General is also responsible for facilitating the registration of chattel mortgages; the registration of trade unions, professionals and charitable organisations; the granting of intellectual property rights such as trade and service marks, patents and designs, and advising on copyright and related rights; and assumes all administrative responsibilities with respect to the registration of Country Code Top Level domain names for Bermuda (.bm).

Madam Chairman, to meet these objectives, the department has four business units as shown on page B-184 as follows:

- Business Unit 39000—Administration
- Business Unit 39010—Intellectual Property Registration
- Business Unit 39020—Property, Professional and Organisation Registration
- Business Unit 39030—Births, Marriages and Deaths

Expenditure Overview

Hon. Jason Hayward: Madam Chairman, the current account estimates for Head 29, Registry General, can be found on page B-184. The Registry General has been allocated a total of $1,944,000. This represents a net increase of $143,000 or 8 per cent from the amount allocated in the original budget for the financial year 2024/25.

Madam Chairman, the budget estimates of $1,944,000, allocated to the Registry General, will allow the Registry to provide the core services mandated by the law. The allocation of $835,000 to the [Administration] Business Unit 39000 will ensure that the infrastructure and proper resources are made available to facilitate the efficient and timely registration of all professional bodies, intellectual property, organisations, vital and general events occurring in Bermuda during this fiscal period.

The $652,000 allocated to the Intellectual Property Business Unit [39010] will allow that section to register or renew the registration of domain names, trademarks, patents, and designs; and maintain the existing registration systems for intellectual property and .bm domain names.

The department will continue to meet its output measures as it registers documents relating to charities, professional bodies, chattel mortgages and other legal transactions with the $148,000 allocated to the Property, Professional and Organisation Business Unit 39020.

The $309,000 allocated to the Births, Marriages and Deaths, Business Unit 39030, will ensure that all these [vital] events occurring in Bermuda will be registered.

Madam Chairman, the most significant variances in the estimated budget are further explained on page B-185 as follows:

- An increase of $153,000, or 10 per cent, in Salaries. The increase is a result of negotiated uplifts between BPSU and the Government.
- A decrease of $22,000 in Travel represents a decrease in the amount of money allocated for business travel, for anticipated attendance at CFATF Plenary meetings in preparation for the next Mutual Evaluation in 2027; and to attend training sessions arranged for IP staff at the UK IP Office and the Trinidad IP Office.
- An increase of $9,000, or 8 per cent, for Repairs and Maintenance. This is largely due to the increase in cost for quarterly cleaning of the Search Room to remove mould and dust, due to the modified level of cleaning required.
- An increase of $8,000 or a [36] per cent increase for Other Expenses. This represents a slight increase in money allocated for other operational costs (that is, for bank charges and commissions).

Revenue

Hon. Jason Hayward: Madam Chairman, on the revenue side, page B-186, the Registry General expects to realise $2.2 million in revenue during 2025/26. The most significant amounts are explained below.

- $70,000 is expected from Charity registrations.
- $220,000 is expected from Trademark applications.
- $270,000 is expected from Trademark registrations.
- $370,000 is expected from Trademark renewals.
- $216,000 is expected from .bm Domain Name registrations.
- $260,000 is expected from applications for Birth Certificates.
- $120,000 is expected from Marriage Licences.
- $120,000 is expected from Maritime Marriage Licences.
- $37,000 is expected from Marriage Ceremonies.
- $90,000 is expected from Marriage Certificates.
- $70,000 is expected from Death Certificates.

Manpower

Hon. Jason Hayward: Madam Chairman, the manpower estimates for the Registry General, as outlined on page B-186, are 20 full-time posts. Within the department four of those posts are vacant.

It is anticipated that the two vacant Trademark Administrators, the Customer Service Representative, and the Charities Administrator posts will be filled by the beginning of the upcoming fiscal year. The Registry General consists of the following four sections:

- 39000 Administration, seven staff;
- 39010 Intellectual Property, six staff;
- 39020 Property, Professional and Organisation Registration, two staff; and
- 39030 Births, Marriages and Deaths, five staff.

Performance Measures

Hon. Jason Hayward: Madam Chairman, the department's Performance Measures are outlined on page B-187. Although the department is operating with three key posts currently vacant, and posts filled by temporary relief staff, members of the Registry General team continue to work hard and are dedicated to achieving these goals.

The department is responsible for discharging duties conferred under a total of 36 Acts and Regulations which govern the operations of the Registry General. The main function of the department is to ensure the efficient and timely registration of all intellectual property rights, vital and general events occurring in Bermuda. All sections of the department met the performance targets in 2024/25.

Madam Chairman, the capital acquisition for Head 29, Registry General, can be found on page C-12. The Registry General has been allocated a total of $336,000. This represents a net increase of $237,000, or 71 per cent from the amount allocated in the original budget for the financial year 2024/25.

Madam Chairman, $26,000 has been allocated for new office furniture and equipment for the department, and $310,000 has been allocated for the acquisition and installation of a new technology-based registration system for the IP section.

Plans for the Upcoming Year

Hon. Jason Hayward: Madam Chairman, in the upcoming year, the Registry General will execute the following initiatives:

- Implement the amendments to the Registrar-General Recording of Documents Act 1955 and relevant legislations (i.e., Registration (Births and Deaths) Act 1949) by acquiring a new technology-base system to provide for a Voluntary Register and enable the processing of applications for the registration of vital events (i.e., births, deaths, marriages) of Bermuda's citizens that occur outside our jurisdiction.
- Amend the Registration (Births and Deaths) Act 1949 (the "Act") to (a) make provision for an adult to alter their name in the Birth Register, which will provide an alternative option for an individual person to change their name as opposed to the current process via a deed poll; and (b) to ensure that members of the public cannot obtain a birth certificate of someone else without their consent.
- Bring into effect the new trade mark legislations (i.e., Trade Marks Act 2023, Trade Marks Regulations 2023, Government Fees (Trade Marks) Regulations 2023, and the Trade Marks (Customs) Regulations 2025); amend the Patents and Designs Act 1930 to introduce two standalone legislations (i.e., a new patent act and new design act); amend the Copyrights and Designs Act 2004 to implement a voluntary registration scheme for copyright work.
- Continue with application to the UK Government for the provision of key intellectual property international treaties (i.e., the Paris Convention, Madrid Protocol for trade marks, Patent Cooperation Treaty, and Hague Agreement for designs) to be extended to Bermuda.
- Modernise the IP section's technology-based registration system to operationalise the new IP legislative or legal framework.

- Digitisation of vital records and general registration business processes by leveraging advance "Software as a Service" (SaaS) solutions that will efficiently and safely promote online business transactions on any device and from anywhere in the world.

Madam Chairman, the Registry General Department remains committed to delivering the various projects, with plans to have the new systems operational during the upcoming fiscal year. I also want to add, Madam Chairman, that you will see a lot of activity in this particular House regarding the work we are doing in trade mark and some public promotion around the work we are doing in trade mark. There has been substantial work done in that area even to increase our capabilities of having a first-class trade mark regime and protecting intellectual property. I know that the Shadow Minister knows a bit about this because he assisted with some of the work carried out to advance the trade mark framework when he was on the government benches and I thank him for that work.

Madam Chairman, I would like to express my gratitude to the team and dedicated staff members of the Registry General Department, led by Mr. Aubrey Pennyman, as they continue to take a proactive approach to ensure Bermuda remains relevant and comparable with its global partners.

Thank you, Madam Chairman.

The Chairman: Thank you, Minister.

The next head up for debate is Head 60, Workforce Development.

Minister, proceed.

HEAD 60—WORKFORCE DEVELOPMENT

Hon. Jason Hayward: Madam Chairman, it gives me great pleasure to present the budget for Head 60, the Department of Workforce Development, found on pages B-188 through B-193 and C-13 and C-19 of the Budget Book.

Madam Chairman, the mission of the Department of Workforce Development is To develop a resilient workforce, to provide a sustainable and stable community.

Expenditure Overview

Hon. Jason Hayward: A total of $4,519,000 has been allocated for this head, which represents an increase of $305,000 from the previous year and constitutes 16 per cent of the overall Ministry budget. This represents a budget increase of 7 per cent year over year and is largely a result of a supplementary increase to provide $140,000 for increased Apprenticeships and $70,000 for Hospitality Training Opportunities.

Additionally, the department has been granted a capital expenditure of $16,750 for upgrades to the training room computers for client usage.

Madam Chairman, the Department of Workforce Development comprises three programmes as noted on page B-189: 6001 General Administration, 6003 Career Development, and 6004 Training.

Madam Chairman, Programme 6001, General Administration is responsible for the overall management and administration of the Department of Workforce Development. For the past three years I have had to report that . . . for the past three years, the Department of Workforce Development has been understaffed; however, today I am pleased to report, the department is fully staffed in all sections.

One of the roles that was onboarded was the Systems Support Officer. This role has been vital to enhancing the client experience at Workforce Development. Over the past year, the department has advanced digital transformation to enhance its services to the public. A key achievement has been developing and enhancing the department's website, which now serves as a central hub for all resources. The website integrates programme applications, training schedules, success stories, and digital guides, making it easier for stakeholders to access relevant information. department intake forms have also transitioned to a fully digitised format, allowing for seamless submission and processing. Course attendance is now digitally tracked, reducing paperwork and enhancing accuracy.

Programme applications for initiatives such as the Summer Internship Programme, Summer Employment Programme, Learn Through Experience Programme, Employer Participant Request, Skilled Trades, and Graduate Apprenticeship Programme are now available online.

National Occupational Certification processes have been streamlined by digitising Industry Assessment Panel (IAP) and Occupational Advisory Committee (OAC) assessments and implementing a public National Occupational Certification Registry. The introduction of an online submission and approval system for trainee/apprentice timesheets and weekly logs has increased efficiency and reduced errors.

To highlight departmental achievements, a dedicated section on the website now showcases success stories and event highlights. A digital department calendar has been integrated to provide better planning and access to training course schedules. Comprehensive how-to guides have been developed to support stakeholders in navigating various digital platforms. Another significant advancement is the successful implementation of a new client information database that [has] replaced the previous system, offering enhanced data management capabilities.

Madam Chairman, Programme 6003 Career Development is comprised of Career Development Administration 70300. This programme is responsible for developing Personal Employment Plans and Case Management as a result of client assessment, core soft skills training and employment readiness training. The Career Development Section has successfully executed a range of impactful programmes during the 2024/25 fiscal year, with a strong focus on youth engagement, workforce readiness, and digital modernisation.

Notable initiatives include the expansion of youth employment pathways through the Learn Through Experience, Summer Employment Programme, Summer Internship Programme, Graduate Apprenticeship Programme, and public-private partnerships such as Shake Your Future with Bacardi Limited. Additionally, the team piloted a targeted On-the-Job Training (OJT) component within the legislated Personal Employment Plan (PEP) framework for Financial Assistance clients. Strategically, the Career Development section has restructured its spending priorities to amplify investments in Youth Development and Employer Partnerships, expansion of programmes, job board management, client assessment and case management.

Madam Chairman, Programme 6004 Training, provides administrative support to the National Certification and oversight of the Apprenticeship Board activities such as the apprenticeship programmes, professional designation training programmes and the national certification of the designated trades. Under the governance of the newly created National Certification and Apprenticeship Board (NCAB), the training and certification programme has had much success in implementing training programmes in high demand industry-driven occupations and advancing National Certification. The Board's primary objective is to oversee and ensure the quality, relevance, and efficiency of training and apprenticeship programs in Bermuda.

There was an adjustment of the number of persons awarded certifications from 300 to 125 persons; however, the number of persons sponsored for industry certification and training courses increased from 200 to 232. The number of apprentices increased to 52, with 10 due to complete their multi-year apprenticeship programmes during this calendar year 2025. Thirty-four Bermudians were awarded NCCER Core industry certification.

Additionally, 26 multi-year scholarship recipients are studying at overseas institutions in the US, Canada, UK and the Caribbean and 10 one-time Technical Vocational Education Training award recipients are studying in "short course" programmes of no more than 12 months either online or overseas.

The Skilled Trades Apprenticeship Training programme has 12 Bermudians in the first of a three phase, two-year apprenticeship programme. There were 50 local sponsored trainees studying at Bermuda College and other local educational institutions and 11 sponsored trainees studying at overseas institutions. Increased industry stakeholder engagement with [cross]-ministry and external business and employers in various high-demand occupations to 37.

Through the innovative approach and implementation of offering micro-credential courses [(short-term units of learning)] 25 Bermudians were able to re-tool, [upscale] and earn certificates in their respective apprenticeship programmes.

Madam Chairman, the department successfully launched a pilot On-the-Job Training Programme in partnership with Financial Assistance [and] the Bermuda Post Office, providing Personal Employment Plan participants with hands-on experience and soft skills training. All participants were offered long-term employment, helping them transition from Financial Assistance. One participant shared that the programme gave them a renewed sense of purpose and structure.

Madam Chairman, it is important to note that we determined that the way in which we were going about assisting persons on Financial Assistance, where we made them just simply go out and do mandatory job searches was not producing the results that we required in terms of those individuals becoming employed. And so this House, under the leadership of this Government changed the legislation to ensure that the Workforce Development was a feature of those persons, able-bodied, on Financial Assistance. We called the tool Personal Employment [Plan] (PEP) where we assess where people are, we work with the team to develop the competencies and the capabilities of those individuals to prepare them for opportunities of work.

So, the On-the-Job Training programme was an initiative that was launched by the Department of Workforce Development to support individuals on financial assistance. The first three persons of that cohort were able to go into the workplace, share their value, and what the department is actually reporting is that based off of the work that was actually done, persons were able to secure employment as a result. And so they went from being able-bodied persons on financial assistance to persons who now have a source of income. And this just goes . . . bodes to when we put the resources in place to work directly with individuals we can achieve the outcomes that we actually desire.

To address the need for more Bermudians in the hospitality section, the department launched the Learn Through Experience Programme—Hospitality, an eight-week initiative combining professional development and paid work experience. One participant credited the Hospitality programme with helping them secure their first job and boosting their confidence.

The team also managed the Summer Employment Programme and the Summer Internship Programme, placing 180 students in career-aligned roles across sectors. Additionally, the department continues to award scholarships based on financial need and workforce demand in key areas such as hospitality, health care, trades, financial services, and emerging technologies.

Madam Chairman, over the year we have realised a number of success stories from our training programmes. We have had an extremely robust training calendar. I would like to highlight that we ran a Butcher Apprenticeship Training Programme. In June—it actually started in 2022. Those persons in January of 2025 have completed the programme and are now fully employed as butchers, which is something extremely positive.

The department also ran the Heavy Truck Driver's Programme which enabled 34 Bermudians to earn their heavy truck licences and complete certificates. The section also ran the Skilled Trades Apprenticeship Training Programme. The department also ran the Mentorship Apprenticeship Programme.

Appliance Technician Repair Safety Training Certificate. The National Center for Construction Education and Research (NCCER). Solar Photovoltaic Certificate Programme. The National Certification, Apprenticeship and Professional Development programmes as well as the National Occupational Certification programmes.

This department has touched, and this section of this department has touched the lives of hundreds of Bermudians in the last fiscal period, providing them with the vital skills which are needed to allow them to excel in the current and future world of work

Oftentimes these stories that go . . . over shadowed as it pertains to the work that the Government is doing and the Department of Workforce Development is doing, ensuring as to the work that we are doing to put people on pathways to success. I think that the work that we are doing and the work that we are outlining with the funds that this department does receive highlights that we have had a huge focus on investment in people. When we say we have touched the lives of dozens of persons, we are talking about hundreds of individuals who have benefited from the support that we have provided for investment in people.

I think that this combined with our ability to expand jobs in the economy allows greater levels of opportunities and Bermudians to position themselves to take advantage of those opportunities.

Madam Chairman, for the 2024/25 period, the department made amendments to its performance measures to better align with current workforce demands. The team examined the existing performance measures to ensure they meet the criteria of being Specific, Measurable, Achievable, Relevant, and Timely [(SMART)]. Although there are a few new performance measures, there are some measures of which to take note.

There were 683 persons seeking the services of Workforce Development in the 2024/25 budget period. The department was able to refer 199 persons for jobs. Let me repeat that, Madam Chairman, because I think that is significant. There were 683 persons that sought assistance from the Department of Workforce Development. Some persons unemployed. Some persons who may be on Financial Assistance. Some persons who are employed and looking to upgrade their skillset. Some persons who are underemployed and looking to transition to a new job. But this department was positioned to service that volume of individuals. Additionally, the department referred 199 persons for jobs. That meant employers contacted the department directly or via the job portal as a requirement of a work permit application and we were able to refer 199 individuals for jobs in that fiscal period.

I want to use this opportunity to inform members of the public that you must register with the Department of Workforce Development to seize these opportunities. And so when persons say that in the past, they may have not had a positive experience with going into the Government department and securing jobs or capacity to build and support, I would say that based off of the statistics, the department is well poised to service persons who are seeking assistance.

The department hosted a robust monthly employment skills calendar of courses; this programme exceeded its projected target by 46.33 per cent, with a total of 439 participants compared to the initial projection of 300. And so that was additional 439 individuals who took advantage of the Department of Workforce Development monthly training schedule that we put out for the public.

While intake and training participation numbers have shown strong performance, job placement results remain significantly below target. I want to reiterate that the department is not an employment agency; however, the team does provide wraparound services for clients as they seek employment. The department set a target of placing 100 clients; it fell short by only placing 55. Additionally, the percentage of completed Personal Employment Plans (PEPs) reached only 64 per cent, falling short of the 80 per cent target. This is due to clients disengaging from the process and having other social factors that have delayed their PEP progress.

The department set a target of 40 per cent of clients who were referred who secured employment and the department ended the year at 39 per cent. Additionally, 78 [per cent] of persons report having improved skills three months post taking a class with the department. I think that is an important statistic. We train and we develop persons to position themselves for jobs. Not everybody will secure a job directly after the programme in which they engaged. But they are better positioned to take advantage of opportunities when they exist. It is not all the time that there is a one-to-one alignment between somebody being trained and the job opportunity being made available. And so that one-to-one relationship doesn't exist. But I believe that the department set out to have at least 40 per cent of persons who will engage in their training programmes, become fully employed and the department reached the threshold of 39 per cent. I am sure that the Shadow Minister will accept that the department has met its target of 40 per cent for training and development and ensuring that we transition persons into the workplace but also understand that there is a level of complexity to get persons employed after they have been trained.

Plans for the Upcoming Year

Hon. Jason Hayward: Madam Chairman, as we look forward to the upcoming fiscal year and beyond, the Department of Workforce Development objectives for the fiscal period 2025/26 can be found on page B-188 and read as follows:

- Continue to implement the Youth Employment Strategy focusing on increasing educational and vocational training opportunities tailored to high demand industries and supporting youth in their transition from education to employment.
- Expand Apprenticeship and internship placements available to Bermudians; with a focus on engaging young people in skill-building experiences.
- Strengthen employer partnerships for youth and apprenticeship placement.
- Increase engagement and communication with Bermuda's young people.

In the 2025/26 fiscal period, the Department of Workforce Development is poised to expand current programmes and implement new initiatives to make a significant impact on the Bermuda's workforce.

The plans include the development of a new Job Board to replace the existing system, providing an improved platform for job seekers and employers. Enhancements are also being made to the digital employer referral process to facilitate efficient referrals. Furthermore, the security vetting process is being refined to ensure compliance and operational efficiency.

Youth engagement will be scaled by expanding the Graduate Apprenticeship and Learn Through Experience programmes.

Furthermore, the department is exploring innovative micro-courses designed to offer efficient and targeted certification pathways in various trades, ensuring a nimble response to the evolving needs of the workforce in Bermuda. These initiatives collectively reflect our commitment to nurturing a skilled, adaptable, and future-ready workforce.

Madam Chairman, the department is heavily focused on ensuring that we reposition ourselves for high-demand occupations and skilled trades and the work in these areas continue.

Madam Chairman, that ends my presentation on Head 60—Department of Workforce Development.

At this time, I would like to thank the team at the Department of Workforce Development, led by Director Malika Cartwright, for their commitment to supporting Bermudians as they navigate through Bermuda's career landscape.

Thank you, Madam Chairman.

The Chairman: Thank you, Minister.

Honourable Members and members of the listening audience, we are now in the Committee of Supply for further consideration of the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for 2025/26. We are now in debate, and we call on the Minister in charge, the Honourable Jason Hayward, JP, MP, Minister of the Economy and Labour to please proceed.

We are moving into Head 94 which is Economic Development.

Hon. Jason Hayward: Madam Chairman, can you just give an indication as to the time that the debate commenced?

The Chairman: The debate commenced at 10:27.

Hon. Jason Hayward: Okay, thank you.

HEAD 94—ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT DEPARTMENT

Hon. Jason Hayward: Madam Chairman, it gives me great pleasure to present the budget for Head 94, the Economic Development Department (EDD), found on pages B-194 through B-197 and C-19 of the Budget Book.

Mandate

Hon. Jason Hayward: Madam Chairman, the mandate of the Economic Development Department is To advance the sustainable growth, development, and diversification of Bermuda's economy. It does so by

- facilitating, creating, and implementing policies to support the Bermuda Economic Development Strategy 2023–2027;
- in collaboration with industry stakeholders, positioning Bermuda as an ideal test market for innovative products and industry development;
- identifying the jurisdiction's market fit, clearly communicating its message, and driving opportunities that lead to economic activity;
- processing various Land Licenses and Incentives for Job Maker applications in a timely, efficient, and professional manner;
- facilitating opportunities for technology education, mentoring and training, and support for e-entrepreneurship; and
- helping create a more attractive regulatory environment for business and enhanced communication between the Government of Bermuda and the private sector.

Expenditure Overview

Hon. Jason Hayward: Madam Chairman, the subjective analysis of the current account estimates of the Economic Development Department is found on page B-195 of the Budget Book.

A total of $8,623,176 has been allocated for this head, which represents an increase of $196,815 from the previous year. This budget constitutes 31 per cent of the allocated budget for the Ministry as a whole.

This budgetary allocation includes the total current expenditure for the Economic Development Department, which is estimated to be $2,054,424 for 2025/26, as well as two grants. The grants comprise an allocation for the Bermuda Economic Development Corporation (the "BEDC") in the amount of $2,338,752, and for the [Bermuda] Business Development Agency (the "BDA") in the amount of $4,230,000.

I will present to this Honourable House the budget briefs for each of these grantees separately, after I present the budget for the Economic Development Department ("EDD"). And so, to be clear, there are three major areas of funding. One will be for the Economic Development Department and then we provide two substantial grants which exceed the funds that we provide to the Economic Development Department to the Bermuda Economic Development Corporation and to the Bermuda Business Development Agency. So included in this budget brief, I will also provide clarity on how that grant funding is actually allocated.

But the three units comprise the substantial investment that we put into economic development in Bermuda and ensuring that we have a sustainable and robust economy that is able to expand and create further job opportunities. Additional to that, these are the departments that are responsible for diversifying our current economy and I'll highlight the work that is actually being done to support the diversification and growth of our economy.

Revenue Overview

Hon. Jason Hayward: Madam Chairman, through the Economic Development Act 1968, the Incentives for Job Makers [Programme] allows companies to apply for and obtain the concession of having their senior executives exempt from needing a work permit. These are persons responsible for the continued presence of jobs for Bermudians in Bermuda. Successful applicants are exempt from needing a work permit, and their family is granted permission to reside with them.

In 2024/25, the Incentives for Job Makers Programme earned the Government $400,000 in revenues, reflective of 20 successful exemption applications. This represents a slight increase in successful applications from the previous fiscal year.

Looking into the next fiscal year, 2025/26, the EDD remains committed to promptly processing applications for Incentives for Job Makers. The EDD has engaged with stakeholders to update and enhance the efficiency of the process, aiming to reduce the processing time for each application.

Madam Chairman, the Alien Land Licensing Programme, as detailed in Part VI of the Bermuda Immigration Act 1956, aims to protect land in Bermuda for ownership of persons who possess Bermudian status by—

- a) requiring restricted persons to have licences to hold or acquire land in Bermuda and preventing them from appropriating it;
- b) requiring trustees to have licences to hold or acquire land in Bermuda for the benefit of restricted persons and preventing them from appropriating it; and,
- c) preventing corporations from acquiring or holding land in Bermuda, unless they do so in accordance with legislation.

The Alien Land Licensing Programme includes applications by restricted persons to hold or acquire land in Bermuda, to let their Bermudian properties, to take a mortgage or charge on land, as well as to apply for deferral certificates.

In 2024/25, the Alien Land Licence Programme earned the Government over $350,000 in application fee [revenues] reflective of 159 Land Licence applications received. Additionally, the Programme earned over $5.7 million in 44 landholding charges received.

Manpower

Hon. Jason Hayward: When we look at the staffing of the Economic Development Department, Madam Chairman, the department is comprised of seven full-time posts, which is one Director, one Administrative Assistant, one Senior Officer, one Senior Development Analyst, one Analyst, one Senior Regulatory Analyst, and one Concierge
